The Ontario Intelligencer

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, JUNE 1, 1935

WEATHER

Light to moderate winds: fair and warm today and Sunday.

TEMPERATURES

	Max.	Min.
Today	83	52
Year ago	81	56

UNCLE PAYS $200,000 RANSOM, BOY RELEASED

NEWS BRIEFS AND ODDITIES

Toronto, June 1 (CP)—Unlikely prospect for a financial success was the reason given today by George Hay, manager of J. M. Orpen's racing interests, for cancellation of a racing meet scheduled for Kenilworth Park, Windsor, July 8 to 13.

"Last year the meet lost $13,000", Mr. Hay said.

Muskogee, Okla., June 1 (CP) —A bag bit Mrs. Oswald Jacoby, wife of the bridge expert, as she was driving in tennis shorts Friday and caused her to lose $500, she said at a hotel here. Mrs. Jacoby said the bag flew into her car between Van Alstyne and Howe, Tex. In shooting the bag out of the car, she emptied her purse into the road and drove miles before missing it.

New York, June 1 (CP)— The "Hippie Hampatian Gypsies," four musicians with only 13 strings among them played themselves out of a jail sentence before Magistrate Sylvester Sabbatino in a Brooklyn, court yesterday.

Brought into court for lack of a license, they explained they were playing for throw money in order to buy a license and to buy each of them a fourth string for their instruments. They were good they said, to be able to play with only three strings.

The court commanded them to play.

"Good enough," he said. "Sentence suspended."

Lethbridge, June 1 (CP) — Waterton Lakes National Park has a new tourist attraction. It is an albino bear cub. A raffle is the animal world. It's mother is the ordinary type of brown bear.

Madison, Wis., June 1 (CP)— Cheese for breakfast, cheese for dinner and cheese for supper time became the law of Wisconsin today—if you eat in a restaurant and your meals cost 35 cents or more. Governor Philip La Follette signed a bill which requires all public eating places to serve two-thirds of an ounce of Wisconsin cheese and two-thirds of an ounce of Wisconsin butter with every meal costing a quarter or more—and you have to pay for it. For the law doesn't say it is to be given away.

Greenwood, Miss., June 1 (CP) —Assembly Saturday of the 1935 marks made in a half-eaten apple, police said, held a negro booked as Everett Aleo on a charge of murdering night marshal Elmore Smith. He formerly more than a year ago.

The apple, bearing teeth marks was found near Kilgore's body, officers said.

Oneonta, N.Y., June 1 (CP) — Grover Bleiberman, a farmer living at Edmeston, near Oneonta, reached for a pail of water Friday and found a fish in it. A bolt of lightning.

Hicking, dragging a field, stopped to get a drink and reached through a barbed wire fence for the water when lightning struck a strand. He died instantly.

Washington, June 1 (CP) — Heading legion of magicians, a secret code which he invented to attempt to communicate to intelligence officers in the underworld —has been claimed again by Nisbet H. Wilson, president of the convention of the Society of American Magicians was informed. The claim will be investigated by Hardeen, Houdini's brother, and Julien J. Proskauer, his biographer. Nine dollar claims to have received the code, known only to Mrs. Houdini and five historians.

Galt, Ont., June 1 (CP)—When employees of a garage here looked into the front of a slot-machine they found a pair of eyes staring out at them. It was a mouse. The machine had to be opened to rid him out.

Kidnap "Brains" Believed Caught

Kansas City, June 1 (AP)— The capture of Harold Thomas, alias Walter O'Malley, wanted for the kidnapping January 17 of Charles Ilon, III., July 10, 1933, was announced by the United States Department of Justice here.

Allen, Ill., June 1 (AP)—Prosecutors said the arrest of Walter Holland, alias O'Malley, at Kansas City had brought into custody the "brains" of the August Luer kidnapping, which already has resulted in three life sentences and short term, for four others.

Only one of the nine suspected participants in the 1933 abduction remains at large, they said. She is Myrtle Ilon, identified in the kidnap trial as one of the actual kidnappers.

KING SUFFERS CHILL

His Majesty King George V is staying indoors for a few days to recover from a slight chill, according to cables from London.

HIS MAJESTY KEPT WITHIN DOORS BY A SLIGHT CHILL

London, June —(CP Cable)— A slight chill kept the King within doors today and interrupted part of the heavy jubilee program which has occupied him for the past month.

Official announcement was made last night that His Majesty had contracted a slight chill. As a precautionary measure, the King was remaining indoors, although he had regained normal health. The illness was described as not serious.

It was believed the chill was contracted yesterday when His Majesty drove to St. James Palace to hold a levee at which he received officers of the army, the navy and the air force.

The court circles the hope was expressed the King would have completely recovered by Monday when he will celebrate his 70th birthday.

A constant stream of functions has kept the King and Queen occupied since the Silver Jubilee celebrations began May 6, the 25th anniversary of King George's accession to the throne. It was presumed fatigue resulting from the heavy round of duties might have played a part in bringing on the chill.

An official statement was issued with the remark further statements were unnecessary.

"His Majesty's cold remains slight," said the official statement. "The King is working, although remaining indoors, it is added. "The King and Queen enjoyed a visit by his medical advisers and it was afterwards decided that he would remain indoors today."

PURE NEGLECT IS GENERAL CAUSE

Fire Loss in City For The Past Month is Only $1,200

Gongs clang in both fire stations, motors hum into a roar and almost simultaneously the doors swing outward and red and brass-trimmed fire trucks coast through the city streets to the latest fire alarm.

Chances are that it's a chimney fire, that has startled the department into racing activity, a chimney that probably has required a few quarts of fluid from the hand water pumps, but a serious one if neglected. For chimney fires are listed by the local department as heading the list in the number of calls responded to during the course of a year in this city.

During the month of May a total of thirty runs were registered by the department. Loss to property was set at approximately $1,200 during that time, but the cost of the bigger fires were responsible for the greater part of this total.

The dropped and carelessly thrown cigarette end comes farther down the list as a starter of fires here, it was pointed out by Fire Chief Lynch. Neglect of proper precautions on the part of the ordinary citizen causes a number of the fire loss registered in the city during a season.

"Pure neglect," repeated Chief Lynch. "Neglect of their stoves and stove pipes. Some of the pipes we have examined after the blaze in them was extinguished were so soot-choked that I've often wondered how the stove could draw at all". Other causes of fires are neglected burning rubbish piles, spontaneous combustion in trash filled corners and the like.

Although figures are not yet available, it is believed that the annual fire loss of this city as compared with that of the Ontario Fire Marshal, now being distributed in booklet form fill compare more than favorably with any other city its size in the province.

SWEEP DRAW ON DERBY STARTED AT DUBLIN TODAY

Lowest Prize Fund Since Sweeps Inception 5 Years Ago

ELEVEN UNITS

Holder of Ticket on Winning Horse Will Receive $150,000

(By George Hambleton)
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Dublin, June 1 (CP Cable) —Another Irish Free State Sweepstakes draw began today on next Wednesday's Derby—with gross receipts of 1,955,627 pounds ($9,503,000) and 1,100,000 pounds ($5,626,000) available for prizes.

This is the lowest prize fund for the Derby since the Free State Hospitals Sweepstake began operations five years ago. The high mark was reached with the Derby of 1932 when about $14,000,000 was available for prizes.

The new British Anti-Lottery Bill was seen responsible for the big decline.

Following the practice instituted with the last draw on the Grand National, officials intend to divulge the identity of Canadian drawers of tickets on Canadian entries in view of the Canadian laws. Only the ticket-numbers and name-surname of the Canadians were announced.

The fund was divided into 11 units of 100,000 pounds each ($486,000). In each unit the drawers of a ticket on the winning horse receives a first prize of $150,000; second, $18,000 and third $50,000. Seventy-seven other prizes are included in the draw, these being still in the race at second acceptance although not finishing in the first three, have left in the big race.

Tickets on a horse, regardless of its placing or not, were worth approximately $1,950. Of this amount, there will be 100 consolation prizes of $486 and residual prizes. Second will be refunded in three days, today, Monday and Tuesday.

Canadian and West Indies tickets drawn were as follows:

Field Trial, "Slim," AY 41,589.

Chasse Neige, "Irish Canada," CT 10,121, and "Irish Canada," CT 10,122.

Canadian, "Red Elephant," AA 60,407, and "Hove 50-50", AS 47,369.

Meridian Boy, "Canadian Canadienne and Another," AL 51,855.

Canadian, "Troubador," AT 4,979, and "Jesica," AW 61,792, P.O. Kingston, Jamaica, MJS 78,390.

Canadian, "Hope for Seventh of Seventh", AK 47,094, and "The Five Brothers," BQ 20,000.

Kopperingig, Robert McNaughton, AB 49,211.

Elon Blue, "Need the Dough, Toronto," AL 41,286.

Canadian, "Dodie", MJ 62,-105.

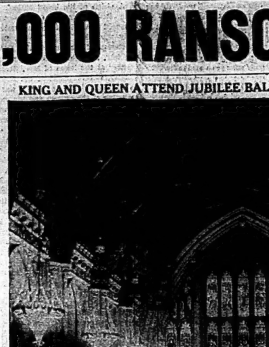
Drawing for the day ended when 11 tickets had been chosen on each of the horses out of the 80 in the draw.

FIRE THREATENS SHEDDEN VILLAGE

Unknown Origin of Blaze Causes Estimated Damage of $7,000

Shedden, Ont., June 1—Fire on Friday threatened the business section of Shedden, 10 miles west of St. Thomas, when flames destroyed two tree stores, causing damage estimated at $7,000.

Volunteer firemen of Shedden fought the fire for two hours. Fireman Draper of St. Thomas assisted in preventing the flames from spreading to adjoining buildings.



WEATHER

Toronto, June 1 (CP)—Showers have occurred in many districts from Prince Rupert to Halifax eastward and light showers have been general in Saskatchewan and Southern Alberta, though elsewhere the weather has been fair.

Kenora and Rainy River—Partly cloudy and warm: probably scattered showers by Sunday.

Saskatchewan — Partly cloudy with stationary or a little higher temperature; a few local showers.

KING AND QUEEN ATTEND JUBILEE BALL AT GUILDHALL

Colorful scene as King George and Queen Mary, with other members of the royal family at the ball given to commemorate the jubilee year at the Guildhall, London.

KIDNAPPED BOY IS TURNED LOOSE, $200,000 IS PAID

George Weyerhaeuser, 9, is Found Safe in Woods

BOY GIVEN DOLLAR

Owner of House at Which Boy Calls Informs The Police

By LELAND HANNUM
Copyright, 1935,
By The Associated Press
Tacoma, Wash., June 1—(AP)—Little George Weyerhaeuser was released safely by his kidnappers early today after he said $200,000 ransom had been paid by his uncle F. Rodman Titcomb.

The child was found by a farmer, George Boniface, on his place about four miles from Issaquah, 25 miles northeast of here, and returned to his anxious parents after being in the hands of kidnappers eight days.

The little boy was released about dawn near Issaquah, and said the men who seized him called each other "Alvin, Harry and Bill".

Location of House

George said he believed the house he was confined in was about a mile and a half north of Issaquah.

The boy told the newspaperman his uncle paid the ransom shortly before his release.

"Your pa will pick you up," George said he was told as he was let out on the road about four miles from Issaquah.

For hours George walked in the darkness, he told Dreher, until his shoes were sodden and "squishy," and after he thought he walked about six miles before he saw a farm house.

Plodding up to its door he knocked and the farmer, Boniface, opened it.

"I'm the little boy who was kidnapped," George told the farmer.

Fed and clothed and his feet encased in the shoes of the farmer's daughter, George was bundled up and started for home in the farmer's automobile.

Titcomb paid $200,000 for the boy's release.

Boniface's Story

Boniface reported the boy asked to his home about 4 a.m., unharmed and cheerful. He dried his clothing

(Continued on Page 8).

Dominion Will Set Up Housing Commission

Ottawa, June 1 (CP)—Minister of Labor Wesley Gordon today placed on the House of Commons order paper a resolution promising introduction of a bill to establish a "Dominion Housing Commission" and to assist in the construction of houses.

The resolution said the measure would provide also for salaries of commissioners and their staff and for payment of expenditures and advances for purposes of the proposed legislation.

The resolution was in line with recommendations of a House of Commons Special Housing Commission set up in accordance with a request from Thomas L. Church, Toronto Conservative.

Former Secretary of Railway Board Dies

Toronto, June 1 (CP)—Member of the Ontario Municipal and Railway Board from its formation in 1906 until Premier Mitchell Hepburn retired him last January, Henry Campbell Small, 63, is dead here after a short illness. Born in Toronto he was educated at the School School and Upper Canada College. He was admitted to the Ontario Bar in 1894 and in 1906 took his seat on the first Ontario Municipal and Railway Board of which he was later secretary.

BAHRAM FAVORITE FOR EPSOM DERBY

Usually Sluggish in Training, Shows Fine Workout

Newmarket, England, June 1 (CP) —The hot derby favorite, the Aga Khan's Bahram, and his stable-mate Hairan, also a derby candidate, gave great satisfaction to their handlers in a long workout in the early hours today.

Bahram, usually sluggish in training, was decidedly well in a mile and a quarter gallop with Achtenan and Conversion, pace-makers.

Experts took note of a fine workout by Lt.-Col. Giles Loder's Pairhair, one of the few given a chance to beat Bahram.

The stablers and jockeys in the fillies' classis, the Oaks, run over the derby course next Friday, were announced as follows:

Ankaret (Nicoll), Buchanite (Weston), Brief Glance (Sirrell), Corrida (W. Rickaby), Coronal (Perryman), Chevistory (Smith), Fair Blonde (Packham), Hydford Bridge (Harry Wragg), Irish Lassie II (Dick) Alec), Light Tackle (E. Smith), Merrymaid (Lane), Mesa (Jonstone); Sunkist (Bergin), Solar Star (Steve Donoghue), and the following for whom jockeys have not yet been selected: Cote D'Azur II, Fuxiair, Papyrette, Quashed, and Solerina.

Bahram was scratched from the Oaks.

Debris Choked Streets Infested With Jackals Which Terrify Survivors

Rifle Fire And Wailing Cries of Natives Only Sounds Heard

RELIEF TRAIN ON WAY

Wreckage Stretches For 100 Miles, Four Cities Being Included

Quetta, India, June 1 (AP)—The number of dead in this earthquake-stricken area, was unofficially estimated at 30,000 today as relief work went forward under martial law, proclaimed to facilitate rescue of the injured and burial of the victims.

The bodies of those who died in the catastrophe were burned or buried as soon as they were recovered to avoid the risk of an outbreak of disease.

One of the disaster's most tragic incidents was the lasting of the general hospital, killing 200 to 300 patients.

Water gushing from fissures caused by the quake in some places flooded to a depth of several feet.

QUETTA, India, June 1.—(AP)— Jackals from the surrounding hills early today descended to the debris choked streets of this earthquake-stricken city in search of prey, creating a new horror in the ruined plateau area.

The death toll was beyond computation but it was believed in the early estimates of 20,000 to 30,000 including some 200 Europeans.

Shots from the rifles of soldiers answered by shrill snarls of "pals" as the fighting beasts were struck and the wailing cries to "Allah" by half-demented natives, were the only sounds to break the deathly silence which hangs over the city.

All structures of the city which well have been of paper, crushed flat by the mighty rent of wind sweeping down through the Bolan pass.

The appalling vista of wreckage stretches more than 100 miles inland from the cities of Kandahar, Mastung, Kalat and Shikarpur, and countless smaller villages and hamlets. Several squads worked in relays throughout the night to excavate dead and injured Britons from the latter, pinned beneath heavy piles of their homes, still could be heard.

A relief train from Karachi was expected today, bringing much needed physicians, nurses, supplies and repair crews.

A temporary relief camp already had been established at a race course area and on the grounds of the residency, where pitiful scenes were witnessed as dazed persons wandered about, stark-eyed, hunting for their missing children.

Houses Shook to Pieces

The most violent of the three shocks in the early morning hours yesterday lasted a full minute, during which the city shook to pieces.

Quetta's normal population of 60,000 was swelled by refugees from the lowlands, who had come to escape the terrors of heat.

Forty-four members of the garrison of the British Royal Air Force died as the barracks fell. Quake more were reported missing and the number included at least three European children.

Many who died had run into the streets from their homes only to be engulfed by the collapsing structures on all sides.

Countless thousands were left homeless, many of them injured or stricken after the earth tremors crumpled the flimsily constructed houses. Hundreds of Indian and Indian troops dropped in the streets from sheer exhaustion after hours of digging into debris giving first aid to the injured and organizing relief activities.

The main military barracks escaped the most serious earth shocks and as a result the soldiers were among the first relief work. Since most of Quetta's policemen had perished during the quakes.

Sleep Lures Quake Victims

Sir Norman Carter, agent of the Baluchistan States, in Quetta, Baluchistan, narrowly escaped serious injury during the earthquake. An hour as the first tremble was heard, Carter rushed his staff out into the open. Hardly had they left the building than it collapsed about them. Only Carter and a few remained standing.

The Province of Baluchistan with its population of 850,000 persons apparently suffered the worst damage. Many reports said that Sibi, Kalat and Mori districts. Most chiefly populated parts of Quetta, were destroyed. These sections were inhabited by Hindus and various migratory sections of the population.

HOSPITAL NURSES DOCTOR ACCUSED

Cobourg, June 1— Arrests here Friday of four persons on charges of administering a drug to procure a miscarriage climaxed in the collapses in his cell of Dr. F. B. Britnell, young Campbellford physician, one of the quartet under apprehension.

Police said that when they went to remove Dr. Britnell to court they found him stretched out, in a drugged condition. Rushed to hospital he later regained consciousness and was said to be on the way to recovery.

Miss Anna N. Hughes and Miss Alma Grace Willoughby, members of the nursing staff of the Ontario Hospital, and Eugene Dunlay, truck driver, for the abortion, are the other members of the accused quartet. Miss Hughes is said by police to be the person to whom the drug was administered. While Dr. Britnell is under treatment in the jail hospital he appeared before Justice of the Peace, Leslie Wilson, and were remanded until June 5.

Today's police action is alleged to have followed several days of inquiry by an inspector from the department of hospitals, Queen's Park, Toronto, and the Provincial Police Inspector E. C. Gurnett, of the criminal investigation branch. Inspector Gurnett was still in Cobourg this afternoon and it is understood that evening, giving rise to the belief that further ramifications of the case have not yet been brought to light, and that the scope of the investigation may shortly broaden out. It was announced that Hon. W. A. Hackner, Minister of Health, may visit Cobourg within the next few days concerning the matter himself or following the court action a decision may be made on the ground administration of the hospital shall be ordered.

Authorities here maintain a tightlipped silence in regard to the case. It is rumored that the alleged administering of the drug—on which the police court charges are based—took place in Campbellford, but some time ago in Campbellford. Official Queen's Park is said to have heard of the situation first, and, after a brief check-up by the criminal investigation branch, have turned it over to the attorney-general's department for consideration.

Coming Events

QUINTE ISM MIDNIGHT FROLIC Sunday night, June 2. Music by J. Tasker and his band. 21-1t

ROMMAGE SALE AT T.M.C.A. SATURday night, June 1, at 7.30 p.m. 21-1t

HOLIDAY MINUTE FROLIC AT OAK Lake Pavilion, Sunday, June 2. Holiday Minute Favorites. Admission 25c. 21-1t

MIDNIGHT FROLIC, SILENT'S Hall, Monday morning, June 3 (Dayof-Prince). Music by Silent's Orchestra. Admission 35c per person. 21-1t

DISTRICT ANNUAL MEETING BAPtist Young People's Union, Bethesda Church, Tuesday, June 3, commencing at 8 p.m. Speaker, Rev. Thomas Holmes, Toronto. Soloist, Miss Hilda Bell, Bethesda. Miss Mabel Hicks, Bethesda. Silver collection. 21c. Everybody welcome. 21-2t

MOOSE REGULAR MUSICAL ADVANcance Dance, Monday, June 3. Dancing till 1 a.m. Music by the Playboys. 21-1t

DANCE AT THE MOOSE EVERY SATurday night. Dancing till 1 a.m. Admission 50c plus tax. 21-1t

AN EVENING OF SPORT PLAN AT Victoria College, Thursday evening, June 6. Full particulars later. 21-1t

ANNUAL REVIVAL OF CONSERVATORY PUPILS in Piano and Singing at Albert College Conservatory, Wednesday, June 5, 8 p.m. Silver collection. 21-1t

ATTENTION TEACHERS! THE PUBLIC Library Committee of your district are holding their Book basket Picnic at Massassaga Point, Wednesday, at 12 noon (standard) on Victoria Day. Come and make it a success. 21-1t

GARDEN AND HOUSE PARTY AT RESidence of Vankleek Hill, Tuesday, June 4. Under Women's Auxiliary. Housekeeping table, cooky, candy, apron. 21-1t

Nailed to Wood Cross, 'Gas' Operator Survives

High Point, N.C., June 1.—(AP) —J. A. Jones, middle-aged filling station operator, was found nailed to a rough board cross set up beside the highway near his establishment early today. Ten-penny nails through each hand and each foot held him to the cross.

F. A. Walls, travelling the road, came upon the awesome spectacle and a short figure spiked to the crudely constructed cross and summoned help.

With the aid of an ambulance crew, Walls removed the nails and Riggs was taken down.

He was carried to a hospital where attackers said his wounds were painful but not serious.

Mystery Man is Named Ambassador-at-Large

BERLIN, June 1.—(CP-Havas) — Joachim von Ribbentrop, "Mystery Man of German Diplomacy" today assumed a position of new importance in the affairs of the Third Reich through his appointment as Ambassador-at-Large with full powers to act on behalf of the German Government.

The announcement of the appointment, made by Chancellor Adolf Hitler last night, added von Ribbentrop was being charged with a "special mission" Von Ribbentrop was recently named to head the Germano-Naval Treaty for the Anglo-German naval talks to begin in London, Tuesday.

City and District News

BLEECKER WARD LIBERALS MEET

A successful euchre party was held Friday night in the Bleecker Ward Liberal Club at the home of Mr. E. Whalen, Sister Avenue. Good prizes were offered and won by Ladies, Mrs. R. Wheeler, Mrs. H. Jones; Men, Mr. Hall, Mr. Bert Bennett, Mr. Smith, W. Callaghan, Mr. Hall. Refreshments were served and dancing was enjoyed at the close.

Churchgoers Will Observe Fast Time

Churchgoers in Belleville are advised to make certain that where they leave for church services tomorrow (Sunday) they are leaving on daylight saving time, so that they will not arrive late at service, for the city churches are following the mayor's proclamation calling for the advance of time one hour at midnight, (tonight). Anyone who follows the standard time to-morrow will reach church one hour later.

FISH IN BAY ADD BUDS TO DIET

Fish in the Bay of Quinte are adding that little extra diet, and it is Geo. Boucher, local angler hadn't "seen it with his own eyes", he would have said that "there's more than a little, too."

Birds skimmed the surface of the river, just below the car bridge early last evening, while the fishermen angled for perch from his fish-hut perched point. A sudden commotion several yards down attracted his attention and he looked in time to see a small shadow dart under the water, bearing one wing furiously. Released briefly, it struggled to rise, but again was seized and slowly drawn down.

"Must have been a black bass, I've heard of them doing that before," added George.

SNAPPING TURTLES PLENTIFUL IN BAY

Snapping turtles and mud turtles, hereditary enemies of game fish and their eggs are more numerous in the bay this season than ever, fishermen point out. Several of them are caught nightly even on the hooks of anglers and a great majority of cases are unhooked and thrown back into the water, generally little harmed. Decapitation of the turtles, when caught and before being thrown back is advised by sportsmen to help reduced their number.

HALLOWAY RESIDENT INJURED IN CRASH

Crashing into the rear end of a large Packard trailer on Dundas street, early today an automobile owned and driven by Arthur W. Wilson, Holloway, was badly damaged, while Mrs. Wilson, a passenger in the motor car sustained a severe cut over the right eye, the result of flying glass. Mrs. Wilson was removed to the office of Dr. G. S. Crack, where the cut was dressed. Mr. Wilson was fol-

It Pays to Shop at the Rexall Store.

WEEK END SPECIAL PEPPERMINT PATTIES

29c

McKeown's Drug Store

DR. H. J. FAHEY

desires to announce the location of his office and practice in Robertson Block, 219 Front St., Belleville.

M7-123

lowing the McCallum trailer, a large motor vehicle used to transport new automobiles from the factories to the dealers, southward on Coleman Street. Apparently Mr. Wilson was driving too close to the rear trailer and collided with it. The radiator and windshield of the motor car were both badly damaged, the flying glass from the windshield causing Mrs. Wilson's injury. The matter was reported to the local police by both parties concerned.

FURTHER MOVES OF BOARD NOT KNOWN

Up to the present no word has been received locally regarding any further move by the Dominion Marketing Board in respect to the new cheese marketing regulations by a local board. Under the new plan, the board would be set up in Belleville named as one of the five district points in the province, Mr. E. J. Fraer of Stirling, has already been named as one of the personnel of the first board.

KID WANTS TO JOIN AIR FORCE

He was about twelve and his eyes were round with wonder and desire as he strolled through part of one of the airplane hangars of the Royal Canadian Air Force on the Trent Road one day this week. It was a dream world of steel and shiny parcels planes and overalled men poking in fascinating fashion at the innards of glistening motors. Somehow he had eluded the guards at the gate and now lived in the world of ambition.

"Gee", he breathed. "Gee, Mister" almost whispered the round-eyed lad as he approached a busy mechanic struggling with some balky part on one of the machines. "Gosh, where could a fellow sign up to be one of your aviators."

At the outside gate as they quietly but firmly escorted him out, it was patiently explained that twelve was much too young to be thinking of such airy business.

CONFIRM 200 AT ST. MICHAEL'S

At ten-thirty Mass tomorrow morning at St. Michael's Church the Sacrament of Confirmation will be administered to a class of two hundred by His Excellency Most Reverend M. J. O'Brien co-adjutor Archbishop of Kingston. Mass at this time will be low Mass. The Archsermon the children will be interrogated in basic principles of Christian doctrine by the Archbishop.

OFFICE HOURS ON KING'S BIRTHDAY

Holiday observance at the Post Office on Monday will be as follows, the public lobby will be opened from 8.30 a.m. to 12.30 p.m. and general delivery. Registered letters, parcel post and money wicket from 8.30 a.m. to 12.30 p.m. The money order and savings bank wicket will be open from 8.00 a.m. to 12.30 p.m. while there will be no morning delivery by mail carries and also a morning and evening collection of mail. The mail at the office will be up to 12 o'clock noon will be despatched as usual.

NEW QUEEN'S IS REPAINTED

The exterior of the New Queen's Hotel is receiving a new coat of paint. The apple green color gives the premises a much finer appearance and cleaner appearance. Much comment has been passed by several citizens and commercial travellers and judging frontier conversations the management couldn't have chosen a better color tone.

COUNTY PARADISE FOR FISHERMEN

Hastings is still the paradise for fishermen, and good catches are reported. One such being reported. One party recently returned from the vicinity of Madoc, Quinte points including Rigar Vermilyea, of Belleville; William Wesnik and Dick Fraser, Port Hope, brought back 36 fine speckled brook trout weighing from 2 to 4½ pounds each.

FRED. J. ELLIOTT DIES OF INJURIES

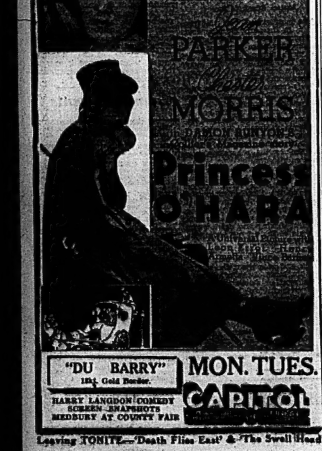
Hurt While Working in C. N. R. Yards at Trenton

Fred J. Elliott, 48-year-old Peterboro resident of 152 Dutton street, was fatally injured in the Trenton yards at noon yesterday, died in the Trenton Memorial Hospital at 4.30 as the result of his injuries, at 4.30 p.m. the last rites were read by a priest looking into his death opened this morning at 9.00 a.m. at the Belleville morgue by Dr. Ernest Thomson, coroner for identification purpose only.

The injured man's brother, Geo. Jordan, Trenchi service station operator, who was a close friend of Mr. Beaupre, Mr. Booth, who impanelled the coroner's jury also testified. The other witnesses were submitted by Crown Attorney J. C. Donnan, Chief of Provincial Police Corbett Coroner Dr. R. W. Tennent. The jurymen present were: W. K. Kerr, foreman, Everett Smith, Lewis, Dave Fleming, Cliff Charlton, Harold Hall, Fred Kitchener, Fred Chamberlain and G. Goslin.

Following the preliminaries, the inquest was adjourned until this evening at 8.00 p.m. Mr. Elliott was a Peterboro resident residing at 152 Dutton Bourne Street. His near relatives were notified of the accident yesterday and were at his bedside when he died. The deceased will be buried at Peterboro on Monday.

King and Queen Appreciate Message



Rt. Rev. Bishop George Marshall, rector of Emmanuel Reformed Episcopal Church, has received from the assistant secretary to the Governor General acknowledgment and appreciation of the message of loyalty and best wishes forwarded to Their Majesties the King and the Queen on their silver jubilee by the Grand Orange societies here. The letter reads:

"His Excellency the Governor General is commanded by His Majesty to convey to you and to all officers and members of the Reformed Episcopal Church, Belleville, Ontario, to the Master, officers and members of Benjamin Lodge No. 1, Lodge No. 274, and to the brethren of the County of South Hastings Orange Lodge, the deep appreciation of His Majesty and of Her Majesty for the loyal message of congratulation on the occasion of His Majesty's Silver Jubilee.

BUSINESS WILL NOT OBSERVE HOLIDAY

Monday, 3rd inst., is the King's Birthday and a Government holiday. Owing to the number of holidays this year the day will not be observed here by merchants and business places. The Ontario Intelligencer will be published as usual on Monday.

Government offices and banks will be closed for the day. Schools will be closed.

Good eyesight does not necessarily make you a good golfer, but just try to be a good golfer without good eyesight!

Keeping your eye on the ball means keeping your eye on the ball...and not on a ball and a half, and not on a ball when a fellow takes from where the ball really is.

Many a golfer has instantly substracted from 10 to 15 strokes from his score by improving his vision with correct glasses, and every golfer over 40 to 50 game to have his eyes examined once a year.

J. A. McFEE
EXPERIENCED OPTOMETRIST

NIGHT TELEPHONE RATES EARLIER

Manager G. W. Proctor Announces Rates Begin at 7 p.m.

Commencing today, night rates on long distance telephone calls are to begin at 7 p.m. instead of 8 p.m.

According to Manager G. W. Proctor The Bell Telephone Company has fyfid with the Board of Railway Commissioners at Ottawa a revised schedule of Long Distance rates in which from today night rates on "Anyone" (station) calls become effective as follows: Belleville to Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Niagara Falls, Port Hope, brought back 35 fins speckled brook trout weighing from 2 to 4½ pounds each.

Mr. Proctor explained, a marked upturn in long distance traffic occurred at 8.30 when the night rates began. This upturn had become so pronounced as to constitute, on many lines between important centres, an undesirable peak load which tended to slow up the service. The lower period of minimum rates is counted on so to flatten the low valley and so to reduce the peak load factor and thereby make easier the task of long distance operators by making possible a more even apportionment of work.

This important change in the long distance rate structure, while involving in isolated cases (affecting about 3 per cent of the traffic) a five-cent advance in the minimum rate, will effect a worth-while saving to the users of the service by extending the minimum period.

CANADIAN COURTESY NOTICED BY TOURIST

Fifth Trip to Dominion and Likes It Better Every Time

"Feels good to get back into Canada, capitalist" expansively commented the portly visitor as he stood at the bumps of a downtown gasoline station this morning, and with a flick of the thumb flowing liquid gurgle into the tank of his gassy sedan, bearing Ohio license plates.

"This is the fifth time I've been here and in every instance I've noticed better all the time. Even the roads and directions signs have improved a lot in the past year or so, and one thing particularly I've noticed was that tourist grouping in hotels and restaurants is absent". Canadian courtesy was just another point added the speaker.

Yes the Canadian' immigration and customs officers at Walkerville, where they crossed into Ontario, and the Customs officers at Windsor, but praise, "All they asked us was how many American cigarettes we were carrying, Cigarettes are h' w, people over there now, you know".

From Toledo, Mr. and Mrs. Osterman, two sons and a considerable quantity of luggage, crossed the travel as far as the Maritimes on their leisurely journey during a lengthy holiday in the country.

Red Cross Far-Flung Service Described to Local Branch

Plans Completed For Annual Campaign June 3rd to 8th

A vision of the broad outlook of the Red Cross in Ontario was brought to the local workers yesterday when Mr. N. E. Vinton, field secretary of the Ontario Red Cross Society, addressed a gathering yesterday at the home of Mrs. Stuart Lasier, vice-President of the Belleville branch. The occasion was a meeting of the officers and the men and women of the city who will take part in the Red Cross campaign which opens in the city on Monday with an objective of nine hundred dollars.

Mr. V. G. Heffzy, newly-elected president of the local branch, was introduced by Mrs. Lasier, and acted as chairman for the informal meeting. Mr. Heffzy expressed the thanks of the Society to Mrs. Lasier for her hospitality and to the men and women who had volunteered their services in making the canvass. Reference was made to the splendid work of the past president, Mr. W. B. Deacon and sincere wishes for his speedy recovery were expressed by Mr. Heffzy.

Mr. Vinton, who was called upon to address the meeting, conveyed the greetings of the Ontario Society to the local branch, and to the province's newest Red Cross project, the Trent Valley. He explained, had a wonderful Red Cross background and he was confident that the efforts of the Society to raise funds for the work would meet with splendid success.

"We have passed through five of the most trying and devastating years in the history of Red Cross," said Mr. Vinton. "Those of us who have seen the Red Cross in the situation agree that this period has been more devastating than that of the war. During the war we soldiers were given every opportunity through the organizations and entertainments to take our minds from tragedy, to keep up our morale. We were in the war on morale. Today those fighting the battle of unemployment are suffering from their morale is constantly dropping. It should now be the aim of the Red Cross to try its best to build up self respect and morale in those unfortunate victims of this depression. Red Cross has a great job in rehabilitation of people. Let us help them to help themselves."

"Self help centres instead of depots for distributing completed sewing were suggested as these had worked well in other communities. Mothers were encouraged to come here, bring their children with them and after by competent girls, and under the direction of volunteer workers, make up the kind of the articles which had formerly been contributed. The Trent Valley system was recommended to Belleville branch whose work room has been a great help and convenience during the past few years. Mr. Vinton also stated that they should now sponsor the Nutrition Classes in future, to see that the people for whom the classes were originally planned be reached. The work of the Red Cross outpost and Miss Wallbridge in teaching - Nutrition classes was highly commended and it was that of Mrs. A. D. Archibald who acted as convener for the very successful classes they conducted here last winter.

Under Red Cross, with its international outlook and ideal of world friendship among children, and peace and better leadership in this great organization had doubled in the past few years.

Mr. Vinton discussed the problem of disabled returned soldiers, a legacy of the last war, the Red Cross would never desert them. Those in hospital today are visited by Red Cross visitors bringing treats, just as those in hospitals behind the lines were cared for during the war. Soldiers' Clubs opened in Toronto and London to cater for the British pensioners were greatly appreciated and filled a long felt want.

Turning to the work of outpost nursing in the islands which are scattered in Ontario Mr. Vinton spoke of the heroic efforts of the people of these islands and also briefly referred to the Davis hospital being saved by the residents of Hawk Junction who are working tirelessly to raise funds for a hospital which is desperately needed in that isolated spot.

Belleville has always been interested in the missionary aspect of Red Cross as well as the local needs and the speaker was confident this splendid year would see a jubilee collection in Belleville.

Mrs. Anna Hurley who has been the efficient secretary of the Red Cross, expressed the thanks and sympathy for Red Cross was growing, as evidenced by the fact that subscriptions had greatly contributed to the fund before the campaign was actually launched. Mrs. Hurley paid tribute to the work of Mrs. Stuart Lasier as convener of the work room.

Appreciation to the local theatres, Canadian Department Store, and to the press for generous assistance in the publicity campaign was expressed by the meeting.

Tea was served the guests, Mrs. A. Ross Thompson, Mrs. Ida Tate and Miss Campbell and Mrs. Donald Ketchenon serving the dainty refreshments.

The women and men who will canvass for Red Cross next week: Miss O. Wallbridge, Miss I. Thompson, Mrs. H. Hall, Mrs. Ross, Mrs. F. B. Smith, Mrs. A. D. Archibald, Mrs. H. Ketchenon, Mrs. Donald Ketcheson, Mrs. F. G. Chamberlain, Mrs. T. H. Holland, Mrs. C. E. Argue, Mrs. H. Wills, Mrs. Ida Tate, Miss Ella McGinnis, Miss Badie Davison, Miss Jessie McGie, Mrs. A. E. Ketchenon, Mrs. A. B. Colline, Mrs. W. Clarke, Mrs. A. C. Wells, Mrs. Frank E. Tilley, Mrs. J. S. Bigham, Mrs. A. Pratt, Mrs. J. Neale, Mrs. Addison Vanderwater, Mrs. A. Ross Thompson, R. C. Sister, Miss Clare Ostrom, Mrs. Ida Tate, Mrs. Donald Ketcheson, Mrs. L. M. Howe, Mrs. C. Sharpe, Mrs. Arthur Wills.

W. J. Imlah, J. Shortt, J. D. O'Flynn, W. C. Springer, Howard J. Clarke, Jimmie Wills, Fred Tilley, J. G. Gallway, I. G. Heffzy.

TIME TO DESTROY TENT CATERPILLARS

Webs in Crotches of Trees Should Be Taken Down

Tent caterpillars at the peak year of their abundance this season will create thousands of dollars worth of damage to fruit trees unless prompt steps to destroy them are immediately taken for their control, declares Dr. E. M. Walker, chief of the local Dominion Entomological Laboratory. Their distinctive webs in the crotches of trees in city yards, farms and orchards are more numerous than usual, he says, but at the present time may be easily removed from the tree and burned, by the owner.

Thousands of helpful parasites, which have been imported by the Dominion this year in the control of destructive insects, are expected to continue until late fall. From time to time regular consignments will be sent this summer to various points in Ontario, under the care of local experts. Two of the latest arrivals are the wooly aphid and saw fly parasites.

Police News

Nine transients and one lone inebriate occupied the cell block at the local police station last night, Chief Constable Ponton liberated this morning, however, while the drunk is still detained in the cells awaiting to be remanded until Monday.

A slight falling off of transients to apply at the station house for sleeping quarters during the month of May was noted today, however statistics given out by the police department state, that 441 transients had been quartered in the cell block during the past week, however, being attributed to the warmer weather, that is in vogue at present.

The local youth of 16 years ago was taken into custody for questioning yesterday. The youth was suspected of breaking entry into the office of the Fruit Machinery Company. The lad subsequently admitted the offence and was allowed his freedom until Monday, when he will be summoned into juvenile court.

Obituary

MRS. LIZZIE WOOD (Flinton)

Mrs. Lizzie Wood who passed away in the Belleville General Hospital on May 30th, was the wife of Mr. Thos. Wood of Flinton. She has had been in failing health for several months.

The late Mrs. Wood, who was in her 48th year was born in Elzevir township. She was highly esteemed in the community where she lived and was a member of St. Paul's Anglican Church, Flinton.

Surviving to mourn her death are the husband, Mr. Thomas Wood; three daughters, Lizzie, Irene and Agnes, all at home; six sons, George of Belleville; Burnsat of Flinton and Edward, Wilfred, Donald and Oscar all at home.

The funeral took place this Saturday afternoon, service being conducted by the Rev. A. P. Dowdell of Plevna. Interment was made in the cemetery at Flinton.

BELLE THEATRE

New Prices Effective Sat. June 1

MATINEES

	Admission	Tax	Total
Adults	25c	5c	30c
Children	10c	2c	12c

EVENINGS

Balcony	28c	5c	33c
Lower Floor	33c	5c	38c
Children	10c	2c	12c

PLEASE NOTE

"We are not increasing our Admission Prices."
"The additional cost to you is due to the Revised Amusement Tax Schedule."

A Good Buy

AND GOOD BYE TO YOUR OLD ICE BOX—WITH ITS EVERLASTINGLY OVERFLOWING DRIP PAN AND OTHER SHORTCOMINGS.

WHEN YOU BUY A GENERAL ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR with these outstanding features, among others:

MONITOR TOP
FIVE-YEAR GUARANTEE
STORADOR
INTERIOR LIGHTING
FOOT PEDAL for Door Release
ALL-STEEL CABINETS

You can now buy a General Electric Refrigerator for as low as $129.00

Ask about our easy payment plan. Easier and Cheaper to Own a Modern Electric Refrigerator than put up with the old Ice Box.

JUST A FEW CENTS A DAY MAKES YOU THE PROUD OWNER OF GENERAL ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR

WEAVER'S

214 Front St. Belleville Telephone 1031

General Insurance

Telephone 168

168 Front St.

HAIG Bros. Limited

Representatives

J. M. HAIG W. L. McDOUGALL

House 'Phones:—1068 159 and 4847

Angus McFee Establishment Marks 75 Years in Trade

History of Foundation of Jewelry Business Dates From 1860

An interesting event in the business world of Belleville occurred Thursday in the celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the establishment of the jewelry business of Angus McFee.

Early in the year 1860 a young Scotch jeweler and watchmaker came from Glasgow to Belleville and began business here in a modest way. Angus McFee, a brother, followed by his genial ways and sterling character, won many friends and prospered at his business of watchmaker and jeweler. He was a good craftsman and the watches and clocks of the neighborhood were brought to the young Scotch tradesman in the full knowledge that whatever ailed them would receive at his magic touch.

The business of Angus McFee grew and prospered and became widely known for fair dealing, having established the principle of one price to all, marked in plain figures in a community which in those days was largely Scotch, and the reputation for integrity won in the early days has continued down through the years and is still the greatest asset of the business.

Angus McFee conducted the business with complete success up to the time of his death in 1897, his nephew being a widely known figure in many friends. He remained a bachelor to the last, and the business was continued under the management of a young man, a nephew who had grown up in the business under his uncle, John A. McFee.

The history carried out the traditions of the business in a very capable way by his energy and ability, materially expanding the business, adding thereto an optical department, becoming himself an expert optometrists, to which profession he had graduated, devoting his entire attention, while the jewellery and watchmaking end remained in charge of the present manager who came from Glasgow to Belleville and began business here in a modest way, Angus McFee, a brother, followed by his genial ways and sterling character, won many friends and prospered at his business of watchmaker and jeweler. He was a good craftsman and the watches and clocks of the neighborhood were brought to the young Scotch tradesman in the full knowledge that whatever ailed them would receive at his magic touch.

The business of Angus McFee grew and prospered and became widely known for fair dealing, having established the principle of one price to all, marked in plain figures in a community which in those days was largely Scotch, and the reputation for integrity won in the early days has continued down through the years and is still the greatest asset of the business.

Angus McFee conducted the business with complete success up to the time of his death in 1897, his nephew being a widely known figure in many friends. He remained a bachelor to the last, and the business was continued under the management of a young man, a nephew who had grown up in the business

BUY! Through the WANT-ADS

No Greater Story Has Ever Been Written!
No Greater Picture Has Ever Been Filmed!

CLOSING Y.P.S. MEETING HELD

Frankford United Church Group Gives Interesting Program

Frankford, June 1.—The last Y. P. S. meeting of the term was held on Monday evening, May 27. The meeting opened with singing a hymn followed by repeating the Lord's prayer. Several business items were discussed after which Gerald Carlisle took charge of the Christian culture program. A hymn was sung and Rev. J. F. Lane led in prayer. The Scripture lesson taken from Matthew, Luke and Proverbs was read by Lucy Ferguson. Sadie Welbourn then read the explanation. Mr. Lane led a discussion on the topic "books". For a good-bye hymn "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" was chosen. After a short contest the meeting closed with the Mispah Benediction. The recording secretary of the meeting was Gertrude L. Ferguson.

Mrs. J. E. Finnigan is spending a few days in Montreal.

Mrs. E. Osterhout who has been spending some weeks in New York City the guest of her daughter, Miss Lillian Osterhout, Reg. N., has returned home.

Miss Nan McKinley of Toronto is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. Johnson.

The Sunday evening service at the United Church will be conducted by the Young People's Society in the absence of the pastor, Rev. J. F. Lane who is attending Conference at Peterboro.

The Hair Company pulp mill which has been closed down for two weeks resumed work on Monday last.

The Trent Valley canal will reopen for navigation on June 1.

Miss Beulah Montgomery is a patient in the Belleville General Hospital.

Mrs. A. Curry, Mrs. A. Rose, Miss M. Curry and Mrs. F. Gurney of Belleville were the guests of Mrs. H. J. Madill on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Spencer spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Matthews at their cottage at Oak Lake.

Dr. and Mrs. Roy Sarles and children of Frankenmuth, Mich., spent a few days in the village this week the guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. Sarles and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ford.

Mrs. Geo. Ira Wilson is preparing dinner on Tuesday, had the misfortune to burn her left hand badly. The injured member is progressing favorably.

USEFUL GIFTS FOR THE JUNE BRIDE

ELECTRIC
- PERCOLATORS
- TOASTERS
- IRONS
- CLOCKS

WESTINGHOUSE and HOTPOINT

ELECTRIC RANGES

—FOR RURAL BRIDES—

A
- COLEMAN
- GASOLENE STOVE
- A COLEMAN LAMP

or a
- NEW INSTANT-LITE COLEMAN GASOLINE IRON.

Make Your Gift Appreciated

JOHN LEWIS COMPANY

265 Front St. Phone 2265

Machine Shop Magic

In this life things will go wrong, cars refuse to start, parts break and the theory of "If Kinds gets out of order, something has to be wrong" seems to spring to mind. Anyone who experiences any of these annoyances can get quick and thorough attention to suit and the lowest charges should be ready to move down the line during the coming spring with these warm Spring days. Well trained men are always ready to give a neat appearance to your car. Mr. Kinds, the proprietor of the Machine Shop, is a man who has always had an eye for the betterment of his shop and has got the best workmanship with the latest and most modern machine tools, recently discovered the very place. The Machine Shop is the best spot to be in the storm.

The wonderful scented me around his shop and I was pleased to have the opportunity just without telling my self that I was a reporter to have present the Greenleaf Company here for the first service to the public.

First I was taken into the garage and saw cars raising and lowering, brakes being relined and adjusting tested, new bearings installed, motors tuned, cylinder blocks, crankshafts ground true, batteries charged and in fact any of the numerous minor jobs which come under the "pop up" in any car. There is a complete line of Greenleaf products on hand for your car or truck that would cause you trouble if you were to run out.

Another workbench, equipped with all kinds of delicate work of machinery, is used for grinding almost metal of all and any description, iron, brass, steel and the like. Nothing needs to be sent off the individual need. All types and sizes of bearings are in stock and a thoroughness that leaves nothing to be desired.

Another matter of great interest was the fact that Mr. Kinds has been in the shop all his life and has the same staff working on any job which cannot be done by him. Each man has served to be a real service to the customer.

Should you not be married with the conveniences of the Machine Shop, look for all the things that you have found in the Machine Shop. Mr. Kinds is a man who I had not seen for some time and was pleased to be asked to where a man was editorizing scales. From these seen in the small, modern shop to the huge platform scales for weighing in the thousand pounds required in the Weights and Measures Act.

In closing this editorial to a close I cannot help but feel that a Company that has taken such pains in fitting out so complete an establishment deserves a good word and I am glad to say that and it is for the Greenleaf Company and for all in the Greenleaf Company at Frankford where you will receive every courtesy and attention and get first-class service at reasonable prices.—(Protected 1935).

Old Bachelors' Button Is A Centaurea

Cornflowers have been popularized as this floral trade and are probably better known under that name to the flower buying public than by their use by gardeners who more commonly know them under their old fashioned name of bachelors' buttons.

Botanically they are centaureas and there are annual and perennial forms of very different appearance, but nearly all of value in the garden. The annual centaureas are of two kinds, cyanus, the common bachelor's button, known as the national flower of Germany, and the sweet sultan which includes centaureas imperialis and suaveolens.

The annual bachelors' button in white, pink, light and dark blue and purple, is one of the oldest annuals and often escapes and runs wild along the roadside. While it is a handsome bloom and it fine cutting material the plant is poor of foliage and of little decorative value in the garden. A row in the vegetable garden for cutting is the best use.

The sweet sultan is a handsome plant both in flower and foliage but it is not the hardy growth of its relative. The flowers are much larger, delicate and include yellow, not found in the bachelors' button. The sweet sultans are larger and more delicate and have remarkable keeping quality as cut flowers. They should be sown early and the individual plants given room to develop. They do not transplant well so should be sown where they are grown. They do not possess the freedom of bloom of their sturdier relatives, but make up in their far finer quality. They are well worth a place in the garden for cutting. The imperialis strain comes in white rose, lilac, plum and purple crimson; the yellow of original sweet sultan is centaurea suaveolens. They are one of the handsomest of annuals for cutting.

They require rich soil, plenty of moisture, and full sun to do their best. Their blooming season is relatively short and several plantings should be made to obtain a succession of bloom. The yellow flowered sultan is of a particularly fine color tone and is one of the finest of this section.

Centaurea, are coarser of growth, the giant yellow, centaurea macrocephala with its huge yellow thistle-like heads being most striking.

If the drought of 1934 rot the roots of your vegetable garden, don't let it dampen your enthusiasm and start planning for a normal year for growing things.

Put in another planting of onion sets to keep the green onion soup going.

Weekly Crop Report

Winnipeg, June 1.—Crop conditions were generally good throughout Western Canada during the past week. Seeding is practically completed except in the Peace River and from 30 per cent to 40 per cent of the coarse grains are in the ground. Weather has been mostly cool and cloudy and no serious damage is reported from drifting or pests. Where necessary grasshopper control measures are all in hand, according to the weekly crop report of the Agricultural Department Canadian National Railways.

In Manitoba, cool weather has prevailed, plenty of moisture is reported and crops and pastures are in good shape. In the Dauphin-Swan River territory moisture conditions are at "present satisfactory" but warmer weather is needed to assist growth.

From the Regina division of Southern Saskatchewan come reports that the weather has been cool and cloudy with some high winds and showers. There is sufficient moisture for the present. Early sown wheat is showing up well and pastures are beginning to green.

No evidence of grasshoppers to date. Fall rye is in good condition. Growth in gardens is rather slow as weather remains cool.

Scott Completed

The Saskatoon division reports cool weather with high winds causing some soil drifting but not enough to damage crops. All seeding is completed. No reports of grasshoppers as yet in this area conditions generally are much better than for several years. Reports from the Prince Albert division show that the season is ten days to two weeks later than normal, but a spell of warm weather would offset any delay of seeding. Weather has been cool with showers during the past week. Growth is very slow but early sown grains are well up over the ground. No damage reported from any source.

The Calgary Alberta division reports weather mostly cool with scattered showers and some high winds. Wheat seeding is now completed and 75 percent of coarse grains have reached the seed bed. While growth is somewhat retarded on account of wetter conditions, the general outlook is very satisfactory. Pastures are in good shape.

From the Edmonton division reports show generally all crops in wheat and about 70 percent of coarse grains now sown. Most of the wheat is above ground and looking strong and healthy. So far no damage to crops has been noticed.

The Peace River territory received heavy rains in the early part of the period under review, but weather is now fine and seeding fully resumed. It is expected that wheat seeding will be completed at an early date while coarse grains are about 60 percent sown.

The principal demand in the cattle market is for stock, and there should receipts show any large increase in volume, price weakness may develop, the hog market remains fairly steady.

DODDS KIDNEY PILLS
DIABETES DROPSICAL KIDNEY DISEASE
SOLD BY THE POSSE

SMASH ON NOSE THREAT ADMITTED

Ottawa, June 1.—(CP)—Commissioner W. J. Daly was told by A. G. Hall, former convict at Kingston Penitentiary, he had practically threatened to "smash in the nose" of inspector of the penitentiaries branch on the issue of prison reform. Miss Agnes Macphail, member of parliament for Southeast Grey.

Hall said he "lost my temper and told him (Dawson) if he were not a penitentiary inspector I would smash him in the nose." Hall swore. He said he had told the truth. Dawson, at an interview with the Inspector April 9, 1934, when, he claimed, the official had said: "Again and again—d— fool of herself in the House of Commons. Where are we finished with her she won't be able to hold up her head again in the House of Commons."

On the whole it was not an unfriendly interview except for two incidents "when I got hot under the collar," Hall swore. At stages the interview was friendly Hall said. Dawson had talked to him about the time Hall had invested in Kansas wheat. His penitentiary term expired last April 27 Hall said.

"How did this alleged statement regarding Miss Macphail come about," Mr. Greer asked.

Dawson had before him a lot of papers and had been talking about the prison convict, Charles Baynes. The witness continued Dawson had said: "Do you know that Miss Macphail tried to smuggle out a letter to Miss Macphail?" He had told Dawson he was not interested in the latter. Dawson, proceeded witness, had said Baynes was a "damned unmitigated liar" and "the worst type of criminal." Hall added: "This was the first type of person who gave information to Miss Macphail."

Dawson's witness continued. Dawson had also said Baynes had given out information about an inmate being killed at Stony Mountain Penitentiary while working on the scaffold. Dawson also had said information given to and used by Miss Macphail was false, Hall said.

Proceeding witness' maintained Dawson had said: "Macphail is a g—d— fool of herself in the House of Commons. When we are finished with her she won't be able to hold up her head again' in the House of Commons."

Her answer to Dawson, the witness said, was he had Miss Macphail in great respect. She was interested in social work and was a lady.

"So we take it you thoroughly insulted Inspector Dawson," counsel told Mr. Greer. Hall answered in the affirmative. He had rebuked Dawson severely and told him he had told the official if he were not a penitentiary inspector he would "smash him in the nose."

Dawson's reply was to tell him to "keep quiet," Hall replied.

"You did not use the statements about punching Dawson in the nose in the affidavit you made," R. H. Greer, Dawson's counsel said. "What was Inspector Dawson's reaction?"

"I think he (Dawson) told me to keep quiet," Hall replied.

"I told Inspector Dawson I would report his statements."

Warm interchanges occurred between J. C. McRuer, counsel for Miss MacPhail, and Commission Counsel. "The severe cross-examination of Hall on behalf of Dawson is not to get the truth, notwithstanding the statements made by Mr. Greer about how impartial he was going to be," Mr. McRuer declared at one stage. "Well we can go ahead and the public will know where you stand.

"Please do not make such remarks. You are not the right," Judge Daly interposed.

"I think I am the perfect right to make these remarks," Mr. McRuer replied.

"I do not think you have," Judge Daly retorted.

"My friend (Mr. McRuer) is trying to get newspaper publicity," Commission Counsel declared.

"I am not, but I am going to protest against any unfairness," Mr. McRuer answered.

"There has been no unfairness," Judge Daly said.

FINGERS CRUSHED IN CAR DOOR

Plainfield—Quite a number from this vicinity attended the celebration at Foxboro on Friday.

Mrs. S. Parks returned home after visiting her sister, Mrs. B. Caldwell, Trenton.

Margery and Mac Outwater are very sick. Nurse Moore is nursing them.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Parks attended the funeral of the late Mrs. H. Grisham on Monday.

Miss Mary Marshall visited with friends near Madoc over the week-end.

Beryl Platt had the misfortune to have her fingers crushed in the car door.

Mr. and Mrs. Addison Hall and Betty and Bernice spent Sunday with the week end with Mr. R. Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Mason and baby of Belleville, spent the holiday with Rev. and Mrs. Everson.

Mrs. N. Dunning visited her son, Mr. H. Dunning last week.

Mrs. Shaw and family of Foxboro, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. P. Hamilton.

Mrs. J. Shaw has been very ill. Her sister, Mrs. Shaw of Tweed, has been taking care of her.

Mrs. H. McCreary spent Sunday with Mrs. J. Crewdson.

Mrs. Kellar is visiting her father, Mr. T. Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Weir and Mr. Sherman and Mr. and Mrs. N. Hall and Norman and Alice visited Mr. R. Hall on Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Everson is attending Conference and Mrs. Everson is visiting friends at Peterboro.

Library Corner

"Zaharoff, High Priest of War," by Guiles Davenport. With five illustrations Lethrop, Leeand Shepard Co., Boston. 1934.

Zaharoff is a name to conjure with, one which spells blood, death and destruction. He was the man or one who, it is whispered, promotes wars among nations as cavalierly and as diplomatically as a boxing promoter arranges a bout between two boxers. It is an important name in the history of European wars for the past-fifty-seven years.

In these days of war scares, gas fields, and armament races, Sir Basil Zaharoff casts his shadow over the whole world. He is the man behind the big guns, they say —the big shot. He is the High Priest of War. Moreover he is a man of mystery, complicated and almost unfathomable mystery. There have been many efforts made to expose him; but excepting the two more commonly known facts that he has huge industrial interests and Monte Carlo, we can accept nothing as actual knowledge.

Guiles Davenport has attempted to enlighten us a little. Seemingly however, he has only increased the mystery of this man. Apart from a few personal incidents, dates, places and some other minor details, he does not make any startling revelations. The principal allegation he traces the man's life—the story of his rise from a poor Greek boy especially his efforts to bring Greece in on the side of the allies; and the final climax of what seems to be the supreme paradox, a power sufficient to hinder the Franco-Belgian Luxembourgeois group of armament makers and the British-Vickers-Zaharoff combine—that is not new to us. It has been written before, although perhaps not so authentically as it is done by Davenport. The very fact that the author forced to be so reticent because of his intimate knowledge of Zaharoff and of his many devious activities is enough to vouchsafe the authenticity of the story. In Paris, Davenport shared his apartment with Zaharoff's nephew Mere for many months on many times. It is doubtful if anyone in the world knows Zaharoff as well as a certain Spanish Duchess, ever been more closely associated with Zaharoff.

This intimate knowledge of Zaharoff qualifies Davenport, therefore, to paint a picture of the man himself—as a personality rather than as a figure. He has attempted to describe the aging mystery man in the palatial Monte Carlo villa served by a single servant. He lives in almost complete seclusion at his home on the Riviera where his roses are his sole delight. He has but few friends. Now and then he has his step-daughters pay a duty call. There is a tragic loneliness about the man. It is almost pathetic.

Zaharoff refuses to talk about Greece, claiming that his heart and his head are twice. He reveals that he has written fifty-three volumes of memoirs in his own fine script, but he has ordered them to be destroyed before his death. It is rumored, however, that we shall ever solve the mystery of the man. Guiles Davenport has tried et do his best but his limitations, but at his best this biography can only be called clerich. Zaharoff remains a mystery.

"Author Hunting" by Grant Richards. Illustrated. Published in New York by Coward-McCann, Inc. 1934.

This is the story of The Tragedy of a Publisher who Fell in Love with Literature. Which sums up in one sentence the career of Grant Richards who founded his own publishing firm at the age of 26. He was the first publisher of Thomas Burke, G. K. Chesterton, Warwick Deeping, James Joyce, John Masefield, Alfred Noyes and Alec Waugh.

He also published Shaw's plays and the one-paper baskets of the other publishers were full of them. And he brought out "A Shrophire Lad" the most famous volume of poetry of the century.

"Author Hunting" is not a publisher's catalogue but rather it reads like a Who's Who. It is rich with rare stories about authors, and includes many letters from G. B. S., hitherto unpublished. This is a thrilling game of literary adventure that Grant Richards has given us to play and it is bound to be an exciting one.

Bibliography of books compiled and edited by David Ewen. The H. W. Wilson Company, New York. 1934.

If one tires of hunting authors, one can turn to "Composers of To-day" and hunt a few musicians — and have a thrilling time in it. This book has been called a comprehensive biographical and critical guide to the lives and works of the 100 most modern composers of all nations. Which explains its purpose perfectly.

E. F. H.

OBSERVATORY OPENED

Toronto, May 31 (CP)—In an impressive ceremony attended by distinguished scientists and Government officials the David Dunlap Observatory, largest in the British Empire, was formally opened today. Mrs. Jessie Dunlap presented the observatory, erected at her cost in memory of her husband, to the University of Toronto. The director of the new observatory, Dr. J. A. Chant, celebrated his 70th birthday today.

THIRD SIDNEY PERSONAL NEWS

Third Sidney—Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Rutherford of Belleville, were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Orr.

Miss Helen Hartt of Peterboro, spent the week end at her home here.

Mr. Edgar Adams visited relatives in Campbellford on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chesley Bowers and Harold, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. and Mrs. Archie Pinnie, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. S. Westover and Mrs. Fred Adams spent the day on Saturday with Mrs. Harley Hubble, and family.

Margaret and Billy Coulby of Bellville, spent the holiday week-end with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Orr. They were accompanied by Miss Hilda Reid of Belleville.

Mr. Earl Hartford of Toronto, spent the week-end with his wife and son, Earl, Jr., at the home of Mrs. Hartford's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Adams.

Several ladies from this line attended the Women's Association meeting at the home of Mrs. Lawrence on Thursday last.

The radio fans in this line enjoyed the Dionne Quintuplets Birthday party as heard on the Canadian National Hour Tuesday evening.

The many friends of Miss Edna Wheeler are glad to know her progress is very satisfactory after her operation in Belleville General Hospital.

Mr. Frank Vallier, who has spent the last three weeks at the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. J. Orr, returned to his home at Cressy last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Weslover, Miss Phyllis May, Mr. Harley Hubble, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Wellcliffe and Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Hubble and son visited friends near Campbellford Sunday.

Mr. John Cooke is having "the steel roof on his barn painted by Quance and Son, Belleville.

FOURTH THURLOW NEWS BRIEFS

Fourth Thurlow—Rev. Mr. Merrick gave a special address to the young people on Sunday evening. The special choir was composed of Belleville young people.

Mrs. Chas. Miller has returned after spending a few days with her son-in-law, Mr. Ross, of Cranston.

Quite a number from this line attended field day at Foxboro on Thursday. Others spent the day fishing.

Misses Edna Badgley of Toronto, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Badgley on the holiday and week-end.

Mr. Delbert Palmer is still a patient in the hospital but is progressing quite favorably.

Mr. and Mrs. Doriand Clapp visited the former's sister, Mrs. Geo. Beer and family recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Badgley and family spent Sunday with their sister-in-law, Mrs. Badgley, Toronto, at the home of their parents.

Mr. J. W. Yateman took dinner with his son, Mr. Sidney Will Yateman, Sidney, and spent the tea hour with Mr. and Mrs. Bonny Yateman and family, Trenton.

Little Edie Walker who fractured her right arm last week is feeling better and will, in a few weeks, have the use of her arm again.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Yateman and family, Trenton, spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. Fred Swain, third line.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cole and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cole visited on Tuesday with Mr. Fred Snarr and family at Wellman's.

Mrs. Britton and son of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cole of Carrollton and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pound, third line, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Walker.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Sherman, 3rd. Line, took tea Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. A. Miller.

RED CROSS

"STILL SERVING"

June 3rd to 8th

RED CROSS WEEK

in Belleville

Never has the need been greater. Needy Men, Women and Children everywhere are daily turning to us for help. Dare we withhold a helping hand?

Lend a HELPING HAND

OUR OBJECTIVE IS $900.00
WON'T YOU PLEASE GIVE LIBERALLY AND HELP US TO REACH THIS SUM?

Send Contributions to: J. W. ILLMAN, Campaign Treasurer, 17 Campbell St.

I. G. HEPBY, Pres. MRS. STUART LAZIER, Vice-Pres.

MAIL YOUR SUBSCRIPTION NOW!

Hardwood Flooring a Specialty
Best Brands Only Handled
SEE US BEFORE ORDERING

The Houston Co., Limited
BELLEVILLE, ONT.

ON AND AFTER
MONDAY, JUNE 3rd
BEAN'S IDEAL
FISH AND CHIP CAFE
WILL BE OPEN
ALL DAY MONDAY'S
331 Front St. We Deliver. Promptly Phone 1543

MODERN in EVERY WAY

HOSTESS
- IT DEFROSTS ITSELF
- CONTROLLED HUMIDITY
- HERMETICALLY SEALED
- SERVADOR
- AUTOMATIC ICE-TRAY RELEASE
- LIBERAL GUARANTEE

You will really like the modern, graceful styling of the new HOSTESS Servador Refrigerator. But let us show and demonstrate this new HOSTESS to you. Explain how it defrosts itself; show you why ice cube trays never stick; why it never needs oiling; why Controlled Humidity keeps foods fresher and more delicious and the extra space that is provided by the new Servador—the original door with shelves. If you want trouble-free economy and beauty, see the HOSTESS Servador today.

Ask for free folder, giving full details.

Four models to choose from, prices and terms to suit you.

BOWRA ELECTRIC AND HARDWARE
210 FRONT ST. PHONE 123

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER
THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon except Sunday and holidays, at Belleville, Ontario, and is owned and controlled by the Ontario Intelligencer Limited.
TELEPHONE 68

SIDELIGHTS

PARKING SPACE

Underground parking for motor cars is a possible solution of the accommodation problem in the larger cities. The number of cars is increasing all the time and the tendency is for the great majority of them to drift to the busiest business section. This fact is evident to the most casual of observers even in the smaller cities and towns.

Motor cars, of course, are of limited use unless they can approach very closely to the place the drivers and passengers wish to reach. The larger the cities grow, the more insistent becomes this demand for space.

In Old London underground parking is recommended with large underground parks built on the walls, city squares and open spaces. It is interesting to note this further recommendation — subways connecting buildings and the subterranean car parks. London, County Council finds that the construction of such parks is feasible.

While the metropolitan centres like Toronto and Montreal on the north part of this continent have the bulk parking problem even the little centres have their congestion which demands relief by the creation of car parks or other spaces for accommodation.

The whole question shows, as one editor points out, that the motor car has stolen a march on municipal service everywhere. Many cities cannot go to the expense of creating parks and yet the motorists who pay large taxes should be considered.

What has happened is that the motor car comes as a flexible service which is growing by leaps and bounds but public squares and parking spaces have not the power to expand to meet that requirement.

ANGLO-AMERICAN UNITY

Mr. Baldwin at the Albert Hall, London, speaking before a vast assemblage expressed his conviction that "the greatest security against war in any part of the world—whether Europe, or the East, or anywhere—would be a clear understanding between the British Empire and the United States." And should it come to the question of arms protection, or the application of effective "sanctions," as they are called, against any would-be aggressor, Mr. Baldwin is confident that the combined power of the naval strength of the two nations, either in peace or war, through economic blockade, would be a restrictive force sufficient to check any other power from plunging civilization into another war.

This proposition to boycott any nation adventuring upon the warpath has been recommended and urged on several occasions. If it comes to a choice of the lesser evil, it would seem that an economic alliance for the purpose of boycotting an offending party is preferable to the alternation of war and the crushing burden of debts imposed upon belligerents of both sides. Furthermore, a programme of this character would tend to offset the menacing competition for arms supremacy and at least would ensure that the combined show of force would be used for a definite ends and not for the maintenance of peace. Again, can it be doubted that such an alliance, whether of international sentiment or in the form of professional agreement, or of a treaty, would have a most powerful moral influence upon the whole world, and would, in the long run, adjust or expunge those difficulties which, therefore, have been a source of grave anxiety and no small irritation? The benefit of British-American co-operation such as Mr. Baldwin has outlined would be all round and would have a marked effect in the restoration of that mutual amity and confidence which is, beyond all other counsels, the great need of the world. The officials of Downing Street have definitely pronounced against further commitments as regards European affairs, and stand fast by existent Locarno treaties. The United States has as decisively declared itself against participation in the European muddle. On this point both nations agree. Today, in friendly and friendly fashion, they are feeling their way towards a fair understanding which if it comes to fruition will prove itself a strong factor in the establishment of a new order of things. It is a good sign. Mr. Baldwin names it a fond dream. If the dream of Anglo-American unity is sketched in perspective, can be carried up into the wakening hour of realization, given time and patience and tactful address, the long and exhausting siege of troubles that have afflicted a war-torn world, may pass away like an ugly nightmare.—Montreal Gazette.

Tyranny is the worst of treasons.—The princes who neglects or violates his trust is more a brigand than the robber-chief.—Byron.

Youth, though it may lack knowledge, is certainly not devoid of intelligence: it sees through almost with sharp and terrible eyes.—H. L. Mencken.

THE HOME FORUM

THREE FRAGMENTS

It may be I shall not return
In any year that follows this
To greet the coastal plain I love;
But ever on my lips will burn
Glad memories of the sea-wind's kiss,
And through my dreams white gulls will rove!

A peacock strutting past a garden wall
That lifts his strident cry
And preens his feathers while the shadows fall
And hones go drifting by
Is but a symbol of unmeasured pride,
With self-enamored, wholly satisfied.

It is not well to know the whole
Of what is passing in a soul,
Nor is it wise to seek and find
All things that fill another's mind:
In silent shadowed deep of thought
Let shining fish remain uncaught!
—Aline Michaels.

x x x

ROTARY INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION will be held in Mexico City in June and the thousands of Rotarians who will visit that country will no doubt try to spread the spirit of Rotary in that mysterious country so filled with ancient historic interest and not lacking in present day life, strange and bizarre, different from any other country. The spirit of Cortez the Invader and Montezuma the betrayed, still broods over that country. Similarly, when insurrections can start overnight and bandits can make a comfortable and lazy living without risking much of their skin in combat with the forces of law and order. Mexico with its nest of gambling and horse-racing convenient to the border, and many other thrills, has more varied attractions than perhaps any other country. Particularly is this so of its buried temples and ruins of a vanished civilization. Mexico's yesterdays and todays are interesting and intriguing—what about its tomorrow?

x x x

IF YOU FORGET to advance your timepiece one hour tonight, you will likely miss the collection in church tomorrow. This is not a hint, but a fact.

x x x

DAYLIGHT SAVING is one of those elusive things whereby you get up an hour earlier in the morning but figure you can stay up an hour later at night, for you couldn't go to sleep one minute before your usual time, no matter what the clock or watch says. So, late to bed and early to rise, it's a fine system if you live through it. Going to bed on Standard Time and getting up on Fast Time is a bit strenuous any way you look at it.

x x x

THERE IS SOMETHING about the bright lights of the big city that fascinates the natives thereof, that is the citizens bred and born on "The Sidewalks of New York." Al Smith would say—although most of the folks who do big things in the big cities seem to come from the country, according to the public prints. To the casual visitor from the "sticks" a brief visit to the metropolis is sufficient. It's rush and roar, everlasting hurry and noise just don't suit easy-going folks from the "Great Open Spaces", who are always glad to get back home. But the real city-bred loves its smells and swells, its rush and racket—prefers the smell of gasoline and monoxide gas to roses and lilacs—wedded to his idols there is no hope for him.

x x x

The customer was busy sawing on the steak he had ordered—and a difficult time he was having.

"Is it tough?" queried the waiter solicitously.

The customer was exhausted. He turned on the waiter with defeat in his eyes and said: "When I order beef and get horse, I don't care, but next time, take the harness off before you start serving."

x x x

Uncle: "I hope, my boy, that you believe in Santa Claus." Little Willie: "Only as an institution, uncle; not as an entity."

x x x

Two ladies, members of the "new rich", were doing their shopping. One was puzzled as to what she should buy for her husband. "He seems to have got everything money can buy," she remarked. "Why not a book?" suggested her friend. "Oh, he has a book," was the reply.

REVOLT IN THE DESERT

by

T. E. LAWRENCE

We rode up the stream to the garden from which it ran sparkling in a stone-lined channel; and then we turned along the mud wall of the garden in the shadow of the palms, to another of the detached hamlets. Tafas led the way up its little street (the houses were so close that from our saddles we looked down upon their clay roofs), and the rear one of the larger houses stopped and beat upon the door of an uncovered court. A woman looked to us, and we dismounted in privacy. Tafas haltered the camels, loosed their girths, and strewed before them green fodder from a fragrant pile beside the gate. Then he led me into the guest room of the house, dark, clean little mud-brick place, roofed with half palm-logs under hammered earth. We sat down on the thick sandhill mat with our backs to the dais. The day in this stifling valley had grown very hot, and gradually we lay back side by side. Then the hum of the bees in the gardens withdrew, and on the flies hovering over our veiled faces within, lulled us into sleep.

Before we awoke, a meal of bread and dates and butter, prepared for us by the people of the house. The dates were new, mellingly sweet and good, like the best of Medina's. Afterwards we mounted again, and rode up the clear, shut valley until it was hidden within the palm-gardens, behind their low boundary walls of sun-dried clay, and we lay between the tree roots were dug channels a few feet deep, and contrived that the stream might be let into them from the stone channel, each tree in succession, in its turn. The head of water was owned by the community, and shared out among the landowners for so many minutes or hours each day, in order according to the traditional use. The water was a little brackish, as usual in oases, and tainted the palms; but it was sweet enough in the wells of private wells in the gardens. These wells were very frequent, and found water three or four feet below the surface.

Our way took us through the cultivated village and market street. There was little in the shops; and all the place felt decayed. A generation ago Wadi Musa was (everybody said by a thousand houses); but one by one they rolled a boulder out of water down Wadi Safra, the embankments of many palm gardens were breached, and the palm trees swept away. Some of the islands on which houses had stood for centuries were submerged, and the mud houses melted back again into mud, tilting or drowning the unfortunate slaves within. The men could have been replaced, and the trees, but the soil remained; but the gardens had been built up of earth carefully won from the normal forests by years of labour, and this wave of water-might set free enough soil for a race for three days—reduced the plots in its track to their primordial banks or stones.

A little above Wasta the valley widened somewhat, to a flat space of perhaps four hundred yards across. Before we reached it Tafas said, laid very smooth by the winter rains: The walls were of bare red and black clay, whose sharp-cut ridges were sharp as knife blades, and reflected the sun like glass. They made the freshness of the valley seem more refreshing. We saw parties of Feisal's soldiers, and grazing herds of their saddle camels. Before we reached Hamra every nook in the rocks or clump of trees was a Wuleida. They cried cheery greetings to Tafas, who came to life again, waving back and calling to them, while he passed so quickly to end his duty towards me.

Hamra Seoud on our left as I seemed a village of about one hundred houses, buried in gardens among mounds of earth some twenty feet in height. We forded a little stream, and went up a valley full of palm trees to the top of one of these mounds where we made our camels kneel by the yard-gate of a long, low house. Tafas said something to a slave who stood there, and silver-hilted sword in hand. He led me to an inner court, a close house further side, framed between the uprights of a black doorway, stood a white figure waiting breathlessly for me. I felt at first glance that this was the man I had come to Arabia to see—the leader who would bring the Arab Revolt to full glory. Feisal looked very tall and pillar-like, very slender, in his long white silk robes and his brown headkerchief bound with a brilliant scarlet and gold cord. His eyelids were dropped, and his black beard and colouring-cast me were like a mask against the strange, still whitishness of his face. His hands were crossed in front of him on his dagger.

I greeted him. He made way for me into the room, and sat down on his carpet near the door, as was my grey accustomed to the shade, they say that the little room held many silent figures, looking at me or at Feisal steadily. He remained glaring down at his hands, which were twisting slowly about his dagger. At last he inquired softly how I had found the journey. I spoke of the heat, and he asked how long from Rabegh, commenting that I had ridden fast for the season.

"And do you like our place here in Wadi Safra?"

"Well; but it is far from Damascus."

The word had fallen like sword into their midst. There was a quiver, then everybody present stiffened where he sat, and held his breath for a moment. Perhaps we were dreaming of far off success; others may have thought it a retention on their late defeat. Feisal at length lifted his eyes, smiling at me, and said, "Praise be to God, there are Turks nearer us than Damascus." We, and the Arabs, and I rose and excused myself for the moment.

CHAPTER III

Feisal And His Levies

Under tall arcades of palms with ribbed and grained branches in a soft meadow, I found the slim camp of Egyptian army soldiers with Nafi Bey, their Egyptian major, sent lately from the Sudan by Sir Reginald Wingate to help the Arab rebellion. They comprised a mountain battery and some machine-guns. Nafi himself was an amiable Abyssinian, Ali Ihsan, of mixed race.

Feisal was announced with Maulud el Mukhlis, the Arab leader of Tekrit, who, for rampant nationalism, had been twice degraded in the Ottoman army, and was now in exile of two years in Nejd as a secretary to Ibn Saud. Before the war he commanded the Turkish cavalry before Shaiba, and had been taken by the British. As soon as he heard of the rebellion of the Sherif he had volunteered for him, and had been the first regular officer to join Feisal. He was now nominally his A.D.C.

Then he complained that they were in every way ill-equipped. This was the main cause of their present plight. They got thirty thousand pounds a month from the Turks, but hitherto had received little barley, few rifles, insufficient ammunition, no machine-guns, no mountain guns, no technical help, no transport.

I stopped Maulud there and said that my coming was expressly to discover what they needed, and to report it, but that I could work with them only if they would explain to me their general situation. Feisal agreed, and began to sketch to me the military and political basis of his absolute beginning.

The first rush on Medina had been a desperate business. The Arabs were ill-armed and short of ammunition, and had a small force. At the height of the crisis the Turks, by a final effort, had reinforced but beyond the walls. The Arabs then opened fire on them with their artillery and the Arabs, unused to this new arm, became terrified. Nafi Agayi and Ahmed got into safety and refused to move out again.

Sections of Beni Ali tribesmen approached the Turkish command with an offer of surrender. Their villages were spared, Fakhri played with them, and in the ensuing lull of hostilities surrounded the Awali suburb with his troops; whom suddenly he ordered to carry it by assault and to massacre every living thing within its walls. Thereupon all the inhabitants were attacked and butchered, the house fired, and the living and dead alike thrown back into the flames. Fakhri and his men had served together and knew the secret arts of both slow and the fast kill of the Armenians in the Great War.

This bitter taste of the Turkish mode of war sent a shock across Arabia. The effect of the Turkish war was that women were inviolable, and children. The lives of men and our of children too young to fight with men were to be spared. The third was property inviolable to carry off should be left undamaged. The Arabs with Feisal resolved that they were opposed to new customs, and fell back out of touch to gain time to readjust themselves. There could no longer be any question of submission: on our left Awali had opened blood-feud upon blood-feud, and put on there the duty of fighting to the end of their force; but it was plain now that it would be a long affair, and dual with muzzle-loading guns for sole weapons, they could hardly expect to win.

(To Be Continued)

FASCIST PREMIER?

Col. Alain De La Rocque, head of the "Croix Du Feu" an association of war veterans allied with France's fascist movement, is said likely to step in and take control in the event of the collapse of the present government. De La Rocque favors dissolution of all parties.

REPORTED ALIVE

According to a report relayed to Washington by James L. Park, American consul at Colon, Panama, Dr. Ricardo Medfern, the aviator missing for eight years, has been seen alive in Dutch Guiana. Medfern hopped off in 1927 on a projected non-stop flight from Brungwick, Georgia, for Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and has never been heard of since. In his abandoned report Park said that Redfern was seen two weeks ago, alive, but badly crippled.

INTELLIGENT USE OF VOICE IS DESIRABLE

Personality is Made More Powerful by Proper Voice Control

BY LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D., Famous Authority on Health And Psychology

Copyright, 1935, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

The degree to which we are affected favorably or unfavorably at a person is not generally appreciated. To be sure, we recognize certain voices as disturbing to our sensibilities. Harsh, screaming voices or rough, hoarse, harsh voices are examples of this. Likewise, we enjoy hearing a voice that is pleasing to the ear, is not too loud, is well modulated, and has fine tone.

We do not, however, realize that the less-marked gradations of voice sometimes attendant between the most irritating types and the most agreeable—also influence us to prefer the company of certain persons to others.

I have known of several instances where one individual disliked another without knowing the reason. By the simple process of elimination, taking personality trait by trait, it was commonly found finally that the voice was the irritant.

In one case of personal aversion, the voice was not really objectionable; it merely recalled another voice belonging to a person who had done my patient an injury. By association, therefore, the voice carried the unpleasant memory.

The production of voice sounds involves many anatomical structures. The larynx, the main organ of speech, lies in the front of the throat, the top of which is the familiar Adam's apple. In women the Adam's apple is not prominent and smooth; in men, it is beak-shaped and protruding.

Surrounding across the larynx are four bands of ligament—the vocal cords. The upper ones are not concerned with sound-making as the lower ones are. Whether this reason the upper ones are sometimes called the "false" cords; the lower ones the "true" cords. When the true vocal cords are made to vibrate, sound is created. They vibrate when air, usually in expiration, passes between them and the cords come together.

Sometimes, from a cold or too much smoking, the vocal cords become relaxed. Then the person can scarcely talk above a whisper. Breathing has a great deal to do with voice; the first thing taught in singing is how to breathe properly and how to "place" the voice. An effort is made to bring the true sound of the voice up against the roof of the mouth so as to obtain the best resonating quality.

If you would improve your voice, there are several factors to be taken into consideration. These are volume, quality and pitch.

Anatomical factors, of course, are important here; the thickness of the vocal cords, for instance, their ability to stretch, and the size and shape of the trachea.

Upon such structures, when favorable, depends the abilities to sing in opera, to be a concert singer. Each of us, however, can improve his voice through a few glasses lessons and even through intelligent practice.

Try a little voice training in any case. Observe how your own voice sounds to others. Be aware of how it affects others.

DR. BISCH'S DAILY DIET HINT

In the modern eagerness to have a fat baby—although over-weight is rarely necessarily mean health—the naturally tends to overfeed rather than underfeed. No mother should attempt to feed an infant by the dictates of her own opinion or the whim of her neighbor.

Infant feeding, a scientific problem, should be carried out to the letter according to the rules set down by the attending physician.

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

June 1st., 1915

Last evening the awning in front of the grocery store of John Parker & Son caught fire from some unknown cause and was practically destroyed. It is surmised that a burning cigar or cigarette was thrown into the awning.

Yesterday afternoon from the footbridge a large shoal of redfin suckers, new species only to us, four swordfish were seen. It is a common sight, but not so early in the season.

A large number of live hogs were shipped from here today. The price paid was $9.40 per hundredweight.

Mr. Thos. Falca, an old Belleville boy who is well known here, has been appointed locomotive foreman on the Ontario Government railway line at Graham, Ontario.

Prof. Wheatley and Mrs. Wheatley will leave the city shortly to spend some time in England.

30 Years Ago

JUNE 1ST, 1905.

Mrs. John McCarthy, Octavia Street, is a delegate from Holloway Street Church to the missionary Convention at Oshawa. Mrs. W. Church and Mrs. L. W. Yeomans will represent the Tabernacle Church.

The rite of Confirmation was administered this morning at St. Michael's Church to a large class of boys and girls, the number being over 100 and included seven girls and eight boys from the D. and G. Institution. Rev. Canon Ardagh, Archbishop Gauthier of Kingston performed the rite.

Mr. J. E. Hallwell, D.D.G.M., of Prince Edward District, A.F. and A.M. paid an official visit to Trent Lodge at Trenton Tuesday night. A number of members of the order from Belleville attended.

Mayor Charles N. Sulman informed us today that a letter had been received from the Public Works Department at Ottawa regarding the option on the Yonker and Arnott properties on Pinnacle and Bridge Streets for $9,000.00. This means that the new drill shed will be constructed upon that corner.

40 Years Ago

June 1st., 1895

The Intelligencer today contains cuts of the officers and teachers and instructors at the D. & D. Institution. The officials are shown Mr. R. Mathison, Superintendent Dr. J. S. Eakins, physician; Mr. Alex. Mathieson, Bursar; Miss I. M. Walker, Matron; Mr. D. R. Coleman, Head teacher; and the following teachers:—Mrs. J. C. Trumbull, Miss J. McKillop, Mr. Paul Denys, Miss M. Pemberton, Miss M. M. Carlaw, Miss Mary Bull, Miss Annie Mathison, Miss Florence Mayhew, Mr. James Ball, Mrs. Sylvia L. Balla, Miss Ada James, Miss E. M. Yarwood, Mr. W. J. Campbell, Mr. George P. Stewart, Miss L. M. Metcalf. Stenographer: Mrs. William Douglas, store-keeper Miss M. Dempsey, seamstress and Girls' Supervisor; Mr. John T. Burns, Master Printer; Mr. William Nurse, Master Shoemaker Mr. J. Middlemass, Engineer; Mr. D. Cunningham, Baker; Mr. Thos. Wills, Gardener; Mr. Michael O'Meara, farmer; Mr. John Dowrie, Carpenter; Miss Georgina Linn, Teacher in Training; Miss Ida Gibson, Teacher in Training; Miss d'Penlere, Nurse in Training at Brighton Hospital; Miss Harry McIlhaw, the oldest employee in the Institution.

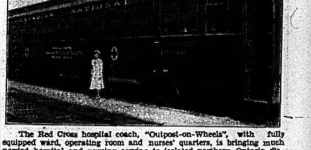
Twenty-five years ago tonight the Penians came over and arrested Col. Lynch and his escort the volunteers were ordered out to drive them back.

50 Years Ago

June 1st., 1885

Next Friday will be a circus day in town.

County Councillors are gathering in the city.



New wool is beginning to come upon the market in small quantities and commands from 16c to 18c per pound according to quality.

A crossing on Front street near the Anglo-American Hotel would be a great convenience in wet weather.

Massasaga Point never looked better than at present and many persons take advantage of the excursions on the steamer Annie Gilbert to spend the day at Point.

The whole amount of the assessment of the township of Madoc for 1885 is $1,000,000. This is a considerable advance over last year.

Voting on the Scott Act will take place in this county one month from tomorrow.

The Red Cross hospital coach, "Outpost-on-Wheels", with fully equipped ward, operating room and kitchen, which provides much needed hospital and nursing service to isolated northern Ontario districts. It also forms par tof the Red Cross Disaster Organization.

TOUR EUROPE—Three women, in consort, winners of a tournament in Philadelphia, will tour Europe.

Rochelle Hudson and Fredric March in a dramatic moment of Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables", at the Belle until Wednesday.

TRENTON

HUMANE SOCIETY ELECTS PREXY

N. J. McNair to Head Organization For Ensuing Year

TRENTON, June 1.—(Special)—The last game played in the local softball loop was played last night before a large crowd, when the Canada Bud nine came from behind to defeat the Whitial Can 8-3 after seven innings of good ball. Derry started on the mound for the losers and at the end of the third the tin cannery team had added Herm Chambers was pitching for ball for Bud. Ross bat in the fifth Derry went wild and was replaced with Jack Kidd. Some games of the loop have been not so good but as the series progresses the calibre of ball raises the standard for the cash customers. Downs-Oulten meet the Benedict-Proctor Sunday and Friday the Canada Bud travel to Wooler where they will meet Doc Vining's nine.

Batteries last night were—Canada Bud—E. Smith and Kidd; Whitial Can, Derry, Kidd and Lasher. Umpire—Fitz and J. Baker; Bases, W. Chambers.

Elect New President

The members of the Trenton Humane Society met this week in the town hall to elect a new president to fill the duties of the late Thomas Jarrett who was elected last month. N. J. McNair was chosen as the new head for the ensuing year. J. Stark acted as chairman and expressed the heartfelt sorrow in the society's loss of Thomas Jarrett. Dr. Taylor V.S., gave his monthly report and also reported on the inspector's meeting held in Toronto on May 17th.

Chief Bain made a motion that carried unanimously to the effect that owing to the work of the inspector in Brighton, Murray, Ameliasburg, and Sidney townships, that the reeves of these places be asked to attend the next meeting.

Rotarian Honor Tom Jarrett

The regular meeting of the Trenton Rotary Club this week was indeed a sad one. Glowing tributes were paid to the late president Thos Jarrett, who passed away two weeks ago after a brief illness. The members stood in one minute silence to his memory. Vice-president Jerry Squier was in the chair and asked Past President Ed. Simmons to outline briefly the convention held last week at Niagara Falls, New York. Ed told of the convention observing a minute's silence in honor of Tom Jarrett, who had planned to be present at the convention. The speaker also gave a brief outline of the history of the Trenton Club since its inception in 1922.

Police Court

Three cases were aired before Magistrate W. J. Butler, K.C., in court at Trenton with Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K.C., representing the Crown. A lad of seventeen was fined ten dollars and three costs for the charge of disturbing with his one arm around the girl. His license was also cancelled for ten days. A local lad and his aunt settled an argument over a board bill that the boy had skipped. He was ordered to settle up with his aunt and was enlarged for sentence until June 10.

Another local young man was ordered to make restitution for a worthless cheque and ordered to pay $15.40 costs.

SHANNONVILLE WEEKLY ITEMS

Shannonville—Mr. and Mrs. Norman Richards of Oshawa, spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Moore.

The rain on Monday and Tuesday was very beneficial as grain and gardens were suffering from lack of moisture.

Mrs. Albert Mark has returned home after spending the past week with relatives in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Houston and son of Toronto, are visiting at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Houston.

Mr. James F. Hill, M.P., has sold his farm to Mr. Percy Moore.

Miss Dora Diss of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Able Diss of Montreal, were week end guests at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Diss.

Shannonville baseball team started the season with a smashing game here on Wednesday night with the Foxboro team. The score was 5-4 in favour of the home team. Much credit is being given to the pitcher, Kenneth Juby, who pitched so fast a ball that the Foxboro team couldn't get underway.

Mr. Albert Doherty has returned home from Belleville hospital where he has been undergoing treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilson of Lime Lake, were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Saul McFarlane.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan MacDonald have gone to their cottage on Consecon Lake for the summer.

Mr. Albert Mark has had his house improved with a coat of paint.

PAINFUL NEURALGIA

Don't let the pain drive you mad. Take T-R-C's and get quick, positive relief from dull, gnawing pain. Thousands have found T-R-C's the ideal way to ease neuralgia pain. Don't suffer needlessly. Get T-R-C's at your druggist's today. Follow directions in folder. T-R-C's with food and a hot drink. Safe, effective. Sold by all druggists in Belleville and Ft. Hope that Throbbing pain now, as T-R-C's (Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules).

IMPRESSIVE START

SIDNEY BREWS
Champion of South Africa, Sidney Brews (above) demonstrated that he is able to hold his own in any fighting company when he finished second only to Henry Picard, brilliant American pro, in the Metropolitan open tourney. Staging an American campaign which will see him compete in the U.S. open championship, Brews made a spectacular battle of his final round before bowing to Picard who won, eight strokes under par.

LIBERALS ASSAIL MARKETING ACT

Heavy Weather Encountered by Hon. R. Weir in Piloting Bill

Ottawa, June 1 (CP)—Breaking records of long standing for speed in putting through a budget the House of Commons has just ended a week of rapid progress in enacting legislation. In an agreeable mood the House last night pushed through all the resolutions of the 1935 budget at a single sitting.

Usually the budget, which invicles tariff and taxation changes occasions lengthy debate. This year the tariff changes were few but higher taxes were levied on corporation and personal incomes. Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, made his first appearance in the House since his recent illness to find the task of explaining his financial proposals a simple one.

Heavy weather was encountered by Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, however, when he sought approval of the House for his estimates for the Natural Products Marketing Act. Liberal members assailed the act. J. F. Pouliot (Kth., Temiscouata) said it would ruin the farmers, and A. E. MacLean (Cth., Prince) claimed it had already ruined the market for Maritime Province potato growers.

Seven schemes have been approved under the Marketing Act and 18 are under consideration, Minister of Agriculture Robert Weir said. The chief concern of the board was to cope with the flood of applications.

Mr. Pouliot branded the scheme "a life-saver with a stone in it. Sure to drown the farmers of Canada." The act he claimed, was a bluff on the part of the government and would do nothing to remove the primary cause of agricultural distress—sky high tariffs. Canada lost agricultural markets under the Liberal government, not under the present, Mr. Weir retorted. For years, Canada shipped 250,000 cattle to the United States, then a duty of three cents a pound was imposed and the trade stopped. The same thing happened with wheat and dairy products.

The Marketing Act, Mr. Weir said, would not improve Canada's export business or find new markets but it would empower primary producers to market their goods without waste and to their own advantage.

The Act, said Mr. Weir provided a means of overcoming some of the damage done to Canadian exports by the tariffs of other countries if one looked at the reason tariffs were raised against Canada one found one of them was the desire to avoid a flooding of the home market with Canadian products.

WEST HUNTINGDON

West Huntingdon, June 1.—The farmers are wearing smiles now the rain of Monday and Tuesday evenings have made a profound impression on the grain and hay.

Rev. R. J. Merriam and Mr. Philip Carr attended the Bay of Quinte Conference held at Petarboro this week.

Mrs. Edward Pitman is visiting relatives at Milbrook this week.

Messrs. Charles Wright and Clarence Bird have left for New Brunswick where they have secured positions with the Moulder Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Cosmo Tuft and family of Bridgewater were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Carr on Saturday afternoon.

Saturday was ship dipping day at the government dipping trough situated on Mr. James McGowan's farm.

Miss Ruby Bray was a visitor at the parsonage on Friday evening.

Dr. B. Powell and grandson Cecil Powell of Stockdale spent the 24th holiday at Arthur Wilson's.

Miss Julia Ashley of Belleville spent a few days as guest of her brother, Mr. Aaron Ashley of Church street.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan McQuay and family of Lindsay spent the week-end as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sanry McCurdy.

Miss Marjorie Reddick of the O. S. D., Belleville, spent Saturday and Sunday at Mrs. George Potts'.

Mrs. Philip Carr and Mrs. Sarah Shipley were Monday guests of Mrs. Eli and Mrs. Adam Brummell of Massassaga.

Mr. William McMechan of Madoc was a Sunday guest of Arthur Wilson.

Rev. and Mrs. R. J. Merrian, May and Pearl, spent a couple of days last week at their cottage, Rice Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones and Mildred of Carmel were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Ashley.

Mr. Harold Ashley has been ill but is some better now.

Mrs. Maggie Johnston and Kathleen of Church street spent Sunday at Belleville.

Mrs. Effie Wilson and Arthur called on some friends at Frankford on Monday evening.

Mr. Philip Carr attended a meeting of the Hastings Agricultural Advisory Board at Shire Hall, Belleville, on Monday.

Miss Olive McGowan is visiting her sister, Mrs. T. Fox of Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hammond and family spent Sunday with friends in Thurlow.

Mr. George McCurdy was a Sunday guest of his sister, Mrs. May Humphrey of Consecon.

Mrs. G. Cory of Big Island and the Misses Helen Mahood and Mrs. Peter McInroy, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Champion lost their infant son on Monday.

SURPRISE PARTY FOR BRIDE-TO-BE

Centenary, June 1—The pretty home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Sutherland was the scene of a happy event on Wednesday night when about sixty of the friends and neighbors gathered there, as a surprise in honor of their daughter, Miss Nellie who is soon to become a bride.

Mr. Roy Thrasher was chairman for the evening, and a short programme, consisting of community singing with Miss Phyllis May at the piano, also musical selections by Arthur Calvert and Gordon Garrison on the guitar and banjo. Miss Hazel Keene read an appropriate address and Messrs. Jack Sargent and Roy Roblin presented the young couple with a handsome set of dishes. Miss Nellie was much surprised and in a quaint way thanked the donors for the beautiful gift. Mr. Arthur Reid, the groom to be also expressed thanks for such a useful present, and also invited those present to visit them in their new home in the near future.

Lunch was served by the young people of the church and after singing "They are Jolly Good Fellows," the crowd dispersed as the midnight hour. Following is the address:

Dear Nellie:

We have gathered in your home tonight to spend a social hour with you and to wish you every success and happiness in the new home to which you are going.

We are sorry to lose you from our midst, but we are glad you are not going so far away but what we will enjoy seeing you now and then.

Nellie you have grown up with us from infancy. We admire your noble Christian character, and we have always found you true, an ideal girl.

You have been always so willing to help in the church and Sunday school, especially the C.G.I.T. where you will be greatly missed. The nation is a great asset to its homes and we know that in your new home, God will always be the unseen but welcome guest and that He will shower His richest blessings upon you both through the years to come.

We kindly ask you to accept this gift as a small token of our esteem and when you look upon it, we hope you will always have fond memories of your old friends and associates at Centenary.

ENJOY CONCERT AT WELLINGTON

Victoria—The beautiful rain was just what was needed and everything is looking its best in its beautiful dress of green.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brickman and Carl spent Sunday at Mr. P. H. Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Marchin of Pelverton, and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Crouter of Albury, spent Sunday at Mr. Percy Crouter's.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Fox and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Brickman called at Mr. H. Fox's, Rednersville, on Sunday afternoon.

Several from this way attended the concert put on by the Legion at Wellington on Friday evening, May 24th.

famous for the cleaning of WHITE FLANNEL

NO SHRINKAGE — PERFECT W-H-I-T-E ASSURED WHEN FLANNEL COATS & TROUSERS ARE CLEANED BY LANGLEY'S

Langley's odour here is a department especially equipped and staffed by the most skilled workmen in the cleaning of flannels and other light coloured garments. This specialization means perfection. Colours even the purest whites are kept beautifully clear. Shrinkage is avoided. The comfortable or cream flannel trousers, the white flannel coats, $1.25.

PHONE 286

Langley's
RETEX CLEANERS

GOODYEAR PRICES REDUCED

NEW LOW PRICES
GOODYEAR SPEEDWAY

30 x 3½ $4.99

Size	4-Ply	6-Ply
4.40-21	$6.35	$ 7.90
4.50-20	6.90	8.30
4.50-21	6.95	8.60
4.75-19	7.75	9.70
4.75-20	7.95	9.95
5.00-19	8.40	9.95
5.00-20	8.45	10.65
5.25-18	9.40	11.60
5.25-21	9.95	12.25

Effective to-day, drastic reductions have been made in prices of Goodyear Speedway Tread Tires.

There has been, however, no reduction in quality. The same tough, long-wearing tread and the same springy Supertwist Cord body as before are in these tires.

You get a written guarantee against not only defects but against road-hazards as well.

You get—without extra cost—the immediate, on-the-spot service of your neighborhood Goodyear dealer. He delivers your tires at once—he puts them on the wheels for you—he gives you your Goodyear guarantee—he is always conveniently available to handle claims—all at no cost to you.

See the new very low Goodyear prices in the panel above. Compare them with even the lowest of so-called bargain prices. Then see your nearby Goodyear dealer. You will find him a good man to deal with.

R.P.-1

GOODYEAR

W.C.T.U. PRIZES WON IN CITY

A few Belleville students won the prizes presented by the W.C.T.U. for posters drawn on Temperance. In the Sr. 4th class Gordon Griffin of Queen Victoria School won first prize. Jr. 4th Olive Fralick, Queen Mary School won first prize Ralph Griffin, Queen Victoria School won a prize in Sr. 3rd class.

In the prize winners awarded for the best health books were — Sr. 3rd class, Betty Dodds, Queen Mary School; Jr. 4th, Belle Calley, Queen Mary School, Belleville.

Among the prize winners for writing examinations on Temperance in Sunday schools for juniors of nine years and under was Dorothy McDonald, Bellerille, who obtained 100 per cent.

Personals

Miss Jessie McLean and Miss Edith McLean motored to the Belleville Golf Club this the afternoon.

Mrs. Morse Robb was hostess at a luncheon today of Miss Sylva Rose, bride-elect, the party consisting of with a shower of rosies.

Mr. James E. Cooke, Trent Road, is a patient in the Belleville General Hospital where he is undergoing treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Holt, of Stratford and Manchester, England, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Cooke, 185 Ann Street.

Mrs. Lottie Jarvis is recuperating at her home on Bleecker Avenue, after a tonsil operation at Belleville General Hospital.

At the Women's Conservative Club last evening the ladies of Murney Ward entertained at a successful card party. A splendid crowd was in attendance and thoroughly enjoyed the evening. The winners at bridge were: ladies' first, Mrs. Hyde; second, Mrs. Kidner; men's first, Mr. Hill; second, Mr. VanTassel; and for euchre, ladies' first, Miss Lloyd; second, Mrs. Brewer. Natalie has a friend from abroad visiting her. One must do the sort of thing for a house guest!"

A tense moment when the two would stood, eyeing each other, dislike, like a giant heart, beating between them.

WELCOME HOME!

CHAPTER FORTY-ONE

A slight figure running down the stairs behind them, Natalie Cameron—a little sharper of features in six years, but still able to boast a sort of fretful prettiness. Her flaxen hair was disarranged, as if she had speed of her descent, her ice-blue eyes were flashing fire with anger.

"I suppose you've come here prepared to be just as disagreeable as you can possibly be," she began in a voice which trembled. "You're absolutely shameless! I'll never forgive against me——"

"Natalie!" warned her mother.

"Well, I don't care! As if it were not hard enough having a stranger come right into our home——"

"Not our home now, my darling—Mr. Cameron puts a quick arm around her hand grey eyes never left Joyce's face.

No sign or Joyce's rapidly hammering heart. She said with cool hauteur: "I hope you will condescend to regard it as your home, Mrs. Cameron. Surely the old place is large enough for all of us. I would make an effort to be friendly! he would——"

Her courtesy was more galling to Natalie than a shout of anger would have been. "Very magnanimous of you, no doubt! I suppose we should consider it a wonderful of you and to turn us out of our own home—or did all the legal work has been our home all our lives——"

"Natalie, darling!"

Natalie was struggling with angry tears. "Well, I can't help it! To come home after three years—almost —come marching in like this—give us no notice——"

But Natalie's wrath was not all inspired by a sense of injustice. Some of it was the result of envy at the sight of Joyce, beautiful, she was! And more beautiful than Natalie had remembered her. It irritated her to see Joyce in her as an upstart when she was not here . . . . sexy to call her a chamber-maid or waitress and feel satisfactorially superior. But now—face to face with this exquisite, gracefully dressed young woman, with the poised and gracious manner . . . . Natalie's heart sank.

Joyce shrugged slightly and turned to her address to the older woman.

"Of course I have no intention of telling you how to act. I'm sorry it I appeared to do so. I was simply surprised, and a trifle upset, at the sight of these preparations . . . I must be honest and say that I think it a little soon after—after Roger's death. It doesn't seem to be just the right thing——"

"And of course you always do the right thing!" A cold sneer from Natalie's voice. She was furious at being ignored. "I suppose you call it the right thing to marry for money—$50,000!"

"Fifty dollars!" Joyce was too astonished to be angry. "I stole $50.00?"

"Yes you!" Natalie Cameron shook off her mother's warning hand and confronted the woman with her head so that her flaxen hair flew widely about her thin flushed face. "The night you left town—you took it from your uncle's cash register!"

"Why . . . why, so I did, didn't I?" Joyce looked at her, and there was a little gleam of amusement in her eyes. "But then—you see he gave me no salary . . . but so I did!" Even now, the thought of "stealing" old Zara's charity of losing $50.00 was funny.

Partners at the wasted shot, Natalie was about to say something further when Joyce turned to Cora Cameron.

"If you'll have my grips taken to the rooms I'll get settled. Of course I shall remain by myself to-night——"

"I've prepared no rooms for you," said Mrs. Cameron shortly.

For a moment, like two women looked deep into each other's eyes. Then Cameron was humiliated. Under the terms of Roger's will she had to live under this same roof with this girl she hated. She could not could force her to be pleasant.

Joyce said quietly: "The suite Roger used to occupy? It is being used?"

"No."

"I shall move in there, then. Have a maid and show me where it is, Please."

Mrs. Cameron made a stiff gesture to the maid who had come to the door at Joyce's ring. The girl had been hovering fearfully in the background ever since.

Joyce moved up the stairs. Neither Mrs. Cameron nor Natalie returned a word to her courteous "goodnight".

Up the wide mahogany stairs to

TANGLED LIVES

By ANN FORESTER

"I needed the chauffeur to take up the rugs for the dance."

"A dance!" Joyce felt her heart beginning to pound though she gave no sign of it. Her voice became cold, lower . . . as Mrs. Cameron's seemed to take on a strident ring of defiance.

"I'm sorry you did this, Mrs. Cameron. Do you think it is quite good taste so soon after Roger's death?"

The prominent gray eyes went over the other. "You don't seem to be wearing conventional mourning. Anyway, we can't help it, however Natalie has a friend from abroad visiting her. One must do the sort of thing for a house guest!"

A tense moment when the two would stood, eyeing each other, dislike, like a giant heart, beating between them.

WELCOME HOME!

CHAPTER FORTY-ONE

A slight figure running down the stairs behind them, Natalie Cameron—a little sharper of features in six years, but still able to boast a sort of fretful prettiness. Her flaxen hair was disarranged, as if she had speed of her descent, her ice-blue eyes were flashing fire with anger.

"I suppose you've come here prepared to be just as disagreeable as you can possibly be!" began in a voice which trembled. "You're absolutely shameless! I'll never forgive against me——"

"Natalie!" warned her mother.

"Well, I don't care! As if it were not hard enough having a stranger come right into our home——"

"Not our home now, my darling—Mr. Cameron puts a quick arm around her hand grey eyes never left Joyce's face.

No sign or Joyce's rapidly hammering heart. She said with cool hauteur: "I hope you will condescend to regard it as your home, Mrs. Cameron. Surely the old place is large enough for all of us. I would make an effort to be friendly! he would——"

Her courtesy was more galling to Natalie than a shout of anger would have been. "Very magnanimous of you, no doubt! I suppose we should consider it a wonderful of you and to turn us out of our own home—or did all the legal work has been our home all our lives——"

"Natalie, darling!"

Natalie was struggling with angry tears. "Well, I can't help it! To come home after three years almost —come marching in like this—give us no notice——"

But Natalie's wrath was not all inspired by a sense of injustice. Some of it was the result of envy at the sight of Joyce. Beautiful, she was! And more beautiful than Natalie had remembered her. It irritated her to see Joyce in her as an upstart when she was not here . . . . sexy to call her a chamber-maid or waitress and feel satisfactorially superior. But now—face to face with this exquisite, gracefully dressed young woman, with the poised and gracious manner . . . . Natalie's heart sank.

Joyce shrugged slightly and turned to her address to the older woman.

"Of course I have no intention of telling you how to act. I'm sorry it I appeared to do so. I was simply surprised, and a trifle upset, at the sight of these preparations . . . I must be honest and say that I think it a little soon after—after Roger's death. It doesn't seem to be just the right thing——"

"And of course you always do the right thing!" A cold sneer from Natalie's voice. She was furious at being ignored. "I suppose you call it the right thing to marry for money—$50,000!"

"Fifty dollars!" Joyce was too astonished to be angry. "I stole $50.00?"

"Yes you!" Natalie Cameron shook off her mother's warning hand and confronted the woman with her head so that her flaxen hair flew widely about her thin flushed face. "The night you left town—you took it from your uncle's cash register!"

"Why . . . why, so I did, didn't I?" Joyce looked at her, and there was a little gleam of amusement in her eyes. "But then—you see he gave me no salary . . . but so I did!" Even now, the thought of "stealing" old Zara's charity of losing $50.00 was funny.

Partners at the wasted shot, Natalie was about to say something further when Joyce turned to Cora Cameron.

"If you'll have my grips taken to the rooms I'll get settled. Of course I shall remain by myself to-night——"

"I've prepared no rooms for you," said Mrs. Cameron shortly.

For a moment, like two women looked deep into each other's eyes. Then Cameron was humiliated. Under the terms of Roger's will she had to live under this same roof with this girl she hated. She could not could force her to be pleasant.

Joyce said quietly: "The suite Roger used to occupy? It is being used?"

"No."

"I shall move in there, then. Have a maid and show me where it is, Please."

Mrs. Cameron made a stiff gesture to the maid who had come to the door at Joyce's ring. The girl had been hovering fearfully in the background ever since.

Joyce moved up the stairs. Neither Mrs. Cameron nor Natalie returned a word to her courteous "goodnight".

Up the wide mahogany stairs to a suite on the second floor. Joyce's heart sank a trifle as she stepped into the room beyond. It had been left as Roger had furnished it years ago. Unchanged, breathing of the dark mahogany, though Mrs. Cameron had had the rest of the house lightened and modernized.

Dark red walls, and dark brown woodwork delightfully varnished. As the maid unpacked her grips Joyce wandered about taking stock of her surroundings. Heavy black walnut furniture. A high old fashioned "Victrola", holding seven leather books in old fashioned print. The chairs upholstered in mulberry red with ball and fringe trimmings. An over-patterned rug underfoot.

"And you loved color and beauty . . . Oh, poor old dear . . . " the girl stood looking dead Roger. "How glad I am you found that through the years . . . !"

Joyce passed through the living room to the bedroom. Chocolate colored walls. White marble mantel over an ugly black iron grate. Dark brocade curtains.

The maid unpacked her Chinese robe and silk undertihngs. They looked odd, flung on the bed. Odd, too, her exquisite cloisonne toilet articles arranged on the top of the ugly mantel.

The bathroom, though luxuriantly large, was old fashioned as the rest of the suite. Under the unshaded electric light it gleamed in hard white-china highlights.

As she paced the rooms, Joyce was aware of the housekeeper's scrutiny of the maid. While she moved about, Joyce noted little plebeian dresses and negligees on hangers, the girl's curious eyes were upon her. Joyce knew that Mrs. Cameron and Natalie had talked about Joyce's beautiful wardrobe, as well as she knew that this dinner and dance that night had been planned as a gesture of defiance.

Slow Riverton that Cora Cameron house!

Joyce felt her heart sink. Never had she felt more weary. More lonely alone. She was physically tired after travelling, and mentally more depressing was the chill of this long unused apartment.

"They broke your spirit, poor dear——" again she was opostrophising the dead Roger. "And you escaped . . . you had that much pleasure . . . Oh, I'm glad, glad for that! If you wish me to enter the saige with you——"

Joyce turned away quickly that the silently staring maid should not see the sudden tears of anguish that welled to one of the long, narrow windows . . . looked out on the steeply sloping lawn . . . the tall trees of the garden below she could see the girl's home . . . more lights flying down in the valley. Riverton . . . Riverton . . . Joyce set her tongue. Tried to realise that she was home again. Somewhere down in that dark stretch was the Centennial House. She felt like Rip Van Winkle returning to a changed home to find it all strange and unfamiliar.

She changed to a negligee, a frivolous affair of delicate pink chiffon and maize, while dressed an archronism in that somber suite. The maid had finished unpacking and Joyce sent her downstairs to bring back some dinner. While she waited, she paced back and forth, too restless and depressed to rest.

One by one, the lights of Riverton appearing down there through the twilight. Joyce gripped her aching her in . . . . Was it possible there were such places as Paris and London and Shanghai? Joyce closed the lids . . . Narrow India streets —walled cities—Turkish bazaars—a white and gold steamer sailing away into a Chinese sunset.

It struck her that the maid had been gone an unreasonable time. Servants' doors Mrs. Cameron had impressed the girl with words not to annoy Joyce . . .

Eyes flinty compressed, Joyce crossed the room, shall pink chiffon and maize, to the waiting after her. She stepped into the hallway. It was set quiet hall, and was overtaken with embarrassment to find herself confronting a man who was running down the stairs which led from the guest suite on the third storey. In the next moment she felt her face go scarlet, and the world reeled madly before her, as she found her self confronting Jim Keith, sold, by the dark gaze of Jim Keith.

THE IMPOSSIBLE HAPPENS

Chapter Forty-Two

A strange strained moment. when the lighted hall, the potished banister and the white faced man stood down went dancing into oblivion. Joyce felt herself swaying in every direct, that lean dark face with the penetrating eyes, left in a mad world. Jim Keith was saying to her, he was about to speak . . . . Joyce was dimly conscious aware of her thin negligee, of the mass of dark red hair hanging about her shoulders. Became suddenly too, of a sudden humiliating trembling in her legs.

In a sort of wave panic she turned to the door behind her, pushed back into the room behind her. Jim Keith here, in Riverton . . . Jim Keith here, in Riverton . . . Jim Keith here, in Riverton . . . .

A strange tumult of feeling swooping over her consciousness, panic, a sweet wild gladness . . .

Joyce sprang to her feet and looked across the room and looked at the wide gold clock in the glass of the old fashioned mirror. White was her face—eyes black with excitement. Jim Keith looking back at her from the stairs . . . Oh, it was impossible . . . But the impossible had happened!

Reaching growing out of that first sweeping surprise—relief and angry dismay.

This was no coincidence . . . He did not hold such coincidences. How did Jim happen to be here in Riverton—in the Cameron house?

Natalie's house guest . . . Of course . . . That Natalie's friend should be Jim Keith!

Well, why not? A cold sharp voice in her brain was asking. Joyce's mind flew back to that long ago night on the Neptune . . . Natalie and Kitty had visited Keith in the first officer's quarters. A video of his desk in the lamplight . . . The scattered sheets of Natalie's letter . . . the snapshot of Natalie and Jim . . . .

Of course . . . all these years Jim had been corresponding with Natalie. They must be very friendly for him to be visiting her here in her own home.

Well, why not? Joyce asked herself furiously. What was it to her if Jim Keith were friendly with Natalie? What was it to . . . . ? If only she could erase the memory of that mad night in the bow of the Neptune. If only she could blot from her mind the sound of her own voice saying . . . .

Thank God—Oh, thank God, he didn't know! That he had landed on the dock at Shanghai and watched him sail away into the sunset.

Well, she would be coldly polite to him—told herself desperately. He would see that night on the Neptune as a mad, detached moment . . . .

While Joyce ate the dinner which the maid brought to her on a tray she had the girl make up the bed with fresh linen, and then dismissed her, and Joyce sat alone in the darkening room, waiting on her hand, sombre eyes fastened on the lights of the town below . . . .

"This suite, while dreadfully formal, faced the side of the house giving no view of the garden or of that sweep of gravelled driveway, where, years ago a girl had hidden in the shrubs and wistfully watched a garden party.

The murmur of voices coming to her as she sat in the growing darkness. Natalie's guest arriving. Ragged strains of music—Natalie had a picture of the crowded front rooms, of the lanterns in the trees. Bringing a picture of a flaxen haired girl dancing in Jim Keith's arms . . . .

Loneliness crept like a chill over Joyce. She was only a child over felt as old and as sad as the world. A strange life—full of unhappy turnings . . . . was she never to find happiness along the road? Why had Roger insisted that she return to this town, they had both loved?

And why should ghosts come out of the past to trouble her? Natalie's tall ghosts with mocking dark eyes . . . .

Nothing of this in the cool-eyed girl who entered the breakfast room the following morning. Apparently so that she has a slight moment of panic as she stood in the old brown suite a few minutes ago.

"Mrs. Cameron is not quite sure proudly to herself. "This is my home! I am the mistress here——"

As a knight might choose his armor for a tilt, so she had chosen a dress which was designed to conquish Mrs. Cameron—a white crepe affair, the very simplicity of which was stamped it as Parisian and expensive.

The breakfast room was a pleasant sunny apartment with French windows opening out onto verandas. Cheerful wallpaper with hung yellow scrim curtains, and cushions covered with white and yellow and creamy blue cretonne were scattered about on the reed furniture. Sun sparkled on the glass and silver of a breakfast table, which Joyce saw to it that sunsrance had been set for two.

She was dismayed to feel a little flush rising to her cheeks as the voice was cool as she greeted Jim. "A surprise to find you here, Mr. Keith . . . " Joyce was blandly ignoring that accidental moment in the hall last night. "I learn you sailed out of Shanghai and find you in Riverton! I never knew such coincidences happened——"

"They don't!" Jim Keith's teeth flashed in his lean dark face. "Did you think I didn't know?"

We make them happen . . . " The words rang in Joyce's ears. So, he was here with a purpose. He had letters . . . . Natalie had kept corresponding with the ship's lookingman she had casually met on shipboard . . . Plainly. Natalie was interested in him to have him here as her guest!

"I've left the Neptune," the man was saying. "I'm going in for breeding thoroughbred horses. Another fellow and myself have a ranch out west . . .

Doubts—lifting their heads like snakes. Jim Keith had been writing Natalie through three years . . . was here visiting Natalie—Natalie with her comfortable small fortune. No Cameron money! Natalie was not but a tidy sum for an adventurer.

Joyce remembered that "mad idea" about this man. The whispers of mystery which followed him in handsome man—sexy charm of woman . . . Look at that mad moonlit when he had swept her from her feet . . . .

Hot wrinkles burning her heart. She hated him—this strangely attracted . . . .

All Joyce's pains went to appearing coolly serene. She answered his questions about Roger in words easily of their travels. Yet when her hand chanced to touch his as she handed him a cup of coffee, she started as though the contact had been red hot, and for a short ed moment dark eyes clung to violet ones in a strange unsmiling scrutiny . . . .

Natalie entered before the end of the meal. Natalie in pale blue, and looking—with her flaxen hair and high color, quite a typically seasonable bride. Joyce's strange vivid beauty.

Natalie spoke with stiff politeness this morning and her words were carefully chosen, but there was cold jealousy in the pale blue eyes as they rested on the other girl.

(TO BE CONTINUED)

FRIENDS HONOR STIRLING GIRL

Miss Lucille Lawrence, Bride-to-be is Feted

Stirling, June 1—On Thursday evening May 30th a number of friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Beaman at a party given in honor of Miss Lucille Lawrence who early in June is to become the wife of Mr. Melville Lockhart of Toronto. Mr. Alex Park acting as chairman for the evening called the guests to order and as the last guest arrived and called upon Miss Lawrence to read the address which had been signed by the guests had written hurried lines of felicitations in verse and humorous styles. This novel idea created a great deal of laughter and merriment. At this time an address was read by Mrs. Mary Ann Lawrence to the guest of honor.

The address:

Dear Lucille:

We, as many your old friends and schoolmates have assembled this evening, to remind you that although you have been absent from our gatherings for some time we have not forgotten you.

Since you are about to embark on the matrimonial sea, we feel it an opportune time to show our regard. We therefore ask you to accept this small token as a slight hearty wishes for your future happiness.

Signed on behalf of all present: Miss Cora Beaman, Mrs. W. H. Hanna, Mrs. F. Park.

Miss Lawrence made a very fitting reply and thanked all for the kind and very delightful way. After which the program of the evening was carried forward with many fine numbers. A mock divorce trial was staged which in a very entertaining by a group of the guests, the characters were as follows: the bride-to-be, J. Wilson and his lawyer, Robert Davis, "the poor wife", E. Heasman and his lawyer, Mrs. C. Manning. The judge, Percy Usman. Clerk of the court, Jack Cone. Mr. and Mrs. Park took the part of the foreman of the jury in a very capable manner. The trial was interspersed with the woman winning as usual. Following the trial a delightful lunch was served by the ladies present and the happy event was brought to a close in the usual manner of singing Auld Lang Syne.

The guest of honor was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts. Miss Lawrence will make future Mrs. Lockhart will take up residence in the city of Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Bishop (nee Doris Bailey), Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Bishop, Misses Jane and Joan Bishop of Lockport, N.Y. are spending a few days with Bishop's mother, Mrs. Annie Bailey.

Mr. Earl Green has moved from his former residence to part of A. Wannamaker's house and is now occupying the home formerly occupied by the late Mrs. B. Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wright of and Mrs. R. W. Meiklejohn, who for the past three years has been teaching staff in Athens, Ontario, has resigned his position in Trenton Collegiate where he has been engaged to teach English and History Mr. Meiklejohn, in which he has specialized. During the three years of his teaching Mr. Meiklejohn received the early part in Stirling High School and his many friends in the community wish him every success in his new field of labour.

The Stirling Horseshoe Pitching Club played their first games under the new floodlights last night. The lights were installed by the Stirling Electric Co. and are very well and ably constructed. In the past the boys found it necessary to stop playing at about 8 o'clock owing to with the lights, the ring of the horseshoes can be heard until quite late in the evening. Extra practice will also improve the playing ability of the members which is quite pretty high now, having scored a victory in each of the league games they have played this year. First defeating Tweed Lake and on Wednesday night they went to Tweed, where they handed the Tweed club a defeat by a score of 21 to 15. The lineups:

No. 1 court: B. Berry and B. Clarke, Tweed. Jim Mitchell, Earl Fox, Stirling.

No. 2 court: R. Black and A. Varty, Tweed. P. Hulin, Mack Lumley, Stirling.

No. 3 court: A. Shulis, Frank Butler, Stirling.

No. 4 court: E. Pitcher and A. Clark, Stirling. R. Wallis, Wm. Bickman, Stirling.

The annual re-organization meeting of the Stirling Ladies' Bowling Club held Tuesday evening May 28th the following officers and committees were elected for the year of 1935.

President: Mrs. J. McD. Potts,

HOUSING SCHEME SEEN AS PROJECT TO AID RECOVERY

Stevens Urges Grade Crossing Elimination, Reforestation

APPEALS TO CREDIT

Ex-Minister Refers To Finance Corp. Case

Verdun, Que., June 1 (CP)— A housing scheme, reforestation and grade crossing eliminations are the aim of Hon. H. H. Stevens as soon as necessary to aid Canada back to prosperity. The former Minister of Trade and Commerce in addressing constituents of this city last night urged instead of sending young men to camps they should be employed on public works.

Necessary funds for the three projects, he said, to $100,000,000 could be obtained by reducing the gold backing of the dollar from 25 to 20 cent, the amount set by the London Economic Conference of 1933 as sufficient to back currency effectively.

Credit is Needed

He appealed to the 13 companies which controlled 75 to 80 per cent. of Canada's credit and insurance companies to step in and solve the unemployment problem. He would do so it was up to the government.

On reforestation, Mr. Stevens said the chance for the low water levels in the Saint Lawrence River was due to the cutting of the forests along the waterslopes. He advocated the planting young men to replanting these areas.

He spoke personally concerning his relations with the Canadian Express Finance Corporation, denying certain charges made against him in Toronto.

Explanation

"I was told some weeks ago that if I did not resign from my social things would be brought out that would be necessary to my interests and character," he said. "I did resign. In office for the firm. He denied that he was ever instructed to send out letters for any company.

"The plain simple facts are that I was a shareholder in the company and a director for some time. When it was taken over a year years ago I was not then a director and I know nothing about the difficulties or the circumstances surrounding it."

Mr. Stevens said he had to help the liquidator, he said, and had returned $1,000 which he had received as commissions during the time he was in office for the firm. He denied that he was ever instructed to send out letters for any company.

The plain simple facts are that I was a shareholder in the company and a director for some time. When it was taken over a year years ago I was not then a director and I know nothing about the difficulties or the circumstances surrounding it."

Mr. Stevens said he had to help the liquidator, he said, and had returned $1,000 which he had received as commissions during the time he was in office for the firm. He denied that he was ever instructed to send out letters for any company.

From TODAY

Low Night Rates

Begin at 7 p.m.

Minimum rates on "Anyone" (station-to-station) Long Distance calls—the so-called night rates — are now effective from 7 p.m.

Hitherto, the low night rates (about half day rates) began at 8.30 p.m. and evening rates (from 20 to 25 per cent less than day rates) at 7 p.m.

Evening rates have been discontinued, and the lower Night Rates are in effect from 7 p.m. to 4.30 a.m.

Reduced rates on "Anyone" (station-to-station) Long Distance calls apply on messages on which the day rate is 30 cents or over.

Revised schedules embodying the above changes have been fyled with the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada.

G. W. Proctor

Manager

HONOR ROLL

QUEEN VICTORIA SCHOOL

Junior Primer (D Class) — Lois Mae Cassidy, Jessie Somberg, Eleanor Caul, Doris Carr.

C Class—Victor Zanotti, Bertha Hillis, Marion Somberg, Dorothy Vanalstyne.

Senior Primer—Jean Morgan, Norma Coleman.

A-I—Billie McIntosh, Mary Jackson, Marion Wannamaker, Shirley Warren and Meredith Hall (equal), Mary Ann Hanna, Dorothy Silver, Carolyn Hall.

A-II—Glen Young, Robert Taylor, Billie Clarke.

—H. M. Blue, Teacher.

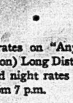
Senior Primer—Ruth Ann Grant Clement, Mary Louise Pigden, Ronald Hall, Jean Frost, Gordon Clark, Oscar Clark, Hazel Meeks, Clifford Lasenby, Agnes Graham, Betty Chisholm, Betty Wannamaker.

(B) — Billie Kirkpatrick, Betty Wright.

Junior Primer — Keith Cornell, Gerald Ryder.

—Miss E. M. Anderson, Teacher.

First Book—Grace Firth and Donald Hall (equal), Charles Simpson, Jack Muirhead, Donald Dafoe.



Second Book—Jean Hall, Eldene Wright, Douglas Coughlan, Lois Wood.

Class III — Gordon Williamson, Marion Wannamaker, James Ransom, Eric Cook.

—A. C. Tucker, Teacher.

TABERNACLE W. A.

The regular June meeting of W. A. was held on Thursday May 30th, owing to W. A. Convention which was disappointingly few-white' cleaning hrs. Garments are returned to you absolutely snow-white.

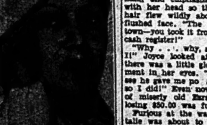
Everybody's Choosing

WHITE

It's The Summer Classic

And everybody who's wise will choose MODERN to keep their white garments white. No disappointing 'grey-white'

MODERN



Cleaners and Dyers

192 Front Street. Phone 729

Joan Parker in "Princess O'Hara." Deanna Kenyon's comedy to be seen at the Capitol, Monday and Tuesday.

ROYAL REUNION

Countess Cavadonga, Cuban commoner bride of Prince Don Petros Asturias, heir to Spain's vacant throne, arrives in Miami by air en route to New York for reunion with her royal husband. The Prince and the bride will go to Hollywood for film careers.

STORM SEWER CARRIES TWO TO THEIR DEATHS

Flood Waters Roll Towards Nebraska Over Iowa Farms

(By The Associated Press)

Death and destruction lay today in the wake of devastating floods which rods down the plains streams in Colorado, Wyoming, Nebraska and Kansas.

There were 22 known dead in Colorado and Wyoming as the floods of waters rolled eastward out of those high states into Nebraska. Two village in Iowa, meanwhile river valleys of Nebraska were reported wiped out and scores more were isolated. Six persons were reported to have drowned near Sidney, Neb.

One man drowned in a creek near Alma, Kas., and two Mexican boys were believed to have been carried away through a storm sewer during a flood at Topeka, Kas.

Cloudbursts forced hundreds of families to move from the lowlands near Sabina, Ohio.

I. D. A. KIDNEY PILLS

An efficient diuretic and kidney stimulant

48 Pills to the box 29c

I.D.A. DRUG STORES

CLASSIFIED ADS POINT THE WAY TO SUCCESS

Business Directory

AUTO LOANS

AND REFINANCING
NEW AND USED CAR Plans
S. J. FISHER & SON
20 Bridge St. E. Belleville Phone 143

Campbell Auto Finance Co. Ltd.
Toronto - Belleville - Windsor

CHIROPRACTOR

R. A. WYATT, D.C., CHIROPRACTOR and Drugless Therapist. X-Ray examination and treatment. Modern methods of adjusting. Hours: 9 to 12 and 2 to 5. Closed Thursday afternoon. Consultation and examination free. Office: Campbell Block, Front and Bridge Streets, Belleville, Ont. Phone 1000.

VERA J. FISHER, CHIROPRACTOR and E. A. Fisher, Chiropractic Specialist. Graduates of Canadian Chiropractic College, Toronto. Office and Infirmary, Bridge St. East, Belleville, Ont. Phone 1894.

DENTIST

DR. ROST. H. EMPSON
DENTIST
X-Ray 302½ Front St.
Phone 439 Belleville 17-39

RADIO SERVICE

JOHN A. DEWAR
RADIO TECHNICIAN
Registered — Graduate
Phone 217
349 John St. 23-47

SURVEYORS

FRASER AYLESWORTH
Ontario Land Surveyor and Engineer.
Professional Civil Engineer. Plans, Reports, Plans and Descriptions, Estimates, Surveys.
PHONE 2 P. O. BOX 49
MADOC, ONT.

INSURANCE

Protect yourself against accidents with our Automobile Insurance
SARDY MURPHY
and
HOWARD FROST
241 Front St. Phone 129

HALL & EARLE
General Insurance, Fire, Automobile, Accident and Plate Glass
278 Front St. Phone 1156-W

STOCKS & BONDS

HODGAR AND CRAWFORD, MEMBERS of the Stock Exchange. Phone 1126. F. E. Wills, branch manager. 352-tf

LEGAL

WALLBRIDGE, CAMERON AND CO. (Successors to the late F. E. Wallbridge), Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Belleville Office: Corner Front and Bridge Streets. Phone 28.

MALCOLM WRIGHT, BARRISTER, Solicitor, Notary Public, &c. Office: Campbell St., Belleville.

T. Y. WILLS, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Notary Public, &c. Office: Robert Meyers Bldg., No. 11, Campbell St., Belleville. Phone 74. 16-47

FOSTER, PAYNE AND ARNOTT, Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Chas. A. Payne, K.C., R. D. Arnott, Clifford Hill Frost, Belleville, Ont.

FOSTON AND GRAHAM, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public, &c. Solicitors for Dominion, Bridge, Canada Permanent and Standard Trust Companies. W. N. Foston, K.C., B. J. R. Graham. Office: Bank of Montreal Chambers, Belleville, Ont.

DONHAM AND BUTLER, B. C. Donham, K.C., E. G. Butler, Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Notaries Public and Commissioners. Offices: Front Street, Belleville, Ont. Phone 228

278 and 280 Coleman St.
(Corner HENRY ST.)
FOR SALE
AT BARGAIN PRICE

Double Brick House; modern conveniences. Would be a good location for small store in addition to residence.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY.

Belleville Locators
GEO. N. GORMAN Prop.
186 Front Street
Phone 89 House Phone 667

BUY NOW AND MAKE WORK

PHONE 99
Classified Ad. Rates

SPECIAL NOTICES—25c per line first insertion and 10c per line each subsequent insertion. Minimum charge 50c. Special rates for 3, 6 and 12 months. Count 5 words to the line. Display lines double the above rates.

COMING EVENTS—25c per line for first insertion and 10c per line each subsequent insertion. Minimum charge 50c.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS, AND BUSINESS CARDS—$6 per line per year.

BIRTH, ENGAGEMENT, MARRIAGE AND DEATH NOTICES (Inclusive)—Not exceeding 50 words, $1.00 per issue (for 51 lines or less); 2c per word for each additional word. Cards of thanks, in memoriam notices, 50c per insertion up to 50 words, additional 2c per word.

COMING EVENTS—25c per insertion for 50 words or less, additional 2c per word.

CARD OF THANKS—$1.00 per insertion for 50 words or less, additional 2c per word.

AUCTION SALES—$1.00 per insertion for 50 words or less, additional 2c per word. Extra charge for more than two consecutive insertions, 2c per word.

An initial or figure counts as one word.

In estimating allow five words to the line.

Minimum space Want Ads when 25 to 30 words are required.

Count your own Classified Ads and remember that the Intelligencer will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of an incorrect ad. Prompt notice must be given.

Advertisers may have their replies addressed to a Box Number care of the Ontario Intelligencer.

WANTED

WANTED—BENJAMIN WOMAN TO DO work and plain cooking. Apply with reference, stating wages expected to Protestant County Hospital, Picton. J1-3t

WOMEN WANTED

WOMEN WANTED TO START PRIVATE Employment. Apply at once to Box 1, Ontario Intelligencer, Toronto (1st), established 1877. J1-2c-TF

AGENTS WANTED

MAKE BIG MONEY SELLING RED Tag Brand Superb Quality Nursery Stock. Exclusive territory. Unusual prospect for our trade to replace orders lost two winters. Our agents are making big money. Pelham Nurseries, Toronto. 29-52-TF

WANTED—MEN AND WOMEN TO SELL Dominion Nurseries, Montreal. J1 15 26

BOARDERS AND ROOMERS—Bright airy rooms overlooking the water. Reasonable rates. Apply 15 Moira St. E. m30 j1-

MALE HELP WANTED

A LESSON FROM THE DEPRESSION—Be a Civil Servant—Postmen, Customs Examiner, Clerk, Stenographer, etc. Start $1,200 to $1,500. Qualify by our home study course. Write Canadian Civil Service Training Bureau, Toronto (10). 29-52-TF

WE PAY CASH FOR HOGS AND LIVE Stock. Apply Gilroy Bros. Limited, Canada Packers Limited, Montreal. A13-6-TF

MEN WANTED

MEN WANTED IMMEDIATELY IN every city, town, county in Ontario and vicinity, to take charge of our aluminum ware business. Splendid opportunity. Handsome, Exclusive territory. Big money for hustlers. Write at once for full particulars. The Aluminum Products Co., 170 St. Clair West, Toronto street, Montreal. M9-26 J1 8 15

FARM IN EXCHANGE FOR REVENUE producing property in Ontario. Write Box 1, Ontario Intelligencer. J1-1p

GOOD SERVICING STRAIGHT WORK FOR Reliable Man. Splendid opportunity for man with car. Write T. H. Ward Company, 403 Scott, Toronto. M26-6t

TO LET

HOUSE, ANN STREET TERRACE NEAR Victoria avenue. Rental $60. RIGHT per month, strictly in advance. Possession at once. J1-1t

FURNISHED APARTMENT, CENTRAL—July and August. Electric refrigeration and stove. Tiled bathroom and shower. Phone 1611-W. J1-2t

AT PRESQUILE POINT FT MONTH OR by the season, furnished cottage, for rent—garage, electric light, etc. Apply Joy Hooper, at Front Gate. M31-2t

SIX ROOM HOUSE ON QUEEN STREET —all conveniences, hardwood floors, garden and garage. Possession at once. Rent reasonable. Phone 1611-W. M31-2t

FURNISHED COTTAGES WITH BOAT and safe sand beach, Lake Ontario near Prescott. Mrs. French, Box 1, Smithfield. Phone Brighton 102R23. M31-2t

FURNISHED COTTAGE FOR RENT shore about five miles from Belleville. Dr. Marshall, 119 Bridge street East. M31-2t

FURNISHED HOUSEKEEPING suite, combination bed with mattress. Apply 205 Charles St., near Bridge St. m30-3t

SUMMER COTTAGE—SCREENED, FIVE rooms furnished, wonderful view, sandy beach, pier, boat, well, ice, fruit and vegetables delivered, 30 miles from Belleville on Lake Ontario shore. Rs. By month or season. Write Rev. C. O. B., Ontario Intelligencer. M30-6t

GENERAL UNFURNISHED, HEATED apartments. All conveniences. 227 Front street. Apply 225 Front St. M28-tf

APARTMENT HEATED AND FURNISHED or partly furnished for light housekeeping. Apply 176 Foster Ave. M28-tf

MEDIUM SIZED APARTMENT, HEATED, hot water and stove. Immediate possession. Apply 225 Front street. M28-tf

FOR SALE OR RENT

TWO SUMMER COTTAGES OR MODEL Lake and Garden Lots. Apply Floyd Station, Madoc.

FOR EXCHANGE

SIX ROOM MODERN HOUSE, CENTRAL for house with large lot, outside city conditions, will pay difference in cash. Box "T" Ontario Intelligencer. J1-1t

Proclamation

DAYLIGHT SAVING
1935
June 1st to August 31th

It is my and Municipal Council duty to proclaim Daylight Saving Time. In accordance with a resolution of the City Council, I hereby proclaim and declare under the jurisdiction of the Council that Daylight Saving Time will be observed from 12 o'clock midnight on Saturday, June 1st, 1935, to 12 o'clock midnight on Saturday, August 31st, 1935.

I DO HEREBY respectfully request all citizens of Belleville to adopt said Standard by advancing their clocks One Hour from 12 o'clock midnight, June 1st, 1935, to 12 o'clock midnight, August 31st, 1935, and I hereby authorize the use of the Fire Alarm System for the purpose of giving notice to the public generally.

GEO. O. TICE, Mayor.

AUCTION SALE

By virtue of chattel mortgages handed to us by Mrs. Glasgow, I will offer for sale by Public Auction, at my warehouse situated on the corner of North Front and College Streets, on Wednesday, June 5th, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon the following goods and chattels:

Geo. O. Tice, Auctioneer.
Louis Soule, Bailiff.
M28-J1 4 8

FOR SALE

BARRED ROCK BABY CHICKS, HEAVY laying, ready June 8, 26 hundred. Mrs. Thos. Leslie, Cortyville, Fourth Concession, Ameliasburg. J1-3t

GOOD SCREEN DOOR 7 x 3 ALSO 2-burner electric plate, practically new. Apply 262 Foster Ave. J1-1p

TABLES, CHAIRS, WALNUT SETTEE (Hall's end), Couches, Apply 379 George street, phone 1056-W. J1-2t.

GOLF CLUBS, TWO SETS, RIGHT AND left handed. Apply 37 Russell Road. J1-1p

16 H.P. JOHNSTON OUTBOARD MOTOR in fit first class shape. Also 16 ft. Peterboro Canoe's Boat House for 2 Dundas street east. M31-2t

LOST OR STRAYED

LARGE BROWN HORSE WITH WHITE face and hind feet, strayed from property Geo. Chisholm, Foxboro. J1-2t

LOST

FRIDAY — THREE VICTORY BOND coupons on Front street near Bridge street car. Finder phone 1611-W. Reward. J1-1t

LOST

SUM OF MONEY ON MARKET SQUARE Saturday morning. Finder kindly return to this office and receive reward. J1-1t

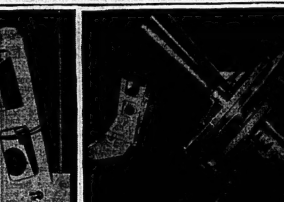
LOST

RED AND BLACK EVERSHARP PENCIL on Bridge street. Finder please return to McFee's Jewelry store. J1-1t

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of Mary Jane Bowen, of dear son and mother, Roy Rose, who passed away two years ago, June 2.
Oh how we miss you, words cannot tell.
Your cheerful way we all loved so well.
If I could clasp your hand,
To hear you speak and hear you laugh
That is most so much to me.
To see your face, to hear your voice,
Sadly missed by his mother, father and sister. J1-1t

TICKELL & BROWNE
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
We Serve for Less
FUNERAL HOME
Corner Church St. and Victoria Ave. Phone 3235

BELLEVILLE BURIAL COMPANY
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
17 Campbell St.
Phone 715-W Day and Night
J. W. HILLIARD
Proprietor
Manufacturer Cryptic For Sale



Thomas C. Thompson
Funeral Director
Funeral Home
32 Everett St. Phone 82
Office
225 Front St. Phone 82

ROOFING
All Kinds of Repairs; Roofs Slated, Coaled or NEW ROOF SUPPLIED
Advice and Estimates on Application
P. J. Fortin
217 Albert St. Phone 1318W
M30-7t

BUSINESS LINERS

MILLINERY

Mrs. Harman will be pleased to show her Summer Millinery on Saturday, June 1st, 1935. Special values for all occasions. 431½ Bridge street (upstairs). M31-2t

OVER THE STICKS—Hurdlers show form over the barriers during a meet in Stanford stadium, at Palo Alto, Cal.

Dolan's
DRUG STORE
OPEN SUNDAY

REMINDERS

Short and Snappy Business Messages of Interest to All Readers

Farmers! Attention! Spring will soon be here, get your harness repaired and oiled.

New Harness and Parts at Reasonable Prices.

T. G. WELLS
13 Campbell St. Phone 1217J

Reliable Firm Are We For Watch, Clock and Jewelry Repairing Moderate Prices Guaranteed Work

A. E. Wonnacott
225 FRONT STREET
Next to Loblaw's
Phone 1238

F. LaPalm
Local and Long Distance Hauling
Closed Furniture Vans
Open Trucks
All Goods Insured During Transit
Office—165 Pinnacle Street
Phone 1966
House Phone 1903

NURSE NAMED FOR QUINTUPLETS

Comes to Callander High-ly Recommended by Physicians

Callander, Ont., June 1.—(CP) —A new nurse to attend the Dionne quintuplets, replacing Madame Louise de Kiriline who is on indefinite leave of absence, was announced today by Dr. A. R. Dafoe. The new attendant is Mademoiselle Cecil Lamoureux, member of the Montreal Graduate Nursing Association.

Nurse Lamoureux has had many years' experience in hospitals of Montreal and she comes to Dr. Dafoe recommended by Dr. J. B. Fraser, physician to Lady Beaverbrough. She graduated as a nurse from the DuPont Private Hospital in Montreal in 1924 after receiving her earlier education at the convent of the sisters of Jesus and Mary.

Mlle. Lamoureux speaks both French and English, requiring the latter when she joined the staff of the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal.

She has been intensely interested in the Dionne babies for some time, and says her appointment is the culminating point of her life work.

'PERFECT BUNK' STATES DOCTOR

High Cost of Medical Care is Given Denial

East Aurora, N.Y., June 1 (CP) —Reports of the high cost of medical care are "perfect bunk" in the opinion of Dr. Douglas F. Arnold of Buffalo, president of the Academy Society for the Study of Diseases in Children.

"Only a few physicians know how much free service is rendered in hospitals, clinics and in our practices," he said. "If this were all computed and tabulated it would astound the world and make the national spending spree look like a child's weekly allowance."

In his presidential message to the 19th annual meeting of the organization, the first ever to be held outside the Dominion, Dr. Arnold also attacked advocates of socialization of medicine as "people who don't know what they are talking about."

Professional papers read yesterday included those by Dr. H. M. Little, Toronto; Dr. T. H. Rice, Toronto, and M. Y. Johnston and F. X. Tisdall, Toronto.

Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton and Vancouver physicians presented papers today.

Current Attractions at Local Theatres

What Local Theatre Managers Have to Say About Current Offerings

AT THE BELLE

"Les Miserables"
Hugo Chadds Wins Much Aid Laughton New Laurels

Victor Hugo's immortal classic, "Les Miserables" was brought to the screen of the Belle Theatre today in Darryl Zanuck's lavish production of the novel by 20th Century Pictures, starring Fredric March, Charles Laughton and Sir Cedric Hardwicke, under the direction of Richard Boleslawski.

The role of Jean Valjean objectard convict here who spends five brutalizing years in the galleys of a French prison ship for the theft of a loaf of bread, finds his whole future life darkened by the petty crime, is the greatest undertaking of March's brilliant screen career. Laughton is the fanatical detective, Javert, who has dedicated his life to the literal interpretation of the law, offers a characterization which affords psychological glimpse into the strange workings of the mind of a sadistic fanatic.

Sir Cedric Hardwicke, distinguished stage and screen star, is seen as the beneficent Bishop Bienvenu whose faith raises the hunted Jean Valjean from an unfeeling brute to a noble and prosperous man.

The story which is now remembered by the screen by W. P. Lipscomb, reveals vividly the social conditions in the France of Napoleon's time which his stirring novel was a powerful protest.

Rochelle Hudson as Jean Valjean's ward, Cosette, and John Beal as her sweetheart, Marius, furnish the love interest which offers a romantic relief to the tragic adventures in his life long attempt to evade the relentless Javert. The settings and costumes are magnificent and the production emerges as a stirring entertainment, other favorite stars seen in prominent roles include lovely Frances Drake as Fantine, a co-worked of Martha Hedman Eponine Aldrige, who is Mrs. Fredric March in private life; Ferdinand Gottschalk, Jessie Ralph and Illie Mariwynn. Excellent and complete in ensemble cast, "Les Miserables" is one of the really great pictures of the year and should be seen by all during its exhibition at the Belle today until Wednesday, four daily matinee daily.

"Robber Kitten" is the title of Walt Disney's latest Silly Symphony in full beautiful Technicolor, to be presented on the same program with the Belle latest News Pitaches. Performances commence daily at 2.30, 7.10 and 9.10, the feature presentation commences at 2.50, 7.30 and 9.20 and it is important to see it from the beginning.

AT THE CAPITOL

"Princess O'Hara"
Damon Runyon's Breezy Satire, Called a Magazine Yarn

Damon Runyon's "Princess O'Hara," read by millions of readers of Collier's Magazine last year, is brought to the Capitol screen on Monday for a two days engagement. A sparkling cast has been assembled for this picture. Jean Parker and Chester Morris co-starred. Miss Parker is seen in the colorful role of "Princess O'Hara," the spirited little Irish lass who faces the world alone and unfrightedly and dares to walk where strong men fear to tread.

A more thrilling, exciting or absorbing tale has never been told by Runyon than this one of the greatest contemporary raconteurs and sports writers. There are hours of mirth and hearty laughs alike in this stirring story of the daughter of an old-fashioned Irish father who is accidentally killed in a taxi war in which her best friend is involved. Naturally, the Princess, as she is lovably called, blames him for her father's death. It's tough on both of them because they are in love with each other and don't know it.

Forced by fate to become both father and mother to her orphaned sisters and brother, the O'Hara girl takes their future during an old relic of a hansom cab, in order to make a living. She becomes involved in the theft of a famous race horse, which is stabled in the very house before the race. It looks bad for her until the truth becomes known and the story unfolds the basis for one of the most novel and interesting climaxes ever told. Runyon's well-known and unusual situations are given full treatment and scope in this humorously human story of real people.

The supporting cast is headed by Leon Errol, former Ziegfeld "Follies" star; Vince Barnett, famous Hollywood "silent" comedian; Ernest Ar-metis, popular Italian dialect comedian, and many other stellar names of the screen.

Added short subjects

That popular and inimitable comedian, Harry Langdon, will be seen in "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," his funniest comedy to date, which along with an episode of Ben Turpin Studios, showing glimpses of famous movie stars at work and play, and an interesting reel entitled "Madbury at the County Fair" complete the program.

Starting next Sheet Subjects

"Du Barry" Saucers Monday and Tuesday

Last Times Tonight

"Death Flies East" starring Conrad Nagel and Florence Rice and "Swell-head" with Wallace Ford.

OWENS FINISHES—Jesse Owens, star sprinter of Ohio State, is pictured arriving at the tape, the field trailing

RADIO PROGRAMS

— Daylight Saving Time —

SATURDAY

5.00—Eddie Duchin's Orchestra —WEAF.
5.30—Captivators.—WABC
6.30—News, Jim Hunter—CFRB
7.15—The Jamboree—WJZ
7.30—To be announced—WABC
7.45—Carl Fred's Harmonica Band —WGN
7.45—Grace Hayes, songs—WJZ
8.00—Modern Minstrels—WEAF
8.00—Phil Cook's Show Shop. —WJZ
8.00—Hit Parade, Lennie Hayton's Orch.—WEAF
8.00—Jack Benny Hour—WJZ
8.45—Big Moments in Sports—WJZ
9.00—Radio City Party—WJZ
9.00—Navy Band—WABC
9.30—Nero Dance—WJZ
9.30—Chateau; Al Jolson—WEAF
10.00—Freddie Martin's Orch.—WABC
10.30—California Melodies—WABC
10.30—To be announced—WEAF
10.30—Carefree Carnival—WJZ.
11.00—News—CFRB
11.30—Paul Whiteman's Orch. —WJZ
11.30—Claude Hopkins' Orch. —WGN
11.30—Wayne King's Orch.—WGN
11.30—Ray Noble's Orch.—WJZ

SUNDAY

9.00—Sunday Morning as Aunt Susan—WJZ
11.00—Children's Hour—WABC
11.30—Mal Hallett and Original Family —WEAF; WTAM
12.30—Salt Lake City Tabernacle Choir—WJZ
4.00—Opportunity Matinee—WJZ.
12.30—Radio City Concert—NBC; WJZ; WLW
12.45—Trail-cosmic Broadcast —WABC
1.30—He, She and They—WABC
2.30—Radio Theatre—WJZ
3.00—Symphonic Hour—WABC
3.30—Pontiac Serenade—WEAF
3.30—NAti. Vespers—WJZ
4.30—Harry Reser's Orch.—WEAF
5.00—Calvary Church of Hollywood—WABC
5.00—Rose and Drums—WJZ.
5.00—Rhythm Symphony—WEAF
5.30—The Hour by the Slats of the Road—WEAF
5.30—Frank Crummit and Julia Sanderson — CBS; WABC; WGR
6.00—National Amateur Night—WABC
6.30—Smilin' Ed McConnell—WJZ
6.30—Continental Varieties—WEAF
7.00—Jack Benny Hour; Reser's Orch.—WJZ
7.30—Joe Penner, Comedian, Cesc Nelson's Orch. Harriet Hilliard—WJZ.
7.30—Friends Recitals — WEAF
8.00—"Rhythm at Eight"—WABC
8.00—Symphonic Concert—WJZ
8.00—Major Bowes' Amateur Hour —WEAF
8.30—Gangbusters; Will Rogers—WABC
9.00—Silken Strings—WJZ
9.00—Manhattan Merry-go-Round —WJZ
9.00—Sunday Evening Hour —WABC
9.30—Camilla Cis Skinner—WJZ
9.45—Wayne King's Orch.—WABC
10.00—Ben Bernie's Orch.—WABC
12.00—Rev. Chas. E. Coughlin —WGR, WJR.

WORLD'S SECOND LARGEST TELESCOPE OFFICIALLY OPENED

Without much fanfare, the new Dunlap Observatory at Richmond Hill, Ontario, was opened May 30. The new observatory, largest in the British Empire, and second largest in the world, is under charge of Prof. C. A. Chant of the University of Toronto, who is seen (UPPER LEFT), taking the first spectrograph of (UPPER RIGHT) is shown the wonderous machinery that can be adjusted with almost perfect precision. The observatory itself and three foremost sleuths of the heavens are shown below LEFT to RIGHT Prof. Chant, Sir Frank Dyson, former astronomer royal of England, and Dr. R. K. Young of University of Toronto.

FOR RELIABLE INFORMATION ON INSURANCE
and INVESTMENTS
CONSULT
JAMIESON BONE & CO.
INSURANCE INVESTMENTS

FINANCIAL MARKETS
NEW YORK - TORONTO - WINNIPEG

TORONTO STOCKS (Close)

Toronto, June 1 (CP)—Slow and heavy throughout the morning industrial section of Toronto Exchange displayed firming tendencies just before the close.

Imperial, and International Petroleum eased about 1-8 each. Consolidated Smelters was down at the opening but lunged as the session progressed. Closing with a net gain of two points, Nickel was steady to firm.

Walker's Common edged up to a strongger close, Distillers' stocks displayed the same sluggishness. The only price adjustment in the group was a loss of 1-4 for Brewing Corporation Common. Steels posted a few losses including 1 1-4-after National Steel Car and 3-4 for Dominion Bridge.

TORONTO MINES (Close)

Toronto, June 1 (CP)—The Mining Section of Toronto Stock Exchange showed a mild recovery in slow trading today, volume showing moderate shift to the gold issues.

Noranda dipped moderately and recovered while Sylvanite, Base Metals Corporation, Sudbury Basin and Falconbridge merely held their ground. Gains were small. London quotation on bar silver gave support to the white metal. Eldorado Beaverlodge and Peterson-Cobalt had 1 to 4 cents as gainer for the day. Hollinger was weakened 20 cents and Bralorne was up 5. Ventures dropped about 5 cents and St. Anthony was active but unchanged. The oils were steady with little business in the group.

NEW YORK CLOSE

New York, June 1 (AP)— The stock market continued to point downward today as traders, after an overnight study of the President's views on the NRA message, apparently found little to promote confidence.

Some of the metals improved, but declines of fractions to a point or more ruled. The close was heavy. Transfers approximated 700,000 shares.

PRICES TUMBLE

Chicago, June 1 (AP) — Tumbling into new low levels of the season, grain prices dropped sharply early today in a wave of liquidation that set nerves and nerves unsettled market.

Pig developments said President Roosevelt's reference to possible severe tumbles of wheat and cotton prices had a sobering bearish influence on the trade.

Wheat broke more than three cents to below $2 cents a bushel for July. All wheat, corn, rye and cotton futuries as well as December corn established new record lows but recovered partially at the end of the first half hour of trading.

UNLISTED MINES

Unlisted Mines furnished by A. E. Ames & Co. today:

Arden	85
Bankfield	22-3
Bonanzet	1 1/8
Coty Cont.	14-16
Coen, Chib.	86-90
El Sonora	16-18
Forty Four	400-600
Gold Eagle	30-32
Gt. Bear Lake	64-66
Hardrock	36-38
Lafayette	1 1-3-6 1-2
Lamaque	1705
Lagoon	6-8
McLeod Cockshutt	1 1-2-4 1-2
McFarlane	6-7
Malachewan	10-12
Oxford	22-5
Springer	65
Smelters	3 1-4-6 1-4
Sharon	3-5
Sturgeon River	83-4
Wells	8-10
Wingold	13-15

Appeal for Stoner Soon to Start

LONDON, June 1—(CP-CABLE)—Immediate steps for organizing a petition for a reprieve were taken today by counsel for George Percy Stoner, 18-year-old chauffeur, sentenced to death for the murder of Francis Marson Battenbury.

Stoner's co-defendant Mrs. Alma Battenbury, was acquitted and freed.

The question of an appeal against the verdict for Stoner is also being closely considered, it was stated.

The defence contention was although he admitted striking the aged architect a blow which caused his death, 67 per was insane at the time through drugs and jealousy of the husband of his admitted mistress.

—(a pg).

Produce Markets
(By United Farmers Co-Operative Company)

Toronto, Wholesale prices on produce delivered at Toronto as supplied by the United Farmers Co-operative Co. here to-day were:

Buying Prices

Eggs—
Grade A, large, doz. .... .16
Grade A, medium, doz. .... .15
Grade C, cook, ... .13

Butter—
Ontario No. 1, Creamery, lb. .22
Ontario No. 2, Creamery, lb. 21 1-2

Cheese by grade—
No. 1 lb. .21
No. 2 lb. .19
(F.O.B. shipping point)

Poultry

	Dressed	Live Dressed Milkfed
Hens—	"A"	"A"
Over 5 lbs. ..	.14
4 to 5 lbs. ..	.10	.13
3 to 4 lbs. ..	.09	.11
Old roosters ..	.07	.09
Broilers 2 1-2 lb		.16
Broilers 1 1-4 to 2 1-2		.14

Selling Prices

United Farmers Co-Operative Co. today were offering products to retail dealers at the following prices:

Eggs—
Grade A large, boxes, doz. .... .21
Grade A medium doz. .... .19
Grade B medium doz .... .17
Grade C, doz .... .12

Butter—
No. 1, Creamery, prints 24 1-2
No. 2 Creamery, prints 24

Hay and Straw
No. 2 timothy hay, baled ton $14.50 to $15.50; No. 3 timothy hay, baled ton, $12.00 to $13.00; straw, wheat, baled, ton $10.00; oats straw, $7.50 to $8.50.

Graded Egg Prices

Toronto dealers today were paying the following nominal prices for graded eggs cases free:

Grade A, medium, doz. .... .18
Grade A large, doz. .... .19
"A" pullets, doz. .... .15

Fruit, Vegetable Prices

(By F. G. Lister and Co., Toronto)

Fruits (Domestic)—

Apples, cooking, hamper	1.25	2.25

Vegetables (Domestic)—

Carrots, bag	.35	.40
Mushrooms, box	.20
Onions, 100 lbs	2.00	2.25
Ontario Potatoes	.40
Turnips, bag	.0.00
Asparagus, 11 qt basket	2.75	3.50
Green Onions dozen bunches	.50	.60

Livestock Quotations
(Toronto)

Steers, up to 1,050 lbs.
Good and choice 6.00 6.50
do medium 5.25 5.75
do common 4.25 5.25
Steers, over 1050 lbs, good and choice 6.75 7.25
do medium 6.00 6.50
do common 5.25 6.00
do, medium 5.25 5.75
do common 4.50 5.25
Fed calves, good and choice 6.75 7.25
do, common 5.50 6.50
Cows, good 4.25 4.75
do medium 3.75 4.25
do, common 3.00 3.75
Canners and cutters 1.50 2.75
Bulls, good 4.00 4.50
do common 3.50 3.75
Milkers and Springer 35.00 50.00
Stocker and feeder steers, good 5.00 5.75
do common 4.00 4.75
Calves, good and choice veals 6.00 7.50
do common to medium 4.00 5.75
do, grassers 3.00 3.50
Hogs, bacon, f.ob 8.75 9.00
do, off cars 8.75 9.00
do, off trucks 9.00 9.25
Good stags and wither lambs 9.00 10.00
do medium 8.00 9.00
do, bucks 6.00 7.00
do culls 7.00 8.00
Sheep, good weight 4.00 5.00
do, heavies 1.00 1.50
do, heavies 2.00 2.50

HOGS

Toronto, June 1 (CP)—Hull bacon hogs sold 25 cents lower today while four other reporting points held unofficially. Supplies sold in a range of $8.75 at Chatham to $9.25 at Hull. Waterborough and Kitchener levels were at $8.85 and London at $9.00.

9 INJURED IN CRASH

London, Ont., June 1 (CP)—In a crash on No. 2 Highway, near Glencoe, three Chicago men were badly injured today. Max Rosen is suffering severe internal injuries; M. W. Kolovsky, chest and severe spine injuries and Kolovsky's father-in-law, name unknown, is suffering injuries the extent of which are not yet known. They are all in St. Joseph's Hospital here.

BOY RUN OVER BY WAGON

Toronto, June 1 (CP)—Jack Crease, 3, died in hospital today from internal injuries received when he ran into a bread wagon, the wheel of which passed over his body.

Grain Markets

Quotations on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange as furnished by A. E. Ames & Co. at 11 a.m. today:

	High	Low	Last
Wheat—
July	82¾	81¾	82
Oats—
July	39¼	38	39¼
October	34¾	34¼	34¾
Barley—
July	41¾	41	41¼
October	39	38¾	38¾
Rye—
July	41¾	40¾	41
October	43¾	43	43¾

TRADING BRISK ON LOCAL MARKET

Transplanting Flowers And Plants Feature of Trade

A feature of the outside market on Saturday was the showing of flower plants for transplanting, also tomatoes, cabbage and other varieties of vegetables. The trading in this line was brisk. The attendance of sellers and purchasers was large, spaces in the interior market space and square outside being nearly all occupied.

There were but few changes to note in all products offered for sale.

Fish vendors did considerable business and prices asked showed a decline of 1 to 2 cents per pound. Lake salmon and white fish predominated selling at 16c per pound and must cats 10c per pound.

Butter and eggs were plentiful also dressed fowl. Chickens dressed sold from 60c to 90c each according to quality and broilers from 50c to 65c a pair.

The hog market shows a firm attitude with prospects of a slight increase in both live and dressed hogs.

Many of the stands in the interior market building were occupied by vendors selling home cooking with sales being brisk.

Quotations were as follows:

Alfalfa	$14.00 to $15.00
Fall wheat, bus	.9 1.00
Spring wheat, bus	.85
Barley, bus	.45
Oats, bus	.34
Rye, bus	.60
Timothy, bus	10.00
Buckwheat, bus	.45
Red Clover, bus	14.00
Alsike, bus.	$14.00 to 15.00
Dressed hogs, cwt.	11.50
Live hogs, cwt.	8.75
Dressed beef, for, cwt.	8.50
Dressed beef, hind, cwt.	12.00
Butter lb	.23 to .25
Eggs, No. 1, doz	.14 to .16
Pullet eggs, dozen	12 to 13c
Chickens	.50 to .90
Broilers, pair	.50 to .60
Potatoes per bag	.50
Apples peck	.35 to .50
Onions, peck	.40
Carrots, peck	.30
Parsnips, peck	.30
Turnips, peck	.30
Beets, peck	.30
Green Onions, bunch	.05
Rhubarb, bunch	.05
Lettuce, bunch	.05
Radishes, bunch	.05
Beef hides, lb.	.2 to 2 1-2c.
Veal Skins, lb	.04
Deacon Skins, each	.20
Sheep Skins	.20 to .25
Horse Hides	.50
Lake Salmon, lb.	.15
Pike, lb	.10
Mudcats, lb.	.10
White Fish, lb.	.15

Plants.

Pansies, box	.20
Zennias, box	.20
Sylvias, box	.20
Double Petunias, box	.20
Mixed plants, box	.15
Tomato plants, box	.15
Asters, box	.15

ART SNARE HEADS BAPTIST CLUB

Guest Speaker is Harry Atkinson of Albert College

The monthly banquet and election of officers for the ensuing year of the Anti-Cant Young Men's Club of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church took place in the church auditorium on Friday evening.

Mr. Bert Orr, president for the past year presided.

The new officers elected are—Honorary President—Mr. Davis; President—Art Snare; Vice President—Jas. Andrews; Secretary—Bert Orr; Treasurer—Arnold Weyerhauser; Captains—Howard A. G. Sinclair and Lorne Andrews.

Talks on Reflection

Mr. Harry Atkinson of Albert College was the guest speaker and spoke on "Reflection."

Pacificism is an interesting movement, Atkinson contended but it is a movement to abolish war, but it is sentiment only. The sentiment of war and peace is easily swayed. A man doesn't believe in war personally because of the atrocities of war or the fear of bullets yet when his country is threatened he immediately obeys the call.

A pacifist is one who has the feeling imbedded in his heart and mind that war is so destructive that nothing can change his mind that any good comes from it.

Germany is still inspired for war," declared the speaker. The interest taken in Germany for peace and pacifism meant nothing. She is glorifying for war.

The solution lies not only in the realms of the heart but in common sense.

Peace cannot be obtained through the heart but through the head.

Appreciation for the splendid address was voiced by Mr. Bert Orr.

COALITION SOUGHT FOR PRESIDENCY

Washington, June 1 (AP) — Two Democrats, Chief Justice William E. Pattangall of Maine and Bainbridge Colby, were reported to be seeking the formation of a Republican-Democratic coalition to nominate United States presidential candidate in opposition to the new deal in the 1936 elections.

KIDNAPPED BOY IS TURNED LOOSE, $200,000 IS PAID

(Continued From Page 1)

and started for Tacoma after daylight.

At Renton, Boniface stopped at a gasoline station and attempted to telephone the Weyerhauser home. Failing after 15 minutes to rouse the household, he called Tacoma police.

Then Boniface started for Tacoma in his decrepit automobile.

Outside the city limits he was met by John H. Dreher, Seattle newspaperman, in a taxicab.

Dreher gave Boniface back a pair of shoes the farmer had loaned the boy and brought the child to the Weyerhauser home in his taxi. The farmer said he needed the shoes for his daughter so George made the rest of the trip in his stocking feet.

"Did they hurt you George?" Dreher asked the boy.

"No, they didn't hurt me—because they all kept saying, 'He's too valuable to hurt', the boy replied.

"They told me once we were in Seattle I remained there, once we were in Aberdeen," the boy continued.

He said his abductors put him in a trunk while travelling but said he was not uncomfortable because there were air holes.

George said he had been kept in a house three nights and four days and was allowed to read newspapers to keep track of the search for him and his kidnappers.

Word From Farmer

First reports of the release were telephoned to police headquarters here by a man who said he found the boy and was bringing him in.

Tacoma, June 1—(AP)— Little George Weyerhauser, snatched by kidnappers nearly eight days ago, was released and found early today by a man who telephoned police headquarters from Renton.

Department of Justice agents and police immediately dashed from Tacoma to meet the man who said he was driving in while it was reported in Seattle the boy had been released on payment of $200,000 ransom.

Announcement of the reported release was made here by Acting Police Capt. Harold Thornburg who said the man told him he found the nine-year-old boy on a road near Issaquah.

Thornburg said he was not able to get the man's name.

The police officials immediately notified Department of Justice agents who dashed on the trip to confirm the man's statements.

Issaquah is about 12 miles northeast of here and Renton is nearby.

Boy's Safety Confirmed

Washington, June 1.—(AP) — J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Department of Investigation, today confirmed that George Weyerhauser, nine-year-old Tacoma kidnap victim, was safe.

SEATTLE, June 1.—(AP) —The Times said here today George Weyerhauser was turned loose in the woods near Issaquah at 4 a.m. today by the kidnappers after they were paid $200,000 ransom money.

The Times said the nine-year-old boy went to a nearby house around the family and told them he was the kidnapped boy from Tacoma. The son of the late Frederick Weyerhauser, lumber king of the Pacific coast, was found safe.

The owner of the home to which the boy went is a Mr. Bonilla, who bundled the boy into his car and the Times said, sped to Renton to a telephone and called the Weyerhauser home in Tacoma from a local station.

There was no answer, no one responding to the glad tidings that the boy was free and safe.

"Get Your Man"

The Times said the kidnappers told the boy to "get your dad. He'll be home as soon."

George walked as they told him but his father did not appear and the boy kept trudging down the road and came to the home where he telephoned his mother.

So Bonita asked the girl to call the Tacoma police station and the first word to reach Weyerhauser home.

Ernie T. Backlund, attendant at the oil station, confirmed the news made public at Tacoma.

Boy Seemed Happy

"He's as bright as can be. He came tickled to death," he told us the man who kidnapped him had plenty of money, all right, for they had a big roll when they paid him in the woods.

"He was all right," Backlund declared.

"They must have been here ten minutes," Backlund added, "trying to get the Weyerhauseres and then police. They left here about ten minutes to seven."

HOLD-UP CAR FOUND

Toronto, June 1 (CP)—The automobile used by bandits who held up the Canadian Bank of Commerce branch and escaped with an amount estimated between $2,000 and $3,000 was found abandoned today. The car had false license plates and was stolen from Hamilton, Ont.

TRADE COMMISSION PLANNED

Ottawa, June 1 (CP)—Prime Minister R. B. Bennett today placed on the House of Commons' order paper "that it is expedient to introduce a measure to establish a "Dominion trade and industry commission" and to provide that the tariff board shall act as the commissioners "with prescribed powers and duties."

FIVE CHILDREN DIE AS FLAMES SWEEP SUBURBAN HOME; PARENTS AND ONE CHILD LEAP TO SAFETY

450,000 MINERS MAY ENTER STRIKE

Unless New Wage Contracts Signed by June 16

Washington, June 1 (AP)—Official instructions to approximately 450,000 soft coal miners to strike June 16 unless new wage contracts are signed in the meantime were issued tonight by United Mine Workers of America.

The strike plans, drafted as a result of collapse of the Appalachian coal wage conference, were sent to between 5,000 and 6,000 union locals in all the coal producing states.

John L. Lewis, International President of the organization, already has arranged with the governors for retention of maintenance men in the mines in the event the strike is called.

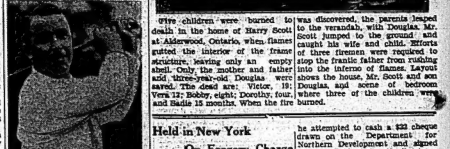
Although there still is a possibility of an agreement being reached before June 16, expiration date of the existing wage contracts, no preparations for resumption of the parleys have been announced.

Meanwhile, a committee of leading bituminous coal producers are racing to complete revision of the Guffy Coal Stabilization Bill which they hope will avert the walkout and provide a satisfactory substitute for their defunct NRA code.

SENTENCE IN RELIEF CASE

Stratford, Ont., June 1.—(CP)— Convicted a week ago on a charge of obtaining relief from the city while failing to defraud, Reg. Ranton today was sentenced to two months in jail.

ATTEMPTS TO WALK CHANNEL



Calais, June 1 (CP Cable via Reuters)—Friedrich Walther, German-Canadian, formerly of Windsor, Ont., and Cote Ste this morning on an attempt to "walk" across the English Channel on his skis. He was accompanied by a motorboat. The sea was calm and the weather fine as he started out.

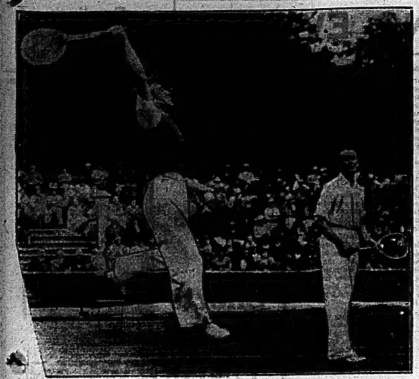
SEEK GOLF CROWN

Held in New York On Forgery Charge

New York, June 1 (CP)—George W. Zimler, 38, of Ontario, was held

Gene Sarazen

AS GIANT FRENCH LINER SPEEDS TOWARD NEW YORK

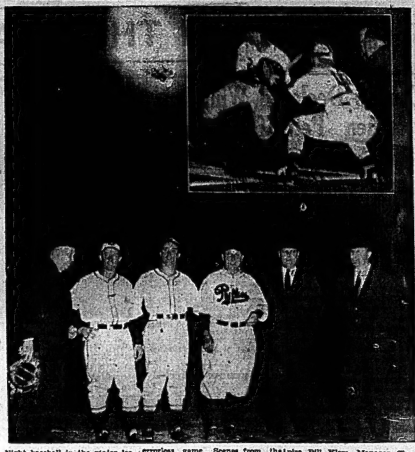


Here is an airview of the S. S. May 30 on her first trip. Called Normandie, France's pride of the fleet, the biggest and fastest of seas, which sailed from Le Havre, French, the huge liner carried 1,300 passengers and $39,700,000 in gold. She was trying to set a new record on her crossing to New York, she

—(a pg).

five children were burned to death in the home of Harry Scott at Alderwood, Ontario, when flames spotted the interior of the frame structure, leaving only an empty shell. Only the mother and father and three-year-old Douglas were saved. The dead are: Victor, 19; Vera 12; Stanley, eight; Dorothy, six and Sadie 15 months. When the fire burned

CRAWFORD LEADS AUSTRALIA TO OPENING DAVIS CUP WIN



Jack Crawford (RIGHT) of Australia, one of the world's best tennis players, and his partner on the Australian Davis cup team, Adrian Quist, are pictured in action against the New Zealand team of A. C. Stedman and C. E. Malfroy in their first round matches for the 1935 cup tourney. Crawford and Quist eliminated the New Zealanders from further competition, winning their matches without difficulty. The round was played at Eastbourne, Australia.

L. LITTLE DEFENDING COVETED CROWN

This annual angle of shot of Lawson Little, playing in the British amateur golf championship at St. Annes-On-Sea, Lancashire, shows him driving from the fourth tee over the Royal Lytham and St. Annes course, where the tourney was played. He is sending his ball far down the fairway from the hilltop tee while a gallery of spectators cheer his effort. Little defended his championship won last year, by beating Dr. William Twogdell, veteran English shot-maker, in a thrilling final round. After the smoke had cleared Little was still "on top of the heap."

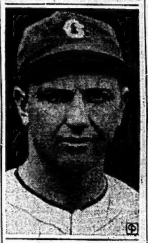
NIGHT BASEBALL MAKES FINE START IN MAJOR LEAGUES

Night baseball in the major league started with a bang in Cincinnati, where 25,000 persons saw the Reds beat the Phils, 2 to 1, in an errorless game. Scenes from the game, which was attended by many notables, are pictured. Above, Chairo of the Phils at bat. In the group below, LEFT to RIGHT, are Umpire Bill Klem, Manager Charley Dressen of the Reds, one of the Cincinnati players, Coach Hans Lobert of the Phils, and Umpires Pinelli and Sears.

"MAGIC EYE" REVEALS MINOR SLIP WHICH COST A RUN

Probably 80 per cent of the spectators who saw Pitcher Alvin Crowder of Detroit Tigers make this slip in a recent game against New York Yankees miss the error, so slight was it, but the "magic eye" camera caught every movement. When Crowder slipped on the grass and lost precious seconds in getting the ball, thus costing his team a run. Here the camera reveals the entire sequence of the play in remarkable detail. With Gehrig of Yankees on third, Jesse Hill laid down a bunt near the third base line. First picture shows Pitcher Crowder dashing in to field the ball as Gehrig breaks for home. Second picture reveals Crowder's slip as he grabs for the ball. In third view, Crowder stands on one foot as he reaches for the sphere and in fourth his leg slides out from under him as he grasps it. With his right knee resting on the grass, Crowder throws toward the plate in fifth picture as Gehrig lumbers in on Mickey Cochrane, waiting for the throw. In sixth the ball is about to thud into Cochrane's glove as Gehrig steps on the plate. Crowder's fall upset his throwing stance and his toss was wide and delayed, thus pulling Cochrane out of position and allowing the run to come in.

DISMISSAL MAY COST JOHNSON HIS JOB



Release of Glenn Myatt, catcher, and indefinite suspension of Willie Kamm, veteran infielder, "for the good of the team," stirred a storm of protest from Cleveland baseball fans demanding that Walter Johnson be removed as manager. Many letters to the Indians' offices urged that Johnson be ousted and Coach Steve O'Neill be given the job. The former "Big Train" is shown right, coaching the Tribe from Cleveland dugout. Left is O'Neill, once one of major league baseball's greatest catchers, and a former manager of Toronto Maple Leafs in the International league.

MARATHON VICTOR

William Neva, 33-year-old Sudbury miner who won the Daily Times Journal's 10-mile road race at Port William, May 24, beating a field of 20, including the famous Dave Komonen, former Boston marathon winner who finished in second place. John Rinlala, Port Arthur, winner in 1932, was third. Neva led over the greater part of the distance, meeting his stiffest opposition in his countrymen. It was a great day for the blue and white colors of the republic of Finland. Neva is shown finishing the long grind.

FIRST-YEAR STAR

With Chicago White Sox, usually the American League's "door-mat" team, soaring along at unprecedented heights, baseball experts are seeking the whys and wherefores of the Chisox strength. One of them undoubtedly is Johnny Whitehead, above, recruit hurler from Texas, who has been a standout sensation on the mound. Whitehead has covered himself with glory with his fine pitcing in the schedule's opening games.

HIT BY JOHNSON

Amusement followed Manager Walter Johnson's unconditional release of Glenn Myatt, Indians' catcher, and suspension of Willie Kamm, veteran third baseman, "for the good of the team" Johnson declared Myatt was not "100 per cent. for the club" though the team has won nine of the ten games caught by Myatt this year. The "Big Train" sent Kamm home from Philadelphia after telling him some of the youngster players resented Kamm's suggestions and advice, because he was "cramping their style."

Where the Ultimate Winner Does Not Appear

Thrilling close action for those who like their sports afloat as four white-winged yachts race toward the finish line in a regatta race staged on San Francisco bay. In front, No. 4 is the Mavis; No. 10 is Grey Goose and No. 12, Puffin. The craft covered by No. 4 was the eventual winner, though in the close sailing she cannot be seen here. It isn't often a photograph of racing yachts so close together during a contest can be secured.

COCHRANE'S SON SHOWS LIKING FOR FIRST-BASE JOB

You may be looking at a baseball star of the future when you see first-baseman Cochrane stopping a fast throw to first. Junior is the son of Mickey Cochrane, famous catcher, and present manager of the Detroit Tigers. Unlike his father, Junior shows no special preference for the mask and protector. He is playing with the Detroit country day school team and holds down the initial bag. His idol is Hank Greenberg, Tiger's first sacker.

SWORD-PLAY BECOMES SERIOUS WHEN GIRLS COMPETE

Some sword-play can become very serious apparently as the manner in which these young ladies step into it shows. They are pictured in action during American national fencing championships in New York recently. Evelyn Rabeck of Cleveland is making a hearty stab at Margaret Nice, also of Cleveland, who is parrying the thrust with a simple twist of the wrist.

Baseball
Current Sport

IN THE REALM OF SPORTING EVENTS

Bowling
Golf

Dunlop Declared Winner When Petroff Sustains A Dislocated Vertebra

Each Had Won a Fall in Main Bout Before Accident

DOCTORS ATTEND

Semi-Final of Kiwanis Show Was a Real Thriller

For the second time within a week Al Dunlop, pugnacious Cleveland wrestler, seriously injured his opponent and won the main bout of the Kiwania charity wrestling show at the Belleville arena when he dislocated a vertebrae in his opponent, Dan Petroff's neck, forcing the Russian Lion to concede the third and final fall as he was unable to continue last night. A week prior Dunlop dislocated Johnnie Gyroffy's shoulder to win by rather shady tactics, the same as last evening. Petroff won the first fall in the main bout with Dunlop crashing the Russian to the floor to take the second fall. Petroff was rendered unconscious and was carried from the ring by his second and subsequent examinations by Drs. Flynn and Kennedy of this city disclosed that a vertebrae in Petroff's neck had been dislocated. Petroff was rendered semi-conscious and unable to return for the third round, Dunlop being declared the winner amid the boos and disapproval of some 600 rabid wrestling fans. In the semi-final bout of the evening Cleveland "Bull" Findlay defeated his lighter opponent, Jack Pearl, while the same situation held good in the preliminary bout when Johnnie Dallas beat Emil Daly.

Contrary to expectations the main bout between Dunlop and Petroff opened with both wrestlers going methodically about their duties in the ring and demonstrating many feats of defensive and delightful orthodox wrestling holds. During this exhibition Petroff, the favorite, was by far the more superior man and carried the fight, but apparently Dunlop resorted to shady tactics and unorthodox methods as he repeatedly slapped Petroff over the eyes, snakes, kicks and even fists. The likable Russian retaliated to a small degree until Dunlop became adverse against Referee Wells and attacked him. At this point Dunlop began in three Dunlop across the ring and with a crashing body slam completely pinned Dunlop's shoulders to the mat to win the initial fall. The second round opened with Petroff purely on the offensive and he looked like a sure winner as he began to tame the Cleveland badman. As the round progressed, however, Dunlop resorted to many questionable holds and repeatedly either kicked or choked Petroff behind the officials sight. Petroff were himself down to a large degree as he tried to baffle Dunlop's iron-like stomach with his head. Dunlop caught the Russian unawares and placed a drop kick neatly on his chin to floor him. Dunlop then went the full nine with body press. Petroff was carried from the ring, completely knocked out by his seconds. Following examinations by doctors Petroff conceded the third fall, being unable to return to the ring.

Semi-Final Thriller.

The semi-final bout between "Bull" Findlay and Jack Pearl proved a thrilling match with the favorite being defeated as Findlay overpowering and kicking before he finally pinned Pearl's shoulders to the mat following a series of hard body slams to be concluded with a body press. The bout was fast and thoroughly enjoyed.

The opening bout of the night saw the little spunky Italian, Johnnie Dallas, defeated Emil Daly, the Nebraska wildcat. For a change Dallas was the favorite and left the ring amid unaccustomed cheers after he floored Daly. The bout terminated rather abruptly as Daly picked Dallas up for an aeroplane spin but Dallas proved slightly too heavy and crashed Daly to the floor with a reverse body slam that ended in a body press to give the Italian victory. Another Kiwania wrestling show will be presented next Friday.

Main bout—Al Dunlop, 218, Cleveland, defeated Dan Petroff, 211, Russia. Petroff secured first fall in 21.11. Dunlop the second fall in 12.32 and Dunlop the third fall when Petroff was unable to continue and conceded the final round.

Semi-final—"Bulldog" Findlay, 207, Detroit, defeated Jack Pearl, 197, Toronto, 22.44.

Preliminary—Johnnie Dallas, 190, Italy, defeated Emil Daly, 181, Nebraska, 18.19.

Referee—First bout, Dan Petroff, Russia; semi-final and main bouts, Bert Wells, Belleville.

Announcer—Frank Domenico of the Belleville Kiwanis Club.

Standings

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Buffalo	23	15	.605
Montreal	23	19	.548
Baltimore	23	19	.548
Newark	23	19	.547
Toronto	24	20	.545
Syracuse	21	21	.438
Rochester	17	24	.415
Albany	12	28	.300

Yesterday's Scores.

Montreal 5, Toronto 4 (10 innings).
Buffalo 11, Rochester 8.
Syracuse 4, Newark 3.
Baltimore at Albany played on a former date.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
New York	24	14	.632
Chicago	24	21	.533
Cleveland	20	15	.571
Detroit	20	17	.541
Boston	19	17	.528
Washington	17	19	.472
Philadelphia	12	22	.353
St. Louis	9	24	.273

Yesterday's Scores.

Cleveland 6, Chicago 2.
Detroit 6, St. Louis 5.
Boston at New York postponed, rain.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
New York	26	9	.743
St. Louis	21	15	.583
Chicago	18	14	.563
Pittsburg	23	19	.548
Brooklyn	19	17	.528
Cincinnati	20	20	.444
Philadelphia	11	22	.333
Boston	8	27	.250

Yesterday's Scores.

New York 3-2, Boston 3-2.
Pittsburg 4, Cincinnati 3.
Philadelphia at Brooklyn postponed, rain.

Batting Leaders

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Batting—Johnson, Athletics, .404; Hemsley, Browns, .353.

Runs—Johnson, Athletics, 31; Bonura, White Sox, 30.

Runs batted in—Greenberg, Tigers 44; Johnson, Athletics, 36.

Hits—Johnson, Athletics, 57; Gehringer, Tigers, 53.

Doubles—Werber, Red Sox, 11; Hemsley, Browns, Myer, Senators, 10; Averill, Travis, Vosmik and Berger, Indians, 10.

Triples—Averill, Red Sox, 6; Vosmik, Indians, and Stone, Senators, 5.

Home runs—Johnson, Athletics, and Greenberg, Tigers, 11.

Stolen bases—Almada, Red Sox, 10; Werber, Red Sox, and White, Tigers, 7.

Pitching—Whitehead, White Sox, 8-0; Allen and Tamulis, Yankees, 5-0.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Batting—Vaughan, Pirates, .401; Martin, Cardinals, .400.

Runs—Vaughan, Pirates, 37; Medwick, Cardinals, 33.

Runs batted in—Vaughan, Pirates, 34; Ott, Giants, and Medwick, Cardinals, 32.

Hits—Vaughan, Pirates, 63; I. Waner, Pirates, 62.

Doubles—Medwick, Cardinals, 15; Martin, Cardinals, 13.

Triples—L. Waner, Pirates, and Goodman, Reds, 6.

Home runs—Ott, Giants, 9; Joe Moore, Giants, and Vaughan, Pirates, 8.

Stolen bases—Myers, Reds, and Berdagny, Dodgers, 6.

Pitching—Castleman, Giants, 5-0; Parmelee, Giants, 6-1.

MERCANTILE LOOP TO OPEN MONDAY

Eight Teams Will Play Their Schedules at Yeomans Street

At the meeting held on Friday evening at the Recreation Alleys, the Mercantile Softball League decided to play all their games at their ball field on Yeomans street. The league will be officially opened on Monday night, June 3, when the Belleville Lunch hooking up with the American Hardware. These games will be started at 6.30 sharp.

There will be games played every night except Wednesday. The league has officially agreed to use the Spalding or Reach cork centre ball for their games.

The games next week are as follows: June 3, London Lunch vs. American Hardware; June 4, Ontario Intelligencer vs. C.O.D.; June 6, Finch's vs. Simpson's; June 7, Recreations vs. Loblaw's.

The remainder of the schedule will appear in this paper the first of the week. They will play a double schedule.

DADDY

You can get me a
BASEBALL BAT
FREE
by having your shoes half-soled and heeled at TILBROOK'S
Modern Shoe Repairing Shop
218 Front St Phone 411
Goods called for and delivered
M30-31

SEEK GOLF CROWN

Copyright, 1935, by Central Press Association, Inc

Otis Dutra

Gene Sarazen, pro. veteran of many tournamentis, is expected to tee off in the American Open golf championship over the Oakmont, Penn., course favored by the betting fraternity to win the title. He is quoted at 6 to 1 with Olin Dutra, defending champion at 8 to 1 and Paul Runyon, and Henry Picard bracketed third choices at 10 to 1 Johnny Farrell, who beat Bobby Jones in 1928 is another of the players highly favored in certain circles.

TORONTO LEAFS TAKE NOSE DIVE

Drop From First to Fifth by Loss of Five Games

Toronto Maple Leafs have taken a sudden nose dive in the International League.

Up until last Sunday they were riding the crest, entrenched in first place and looking as though they meant to stay there. Then things began to happen. They split their Sunday double-header with Montreal, then came back Wednesday to drop another to Buffalo. Five games in a row they had to find themselves, within the span of two days, from Wednesday to Friday, dropping from first to fifth place.

They still aren't too far behind, as far as percentage points are concerned, but they will have to do some better work with the willow if they want to start climbing again. The Leafs have shown they have collected but 20 hits in the past five games. In the second game of Sunday's double header their hit column totalled but two.

Buffalo is now in first place with Newark, Baltimore and Montreal tied for second. Toronto is three percentage points behind the second place trio.

Toronto got nine hits yesterday but the Royals shaded them 5-4 in 10 innings. It was the best show of hitting in the Leafs' spring of five defeats but the pitching went sour and four Leaf pitchers had filed to the hill and back before the game was over.

Buffalo won a slugging match from Rochester, knocking Maywood Belcher out of the box with a six run barrage in the sixth. Ed Holley who succeeded Belcher wasn't treated kindly either and it wasn't until Lieseber took over the mound duties that the scoring was stopped. The final score was 11-8.

In night game, Syracuse nosed out Newark 4-3 for their fourth straight victory and their fourth consecutive victory over that team. Joe Mulligan's fast one was finding the corners nicely and Newark got to him for but five safe blows.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Frank Leiber, Giants—Raked Boston pitching for five hits in double-header.

Goose Goslin, Tigers—Hit pinch double with bases full in ninth and caused winning run in 6-5 triumph over Browns.

Bill Swift, Pirates—Limited Reds to six hits and won a one-hit game.

Bruce Campbell, Indians—Hit a double and a single, knocking in two runs against White Sox.

CURRENT SPORT

DAY BY DAY

Although it may be a little previous already plans are in the making towards the organization of a real classy O.R.F.U. intermediate group in the Central Ontario area. To date three clubs have signified their intentions of entering this proposed group that last year saw only Peterboro and Belleville as entries, but this year Oshawa "Blue Devils" are expected into the fold while Lindsay is seriously thinking of placing an intermediate team in the O.R.F.U. Efforts are also being extended to interlocute the fall pastime into Cobourg or Port Hope, thus assuring a five teamed group for Central Ontario. Incidentally there are high possibilities of a professional coach being procured by the local football squad this fall. Business Manager Bill Fry is busy these days getting his football house in order.

This answering questions of a sport nature is becoming quite a habit, but unfortunately we are always on the wrong end of the question. This morning we find a note on our desk reading: "To settle an argument, will you publish in what years did Ty Cobb play with the Philadelphia Athletics and for how long?" Ty Cobb was with the Athletics in 1927 and 1928. Incidentally Cobb spent 24 years in the American League starting in 1906 with Detroit where he competed in 3023 games before retirement in 1923. During his major league career Cobb was officially at bat 11,429 times, scored 2,244 runs and made 4,191 hits and had all bats swings in history when he pilfered 892 bases. His lifetime batting record was .367, also the greatest individual lifetime batting average ever achieved by any big league player.

Wm. "Icing" Rogers, Belleville veteran yachtsman, headed into the office early today all excited over next week's sailing races, under the sponsorship of the South End Yachting Club. "Young fellow, I'm telling you the citizens don't know what they're missing in these weekly sailing races. Why if they're afraid of failing into the bay, we have a professional life guard on the job at all times, so we are it's quite safe," cracked "the king of all local sailors". He also informs us that special punt races are being held on June 3 to celebrate the King's birthday. Of course the usual Wednesday afternoon matinee will also be slated. Mr. Rogers informs us that the large craft will soon be included in the S.E.A.C. sailing program. "We have three 25-footers almost ready to race and expect some real keen rivalry in the larger class yachts before the summer is much older" added Mr. Rogers as he swept out the door, headed straight south towards his beloved Bay of Quinte.

Both local baseball clubs are playing on foreign fields this afternoon, the intermediates playing their regular scheduled home game in Napanee versus the Gibbards while the senior "Maples" are in Oshawa. The intermediates will have to step in and slap Ernie Gibbard's team down today providing the Fanning kid crew are to keep pace with the league leading Fenelon club. Doubtlessly Bishop Fanning will throw Bud Wilkins right in against the Gibbards, as the local diminutive hurler always had the just sign on Walter Geraw's crew. Either Tommy Fenton or George Blasstick will ascend the mound for the homsters. Up in Oshawa the local senior club will face "Dusty" Orpen, the Bowmanville southpaw portsider, today, it was announced, with Walter Knox and Moses Matthews as second choice. Coach Mills groomed his entire batting corps at practice last night and will start either Ernie Smith or Art Calhoun. Incidentally the "Radios", upon their return home tonight, will journey on to Kingston on Monday where the King's birthday will be celebrated when the rejuvenated Fenlea entertain the locals. The next home game for the Radios is June 7 with the Fenlea.

With only two games played in the O.B.B. by the local team we find Art Calhoun leading the hitters with a mark of .500 to date on an average of .667. The pitchers are our lone hitters, comparatively, as Bob Williams is second in batting averages with an average of an even .500. Ernie Smith and Jack McIlroy is hitting .333 as is Alex Weir. Sonny Grey, Jimmy Kerr and Sonny Green are slightly below the coveted three hundred mark with an average of .250. Kerr leads the runs batted in column with two to his credit while Bob Williams is the only other local run to be batted in his favor. As a team the Radios are clipping the pellett at the rate of .246, just a little too low for a championship team.

At Dunlop can no longer be termed as the 'self-styled badman' of the local wrestling circles for within a week Dunlop has pugnaciously attacked his opponents in the Belleville ring with the result that they were unable to continue. Last week Dunlop sprained Johnnie Gyroffy's shoulder while last night he nearly broke Dan Petroff's neck. What actually happened, it is believed, Dunlop kicked Petroff under the jaw, dislocating the vertebrae connecting his neck and spine. We don't know that Petroff was out cold and needed the assistance of a doctor to bring him to. At first it was believed that Petroff would have to be taken to the hospital but after working on him for nearly an hour, he refused to have anything to do with hospitals, returning to Toronto, bet unable to move his neck or head.

Dunlop has injured so many opponents in a local ring that it is high time the Kiwanis promoters either discontinued having the bouts or procured an opponent who can give the pugnacious Dunlop a sound thrashing. Perhaps Johnnie Dallas, who beat Emil Daly in the semi-final, was the favorite in the eyes of the local fans to such a surprising extent that the spectators did not sense the attitude of the fans until the bout was half over. Dallas, a clever little Italian, who were very much against "Bulldog" Findlay, who beat the latter opponent, Jack Pearl. Announcer Frank Domenico stated that according to the wrestling card would be staged next Friday night, following Dr. Kennedy's address in Belleville and Peterboro, but, what the fans want is a match opposing "Bull" Bunny Dunlop, and that does is no easy matter.

Clothiers of Quality

• FOR 'COOL SUMMER COMFORT

Shirts
and Shorts

AN EXCELLENT SELECTION OF THE BRIEFEST, COOLEST, SUMMER

UNDERWEAR

Stock up Now!

Quick & Robertson

First in Style, Quality and Reasonable Price

Chicago White Sox Wabble Slightly on Eastern Tour

In Second Position Only One Game Ahead of Cleveland

Chicago White Sox, who led the American League through the greater part of the month of May almost without challenge, seemed to have run into some of the evil days that have been predicted for them.

They began to wabble a bit when they began their eastern jaunt in the middle of the month, the hitters slackening their pace and the pitchers showing less steadiness. As a result they have won only six and lost eight of fourteen games since then and even had considerable trouble providing "Silent" John Whitehead, eight-game winner on the mound, enough runs to gain his last few victories.

The Sox dropped into second place Thursday when they divided the holiday bill with Cleveland and skidded into an even more precarious position yesterday when they "blew" a 8-2 decision to the Indians. That left them a game and a half behind the Yankees, whose game with Boston was rained out, and only one game ahead of Cleveland.

Second Game Under Lights.

The feats of New York Giants and Detroit Tigers and Cincinnati's second game under the floodlights rounded out the day's brief program with about equal interest.

The Giants slammed out a pair of victories over the cellar dwelling Braves, 15-3 and 4-2, extending their winning streak to seven games and stretching their lead over the idle St. Louis Cardinals to 5½ games. Their fifteen runs and twenty-two hits in the opener represented the best one-game production of the season and every player contributed to it.

The Tigers, after a narrow escape at the hands of the Browns, took a disputed hold of fourth place in the American League, moving ahead of the Red Sox.

The Reds drew another good size crowd, 19,429, for the second night game in big league history but found it less of an artistic success than the first when the Pirates won 6-4 in a mound duel in which Bill Swift of Pittsburg and Al Hollingsworth of Cincinnati each allowed six hits

READ THE ADS
Keep Step With
THE TIMES!

Chris Lewis Speaking . . .

We have been serving the Public for seventeen (17) years and our aim has always been to give the very best possible service at reasonable prices. Patrons who started with us are still with us and the quality of our work has alway met with the approval of the trade. We wish to remind the Public generally that

WE ARE STILL OFFICIAL DELCO-REMY AND AUTO-LITE ELECTRICAL SERVICE—AS WELL, AGOCIAL CARBURETOR SERVICE STATION —WE CHECK AND ADJUST NEW CARS FREE WHILE STILL IN THE WARRANTY PERIOD.

Your car will give you better service and a lot more comfort at less expense if tuned up properly. We have the latest machinery for testing your gas consumption and the performance of your car generally. You have many miles to travel this summer, let us provide you with comfort in riding and saving in consumption of gas.

Quinte Battery Service Station

CHRIS. LEWIS, PROPRIETOR.
4-6 Dundas St. Belleville Phone 731

Greatest Woman Golfer Starts American Tour

Hailed by many as the greatest woman golfer in the world and on the word of Bobby Jones "the soundest striker of a golf ball, regardless of sex" Joyce Wethered of England begins her American tour. Miss Wethered, who relinquished her amateur status by accepting the exhibition matches in the United States, never took a lesson in her life, but developed her wonderful ability by studying the play of her brother, Roger, former British amateur champion. The four-time British women's champion is shown making an iron shot. Inset shows how she grips the club.

Daily Short Story

RICOCHET

(Copyright 1935 King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

The story of Jim Barnes really begins away back in his teens, when he, through a boyish escapade, was sent to a reform school by a juvenile judge on the word of a self-seeking patrolman. The patrolman saw in Jim the makings of a professional crook, and consequently Jim's short comings in such a way that it appeared that the policeman had done humble duty in hauling the boy to jail.

As for Jim's becoming a professional crook, that was certain as he listened open-mouthed to the officer. As the policeman spoke, Jim Barnes became a cop-hater.

In the reform school, Jim learned—mostly bad—he learned how to burglarize a house, how to stage a stick-up, a bank robbery, and incidentally matters like picking pockets. At 18, Jim Barnes was released.

The body of the patrolman who had sent him away by his exaggerated, if not entirely false, testimony, was found shortly after Jim's release—lying in the middle of a street, shrouded—at least so the coroner's jury decided—struck down by a hit-and-run driver.

Now, certain minds run to certain things. Mention of murder suggests picking pockets or holding up individuals or banks. He became a burglar—a cruel one who shot first and then investigated later, or just didn't bother to investigate at all. But he shot to kill—and his record was 100 per cent. All his victims died in horrible pain, no matter how slight the wound. That was Jim's secret.

But it wasn't his secret long. When his second victim died in convulsions, medical investigation proved what everyone on the force believed—that the bullets were "doctored" with poison.

Not Suspected

Jim Barnes was not suspected, although he was as were most of the questionable characters of the city, grilled rigorously. Jim wore a look of baby-like innocence while he was questioned, and stored up new reasons for his co-hating pals.

Within a week after his fourth victim had been killed, an officer was shot while investigating a report that there was a prowler in the basement of an empty store. Dozens of police surrounded the block and hunted out every nook and cranny. But none was arrested.

Although the policeman was shot through the temple and died instantly, an autopsy showed the bullet "doctored."

Now, truly the police were angry. They began to shoot first at sight—and two burglars were killed within a fortnight. Bullets in the guns of these were examined, but were found to be "clean." While this mad shooting of police was going on, Jim Barnes "lay low" in his attic room, talking with Dexter James, a fellow student of the same reform school and a pickpocket of rare excellence.

Barnes didn't trust James much, but a man must have someone in whom to confide, so he accepted James. Although they had learned their "trades" together, Jim knew James but slightly. James was clever-mouthed. Only one thing Jim Barnes was certain; James was not a stool-pigeon. If he had been Barnes knew that long before this there would have been a showdown between himself and the police. In some ways, Jim Barnes was shrewd.

No use to show how he worked. Enough to say that he went over the ground thoroughly before each burglary, familiarizing himself with the habits of his victims and their potential wealth. He was an efficient collector, and the attic room contained thousands of dollars worth of jewelry, silverware and objects d'art. If things got dangerous Jim planned to take time to melt down the silver and gold.

Innocent Victim

However, there was no need at the time, for after killing two burglars police accidentally shot a housebroker in a panic fear. Harsh orders came from headquarters to be more careful.

Jim Barnes read the papers and laughed.

"I'll take on that Johnson house tonight," he told Dexter James. "Police won't shoot at me until I show them my burglar's union card." That was Jim's own joke.

Now, matters would have gone on indefinitely like this if Dexter James hadn't been picked up with the goods on him. Two or ten years stared him in the face. His lips puckered. He asked to see the police capital—and offered a trade.

The captain felt the offer was fair, and sent a squad of police to the Thompson home—with orders to shoot on sight. While the squad was surrounding the house Dexter James was seated in the captain's office, smoking a cigarette.

The police tactics were simple. They would wait until Jim Barnes—Dexter had named him—came out, and then shoot if he didn't surrender at the first command.

Jim Barnes emerged from the house through the front door. As he was stepping down the first of the stone steps he saw the police. Dropping his hands at once, he pulled out his automatic and blazed away. Bullets spattered about him as he made a sudden dash for liberty....and got away.

He was a dozen blocks from the Thompson house when he noticed a slight pain in his thigh. His fingers explored the spot and came away dampened with blood. A mere scratch, he discovered....and laughed.

The pain began to grow greater as he walked along, and he felt a throbbing....Three more blocks and he fell to the sidewalk, probing at the wound.

A coroner's jury decided one of his own bullets had ricocheted.

Little Benny's Note Book

THE WEEKLY NEWS
Weather. Not very clear.
Explorers Study Animal Life

Sid Hunt and Glasses Magee the famous explorers spent pritty near the whole day last Saturday studying the habits and customs of ants in Sid's back yard, using sugar and bread crums every once in a while to get the ants in a more ambitious humor.

Music Notes

Sid Hunt's big brother Fred, who is not working again at present, has been learning a laughing song from a tawking machine record, the whole song being nothing but different kinds of laughing. Fred thinking he mite get a chance to try it on the radio but Sid's father saying if he dont stop pritty soon he'll have to sing it on street corners to make enough money to get a place to sleep.

POEM BY SKINNY MARTIN

The Heighth
I love athletics of every kind,
But the rest usually seem small and petty
Compared to the thrill of excitement
When I wrestle a plate of spagetty.

INTERESTING FACES ABOUT TOWN (Intelligencer Sketch)

Persey Weaver is knitting himself a sweater, but he denies he is a sissey, claiming if he had been born a girl he bets he would of been a tomboy.

One night Lucky Leroy Shoester took a bath before he went to bed and he got mixed up and went to sleep rite there in the bath tub and woke up with his head still above water when his mother banged on the door to see what he was doing.

MRS. W. MORDEN HOSTESS TO W. I.

Melrose, June 1.—A number from here attended the Women's Institute May meeting at the home of Mrs. W. Morden last Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Anderson visited relatives in Napanee on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Robinson of Salem were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Denyes.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lasier also Mrs. C. Haight visited relatives at Picton on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Badgley spent Sunday with friends at Napanee.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lasier and Mr. and Mrs. E. Badgley attended the T.P.S. social evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Badgley, Salem on Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Sills, Salem, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Snider.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Sparrow were Saturday evening callers of Mr. and Mrs. G. Snider.

Miss Evelyn Embury spent Thursday with Mrs. G. Snider.

Everyone appreciates the beneficial rain of Monday and Tuesday.

On Wednesday evening at Canniton, Melrose and Canniton played ball, the score being 13 to 3 in favor of Melrose.

The late James McKinney of Vancouver who passed away on May 7 was born at Melrose 80 years ago and spent his early days in this district. His friends and relatives regret his passing.

OFFICIAL VISIT TO MADOC R. A. M.

Madoc—On Monday evening, May 20th, R. Ex. Comp. J. O. Horky of Belleville, Grand Superintendent of Prince Edward District, No. 11, R.A.M., was accompanied by the Madoc Royal Arch Masons, it being the occasion of his official visit to Madoc Chapter. Among the visitors were brethren from Belleville, Prince Edward, Havelock, Napanee and Kingston.

Mrs. Duncan Elles returned home on Wednesday from Kingston General Hospital.

Mrs. Jennie Morrison, D.D.P. of Belleville District No. 2, accompanied by Mrs. Stockdale, Mrs. W. Parks and Miss Ella Fluke visited Stirling on Tuesday evening.

Rev. G. W. Rivers is attending the United Church Conference which is being held in Peterboro this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Malms of St. Catharines is spending a few days in Madoc.

The Junior Farmers' Club held a very successful dance in Madoc Armouries on Wednesday evening, May 29. Charlie Coyer's orchestra from Belleville provided the music. Visitors were in attendance from Tweed, Stirling, Marmora and Thomasburg.

TEX AND HIS PALS (Actual Photographs) By Leslie A. Hill

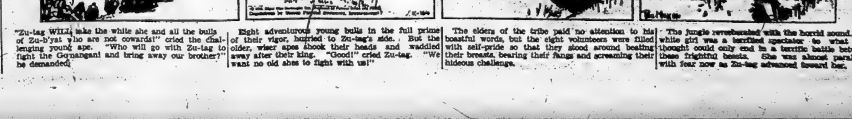
BRINGING UP FATHER— By George McManus

TILLIE THE TOILER— By Russ Westover

DANGER TRAILS— STAMPEDE By The Famous Explorer Martin Johnson

PHOTO NOTE

SENTRY



NO—THIS BIRDIE ISN'T SQUIRMS—HE'S LOOKING THE REST OF HIS BIRDIE COLONY THAT 10 POISONS MUSHROOMS IS NEAR.

BIRDIE'S ARE VERY INTELLIGENT AND ARE WELL ORGANIZED TO PROTECT THEMSELVES.

MR. AND MRS— By Briggs

TARZAN THE UNTAMED— (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service)

Workless-Girl Problem Not Acute in This City

Nimble-fingered typists and stenographers, trim book-keepers and office workers and even domestic help may believe the task of finding a job fades days a-dining and dancing, one, but single workless-girl problem in the city is not an acute one, officials connected with the job of finding jobs for others believe.

Larger cities may have their relief lists filled with unemployed single girls, but in Belleville the numbers of girls, workless and actually in need of help is comparatively small, according to official figures.

"We have them, yet," it was reported at the Central Relief Office, in answer to extensive questioning, "but their numbers are not large. Actually there are really very few on relief — more landlord's problem is not with the single girl but the single men and the heads of large families, who are finding it hard sometimes to get along."

Girls interviewed for any particular job except that of housework complain the majority of those listed at the local Employment Service of Canada office, 9 was stated by Superintendent James V. Ross. Out of forty or more registered for jobs, probably only twenty or so of them could handle secretarial positions or the job of stenographer or book-keeper. Practical nurses, for which some demand exists all the time are few; still, numbering less than a half dozen.

Not all the workless girls of the city, however, have registered at the official job finding bureau. Many single girls, who have been unable to find work over a considerable period have their applications elsewhere. Business colleges, schools and other institutions are always ready to list their unemployed graduates and help them find positions when possible. And not all girls who have passed with high honors through their business courses are working at their trade; hosiery and toilet counters and other departments of stores in the city are in charge of girls who have received "A" ratings all through their course. A few have turned to other jobs, but greater is the number still who are forced to stay at home, waiting for a "break".

Attends Inquest Then Hit by Car

Windsor, Ont., Jne 1—(CP)— A short time after he had testified at an inquest on a motor fatality, Constable Henry Bird was knocked down by an automobile and today was confined to the hospital for observation. Cleary Ross Sarnia, 26-year-old Detroiter, driver of the car, was arrested on a charge of reckless driving.

C.D.S. MONDAY... 2.30 SPECIALS

Women's White — Cotton Combinations
Sleeveless style, cotton combinations with trim trunk knees, evenly-woven, fine quality cotton for such a low pricing. Come tomorrow at 2.30 p.m. for this special. Each
59c
— Second floor

Odd Lines of Cotton — Summer Frocks
Cotton prints, cotton voiles and the popular seersuckers, a vast array of designs, colors and pretty styles suitable for warm summer days. Short sleeves, high and V necklines, pleats and some button trimmings help to enhance their beauty. You'll find them all, for splendid savings at this price. You'll want at least two. Sizes from 14 to 42 in the lot. Special, each 1.00
— Second floor

Linen — Glass Towels
Irish linen glass towels, in white with cross bar patterns in red, blue or yellow. Excellent size, too, for kitchen use, 16" x 28". Rousing value, Monday at 2.30 p.m. Each
10c
— Main floor, right

Cotton Damask — Lunch Cloths
Snow white cotton damask lunch cloths in attractive circle pattern. The size 50" x 50" and in a strong serviceable weave which denotes good service, even for everyday use. Special, each
39c
—Main floor, rear

Ivory and Green — Enamel Dishpans
Oval shape which fits into the sink nicely, of ivory and green enamelware, of heavy grade. Special for 2.30 p.m. Monday, each
87c
— Basement

Rayon and Cotton — Curtain Net
A lovely soft rayon and cotton curtain net, suitable for halls, bedrooms, or living rooms. 35-36" wide, in a rich bronze color. A very special price on this curtain net, at yard
25c
— Main floor, rear

59c ea. Men's Naincheck Combinations 2 for 1.00
Athletic styles, of fine cotton naincheck, a material that is popular for summer underwear. Well made and finished, in button front style. Sizes from 36 to 44. Save by stocking up on Monday — but be sure and come promptly at 2.30 p.m. Special .....
— Men's Store

CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

GO TO CHURCH

BRIDGE STREET UNITED CHURCH
Rev. J. Semple, B.A., B.Y.R., Th.D., Minister
V. P. Hand, A.A.G.O., Organist and Choir Leader
11.00 a.m.—Albert College Baccalaureate.
Minister: REV. PROF. J. R. WATTS, B.A., D.D., of Kingston
7.00 p.m.—Evening Worship.
REV. W. D. HARRISON.

TABERNACLE UNITED CHURCH
Rev. I. B. Naylor, Minister
11.00 a.m.—Theme: "THE EVANGEL"
7.00 p.m.—Theme: "TRIUMPHS OF THE CHURCH."
Sunday School at 10 a.m.
Mrs. J. F. Bradley, choir leader. Mrs. M. P. Duff, organist

HOLLOWAY STREET UNITED CHURCH
Minister: Rev. R. E. Newman - Music: Clifford Templer A.T.C.M.
9.45 a.m.—Sunday School.
11.00 a.m.—"CHRIST CROWNED OUT."
7.00 p.m.—"MEMORIAL."

JOHN STREET UNITED CHURCH
Minister: Robert Hall, B.A., B.D.
Music: Miss Leona Riggs
Mr. Alec Gordon
Divine Worship at Eleven and Seven o'Clock
10.00 a.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.

St. ANDREW'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Rev. W. J. Walker, B.A., B.D., Minister
11.00 a.m.—A SENTIMENTAL RELIGION
10.00 a.m.—Sabbath School and Bible Class.
7.00 p.m.—UNPREPARED.
Organist and Choir Leader
Ernest Wheatley, Mus. Bac., F. GM. C. M.

VICTORIA AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH
REV. ALEXANDER GRANT SINCLAIR, Minister
10.00 a.m.—Sunday School.
11.00 a.m.—Morning Worship and Communion.
7.00 p.m.—A Gospel Service.
Monday, 8 p.m. B.Y.P.U. - Wednesday, 8 p.m., Prayer Service
You are invited to this friendly church.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY
(U.O.F. Temple, 271½ Front Street)
Service will be held at 11.00 a.m.; Sunday School 11.00 a.m.
Subject: "Academic and Modern Necromancy; also Mesmerism and Hypnotism Denounced."
Wednesday meeting second Wednesday of each month at 8 p.m. which includes testimonies of healing through Christian Science
You are cordially invited to attend these services.

REGULAR BAPTIST CHURCH
(Masonic Building)
Pastor: J. Scott
7.00 p.m.
"FOR SINNERS ONLY"
Everybody Welcome

TIME'S TRAGEDY TRAGEDY'S VICTORY is the 7 p.m. theme at
The ALLIANCE CHURCH
Metra St. West.
11 a.m.—Rev. Edgar Latimer.
The Pastor preaching at the Evening Service

CHURCH OF ENGLAND
SUNDAY AFTER ASCENSION DAY
CHURCH OF ST. THOMAS — CHRIST CHURCH
Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne, Vicar
Rev. G. G. Wright, L. Th., Rector.
8 p.m. Holy Communion; 9.45 a.m. Sunday School; 11 a.m. Matins; 7 p.m. Evensong. (Sold.)
9.45 a.m. Sunday School; 11 Holy Communion (Sung); 7 p.m. Evensong. (Said.)
Ian (Choral); 7.00 Evensong.

THE EVANGEL TEMPLE—352 Front Street
"The "CAWSTON" Revival
WILL START SUNDAY, 7.30 p.m. (FAST TIME)
Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday at 8.00 (fast time)
Follow the Crowds. Come and Hear. Go Home Happy.
J. C. KLEINSTUBBER, Pastor.

With the Boy Scouts

A WORD TO PARENTS ON CUBBING

The Junior Branch of the Boy Scouts Association

Some people have a curious habit of dismissing a subject without giving it really fair thought at all. Not a few parents have forbidden their children to "join the Cubs" for no other reason than that they had not troubled to find out what Cubbing actually means. Had they asked for particulars they would soon have learned that Cubbing is a wonderful game which appeals to the heart of every healthy boy between the ages of eight and twelve.

There are some boys that get the idea that a little boy is a nuisance, who is always getting into mischief, and needs nothing more than to be fed regularly and cared occasionally in order to make him a man." This is an old-fashioned idea as much out of date as a Victorian penny. And it is a totally wrong idea, too.

A boy isn't all he seems to be at first sight. He isn't only a little animal, with an active body and a grinning face. There is something else behind all that which he is very shy about, and which he daren't often show to grown-ups. And it's this that the Cubbing tries to get at and tries to develop. It is his inner life, where he thinks and dreams, and makes plans, and uses his imagination generally. Now when he is at School he learns to use his brain and sometimes (that's if he's keen on ordinary games) his body too. At certain amount of his energy is used up in this way; but there is still heaps more left. The boy feels hungry for something or other — he doesn't quite know what.

It is really this "inside" part of him calling out for food; but the sort of food it wants, isn't the usual bread and jam variety. It is fun, adventure, romance. If he could only tell you, you would know how much he aches for it. School does not give it to him, and he is made in such a way that he simply must get this fun somehow or other. Perhaps this hunger may be satisfied for the time being, when he is taken to the "pictures." But he can't go to the "pictures" every day, and so the hunger for adventure comes on again. How is it to be satisfied?

Well, sometimes when daddy is not feeling too tired, he can tell his small son tales in front of the fire—all sorts of lovely tales about robbers and pirates, and cowboys. And the little chap will listen with his eyes wide open, as though he were living in a dream world of his own. But, suppose daddy, and mummy too are both too tired at the end of the day to play with him? Then simply he has to do without relief. Why? Simply because there's far more adventure and fun in doing something, however, naughty, than in being "seen and not heard" like "all good little boys." In other words, if you do not find him adventure, then he will just make it for himself. And then you think him naughty and give him an occasional whipping!

Do you really think that makes any difference to him? The tremendous hunger inside him has got to be satisfied somehow, and whipping only makes matters worse.

That's just where Cubbing comes in to help parents. It is based on the fact I have already spoken about, that the physical hunger is not the only one a child feels. It is the only one he can tell you about; that's why the rest gets forgotten.—The Scout Scribe.

DEATHS YESTERDAY

(By the Canadian Press)

Montreal— Mrs. F. H. Mackay, wife of Dr. Mackay, neurologist.

Toronto—Victor T. Haney, 68, manager Rolland Paper Co., Limited.

Newton, N.J.—Edmund E. Mackay, 72, retired vice-president of The National Biscuit Company.

White Rock B.C.—John Charles Cornish, 80, retired farmer with "C" Battery of the Royal Canadian Artillery of 1886.

St. Thomas, Ont. —Dr. Charles W. Mariatt, 80, retired physician.

Worker in Field Threatened by Gang

Wallaceburg, Ont., June 1—(CP)—Percy Whitmarsh, owner of a beet sugar farm near here, reported to Provincial Police today a gang of 20 men, apparently foreigners, approached three field workers yesterday threatening violence unless the men quit work in sympathy with a movement demanding higher wages in the beet fields.

Other farmers have reported their field have been visited by men attempting to persuade workers to strike for a higher wage.

'AS QUINTUPLETS TOOK TO THE AIR FOR THE WHOLE WIDE WORLD TO HEAR

All was merry at the quintuplets' birthday party on May 28. The whole world took part, for the five famous Dionne sisters "spoke" over the air via sterilized microphones. Here are scenes as the "quints" took to the air along with those responsible for their welfare. UPPER LEFT: Dr. A. R. Defoe, Nurse Yvonne Leroux with her favorite Yvonne, and the doctor with Cecile, who looks as though she were waxing rhetorical. Emelie and Hon. David Croll, Ontario Minister of Welfare. BELOW, Nurse Yvonne Leroux with her favorite Yvonne, and the doctor with Cecile, who looks as though she were waxing rhetorical. RIGHT: Dr. Defoe with the

CONSTITUTION OF U.S. MAY CHANGE

President Likely to Reject All Plans For Stopgap

By NATHAN ROBERTSON

Washington, June 1 (AP)—High sources close to the White House indicated plainly today that President Roosevelt is likely to reject all plans for stopping NRA legislation for the present and await the country's reaction to the question which he posed as the most momentous peacetime issue ever to confront the United States.

Opposing forces already were lining up on the issue which the President raised in the form of a call to the country to decide whether the federal government shall deal with major economic and social problems or whether they shall be relegated to the 48 states. His hint of an effort to revise the constitution as a result of the supreme court decision smashing NRA aroused opposition among Republican critics of the new deal and among some Democrats, while others supported him.

There were indications the issue, if pressed to the ultimate conclusion, would mean an historic battle with incalculable effects upon party lines and in the opinion of many observers a tremendous influence on the course of American history.

THE ADS ARE Part of THE NEWS

Colored Chiffon Stocking Instead Traditional Beige

By RACHAEL GAYMAN

Paris, June 1 (CP)—Matching ensembles are enjoying such a vogue just now the least detail of the fashionable woman's costume cannot be neglected.

After having matched to her dresses her various hats, gloves, belts and pocketbooks, the Parisienne is finding a new effect in the abandonment of the beige stocking of all shades which has become traditional during the last few seasons. She is adopting, on certain occasions, the colored chiffon stocking.

For costumes in which the dominating shade is navy blue, stockings of this color are suitable, or to make a contrast with pale pink or white dresses, while no less fine silk hose of mousey grey, very much 1830, bring neutral tone which harmonies easily with the rather bright colors which will be worn this summer.

On the sports fields all autarchies receive full play. Stockings of a purplish-red shade, which has been called "Burgundy" in honors of the famous wines of that region, will make a happy combination with grey, white, of beige ensembles, but the same effect can be obtained with dark green. Grey stockings give a light touch to a navy-blue costume; and brown or dark tan harmonies with light suits. Of course these colors will be repeated in the shoes, which are still flat, for walking and covering the instep.

As for stockings to accompany evening dresses, there one has a choice among several solutions: the spidery web of beige-rose which goes with all colors and all styles; the colored socking which matches the veil and the slippers.

B. C. Plane Owner Killed in England

Southport, England, June 1.—(CP-Cable) — John Houson of Vancouver died in the hospital today from the injuries he received when his airplane crashed on the Beach yesterday.

A young mechanic named Bentley is in a serious condition.

RAISING SECOND BROOD

PORT ERIE, Ont., June 1—(CP) —Those robins at the Peace Bridge, who after fifteen days of futile efforts to build a nest on a narrow steel window ledge finally got assistance when officials built a bracket for them, have raised one family of quintuplets and now are at work relining their nest for another brood. Kindly government officials continue to keep a watchful eye on them.

GARRO BOUND FOR SWEDEN

Hollywood, Calif., June 1—(AP) —Greta Garbo, travelling in secrecy disguise and in the last couch of a cross country train, was speeding to New York today, bound for a vacation in her native Sweden.

The Ontario Intelligencer

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, MONDAY, JUNE 3, 1935

WEATHER
Cloudy with occasional showers or local thunderstorms today and early Tuesday, then fair and a little cooler; fresh, variable winds, shifting to west and northwest on Tuesday.

TEMPERATURES

	Max	Min
Today	67	43
Year Ago	66	40
Weather—Showers.

KING GEORGE HONORS MANY CANADIANS

NEWS BRIEFS AND ODDITIES

North Bay, Ont., Ont., June 3—(CP)—Disappointment is deepening here as the reduced export duty on pulpwood is resulting in a demand for labor. Ontario Employment Office Officials said here today. Pulpwood cut will be in full swing by June 15. Last year 130 were placed on camps during the season. During the past few weeks 30 have been sent from here in short numbers.

North Bay, Ont., June 3 (CP) — The Canadian Pacific Railway will lay 2-3 miles of track as part of its summer maintenance work in this district, T. Hambly, General Superintendent of Algoma District announced today. The new 100-pound rail will be used. About 100,000 new ties will be laid.

Hollywood, June 3 (AP)—Major General Ying-Hsiu Tu of the Chinese National army, who took up a new kind of a role for a fighting commander, was one of the motion picture version of "The Good Earth", which has Chiba as its locale.

General Tu said the studio preferring the picture rejected him as the Chinese government to obtain his presence in Hollywood in order to make the film "authentic."

Yarmouth, N.S., June 3 (CP)—Burned from head to foot a month ago when her clothing caught fire, six-year-old Pauline Hubbard died in hospital here today. She had been playing with a match in her back yard when a rust of wind caused the flames to spread to her dress.

Detroit, June 3 (CP)—John T. Miller, department store owner and Municipal Zoo, has leased an investiture to gentlemen who refused the use of $2,000 to $3,000 to repeal the trick—if they can.

The use of a "magic" hypnotic serpis in the safe overnight to before, Miller said, but the safe will be placed in the zoo cage.

New York, June 3 (CP)—Fifteen-year-old Harold Pfleger, who has undergone 82 blood transfusions in a fight against cancer, victim of blood and bone diseases, was told by his physicians today he is going to get better.

Physicians announced the boy's test by Saul Marsh.

New York, June 3 (CP)—Two bachelors hailed a group of children in their play Sunday—tossing hand grenades at one another.

The children said they found the grenades in an excavation. The grenades lacked percussion caps and the end vents were plugged with candle wax, the patrolmen gathered them up carefully and took them to headquarters for an expert of the Bureau of Combustibles to determine if they contain explosives.

Savannah, Ga., June 3 (CP)—Domestic taste for chop suey has not the U. S. government to prove for headquarters, chemical experts are studying development of commercial process in which the Soybean Lathrop plant introduction garden.

Bamboo shoots, young plants that spring up like a three inch shaft, are a principal ingredient of chop suey and other Chinese foods.

New York, June 3 (CP)—A scandal devoured in the New York Times from London today reported the Duke of Sforzesca Almeric Peyroy, clerk of the Privy Council for a quarter century. He was 84.

Sir Almeric, in addition to his memoirs wrote a biography of Henry, Duke of Grafton, one of his ancestors, and "a history of the Privy Council from the earlier times."

London, June 3 (CP Cable) — One Knighthood goes to the British West Indies in His Majesty's birthday honors list made public today. Harold Bruce Austin, speaker of the legislature of Barbados, is created a Knight Bachelor.

ROYAL SALUTE FIRED

Ottawa, June 3 (CP)—A 21-gun royal salute to King George on his 70th birthday was fired today from Parliament Hill at Ottawa enjoyed a partial holiday in honour of the occasion.

Government departments were manned by skeleton staffs and the House of Commons which decided to sit planned to rise early in the afternoon and resume its session in the evening.

Highlight of the day here was the Governor-General garden party at Rideau Hall. The weather, however was dull and humid with occasional showers.

LEONARD WILKES LOSES HIS LIFE IN TRENT RIVER

West Belleville Man Slips From Slabwork Into Eddy

FISHING NEAR DAM

Frankford Man Gives Alarm When Wilkes Disappears

Leonard Wilkes, 130 Catherine Street, Belleville, was drowned at seven forty-five Saturday evening while fishing on the sloping slabwork in the Trent River below the dam near the canal at Frankford. No one saw him fall or slip into the water and the fears of Charles Emery of Frankford, who had met him and then missed him led to the finding of the body half an hour later.

Resuscitation was tried by Miles MacDiarmid of Frankford, but without success. Dr. D. W. McMullen of Frankford and Dr. H. H. Alger, coroner of Stirling, were called but could do nothing, the latter pronouncing death. After hearing the story of witnesses Dr. Alger decided that an inquest was unnecessary. The body was taken to Emery's undertaking parlors at Frankford and later brought to Belleville by the Belleville Burial Company and taken to the family residence on Sunday.

Fishing Trip

The victim of the drowning was working in his garden at the rear of his lot on Catherine Street when Mr. Hector Grant, 89 Orier Street, accompanied by Mr. George Wilder, 62 Grier Street, drove up about five-thirty o'clock on the afternoon and invited Mr. Wilkes to go fishing in the Trent River. Mr. Grant remembering that Mr. Wilkes liked fishing, Wilkes had not had the week-end but took with him something to eat but left behind one section of his fishing pole, which may have explained why he had to approach the water so closely, the length of the section being between two and three feet.

Rubber Boots

Wilkes had previously signified to Mr. Grant that he hoped he would be to go on a trip and when he broke for him Saturday evening he evidently he appeared wearing rubber boots. Wilkes took his knee-length rubber boots with him and the three men drove to Frankford, going to the mill dam a quarter of a mile north of the traffic bridge over the river. There Wilkes was fishing about ten feet from the dam on concrete slab work which slopes to the river. The water is deeper under the wheel dams.

(Continued on page ten)

Britain Charged By Italian Journal

Rome, June 3 (AP)—Charges Great Britain is furnishing Ethiopia with arms and Ethiopian officials are encouraging Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia in many ways were made today by the Italian newspaper Giornale d' Italia.

The newspaper quotes Lieutenant-Colonel Cliford of the British army and a member of the Anglo-Ethiopian Commission, as declaring the British Somaliland frontier as saying Emperor Haile Selassie had requested the British protection for 25 years.

Clocks Move Forward With D.S.T., Few Tricked by "Summer Time"

Belleville swung easily into daylight saving time yesterday morning when clocks were wakening little affected by the loss of an hour's sleep, and by turning their clocks ahead one hour before retiring.

Congregations in local churches which opened services one hour ahead of the sun's rise in conformity with the by-law were little disturbed by the absence of those who late-comers tiptoed up the aisles in the middle of service, and even those who failed to set the clocks ahead in the two stations remembered in time that railways were about the only local institutions who ignored the law of clocks ahead. Only the baker, the milkman, the few whose daily jobs start in the city before the sleeping population turns over for its second cat nap in the morning felt as they awoke and plodded to work in a twilight darkness that he was being a little cheated by the whole thing.

Farmers of the district, notorious unbelievers in clocks and time pieces during the summer time, and who arise with the first streaks of dapple dawn, were about their chores as usual, little caring whether their city friends had advanced the clock or not; only on Saturday will they remember to load their cars and wagons an hour before their accustomed time.

Rural schools also will keep on with the old time, it was intimated by School Inspector Clarke today.

They have no official power to change their opening or closing time because they operate under township regulations, and as far as I know none of the townships has passed a daylight saving by-law," said the inspector. But, rural schools attending local schools will feel the effect of the extra hour that is not in effect in the country.

So far no complaints have been heard regarding the change in time, except a few mild protests from local mothers. "How can I get the kids to bed at the proper time when it's still daylight outside and they want to play?" asked one mother.

MANY REPORTED DEAD IN FLOOD HERE

Early reports indicated 250 to 300 dead in storm and flood at McCook, Neb. Above photos show the main street of the city and a $75,000 ward school in the path of the raging torrents.

LINER CRASHES THRU 3 RECORDS ON MAIDEN TRIP

Ship Normandie Averages 29.58 Knots in North Crossing

WAITS FOR TIDE

In One Day French Boat Covers 748 Miles

New York, June 3.—AP)—With the Atlantic Blue Ribbon her prize in sight, the mammoth, 79,280-ton new French liner Normandie steamed into the harbor today amid a wild acclaim by giving airplanes and the blasts of sirens on hundreds of welcoming craft.

Her voyage was the fastest ever made by a trans-Atlantic liner.

Averaging officially, 29.58 knots from Southampton to Ambrose Lightship, the Normandie surpassed the 29.02 knot record set by the Italian Liner Rex on a run from Gibraltar.

The liner reached Ambrose light in the outer harbor at 11.02 a.m. (correct) E.D.T., but will have to remain for several hours for a flood tide before she can sail past Coney Island's skyscrapers to her Hudson dock.

Although the gleaming vessel anchored at quarantine at 12.02 pm. E.D.T., she was not due to dock until between three and 3.30 p.m E.D.T.

Besides the mythical blue ribbon —won for the fastest time across the ocean—the Normandie set these records.

Fastest northern lane crossing.

Best Speed 31 29 Knots

The best hour's speed, until she flashed by the Ambrose light, was 31.29 knots, highest sustained speed ever achieved by a liner.

The French pride came up to the mouth of the bay in gleaming sunshine. With binoculars passengers crowding the decks could see black rows of automobiles and crowds lining the Brooklyn and Long Island shores to watch the graceful ship glide by.

The whirring, bobbing, looking airplanes flew close from the towering heights of the Normandie's decks, swarmed about the escorting Whitties, sirens, and deep-toned fog horns blared a mighty welcome.

Among the welcoming craft were the official city welcoming boats and coast guard cutters crowded with dignitaries "Given the Bay" to meet the Normandie.

Maneuvering overhead, their droning motors adding to the noisy celebration, airplanes circled, dove and soared away, accompanying the ship from far out.

As the ship made the short run from Ambrose Light to her anchorage off quarantine without perceptibly slackening her speed, many of the smaller vessels that met her in the outer harbor approach had difficulty keeping abreast.

MAN IN CEMENT THROWN IN SEA

Grisly Tale Told of Vengeance in Underworld

Providence, R.I., June 3 (AP) — State police and Providence detectives today sought verification of a grisly underworld tale which relates that Danny Walsh, rum syndicate chief, was stood in a tub of cement until it hardened about his feet and then thrown alive into the sea.

They hoped to obtain details of the disappearance of Walsh from Arthur Sorenson, 23, former rumrunning skipper of Bridgeport, Conn., who police said, admitted he attended "underworld supper" to Walsh at a cafe in Warwick Feb. 2, 1933. Walsh was never seen alive after that night.

Royland has also admitted, police said, he was present at a Providence hotel when a $40,000 ransom was paid for Walsh, another "death supper" guest, police said, was Carl Rotuch, Walsh's former partner, now under indictment for the $150,000 Fall River mail robbery. He was also present at the ransom payoff, they said.

Police have never established the person for Walsh's snatch whether it was in retaliation or in a cold-blooded plot to raise money.

GRIM DEATH TOLL OVER WEEK-END SEEN IN ONTARIO

Automobile, Fishing And Swimming Accidents Claim 10

MANY INJURED

Cars Responsible For Four of The Deaths Registered

By The Canadian Press

Ontario turned out in full force to enjoy one of the first summer-like week ends yesterday, a week end, that was to pile up a grim toll of dead and injured.

Automobile accidents, fishing and swimming accidents, and in other ways, claimed the lives of 10 persons, sent several score to hospital, some seriously hurt, and inflicted minor injuries on many others.

Automobile accidents were responsible for four of the deaths, and four more met death in the water.

Near Paris Edna Thompson, 19, and Edwin Duncan, 26, both of Ingersoll, were killed when their car plunged off the road. Scott Rutherford, 19, went to hospital with injuries not thought to be serious.

In Lambton, John Parr, 14, was killed and Wallace Nash seriously injured, when the automobile Nash was driving crashed into a Hydro pole.

Almo Kelnsky, six, died of injuries received, when struck by a car driven by S. F. Downey, Toronto, while crossing a highway. A fracture at the base of the skull and two fractured legs proved fatal.

Many Drownings

Walter Numeroski, 19, was drowned, while swimming near Bradford. Two youth tried desperately to save him, but in vain.

Bert Noble, 40, was drowned when a boat from which he was fishing capsized in Rowland's Lake, near Creemore.

Leonard Wilkes, Belleville, tumbled into the Trent River while fishing from a dam, and was drowned.

Frederick Nasarit, Smith's Falls, was drowned when his boat upset on Otter Lake.

Stanley Skebicki, 26, was killed when struck by a moving crane. His head was crushed from the waist of the Irish Guard. He saluted right and left with a white gloved hand as he rode down Constitution Hill to the horse-guards parade and back again.

From all sides came from the crowds cries of "God bless you, sir!" "Long may you live!"

The Prince of Wales, the Duke of York, the Duke of Gloucester, and the Duke of Kent, all in the scarlet wore military uniforms and the blue ribbon of the Order of the Garter. It was the first time all four sons had participated with their father in such a ceremony.

Also accompanying the monarch were two Indian Princes, Honorary-Aides-de-Camps, dressed in luxurious silk robes, the King's four Indian servants and the military attaches of the United States and foreign countries.

TOKENS OF ROYAL FAVOR CONFERRED OVER THE EMPIRE

Those Attaining Distinction in Many Fields Honored

POET LAUREATE NAMED

One Viscount, Six Barons and 46 Knights Created

LONDON, June 3—(CP Cable)—Tokens of Royal Favor, honors of varying degrees were awarded by the King today to many of his subjects throughout the Empire who have attained distinction in different fields.

Conferred upon the occasion of the King's birthday and the Silver Jubilee, the awards went to famous figures in the artistic literary and scientific worlds. Honored with them were persons, who had rendered valuable service in business, government and kindred spheres.

The awards were made "on the occasion of His Majesty's birthday" and in commemoration of the completion of the 25th year of His Majesty's reign," it was announced.

Those conferred in the United Kingdom gave three peerages, the Order of Merit, made one a Viscount, created three Privy Councillors, six new Barons and forty-six new Knighthoods.

In Canada went nine Knighthoods and one promotion to a higher rank of Knighthood.

The new peerages did not include any members of the British Cabinet and failed to provide any chance as the nature of the Cabinet shuffle which is expected to take place this month.

Poet Laureate Named

The Order of Merit was conferred upon John Masefield, Poet Laureate, in recognition of his eminent position in the world of Literature; Sir Joseph Larmor, Physicians, in recognition of his valuable and distinguished services to science; and Sir Frederick Gowland Hopkins for his eminent labors in the field of Chemistry, notably in the discovery of vitamins.

The Order of Merit, which is restricted to twenty-four members may be conferred upon "men, persons, being subjects of our crown, who may have rendered exceptionally meritorious services to our navy and our army, or who may have made exceptionally meritorious service towards the advancement of Art, Literature, and Science", it is provided in statutes of the Order.

The reigning monarch of the Empire is Sovereign of the Order.

New Zealander Elevated

Among the distinguished figures elevated by the King include the following their names are James Barrie, David Lloyd George, Earl Jellicoe, Lord Rutherford, Lord Trevelyan.

Lord Rutherford, who has completed a five-year term as Governor-General of New Zealand, was elevated

(Continued on page ten)

Six Knights Created by King in Birthday List: 107 Canadians Honored

Arts And Literature is Recognized in The List

SERVICE RECOGNIZED

Sir Thomas White Promoted to Higher Order

London, June 3 (CP)—The King's birthday brought to Canada this year a longer list of honors and awards than has appeared since restoration of titles in 1924.

Today nine Canadians found His Majesty had conferred Knighthoods upon them, while one already enjoying that title was promoted. The imposing list of today's honors and awards brought the number of Knighthoods created among Canadians since titles were restored in Canada up to 27.

In addition to Knighthoods, 97 other honors and awards were included in the list. Numerically it is greater than all three former lists combined including that of New Year's, 1934, the first after titles returned to Canada. It is conspicuous for the fact that Arts and Letters are recognized repeatedly not only in the honor awards, but in Knighthoods.

Another feature of the list this year is that women figure prominently. Out of the total 107 awards, 20 have been conferred upon women. The Order of the British Empire, in its various grades, was the favorite utilized by His Majesty in conferring these honors upon women recipients. The list indicated, that voluntary service to the com-

(Continued on Page 2)

Canadians Honored

Following is the list of Canadians to whom honors were given by the King in his birthday list:

Knight Grand Cross of the Order of St. Michael and St. George: Rt. Hon. Sir William Thomas White, K.C.M.G., Toronto, (promotion).

Knight Grand Cross of the Order of the British Empire: Edward Wentworth Beatty, Montreal.

Knight Commander of the Order of the Bath: Major-General James Howden MacBrien, Ottawa.

Knight Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George: Hon. Herbert Meredith Marler, Tokio, Canadian Minister to Japan.

Knight of the Order of the British Empire: Arthur George Doughty, Ottawa, and John Cunningham McLennan, Toronto.

Knights Bachelor: Senator Joseph Amable Thomas Chapais, Quebec; Edmond Wyly Grier, Toronto; Frederick Charles Wilkinson, Toronto; Charles George Douglas Roberts, Toronto.

(All the foregoing are entitled to the prefix "Sir".)

List of Further Awards

Companion of the Order of the Bath (military): Major-General Ernest Charles Ashton Beauman, British Columbia.

Companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George: George Samuel Horace Barton, Ottawa; Charles Camsell, Ottawa; William Clifford Clark, Ottawa; Cyrille Felix Delage, Quebec; William Stewart Edwards, Ottawa, Rev.

(Continued on page three)

SIMPLE SERVICE FOR FIVE VICTIMS

Scott Children Burned to Death Are Laid to Rest

Long Branch, Ont., June 3 (CP)—Sad-eyed neighbors and friends today attended the funeral of the five children burned to death in a fire on Pricky in their Aldervood home.

The simple and impressive services was conducted by Rev. William E. Edwards, assistant of Christ Church, Mimico. He was assisted by Rev. A. Best, Minister of the Baptist Church, in Aldervood.

In four caskets lay the bodies of Victor, 10; Vera, 12; Robert, eight; Isabel, four, and William, 15-months. The baby was placed in the arms of its mother.

The father, his wife and their three-year-old son, Douglas, were the only survivors.

THIEVES CUT WAY THRU 14" WALL

Secure $4,000 Cash And $60,000 in Cheques From Office

Toronto, June 3 (CP)—Robbery of the French York Township offices of $4,000 in cash and $60,000 in non-negotiable cheques was reported to police today. The cash was payroll money and carried out Saturday or Sunday.

The robbers hacked their way through a 14-inch brick wall which separates the office from the mill.

The stolen cheques were made payable to Dominion Tar Company and represented tax collections. They were endorsed by Treasury Department officials.

WEATHER

Toronto, June 3 (CP). — Heavy rains have occurred over the week-end in Manitoba and East Saskatchewan, and light to moderate showers in other parts of the west. Temperatures have generally somewhat warmer in Eastern Canada but has become quite cool in the west.

Lake Superior—Fresh southerly to westerly winds; partly cloudy with much the same temperature and a few showers.

Manitoba — Strong northwest winds; mostly cloudy and unsettled showers.

Saskatchewan — Fresh to strong northwesterly winds; partly cloudy and cool; probably a few light scattered showers.

Alberta—Partly cloudy, with much the same temperature.

His Majesty and Sons Attend Trooping of Colors On Occasion of Birthday

By BURDETTE T. JOHNS

London, June 3 (AP)—His Majesty, astride a gentle bay horse, rode today with the Prince of Wales at the head of a column of crack cavalry and foot soldiers through the ancient ceremony marking the colorful end of the Irish Guard. He saluted right and left with a white gloved hand as he rode down Constitution Hill to the horse-guards parade and back again.

From all sides came from the crowds cries of "God bless you, sir!" "Long may you live!"

The Prince of Wales, the Duke of York, the Duke of Gloucester, and the Duke of Kent, all in the scarlet wore military uniforms and the blue ribbon of the Order of the Garter. It was the first time all four sons had participated with their father in such a ceremony.

Also accompanying the monarch were two Indian Princes, Honorary-Aides-de-Camps, dressed in luxurious silk robes, the King's four Indian servants and the military attaches of the United States and foreign countries.

Watched From Window.

Queen Mary, who previously was driven to the Horseguards parade in the royal carriage, accompanied by the Duchesses of York and Kent and the Princess Royal's daughters, Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, watched the ceremonies from a window of the Horse Office.

The King gave a thrill to the huge crowd when, half way through the ceremony, he stopped and gave a smart salute to the Queen.

The King's medical advisers reported he had thrown off the slight chill from which he has been suffering the last two days and was in high spirits for participation in ceremonies.

Messages wishing the King good health and long life came from humble shepherds in the Scottish Highlands, from Indian Princes, and from the heads of foreign states and diplomats.

Among the presents he received, the most appreciated were remembrances from his grandchildren, the Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, and the two sons of the Princess Royal and Viscount Lascelles.

The servants of the royal household dusted off champagne bottles to drink the usual toast to the master at booth.

Coming Events

CARD PARTY TUESDAY NIGHT 8.30 at St. George's, Station street. Good prizes, lunch, social time, refreshments. Admission 25c. J2-15

BARN DANCE AT MR. MATHEWS' on Wednesday night, June 5, commencing 8.30. Admission, ladies 10c, gents 25c. Refreshments on grounds. Music by Bill Hall's Orchestra. J2-16

BAJAMA CLUB EUCHRE TONIGHT AT 284 Front street. Good prizes, three lunches served. Admission 25c per person. J2-17

DISTRICT ANNUAL MEETING EAST Hastings Women's Institute, Lonsdale Hall, Wednesday, June 5, commencing 9.30 Good program by Toronto and home talent. Speakers, Miss Ellen Mix, Murphy, Mr. Joe Wilson. Dinner served in basement at noon. J2-2

RECITAL OF CONSERVATORY PUPILS in the hall of Bridge St. Church, Tuesday evening, June 4. Silver collection. J1-3

City and District News

ENJOY BEAUTIES OF VICTORIA PARK

A hot, sticky wind was brought out many residents to Victoria Park yesterday, where they could escape the train and trees. Several retirement took advantage of the hot spell to take a little bathing picnic. Small craft owned by visitors or hosts were seen by the score covering the water.

Excitement was not lacking, more than one sailing party turned over and put the passengers in ducking and also the spectators a thrill.

FLAG FLOATS ON CHURCH TOWER

This being the King's birthday, the flag of St. George is flying from the staff on the tower of St. Thomas' Church.

TRUSTEES FAVORS RADIOS FOR SCHOOLS

Possibility of schools of the city being radio equipped in order that pupils and teachers may be able to take advantage of the regular series of educational broadcasts arranged by the Ontario Department of Education, especially timely, was stated by one prominent trustee of the Board of Education here.

Said the trustee: "This is an age of progress and we must keep our schools up with the times. Belleville appears to be one of the few cities where such arrangement has not been made. I'm entirely in favor of radio in the schools and will certainly support it when the question comes up."

The matter will probably come under discussion at the next regular meeting of the Board.

COUNTY IS BATHED IN SEA OF BLOSSOMS

A white sea of blossoms through the apple belt of Prince Edward County at the present time gives promise of a bumper apple crop in that as well as throughout the county this season. On Sunday the peninsular county was a mecca for hundreds of cars bearing camera enthusiasts who spent their time photographing the bloom laden orchards. The early spring rains ensured during the day, however, was the complaints by apple tree owners of the county. Many were stripped of their limbs for the decorative blossoms.

O.S.D. FIELD DAY CALLED FOR RAIN

The annual field day of the Ontario School for the Deaf, scheduled to be presented at the Exhibition Park today, was postponed on account of adverse weather conditions late this morning. According to O.S.D. officials the school's field day and track meet will be held in the near future, possibly of Tuesday or Wednesday, weather permitting. A large crowd in all classes and events was in evidence and today's rain disappointed the contesting athletes.

DRIZZLING DAY GREETS HOLIDAY

A few scattered flags, stirring limply in the wet breeze along Front Street in front of the open business places, fewer strips of bunting here and there, and when over all overcast clouds and recurrent drizzles of rain misting the district generally, it appeared that the city's gloomy holiday air on the

It Pays to Shop at the Rexall Store.

AFTER WINTER'S STRAIN!
Glucose-D
For that tired feeling.
Supplies Rapid Energy and Nourishment
20 OUNCE TIN
98c
McKeown's
Drug Store

DR. H. J. FAHEY
desires to announce the location of his office now in the Reed Robertson Block, 219 Front St., Belleville.
M1-1m

Bayside Dairy
Bayside Ice Cream Sales
by Scenic
"Nelson's Ice Cream"
The Treat Supplied by CITIZEN'S DAIRY
Phone 236
A-M-W-F-1

DANCE GARDENS SPECIAL

MONDAY, JUNE 3rd.
also FRIDAY NIGHT

CLAUDE COPELAND and his MOONLIGHT SERENADERS ready in. In spite of the fact that the season has apparently been a late one, May of last month exceeded the precipitation of May 1934 by nearly one inch, registering for the month a total rainfall of 3.49 inches.

MASONS VISITING LODGE IN N.Y. STATE

A large number of Masons left this afternoon by train for Gananoque, there to take a boat for Clayton, N.Y., where they will be met late this afternoon by members of Clayton Lodge. They will be met late this afternoon by members of Clayton Lodge, No. 172, New York State, of which the Master is a Belleville boy, Wor. Bro. Sawyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Sawyer of this city, and driven to that place. The visit is the result of the suggestion of the master of the lodge to the lodge of his home town to pay a fraternal visit, namely Moira Lodge No. 11 A.F. and A.M., Belleville. The latter lodge invited members of all similar lodges to join the party and a good many have accepted the invitation. The brethren will visit Chautauqua Lodge tonight and will return home tomorrow.

THREE ARE ORDAINED INTO U. C. MINISTRY

Peterboro, June 3.—At a solemn service which brought to a conclusion the biennial annual Day of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada, held in Murray Street Church, three young men were ordained ministers of the church. Rev. Dr. Chown presided. Ordinators are Preston Charles Brown, of Millbrook, a graduate of Toronto University and Victoria College of Newtonville, and Horatio Todd, of Kingston, both graduates of Queen's University. Mr. Brown and Mr. Todd will take charges at Calabogie and Kingston and Mr. Wragg will assist at Newtonville United Church.

Rev. Dr. James Semple of Belleville, Conference President, officiated at the service representing His was assisted by Rev. James Sedgwick of Napanee, Conference Secretary, and Rev. A. J. Wilson, of Napanee.

FIRST SHIPMENT OF CHEESE LEAVES

First shipments of cheese from the local cheese boards will leave the Government dock today on the steamer Hochelaga for Montreal and overseas export. Six hundred cheese and odd freight will comprise the load. Its arrival in the city last evening the Glen Allan on her regular call, carried many inward goods and beer for the local port.

SUNKEN PIER TO BE REMOVED

Following representation made to the Dominion Government by the Belleville Board of Harbor Commissioners, a sunken wooden pier at the north gap of the bay bridge which has resulted in some damage to local motor boats during the past season of low water will probably be removed, it was announced today by chairman of the Board, Mr. Geo. F. Catmore.

Today Mr. Romeo Le Rocque, expert diver, is supervising the construction of a diving raft, which will be towed to the bay bridge this week for purpose of inspection of the pier to determine the best manner of removal.

Mr. Le Rocque, employed by the Government on the work was in charge of the construction of the recent addition to the local government docks.

FARMERS WELCOME GROWING RAIN

Rain pattered over the district today but the downfall was bringing smiles to the faces of farmers of the district who declared that the being registered from outside points, where open air programs had been arranged for the holiday, but even in spite of heavy showers of rain work the land through the section was fast reported drying up, along with wells, which have also become scanty in supply owing to extra demands made on them. Today's rainfall assurance many declared is a typical "growing rain" for crops al-

NOW AT A NEW LOW PRICE
THE TRIPLE VALUE
SALAD AND COOKING OIL
MAZOLA
1 makes Wonderful MAYONNAISE
2 is Perfect for DEEP FRYING
3 is Most ECONOMICAL

Business of Education is Greatest in World, Told Students of Albert College

Dr. J. Watts Delivers Baccalaureate Sermon at Bridge St.

INSPIRING MUSIC

Speaker Praises Part College Has Played in District

The 78th Baccalaureate of Albert College was held Sunday morning at Bridge Street United Church.

Stirring music was played by the organist, Wor. F. P. Hunt, throughout the service. Anthems were sung by the choir and junior choir with Miss Hamilton taking the solo parts. The hymns played were "Guide Me, O Thou Great Jehovah," "These Things Shall Be, A Loftier Race" and "Creation's Lord, We Give Thee Thanks."

Rev. Mr. Harrison officiated throughout the service in the absence of Dr. James Semple, who was in Peterborough attending the Day of Quinte Conference. Also on the platform were Dr. E. N. Baker, Rev. Bert Howard and Dr. Watts of the Queen's Theological College, who delivered the sermon. He was introduced by Dr. E. N. Baker. The students were grouped in the main body of the church.

Tree Picture Disclosed

Dr. Watts voiced his pleasure at being present for this great occasion. "It is a significant event for the Albert College, that institution that by means so much to this city", said the speaker. The exercises this all morning close the 78th session of the college", declared the preacher. "We must loose our imagination and picture the outstanding work of the men and women, that it has provided. The true story of what the Albert College has done will never be disclosed, it belongs to an inner world. The seed, that have been sown and ideas planted upon the students, many have never yet been told. The record of human life and all that is noble are part of the imperishable traditions of the Albert College. Some one more intimate with the College than myself could tell more of its worthy traditions, therefore I will limit myself to something which I have hidden' knowledge of," contended Dr. Watts. Taking as a keynote for his sermon he read the 4th verse of the 4th chapter of Deuteronomy, and took as the theme of his address "Greatest business in the world, the business of education."

Some on Wrong Track

Some people think, that the business of making shoes, making automobiles etc., is a greater business than making men or women. They are on the wrong track, commented the speaker. Let me take you in your imaginations back to the crib of a new born babe, that perhaps has been born inside the city limits here this morning. There he lies with his life unlived, his thoughts not started and his deeds undone. What this world is in 50 years depends on that child and others like him. They are the makers of the world to be.

"As you stand beside the new born thoughts possibilities of mind. The baby is neither bad nor good. Its is now a bundle of possibilities and some day he will be good or bad. He may sit in the mayor's chair or stand behind the pulpit. He may end up in prison or on the gallows. He may be a Saint Paul or a Caesar, a Napoleon or a Pasteur. There are thousands of ways for a baby to take. Which way shall he go?" asked Dr. Watts.

Babe Morally Good

The new born babe is morally good, that is, he is a bundle of good or bad. His character has begun to set. The woman or woman he is now appearing in the child. Some believe that character begins at the age of seven. "By that time character has set in deep", declared the speaker.

By the time, that one becomes 30 a change is difficult, the plastic has been set and can be altered only with the greatest difficulty. "What makes the difference between a child morally born and a man or woman of 30 or 40, whose characters have been set?" the answer lies in the fact the child has been educated. He is brought up and taught the way of good or bad and it does not depart from him.

The child is born into a world marvellously rich. "For the past five or six years we have been hearing of poverty rather than wealth. We have been through difficult times. In spite of this the child is born into a world of opportunities. Think of the wealth in institutions, schools, churches and life, colour and sound. The skill and technique that awaits his possession, if he will have it.

Divided In Two Classes

Wealth is divided into two classes. One part is wealth, which is transferable and of gain. The other part, the skill, technique, practical knowledge, not one part can be transferred by gifts, it has to be obtained by education. Education is therefore the process by which we transfer the knowledge from one another all the best things in the world. The greatest thing a woman is one, who has come into the possession, remarked the speaker.

"Are you doing the best business of a child?" "It is to adjust himself to the world in which he lives. Life is a business of adjustments.

"There are three classes of education" declared Dr. Watts, "physical education, which is the training to fit ourselves into these classes. Every man must know the physical world and the laws of nature in the world science. When the child is born, he is helpless, he has to be taught how to walk, live with his fellows and the boys in navy blue. Twenty each year are inducted in the class. A guard of development of character. To have social education you have to fit yourself into the world. If you have failed to fit yourself to do what is before you, your education is worthless.

Born in God's World

The child is born into a world, where God is. When he gets old enough to take notice of things he finds a world of beauty, of sky and sun and all the beauties of the earth and he realizes that there is something greater than himself. Education is

And So This is Bermuda!

Article No. 5.

By G. M. JAMES

Travelling Representative of THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

We at once warn all readers to be prepared for some of the surprises of their lives. Our first impression on disembarkation at Hamilton, Bermuda, was none other than that we had been dumped alongside the most gigantic monument to the modern world. The odour was terrible and extended everywhere. The reason was soon only too obvious. The chief method of locomotion and transport in Hamilton is by one horse carriage or wagon and there are hundreds of these, parked everywhere at the curb ready for service. For a time we were so sick and disappointed that we longed for the wings of an angel that we might fly quickly to a more congenial atmosphere.

PEOPLE

The people of Hamilton, the chief centre of Bermuda, are a mixed race from many points of view. The normal population is about thirteen thousand (the size of Belleville) but during the winter months tourists swell this total to twenty and sometimes thirty thousand. The coloured population of thirteen thousand consists of about eight thousand blacks, a few Portuguese and the remainder from England or at least English descent. The dominant note everywhere in Hamilton is English as you meet them on the official carpet. The English always seem to have no difficulty in spending Canadian and American money without any sacrifice but this is a wise concession to tourist trade, the chief source of revenue throughout Bermuda.

The white people run all the hotels and all the chief stores but with a fair English flavour which can be understood only by those who have travelled in these old England colonies. Things are private, they know what is best, and pity the unbeliever who has different opinions. We get along with this doctrine splendidly and had a splendid schooling in the Portland just three years ago. The only criticism we have to offer concerning English methods is the fact that Canadian methods are not only more modern but decidedly better.

But when you come to the problem of the blacks everything is different. These people are the descendants of slaves, who upon emancipation not only became free but took the names of their owners and received a home and plot of ground. Almost all of the negroes live in these blocks own their own home and also their horse and carriage for service.

Most of the labour of Bermuda is performed by blacks. As a rule they are faithful reliable. But there are exceptions. The white people cannot be unionized at Hamilton as the same time because of labour conditions. It requires about eighty men to unload a boat and at two dollars and fifty cents a day there are not enough men available for the unloading of three boats at the same time. A darkie will not work as long as he has a dollar in his pocket and ignore the demand of the Hamilton harbour exceeds the supply.

Although there is no problem of unemployment in Bermuda, the darkie is the chief problem in these islands. The coloured race is increasing at the rate of five hundred per year and it is only a matter of time until conditions will become intolerable. At the moment many remedies are under consideration including birth control. The writer believes that present conditions cannot continue but the remedy proposed are various and some rather doubtful.

We wish to pay our tribute to the darkies of Hamilton. They have been very kind to us; they speak to us everywhere and offer their services, many of which we have accepted with profit and appreciation. The darkies are well behaved and if while would be considered quite handsome. They enjoy a much better social standing here than in Belleville or the southern states. They are not segregated in some country by themselves as in the South but live everywhere among the white people as if they were equals. The Union Jack does mean something for inferior races.

When we arrived in Hamilton a few days ago, we required the usual carriage for the trip as and an hour drive in our guide to the Fort Hotel cottage; but one block away.

"Say how much do you charge to take us and our baggage one block straight ahead," I inquired of the nearest darkie coachman."

"Only seventy-five cents for you, Doctor," came the prompt reply with excessive good humour and smiles. The inference seemed to be that others would be required to pay much more but such was not really the truth. The same service in Belleville would cost twenty-five cents and in New York forty-five cents. The initial incident gives a good idea of the prices throughout Bermuda.

The writer's usual breakfast in Belleville or New York never exceeded twenty-five cents. These items here total fifty cents or more. So it goes in most other things.

EXPENSES IN BERMUDA

Expenses at all pleasure resorts everywhere are much higher than at home for various reasons.

1. The tourist season is less than half each year and hence charges must be higher to tide over the inactive periods.

2. Heavy taxation and assessments are in such good humour that they pay generously without counting the cost.

3. Geographical conditions make all charges and prices greater than they would otherwise be and this is particularly true of these islands. Everything used and consumed here must be imported (much from Canada) with the exception of all kinds of vegetables, potatoes and bananas. Enough cows are kept for fresh milk and cream, but butter is also imported. All other foods must be brought in three ways by the government of Bermuda collects duty on the invoice value of everything, including food, imported into Bermuda. Then on top of all this comes the usual charges for a profit. Is it to be wondered at that Bermuda is the dearest place in the world though it has little more than Muskoka which is the cheapest pleasure resort.

4. But the worst has not been told as yet? Outsiders cannot reside in Bermuda for a longer period than eight months a year though they may return subject to this conditions after a short pleasure departure each person must pay the Bermuda Government three dollars as a contribution to the welfare of the island, and this amount of tax must be paid by everyone, residents as well as transients, regardless of the length of sojourn. A rough estimate would indicate that this tax produces about twenty-five thousand dollars a year.

But the visitor encounters other surprises and innovations. The island is thirty-five miles long and three miles wide and is traversed by two-way trains, resembling second rate street cars, driven by gasoline. A feeble, toy whistle of his approach at dog trot speed. One railway friends in Belleville would expire with laughter if they ever took a ride in one of these toy trains, regarded here as the last word in train service. "If we could only see ourselves as others see us."

Our first tour on this interesting, scenic railway took us to the Aquarium, the magnificent distance of four miles. Return tickets were not sold and before we reached home we discovered the reason. We were compelled to pay a third more for the return trip than we paid going.

These details give some idea of the mysteries and surprises that the visitor encounters daily and something tells us that there is much in reserve that will surprise us as the days go by. Future. Will people return and will they induce their friends to do as they do?

SIGNS OF DISFAVOUR

There are scores of large hotels scattered over the many hills and rocks of Bermuda. None are flourishing on a profit basis, and some are in financial difficulties just as we found them in Muskoka in 1921. One of the largest of these in the centre of Hamilton is asking the city for financial assistance, to insure its remaining open till December.

Everywhere in the world the story is the same. Guest houses with all conveniences and modern conveniences are rapidly increasing and multiplied, while hundreds have been forced into receivers. There is a limit to what even the jolly, pleasure seeker will pay.

BERMUDA'S CHARMS

Bermuda consists of a group of 365 islands, nearly all of which are barren, coral rocks. They are the most northerly coral islands in the world and are exactly similar to the soil and rocks of Southern Florida. All buildings are made of blocks of creamy white coral cut from the parent rock by saws. The uniform blocks are about four times the size of our bricks. After the building is completed the surface is given a wash of cement and alum which gives the delightful effect of smooth, white marble. The wash can be repeated like a coat of paint. In a few cases the wash is colored yellow, orange or green with beautiful effect. The roof is made of the same materials. We reported exactly the same conditions for Miami. These lovely homes dot the hills and valleys everywhere in Bermuda, sometimes in clusters and sometimes in lordly isolation. Trees and water are usually near by the lovely homes affording beautiful views from any standpoint. These innumerable sights constitute the chief charm of Bermuda and are already comparable to summer scenes in our beloved Muskoka. Here the ever present waters of the Atlantic are a lovely bright blue and the numerous trees are chiefly cedars interspersed everywhere with oleanders twenty feet high in full pink bloom. These trees complete many perfect pictures, which never lose their loveliness.

The climate is warm in Winter and cool and breezy in Summer. Frosty and cold days are usually unknown. The temperature varies little due to the close proximity of every point in Bermuda to warm ocean waters. Climate and scenery are Bermuda's greatest charms and there is considerable evidence which would indicate that its inhabitants believe that these two charms will overcome all financial handicaps (already explained) that lack of sound judgment may play upon them. The writer does not share in this optimism.

The month of May is the best time to visit Bermuda as everything is at its best. Our reliable thermometer has registered 75 to 80 ever since we came here, day and night, but constant cool breezes keep one absolutely comfortable. We found it exactly the same in Miami.

The entertainment here is not as good as most places we have visited. Hamilton has one good picture theatre but its table appears to us much too loud. A couple of days ago we saw George Arliss in Cardinal Richelieu and enjoyed it very much. The prices charged in Belleville are shown here regularly but of course prices are much higher. Golf, tennis, yachting, boating and fishing are much practised and enjoyed. Trips to various points of interest throughout the island constitute the chief pastimes and in our next letter we expect to give details in this connection as well as concerning other matters which cannot be explained at present.

TRANSPORTATION

There are no motor cars in Bermuda although the roads are excellent, as they are hard-surfaced with a mixture of crushed coral and cement. They are not allowed here because they are considered too dangerous. Nearly every resident owns a good bicycle here (darkies too) and thus they go merrily all over the island. Visitors rent bicycles at five dollars per week; something tells me that there are some persons in Belleville who would like to be in the bicycle business here. But they are dangerous too. On one of our walks to the city limits, we met a man on crutches and the following typical conversation ensued:

"Good day, stranger, are you looking for some place?"

"No, thank you, we are just out for a walk sight-seeing."

"Been here long?"

"Just a few days."

"Going to stay long?"

"A week or so if we can keep out of jail."

"A black girl ran into me with her wheel and broke my leg; I am just crawling around again."

"That's too bad; we are very sorry."

"Neither the girl nor her parents showed the least concern or remorse."

Then he rambled on about his long life in Bermuda, the many changes none for the better, and pointed out many places of interest including the beautiful home of Mr. Gosling, the famous wine dealer where we were standing. We were very grateful to this kind old man because he gave us much interesting and important information.

This incident is reported in detail because it illustrates the kind consideration and helpfulness so common here. Everyone wants to know all that you, and in return answers all your questions and advice freely and sincerely. Everyone, including the darkies, speak to you on the street as your friend, and your equal. We reported the same conditions from Miami and expressed the opinion that the policy was adopted as a means of welcoming and encouraging tourists.

WATER SUPPLY

Rain-water is used here exclusively for drinking, cooking and cleaning purposes. The water falls on pure white roofs and runs into tanks. In colour it is as pure as crystal and tastes as nice as anyone would desire. It is the purest water in the world. Large roofs and homes have large tanks high up as supports which constitute their system of water works. The water runs from the roofs to underground tanks and is then pumped to the elevated larger tanks. Hamilton fire department have tanks all over the city. The fire risk is very slight due to the construction of the buildings and to the fact there are no heating systems of any kind anywhere. Cooking is done by electricity or coal-oil stoves.

As we have much more material on hand, we expect to write again in two or three days.

Best wishes to all.

Six Knights Created by King in Birthday List: 107 Canadians Honored

(Continued From Page 1)

munity or country had been recognized.

Also all parts of the Dominion His Majesty's honors extended this year. They ranged from Pacific to Japan where Hon. Herbert M. Marler, Canadian envoy and Minister Plenipotentiary for Japan resides. He was created a Knight Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

Duke Honored

They extended into Northern Ontario, and Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, missionary who was the physician of the Eskimo world by his care of the Eskimo-lived and world-famous "quints" found himself an Officer of the Order of the British Empire. A member of the Canadian Senate was made a Knight Bachelor.

Senate Has Two Knights

To Sir Thomas White, K.C.M.G., who headed Canada's Department of Finance during the difficult period of the Great War an added honor came to him in the list. He was promoted to be a Knight Grand Cross of the Order of St. Michael and St. George. The promotion does not carry with it any change in title—that is he remains "Sir Thomas" but his rank in the Order has been changed.

The nine men Knighthoods were conferred as follows:

E. W. Beatty, K.C., President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, made a Knight Grand Cross of the Order of the British Empire. This title carries with it the letters G.B.E. after the name. It was conferred upon Mr. Beatty for his public services during the war and in connection with education, and his philanthropic work.

Hon Herbert M. Marler, Canadian Minister to Tokyo, Knight Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George (K.C.M.G.).

Major General J. H. MacBrien Commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Knight Commander of the Order of the Bath (K.C.B.).

Dr. Arthur George Doughty, Dominion Archivist, Knight of the Order of the British mpire, (K.B.E.).

Sir Thomas Chapais, Quebec, Knight of Batchelor (Kt.).

E. Wyly Grier, Toronto, Knight of Bachelor (Kt.).

Ernest Campbell MacMillan, Dean of Music, Toronto University, Knight Bachelor (Kt.).

Dr. Charles G. D. Roberts, Toronto, Knight Bachelor (Kt.).

Literature Recognized

The recognition of literature, art and science is constantly in evidence through the list. Dr. Arthur George Doughty, Dominion archivist, is a writer and recognized authority on the lore of Canada. He is credited with building up the Canadian archives to a position of high standard. Thus through the list, it is evident, that His Majesty sought to recognize the literary, scientific and artistic.

Hamor, which has for years been among the most prominent in Canadian literature appears in the list. Rev. Charles W. Gordon, of Winnipeg, known all over Canada as well as in other countries as Ralph Connor," is one of these. The other is Mrs. L. L. M. Macdonald who as "L. M. Montgomery" has turned out book after book for the particular benefit and pleasure of Canadian girlhood. Charles G. D. Roberts, famous author of books and poems, was given a Knighthood.

The Boy Scout Association of Canada was honored by the award of an officership in the order of the British Empire to John A. Stills, of Ottawa, Chief Executive Commissioner of the Association in Canada. Similarly His Majesty honored the Chief Commissioner of the Girl Guides, who was made a Commander of the Order of the British Empire.

The list is the fourth, which has been issued since restoration of titles in Canada. The 107 awards comprised in the birthday list this year brings the total of all awards to date since 1904 up to 308, a total

Canadians Honored

(Continued from page one)

Charles William Gordon (Ralph Connor), Winnipeg; Hon. George Herbert Sedgewick, Ottawa; Harry Stevenson Southam, Ottawa; James Hlesmick Woods, Calgary; Simon James McLean, Ottawa.

Commander of the Order of the British Empire (civil) (Military Div.): Edward Johnson, New York; Merchant Mahoney, Washington; William Frank Matthews, Ottawa; Robert Edward McKechnie, Vancouver; Miss Helen Richmond Young Reid, Montreal; Mrs. Sarah Trumbull Warren, Ottawa; Frank Thomas Shutt, Ottawa; William Lesh Millar, Toronto; Col. Henry Campbell Osborne, Ottawa.

Commander of the Order of the British Empire (military division); Lt.-Col. Henry Willis O'Connor, Ottawa.

Officers British Empire

Officers of the Order of the British Empire (civil): Miss Mary Ellen Birtles, Alexander, Man.; Miss Mary Vivienne Burnham, Ottawa; Miss Minnie Julia Beatrice Campbell, Kingston; John Hewer-ford Campbell, Ottawa; Albert Chevalier, Montreal; Miss Rebecca Mary Cowan, Ottawa; Miss Agnes Roy Dafoe, Callander, Ont.; Fred-erick William Dixon, Victoria; David Merritt Duncan Victoria; Alfred Fitzpatrick Toronto; Miss Jane Anderson Fosberry, Montreal; D'Alton Victorian Germaine, Quebec; John Eckford Gow, Kingston; Edwin Austin Hardy, Toronto; Miss Sarah Emily Marvell, Ottawa; Mrs. Lucy Maude Montgomery Macdonald, Cavendish, Ont.; George Albert McKee, Ottawa; Miss Edith Dewis Pearson, Ottawa; Miss Mary Pinkham, Calgary; Arthur Melville Scott, Calgary; John Alexander Scott, Ottawa; Mrs. Jessie Mabel Stewart, Ottawa; Mrs. Agnes Dean Westley Thorburn, Ottawa.

Members of the Order of, the British Empire (civil): Albert Marin Belding St. John, N.B.; Richard Percy Brown, Wolfville, N.S.; Ray Brown, Ottawa; Mrs. Agnes Condie, Ottawa; Miss Williamina Alston Cook, Grand Forks, British Columbia; Miss Lena Viveine Morgan, Vernon, British Columbia; Mrs. Annie Charlotte Dalton, Vancouver; Mrs. Euphemie Logie Denton, Nipawin, Sask.; George Ferguson, Regina, Sask.; Isaac Pitblado, Winnipeg, Man.; Miss Ethel Alberta McClung, Calgary; Clement Peter Moore, Sydney, N.S.; Miss Kathleen O'Brien, Village Island, Albert Bay, British Columbia; Mrs. Harriet Osborne, Dawson City, Y.T.; Mrs. May Paul, Prince Albert, Sask.; Mrs. Bessie Rebecca Reynolds, Toronto; Mrs. Jane Rose, Vancouver; Miss Ella Saunders, Ottawa; George Simpson, Ottawa; Miss Hester Slater, Lachute, Que.; John Stevens, Ottawa; Miss Agnes Carter Stephens, Portage la Prairie, Man.; Miss Mary Ellen Charlotteown; Hannah Zelda Woods, Fredericton, N.B.; George Washington Yates, Toronto; Mrs. Elizabeth Jane Pericton Crombie, Ottawa; Elijah Harper, Edmonton).

Order of the British Empire (military): Commander Ronald Hugh Agnew, Halifax; Squadron Leader George Eric Brookes, Camp Borden; Major Edmund Louis Millard Burns, Ottawa.

Members of the Order of the British Empire (military): Master Gunner Herbert Collings, Esquimalt, British Columbia; Commissioned Victualling Officer Jonn Thomas Buckner Howse, Victoria, British Columbia; Warrant Officer Class Two Augustus Rayfield, Ottawa; Regimental Sergt.-Maj. George Rolfe, Halifax, Regimental Sergt.-Maj. John Wyatt, Kingston.

DEATHS OVER THE WEEK END

(By The Canadian Press)

Victoria: Robert Baird, 58, Deputy Minister of Provincial Secretary of British Columbia.

Montreal: Joseph Ignatius Power, 49, Liberal member of Quebec legislature since 1907 for Quebec west.

Toronto: R. S. Hudson, 75, editor for 30 years editor of the Oxford Journal.

Toronto: Henry Campbell Small, 62, member of Ontario Municipal Board since 1906.

At Sea: George W. Gorman, Deputy Minister of Education of Alberta.

Toronto: Rev. John Colliday Davis, 86, Superintendent of Young Street Mission.

Charlottetown, Va.: John Armstrong Chalmers, weakNy Minister of "Prairie Mills" of Abernarle County.

London: Sir Harold Boulton, 75, widely known in musical circles.

HALF PAIL WATER PUTS OUT FIRE

Chatham, Ont., June 3.—(CP)—Firemen with half a pail of water put out a smouldering woolpacking in Dr. Jackson's Jadies wear shop here but the smoke so damaged the stock the loss it is claimed, will run into several thousand dollars. Firemen discovered an electric iron left on, had burned through the ironing board to fall on the floor and continually burn through here.

WITH MIGHTY U.S. NAVY 'SOMEWHERE IN PACIFIC.

Battleships of the United States fleet as they appear from the deck of the U.S.S. California cutting their way "somewhere" through the Pacific in battle formation during the recent manoeuvres. The guns shown in the picture are in the two foreward turrets of the California. The ship's main armament consists of twelve 14-inch 50-calibre guns.

NEW LOW TIRE PRICES

$4.99 AND UP

30X3½

Firestone SENTINEL

Never before could you buy Firestone-made tires for so little as these Sentinels at new, reduced prices. Now every car owner can afford Firestone quality.

You take no chances with Sentinel tires—they are safe, dependable and long-wearing—each tire bears the Firestone name, which is a guarantee of satisfactory service.

Not only do these new low prices meet those of special brand tires, but your local Firestone dealer mounts the tire FREE and gives you the service that goes with them.

These prices are subject to change without notice. Take advantage of them to replace worn tires NOW. See the nearest Firestone Dealer today.

4.40/21 . . .	$6.35
4.50/21 . . .	6.95
4.75/19 . . .	7.75
5.00/19 . . .	8.40
5.25/18 . . .	9.40

Other Sentinel sizes proportionately low

Government tax included

For greatest value and service—

New Firestone HIGH SPEED

50% More Non-skid Mileage

—than any other previous Firestone tire.

2 EXTRA CORD PLIES UNDER THE TREAD —AT—NO EXTRA COST

MADE AND GUARANTEED BY

Firestone

HOLWAY BROS.

"TOOTS" and "BOUNCER"

Red Indian Service Stations

Belleville and Trenton

Phone 1998 Phone 170

"OUR BUSINESS ISN'T SELLING GAS IT'S KEEPING YOUR CAR ON THE ROAD"

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER
THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon except Sunday and Monday, and THE WEEKLY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER every Thursday, by The Ontario Intelligencer Printing Company, Limited, Belleville.

QUESTION OF HOLIDAYS

Holidays are near for many people and they are going to take them. But there are many to whom the summer means no holidays. In the planning of their lives holidays have not played a great part. They holiday at home, in the course of their lives having learned the art of being satisfied at home.

And yet there are others who do not take holidays, not from choice but because of lack of opportunity. There must be many mothers in Belleville who work in the home day and night the year through serving their families and allowing the families to have the holidays while they go without. Yet these self-sacrificing persons would enjoy a holiday as well as the others, if not more enough. It would help them but usually the lack of money stands in the way.

THE QUAKE IN INDIA

India's appalling suffering in the earthquake and in the wake of the disaster has aroused the sympathy and shocked the mind of the world. Between twenty and thirty thousand men and women and children were snuffed out in the rocking and yawning of the earth's surface and pestilence with inroads of [illegible] threats to the injured and the survivors in the northern section of the country dotted with villages, the habitations of which fell easily before the movements of earth's crustal mass.

Man now can only bring relief, though another quake might wipe out even the relief forces with the rest of the population of the stricken area. Man has exercised control over some of the forces of nature; he has harnessed the winds in a measure, made the tides serve his purposes, had mighty rivers for the production of light and heat and power, he has taken the unseen forces which guard the secret of radio and made them sit idle to dancing or call him to sleep or serve the aim of education, political and academic. He has built up a power of resistance and a fighting force which has almost wiped out certain diseases.

But he has not conquered the wind and the earthquake. The floods in time may give way before his control as he masters scientific discovery and invention, but it is unlikely that he will ever control the rocking of earth or the tempest or tornado. Under these latter counties lives pay the toll. Man may build to withstand certain shocks of earth but not a severe quake.

A writer in The London Advertiser says:

He has learned to protect himself against extremes of heat and cold and to some extent against the ravages of fire and of storms. But against sudden convulsions of the earth's surface such as occur in earthquakes he has little or no security largely because they happen with such extreme suddenness and are absolutely unpredictable. The reason that they exact such a tremendous toll of life is that they unloose so many other forces of destruction. Chief among these is the wrecking of homes and other buildings with the resulting heavy casualties among those caught in the falling ruin. In large cities the breaking of water and gas mains add to the danger, and widespread conflagrations all too often add to the horror of the catastrophe. In cities and towns on the coast the probability of a tidal wave has also to be reckoned with.

But more sinister even than all this is the fact that in certain of the isolated districts the twin specters of famine and pestilence will walk in the wake of the disaster. Great advances have been made in swiftly mobilizing medical and material aid for the victims of such tragedies. Modern communication facilities including the radio and the airplane have made it possible quickly to ascertain the extent of the calamity and to organize relief measures. Science by perfecting the seismograph has enabled centres all over the world to know immediately that an earthquake has occurred and its approximate location. But as yet we have no reliable means of getting advance notice as to when and where an earthquake is likely to happen. Possibly the time will come when scientists who are now giving intensive study to earthquakes may evolve instruments or learn to recognize signs which will foretell the likelihood of an earthquake in time to permit precautions against it to be taken.

In the meantime, all that people living in regions frequently visited by earth shocks can do is to continue experiments in the construction of buildings best calculated to resist quakes and to perfect as far as possible organization to deal with such catastrophies.

Have not the low thoughts of thyself. Th confidence a man hath of his being pleasant in his demeanor is a means whereby he infallibly cometh to be such. —Burton.

SIDELIGHTS

THE HOME FORUM

Edited by the wonder of the day, whose pearly and perennial leaves daily are strewed by the human hands that pass them, and whose fragrance is wafted by Time and Fate. — Suggested by The Longfellow.

EVEN IN HEAVEN

No man is happy long when tasks are done
And all his labors can be laid aside,
In spite of great reward to be may have won,
He honors do not keep him satisfied.
Still aspirations flutter in the heart.
(Wild wings caged in from their desires' white blaze)
Still undiminished essences impart
To all his thoughts the fragrance of old ways.

Since toil is then so sweet, why let it go,
Why part with this most tried, most trusted friend
As long as ever life's red tides can flow?
Why say, "Of dreams and hopes this is the end"?
It may be, if we dare face God and ask,
For rest in Heaven we shall have a task!

— Aline Michaelis.

x x x x

THIS IS THE KING'S BIRTHDAY, but we won't run away if they don't give us a holiday for we are still honouring good old Queen Vic by taking a holiday on her birthday, and incidentally our counterparts at the Old Swimming Hole are having their first dip of the season—the odd one perhaps, for we cannot help thinking that the lads of today are just a mite more serious-minded than the barefooted, reckless lads, now wearing crowns of white, or possibly bald spots, and may not relish the idea of starting the bathing season so soon. Perhaps we are wrong in the comparison but the higher education of today, carrying with it bad dreams, male and female to school—plenty bare legs, but bare feet, oh, horrors—watches going to wear to school tomorrow?

x x

The ghosts of rugged lads, red-headed, tow-headed, freckled and boasting of snow-white and coloured collections of birds' eggs, would scoff and pelt mud at some of the things youth affects nowadays, and the Tom Sawyers, Huckleberry Finns and Becky Thatchers seem woefully scarce these days, even south of the tracks where the lip stick, compact and other beauty aids are putting a heetic blush on some of Nature's finest handiwork, while the bare-legged shirt-and-pant lads of yesteryear are sporting two-pant suits, smoking mentholated cigarettes and conducting themselves like little gentlemen at school and elsewhere—as a whole.

x x

Yes, indeed, times have changed since Harold Sanders chased Charlie Dolan all the way home because his shirt ax badly that Harold never did get the knots out of it.

x x

Hope McGinnis can also tell some fine tales of great battles fought on the banks of the old swimming hole in the never forgotten world of yesterday when the lads were full of pep and their fists full of punch—and that goes for all the swimming holes between Stoney Lonesome and the farthest outpost Over the Hills of Hastings, as well as east and west, north and south—the whole world in fact of joyous youth in the days before motor cars and streamlined trains and airplanes—when the drowsy summer day marched along no faster and just as lazily as the hum of the bees, a fitting accompaniment to the deep content of life unhurried and unworried—life with a hearty, healthy appetite for almost anything, and a healthy outlook upon the life that is and is to be—back to the happy, carefree days of Tom Sawyer, Huckleberry Finn, Becky Thatcher and all the other players so well portrayed by Mark Twain.

x x x

DRINKING DRIVERS MUST GO TO JAIL, according to the law just passed by the Federal Parliament at Ottawa. Conviction of intoxication while driving a motor car will mean imprisonment as well as the way out of it. Parliament means to put a crimp in these joy-riders whose idea of fun is a quart of whiskey to each gallon of gas.

SOBER DRIVERS, some of them, are reckless enough to endanger life and limb and the cars of others, but alcohol inspired drivers are filled with madness of speed and recklessness, and more to be feared than mad dogs.

x x

"This lovely shot of water must be a great asset for the town," said the visitor. "Do you people get much good out of it?"

"We certainly do," replied the native. "Last winter we got an appropriation to deepen it. That came under the rivers and harbors bill. This spring we get another appropriation to drain it. That will come under the mosquito-control act. We now have hopes to get a third appropriation to plant trees on it to keep down the dust."

REVOLT IN THE DESERT

by

T. E. LAWRENCE

So they fell back from the level plains and beaches, into the hills of their own tribal lands, while Ali and Feisal and messenger after messenger down to Rabegh to find out what was happening, to learn when fresh stores and money and arms might be expected. The revolt had begun handicapped, on their father's explicit orders, and Ali, the old man, long before he left his home in Mecca, had not worked out with them any arrangements for postponing it. So the reply was only a little food, a few score Arab mercenary rifles, most of them broken, were received. Such a force, even if the whole were as foul that the to-and-fro Arabs burnt them on the first trial. No stores, no money at all; to take its place Feisal filled a depleted chest with sovereigns, embodied and corded carefully, guarded on each daily march by his own camels, and introduced meticulously into his tent each night. By such theatrics the Turks were made to hold a wasting force.

At last Ali went down to Rabegh to inquire what was wrong with the organization. He found there Sir Reginald Wingate, the local chief, had made up his mind that the Turks would be victorious in the end, and in consultance with them Ismail himself had sent the word to Ali. So, unconfidingly decided there was the best course for him to take. Ali swore by the Sheriff were landed by the British he appropriated them and stored them away secretly in his own house. All made a demonstration against the Egyptians and spies for his half-brother held to him from them the Turkish movements. Hussein, in fear, slipped off to the hills, an outlaw. The Egyptian officers took possession of the village. In them they found great stores of arms, more than enough for their armies for a year. Ali's treachery was the cause of [illegible] ease was too much for them: they settled down in Rabegh.

The left Feisal alone up country, and his men found himself isolated in a hollow situation, driven to depend upon his native resources. He knew this by a time, but in August took advantage of the visit of Col. Wilson to Jeddah to send messages to Yenbo, to come down and give a full explanation of the situation. Wilson was impressed with him and with his story, and at once placed him and a battery of mountain guns and some machine guns, manned by men and officers of the Egyptian garrison in the Soudan. The expedition was the work of Nuri Shaalan and his suite.

The Arabs rejoiced when their came, and believed they were now the equals of the Turk; two of the guns were twenty-year-old Krupps with a range of only three thousand yards; and their gunners were of meager enough in brain and spirit for irregular fighting. However they went forward with the men and drove in the Turkish outposts, and then their supports, until Fakri becoming seriously alarmed, came down himself to command in front, and at once reinforced the threatened detachments. So far so bad to some three thousand gunners. The Turks had field guns with them, wisely with them, and the added advantage of high ground for observation. They had not reckoned the Arabs by indirect fire, and nearly dropped a shell on Feisal's tent while all the band met were entertaining him to lunch. The gunners were asked to redeem a fire and succeeded after many efforts to plead that their weapons had broken, since they could not reach the Arab camp. They were decided: and the Arabs ran back into the hollow.

Feisal was deeply discouraged. He had not been tired. He had lost nearly all his only effective tactics against the enemy had been to charge in close upon their rear by fast mounted charges, and many camels had been killed, wounded or worn out in these expensive manoeuvres. He returned to carrying the whole war upon his own neck while attending to Mecca, and sent for Lawrence to Rabegh. Finally he withdrew the bulk of his forces, leaving Abdulla-ibn-Jilhwi to keep up pressure on the Turkish supply columns in communication by a repeated series of such raids as those which he himself found impossible to maintain.

Yet he had no fear that the Turks would again come down against him suddenly. His failure had given him impression on them had not imbued him with the same overwhelming fear. His retirement to Hamra was not forced, it was a gesture of disgust, and when he left Rabegh it was with vicious impudence and was determined to make his force a thing of dignity of rest.

Lawrence had what his plans were now. He said that till Medina fell they were inevitably tied down to Rabegh as a base, and to Yenbo in time. In his opinion the Turks would not attack Rabegh or Mecca. The bulk of their strength lay in the middle area, and they could move towards Rabegh by a choice of routes which kept them in touch with Medina. A successful defence of the Sobh hills would cover Yenbo, and Medina also as passive resistors. When Medina surrendered, Yenbo must be countered by an offensive.

Meanhed, who had sat fidgeting throughout, now broke in: "Medina is no longer restrain himself and cried out, "Then I write a history of it. The needful thing is to fight and kill them. Give me to a battery of machine-guns, and one-time guns, and one-time guns, and I will finish this war in a day. Then we can get on to do nothing." I replied as warmly; and Meshed, a magnificent fighter who regarded a battle even as a personal duel, and a duel in which person wound to prove his part in it, took me up. We wrangled while [illegible] by and pressed delight-edly as we.

The talk had been for him a holiday. He was encouraged by the signals of my coming for he was a man of moods, flickering between glory and despair, and just now despair. He was [illegible] more than thirty-one; and his dark, aquiline nose, a little sharp in his face, were bloodshot, and his hollow cheeks greatly lined, and puckered with reflection. His nature grudged thinking, for it originally [illegible] in action: the labor of it shrivelled his features into [illegible] pain. His appearance [illegible] was tall, graceful and vigorous, with the most beautiful part, and a royal dignity of head and shoulders. Of course he knew it, and a great deal of the [illegible] expression was by sign and gesture.

TO BE CONTINUED

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

JUNE 2ND, 1910

The Rev. R. C. Blagrave, rector of Christ Church, has been informed that his health has been accepted by the Synod of Huron, which means that he will be admitted to the degree of D. D. next fall.

Mr. Harry A. Thompson of this city who was appointed electrical engineer for the city some time ago, has had his [illegible] appointed by the Public Utilities Commission. His territory now comprises from Port Hope to Deseronto and from Campbellford to Picton.

Fire destroyed a barn yesterday in the rear of Thompson's Bros. grocery store on Front street. The fire brigade, under Chief Brown did excellent work in preventing the flames from spreading to Thompson Bros' main premises on Front street. However, the fire gained hold upon a building adjoining, owned by the Dominion Canning Company as a storage place for matériaux. Much damage was done to the building also some damage was done to the rear part of Huffman & Kerr Stove Company's establishment.

30 Years Ago

JUNE 2ND, 1900

The performance put on by the Belleville Amateur Minstrels in aid of St. Michael's Church building fund was one of the most successful and entertaining given over presented by that organization. Thinad was the first night and there was plenty of good singing and [illegible] the opening [illegible] new and some of them were so old that most people had forgotten them. The audience, however, was treated to two hours and a half of solid enjoyment. The manager, Harry Millman, deserves a bouquet for the way he got the show on. Everything went well balanced and pleasing to listen to. As usual the audience was late in coming and it was a long time to wait the dishes after tea), and it was nearly nine o'clock when the curtain went up and Mr. Mackie, the interlocutor, requested the gentlemen to be seated. On the tambourine ends were Messrs. Sinclair, Doyle and George Jones. On the ends were Messrs. George Dunegan, Jack Gordanier and "Doc" Trivisich. In the circle were A. Levis, Jr., Bert Hall, Frank Hall, Wilson, E. Foster, C. Vandervoort, W. Wessel, E. Hall, F. F. Sprague, N. L. Ingram, C. J. Pepper, R. Foster, C. McMullen, J. Mackie, R. Thompson, H. Littlewood, J. Mogquig, A. Spangenberg and A. Pearce. The orchestra consisted of Miss Mabel McIntosh and Messrs. Hall, Bell, Hall, Brickman, J. Dennark, R. Bland, J. Weese and F. Andrews. The opening chorus was rendered by "Sandy" Burrows sang a pretty song entitled "Sweet Kate" in a most popular style. Jack Gordanier warbled about "A Dark Brick House on a Corner," which evidently pleased the audience, as he was loudly encored on encore. Ned Hembrem sang "Summer Time in Dixie" which in a very pleasing style indeed, the chorus being delightful. Milly Doyle sang in a pleasing way a dainty ballad who went for a ride on the back of a crocodile. Next came "South Southern Skies" which was very well rendered by Percy Mitchell. He was warmly applauded. George Jennings sang a topical song "Near to" which was full of local hits and was hugely enjoyed by the audience. He was followed by W. Hutchison whose musical voice was heard to great advantage in "I'm Leading Per Sweetheart, Sweet". Ab Wheeler came next with a coon song "Shame on You". Ab had evidently been sleeping with his whiskers for he had a bad cold. However, he was just as lively as ever and capered around like a colt. The first part closed with a base solo, "Good Night, Beloved," by Jack Hayes, whose rich voice was never heard to better advantage. The side was opened by Billy Doyle who recalled a few jokes and sang a song in good style. Next came Mackie and Wheeler in an old time song and dance which was received "Out of sight." The two comedians performed in a way which called to mind the shows we used to see in the 70's, while the audience fairly shouted with glee. It was sadly the best turn of the evening. Mackie and Wheeler make a great team. They should certainly be trotted out as one of the features for the Old Boys' Reunion. The next turn was a musical specialty by Henry Potts who played the mouth organ, and did it stingle all at once. It was a very pleasing number. A mandolin trio followed and C. Dolan, Roy Walters and T. Lelly showed considerable skill in clever figures. Ab Wheeler's monologue, as usual made a big hit. Dave Doyle with a clog in good style and the performance closed with "Sweet Dixie" which was very well put on. The performance was a good one and deserved the liberal patronage which it received.

40 Years Ago

JUNE 3RD, 1890.

Mr. Sidney Dafoe of this city spent a few days in Napanee recently on the 24th of Carnival.

Congratulations to Mr. John Hutchinson, who left here in Ireland on June 1st, 1807 and came to Belleville in 1832, and is today a highly respected member of the community with prospects of several years of usefulness.

Military Notes: 16th Prince Edward Battalion, No. 6 Company —To be Captain. James Lyons Biggar, Esq., from the retired list of officers, vice Brevet-Colonel Gilkison, 49th Hastings Battalion, No. 4 Company—To be Lieutenant. Lieutenant John Wesley Blair is permitted to retire. To be 2nd Lieutenant provisionally. Richard Cross, vice Blair retired.

Belleville revenue at Belleville during the last fiscal year was $183,621.

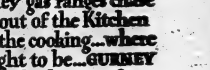
Mr. W. Y. Mikel of Buffalo is in town on a short visit.

50 Years Ago

JUNE 3RD, 1885

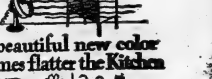
The young alligator which was recently presented to Mr. F. F. Potts of this city by a friend from near Cape Coast Castle, Africa, has come to Mr. Joseph Caldwell, who had provided a tank for his alligatorship in his dental office. The alligator is three years old and is quite lively.

The Ivy Boat is being touched up with a coat of paint.



No. 2 Independent Hose Company is going to Napanee on the 15th inst. to take part in a celebration in that town.

Mr. W. A. Jeffrey of Seville, Ont., is in town and is the guest of Capt. Shem.



The first club meeting of the Belleville Lacrosse Club will be held this evening at 8 o'clock. The club will start from the year at 7 P. M. sharp and all who wish to join the starting point on time may expect to be left behind.

Gurney gas ranges chase heat out of the Kitchen into the cooking...where it ought to be...GURNEY ranges look cool.....

the beautiful new color schemes flatter the Kitchen new conveniences add to the pleasure of cooking....Come in and see the new GURNEY line 2, 3 & 4 burner models. EASY PRICES...We welcome you at any Time.....

JOHN LEWIS COMPANY

265 FRONT ST. PHONE 2360

Here you are!...Genuine Goodyear Speedway Tires at new low prices . . . prices lower than Goodyear Tires have ever before been sold at . . . prices right down at "bargain" levels.

You know about the tough, long-wearing Goodyear tread . . . Speedways have it! You know the revolutionary Goodyear Supertwist Cord construction—Speedways have it. You know the written Goodyear guarantee against road-hazards as well as defects—Speedways have that too. And just look at the prices. Come in now. Immediate service.

Baker's Service
3 DUNDAS STREET. PHONE 666

GOODYEAR PRICES REDUCED

Obituary

MRS. EMILY A. SWORD

A former resident of Belleville passed away at Toronto on Monday, June 10, in the person of Mrs. Emily Ann Sword, widow of Arthur Sword. She had been in failing health for some time.

The late Mrs. Sword was born in Ameliasburg, 79 years ago last June, being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mc. Clute. After marrying in Belleville for some years, when she lived with her husband, who predeceased her by 40 years, she went to make her home in Toronto. Deceased was also the wife of the late Mr. Sword, who was a member of the firm of John Ayres and a woman of most estimable character.

Surviving her are five sons, Arthur Sword, Toronto; David Sword, Toronto; James Sword, Oakville; Malcolm Sword, Toronto; Arthur Sword, Toronto; one daughter, Mrs. W. E. Campbell.

The late Mrs. Flint, who was in her 82nd year, was the eldest daughter of the late Major Caswell and Mrs. Caswell, who for many years were most highly esteemed and prominent residents of Belleville.

Surviving her are one daughter, Mrs. W. E. Campbell, Toronto; one son, Mr. Thomas R. C. Flint, Toronto; two sisters, Mrs. Alex Ray and Miss Alma Caswell, Belleville.

The funeral took place this Monday morning and interment was made in the Caswell family plot in Belleville Cemetery.

MRS. ALSINA PALMER

After a lengthy illness Mrs. Alsina Palmer, wife of Mr. Sidney Palmer, passed away at the home of her son-in-law, Arthur Palmer, Camnitton, on Sunday, June 2nd.

The late Mrs. Palmer who was in her 87th year, was born in Thurlow township, the parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. Courtland Dover. For many years she resided in Corbyville and for the past fifteen years she had made her home in Camnitton. She was a woman of fine character and a member of the United Church at Camnitton, being highly esteemed by many friends.

Surviving to mourn her death are two daughters, Mrs. James Turney, Belleville; Mrs. Arthur Bridges, Forget, Sask.; three sons, James Palmer, Rochester, N.Y.; Arthur Palmer, Camnitton; Arthur Palmer, Camnitton; one half sister, Mrs. Dennison, Mrs. W. E. Campbell.

The late Mrs. Flint, who was in her 82nd year, was the eldest daughter of the late Major Caswell and Mrs. Caswell, who for many years were most highly esteemed and prominent residents of Belleville.

Surviving her are one daughter, Mrs. W. E. Campbell, Toronto; one son, Mr. Thomas R. C. Flint, Toronto; two sisters, Mrs. Alex Ray and Miss Alma Caswell, Belleville.

The funeral took place this Monday morning and interment was made in the Caswell family plot in Belleville Cemetery.

MRS. ALSINA PALMER

After a lengthy illness Mrs. Alsina Palmer, wife of Mr. Sidney Palmer, passed away at the home of her son-in-law, Arthur Palmer, Camnitton, on Sunday, June 2nd.

The late Mrs. Palmer who was in her 87th year, was born in Thurlow township, the parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. Courtland Dover. For many years she resided in Corbyville and for the past fifteen years she had made her home in Camnitton. She was a woman of fine character and a member of the United Church at Camnitton, being highly esteemed by many friends.

Surviving to mourn her death are two daughters, Mrs. James Turney, Belleville; Mrs. Arthur Bridges, Forget, Sask.; three sons, James Palmer, Rochester, N.Y.; Arthur Palmer, Camnitton; Arthur Palmer, Camnitton; one half sister, Mrs. Dennison, Mrs. W. E. Campbell.

LATE WILLIAM E. SCHUSTER

There was a very large attendance of friends and representative citizens at the funeral of William E. Schuster which took place Saturday afternoon from his late residence, 140 George street. The service in the home and at the graveside in Belleville Cemetery was conducted by the Rev. J. S. McMillen, pastor of the United Church City Mission, Dundas Street, of which the late Mr. Schuster's parents, were the founders, assisted by the Rev. Dr. E. N. Baker. The bearers were Messrs. J. A. Thomson, J. S. McKeown, William Bird, Joseph O. Tice, F. S. Deacon and A. P. Allen.

LATE MRS. ARCHIE MURRAY

The funeral of Mrs. Archie Murray took place from the family residence, 101 Carrollton Road, Saturday morning to St. Michael's Church, where Requiem Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Collins, who conducted also the committal service at the graveside in St. James' Cemetery.

The bearers were Messrs. R. Davidson, F. Barrett, J. Alexander, H. Lisle, F. Daly and V. Pallant.

LATE WILLIAM A. MARTIN

Saturday afternoon, the funeral of William Albert Martin took place from his late residence in the 9th concession of Thurlow to St. Andrew's United Church at Gilead, where an impressive service was conducted by the Rev. W. R. Maderick of the Carrollton United Church, who conducted also the service at the graveside in St. Andrew's Cemetery, Thurlow township. There was a very large attendance of friends and the floral tributes were numerous and beautiful.

The bearers were Messrs. Owen Robbins, Wesley Badgley, Wilmot Clare, Ernest Dawson, S. Corkey and Wesley Bradshaw.

STANFORD J. GORMAN

After a very brief illness, Stanford James Gorman passed away at the Belleville General Hospital, Saturday evening, June 1st. He had been in poor health for his usual state of health Friday morning when attending to his duties in the offices of the Canadian National Railway. Friday evening he entered the hospital and passed away the following evening.

The late Mr. Gorman was born in Belleville 38 years ago, being the youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gorman, who for many years were well known and highly esteemed residents of this city. All his life was passed in Belleville and he was esteemed and popular with many friends and with the management and his fellow employees in the railway offices, by whom his sudden passing is greatly regretted. He was a devout member of St. Michael's Church and fraternally he was a member of the Knights of Columbus.

Surviving to mourn his death are one sister, Mrs. Alex. Brenner, Belleville; three brothers, Thomas Gorman, John Gorman and Henry Gorman all of Toronto.

SARAH E. VAN MANICOM

In Toronto on Sunday, June 2, Sarah Emily Van Manicom passed away at the home of her sister, Mrs. R. A. Tubbs. Interment will be made in Wicket's Cemetery, near Trenton, on Tuesday afternoon.

CHEESE SALES

Alexandria, June 3.—At the meeting of the Alexandria Cheese Board there were 238 boxes white and 242 boxes colored. total 479 boxes cheese boarded. All sold at 9 2-16c to Wert Bros., Hodgson, Rowan, Buyers present: Wert for Hodgson, Rowan, McCrae for Ayer, Fraser for Hodge, Dever for Lovell and Christmas.

Lansdowne, June 3.—At meeting of the Lansdowne Cheese Board there were 81 boxes and 279 colored boarded. All sold at 9 2-16 cents. Buyers present: Dea.

Cornwall, June 3.—At the meeting of the Cornwall Cheese Board there were 225 boxes white and 387 colored boarded. White sold at 9 15-16 cents, colored sold at 10 cents. Usual buyers present.

Delta, June 3.—At the meeting of the Delta Cheese Board there were 273 boxes colored and 126 boxes white cheese, total 514 boxes, boarded. All sold at 9 2-4 cents to Taylor, Buyers present: Gemmell, Brown, Taylor, Osmond and Dool.

Vankleek Hill, June 3.—At the meeting of the Vankleek Hill Cheese Board, there were 32 boxes white and 168 boxes colored cheese boarded. All sold at 9 2-4 cents to Taylor. Buyers present: Osmond, Taylor, Beckett, and Beedman.

Perth, June 3.—At the meeting of the Perth Cheese Board there were 167 boxes white and 194 boxes colored cheese boarded. All sold at 9 2-4 cents to Taylor. Buyers present: Osmond, Taylor, Beckett, and Beedman.

Picton, June 3.—At the meeting of the Picton Cheese Board there were 80 boxes colored and 18 boxes white cheese boarded. All sold at 9 1-2 cents.—Con.

Casselman, June 3.— At the meeting of the Casselman Cheese Board there were 267 boxes colored cheese boarded. All sold at 9 2-4 cents to Taylor. Buyers present: Ayer and Hodgson Rowan.

EXPLAINS PLACE OF MEMORIALS WITHIN CHURCH

Rev. G. G. Wright Speaks of Memorials in Sanctuary

Place of memorials in the Christian church was the subject of the morning sermon by Rev. Christ Church by the Rev. G. G. Wright, rector, the theme having been prompted by the dedication and rededication of two beautiful sanctuary memorials unveiled one week ago. After expressing gratitude to the donors and extending a word of praise in perpetuating the memory of those who had gone, the preacher said that every person desired to leave a memorial of his or her passage through life, something to show that some contribution had been made to life for the sake and benefit of others.

"The whole Christian Church is a memorial," he said. "The Holy Communion is a memorial itself to all save of the life and death of Jesus. Sunday is a memorial day to mark the Resurrection. So there is nothing remarkable in a church building being regarded as the proper place for memorials. The history of churches in Canada, it is held by many, shows there are many treasured memorials—beautify the place of worship as well as memorialize former members."

Mr. Wright pointed out that memorials are free of all dedicated "to the Glory of God".

Reference was made to the Puritanic movement in the Old Land which discouraged the placing of memorials as soldiers went about hacking the priceless carvings and figures in churches obsessed with the idea of the sternness and austerity of God in their mind.

The rector impressed the thought of the value of the memorial and referred to the Dunlap Observatory in Toronto which is a memorial to a great citizen. He stressed the permanency of memorials for all time.

"Our general church architecture is patterned on the divinely given pattern of the Jewish tabernacle as outlined in the Old Testament and which the Master built upon as designed by God, holding it not as man's work but God's work for a specific purpose in worship. The Holy of Holies resembles our sanctuary, the Holy Place our chancel, our choir and chancel and the general body of the tabernacle something like our nave".

Speaking of the Knights Mr. Wright said the Hebrews did not burn candles but used seven lamps filled with olive oil and the seven being regarded as a number of perfection.

The rector expressed the hope that the memorials of the highest of all to Christ for memorials must first of all be of service to God. "I hope the beauty of the high standards will remind others that they are to do likewise, so that the church may be a constant and living reminder of God, those who have labored here for God".

OPERATION REQUIRED

LONDON, June 3.—(CP-Havas)—The Princess Royal, Mary, only daughter of the King and Queen, entered a hospital today for an operation which was described as "slight". The nature of the operation is to be performed however, was not ascertained.

561,984

London Life Policies in Canada!

More and more, the public recognizes the outstanding service rendered by this Company to those who hold its policies.

London Life Insurance Company

Consult a London Life representative

District Offices
17 Bride St., E., Belleville

Model 7DGT 4-Door Touring Sedan Illustrated

"I TOOK YOUR ADVICE AND BOUGHT A DODGE"

THE OWNERS of the New-Value Dodge are its most enthusiastic salesmen. They recommend Dodge cars to you because they have experienced the lasting satisfaction of Dodge ownership.

With summer sunshine calling you out-of-doors there is a constant temptation to get behind the wheel of a car like this. That temptation becomes a revelation when you discover that the new Dodge abounds with power and then realize how little gasoline and oil it takes to run this big car.

You ride smoothly over every sort of road because the New-Value 9 Dodge has scientific weight distribution, super resilient springs of mola steel, and a new front stabilator.

You realize at once that the New-Value Dodge is a big car, with more room inside the sale, all-steel body, and more comfort for every passenger on the wide chair-height seats.

You steer, change gears, and operate the new "feather touch" clutch with effortless ease.

Dodge time-tested hydraulic brakes give you complete control. You stop smoothly and as rapidly as you wish, with no trace of swerving, no chance of "locking" or "grabbing". They are always equal in action on all four wheels.

Before you choose any car let's See the New-Value Dodge... Compare its quality features with other cars of the same price and higher... Then prove its extra value in a road road test.

NEW-VALUE DODGE

"DV" Coupe Delivered in Belleville $877

224 Pinnacle St. RIGGS MOTOR SALES Phone 116

BECOME WISE AS A READER OF CHARACTER

Being Able to Read Character is Aid to Success

By Louis E. Bisch, M.D., Ph.D. Famous Authority on Health and Psychology

(Copyright 1935 King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

It is essential that every individual be able to read human character as accurately as possible. The insight which we are able to muster in sizing up other men and women determines to a large degree our success and happiness.

Certain persons are born with a knack for reading character. But even these may go far astray in their judgments unless their natural powers are strengthened by the study of character traits and peculiarities, are checked and verified by scientific methods.

The trouble you see, is that we all have a decided weakness in this business of character reading. We like some persons; we dislike others. To some we are indifferent. And when we like them we don't want to believe anything bad about them. We would rather live in illusions of the true facts of their character.

Therefore we find employers seizing upon applicants for jobs who, from past experience, will not make good. Girls marry men such men become some trait, such as a winning smile, the way they handle the baby, or their attitude toward trivially appeals to them.

Men and women marry for similar reasons. A girl may fall in love with a man looks well in evening clothes or because he excels at oars at a dance. Man have married women who are more famous than they were attractive dressers or had fine eyes or could swim well.

Workers in offices, sometimes are willing to accept less in a certain place because the boss has a pleasant greeting for everyone in the morning. It is really astonishing what small things sway us, often to our own detriment, from our best interests.

These are, however, certain clear-marked types of men and women that bear easy reading. Don't take too much for granted from the man or woman who doesn't talk much. Silence may be sure of the things such persons may be planning. Be suspicious of those who talk too much—excessive talk often covers deficiencies.

People who have no confidence in themselves are probably suffering from some inferiority ideas; they don't make very reliable partners. Persons who are over-repressed—it is not natural to be too contained. Spontaneity of emotional expression is safer to bank on than its opposite.

Beware of lavish spenders and spendthrifts. They belong in the "show-off" class; they feel they have to make an impression with money because they usually have little else with which to make an impression.

The bigoted individual who is forever denouncing others and thereby raising his own moral stock also bears watching. Over-zealous reformers are fundamentally changeable, their eagerness to revolutionize existing conditions and systems of religion, politics or government is an index of their stability or lack of it in the methods of work.

These are but a few suggestions in character-reading. You can train yourself and become quite expert simply by observing closely and checking up on your findings.

NELLIE SMITH

JUNE CLEARANCE SALE

YOU CAN TAKE OUR WORD FOR IT

We are not quoting any prices in this advertisement—we ask you to come in and discover what remarkable values are obtainable in this sale.

SILK SUITS
ENSEMBLES
PRINTED DRESSES
EVENING GOWNS
FLOWERED CHIFFONS
WASHABLE PASTELS
SPORT DRESSES
KNITTED SUITS

There are many other items—things you need for now and for vacation wear—come early and make your selection.

NELLIE SMITH

KRESGE BLDG. (Upstairs) MIA FRONT ST.

DR. HECK'S DAILY DIET HINT

Both men and women often worry about increase of weight after middle life. It is unwise, however, for such persons to indulge in violent exercise for purposes of reducing, as the strain on the heart and other tissues is too great. Mild exercise is to be recommended as well as a slight reduction in the total daily food consumption.

Police News

Local police were quite busy over the week-end attending to numerous minor matters that were reported. Jack Holley, local plumber, reported the theft of a large quantity of lead and brass from his premises, 379 Front street. The goods were stolen from a rear workshop. Eight new brass valves and over fifty pounds of lead was included in the loot. A hand saw, axe and shingle hatchet were also taken by the robbers some time over the week-end. Local police are endeavoring to locate the stolen property.

Lillie Douglas Green, age eight, of 189 John street, was bitten twice by a large dog while playing on Pinnacle street on Saturday. The little fellow was taken to a nearby physician's office where medical attention was needed. The police informed the owner of the canine the dog must either be secured on a leash and kept in confinement or destroyed.

Reposing at the police station is a bicycle recently found abandoned by the police. Also the frame of a bicycle and an automobile tire gone that were found abandoned at the rear of a Front street business site, await their respective owners. Two bicycles were arrested on Saturday, appearing in court today to have their cases enlarged 24 hours.

Ontario Postmasters Meet Here 17, 18, 19

The annual convention of the Ontario Branch of the Canadian Postmasters' Association will be held at Belleville, Ontario, on the 17th, 18th and 19th of June.

Postmasters at revenue offices desiring to attend the convention may obtain leave of absence by making application to the District Director or to the District Superintendent, as the case may be, provided arrangements are made to leave competent assistants in charge during their absence.

Fur Storage!

Just a PHONE 421 Woodley's FURRIERS

Personals

Miss Katherine Bailey, Toronto, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Bailey.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Crowe, Mrs. Frank Farley and Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Farley, all of Toronto, were among the out-of-town guests at the Orrin-McCrea wedding in Toronto on Saturday.

Mr. Gerald Fyfe, assistant stock-keeper at Sellers, Limited, has been moved to Belleville, and is taking up his new duties today. Mr. Fyfe is a brother of Mrs. O. D. Tice.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Wagner of Rochester, N.Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Miles Thomas and daughter Betty, of Rochester, have returned home after visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. Higgs, West Bridge Street, parents of Mrs. Wagner and Mrs. Thomas.

Miss Margaret Lee and Miss Helen Trumbley are among those who will receive diplomas at the graduating exercises of St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, which will be held tomorrow evening. Miss Margaret Lee has won the Starnes prize for proficiency in emergency and surgical nursing.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Stevens of Ottawa are in the city owing to the sudden death of Mr. Stevens' brother-in-law, the late Mr. Wilmot.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bradshaw of Toronto, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bradshaw, Everett Street.

Mr. Jack Ackerman, Toronto, is spending the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Ackerman.

Dean paid the town square, where on Saturday night the Odd Fellows' band played — how long there she had listened to it, strolling with Molly and a couple of other admirers. The red brick Hooper Block, with the sun glancing on the gold-tint letters on the window which told that Mr. Hooper was the law office of Weaver and Weaver, attorneys at Law.

Dean stopped from the sunny street into the dusky coolness of the office, and climbed the narrow stairs. . . . And found herself remembering how Jim Weaver, when he was imposing in Riverton, had asked her, and how the thought of going up to Weaver's office had never turned her white. She felt a little sick at it now. . . . Remembering young Jim which had been her own choice, and remembering that pitiful child had died—that remembering young self.

The office of Norman and his father was at the head of the flight of stairs. A white plastered hall, by varnished room, furnished in mahogany-and-leather fashion and with the sharp odour of tobacco from which she walked. Two doors led from it. One was labelled Lloyd Weaver. The other, Mr. Norman Weaver.

At the sound of her entrance, a second door opened and a stenographer looked inquiringly out. A pretty girl with mousy colored hair, and a dress with many colors.

"I am Mrs. Cameron." Joyce began hesitantly, "I don't know if you see me —Mr. Lloyd Weaver——"

"Joyce! Well . . . well . . . Joyce!" Norman came into the hall, his pleasant face reddening, brushing the little stenographer aside, and seized Joyce's hands.

"Well, Norman——"

up at him, entirely cool, sweetly composed in the way of women who grow more busy drinking each other in.

Again half humorous dismay stole into Norman's face. What were life's high moments if a woman could so flatten them! At one time they had thought of marrying. Weaver could turn her white with emotion, and Norman, regarding him critically.

Norman was still good looking, but not quite as good looking as he had been. Something of the shine was gone from his radiant good looks. A slight coarsening of the features—hardening of youthful tenseness gone from his body . . . but still strangely enough, for a breath of time, Joyce found herself thinking of Jim Keith. Jim was handsome, the quick glance of him; a dear chap.

But there was no doubt that she had bowled Norman over. His eyes widened. A little flush stole under his skin.

"Joyce . . . I can't get over it. I knew you were coming, of course . . . I meant to get in touch with you; but seeing you——Joyce——" Norman's voice, of self-possession, stumbled.

He meant to come down to see your father about my affairs. You know, of course, that he handled all of Weaver's business matters. Roger wanted me to get in touch with him."

Joyce's matter-of-factness gave Norman a measure of self-possession. It had not been easy for Norman to consider this meeting when he learned Joyce was returning to the town. Slightly embarrassing, to meet the girl to whom he had made casual love—the girl who ran away from town on his account—and had now returned rich and cultured, and altogether lovely.

"Of course . . . of course——" Norman nervously fingered the papers he was holding, "father will be back . . . that is, he isn't down today—but I expect him. Anyway I'll call him and tell him you're here."

"Oh, don't disturb him, please!" Joyce interrupted quickly, "tomorrow will do just as well. I should have telephoned, but I wanted to surprise him."

"No, please don't so! Father would be glad to see you. Please come on in and talk to me until he gets here. Miss Bailey," turning to the little stenographer who had been lolking at Joyce with frank admiration, "that will be all for the present. I'll finish dictating later." Then to Father on the phone and tell him Mrs. Cameron is here to see him."

The girl went out. Norman's private office, the adoring look Miss Bailey had given him, seemed to have lost on Joyce. It was very apparent that his pallid little stenographer was in love with him; her good looking young employer, who could give her a position in a newly sophisticated Joyce, it was apparent to Joyce, Norman made no encouraged the hopeless worship because it tickled his vanity.

As the door closed Norman made a clumsy little movement to capture Joyce's hands.

"Joy, if you could know what it means to me to see you again!"

Joyce did not draw her hand away, only looked at him with quiet, steel veiled eyes and that fellow who was visiting up at the house.

"You're lovely," he said thickly, "and you don't need me to tell you that, I know. And I suppose you're going to make it just as difficult for me as you will."

TILLING THE EMBERS
Chapter 44

Joyce gave a cool little laugh, and Norman flushed at the sound.

"Difficult? What do you mean——"

"You know what I mean. I was on the defensive. "I always felt——even our unexpected——I'm not going away, Joyce——"

Norman was not quite interpret the expression of those deep blue eyes. "Why, no, of course," she said slowly. "I can't think why I left town. Just discontentment, I suppose. And I've never had a talk with Roger. He's adopted a little girl who I suppose will be easier to get work——"

Weaver's pride as she spoke, and she knew it. Rather flattering to a young man looking rather fatuous that a pretty girl left town through fear of him. It was the first definite feeling guilty about it. But the years in Riverton, and the pretty, ardent girl was very different from this lovely lady who looked levelly back at him with quiet eyes. He found himself feeling blundering and found, too, that he would give anything in the world to have her look at him as she had done once.

"You are not married, Norman . . . you are not married, Norman," she was shifting the conversation from herself. "Miss Bailey thought you would marry Natalie."

His handsome face was a little sulky. "You don't mind disposing of me, do you! That was only idle stuff——"

"Like our own affair," she said smoothly.

Norman looked at her searchingly. Joyce had not been angry.

"There never was anyone else but you, Joy——" he said in a lower tone. "You were—were such a sweet little kid . . . Oh—he made an impatient gesture, "after you left I thought I'd go mad looking young employer. We could——" in his confusion. "Sheer selfish—not sweet—the way you were——"

Something of the old bitterness touched Joyce at that. No, Natalie would never have lavished the dreams and the love on this self-sufficient young man. Natalie was other tragic young Joyce had given out.

"And, anyway—" Norman was still speaking, "Natalie's gone off deep end about that fellow who was Joyce turned her back on him at that. Walked to the window and stood for a moment looking over Main Street and the town square.

Sixteen, her first sight of Riverton meeting. A sort of sick bitterness going over her. Natalie—in love—Keith's arms . . . Well, why not? said a hard mocking voice in her heart. What was it to her if that adventurer wanted to marry Natalie Cameron?

Norman had come and stood close beside her. His eyes were traveling over her bent head, fastening their gaze on the sweet young curve of her throat.

Impulsive that he had once kissed this girl at his will! He had been the lordly one then, giving his kisses as though they were favors upon her. He remembered the street girl who had clung to him in the dusk one summer night—the girl who had cried passionately in his arms.

"Joyce, if you know what it means to me to see you again! I've years—Lord, the times I've thought you! Remembering you——"

Enigmatics rylet eyes coming up to meet his warm gaze. Remembering——? In the brief pause after her world old memories pressed upon her—remembered Jim, the first ride in the dark with Norman and the kisses—turning to find Jim looking close to her own—the thrill which shot through her heart as he drew her in his arms . . . Crying in Norman's arms that night he came to Riverton—Jim's face, Norman's face—Jim's face—Norman's face—

"Remembering!" Her voice was slightly mocking. "I suppose you had to remember, Norman. It avoids so much that's unpleasant in life."

At that moment Lloyd Weaver opened the door and his startled look took in the two figures framed by the window.

Lloyd Weaver. The sight of the elderly man brought back to Joyce the lordly day in the old fashioned hotel when she had married Roger.

Nothing of a disapproving manner now about the old man. Joyce Allen had been very different from the widow of Roger Cameron. A personage to be courted; to be courted! Moreover the entire old attorney had received a brand new idea of the moment of coming back to this shaded room. Norman—his son—a fine unadorning young fellow . . . always had a way with the girls . . . Suppose that young woman should take a fancy to him! To be sure, there was that strange phase he was in, but it will forbidding her to marry before five years after the age. Within five years people quickly; meantime, Lloyd Weaver had the encouraging of the estate and if it should go through, the man, come into the Weaver family after.

Affable, the old man, as he went over Joyce's alibis with her. He called Norman into the conference—just as well to know them together from the start——. He welcomed the suggestion that she come to dinner that night. Then he gathered his papers and disappeared into his own private office to

RED CROSS

This is Red Cross Week in Belleville

OUR OBJECTIVE IS $900.00

Your help is urgently needed if this sum is to be reached.

PLEASE GIVE GENEROUSLY!

Send contributions to:

J. W. IMLAH,
Campaign Treasurer
17 CAMPBELL ST.

—

I. G. HEFKEY,
President

Mrs. Stuart Lazier,
Vice-President

Diamonds

A LARGE SELECTION OF Diamond RINGS
and Wedding RINGS
TO MATCH
These Splendid Values From $24.00 $48.00 $75.00 $100.00
DIAMOND SET WEDDING RINGS from $4.00—$6.00 up.
Nicely Engraved WEDDING RINGS from $4.00 up.
J. O. R. McCurdy
234 Front St. Phone 518

I. D. A. KIDNEY PILLS

An efficient diuretic and kidney stimulant

48 Pills to the box 29c

I.D.A. DRUG STORES

Two things—there was a wry edge to Joyce's smile. "Here's the one you'll probably be interested in." She had placed her handbag on the counter; an expensive little affair of silk brocade with a carved ivory handle which she had picked up one sunny afternoon in Paris. She noticed how odd it looked in contrast with the worn and scarred top ink-stained desk as she lifted and opened it. But Norman was eyes watched as she counted out some bills and handed them to him.

"When I was in Paris I got $50 from the cash drawer. I was refunded of it lately. Time is the money."

Her look it, carefully recounted it. Shoved it in his pocket and cackled.

"Too, too! That's pretty rich!" Mallos bristled in his voice. He knew his world quite nothing now to be diplomatic. "You mean you stole $50.00, my girl!"

A long moment when eyes clung to eyes in the shadowy room. Joyce's eyes were pretty blue and wrathful. Then, suddenly the fire died out and a great weariness crept into them. She made a little helpless gesture. "I'm sorry, Mallos. I had only done the right thing by me. If you had only been kind even once——"

Her voice broke off wearily.

"Oh, well——" She picked up her bag again. "I'm going to see Aunt Clara and the baby."

Joyce had reached the door when Sara called after her, "you said you were going to have brought you down here. What was the other?"

A faint little smile curved Joyce's lips as she turned to look at him, slowly shook her head. "It doesn't matter. You wouldn't understand——"

Down the long hall—how many times she had swept it in the old days—and down the stairs where her thin little arms could hardly support the heavy mahogany box bitterly cold this long hall could get in winter—cold with the bone chilling cold of Riverton.

Joyce found Aunt Clara in the kitchen. She was preparing for dinner. She was sifting just in time. She turned, a little startled, and slipped off her shoes for comfort. Joyce had the feeling that she might have been sitting there with the chopping bowl in her lap for hours. Aunt Clara looked best gone, like some monstrous image of herself.

If Joyce had expected any demonstration of joy on her aunt's part she was doomed to disappointment. Aunt Clara was as lethargic as unemotional as ever.

She suffered Joyce to lean down and kiss her cheek, and then said, as it might have been six days since she had seen her niece rather than six years.

"I heard you was comin' back. No—don't set down—I've got your dress. Take that other chair."

"I'm all right, Aunt Clara. Here—let me help you while I talk."

"Don't touch me with your hands all dirty—" Joyce looked at her hands. The dirt of old accumulation, the rough red paws of the girl who had drudged in the same kitchen. She laughed.

"It didn't hurt me once, Aunt Clara. And I guess it won't again. Where are the girls——"

"Mell's upstairs, prin' down. Maddy's married.

"Married! I didn't know——"

"To that Will McNally. They live in the house the feller—She's got a baby, seven months old he is. Mell's upstairs, prin' down. Mell's the prettiest. Mrs. Slade's fat stuck on her. Mell's got a notion of Jim Keith, but I guess that's all right. Jim's a good feller. Mell considered the money to buy some fashion, lastin'——"

Joyce walked home with a great depressions creeping over her. She did not belong in the Cameron house. Certainly she did not belong in the shabby faded south of the tracks.

Said Jim Keith at dinner that night, as one who makes polite conversation: "I understand you were shocking up on the property of Riverton today, Mrs. Cameron."

Joyce looked into the watchful dark eyes, and her lips twisted into the saddest smile the man had seen.

"Yes, yes," she said lightly, "I was down—with my own people."

TO BE CONTINUED

White Handbags

A SPECIAL OF NOTE.

95c each

Washable leather handbags — in many styles and smart designs. Choose early for they are too good a value to remain long.

PALMER'S JEWEL SHOP
36 BRIDGE ST. EAST PHONE 2660

Phone 2380

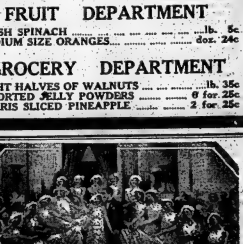
BLUE'S MARKETERIA

First of the Week Specials

MEAT DEPARTMENT

LOIN VEAL CHOPS ..... lb. 20c
RIB BEEF ..... lb. 7c

FRUIT DEPARTMENT



FRESH SPINACH ..... lb. 5c.
MEDIUM SIZE ORANGES ..... doz. 24c

GROCERY DEPARTMENT

LIGHT HALVES OF WALNUTS ..... lb. 35c
ASSORTED JELLY POWDERS ..... 2 for 25c.
NORRIS SLICED PINEAPPLE ..... 2 for 25c.

Too Tired at 5 o'clock?

Revitalize your blood stream and the day's work will not wearly you so!

A scene from "Princess O'Hara", Damon Runyon's Collier's magazine story co-starring Jean Parker and Chester Morris, now on the Capitol screen.

When tiredness turns into torture, when it changes gay folks into glum souls and when it won't be shaken off with sleep . . . it is a tiredness which is akin to a disease. The fact is its cause is the first step to securing a remedy.

To be over-tired is to be underenergized. You get your energy from and through your blood. Then build up the blood and your new supplies of energy will overcome your fatigue. The remedy that will do this is one that was recently tested by a composite authority on 40 run-down men and women. Proof of its restorative value was given by raising the blood before and after treatment.

Remarkable results in one month

Blood tests are scientific. They can't mislead you. So the competent authority who made the blood tests of the 40 persons who relied upon tests to show exactly how much progress was made in each case, and how much.

The treatment he gave was Dr. Williams' Pink Pills (called pink because of their pink sugar coating) . . . two after each meal for about 30 days. At the end of the month each of the 40 people returned for another blood test. Then the microscope told an astonishing story of regained vitality. Thirty-eight of the forty had new much richer blood. There was more iron-nutriment (haemoglobin) in their blood and more red cells (corpuscles) to carry the iron-nutriment. In every case where the count of red blood cells had been below normal at the first blood test, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills increased it. Naturally the patients in all these cases reported that they felt very much benefited. They had gained vigour and strength. Appetite had become keener. Digestion and digestion improved and they again enjoyed work and play.

Use this tested treatment yourself

When scientific records of 40 people irrefutably show that treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills helped them back to vigour and health, you have every reason to believe that you, too, can expect the same good results. This is not a new remedy. It has been known, used and prescribed by doctors and used by a Canadian physician, a graduate of Edinburgh University. There are thousands of people in many countries who gratefully ascribe their joyous health to the taking of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. If you feel you, too, need that you would give everything to be rid of chronic tiredness? Then begin the treatment, which by actual blood tests has proved it can help you. Start back to health and energy today. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold at 50c per package.

TODAY POINT THE WAY TO LOWER COSTS

Business Directory

AUTO LOANS
AND REFINANCING
Money to Loan on Improved Farms
S. J. FISHER & SON
10 Bridge St. East Phone 1187
Campbell Auto Finance Co., Ltd.
Toronto - Oshawa - London - Windsor

CHIROPRACTOR
D. A. WYATT, PH.C., CHIROPRACTOR and Drugless Therapeutist. Graduate Chiropractic and Drugless Therapeutic Institute of Toronto and Honorary Member of Canadian Chiropractic Association. Hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Wednesday afternoons and evenings by appointment. Phone 1183. 68 Church St., Bowmanville.

VERA B. PETTYPIECE, CHIROPRACTOR and Drugless Therapeutist. Graduate Chiropractic and Drugless Therapeutic Institute, Toronto. Member Canadian Chiropractic Association. Hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Wednesday afternoons and evenings by appointment. Phone 1183. 68 Church St., Bowmanville.

DENTIST
DR. ROBT. H. EMPSON
DENTIST
Office Hours 9 to 5
Phone 1183 Private Residence 1184
17-tfn

RADIO SERVICE
JOHN A. DEWAR
RADIO TECHNICIAN
Registered Graduate
Phone 812
103 John St. 23-tfn

SURVEYORS
FRASER AYLESWORTH
Ontario Land Surveyor and Engineer
Professional Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor, and Engineer Surveys, Plans, Reports, Etc.
Office: 74 Prince St., P. O. BOX 68
BLIND, ONT.

INSURANCE
Protect yourself against accidents with our Automobile Insurance
SANDY BURROWS and HOWARD FROST,
124 and 126 Prince St. Phone 220
Bell Phone 87

HALL & EARLE
Limited Insurance, Real Estate, Financial Agents, Auctioneers, Etc.
Phone 1284-W
Bell Phone 87.

STOCKS & BONDS
BROOKS AND CRAWFORD, MEMBERS Toronto Stock Exchange, Phone 1284-W, Bell Phone 87. 17-2 tfn

TO LET

LEGAL
WALLBRIDGE, CAMERON AND CO. Barristers, etc., to the late F. S. Wallbridge, K.C., Solicitor for the Bank of Montreal. Money to loan. Dominion Chambers, Bond Street, Bowmanville. Bridge Street, Belleville, Ontario.

MALCOLM WRIGHT, BARRISTER, Solicitor, Notary Public, Conveyancer, etc. Campbell St., Bellaville.

T. W. WELLS, K.C., SOLICITOR, Solicitor etc. Office No. 15 Campbell St., Belleville. Phone 1000. 17-tfn

FOSTER, PATER AND ARNOTT, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries, Conveyancers, etc. Office: 18 Front St., Belleville. Phone 1000. Bell Phone 87. 17-tfn

FOSTER & CHARAH, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Conveyancers, etc. Office: 18 Front St., Belleville. Bell Phone 87. Phone 1000. 17-tfn

DONHAM AND MULLIN, K. C. Donham, K.C., B.A., Mullin, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Conveyancers, etc. Money to loan at lowest rates. Offices: 19 Campbell St., Belleville. Bell Phone 87. Phone 226

278 and 280 Coleman St.
(Corner RIDOUT ST.)
FOR SALE
AT BARGAIN PRICE
Brick Solid House; modern conveniences. Must be sold. Inspection by appointment only.
NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY
Belleville Locators
GEO. M. GORMAN Prop.
156 Front Street
Phone 87 Residence Phone 687

WANTED

MALE HELP SALESMEN
66 MILLION ON 4 GALLON?
SCIENTIFIC LABORATORY, M-182
Wonderful new invention. Startling new motor automatic gas-oil saver. Increases power, pick-up and speed. Anyone can attach. One sent free to introduce quick. Big profits. Write now. Don't delay. 23-2t

FEMALE HELP OR GIRL'S RIGHT AT Phone 1281-F. 23-1t

USED MACHINE RADIO, ALSO ELECTric Heater. Phone 1281-F. 23-1t
Write stating particulars to Box "C" Ontario Intelligencer. 23-1t

POSITION AS STENOGRAPHER OR clerk-stenographer wanted by high school graduate and Ontario Business College training and 1 year's office experience. Apply Box "P" Ontario Intelligencer. 23-1t

WANTED—RELIABLE WOMAN TO DO good plain cooking, apply with references to Superintendent Prince Edward County Memorial Home, Picton. 21-3t

MEN WANTED
MEN WANTED IMMEDIATELY IN every city, town and district of Canada, county, to take charge of our advertising, large household products. Excellent remunerative. Exclusive territory. Business already established. Entire or part time. Nothing required. Write quick. Mr. Hunter, 4 Queen East, Toronto. 21-3t

WANTED—A GIRL FOR GENERAL housework. Apply 39 Dundas East. 23-1

Baseball
Current Sport

IN THE REALM OF SPORTING EVENTS

Bowling
Golf

Ogden Handcuffs Hitters Oshawa "Brewers" Winning From Stewart - Warners 1-0

Swell Hurling Duel By Smith And Ogden Witnessed

REAL SMART GAME

Dean Ford at Short For The Locals Great in Defence

Failing to hit with base runners in scoring position cost the Stewart-Warner entry their initial C. O. B. I. appearance in Oshawa on Saturday when Ernie Smith, of the Radios and Dony Ogden, the Oshawa "Brewery" hurler, hooked up in a thrilling pitchers' battle that saw the home team pitcher getting better offensive support to win a belated last inning victory by the score of 1-0 in the five over seven, innings the two elongated right-handers battled at even keel, no score being in evidence, but three successive singles and a local error in the fatal eighth frame gave the Oshawa crew their second home victory and the leadership of the O.B.I., dropping the Radios into second position.

The game was a most beautiful pitchers' battle as Smith and Ogden repeatedly brought the 500 odd fans to their feet by sensational efforts on the mound, when the opposition threatened. Although Smith pitched himself out of some trying positions, Ogden out-baried the united efforts of Smith and Williams, who was rushed to the hilltop in the eighth as the Stewarters placed runners on first and third, following two singles and one local error, with none out. Williams allowed one hit and retired the side, but that one safe blow scored the lone runner from third scoring the only run of the game, ten was in rare form striking out ten local batsmen, while Smith whiffed seven in seven innings, and Williams one in an abbreviated frame. Both starting pitchers possessed a world of speed and an assortment of curves, that stamped the pitchers masters of the day's performance.

Develops Blistered Finger

Smith looked far superior on the mound until the seventh, when he was called upon to stem an Oshawa hitting barrage, but developed a blistered finger as he allowed five singles by Hurst and Kitchen and a hurried throw by Green placed runners on first and third by Ogden, first half of the eighth. Williams was rushed to the box hilltop in time of the tide of battle, but a sharp single through the local infield, who were all playing shallow for the double play at the plate, scored Hurst for the only run of the game, as Williams subsequently stopped the Oshawa rally, Smart fielding on the part of the homesters saved the situation in the nine frame as the "Radios" bounced upon Ogden's offering without ultimate results.

Despite the fact the Oshawa crew out-hit the Radios, the locals managed to get the first batter each inning, except fourth, on base, one aboard the base paths, but could not seem to find the range with the ball. On two occasions, early in the game, the locals had runners advanced as far as third, but were caught in the evidence as Ogden bore down, and retired the side without harm. Smith, Johnnie Kerr and Ernie Smith were the only locals to collect safe hits from the deliveries of Ogden, while Kitchen and Rowden each collected a brace of safeties to lead the homesters with the willing assistance of Williams' one-hit support by Dean Ford, local short stop, who completed five beautiful chances and a double, Arnold Gee outfield and catcher Barclay also fielded their share of the load as pitchers' battles seen in the O.B.I. in many seasons. Inability to hit with potential runs facing them, cost the Radios a victory, while in the "Brewers" case, opportunity came through in that department.

PLAY BY PLAY

1st innings—Belleville—Grey was safe on Osborne's book, McElroy struck out on three pitched ball. G. Smith whiffed. Grey stole third. Green grounded to Osborne—0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

Oshawa—Hurst grounded to Ford. Kitchen singled. Rowden grounded out. Mathews grounded to Ford and Kitchen was forced at second. 0 runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

2nd innings — Belleville — Weir walked. Wallace fanned. Ford struck out. Barclay grounded to Ogden and Weir to third on fielder's choice. Ogden struck out—0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

Oshawa—Wallace grounded to Ford. Elliott sliced to the pitcher. Rowden struck out. Williams struck out. 0 runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

3rd innings—Belleville—R. Smith singled through second. Grey was hit by a pitched ball. McElroy struck out. R. Smith whiffed. Green sliced to Mathews. 0 runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

Oshawa—Ogden walked. Hurst popped to McElroy. All were safe on McElroy's error. Kitchen grounded out, Barclay to first. Mathews struck out. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

4th innings — Belleville — Osborne struck out. Kerr grounded out to Ogden. Barclay grounded out to Osborne. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

Oshawa—Wallace dumped one to K. Smith. Elliott sliced to Grey to right. Rowden grounded to Ford. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

5th innings — Belleville — Ford walked. E. Smith sliced to Hurst. Grey grounded out to Ogden. MCElroy struck out. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

Oshawa—Osborne whiffed. Ogden struck out. Hurst grounded to Ford. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

6th innings—Belleville—R. Smith singled through second. Green sacrificed to center. Green tried to steal. Wallace and R. Smith was doubled off first. Weir sliced to Hurst. 0 runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

Oshawa—Kitchen flied to Kerr. Rowden grounded to Ford. Williams to Kerr. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

7th innings—Belleville—Wallace singled to right. He stole second. Kerr was thrown out trying to steal third. Barclay struck out. Ford also whiffed. 0 runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

Oshawa—Wallace singled to center on first pitched ball. Elliott struck out. Rowden singled to center. Wallace scored. Williams struck out. 1 run, 2 hits, 0 errors.

8th innings — Belleville — Elliott grounded to Jubenville. Grey was safe on Osborne's error. McElroy grounded out to Osborne. Green was grounded to Elliott. R. Smith was grounded out to Ogden. 0 runs, 0 hits, 1 error.

Oshawa—Hurst singled. Kitchen grounded to Ford. Rowden sacrificed. Hurst going to third when Green threw to Ford. Mathews grounded to Jubenville, singled scoring Hurst. Mathews sided to Grey. Wallace struck out. 1 run, 2 hits, 1 error.

9th innings — Belleville — Green grounded to Osborne. Weir grounded to Jubenville. Mills batting for Kerr, sided to Wallace. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By The Associated Press)

Mickey Cochrane, Tigers—Hit two doubles and' single for perfect day at bat against White Sox.

Bob Smith, Braves—Shut out Giants with eight hits.

Eric McNair, Athletics—Knocked in three runs against Senators with timely single.

Jim Weaver and Pep Young, Pirates—Weaver blanked Reds with five hits, Young made three blows, including first run.

Bill Dickey, Yankees—Clouted Babe Ruth's 34th homers against Red Sox.

Ki Boland, Phillies—Made pinch hit in ninth inning rally that beat Brooklyn, driving in two runs and scoring one.

Mel Harder, Indians—Scattered nine R. Louis hits for season's seventh victory.

Jim Collins, Cardinals—Hit home-run with bases full in ninth to beat Cubs.

SMART HURLING

	AB	R	H	PO	A
Belleville
Grey, rf	3	0	0	2	0
McElroy, cf	3	0	0	1	0
R. Smith, lb	4	0	1	7	0
Green, 2b	4	0	0	1	0
Weir, ss	4	0	0	0	1
Kerr, lf	2	0	0	2	0
Barclay, c	3	0	0	8	0
E. Smith, 3b	3	0	1	0	3
Ford, ss	2	0	0	0	5
Williams, p	1	0	0	0	0
Mills	1	0	0	0	0
Total	30	0	3	24	8

(z)—pitched for Smith in 8th.
(z)—batted for Kerr in 9th.

Oshawa	AB	R	H	PO	A
Hurst, cf	4	1	1	3	0
Kitchen, c	4	0	2	6	0
Rowden, lf	4	0	1	1	0
Mathews, 2b	4	0	1	1	0
Wallace, lb	4	0	1	11	0
T. Elliott, 3b	4	0	0	1	1
Osborne, ss	3	0	0	2	2
Ogden, p	3	0	0	0	2
Total	33	1	7	27	13

Score by innings:	R	H	E
Belleville	000 000 000—0	7	0
Oshawa	000 000 01z—1	7	2

Summary—Errors, Green, McElroy, Osborne (2). Stolen bases, Grey (2), Weir, Kerr. Earned runs, Oshawa 1. Double plays— Wallace (unassisted). Hit by pitched ball, Ogden (Grey). Struck out, by Ogden 10, by Smith 7, by Williams 1. Bases on balls, off Ogden 2, off E. Smith 1. Hits, off E. Smith 6 in 7 innings, off Williams 1 in 1 inning, off Ogden, 3. Passed ball, Belleville 1. Losing pitcher E. Smith. Winning pitcher Ogden. Left on base, Belleville 8, Oshawa 7. Umpires, Stengher, Belleville; plate, Vair, Oshawa. Time of game 1 hr 41 min. Attendance 500.

CURRENT SPORT
DAY BY DAY

There may have been better pitching duels in the O.B.I., in years past, but it is doubtful if there ever were many hurlers' battles in the old Central League, that carried the excitement the Oshawa-Belleville game presented on Saturday. Even the fans in the Radio section were in rare form and repeatedly raised the lusty to gasp with fair pitching feats in the pinches. Unfortunately for the Radios, the locals managed to get three successive hits in a fatal eighth inning to win it. It was a beautiful game to win, and a heart-breaker to lose. Incidentally the relief hurling of Williams was all that could be expected and although the Brewers only got one hit from his deliveries, they scored the only run of the game in what certainly would have been an out, but the Radio infield were playing in close to enforce shutting off the run when Jubenville singled through the hole between second and short. Had the local infield not been in she hole of having none out, it would have been an easy out for Dean Ford. Saturday's loss drops the Radios into second position while the "beer barons" from Oshawa are now leading the parade, and they have a smart team of ballsters this season.

The Radios are scheduled to appear in Wellington today, when Jack "Chief" Williams will draw the pitching assignment. The Ponies dropped their game to the Petes by the score of 10 to 7 on Saturday, thus keeping Joe Daly's clan in the cellar. The Radios will have to give Williams some runs today if they expect to come out winners and elevate their league position. On Saturday, the Radios got the first man aboard the base paths in every innings up to the eighth, but subsequent hits that would have meant runs were not forthcoming. In the meantime Alex Weir took base plate stolen, standing up, when Ford, with the count, of two and two on him sent the ball out, calling it a ball one, that might have resulted in victory. Then with none out in the seventh Johnnie Kerr was out trying to slither third, just shooting, that is to get there and then getting back to Smith and Ogden, for eight innings the locals managed right to the proved masters of the situation and buried beautiful hits. Ogden could have breezed through easily, but with Ogden and Smith both possessed a world of speed with the local hurler occasionally using a sharp breaking curve that baffled.

Taking everything into consideration we firmly believe the Radios have the best hurling corps in the loop and play the best defensive ball, but their hitting to date has been anything but satisfactory. The locals are hitting the ball with a vengeance, but seemingly just can't make their hits clip. Maybe lady luck will be more kind today. Incidentally the locals are entertaining to advance the Peterboro-Belleville date ahead 24 hours and play here on Thursday, Coulter attractions on the ice proved the reason given for the proposed change, if any.

The local sporting fraternity was shocked to hear of the sudden death of Stan Gorman, who died Saturday night. Stan was one of Belleville's ardent sport lovers and attended all sport functions in years past.

The Ponies apparently failed to fill in the quiches on Saturday too, as the Petes new left-hander, Art Lepper walked, nine Pony batters but was given excellent offensive support, and presented with ten runs while the Ponies hammered out seven tallies. Incidentally when the Kingston crew passed through the city northward bound on Saturday night, they were anything but in a genial mood. Coach Daly announced that Bud Clancy, the Kingston import from Philadelphia, would pitch his second start against the Radios today. Apparently the crew are giving Clancy the soft spots, insofar as pitching the home games are concerned, while Eddie Yagmey Jamieson has to bear the brunt of the roads games.

The Bud incidentales ran afoul on Saturday, when Walt Green's Gibbards crushed the Belleville 10 to 2, out-hitting the visitors 12 to 7. Manager Fanning used four hurlers, starting Wilkins, who was relieved by Bill Hammett, Rusty Langman and finally Phil Lott. Wilkins blanked the homesters for two frames as his mates scored three runs to make the score in favor of Belleville, but five runs in the fifth and two in the seventh put the game beyond the initial victory of the season.

Lionel Baker, initial sacker for the intermediates, sustained a badly injured hand during the game. Baker had fielded the ball and was in the act of tagging a Napanee base runner when his left hand was bent backwards tearing the ligaments and breaking a small bone. Baker will be out for the affair of a Napanee physician where the lad were dispensed today that he had procured the services of Ossie Orr, Belleville's National first sacker, to replace Baker during his period of absence. Incidentally Orr received a splendid good bail for the winning Napanee nine while Phil Lott looked the best of the four local moundsmen used.

George Herman "Babe" Ruth was given his unconditional release from the Boston Braves yesterday. The announcement did not come as a great surprise as there have been rumors and rumblings coming from the camp of the Braves ever since Ruth joined that club and seemingly the Babe's name was always whispered when the under-current of discontent was most strong. Ruth, one of the most colorful figures in modern baseball, has enjoyed many years of successful diamond activities, but like all good things, apparently the end of the road has been reached.

President Charlie Meagher today officially announced that the Peterboro at Belleville C.O.B.I. fixture, would not be played on Thursday instead of Friday, the originally scheduled date.

GIBBARDS WIN FROM LOCALS 9-3

Blazetich Goes Route And Plays Prominent Part in Win

Napanee, June 3.—(CP)—Led by their star right-hand moundsman, George Dby Blazetich, who put on a fine all-round display, Gibbard Auto-Wilkins was touched up for four straight hits. With the first two gone away in the fifth, the visiting boxman allowed Dearth's hold to slip out of his grasp. Three hits, a walk and a second error netted the locals five runs. Reg Hammett, a junior fast, year, replaced Wilkins to get the third out. Gibbards added two more in the sixth after the first two up had been retired.

Blazetich scattered seven singles had 11 strikeouts, hit two and issued one walk. Offensively he led the field with three hits out of five to drive in three runs and count one himself.

	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Gibbards	003	002	000	9	13	5
Belleville	000	000	003	7	7	1

Batteries—Blazetich and Brennen, Wilkins, Hammett, Loft, Langman and Latchford, Thomas.

LOCAL LEAGUE STANDINGS
C.O.B.L.
(Senior)

	W.	L.	P.C.
Oshawa	1	0	1.000
Belleville	1	1	.500
Peterboro	1	2	.500
Kingston	1	2	.333

Games this week today—Belleville at Peterboro; Tuesday—Belleville at Belleville; Saturday — Kingston at Oshawa.

Bay of Quinte
(Intermediate)

	W.	L.	P.C.
Picton	2	0	1.000
Belleville	1	1	.500
Napanee	1	1	.500
Gananoque	0	2	.000

Games this week—Wednesday—Belleville at Picton Gananoque at Napanee; Friday—Napanee at Gananoque.

Belleville District
(SOFTBALL)
Standing on Saturday

	W.	L.
Aajmsa, A.C.	2	0
Redneravilla	1	1
Trenton	1	1
Young Canada	1	1
St. Paul's, A.C.	1	2
Alemite	0	2

Games this week — Today—St. Paul's at Redneravilla; Aajmsa at Young Canada Club; Tuesday—Trenton at Aajmsa; Thursday—Redneravilla at Alemite.

PENMANS fancy half hose display that happy combination of smartness and dignity which appeals to discerning men. Shown this Spring in shades that blend harmoniously with the new colours.

PENMANS Half Hose FOR MEN

LEAFS DESCEND DROPPING TWIN BILL TO ROYALS

Lose Nightcap Game in Last Frame by Montreal Rally

SYRACUSE COMING

Infusion of New Blood Seems to Have Worked Wonders

(By The Associated Press)

The infusion of new blood seems to have worked miracles with Syracuse chiefs in the International League.

They weren't going so good at the beginning of the season. Then they began to make some new plays. Yesterday they took both ends of a doubleheader with Newark to bring their string of consecutive victories to seven. In the first, with Joe Cascarella who recently came down from the Athletics, in the box, they pounded out 18 hits to win 10-4. They were forced to go 10 innings in the nightcap to win 5-7. Hamel and Schino, both outfielders newcomers, contributed, Schino whaling one for a round trip, and Hamel's single in the 10th providing the margin of victory.

The Syracuse win pushed Syracuse up from sixth to fourth place, behind Buffalo, Baltimore and Montreal, which led in that order.

The leading Bisons divided a doubleheader with Baltimore. Buffalo took the first by the overwhelming score of 10-3 but Ward stopped the Bisons with two hits for a 5-0 shutout in the second. Buffalo loaded the bases with two out in the sixth but then Fitzgerald popped up to Healy.

Baltimore and Albany also broke even, Baltimore taking the opener 3-0 and Albany the 10th providing the margin of victory.

The Royals swept behind

Daily Short Story

One Must Win

(Copyright 1935 King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Yes, Sir, fishing is a good sport and it's not expensive if you go about it in the right . Of course, these fish men with plenty of money who think that good, expensive tackle is necessary to catch fish, are wrong. All my life I've never had a rod that was worth over five dollars and you just show me anybody that's caught more fish than me.

It seems to be that way in life and love, too. I know we all realize that money is power, but that power cannot always command human nature—if you get what I mean. I know this is true. Now you take a good looking lad and one with plenty of money wooing the same girl and throw in another fellow the girl has known from childhood and you have a whale of a story. That's what our story is about.

Helen Thomson was a native of our town, that is, she lived here all her life. Bill Towers was, too. They went around together until last summer and their visitors came in the form of Pete Hammond and Tom Street. Pete was more to look at but he had plenty of "dough" also. On the other hand, Tom was presentable. Had looks and body like a Greek god. They tell me that he was , the champion swimmer of his town.

Well, when the pair got a look at Helen, poor Bill didn't have a chance. It wasn't long before it was a constant round trip with Pete then Tom. Bill didn't mind so much—least that's what he said. Nights he used to come over to my shack and go fishing for weeks with me. We would sit out in the boat until one or two o'clock in the morning sometimes catching nothing, sometimes plenty. It was just how you "fish" them. Of course, getting out in a boat until two o'clock may sound funny to somebody who has never been fishing, but to a fisherman, it's second nature. But to get back to the story.

Three For One

As I said before, each was rushing Helen. Of course, she liked it—what girl wouldn't? Two men practically fighting for her favors and another always at her feet. But one night that Bill was supposed to have a date with her he came over to the shack and asked to go fishing. I looked at him kinda queer. "Didn't you have a date tonight?" He just said, Yeh, but I am not going." I don't want to ask him any more, if he didn't want to tell me, I just let it go.

When I met Helen the next day in town she asked me if I had seen Bill. Said he broke a date with her. I still didn't know why I said, "No, I hadn't seen him." That must have worried her; for the next two nights she stayed home, breaking dates with both Pete and Tom. I guess she got over it all right because the following night the merry go round continued.

Both Pete and Tom had it pretty bad. The love game was fought up my alley and I could tell. Though they had it bad it didn't seem to affect Helen at all. She wasn't excited and her eyes didn't sparkle like one do's now when with either of them.

Well, things were pretty well ruined by now and I thought it was time I took a hand in the matter. I hadn't any particular plan at the moment but I knew I would get one in time. Of course, knowing Helen, I could go to her and ask for a showdown, but ask her which one she loved and then drop the other two. But, again, I didn't think that it was my place. Before I could settle this problem, another one comes right up and hits me in the eye. Bill disappears from town.

I didn't know it until Helen dropped over and asked if I had seen Bill. When I said, no she kinda wrinkles her pretty little brow in a frown. "Well never mind," she says and leaves.

Bill Disappears

After she left I settled back to find the answers. Bill, Tom, and Pete—it was a merry-go-round. For no reason I thought I would let matters ride for another day. Maybe something would turn up. Something did that I never expected.

The next night as I was fishing on the beach I saw Tom with another girl. About half an hour later along comes Pete with a gorgeous blonde. I didn't think anything of it at the moment. I thought Helen had just stayed home like she had done before.

Well, the next morning, just as I finished washing up the breakfast dishes I hear talking and a knock sounds on the door.

When I opened the door, there grinning like a couple of school kids, stood Helen and Bill. I didn't even get time to open my mouth for the usual "Well" before Bill started talking.

"You see, old timer, I thought if I went away for awhile Helen would come to her senses that is if she loved me the way I thought she did. And she did, Bill. She passed up Pete Hammond with all his money for me. I guess that's what you call love. Well, we were married yesterday—and . are we happy.

It went on like that for about ten minutes before I could get a word in. Then I congratulated them and sent them on their way. But can you imagine any girl passing up millions? Women are strange critters.

Little Benny's Note Book

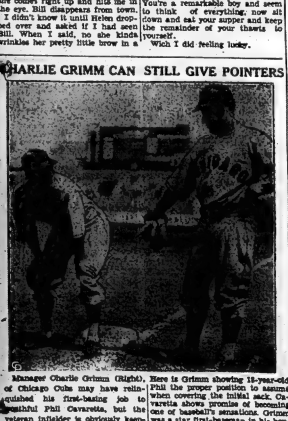
I was late for supper again today and still didn't have my hair cut, making it even worse on account of being the first thing pop noticed, saying, So, the property is still unimproved. Solomon in all his glory never needed a haircut that badly. And I give you certain definite instructions this morning? he said.

Yes sir, I said, and pop said, Then why didn't you obey them?

I did, pop sir, I said. I mean I went around there but both both barbers was too busy, I said, and pop said. How busy? Was there a line of gentlemen attending their way around the block?

No sir, but each barber chair had a man in it and there was a few waiting, I said, and pop said, in other words you were the next but one.

Yes sir, so I thawt I'd come back later instead of wasting time waiting, I said, and pop said, And did you go back?



Yes sir, but there was 2 other men in the barber chairs, and there wasn't anybody actually waiting but both the men looked like men that would want shampoos and things after they got through having their hair cut, I said, and pop said, How does a man look when he gives the impression of wanting a shampoo, the next 5 or 10 minutes? But never mind, skip that. So what? he said.

So I decided to come back again once more, and coy one barber chair had anybody in it, I said, and pop said, Ah hah, so the other barber was free?

No sir, he was taking a drink of water out of the water cooler, and I thawt I'd go up to his chair and interrupted him he rite get mad and give me a bum haircut out of revenge, I said. and pop said, You're a remarkable boy and seem to think of everything. now sit down and eat your supper and keep the remainder of your thawts to yourself.

Which I did feeling lucky.

CHARLIE GRIMM CAN STILL GIVE POINTERS

Manager Charlie Grimm (Right), of Chicago Cubs may have relinquished his first-baseing job to youthful Phil Cavaretta, but the veteran infielder is obviously keeping a weather eye on his successor, day.

Here is Grimm showing 18-year-old Phil the proper position to assume when covering the initial sack. Cavaretta shows promise of becoming one of baseball's sensations. Grimm was a star first-baseman in his heyday.

TEX AND HIS PALS (Actual Photographs)

By Leslie A. Hill

BRINGING UP FATHER —

By George McManus

TILLIE THE TOILER—

By Russ Westover

DANGER TRAILS—

By The Famous Explorer Martin Johnson

MR AND MRS—

By Briggs

TARZAN THE UNTAMED—

(Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service)

With the agility of a cat Zu-tag leaped over the protecting wall and stood before the girl. Striking away her spear he jabbered and motioned. Coming close, he seized her by the arms but not roughly. She shrank away in terror.

But now Olga began to realize the ape was not menacing her. His whole attitude was one of attempting to explain a knotty problem. He pointed south, dragging the girl that way. His efforts became frantic as he again pointed to the bone.

The ape pointed to herself, the forest and then, inspired, seized the spear and threw it south over the wall. Suddenly it dawned upon Olga that what the ape was trying to tell her had to do with the white man whose property they thought she was.

Perhaps Hit was in danger! No longer holding back as Zu-tag pulled away the thorn bushes that barred the entrance, she followed the nine apes starting off toward the jungle, running at top speed in her effort to keep up with them.

BOARD LOOKS FOR BETTER PRICES IN COMING YEAR

W. E. Morrow Elected President of Cheese Board

GRANTS GIVEN

W. H. White, of Roslin, Comes on Board For First Time as Officer

W. E. Morrow, first vice-president of the Belleville Cheese Board during the year 1934 was the unanimous choice of members of the Board at the annual meeting held in the city hall on Saturday, for the office of president during the coming year. He will be assisted by Mr. Chas. Mills, first vice-president; Geo. W. Cooke, second vice-president; W. H. White, third vice-president, and F. R. Mallory, secretary-treasurer. D. F. Wessels and Chas. Mumby, auditors, were both re-elected for the coming term.

The election of Mr. Morrow to president follows many years of close application to the cheese industry in this and other sections, during which time he has held the position of director of the Frankford cheese factory for ten years and the office of president for four years. Originally from Lanark County, the youthful new president has resided at Frankford since 1910. With the exception of one, the new slate comprises members who served as officers of the Board during the past year, Mr. W. H. White, Roslin, third vice-president, who has been a member of the Board for the past many years is the new officer.

In opening the annual meeting, past president W. H. Montgomery declared his pleasure at being able to serve the Board during the year 1934. "If I have done anything unfair during that term, it has been no fault of my own," he assured his hearers. "I have tried to discharge my duties to the best of my ability, although the duties at times were not of the most pleasant nature. One of these was the question of righting for better prices they were not the highest during the year, but at that I believe we received as much as any other Belleville Board in Ontario. That was about all we could expect. I can now only thank you for the privilege of being able to serve you during the year as your president."

Urges Co-operation

In presenting the auditor's report for the year, G. F. Wessels pointed out that during the twelve years he has been on the Board many changes had taken place in the cheese trade of the salesmen. "There are only a few old faces left," he remarked.

"So far as the buyers are concerned, there has been no notable change. Many of them are still with the firms with whom I first became associated. I like to point out to some of the younger salesmen that when you retire from your position you will be able to look back and see for yourselves that everyone of the buyers have been gentlemen all through," he added in urging closer co-operation between the two branches of the industry.

The report was received and adopted without comment on the motion of Mr. Wessels and seconded by Chas. Mumby.

Just previous to the election of officers, Mr. Geo. F. Jeckens, Ivanhoe, wished the privilege of pointing out that the coming week would be dedicated to Red Cross Week. "It has been customary for us to give them a little grant in order to carry on the good work they are doing in this and the surrounding districts," he reminded.

On the motion of Mr. Jas. S. Cooke seconded by Mr. Mumby a grant of $50 to the Red Cross was given when put to vote by the chairman.

Shaking hands warmly with the new president, following his election and as he handed over the chair, Past President Montgomery expressed the hope that Mr. Morrow would be favored with the same support that was given last year. He might have been a discouraging year and rock bottom might have been struck in the industry, but better times and better prices may come with the autumn next year, it is hoped.

In assuming office, President Morrow spoke briefly and asked only that if he made mistakes or blunders during the year, it was not that the members have patience. "I shall try to do the best I can and can only ask for your support and co-operation to make this possible."

At this point a resolution of thanks for the capable manner in which Past President Montgomery had carried on the affairs of the Board during the past year, presented by the auditors, was put and unanimously supported by buyers and salesmen.

Owing to the fact that the coming year will probably see the largest board that ever sat more time and service will be required of the secretary, on the motion of Mr. W. R. McCreary, and seconded by W. H. Morton, a salary increase of $100 to F. R. Mallory was authorized.

Letters of condolence will be sent the families of two late members of the Board, who died during the past year.

Cheese Board

Cheese stood into a slightly better price on the Belleville Cheese Board on Saturday, selling at 9⅞ cents. A total of 598 white and 363 colored cheese were offered. The following factories were represented:

	W. C.
Shannonville	67
Bronk	30
Harold	14
Silver Springs	40
Ridges	22
Acme	33
Wooler	23
Sidney T. H.	53
Maple Leaf	90
Cloverdale	90
Melrose	21
Zion	43
East Hastings	21
Moonlight	32
Weller's Bay	30
Metra Valley	20
Roslin	39
Quinte	24
Frankford	36
Rogers	25
Victoria	39
Robin	43
Glen	27

Buyers were: W. H. McCreary, 306; W. C. Taylor, 301; R. W. Hart, 300. Buyers present were: Messrs. McCreary, Cooke, Morton, Taylor, Hart, Caiven, Hill, Murphy, Bunker.

TOKENS OF ROYAL FAVOR CONFERRED OVER THE EMPIRE

(Continued from page one)

from the rank of Baron to that of Viscount. He has held several ministerial posts in the British Government and is an acknowledged authority on Agriculture.

The three new Privy Councillors are Clement Richard Attlee, Deputy Leader of the Labor opposition in the House of Commons; Leslie Hore-Belisha, Minister of Transport and (Sqd). Robert Croft Bourne, Deputy Chairman of the House of Commons.

Origin of the Privy Council goes back to early days in British history. A council was instituted by King Alfred in 886, which discharged various functions of State now managed by the Cabinet. In the Middle Ages King John's chief advisors formed the Privy Council. It was reconstituted in 1540.

The council is summoned to act "with others" upon the death of a sovereign. Many matters are referred by the sovereign to committees of the council, such as Judicial appeals from the Dominions.

Business Men Included.

The list of new barons included several prominent business men. Arthur Balfour, who served in the diplomatic corps and on various industrial committees during and after the war, is well-known in the steel industry. Dr. Addison was a British delegate to the Imperial economic conference. Edward Charles Grenfell, Conservative member of parliament, representing the city of London, since 1922. He is a merchant of the city of London, a director of the Bank of England and a member of the London firm of Morgan, Grenfell and Company.

Sir William Mackenzie, created a baronet in 1918, was high sheriff of Sommersetshire in 1923. He has been chairman since 1921 has been chairman of the import duties advisory committee. He is a director of the British Overseas Bank, a member of the Committee of the Institute of Actuaries and a highly-raised economist.

Sir Donald Ponsonby has served three royal households. For the last seven years of George V.'s reign he was assistant keeper of the privy purse and assistant private secretary. He filled the same offices under King Edward and was equerry and assistant private to King George 1910-13. He has been keeper of the privy purse since 1916 and treasurer to the King since 1920. Sir Clive Wigram since 1931 has been assistant private secretary and equerry to the king. From 1910 until 1931 he was assistant private secretary.

Three Newfoundlanders were honored by the king. Lawrence Keegan, superintendent of the general hospital of Newfoundland at St. John's, was made a commander of the Order of the British Empire. Miss Violet Mary Cherrington for educational service and James Henry Harris, secretary of the Department of Public Works, were made members of the Civil Division of the Order.

Australians Named.

The new Australian knights were Hon. William MacArthur, distinguished jurist; Ald. Alfred Parker, Lord Mayor of Sydney; Ernest Henry Twyford, manager of the National Bank of Australasia and Sir James Black, Chief Justice of Queensland. Sir John Lavington Bonython of Adelaide received a baronetcy in recognition of public services. In addition John Gilbert MacLaren, member of the Australian High Commissioner's office in London, received a knighthood.

New Zealand's numerous awards included a knighthood for Francis Bell, Minister of Trade, Deputy Chairman of the New Zealand Agricultural Commission.

In the United Kingdom nine new knights were created. They included the many knighthoods were people in widely-different fields. They included the famous archaeologist, Leonard Woolley; Prof. Joseph Barcroft, who holds the chair of physiology at Cambridge University; Sydney Arthur Hicks, noted actor-manager and Harold Cecil Harmsworth of the noted publishing family, for services to the arts of England, political and public.

Eaton Groceteria

SPECIALS for Tuesday, Wednesday Morning and Thursday

Red Coat Brand Fancy Quality
Keta Salmon 2 tall tins 19c

CUMBERLAND BRAND
Chicken Sandwich Paste 2 2 Ounce tins 17c

ON SALE WEDNESDAY MORNING ONLY.
CROSSE and BLACKWELL'S
Tomato Juice Tall 13 ounce tin Each 5c

Choice Veal Chops lb. 15c

LEAN BONELESS
STEWING BEEF lb. 12c

Sliced Cooked Ham lb. 45c

Potatoes No. 1 2 pks. for 25c

ORANGES Med. Size doz. 19c

PHONE 208—Orders of $1.00 or more selected and delivered without Extra Charge

WEDNESDAY HALF HOLIDAY
Store Closed at 12 Noon during summer months

LEONARD WILKES LOSES HIS LIFE IN TRENT RIVER

(Continued from page one)

Mr. Harvey of Frankford was fishing nearby and noticed Wilkes and all at once he missed him. He went to the others and inquired where the man was and expressed the fear that he was in the water. At once the alarm was given and grappling irons were secured. By half an hour the body was found in what is deemed to be an eddy or pool by Frank Johnson and Leonard Macaulay of the canal staff and Johnson's son, Fay, who is about sixteen years old. It was in the water five feet deep and about seven feet from the shore. The fish pole was not recovered and it is thought to have been carried away by the current.

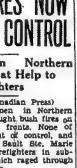
Coat Floats Down Stream

Wilkes was wearing his coat and it is thought he made a supreme effort to save himself as it was found floating down the stream some distance from the spot. The rubber boots were still on the feet when the body was recovered.

A fish which had been caught was found on a string on the bank and it is thought by some that Wilkes may have been getting to be paid to get a bait for the hook when he slipped into the water unnoticed. He was unable to swim, it is said.

The death of Mr. Wilkes shocked the entire community of West Belleville where he was well known and many years and was held in the highest estimation by everyone.

News of the tragedy was broken to Mrs. Wilkes by the Provincial Police who had investigated the drowning. When she saw the officer at the door her fears were for the worst as she cried, "Don't tell me, I know."



Native of England

The late Leonard Wilkes was born in England 48 years ago, coming to Canada at the termination of the late war to take up residence in British Columbia, where he had a brother residing. Later Mr. Wilkes moved eastward and has resided in Belleville for the past 15 years, where he was well known and highly respected.

Mr. Wilkes was a member of Holloway Street United Church and leaves to mourn his loss, his widow, three daughters, Gwendolyn of Mimico, Patricia and Lenore at home, his father and two sisters, Florence and Marion, who reside in England, and three brothers, Frank and Sidney of Australia, and Samuel in British Columbia, also survive. Mr. Wilkes' mother predeceased him a few years ago. His brother, Samuel, was planning on visiting Leonard during the summer as he had not seen Leonard for quite a number of years. The latter was looking forward to the reunion with a great deal of interest.

Mr. Wilkes was a valued employee at the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company, Corbyville, for some years.

"NERVES" she called it

—it was really her KIDNEYS

She tried to get through each day as best she could. Never comfortable—always distressed. Low in vitality —lower in spirits. She hadn't thought of her kidneys, until a friend suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills—for over three generations the favorite kidney tonic and remedy. Speedy relief she immediately took Dodd's. The "washed out" feeling was soon replaced by clear headed energy and restful sleep. Backaches, headaches, and other signs of faulty kidneys soon disappeared.

Now Feeling Well—Thanks to

Dodd's Kidney Pills

WORKERS DEMAND $18 ACRE WAGES

Sugar Beet Lands in Western Ontario Lie Untilled

Chatham, Ont., June 3 (CP) — Vast sugar beet lands lay unattended today as the tillers of the fields remained on strike demanding higher wages from their farmer employers.

As picketers cruised from farm to farm over the week end, urging sugar beet workers to join the strike, the ranks of the Agricultural and Cannery Workers' Union were swelled by "nonlookers" who lay down their tools and joined in a demand for $18 an acre for their labor.

Detachments of Provincial Police moved about the area, ready for any outbreak of disorder.

Members of the Agricultural and Cannery Workers' Union, newly formed organization, negotiated with farmers for an increase of $4 an acre in wages of men employed in blocking the beets. Little progress was made as farm owners insisted they could pay no more unless the price paid by sugar companies for their produce was raised.

At present workers receive $14 an acre for blocking the beets. Sugar beet company officials declined to negotiate with the strikers but it was indicated their efforts might be made by the farmers themselves for prices, which would enable them to pay higher wages.

BUSH FIRES NOW UNDER CONTROL

Showers in Northern Parts Great Help to Fighters

(By The Canadian Press)

Hundreds of men in Northern Ontario today fought bush fires on several different fronts. None of the fires was out of control, and showers in the Sault Ste. Marie district aided firefighters in subduing flames, which raged through pulpwood slashings.

In Kirkland Lake area the situation was in hand. Danger lurked only in the possibility, that a strong wind might blow up.

Seven hundred men were engaged yesterday in trying to extinguish the fire in the Matachewan sector, and other places in the North Bay district. A lumber mill at Mulock was destroyed and several barns were burned down. Reports were that a logging camp had been ravaged in the ashes of the flames. Northbound traffic was halted. Danger from Burchart, Elk Lake and other settlements in the Matachewan district was lessened today.

THE CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

WHITE IS RIGHT!

for that "certain" Summer Smartness and with that thought in mind we have secured the smartest in wearing apparel, in gloves, in hats, belts, shoes, etc., for the coming season. Here are garments and accessories which will flatter you. We invite your inspection Tuesday!

• and Purses

—are also of simulated leather in the popular WHITE—a smart array of new and novel shapes, neatly lined, and trimmed with self materials, with shiny metallic ornaments or a bright metal clasp. You'll like their appearance, and will be able to select from three price groups. You really must have a purse to be smartly tip keeping with summer. Each

49c 1.00 1.49

— Main floor, centre

• White Gloves

go hand in hand with summer smartness, and whether you choose a soft, well-textured chamoisette fabric, or crochet and mesh effects, you'll find the D.D.S. is the logical place to buy them. With their cuffs or plain pullovers they are smart to the very fingertips. Sizes 6 to 7½. The Pair

49c and 1.00

— Main floor, centre

• Suits

Of crisp Irish linens are the smart thing just now and you'll like their trim tailored lines, their perfect cut and finish. Ideal for either sports or street—and so cool too, these hot, sweltering days. Sizes 14 to 20. Each 6.95

• Dresses

Of soft, washable celanese crepe, smartly designed on mostly tailored lines, excellent for sports or street —some with fagotting, others relying on buttons and pleats for their smartness and good appearance. You'll make no mistake in selecting here. We have something to suit you here if you take about 14 to 38.

3.95 5.95

• Hats

in a big variety both as to style, and shape and to material—for sports we offer a smart range of wool felts, or for dress wear you can select a button sailor, the Carlwheel and others equally as favored for summer. In rayon crepe and crochet straw, linen, and straw fabric. Headsizes too, to take care of everyone. Each

1.95 to 3.95

—Second floor

"Archsta" Shoes

In White for Summer

It's a privilege to present the smart, cool, white pictured in these fine-fitting shoes! All with the famous "Archsta" features, in fine white leather that will last and clean easily, with well-set Cuban heels, high for style and low enough for comfort. Sizes 3½ to 8 in AA to E widths.

- Tie styles with side cut-outs.
- Strap Model with modish tongue.

2.98

• Belts

Of imitation leather, in cough, black, white, or grained for fabric-like effect. The buckle is smooth-width, neglige with large matching buckle. Sizes 24 to 32", Each

25c

— Main floor, centre

CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

Standings

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Buffalo	33	16	.610
Montreal	26	20	.565
Baltimore	25	20	.556
Syracuse	23	21	.523
Toronto	23	22	.511
Newark	23	22	.511
Rochester	18	26	.409
Albany	17	27	.302

Sunday's Scores.

Buffalo 16-0, Rochester 4-5.
Syracuse 10-8, Newark 4-7.
Baltimore 2-4, Albany 0-5.
Montreal 16-4, Toronto 2-3.

Saturday's Scores.

Montreal 6-5, Toronto 4-7 (first game 11 innings).
Buffalo 6, Rochester 3.
Syracuse 6, Newark 5.
Baltimore 2, Albany 0.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
New York	26	15	.634
Chicago	22	16	.579
Cleveland	22	16	.579
Detroit	21	18	.538
Boston	19	18	.513
Washington	17	22	.436
Philadelphia	13	22	.400
St. Louis	10	26	.278

Sunday's Scores.

New York 7, Boston 2.
Philadelphia 8, Washington 7.
Detroit 10, Chicago 5.
Cleveland 6, St. Louis 2.

Saturday's Scores.

Philadelphia 3-7, Washington 0-2.
Boston 6-2, New York 0-4.
Chicago 4-1, Detroit 3-6.
St. Louis 7-2, Cleveland 3-4.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
New York	26	15	.722
St. Louis	24	15	.615
Pittsburg	24	16	.600
Chicago	18	17	.514
Brooklyn	20	18	.513
Cincinnati	17	21	.432
Philadelphia	13	23	.361
Boston	11	27	.289

Sunday's Scores.

Philadelphia 7, Brooklyn 5.
St. Louis 6, Chicago 5.
Boston 2, New York 0.
Pittsburg 8, Cincinnati 0.

Saturday's Scores.

Brooklyn 4, Philadelphia 4-3.
St. Louis 4-4, Chicago 3-1 (First game 12 innings.
New York at Boston postponed, rain.

AMATEUR BALL

(By the Canadian Press)

Saturday's games in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League saw only one team in the same city when Aylmer topped Stratford for the lead on the Western group. Preston tied Galt for the lead in the Eastern group and the others remained unchanged. In the Niagara District Senior, St. Catharines won six-seven terms with Port Colborne, who were tied for first place with Merritton. Merritton is now leading the group.

St. Thomas Tomcats, who won the title in 1933, battered Stratford last year's champions to the tune of 7-2. Aylmer, with Manager Ernie Crawler, regular catcher on the run in nine from Guelph, and mound set back London Winery 7-4.

Preston outhit and outscored Galt in an Eastern Division fixture winning 7-4. Eleven minutes were made in this game, Galt nabbing seven, but they partially made up for this with two double plays. Kitchener lost their first game in seven starts, losing to Brantford, 9-3. Fourteen errors were made.

Hamilton Wildcats drubbed the Hamilton Wesley-Tigers defeated Dundas 8-3.

In the Central Ontario Senior circuit, Hamilton Brewery, Oshawa's entry, shut out the Belleville Tigers 3-0. Brewery pitcher Wilson Kingston this submission 10-7, 9-0.

St. Catharines of the Niagara District Circuit defeated Niagara Falls 6-4 and Port Colborne, who were tied with them for first place, lost to that team 13-5.

Fredric March and Charles Laughton featured in the story from which Victor Hugo is remembered "Les Miserables," at the Regent until Wednesday.

The Ontario Intelligencer

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, JUNE 4, 1935

WEATHER
Somewhat cooler tonight. Wednesday, fair to scattered showers; moderate to fresh southwest and west winds shifting to northwest on Wednesday.

TEMPERATURES

	Max	Min
Today ...	65	54
Year ago	68	43

Weather—Overcast

FLOODS TURN LAND INTO LAKES—350 PERISH

NEWS BRIEFS AND ODDITIES

Kepler, Jones 4 (CP)—Born at Smithfield in 1835, still active and self-reliant, Mrs. John Annan, Indian woman, will celebrate her 100th birthday this summer on the Six-operating Reserve, Queen's Appalls Valley.

Mrs. Annan still gathers sticks for her own fire, wields an axe and finds time to do some of the best bead work on the Reserve.

Ingersoll, Ont., June 4 (CP)—An old-time barn raising of unusual proportions in which more than 100 men took part, was held on the farm of James Forbes, near Thamesford. The old barn, with all stock, was burned several months ago.

New York, June 4 (CP)—Sometimes it doesn't pay to be licensed, a judge ruled today, that's what Arthur Johnson will advise. He's in jail for five days because of the failing.

Johnson's girl told him to go home in her river. He did, and she watched him and they drove away in her car. She was arrested for disobeying in public.

Washington, June 4 (CP)—Golf became no longer are a rich man's game. They're in bankruptcy, the receiver reports, and the public links's recreation and instruction facilities for 18 cents. The clubs, balls and tees go along in the fire hydrants.

New York, June 4 (CP)—A caterpillar crawled into the car of a horse in the mounted section of Rockaway Park. The horse bolted.

A one-year-old baby was snatched from its carriage by its grandmother and hurried before the horse trampled it.

A blind man pacing his way along the sidewalk stepped on the exact nature of the coverings, was given a part of the way by a windowwasher.

The horse was halted by three men after it had run about a dozen blocks from stands and four awnings.

Little Rock, Ark., June 4 (CP)—Fourteen-year-old Billy Clabberry received a reward today for a pocketbook that "rained" out of the sky.

Mrs. Thelma Young claimed the purse containing $4.18 after the boy had taken it to police and said it fell from the window of a plane.

Mrs. Young explained the pocket book fell from her lap while she was enjoying an airplane ride. She gave Billy a reward.

Pittsburgh, June 4 (CP)—Trading value at current rates of one complete set of dinosaur bones:

One mammoth, one bison and one rhinoceros.

That's what the Carnegie museum got for one of its dinosaurs and the experts are assembling that collection.

It came about scientists for the Colorado Field Museum were digging up bones bones in New Mexico while Carnegie experts were busy with bones in Utah.

After some dickering it was finally decided to swap.

Welland, Ont., June 4 (CP)—Leonard Barrett recently found in his garden two coins. One, dated 1864, has a portrait and the rank of Upper Canada. The other was a bank of Montreal token, dated 1844, and was inscribed with the words, "Bank of Montreal-Province of Canada."

WORK 48 HOURS IN 5 DAYS AIM

D. C. Dick Presents Request For Woollen Industry

Ottawa, June 4 (CP)—Representing the dying section of the woollen and knitting industry of the textile trade, David C. Dick, Cobourg, Ont., today asked the Senate Banking and Commerce Committee that the hours of industry be given permission to work the 48-hours per week "for five days". The industrialist was making representations on the eight-hour day bill.

The nature of this work made it necessary to finish giving processes in this industry once they were started so it was impossible to allow work began on Saturday to stand until Monday. For this reason it was impossible to work a short day on Saturdays, Mr. Dick said. Workers joined with employers in the request they be allowed to work nine hours and thirty-six minutes on five days of the week, he added.

NIGHTGOWN FIRED BY LIGHTER, GIRL DIES IN HOSPITAL

Muriel Pigden, 10, of Madoc Burned About Body

PARENTS HEARD SCREAM

Father Wraps Child in Blanket to Extinguish Flames

Her clothes catching fire while in the act of lighting a fire in the kitchen stove Sunday morning with a cigarette lighter at her home near Madoc Village, Mildred Pigden 10, second eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Pigden succumbed to burns received, in the Belleville General Hospital early today.

The child as has been her custom for some time past, was downstairs on Sunday morning to light the fire so that breakfast could be prepared. Not having a match, a cigarette lighter, owned by her father, was used to light the stove. The parents, who were resting upstairs, heard nothing unusual until the child started to scream and run through the lower part of the house and upstairs to her bedroom. Rushing to her aid, the father threw a blanket about her to extinguish the flames but not before nearly all her clothing had been burned from her body. By the time parents carried her downstairs water was noticed on the floor, the child, apparently throwing water upon herself to put out the flames. She was rushed to the Belleville hospital and attended by Dr. G. S. Orange, but medical skill was not able to save her life.

A member of the Presbyterian Church, the little girl was quite active in Sunday School work, while at school she had many friends and was well liked by teachers and pupils alike. The sincerest sympathy are bearing up well under the strain and the sympathy of a large community is extended to them in their loss.

Besides the parents, four other children survive. The remains are resting at the Martin and Son Funeral Home and will be conveyed to Madoc for the funeral service on Thursday with interment being made in the district cemetery.

WEATHER

TORONTO, June 4.—(CP)—Light to moderate showers have occurred in many part of Ontario and Quebec in the last twenty-four hours in the Maritimes. It has been showery in Manitoba though elsewhere in the West the weather has been for the most part fair.

Minimum and maximum—Southwest winds, shifting to northwest tonight; partly cloudy and cooler tonight and Wednesday with some scattered showers.

Lake Superior—Fresh to strong west to northwest winds partly cloudy and cool with scattered showers.

Georgian and Rainy River—Strong northwest winds cloudy with local showers.

Manitoba—Northwest and north winds; partly cloudy and quite cool with scattered showers.

Saskatchewan—Partly cloudy and cool.

Alberta — Fair and somewhat warmer.

BODY FOUND IN SHED

Riverside, Ont., June 4 (CP)—Believed to have been dead for nearly 24 hours, the body of Charles Best, 78-year-old father of Thomas Best of the Walkerville police department, was found in a shed by two young girls last night. Death was due to heart attack.

Hollis Quadruplets are 20, Young Women Celebrate

Hollis, Okla., June 4—(AP)—The famous quadruplets of Hollis, four quadruplet sisters—locked the door on their teens today.

For the first time in history, as far as is recorded, quadruplets are celebrating their 20th birthday.

There were four cakes bearing 20 candles each for the Keys sisters, Mona, Iberia, Mary and Leota, born on March 28, 1915, Palm Sunday.

Their clothes are alike and they all play the saxophone but on this business of being quadruplets and twenty,their observations vary:

Roberta—"Just think! In one more year I can vote."

Mary—"I'm not going to let being 20 cramp my style."

Mona—"I really regret leaving my teens."

Leota—"I still like the high school group and I hate to grow out of it."

There is no record in medical history that ever reached maturity as the offspring of higher multiple births, ever reached maturity.

Yet a space of 17 days covers the birthday anniversary of three multiple groups which have survived the tremendous odds against them. The four daughters of Carl A. Morlok, Lansing, Mich., celebrated their fifth birthday May 13, and the world paused in wonder at the first anniversary of the famous Dionne quintuplets May 28.

Strangely enough, all the groups are comprised entirely of girls.

DEATH TOLL IN QUAKE MAY REACH 30,000

A death toll of 30,000 was reported in the earthquake which razed Quetta, capital of British Baluchistan and one of the most important British military posts in India. Map above shows location of Quetta. Also shown are earthquake scene in India and British fort in Peshawar, nearby city from which aid was rushed. Forty British aviators were reported among the 200 Europeans killed.

Long Life of 112 Years Credited To Lack of Room in Heaven

John Birth, Russian, Lives in Canada Since 1862

SMOKED SINCE 9

North Bay, Ont., June 4—(CP)—A man who would have been too old for conscription during the American Civil War today is celebrating his 112th birthday at Nipissing Junction, near here.

John Birch, born in Sebastapol, Russia, June 4, 1823, is a veteran of the Crimean and Franco-Prussian Wars, and lays claim to the title of the oldest white man in Canada.

"The centenarian was active as recently as 1928, when 106 years lay behind him, he decided to call it a day and retired to the home of his son Adam. Today, his only illness is deafness, caused by influenza in 1922.

Since to Canada in 1866 took six weeks by sail. John Birch, then 43 years old, describes himself as "just a kid when I made the trip." He was accompanied by his wife, his eldest daughter, now Mrs. J. Balcolm, Windsor, Ont.

Pembroke, Ont., was the first Canadian home of the Birch family, and it was here the Russian settler took the oath of allegiance to the British flag. In 1890 the family moved north and settled in the Nipissing Junction district.

On the occasion of his 111th birthday, Mr. Birch visited his former home where he was the central figure in a family gathering.

Threads Needle

"The grand old man" as he is known throughout the Nipissing district, astonished the gathering by threading a needle. In all but 113 years he has never worn glasses and refers to them as "nonsense."

Mr. Birch admits he has smoked a pipe since he was nine, with no apparent ill effects. He has never smoked cigarettes or cigars.

The only explanation he can offer for his extraordinary longevity is "I guess they have no room for me in heaven. God will send for me when there is room, and I'll be glad to go."

"I've been long enough in this world," he added.

Mr. Birch has five daughters, Mrs.

Dominion Organizer

J. EARL LAWSON

A new study of J. Earl Lawson, who heads the Conservative Dominion Association as organizer for the Conservative party for the forthcoming federal elections. He is member for West York.

A. Balcolm, Mrs. Joe Morissey, Nipissing Junction; Mrs. S. Clayton, Sudbury; Mrs. J. Giroux, North Bay and Mrs. J. Smith, deceased; three sons, Adam and Joseph, Nipissing Junction; and Anthony, address unknown.

He has 28 grand children and one great, great grandchild.

MISS J. GUNN, O.B.E. GIVEN HIGH HONORS

Former Resident of This City Honored by Red Cross Society

Miss Jean Gunn, O.B.E., superintendent of Nurses, Toronto, General Hospital and formerly of this city, who has received many honors during the past year has merited another high honor, having been chosen as the Canadian recipient of the Florence Nightingale International Medal in recognition of her distinguished work in Red Cross Nursing.

The presentation will be made on Thursday afternoon at Government House by Colonel the Honorable Herbert A. Bruce, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario. Miss Gunn was recently made a life member of the Alumnae of Toronto General Hospital and also received one of the King's Jubilee Medals.

DIVORCE MADE ABSOLUTE

London, June 4 (AP)—The divorce of Lord Ashley from the former Sibyla Hawtrey, musical comedy actress and friend of Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., motion picture actor, was made absolute today.

Lord Ashley named Fairbanks Co-respondent in bringing his divorce action. The costs of the action amounting to approximately $10,000 were assessed against Fairbanks.

LABOR MINISTER SAYS FAIR WAGES PAID ON ALL WORK

Contractors Forced to Disclose Rates to be Paid

DISCUSS CONTRACTS

W. A. Fraser, Trenton, Says Mail Contracts Are Too Low

Ottawa, June 4 (CP)—With an assurance before them from Minister of Labor W. A. Gordon, that increasing vigilance is being exercised to see that fair wages are paid on all work done for the government under contract, members of the House of Commons today turn again to legislation for enacting a fair wage report. The amendments to the criminal code hitting out at low wages and long hours of employees are due for consideration after the financial resolutions covering the budget resolutions are passed.

Last night when labor department estimates were before the house, Mr. Gordon revealed his determination in enacting some declarations of the wages being paid by all contractors doing work for the government. He said he had been perhaps more vigorous than his predecessors and proposed to be blessed still better results could be obtained.

Mr. Gordon made his statement just after A. A. Heaps, labor member for Winnipeg North, advocated taking such declarations. He said the Ministerial declarations were satisfactory.

Mr. Gordon said he had followed the practice of previous governments in stipulating fair wages on all work done for the government. He believed he had been more vigorous than in the past. He hoped under legislation being enacted this session that the full powers of parliament could be invoked to the obtaining of fair wages on every possible type of work.

White List

A "white list" of employers was proposed by W. W. Kennedy, Conservative member for Winnipeg South Centre. He said before a firm was allowed to tender on a government contract, its books should be pelled to establish, not only that it would pay fair wages in the future, but that it had paid fair wages in the past. In this way a "white list" of eligible employers for government work could be established.

Conservatives in Manitoba revived a political issue of 1929, the payment of rural mail carriers were on a similar basis, Mr. Heaps declared. The remainder were acquitted at preliminary hearings here years ago.

Reading the decision of the Appeals Court, Mr. Justice J. Walsh said: "I am not now considering the moral or religious aspects of the matter, though the clergymen of all religions have been ignored and placed in the stocks. I merely have to declare that I find in these pamphlets a sapping of all authority to be replaced only by anarchy and that is a position some despots should present himself."

Running Trades On Railways to Come Under Bill

Ottawa, June 4 (CP)—Railway employees in the running trades will come under the provisions of the eight-hour day bill one month after the measure received Royal assent under an amendment passed today by the Senate Banking and Commerce Committee.

In adopting the amendment, the committee changed a decision made in the Commons, which put through an amendment granting exemption to this class of railway employees from the provisions of the bill. The Act would apply to other industrial undertakings three months after Royal assent was proclaimed.

Another amendment altered the provision dealing with offences of employers for breach of the Act. The bill as passed by the Commons provided for each offence an employer would be liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding $100 and not less than $20 in addition to any other penalty prescribed by law for the same offence. The amendment deleted the words "and not less than $20 in addition to any other penalty prescribed by law for the same offence."

BRODIE, BARRETT APPEAL IS LOST

Must Serve Sentence of Two Months And $300 Fine

Quebec, June 4.—(CP)— Appeal of George H. Brodie and G. F. Barrett of Belleville, Ont., against a conviction on a charge of being parties to a seditious conspiracy was dismissed by a decision of the Court of Appeals today. Brodie and Barrett, self-styled witnesses of Jehovah, were arrested here in October 1933, while distributing pamphlets in the streets. They were found guilty by a court of King's Bench jury on the seditious conspiracy charge and were sentenced to two months in jail and a fine of $300.

Barrett and Brodie are to return to Quebec June 21. Four more of the original group of thirty from Montreal, and from Toronto and other parts of Ontario, arrested with Barrett and Brodie are awaiting trial before the Courts of King's Bench on a similar charge. The four are P. W. Greenwood, Montreal; Mrs. G. Brown, Acton; Mrs. Allen and Mrs. A. Rose, all of Belleville. The remainder were acquitted at preliminary hearings here over a year ago.

Reading the decision of the Appeals Court, Mr. Justice J. Walsh said: "I am not now considering the moral or religious aspects of the matter, though the clergymen of all religions have been ignored and placed in the stocks. I merely have to declare that I find in these pamphlets a sapping of all authority to be replaced only by anarchy and that is a position some despos should present himself."

VIEWS CANADA

Sir William Keith Murray, Bart., of Perthshire, Scotland, made a flying visit to Montreal and Ottawa last week, sailing back last Friday on the Andania. Sir William, who owns about 11,000 acres of land in Scotland, praised what he had seen of Canadian agriculture.

SAHARA TRAGEDY CLAIMS BRITONS

Two Frenchmen Found Starving After Gas Runs Out

PARIS, June 4.—Dispatches from Tamanrasset, on the caravan trail across the Sahara Desert to Lake Tchad through the Hoggar Mountains bring to light a pathetic desert tragedy in which a British woman and her son lost their lives and two local French merchants were found on the point of starvation, half crazed.

The tragedy occurred when the party left Agadel on May 22, by automobile in the direction of the Hoggar range. Their gasoline ran out in the heart of the desert.

The Britons, against the advice of their companions, set out in search of water and food, cut died under the terrific heat of the Sahara sun. They were Mrs. M. Wright, 25-year-old widow of a British flier killed in a crash last April; and Charles Peyron, British resident of Switzerland, the father of three children.

The other two, Jean Hebert, 25, an Alsatian, and Maurice Chauvard, merchants were found by the carrying skeletons, barely breathing. Chauvard died Wednesday. Robert Coquet and Jean Estienne, found them when they started out in search of the four after no word came from them for days.

Mrs. Wright's body was found five miles from the car. There were indications that she died in horrible agony. The clothing was torn, her hair dishevled and her body mutilated by what is described as self-inflicted knife wounds in an attempt to end the agony by suicide.

Peyron's body was found a mile and a half further on, lying on his back.

ULTIMATUM TO STRIKERS GIVEN

New Angle in Sugar Beet Trouble Has Developed

Wallaceburg, Ont., June 4 (CP)—Threats of farmers they would force striking foreigners home sugar beet workers from their homes on farm property brought a new angle into the sugar beet strike here yesterday.

"Return to work or we will put you out of the house. Take your choice," was the ultimatum issued by several after a meeting of farmers at the farm of Peter White, married in Chatham township.

Meanwhile the strikers held a meeting of their own near the Whitmarsh farm, and watched three men at work in the fields, men guarded by Whitmarsh himself.

"If my men want to work. I am going to see they get the chance," the Whitmarsh said.

Strikers demand an increase from the present $14 to $18 per acre for blocking the beets.

KNOCKED FROM HORSE

Rome, June 4 (AP)—Benito Mussolini, Italy's black-shirted premier, has a black eye today.

To sympathetic inquirers, Il Duce explained his disfigurement was the result of being knocked from his horse by a low-hanging branch while taking his morning ride yesterday. He also received a slight injury to his hand.

WORSHIPPERS AT PRAYERS, TRAPPED BY FLOOD WATERS

350 Estimated Drowned When Church Collapses

FIELDS BECOME LAKES

Soldiers Threatened as They Went About Recovering Bodies

By CLARK G. LEE

Copyright 1935

By The Associated Press

Mexico, D. F., June 4—(AP)—More than 350 persons were officially estimated today to have perished in floods which swept down upon the fertile valley of Mexico, trapping a throng of worshippers at their prayers in the church at San Pedro.

Most of the victims were members of the group gathered in the church yesterday to celebrate the festival of San Pedro's patron saint. Only seven persons escaped from the church.

The neighboring communities of Cochimilco, 13 miles from here; Milpa Alta, San Gregorio and San Pedro also suffered appalling casualties.

Torrential rains sent mountain streams roaring out of their courses into the villages below. Within two hours roads were impassable and fields became vast, surging lakes.

Those who escaped from the San Pedro church said the swiftly-rising water burst the walls of the structure and poured in on the worshippers before they were aware of the approaching flood. Later the building collapsed, burying the dead and dying beneath its debris.

Interfere With Rescue

Villagers interfered with the efforts of federal troops to extricate bodies from the ruins, threatening to attack the soldiers because they believed the disaster to be an act of vengeance sent from God.

Earlier in the day authorities had entered the church, halted the services and arrested the priest. The superstitious Indians insisted the floods were retribution for this interference with their worship.

An Indian named Juan, resident of San Pedro, described the terrifying scene with the assistance of an interpreter. "I saw a wall of water coming and rushed to the roof of a house opposite the church, which is at the bottom of a steep street," he said.

"Water swept down the mountain, crashed through the church gates, and tore away part of the walls, inundating the worshipping men and women.

The water rose rapidly inside, the church. I saw the crowd struggling to escape and then heads slowly disappear under the water with clenched fists still visible.

"Finally there were only a few faint shouts in the Indian tongue, which soon also ceased. Some 'God help us', and then complete silence except for the sound of the rushing water."

UTILITIES WARN U. S. GOVERNMENT

Atlantic City, N.J., June 4 (AP)—The United States' Government was warned today utility interests would fight to the finish what was called a "devastating and destructive attack" from the new deal.

The warning came from Thomas McCarter, President of the Edison Electric Institute, in a speech to more than 1,000 members of the institute here for their annual convention.

Coming Events

STATUTORY TARIFF DANCE, KELLEY'S, June 4. Featuring New Ambassadors. Also dancing Thursday, June 6 featuring Commodores. Admission 25c plus 5c tax. 26-1c

MOOSE REGULAR EUCHRE AND dance Wednesday, June 5 at 8.15. Dancing till 1. Admission 25c. 25-4

AFTERNOON TEA AND HORSE COCKtail sale, Thursday, June 6 from 4-6. Mrs. Gerald C. W. Bridge Reception Argyll Chapter. 2627-7d

City and District News

ALBERT STUDENTS BUSY AT EXAMS

The students of the lower school classes at the Albert College are in the throes of examinations. These are the final term exams of the year, other than the Junior Matriculation, which will take place at a later date. The term exams will last until the 14th of this month.

LOAD CALLED UPON TO PULL VEHICLE

Not often is the load called upon to pull the vehicle, but Mr. Chas. Yarrow, trucker, near Bancroft had a real "day load" on Saturday.

Transporting a truck by truck from one farm to another in that section last week, his truck became lodged in a soft section of ground when he pulled from the county road. A nearby farm furnished some heavy planks. Backing the tractor off the truck he pulled the latter from the mudhole. Then he backed the tractor again with the planks and delivered his load without further incident.

REDUCTION NOTED IN RELIEF LISTS

Relieving of some men at Point Anne, which is now reported being operated again with a limited force of employees, was called for the extra gangs on the railway, and other seasonal work begin, resulted in some reduction in numbers of those on the relief lists during the past week or so, but the reduction is slight, it was pointed out, because the total certificates of those receiving help from the city had been slightly higher than last year at this time, it was reported.

GARDEN PLOTS IN FINE CONDITION

If the harvest turns out as expected and as present conditions of growth indicate, the garden plots for families of this city will have plenty of potatoes, and other vegetables for their cooking pots next winter, an unofficial canvass of relief gardens this week revealed. During the past few days of warm and wet weather the gardens have shown a remarkable gain, well repaying the unemployed for their labors during the earlier part of the season. It is estimated that about 300 gardens have been set out this year by the city's workers. The number is considerably below that of last year. During the coming week an official survey will be made of the gardens by officials of the local relief office.

BOOKLET NEARLY READY FOR PRINT

With an excellent assortment of scenic effects of the Bay of Quinte district now chosen, and tempting literature prepared, work of printing the official booklet of the Bay of Quinte Tourist and Publicity Committee for distribution among the visitors will soon be started; it was stated this morning by chairman of the newly formed committee, Mr. W. A. Parker. This marks the first step by the committee since it began to give the attention of outside visitors the attractions of this district as a summer resort.

COUNTY COUNCIL TO MEET ON JUNE 11

Members of the Roads and Bridges Committee of Hastings County Council in order to prepare their summer estimates, will meet in the city at Bain Hall on Thursday, June 6. County Council members have been notified by county clerk F. Deacon that the next session of council will commence on Tuesday, June 11.

HARVARD REDDICK TO SING IN CONTEST

Local interest attaches to the finals amateur contest carried on by Wrigley's at Loew's Theatre, Toronto, which will occur over the C.F.R.B. on Thursday evening June 6th., 9.00 to 9.30 Daylight Saving Time, when the man who won the first contest and is therefore in the finals is Harvard Reddick son of Reverend Dr. Reddick of Asbury. Mr. Reddick was born near Belleville and received a good part of his education in this city. The young man is a very fine tenor and after his triumph in the first auditions was signed as soloist in Rosedale United Church, Toronto.

The winner in the "finals" will be sent to New York for an audition over WEAF and the prizes will be settled by the votes of the listeners-in, received at CFRB either by mail or by telephone.

CANVASSERS MEET READY RESPONSE

Objective For Red Cross Drive Expected to Materialize

"The people of Belleville are certainly cheerful givers." That is the opinion of the Red Cross canvassers who were at work early this morning completing their tour of the city in the interests of the Red Cross Campaign. Many of the canvassers in cases that householders were prepared for their coming and had their donations all ready, and had a cheering word to say about Red Cross as they greeted the canvasser.

The women and men who have volunteered their time for this annual canvass have a busy week ahead of them and they hope at its conclusion that the total result of the appeal will be found in the neighborhood of seven hundred dollars.

On the various streets in the city the cars of the canvassers were easily distinguished by Red Cross emblems, and the arm bands worn by the workers immediately identified them to the person answering their ring at the door bell. The business section will be visited by the men of the committee shown as the result of the appeal will be found in the neighborhood of seven hundred dollars.

It Pays to Shop at the Rexall Store.

AFTER WINTER'S STRAIN!

Glucose—D

For that tired feeling.

Supplies Rapid Energy and Nourishment

16 OUNCE TIN

98c

McKeown's Drug Store

DR. H. J. FAHEY

desires to announce the location of his office now in the Reed Robertson Block, 218 Front St., Belleville.

CAPITOL

TONITE ONLY

HANSON IS AS HANDSOME DOES!

And Somebody's red-headed "Frisco" does! Now, hop to her cabby's parade!

CARL BRISSON PARKER and CHESTER MORRIS

Of Paramount's Comedy Classic Magazine Story

Princess O'HARA

A Universal Picture with Jean Rich - Henry Wadsworth

HARRY LANGDON' COMEDY SCREEN SNAPSHOTS and with MEDDLIN' AT COUNTY FAIR

SHOWS ... 2.30: 7.15: 9.15

"DU BARRY" wore 18kt. Gold Border Saucers

COMING WEDNESDAY By Public Demand

JANET GAYNOR, WARNER BAXTER in

"PADDY THE NEXT BEST THING"

LUCKY PROGRAMMES! 65: 77: 101: 624: 1503

IS GLAD HE SOLD TICKET ON RACE

Banks Ten Thousand Dollars And Horse Fails to Win

Ten thousand dollars drops suddenly out of the blue into the average man's lap, and immediately tantalizing visions of sleek cars, trim speed boats and palatial homes on the Hill, then before his eyes.

So was with youthful 24-year-old Hugh Lafleur of the village of Orland, just north of Brighton. When good luck came upon him in the Grand National Sweepstakes some time ago and he drew a starter in the race, Hugh calmly contented his good fortune. Unlike the ordinary buyer of such tickets, with pie-in-the-sky leaning, he was not going to be rushed in the matter. Visions of great wealth compelled him to retain the ticket for his own; native caution forestalled a safer course. Hugh sold the ticket to the highest buyer in New York. Ten thousand dollars in cash was handed over without a murmur. And Hugh can afford to smile. He will now bring back on the transaction because the horse he drew failed to finish. Instead, by competent horsemen as one of the track favorites.

Windy City gamblers has banked his money. And it is still there today in the city of Chicago's treasurer salesmen of every line, from gold mines to Texas oil wells to apparatus for the cure of corns. Their persuasive sales talks have little effect on the youthful citizen of Orland. For all of them he has the same slow smile, but the equally firm, "I'll stick." Money grow on trees, he observes. And though hundreds have tried him with the question: "What are you going to do with it?" he has the same answer: "Hang on to it. Keep it where I'll know where it is—safe."

This comfortable little nest egg he has won has not tempted Hugh to forsake his home province for the brighter lights of a big city nor has he any intention suddenly splurging in the purchase of any newer decorative effect around his little store. Business there is operated more shrewdly and returns a fair profit to its owner. There is no thought in his mind of ever touching the money that is invested.

"Sometimes when I need it I'll probably spend it, but not until then" Hugh answered, meanwhile serving a customer. Nothing is going to be considers himself a very lucky man.

U. S. LODGE HOST TO FREEMASONS

On an invitation from Austin Harvard Lodge, Worshipful Master Chas. mont Bay Masonic Lodge of New York State and a former resident of this city, accompanied by Moira Lodge No. 11 A.F. & A.M. of this city and members of other lodges from Hon. D. A. Croil and was for the summary months ago, polite Al that was O.K.'d by Hon. Mr. Croil that he was not the man he thought he was. After hearing the point for sometime, it was decided to compromise. The Canadian Workers were asked to submit a schedule showing a reduction of twenty cents and the council would draw up a new one ang a meeting would be held in two weeks to settle the matter. In the meantime the new schedule will be in force. Relief officers, E. B. Cunnell and Jack Blight then gave their report to the council and same was taken from the list and others allowed to get back on after working at other jobs for awhile. "Relief" said the Mayor, 'was rotten always and should never been started. work should have been found as now the morale of the men was destroyed".

Police Car Purchased

The next order of business was the purchasing of a police car to replace the antique, that has served for years both utility and later as a noise maker for sleeping residents as the officers patrolled the streets at night. After a vote it was decided to purchase a Ford coach "from McNutt and Goodwin Ltd. for delivering Saturday afternoon.

Usual accounts were read and passed. The May accounts were:

Finance	$ 7,707.00
Harbor and Public Works	113.12
Printing and By-Laws ..	150.82
Fire, Market and Police ..	1,124.14
Streets and Sidewalks	378.94
Direct Aid	13,668.29
Police Officers	391.60
Municipal officers	243.30
Charity	1,000.00
	$23,296.18

A statement of accounts for the year, up to and including May 31st were also given together with the original estimates as follows:

	Spent	Estimate
Streets and Side-walks	$ 3,804.55	$ 2,500
Harbor and Public Works	464.80	1,500
Fire Market and Police	5,783.02	12,000
Charity	1,561.70	3,000
Contingent	1,527.67	4,000

Toronto, June 4 (CP)—Canada will be represented for the first time when the Royal College of Organists holds its conference in England in July. Thirty Canadians, including Dr. Healey Willan, will attend. Included among the Canadian delegates are W. H. Hewlett and E. G. Elliott of Hamilton and A. G. Merriman of Brantford.

Enjoy the Best Tea

"SALADA" TEA

Trenton and District

Relief Schedule Protested by Workers to Town Council

Both Parties to Submit New Schedule For Consideration

TRENTON, June 4.—(Special)—A great deal of business was dealt with by the Town Council on Friday night, in the regular monthly meeting. Mayor Harry Cory, and the entire council of Emile Bowerman, George LaRush, Hugh O'Rourke, Richard J. Whitley and Charles E. Vrooman were present.

A by-law was passed authorizing the town auditor to work with and furnish all the data necessary for the Dept. of Municipal Affairs with the view to refunding the municipal debt of Trenton.

A deputation from the Trenton Co-operative Workers headed by R. Jones, the secretary, as spokesman, waited on the Council in the form of a petition, over the new relief schedule effective June 1st. The new schedule calls for a day's reduction on the relief work for families of over three members. Mr. Jones said that the organization was in the opinion, that the new schedule was unfair. Families of two and three receive two days of work, families of four five and six will be allowed three days or $9.60 and the family with seven or more will get four days work amounting to $12.00 per week. Mr. Jones said he thought there was too big a reduction for the man of a large family while a family of two got the same. Mayor Cory stated that two had to pay rent, light and water the same as larger families. He figured, that there was no injustice in the new schedule. He also stated, that many families were getting more on relief in Trenton than they ever earned in their lives. This was not disputed by any of the workers representatives present. This town, the Mayor said, had to reduce the relief cost as they could not stand a monthly cost of $13,000. for this purpose. He told them, that the new plan was approved by Hon. D. A. Croil and was for the summary months ago, polite Al that was O.K.'d by Hon. Mr. Croil that he was not the man he thought he was. After hearing the point for sometime, it was decided to compromise. The Canadian Workers were asked to submit a schedule showing a reduction of twenty cents and the council would draw up a new one ang a meeting would be held in two weeks to settle the matter. In the meantime the new schedule will be in force. Relief officers, E. B. Cunnell and Jack Blight then gave their report to the council and same was taken from the list and others allowed to get back on after working at other jobs for awhile. "Relief" said the Mayor, 'was rotten always and should never been started. work should have been found as now the morale of the men was destroyed".

Police Car Purchased

The next order of business was the purchasing of a police car to replace the antique, that has served for years both utility and later as a noise maker for sleeping residents as the officers patrolled the streets at night. After a vote it was decided to purchase a Ford coach "from McNutt and Goodwin Ltd. for delivering Saturday afternoon.

Usual accounts were read and passed. The May accounts were:

Finance	$ 7,707.00
Harbor and Public Works	113.12
Printing and By-Laws ..	150.82
Fire, Market and Police ..	1,124.14
Streets and Sidewalks	378.94
Direct Aid	13,668.29
Police Officers	391.60
Municipal officers	243.30
Charity	1,000.00
	$23,296.18

A statement of accounts for the year, up to and including May 31st were also given together with the original estimates as follows:

	Spent	Estimate
Streets and Side-walks	$ 3,804.55	$ 2,500
Harbor and Public Works	464.80	1,500
Fire Market and Police	5,783.02	12,000
Charity	1,561.70	3,000
Contingent	1,527.67	4,000

INTER CHURCH SOFTBALL

Five churches have entered leagues in the Inter-Church loop and the league will get under way on Wednesday, the 5th, with St. Michael's and Christ Church, finalists of last season, meeting at St. Michael's School grounds, while the Baptists and St. Andrew's will meet at the College Hill diamond the same night. Other teams will be notified and balance of schedule will appear later.

The Baptists and St. George's are two new entries for this year and are both coming in with hopes of repeating the feat of landing the laurels for Christ Church, winners of last season's league.

PHONE 2340

Fur Storage

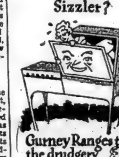
YEAR ROUND INSURANCE

PROTECT YOUR FURS IN BELLEVILLE'S FINEST STORAGE VAULTS

2% or 2½%

OF YOUR OWN VALUATION

ASHLEY FURS



294 FRONT ST.

Next to Bank of Montreal, Belleville, Ont.

Walk Upstairs and Save

DON'T COOK YOURSELF.

Why be a Summer Sizzler?

Gurney Ranges take the drudgery out of the toil you do in the heat out of Summer cooking—All the Heat goes into the cooking not into the Kitchen ..... See our display of new beautiful

Gurney RANGES

Ask about our EASY PAYMENT PLAN

JOHN LEWIS

COMPANY

265 Front St. Phone 2260

MERCHANTS PLAN PICNIC IN 1936

No Action Taken to Hold Boxing Day in This City

A monster merchants picnic for 1936 was one of the questions discussed at the regular monthly meeting of the Belleville branch of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, held last night in Arch Dickens' Coffee Shop with a representative attendance. Some of the members were in favor of holding the picnic this summer but the feeling prevailed, that considerable time should be given to the matter and a worthwhile event staged.

President John McIntosh occupied the chair, assisted by Vice President E. J. Wray and Secretary W. J. Doyle.

Hon. R. H. Stevens Combe, correspondence from the head quarters of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada included was the efforts which have been made to get Hon. R. H. Stevens to attend a meeting in Belleville under the auspices of the local merchants' association. This would be arranged and it is expected the meeting would be held in the Collegiate Institute auditorium this month.

Finances of the association were reported excellent with satisfactory cash balance in the bank and minor matters of routine were also discussed.

Sweeping dust and debris out of stores after the street sweeper has passed was the matter which was objected to in a letter from City Engineer Ponton, and stated that the practice be discontinued.

Boxing Day Holiday

Boxing Day will not be celebrated in Belleville this year as the result of a resolution, that, no action be taken on a request for expression of opinion on the holding of sports on that day and Christmas observed as a public holiday. The opinion of the meeting was unfavorable to the proposal.

Closing the stores on Remembrance Day, November 11, as requested in a letter from the United Veterans Association, was left upon whether the day is declared a statutory holiday.

Several matters of interest to merchants were discussed and action taken.

The next regular meeting will be held the second Monday in September.

SEVEN BOYS HELD IN RECENT THEFTS

Culminating a three months' investigation city police yesterday took into custody seven local youths between the ages of 16 and 18 years, charged with breaking, entering and theft of many local stores and residences and private residence. The boys were taken to the police station, under juvenile court procedure this afternoon where after considerable questioning they confessed, police declared their robberies, that have confronted the police for some months past.

Following the complete investigation Chief Kidd announced, that a special juvenile court session would be held at which all of the young boys would be questioned in detail and are expected to bring their parents. "From my investigation, many more serious cash time and stock measures will have to be taken by the court to stamp out this practice" stated Chief Kidd today.

Some of the boys confessed breaking and entering Holley's plumbing warehouse, 279 Front St., one week end and stealing new brass valves, some 50 pounds of lead and sundry tools. Although the boys in this jada did not work in conjunction with each other, police consider gangs of minor burglaries were unearthed.

Boys admitted breaking and entering the Fruit Machinery Company, Millbridge, and stealing brass nozzles, where they could procure lead, brass or scrap iron. They informed the police, that their loot had been disposed of in Belleville for a commercially low remuneration. One of the gangs in operation even went so far as to remove the fire. Scrap iron, copper, brass and other metals, as well as lead has been reported from locality this spring, the majority of which have been taken and sold by these young lads, it will be charged.

The apprehension of the culprits followed the robbery at Holley's over the week end when a large quantity of brass valves was taken and cached in a barn adjoining the premises. Yard Chief Evans handled the case with the former marking the cached goods when it was found. Some of the "marked" articles were located in the possession of a junk dealer yesterday, which brought about the completion of all the cases.

MURDER, SUICIDE

LOS ANGELES, June 4—(AP)—Linking the two deaths as a murder and suicide, a coroner's inquiring for the butcher knife slayer of an attractive young woman-bride, filed as Dolores Delgado, 26, found the body of George Booth, 2, hanging from a tree limb nearby.

Police found a note at Booth's home which announced he was going to meet my Maker.

"I have just killed Dolores after she told me her vigil hatred," it added.

HOT WATER

for Dishes Cooking Washing Shaving The Bath

Twenty Four

hour-a-day service, all the year round . . . one of the greatest conveniences the modern home can boast . . . now available, with safety, through electricity.

The Automatic Electric Water Heater

IS A MONEY SAVER, TOO.

Hot water furnaces show a marked saving in fuel by removal of the coils used to supply hot water to the taps. Without these coils, there is less demand on the fire to keep the house at the proper temperature.

In summer, some other means of heating water must be provided to replace the furnace coil. Remove the coil now and install an Electric Water Heater.

DON'T DELAY PHONE TODAY.

Belleville Hydro Electric

277 Front St. Phone 2

HYDRO IS YOURS . . . Use it!

FREE

INSTALLATION OF COMPLETE HEATER EQUIPMENT

This includes heater, thermostat, tank insulation and wiring installed

BARGAIN FARES

JUNE, 7-8

DETROIT $6.90

CHICAGO $9.75

RETURN LIMIT

Lv. Detroit not later than 2.30 a.m. Eastern Standard Time, June 11

Lv Chicago not later than 11.30 p.m Central Standard Time, June 11

ROUTE

Via Pooled Services to Toronto, thence Canadian Pacific only.

For full information consult agents. Ask for handbill.

CANADIAN PACIFIC — CANADIAN NATIONAL 246

Obituary

LATE STANFORD J. GORMAN

This Tuesday morning the funeral of Stanford James Gorman took place from the residence of his sister, Mrs. Alex. Bremner, 383 Bleecker Avenue, to St. Michael's church where Requiem High Mass was celebrated by the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Nicholson, V.G., who conducted also the committal service at the graveside in St. James' cemetery.

Mr. Edward Brown sang during the Offertory.

The bearers were Messrs. Donald Beaton, Kenneth Malone, Peter Mc-Donoghue, Frank Kelly and Ernest Pigden.

MRS. ROBERT H. HUNTER

Trenton, June 4 (Special)—Trenton citizens were shocked at news of the sudden passing of Mrs. Robert H. Hunter, which occurred this morning at 2.30 o'clock. Mrs. Hunter, while entertaining friends on Sunday night, Mrs. Hunter had resided in Trenton, for the last three years, coming to the town with her husband who is, the secretary of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. She was born in Chatham thirty-nine years ago, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jas. G. Fleming. Two children, Nancy, aged nine, and Fleming, aged five, survive. One brother, Andrew Fleming of Chatham and a sister Jean Fleming also survive.

Mrs. Hunter's passing will be greatly missed in the social activities of the town and the Trenton Golf Club, where she was a most active member. She also was a valued worker with the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church.

The funeral was held this afternoon from the residence on Maple Street, where her many friends gathered to pay their last respects. The service was in charge of Rev. W. E. Kelley, Minister of St. Andrew's Church. Later the remains were taken to Chatham, where interment will take place.

WOMAN IS INJURED EAST OF NAPANEE

Napanee, June 4.—As the result of a head on collision which occurred on the Hamburg Road a few miles east of Napanee, Miss Mamie Inwood, an occupant in a motor car driven by her cousin, Henry Douglas, suffered severe injuries, and her condition is reported as serious. The accident took place near where the car left the road. The injuries to Miss Inwood were about the chest, and she also received a severe shaking up. The injured woman was removed by Dr. Willoughby and Dr. Duffett of Napanee, and was rushed to the Hotel Dieu, Kingston. The car was badly damaged. It is stated that the driver, rather than have a collision took the ditch.

SYNOD DELEGATES

Representatives to the Anglican Synod meetings in Kingston today are:

St. Thomas parish—Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne, lcan; Dr. Kerr, J. W. Davison and Col. E. A. Geen.

Christ Church parish—Rev. G. O. Wright, rector; O. B. Smith, O. H. Sood, George A. Stokes.

St. John's Mission—Rev. T. M. H. Hall and P. Burnett.

Oamaliel—Rev. Rickin.

Huff's Island—T. Nightingale.

3rd Day . . . Hurry It Ends Tomorrow . . .

ONE DARE MORE

The Story Of Love Which VICTOR HUGO Immortalized!

Remembered!

LES MISERABLES

Now! Memorable Screen Thrill!

Starring Fredric MARCH

Charles LAUGHTON

CEDRIC HARDWICKE

PLUS BELLE LATEST NEWS FLASHES DISNEY COLOUR SYMPHONY

BELLE

Daily ... 2.30: 7.00: 9.10

Feature ... 2.50: 7.20: 9.30

CENTRE HASTINGS SOFTBALL LOOP PLANS SCHEDULE

Edward Wanamaker, Eldorado is Elected to Presidency

Eldorado—Mr. Robert Campbell and daughters, Lois and Evelyn, of Picton, also Mr. Ray Bryden, were callers at the home of Mr. Wm. Andrews on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Comerford and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Weymark of Havelock were guests of Mr. Wm. Bolton and Annie on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Fitzgerald and Jackie, also Mr. Walter Fox spent Sunday at the home of Mr. Fred Fox, Malone.

Misses Iva and Burnis McKean and Master Clayton spent Sunday at Mr. Ed. Post's.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Harvey were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Empey on Sunday afternoon.

Rev. W. G. Fletcher left on Tuesday afternoon for Peterboro, where he will spend the week attending the Bay of Quinte Conference held there. Mr. R. Rollins of Consecon accompanied him.

Mr. Arthur Rollands and his gang are busily employed painting the township bridges.

Mrs. Hank Foster of Consecon spent last week visiting her mother Mrs. John Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Blakely spent Wednesday at the Mr. Ed. Blakely's.

Mr. and Mrs. Tate Sr. have moved into Mr. H. Waldron's home.

Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie of Toronto and Mr. and Mrs. John Chambers were Sunday afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Boyle.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Mikes Davis of Peterboro, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Blakely entertained Mr. and Mrs. J. McAdams and Mr. and Mrs. Cooper on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Whiteman and family were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. B. O'Brien.

Mr. and Mrs. Elton Severil and family were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. Ed. Blakely.

Master Lorne Donley spent a few days in Brantford with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Beer.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bailey attended the funeral on Monday of the late Frank Plumley at Bancroft.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson of Harold spent Sunday in Bannockburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Deline of Halloway were guests of Mrs. John Simpson during the week-end.

Mr. James Hunter Sr., A. W. Hunter and Mr. J. Donley attended the funeral on Monday of the late Mrs. Richard Graham, at Tweed.

Mr. Dick Warren and family moved last week to Belleville, where he is employed with the railway company.

Miss Elezabeth Saddford spent the week-end at Stanmire.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Empey left on Tuesday for a motor trip to Vancouver. They will visit friends enroute at Bracebridge, Ont., Winnipeg, Man., Saskatoon, Sask., Calgary, Alta., and Vancouver, B.C. They expect to be gone three months.

Mr. and Mrs. Russel Whyte and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Whyte motored to Bancroft Sunday and spent the day visiting relatives.

Misses Jean and Clare O'Brien, also Miss Wilma Trotter and Maud Andrews of Bannockburn and Miss Ruth Andrews on Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. Hamilton Plainfield, spent Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Blakely.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sandford and children spent Sunday at the home of Leonard Blackburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Roberts of Madoc, were callers in Bannockburn on Sunday afternoon.

Miss Elezabeth Saddford of Plainfield, spent a couple of days last week the guests of her friends, Mrs. Wm. Blackburn.

The Eldorado and Union Y.P.S. held an executive meeting at the home of the vice-president, Mr. Gordon Smith with a full attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Harvey received word on Thursday that their daughter Freda Harvey, nurse-in-training at Nicholls Hospital, Peterboro, had successfully passed her second year examination and acquired highest standing in her class.

The Y. P. Society are taking charge of the United Church services at Union on Sunday in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Pitcher as Conference is in session.

Central Hastings Softball League a general meeting of the delegates from the northern and central leagues of this organization was held in the Town Hall, Marmora, on Monday May 23rd. The following officers were elected for 1935:

President—Edward Wannamaker, Eldorado.

Vice-President—S. A. Graham, Hogan.

Secretary - Treasurer—Bert Anderson, Madoc.

It was decided to operate again this year under the supervision of the trustees of the Hembury Cup for which the teams in this league compete.

The Central League will consist this year of the following teams: Millbridge, Stoney Settlement, Bannockburn, Cooper and Hematite.

The Northern League will consist of St. Ola and Gunter.

The schedule of the games will be played between these two leagues at the end of the regular playing schedule to decide the winner of the cup for 1935.

Central League Schedule

June 4—Cooper vs. Stoney Settlement.

June 5—Millbridge vs. Hematite.

June 6—Cooper vs. Bannockburn.

June 7—Hematite vs. Stoney Settlement.

June 11—Bannockburn vs. Millbridge.

June 13—Stoney Settlement vs. Bannockburn.

June 13—Stoney Settlement vs. Bannockburn.

June 14—Millbridge vs. Cooper.

June 18—Bannockburn vs. Hematite.

June 19—Cooper vs. Millbridge.

June 20—Millbridge vs. Stoney Settlement.

June 21—Hematite vs. Cooper.

June 25—Hematite vs. Bannockburn.

June 26—Stoney Settlement vs. Millbridge.

June 27—Bannockburn vs. Stoney Settlement.

June 28—Hematite vs. Millbridge.

July 2—Stoney Settlement vs. Hematite.

July 3—Bannockburn vs. Cooper.

July 4—Cooper vs. Hematite.

July 5—Millbridge vs. Bannockburn.

Statue in Way, Put Behind Tent

Dublin, June 3 (CP Cable)—Behind the Manchester Guardian where a revolving drum is telling the story of fortune or misfortune in the Irish sweepstakes, an equestrian statue of George III is suffering its last indignities.

In other days George reared in all his prancing glory before the Mansion House. An inscription cut in the stone paid tribute to the fidelity of Dublin "in the corruption and disloyalty which was characteristic of the day."

"He was the way, so we moved him behind," explained a civic guard.

So, ruefully, pathetic and forlorn, the King of the United States, now stands behind a protein tent for the Irish sweep ticket. In his right hand he holds an old broom. His sword is broken off at the hilt. The tribute to Dublin's fidelity lies broken on the ground.

And by odd irony, the drum inside the Mansion House rolls out a continuous list of winners in the United States.

INCREASE REVENUE

Ottawa, June 3 (CP)—The Department of National Revenue today announced an increase of 1 1-4 cents per pound on the invoice value of spinach in Canadian funds for the Canadian market. The increase is effective in Ontario, Greece, Novra Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island on all shipments after May 31.

New General Manager For Goodrich

F. G. Morley Named Successor to E. S. Sargeant

Frank G. Morley, newly appointed Vice President and General Manager, Canadian Goodrich Company, Kitchener, Ontario, to succeed E. S. Sargeant.

Kitchener, Ont.—Effective today, as the board of directors of the Canadian Goodrich Company, Limited, elected Mr. F. G. Morley Vice President and General Manager to succeed Mr. E. S. Sargeant, who has been connected with the firm since 1907, spending a number of years in Canadian Goodrich factories at Gait, Preston and Kitchener.

Mr. Morley has been a member of the Goodrich organization in Canada since 1926. He started in the Auditing Department in Akron in 1919 and after a year's training, he was appointed Traveling Auditor. His next assignment was in the Credit Department and a year later he was transferred to Canada as Credit and Operating Manager. When the Ames Holden Tire and Rubber Company was purchased by Goodrich in 1928, and the Canadian Goodrich Company Limited, organized, he was appointed General Sales Manager. In February, 1926, he was promoted to Secretary-Treasurer.

LADY TUPPER, 76, VANCOUVER DIES

Husband, Minister of Justice in Canada For Many Years

Erie, Pa., June 4— (CP)—A raging fire which firemen said may have been of incendiary origin, destroyed two big Pennsylvania Railroad Docks and almost 90 loaded box cars as a loss estimated by railroad officials at between $750,000 and $1,000,000.

All equipment and trucks adjacent to the loading docks also burned, after a four-hour fight that night were able to save cargoes of nearby docks.

One man was arrested and an investigation as to how the blaze started got underway.

PLAINFIELD NOTES OF NEIGHBORHOOD

Plainfield — A thank offering service in the form of an open meeting was held in the church on Friday evening.

The devotional period was taken by Mrs. Emerson Sole, "The Meaning of Missions" was given by Miss Elsie Hamilton; Reading by Mary Zimmerson; choir number; an instrumental duet by Mrs. Willis Sills; a two-act play, "Open Windows" by several ladies.

The May meeting of the W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. S. S. Parks.

The President, Mrs. Arthur Hall, presided and opened the meeting with quiet music.

A hymn was followed with prayer by Mrs. A. Hall.

The Scripture reading was given by Mrs. W. Hamilton. Mrs. Arthur Hall and Mrs. Fred Hall conducted the worship service programme, found in the May Missionary Monthly Study.

The devotional leaflet, "Friendship and Prayer" was taken by Mrs. Sweezey.

Hymn No. 226, "What a Fellowship"; Prayer by Mrs. Ida Dempsey; Hymn No. 376, "Prayer is the Soul's Sincere Desire"; Roll Call was answered by a verse of Scripture, containing the word "Love", Mrs. S. Parks, group leader No. 4, then took charge of the meeting.

The leaflet on "Our Work in India" was taken by several of the members.

A leaflet on "Schools and Colleges in India" was read by Mrs. Sherman Parks.

Reading, "The Sin of Happiness" by Mrs. Stanley Hamilton; Mrs. J. Hall gave a Temperance reading.

The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Hubert Tupper.

Lunch was served by the hostess and her helpers served lunch and a social time was enjoyed.

Attendance 30; collection $2.09.

LITERARY PROGRAM AT CARMEL LEAGUE

Carmel—League was held on Wednesday evening last. The President, Miss Jones, opened the meeting by the usual form, after which Miss Fern Patterson, leader of the literary program, took charge.

A good program was enjoyed consisting of readings and choruses by the junior boys and girls. An instrumental was given by Miss Ruth Bristnall. Miss Pat Reynolds gave the topic. A reading was given by Garth Stine after which Miss Patterson thanked everyone who took part in the program.

The meeting closed with prayer. A contest was then put on by the leaders.

The winners were awarded a lovely box of salted peanuts.

Mrs. W. Fenton spent Monday with Mrs. Jas. Brownson.

Mrs. R. Pearson is able to be up again after her fall.

Friends here are very sorry to hear of the sad loss of Jack St. Martin. Sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Simmons of Trenton, and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Johns of Belleville were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. Wallace Simmons.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bristnall visited the latter's father, Mr. Jos. Brownson of Stirling on Sunday.

Mr. Willard Bristnall was on the sick list this week.

Jack McCabe and Mr. Vernal Priddle spent Sunday evening at the home of Mrs. W. Stine.

LONSDALE NEWS OF COMMUNITY

Lonsdale—The farmers in this vicinity were pleased to see the rain that came this week.

Mrs. Frank McCabe and Albert McCullough are pleased to hear that he has been able to return home and he is progressing after spending a number of weeks in the Belleville hospital.

Mrs. Frank McCabe has been spending a few days with friends in Corbyville.

Mrs. Albert McCullough is spending a few days with friends in Belleville.

Mr. Justin McHenry is better after suffering a severe illness.

Miss Rhea Wager is visiting her father and friends in this community after spending some time in Montreal.

Mr. Fitzgerald, painter and decorator, has been busily engaged in this village repainting the home of Mr. Norman Whitehead.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Kent Harrowsmith, spent the week-end with friends in this neighborhood.

RUMOR PLANE FELL INTO WILD FOREST

'Large Shiny Object' Reported Seen Lying on Hill

Malone, N.Y., June 3.—(AP)—State police investigating a report an airplane fell in a wild Adirondack Forest yesterday were informed today a fire warden had seen a "large, shiny object" lying on a hill near Chester Lake. A party was immediately organized to make a trip to the spot.

Mystery was attached to the object both because the Warden said he had never seen it before and because troopers have been unable to find any airplane is missing in this section or from Canadian border points.

From two sources they were informed a small plane fell in a wild section near Silver Mountain.

HEAVY LOSS FROM INCENDIARY FIRE

90 Loaded Box Cars Are Destroyed at Loss of One Million

Vancouver, June 4— (CP)—Lady Janet Tupper, 76, widow of the late Sir Hibbert Tupper, son of Sir Charles Tupper, Premier of Canada in 1896, is dead here after a short illness.

Born in Picton, N. S., Lady Tupper came to Vancouver 25 years ago with her husband who died eight years ago. He was Minister of Justice and Attorney General from 1900 to 1906.

Obituary

LATE MRS. NELLIE MURRAY

Following is a list of the spiritual and floral offerings made by friends of the late Mrs. Nellie Murray, wife of Mr. Aryhle Murray, 140 Charlotte Road:

Spiritual offerings—Sisters of St. Michael's Convent, Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Donavon, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Cavanaugh, Mr. and Mrs. W. Fallant, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Murray, Mr. William Milne and family, Mrs. J. P. Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. James Donavan, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Murray, Mrs. Andrew Walsh, Mr. Frank Bennett, Miss Elizabeth Bennett, Mr. Ethel Hamilton, Mr. George Belch, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Connell, Mrs. Jas. Alexander, Mrs. Mary Belfry, Mrs. John Burns, Mrs. Frank Hill and Percy, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Staples and Max, Mrs. Joseph Bradden, Mr. P. E. Hayes and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Murray, Mr. Francis Murray, Mr. and Mrs. W. Pomeroy, Miss M. St. Charles, Miss Courtenay, Mr. and Mrs. John McCauley and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Scanlon and Ethel Deacon, Mrs. J. V. Jenkins, St. Michael's Benevolent Society, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carey and Geraldine, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. William Bowen, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith, Mrs. J. V. Roes and Mrs. Frank Barrett, Mrs. Reg. Ilsh and Catherine, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Murray and family and Gerald.

Floral offerings—Miss P. L. Crook, Mrs. Clemens and family, Mrs. Curtis Fox, Mickey McDonald, Mr. F. Van Norman, Mrs. Bellis and Lillian, Mr. and Mrs. F. Jeffers and family, Mr. and Hickney, Mr. and Mrs. R. Gulding of Oregon, C.N.R. Tornado Shop, Belleville Men's Softball Association, Mrs. Morgan, Mrs. Burt and Patterson, Herman Reynolds and family, Mr. Cecil Reeves and family, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hall and Mary, Mr. Little and family, Young Canada Club.

WINS MARATHON

Halifax, June 3—(CP)—Johnny Kelley, winner of this year's Boston marathon, clipped 18 seconds off the record for the Halifax and Mail's 10-mile modified marathon today to win the grind over a course made of Canadian and United States contenders.

The young Arlington, Mass., speedster was trailed by another Bay State runner, Hawk Campagnone of Medford, Mass., who finished second ahead of Bernie Rogers of New Glasgow, N. S.

CROWNED QUEEN

Kemiville, N.S., June 3 (CP)—Annapolis Valley's annual blossom festival was in full swing today. There was a profusion of apple blossoms because the trees are a bit behind.

All along the valley's 40-mile stretch growers and their people gave themselves up to entertaining. Margaret Messenger, 20-year-old Bridgetown girl who was crowned queen, reigned over the carnival.

"More Protection per Dollar than any other Accident Insurance."

Canadian Office:
140 Wellington Street
OTTAWA, ONTARIO

The Commercial Travellers Mutual Accident Association of America

H. E. TRAVERSY, Secretary-Treasurer

Give the RED COATS a welcome!

HAVE the famous "Kellogg RED COATS" called at your home yet? Right to your door they come, bringing you a taste of oven-fresh crispness—a generous sample of Kellogg's Corn Flakes.

Whenever the Kellogg RED COAT rings your doorbell, you can be sure he brings something you'll enjoy. We appreciate your courtesy in greeting him and accepting what he offers. Be on the watch for his call.

This sample of Kellogg's Corn Flakes will help you understand why Kellogg's have become the world's favorite ready-to-eat cereal. Their flavor and crispness are beyond imitation. No other corn flakes reach you oven-fresh, protected by Kellogg's patented WAXTITE inner wrapper.

Get a big package at your grocer's and serve Kellogg's tomorrow. Let your whole family enjoy a change to crispness! Ready to serve with milk or cream. Delicious with fruit or berries added. Nourishing. Easy to digest.

Kellogg's Corn Flakes are the outstanding cereal value. Many servings for a few cents.

No cooking or trouble to prepare. Quality guaranteed. Made by Kellogg in Kellogg in London, Ontario.

Kellogg's CORN FLAKES

Kellogg's CORN FLAKES

'Star' Gardener

Elsa Landi, Hollywood Actress, is a real Star Gardener. She Grows Her Own Flowers and Vegetables and Tends to Them Herself. She is Shown Here in a Bed of California Asters of Which Any Backlot Gardener Would be Proud.

Plant Carrots And Turnips Into July

They Are Excellent Crops to Follow Lettuce or Radishes; Young Roots Best.

Carrots and turnips are vegetables to plant until into July. The supply of baby carrots can be maintained only by successive plantings and the carrot in its infancy has now displaced the mature vegetable in popular esteem and rightly so as it has a tenderness and delicacy of flavor lacking in the full grown vegetable. We have also learned that the young turnip, fresh pulled is better than the mature root which formerly was the only form in which it was eaten. Young turnips with their green tops are now a staple market commodity. The tops of turnip greens are also an excellent article for the table.

The second week in July is the traditional time to plant turnips for the mature roots for winter storage. They are a convenient yellow crop for the early peas which are now bearing in July. Young turnips can be pulled up and turnips planted in the patch. Carrots can be employed in the same manner.

Plant the turnips in rows. The seeding style was to broadcast and rake in the seed. Better turnips, more uniform and regular in size can be obtained by planting them in rows, thinning to six inches apart and keeping them cultivated. The old style gardener used to turn the turnips loose to take care of themselves which they did and produced good turnips, but they will do much better when given the aid of good cultivation and allowing each vegetable to struggle for its life with weeds in a well tended garden.

Carrots are much better quality when taken care of. First of all it should be planted in four inch rows apart. The soil should be kept stirred and the baby carrots will grow amazingly and be ready to pull for the table in larger quantity than if left to struggle with too close family relations.

Carrots and turnips are excellent crops to follow lettuce, spinach and young radishes. We plant turnips to follow radishes. They are of the same family and the same traces of plants should not be used to follow crops for the kindred.

It is now time to be put in summer radishes, a large rooted type that makes fine radishes in summer and does not go to seed as quickly as the early spring types in hot weather. Turnips planted now follow the early spring leaf crops as the lettuce and spinach. Planting in succession will keep the garden working full time.

PLAINFIELD

Plainfield—Mrs. Empey spent Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Eric Denyes and Mrs. H. E. Denyes.

Mr. Stanley Hamilton is painting Mrs. M. Hubbal's residence.

Mr. Jas. Hall, Belleville, spent a few days in this community visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Hark Rollins and their father and mother spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Rolling.

Hamilton played the local team on Friday evening. Four innings were played and the score was 4 to 4. Darkness stopped the game.

There was a large crowd witnessing the game.

The teams play at Cannifton on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Charles Beatty spent Friday in Hungerford township.

Mrs. Frank Garrison and Mrs. Tiner motored east on Friday.

CAN'T SLEEP? IT'S YOUR NERVES

Relief comes soon with use of

Dr. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

PROGRAM GIVEN BY WELLMAN'S Y. P.

Rawdon—Wellman's Young People's Society opened with a hymn and Miss Dick offered prayer.

Mrs. Dorothy Dunham presided over her program and Mr. Jack Hutchens read the Bible lesson found in Judges 7. Miss P. Cook sang a solo on the "Oldest Book Ever Judge".

Mr. Frederick Beckett gave a guitar solo and Miss Grace Day a man recited "The Tale of a Shirt" by Edgar Guest. Mr. C. Dracup and Miss Lucille Dracup rendered a musical number and all joined in "Fight the Good Fight" and a social contest.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Wellman's on Monday, May 27th, 1935, to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon D. Wellman, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hendry and Janet of Toronto were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morton, Wellman, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beckett.

Miss Nina Dracup of Belleville spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dracup.

Mr. Phil. Carr spent a couple of days this week in Peterboro.

Mrs. Charles Sharp, Marie and Audrey, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Allen spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sharp in Cranberry.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sharp, Eldorado, spent Sunday and Monday this week with her parents at Fuller's.

Among those from this district who assisted with the program at Campbellford on the occasion of the Birthday of Loch Lommond Rebekah Lodge were Misses Mildred Elliott, Bethel, Mina Carlisle, Carmel; Mrs. A. Fryar, Mrs. Henry Farrell and Mrs. Hattie Fluhel of Carmel. Those who attended report a delightful time.

Miss Della Johnson of Belleville, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Johnson and children of Trenton, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Johnson.

Mr. Herb. Hoover was guest speaker at Tyrkstone Community League and chose as his subject "The Church and the Home and the Church". Miss Lulu Hoover read "Minister is on a Vacation". A debate, "Resolved that the auto is a curse rather than a blessing" was won by the affirmative side. The debaters were, Messrs. Fred Rothbart, Ernest Anderson, James Barnett and Kinnear Day.

Born—At Carmel on May 22nd, to Mr. and Mrs. Harlon Cooley, a son.

A large number of Rawdonians attended the miscellaneous shower in Stirling Community Hall in honor of the approaching marriage of Miss Grace Wright and Mr. Donald Donohue. The young couple were the recipients of many useful gifts.

Rev. P. O. Jobin, pastor of Rawdon circuit was guest speaker at the Mother's school on Empire Day. Miss Lois Linn, president of the Red Cross Society, presided. The program opened with "God Bless Our Native Land". The teacher, Miss Grace Dunham brought greetings from the Minister of Education and a chorus of "O Canada" and then Donald Nix read a selection dealing with "Twenty-five Years' Rule of King George Fifth".

Doris Pelkoch recited "Our Flag" and Miss Carlyn Johnson contributed a piano solo, and Master Junior Reagle was found in a recitation. The boys of the school gave a chorus and Ronald Pelkoch recited "The Great General".

An interesting dialogue entitled, "Our Empire Birthday Party" was enjoyed. Miss Dorothy Hinds sang "God save the King" and Miss Kathleen Brought to the boys and girls a splendid Empire Day message of loyalty and courage.

The school sang "The Land of Glad To-Morrows" and Jim Watson told the story of Empire Day. Rules of the school sang and Alma Johnson read a selection. Miss Hinds gave a piano solo and Donald Pollock a recitation.

Miss Dayman spoke briefly, tendering a vote of thanks and appreciation to the guest speaker and this helpful program in which the "The Song of Peace" and The National Anthem.

Rev. Jobin enjoyed a buffet dinner at the school house with the teacher and pupils and all heartily enjoyed the jolly noon hour as well as the splendid program which followed.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Elliott and Mildred, Mrs. George Bailey and Irvine attended the Rebekah Birthday, Party at Campbellford.

PHILIPSTON-ZION W.I.

The May meeting of the Philipston-Zion Institute was held at the home of Mrs. S. Rogers with the president, Mrs. Marshall, in charge.

After the usual opening exercises, Mrs. Rogers read "Modern Nationality", was well responded to.

The minutes of the previous meeting were adopted as read. Mrs. Bunnett, leader for the month, then took charge of the social program.

Mrs. Stevenson gave a very interesting paper on "The Home Maker". Mrs. Percy Ray put on a cake demonstration which proved very amusing as well as difficult.

In address by Mrs. Gilroy, the district director, was then made to be made of the W. I. and the benefits and privileges. Many useful hints on the problems of everyday life were very instructive. This address was brought to a close by a poem, entitled, "Mother".

A prize was given to the Mother present with the largest family and was won by Mrs. John Liddle.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem, and assistant hostesses served a delicious lunch.

KILLS MOSQUITOES-MOTHS FLY-TOX ANTS-FLIES-ALL INSECTS

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at The Ontario Intelligencer Press Building, Bridge Street, Belleville.

NEW ARISTOCRACY

The day is far gone if the present award of royal honours in Canada may be taken as a criterion of a change in the public mind, when titles and honours will be bestowed merely for power, wealth and position. A glance at the latest list of honours on His Majesty's birthday finds the arts, public service, science and philanthropy and charity represented by leading men and women. If there must be an aristocracy outside of the aristocracy of character which inspires no honour it should rightly be the aristocracy of those who either in the public services, in the service of their country, or through the arts and sciences have done much for Canada. With that new aristocracy Canada has made a good start in the past year and a half with now over two hundred persons singled out for the honour of honours for service. The new aristocracy is one of character and service and may or may not have wealth, money being purely accidental as regards the bestowal of the awards. These men and women may not have the means to use their honours as persons honoured under a much older regime for wealth and position but surely they hold up a higher ideal for the people of Canada, a new land which while possessing character and a national spirit is not yet a nation.

Back in the first years of the century a Bellevillian, a novelist, and member of the British Commons, Gilbert Parker, was honoured and later knighted and later to a baronetcy. But it was not until this June that the literary craft as represented by Charles G. D. Roberts, and Ralph Connor, Rev. Dr. Charles W. Gordon), art in the person of Wyly Grier, and music in Dr. Ernest MacMillan, received so generous and worthy acknowledgement of service. Nothing like it has appeared in the history of the arts in Canada. This public recognition with knighthood approaches somewhat to the traditions of the older world with their academies admission to which is a public recognition of merit. The honours of knighthood conferred on these artists will give thought to those Canadians who do not give the artist in whatever field he labors due recognition. Henceforth the men and women who are giving their best in the service of their ideal in the arts are rightly honoured alike with leaders in other spheres.

Canadians cannot but feel happy in that their great tenor, Edward Johnson, becomes an O.B.E., Dr. McLennan, of Toronto University, a noted scientist, is raised to knighthood, a tribute to science in this age of scientific progress.

In the field of the public service, Sir Thomas White is promoted to Knight Grand Cross of St. Michael and St. George, President Edward W. Beatty of the C.P.R. is made a knight, and Ambassador H. Marler and Senator Joseph Chapais are knighted and A.G. Doughty, Dominion Archivist, C.M.G., is promoted to a knighthood in the order.

Dr. A. R. Dafoe of Callander, receives the O.B.E., a worthy recognition of the service of the general medical practitioner. Col. J. H. Woods of Calgary, who visited Belleville some years ago and K. S. Southam, Chairman of the National Gallery at Ottawa, who receive the Order of St. Michael and St. George are among the others of the 107 outstanding Canadians now honoured.

The Canadian aristocracy as it is being constituted is one of great honour, membership in which cannot but be a badge of greatness through the brain and the heart.

OPENING DAYS

Examination papers and commencement exercises are all signs of those stirring last days of school and university. The end of the year's course of study is at hand. The vacation begins to beckon.

Coming of holidays changes the parental routine. Parents now have to think of what their children are going to do in the summer months. Do what they will, they must give thought to this, even if it means that they are going to stay in the city without holidays.

But the child and the youth do not worry. They are so full of life that they find all sorts of pleasure in the days. And they would rather make their pleasures than have them ready-made for them. That is the way of the young and it is the right way, otherwise the world could not advance.

Examinations, commencements and holidays give rise in much serious thinking on the part of the parents and of youths. Youths bear the load more lightly but not so the parents who look out for the brighter day which they hope is near when the advancing wave of prosperity will carry many into positions. Of course the child in the ideal plan of nature and of the Department of Education does not worry over such things. Those meditations are reserved for the days after off. Happy childhood!

SIDELIGHTS

THE HOME FORUM

Discussing the events of the day, when ready and convenient, by Intelligencer readers, in this column, under the evening lamp—and occasionally Grave and Gay. — Supervised by The Lamplighter.

SMALL THINGS

Small things are best,
Though near or seen from far;
Small things are loveliest,
A lark, a star!
The tiny lines
On pansy petals drawn,
The candle-gleam that shines
When day is gone;
Furred, quiet things
That glide from tree to tree
Are small and dear. Bright wings
Are good to see.

—Aline Michaelis.

x x x

"MURDER! AT MIDNIGHT"

PUBLICITY FOR DIONNE QUINTUPLETS shows no signs of decreasing—for by a peculiar combination of circumstances the five babies of Corbeil-Callander have no difficulty making the Front Page with great regularity. The Dionne sisters couldn't get any more free publicity if they had Ivy Lee or Dexter Fellows as press agents. The fact that they have several publicity agents in the official guardians helps to keep them constantly before the public, and the first birthday celebration was well managed.

x

Quintuplet paragraphs are many and varied and the repercussion of those Callander kids knows no geographical limits.

x

Here's one for the book.

x

Call came to Belleville Police Headquarters one night recently just as today was getting ready to vacate in favor of tomorrow, in others words the midnight hour was near. A feminine voice came over the phone over the telephone imploring police assistance as murder was being committed before her very eyes.

x

It was a case of hurry-hurry or a coroner would be needed as well as a cop.

x

Constable William Evans leaped into the police car and sped toward the scene, picking up another patrolman enroute.

x

Arriving at the scene in record time the cops found peace, perfect peace, except for a crying woman and considerable furniture wreckage.

x

Inquiry into the cause of the disturbance revealed the fact that an argument had started between two men of the household as to who was entitled to the most credit for keeping the Dionne quintuplets alive.

x

One argued that had it not been for the care and cleverness of Dr. Allan Dafoe the quintuplets would have been angels long ere this.

x

The other man argued that to the father Dionne, was all credit due, for the strength and stamina of the five famous kiddies. Were it not for the health and vitality of the parents there would have been no quintuplets, and without that inherited stamina they would not have lived a day, Dr. Dafoe to the contrary, notwithstanding.

x

And so on—far into the night—

x

Until argument ceased and war began. last resort of primitive man when argument fails to convince. Fists flying accompanied by a barrage of words, more forceful than polite, aspersions on ancestors, and words which sizzle and smoke and pave the way to mayhem and murder.

x

The woman screamed and bethought herself of the telephone and the police as the furniture started to become dismembered, and blood was flowing freely.

x

Then Constable Bill Evans and the reserves arrived at the front door just as the belligerents declared an armistice and bolted from the back door into the night for parleys in argument but friends in flight.

x

All because five baby girls were born in the same hour of the same day of the same year, up in Northern Ontario.

x

No arrests were made, but as is easily seen the Dionne-Dafoe Quintuplets scored some more publicity in this Great Family Journal.

REVOLT IN THE DESERT

by

T. E. LAWRENCE

His movements were impetuous. He showed himself hot-tempered and sensitive, even unreasonable, and a man of scorn on laughter. Appetite and physical weakness were mated in him, with the utmost courage. His personal charm and his impudence, the pathetic hint of frailty as the sole covering of the proud character made him the idol of his followers. No one never asked if he were scrupulous; but later he showed that he could return trust for trust, suspicion for suspicion. He was fuller of wit than of humour.

His training in Abdul Hamid's entourage had made him passionater in diplomacy. His military service with the Turks had given him a working knowledge of tactics. His life in Constantinople and in the Turkish Parliament had made him familiar with European questions and statesmen. He was a caring judge of men. If he had the strength to realise his dreams he would be great, for he was wrapped up in his work and lived for it night and day; but the fear was that he would wear himself out by trying to seem to be more and little higher than the truth, or that he would die of too much action. He never told me that he had the spell of fighting, in which he had to guard himself, and feed with courage, and control and encourage others. Some colleagues thought he and was carried away from his victory, unconscious, with the foam upon his lips.

Meanwhile, here, as it seemed, was the end to our hard, which we had to try to be big enough to take it, a crushed end, if we would avoid an ecgent form to the idea behind the activity of the Arab revolt. It was the end to which we had looked for, much more than our halting hopes believed. The aim of the trip was fulfilled.

My duty now was now to take the aborted road to Egypt with the news: and the knowledge gained that evening in the palm wood spread and blossomed in my mind into a thousand branches, leafy and fruitful and shady leaves, beneath which I and my half-listened and saw victories, while the twilight deepened, and the night; until a line of slaves with lamps came down the winding paths between the palm trunks, and with Feisal and Maulud we walked back through the gardens to the little house. It is one I am still full of waiting people, and to the hot inner room in which the families were assembled, and there we sat down together to the smoking bowl of rice and meat set upon the food-carpet for our supper by the slaves.

Next morning I was up early and out among Feisal's troop towards the side of Khadra by myself, not to feel the pulse of their opinions in a moment. Time was of the essence of my effort, for I had to organise to gain in ten days the impression which would ordinarily have been the fruit of weeks of observing in my circumstances, that sideway-slipping affair of the senses. Normally I would go along all days, with my mind unconsidered but blind to every detail, only generally aware that there were things and, or things, grey, or clear things about me. Today my eyes had to be screwed straight to my brain, that I might note a thing or two the more clearly for coming from the former mistiness. Such things as nearly always shaped rocks and trees, or men's bodies in repose or movement: but these things the flowers, for qualities like color.

Yet here was strong need of a steep exposure. In this dust was the least irregularity was a joy to all, and modern guns a great counter to exploit the latent imagination of the General Staff. I believed that the Arab revolt could be made considerable, before ever I came, that it could be made to go in certain right places; but others in Egypt backed their fancies against the guiding intelligent of the Arabs in the field. By boiling down something of the spirit of their conception in the hills about the Holy City I hoped to persuade the people in Cairo for the further measures necessary to help.

The men received me cheerfully. Beneath every great rock or bush there was a group of them, variously resting from the heat, and refreshing themselves with coffee, and nearly coolness of the shaded stone. Feisal had sent out the word for a Turk-trained officer who had deserted to them, and were profuse in their welcome to me, and their questions of how they should treat him.

They were in wild spirits, shouting their loss not only the fighting men, but their families, and saying they were a needful for a man, four for a camel. Nothing were wanting but the means of miracle of keeping a tribal army in the field for five months on end.

The more actual contingents were continually shifting, in obedience to the whim of Feisal. A family would own a rifle, and the sons serve in turn for a few days each. Marriages and deaths and other causes of absence would be filled by men from the reserve. The whole clan would become bored and take a rest. Feisal's eight thousand men were in ten camel-corps and the rest hill-men. They served only under their tribal sheikhs, and near home, arranging their own food and transport.

Blood feuds were nominally healed, and really suspended in the Sharifian area; Billi and Juheina, Atetha and Agayl living and fighting side by side in Feisal's army. All the same, the members of one tribe were shy of those of another, and within the tribe no man would give trust to his neighbor. Each might be, usually was, head-to-head against the Turk, but perhaps not quite to the point of failing to work off a family grudge upon a family enemy in the field.

Their acquisitive recklessness made them keen on booty, and wherever there to tear up railways, plunder caravans, and steal camels, but they were too fear-minded to endure command, or to fight in team. A man who could fight well by himself made equally a bad soldier, and these champions seemed to me no material for our drilling; but if we strengthened them by light subsidiary guns of the Lewis type, to be handled by themselves, we might be capable of holding their hills.

The Hejaz war was the fight of the young mountainous, barren country (reinforced by a wild horde of nomad fighters) against an army so enriched in equipment by the Germans as almost to have lost virtue for rough-and-tumble work. The hill-belt was a paradise for snipers. The valleys, the wadis, were the only practicable roads, for miles and miles were not en mouth valleys as chasms or gorges, sometimes two hundred yard across, but sometimes a thousand feet deep, with steep and turns, one thousand or four thousand feet apart, or even over, and flanked each side by pitiless cliffs of black and porphyry, not in polished slopes, but serrated and split and piled up in thousands of jagged heaps of fragments as hard as metal and nearly as sharp.

In general the Turkish unsentioned eye impossible that, without treachery on the part of the mountain tribes, the Turks could dare to break their way through.

Behind the broken country the Turks had their communications, and there also they had their depots, their guns, their machine-gun crews from the front, and file in the internment camps, and provide them with such mountain guns and light machine-guns as were obtainable in Egypt. Lastly, I would advise that British Army officers, professionals, be sent down to act as advisers and liaison officers with him in the field.

This time our talk was of the most naked simplicity, and ended in warm discussion. With him and an invitation to return as soon as might be. I explained that my duties in Cairo excluded field work, but perhaps a my chief would let me pay a second visit later on, when his present wants were filled and his movement was going forward prosperously. Meanwhile I would ask him for facilities to return to the north for Egypt.

Feisal's care gave me an escort of local Sherifs, who guided me to Yerbo, through other miles of stark hills with the hair lines of irrigated valleys threading their barrenness. Yerbo, a village Jeddah, proved hospitable. Its governor, a Javanese from Mecca, fed me and lodged me for many days till the Suez Captain Boyle put in to harbor, and granied me passage down the coast. "Granted me": for I was in a very soiled condition after days of riding light, and I had a native head-cloth on my head; and to the Royal Navy all things seemed crapulous. Being as the senior naval officer in the Red Sea, should have been the exemplar of his type, but he sat on the shaded deck of his bridge, residing Bryce's Amenities Constitution so intently to spare me more than fourteen words a day.

TO BE CONTINUED

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

JUNE 4TH, 1915

Miss Gertrude Alford, law student of this city, has passed her semi-final examination in law at Osgoode Hall, Toronto. She is the first Belleville lady to adopt law as a profession.

Messrs Hugh Blain, W. D. Wilson, W. S. Scott, T. H. Kinnear and A. A. Spalding left for Toronto, R. C. Beckett, Geo. E. Bristol, E. A. Izard and F. H. Yapp of Hamilton and C. Fry and P. Howell of Norwich, Ont., were in the city today. These gentlemen are stock holders and directors of the Belleville Cider and Vinegar Works and are here on a tour of inspection. Last evening they gave a dinner at Hotel Quinte at which were present Messrs J. F. Wills, John Elliott, H. Sneyd, H. F. Ketcheson, T. Tait and Dr. Symons.

Mr. W. S. Clarke has returned home after a business trip to Toronto.

A large number of baseball fans journeyed to the Agricultural Park yesterday afternoon for the opening of the ball season. They witnessed a fast and interesting game The Ontarios of this city and a team from Peterboro were the teams playing and the victory was in the end with the latter. The ball was thrown, but Peterboro had the breaks and they got the better of it, losing 6 to 5. The following composed the teams: Belleville—A. Mcgie, F. Gower, N. S. Power, Geo. Gerow, Mills, Kelleher, Morrison, Phillips, Symons, Green. Peterboro—Cassidy, Kennally, Neary, O'Connell, Rose, Anderson, Hatrick, Davis, Corrin.

30 Years Ago

JUNE 4TH, 1906

Mr. H. C. Dundas, accountant in the Canadian Bank of Commerce here for the past two years, has been promoted to the position of manager of the bank's branch at Bridgewater, Nova Scotia. He leaves this evening for his new home. Mrs. Dundas and children will leave later. Mr. Dundas has been deservedly popular during his residence here and his many friends regret that he is leaving Belleville.

Mayor Charles N. Sulman will act as police magistrate during the absence from the city of Magistrate Flint.

Mr. Richard Irving and family of Napanee will take up residence in Belleville shortly.

Miss Clara V. Haynes of this city assisted at entertainments in Cobourg and Lindsay last week.

Mr. Arthur Parker has been transferred to the branch of the Bank of Montreal at Guelph.

Mrs. and Mrs. R. Croft Hume will leave on Sunday for Quebec where they will attend the marriage of their son-in-law, Mr. Milnes.

40 Years Ago

JUNE 4TH, 1895

Mr. Thos. Manley is making good progress with the rebuilding of Mr. Andrew Church. The building is ready for roofing.

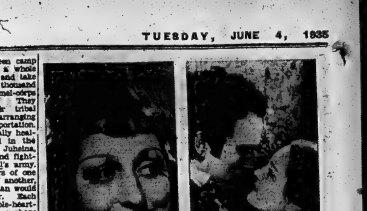
There was a slight fall of snow in the city yesterday afternoon, followed by a shower of rain.

A city league game of football was played on the grounds at the D. & D. Institute on Saturday afternoon between the Citys and the Centrals. The Citys won, the score being 1 to 0. The teams composed the teams: City—Wolever; Jamieson (Scott); Twining, F. Doyle; Hardy; Kelso; Bogart; Green; A. McFee and R. Weller. Centrals—McCleary; Dowling; Fraser; Carey; Sutherland; Hicks; Chown; Gordon; Conger; Jones and Mc-Guire. It was a hard fought game. W. E. Thomas official referee, gave great satisfaction.

The bakers have increased the price of bread to 5c per loaf.

50 Years Ago

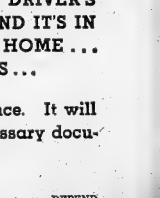
JUNE 4TH, 1885



Complaint is made that many cows are constantly allowed to rove in the city streets. Something should be done about this.

Mr. W. N. Ponton has been appointed Vice United Empire Consul at this port. We extend our congratulations.

The rate of taxation in Toronto has been placed at 18 1-2 mills, Mr. Eddison's assessment of a black bass yesterday which weighed 3 pounds and nine ounces.



There are two schooners lying idle in the harbor waiting for employment. The captains state that business has not been as dull in many years as it is at present.

An agent for Robbins' Circus gave a magic lantern exhibit of some of the attractions of the show in front of the Dafoe House last evening.

Frances Drake, John Beal and Rochelle Hudson in Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables," co-starring Fredric March and Charles Laughton, at the Belle tonight and Wednesday.

WHEN YOU NEED YOUR DRIVER'S LICENSE IN A HURRY . . . AND IT'S IN YOUR OTHER SUIT BACK HOME . . . AND ARGUMENT IS USELESS . . .

Try Long Distance. It will get you the necessary document . . . quickly.

In emergency or every day you can DEPEND on Long Distance. And it's inexpensive, as the rates in the front pages of your directory show. You can talk 100 miles or so for as little as 30 cents.

G. W. Proctor
Manager

Church Must Not Plunge Into Politics, Economics, Synod Warned by Bishop Right Rev. John Lyons at Diocesan Synod Tells Representatives Time Demands Calm Thinking

SELFISH CAPITALIZE UNREST

Church Must Satisfy Need of Distracted and Suffering World, And Forbearance is Held Up As Duty

Kingston, June 4—The call for applied Christianity is insistent in our day and we are met with a world situation such as exists at the present time. The Church in her responses cannot afford to plunge headlong into politics and economics or espouse all movements which may have as their purpose the amelioration of social and industrial conditions," said the Right Rev. John Lyons, Lord Bishop of the Diocese of Ontario at the opening of the Synod of the Diocese at St. George's Cathedral here today, it is the 66th session of the Synod.

"She must undertake, it is true, to relate her message, primarily and essentially one of spiritual redemption, to the needs of the present. Everything undertaken to establish more firmly the divine order of justice and righteousness among men and nations alike is just as much God's affair as ours, and just as much His as are our prayers and worship and service equally as well under His jurisdiction.

Clear-Thinking is Needed

"In these days, self-seeking and over ambitious individuals are prone to capitalize the present unrest and to foster, and take advantage of, the ever growing irritability which arises from the maladjustment of the times. These are days, rather, for calm thinking, sane talking and patient action.

"Support for recognized authority, must be encouraged, and confidence in Governments, as by law established, revived and strengthened. Ponder, therefore, these Canonical things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's."

The times are too serious to permit ourselves to play into the hands of fractional leader and petty politicians. Self-interest must become subservient to the well being of the country and of humanity. In the labours of this Synod, as elsewhere in the discharge of our duties and responsibilities as churchmen and Christian gentlemen, our best judgment will be taxed to the utmost to enable our Church to bear her witness and even greater effectiveness to satisfy the need of a direly distracted and suffering world.

Forbearance

"Unbridled self-assertion must give way to the true spirit of service. It will be incumbent upon us to cultivate forbearance and to practice patience. Our beloved Monarch, King George V., has indicated the way to both churchmen and statesmen.

"There should be no hesitancy, no indifference, not anything omitted in word or action, so far as we can govern, to mar in any way the natural and unimpeded functioning of the church's machinery.

King's Strong Faith

"Mark the simple expression of the strong faith which supports our King in his arduous task, 'I look back, he says, on the past with thankfulness to God. Other anxieties may be in store. But I am persuaded that with God's help they may all be overcome if we meet them with confidence, courage and unity. So I look forward to the future with faith and hope.'

No Artificial Barriers

Opening his address to the Brethren of the Clergy and the Laity the Bishop said:

"It is with much joy that I welcome you, my most cordially, brethren, to this sixty-ninth Session of the Synod of the Diocese. I would that I might address you at this time, in words akin to those in which the first Bishop of the Diocese expressed himself in his charge to the first Session of the Synod when he said—We have no artificial obstacles nor no real difficulties such as the absence of a long established society present.' Under existing conditions, it is not reasonable to expect that our work should become more-complex in nature and our problems more acute.

Support of Church

"Our first thought, however, should be one of devout thanksgiving to Almighty God for His gracious bestowal of His favor upon us.

"Though our lot is cast in days of temporal adversity, the devotion and liberality of our people have combined to maintain the resources of the church at a level even surpassing the most sanguine expectations of the majority. We cherish, therefore, confidence to suffer from the economic crisis.

"It is more readily we grasp the seriousness of our responsibilities, and the more unmistakably we perceive the need of the church to be of vital concern, the more we shall be constrained to give unreservedly of our time to assist alike in the solution of her problems and in the laying of plans for future effort.

"Since the coming of the motor-car, the many delegates have consciously it may be, have accustomed themselves to the habit of honouring the Synod with a one day attendance. This is not commended to give unreservedly of involved in the fulfilment of a trust either in relation to the synod or to the congregation represented.

King's Influence

His Lordship pointed to the influence of the British Royal Family as the explanation for the people's devotion as indicated in the recent Silver Jubilee.

"If we seek for some widely-felt explanation of the universally expressed loyalty and thankfulness, it will be found, I believe, as we look for it in man. The examples set by His Majesty, the King and his devoted helpmate, Her Majesty the Queen, have won the love and devotion of their people. The character of a century marching his reign has been an anxious one-of period of struggle and conflict unprecedented in the history of the world.

"Throughout it all, His Majesty, endowed with an abundant strength of character, a charming personality and a fervent desire to live not unto himself, but unto God and to the vast multitude of people under God, and by God entrusted to his care, has afforded wise leadership and sane counsel, so that today, despite the clash of Empires and the downfall of powerful dynasties, the British throne stands secure, amidst the ruins and wreckage of the world. As the King has honoured God, it is meet and right, and our bounden duty that we too should honour him by a ready response to his leadership and example.

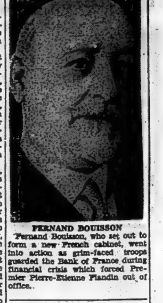
Tangible Gift

"His Excellency the Governor General of Canada pointed the way when he said—'It is the desire of Canadians that their expression of loyalty and affection take some tangible form: that some lasting and beneficent record of a great national event may remain for those who come after us.

"It has been decided that the Silver Jubilee be commemorated by the creation in Canada, of a permanent national anti-Cancer Fund, known as the "King George V., Silver Jubilee Cancer Fund for Canada". In this, all Canadians have given the opportunity to participate with the present occupants of the throne in celebrating the occasion with true thanksgiving, and through their characteristic solicitude for the welfare of their people to lay up for suffering humanity a lasting treasure.

"Their people, with them, gathered together in every House of God throughout the great Commonwealth of Nations and sang their songs of praise and thanksgiving with great joy. Long may he continue to reign over us and may the blessing of God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Ghost rest upon our Majesty and our gracious Queen. God Save the King."

Reference was made to the appointment of Bishop Owen as Primate of the Church in Canada, "under whose wise and sympathetic guidance the church may face the future with confidence".



Mission Problem

On the Restoration Fund the Bishop said:

"The stronger parishes may be expected to help their weaker brethren. This has ever been the policy of the Church. In the Mission, the salutary lesson will not must be learned that self-support is a thing to be cultivated. The tendency to rely upon the Mission Grant has been all too evident in the past. Signs of encouragement are already noticeable on the horizon, in that certain Missions are endeavouring to share more fully the Diocesan burden. It is to be hoped, that others will move to increase local self-support, and therefore the financial pressure placed upon the Diocesan Mission Fund."

Balancing of the Missionary budget is necessary, the Bishop said.

"We have reached a point where we must undertake to balance our

FERNAND BOUISSON

Fernand Bouisson, who set out to form a new French cabinet, went into action as grim-faced troops guarded the Bank of France during financial crisis that forced Premier Pierre-Etienne Flandin out of office.

Missionary budget at all costs. This can be done without any further reduction in our Missionary and Beneficiary Grants if the Missionary Appointment is accepted the rate transferred from the first place in the programme of the Church, which, from its very nature, is reserved, and must receive, to maintain the standard of the Church's work in the Diocese."

Provincial Synod

"The Provincial Synod of the Ecclesiastical Province of Ontario will convene in the City of Belleville early in the month of October of this year. The presence and the goodly number of Church leaders of all orders, will impart a fresh impetus to the Church's work in Eastern Ontario."

Completion of fifty years of the Woman's Auxiliary is marked this year, Bishop Mills stated and added:

"To the Officers and members of the Woman's Auxiliary, I again voice my grateful appreciation of your services, and of the assistance given in the missionary cause during the past year. There has been without doubt, one of the most difficult of all the synod diocesan years, in the history of the Church in this Diocese. The Reports submitted at the Diocesan Synods, recently held in this city, were most commendable and I congratulate you."

Touching reference was made to those of the clergy and laity who had died during the year.

Legacies and Bequests

The Bishop in speaking of the capital funds of the diocese remarked:

"From time to time, reference has been made to the urgent need of increasing the Capital Funds of this Diocese. The present prolonged period of economic depression, and the exceptionally heavy demands placed upon us through appeals for an emergency nature are of sufficient weight to convince us that the time is not opportune for a forward movement having as its purpose, the placing of our funds upon a sound financial basis. Under existing circumstances, I would call the attention of the faithful, who may be moved by a deep interest in the Church's work and her future in the Diocese, to a suggestion, not by any means new to us, touching the question of "Legacies and Bequests". It will serve a twofold purpose should our people in their "Last will and Testament" not forget Mother Church's and therein make provision to strengthen the funds concerned."

Obituary

MRS. JOHN W. DYKEMAN

Queensboro — One of Benito's earliest residents passed away at her home there early Thursday morning, May 16th. The deceased, Matilda Franklin, wife of John W. Dykeman, had been in failing health for the past few years and death came as a blessed relief to much suffering.

She was a woman much loved in her home and highly esteemed in the community where until the time of her sickness she was an active church worker and always ready with a willing hand to help others in trouble.

Mrs. Dykeman was born in Remington, Ont., Nov. 27, 1861, where she lived until she came west in the fall of 1904 to Mentiones where she was well known in the early days. In 1906 she was married to John W. Dykeman of Benito, Manitoba, and they farmed around there for a number of years. Later they moved into the village for a few years and had lived always in or near Benito.

She leaves to mourn her loss, her sorrowing husband and four daughters, Annie, (Mrs. Dr. Dawson) Helen, (Mrs. Chas. Stacy), both of Benito; Mae and Muriel at home and one grand-daughter, also six sisters and ten brothers.

The funeral, which was held in the Benito United Church, at 2 o'clock on Friday afternoon was conducted by Rev. G. MacMillan. The church was filled with sorrowing relatives and friends. A solo, "Does Jesus Care?" a special favorite of Mrs. Dykeman's, was sung by Mrs. C. Hall. The services were taken from Psalms 23 and 121. She was laid to rest in Benito Cemetery. The floral tributes showed the respect in which she was held.

Mrs. Dykeman was well known in Queensboro and Madoc before her marriage and was a sister of Messrs. Percy, Bert and Ralph Franklin of Queensboro.

In industry, the study of ways and means of helping workers to improve their efficiency is accepted by a forward looking management as a never-ending duty.

Realizing that no worker ever does his or her best when beset with worry, the Imperial Tobacco Company sees to it that the workers in its employ have little cause for financial worry over what is going to happen in the event of sickness or death.

Every employee male or female knows that, if taken sick, he can count upon the Company for help. He knows that, without his having had to contribute anything to a sick benefit fund, he will receive, when laid up by sickness or some non-occupational accident, at least 50 per cent of his usual weekly wage, and that this increases from year to year according to the length of service.

Should he desire to take advantage of the Company's plan of group insurance against death and permanent disability, he may do so any time after one year's employment. One-half of the cost of such insurance is borne by the Company. Policies in amounts from $500 to $3,000 are written on the lives of factory workers, at a cost to the worker of only 50 cents per month per $1,000 of insurance carried. Over 75 per cent of all factory workers, male and female, are insured in this way.

As a matter of further protection, the Company maintains a joint contributory Pension Fund, applicable for the time being to male salaried employees only, under which the employee on reaching a stipulated age, or prior thereto if incapacitated, or at any time after fifteen years service, may retire and receive for life a specified percentage of his salary.

In addition to the foregoing, the Company voluntarily makes subsistence allowances to those who leave its employ upon reaching the age of retirement, but who have not qualified under the pension plan. Every case is individually considered in the light of known facts, and dealt with accordingly. The Company disburses many thousands of dollars yearly in this way.

The concern the Imperial Tobacco Company has always shown for the financial protection of its employees has been more than reciprocated in the splendid loyalty and efficiency with which they have served the Company's interests.

IMPERIAL TOBACCO COMPANY OF CANADA, LIMITED

"Here we are again

...and we still like MUFFETS!"

What about Muffets? Well, the grocer says they're selling like hot cakes. The nurse knows how wholesome they are. The judge is wise—he combines pleasure with sensible buying.

Muffets hit the spot with everyone! They're woven delicate ribbons of whole wheat . . . wound round and round, then toasted into a golden brown biscuit. Every Muffet is toasty-crisp...has a delicious, nut-like flavour. And wholesome—say, Muffets SHOUT goodness when other cereals only whisper! They give you the energy of whole wheat . . . the benefits of packaged sunshine.*

*Sunshine and Health

MUFFETS are the only Whole Wheat Biscuits irradiated for Sunshine Vitamin "D" so essential to health. ASK your doctor.

THE TOASTED BISCUIT CEREAL—WOVEN WHEAT—READY TO EAT

Everybody Likes MUFFETS

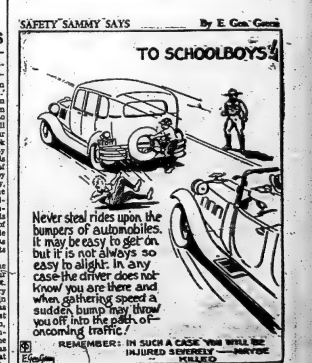
Made in Canada by THE QUAKER OATS COMPANY

Anglicans Mark Anniversary Of Coming of the Loyalists

Bishop Lyons Refers to Events of Past 158 Years



CHURCH'S HISTORY

Kingston, June 4—"In June 1784, on the authority of at least one historian, a party of Loyalists, led by Captain Michael Grass, came up the river in open boats and settled in what is now the Township of Kingston, Cataraqui, thus laying the foundations of "the first effective settlement" in Upper Canada. In the early development of this Province, Kingston occupied a picotal position. Church life and the growth of educational facilities as well as trade and transportation moved beth east and west from Kingston as the base. The history of this city is one of more than local interest," said the Right Rev. John Lyons, Bishop of Ontario, speaking at the Diocesan Synod today.

"Among the early Loyalists settlers was the Reverend John Stuart, D.D., a most vigorous personality, known to men of his day as "the Illustrious" and to succeeding generations as "the Father of the Church in Upper Canada." He was the first clergyman under the British regime to begin services in Upper Canada.' He served as Garrison Chaplain and Nurse of Kingston.' As soon as established, he began regular services, and with Kingston as a centre extended his labours to Niagara on the west and Cornwall on the east. In this year of our Lord, 1935, we are privileged to look back through one hundred and fifty years of the church's history to this city and Province to find that its small beginnings, distinguished by sacrifice, chivalry, genuine loyalty, and by a marvellous energy in the development of the work. Naturally, this anniversary is not of interest to church members in this city only, but to the members of the church throughout the whole Diocese. I invite you to observe it as such and trust that arrangements may be made to this end.

"It is to be expected that the commemoration will centre in our historic Diocesan Cathedral of St. George. To make the anniversary as impressive and outstanding in the church life of our country as warranted, His Grace, the Most Reverend Derwyn Trevor Owen, Archbishop of Toronto and Primate of all Canada, will grace the occasion with his presence and has graciously consented to preach at the anniversary service arranged to be held in St. George's Cathedral Church in Upper Canada." "He wason Sunday morning, June 30th."

SAFETY SAMMY SAYS By E. Gen Gowen

Never steal rides upon the bumpers of automobiles. It may be easy to get on, but it is not always so easy to alight. In any case the driver does not know you are there and when gathering speed a sudden bump may throw you off into the path of oncoming traffic.

REMEMBER: IN SUCH A CASE YOU WILL BE INJURED SEVERELY — MAYBE KILLED

In a Few More Months the Quintuplets Will be Walking by Themselves

Marie
Just a Wee Bit Small

Annette

Cecile
Say! I Can Stand on My Own Feet Now!"

Yvonne
Note Her Big Toe Peeping Through Her Bootee

Emilie
"I Do Not Wish to Be Quoted!"

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Cluff, Toronto, spent the week-end in the city.

Mrs. A. I. Bird, Bridge Street West, has returned from Toronto, after a lengthy visit.

Mrs. T. Watson of Kingston, is visiting the Misses Watson, Alexander street.

Mrs. Harold Nesbitt of Edmonton, Alta., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Arthur Booth, 67 Yeomans street.

Mrs. Georgina Brower has returned home after visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Brown of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Miles of Detroit, Michigan, visited Mr. and Mrs. George Lee over the week-end.

Mrs. W. H. Laithier will be the guest of her sister, Mrs. Walter Sparling, Foxhar Road, while in Toronto, for a few days.

Mr. L. A. Kells has been successful in passing the examination in Educational Psychology in the course in pedagogy, College of Education.

Miss Leona Riggs was hostess at a bridge and shower last evening in honor of Miss Syra M.ac. bride-to-be.

Miss Margaret Flynn, Marmora and Miss Edith Phillips of Belleville, all members of the graduating class of the training school for nurses, St. Joseph's Hospital, Kingston, who will receive diplomas at the annual exercises on Wednesday. Miss Flynn wins the award for General Proficiency.

Complimenting Miss Syiva Rose, bride-to-be of this week. Mrs. A. E. Ketcheson was hostess at a cup and saucer shower this afternoon.

Miss Gladys Scriven was taken by surprise Saturday evening, by a number of her friends, at her home Dundas Street West, on the occasion of her birthday, May 31st. She was the recipient of many lovely gifts. After the games were played, Mrs. Geo. Scriven, her hostess, served a delightful lunch, after which the party came to a close.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Frechette spent the week-end in Toronto the guests of Mrs. G. B. Richardson, 81 Castlefield Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Aston and his daughter, Betty, Mrs. Helen Campbell of Montreal, Mr. Tom Tracey of Toronto, spent the week-end the guests of Mrs. William Tracey, North Front Street.

Weddings

ANGELO-SCALETTA

Trenton, June 1 (Special)—A pretty June wedding took place yesterday morning in St. Peter-in-Chains, Catholic Church, at 7:45 when Anne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Silm Scaletta of Trenton, was united in marriage to Dominic Angelo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Angelo, also of Trenton. Rev. Dean J. J. O'Reilly sang the nuptial mass.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was most charming in her white silk gown with veil and carried white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Frances Maggiacomo of Trenton and Miss Mary Guglietta, of Toronto, were dainitly attired in orchid and pink respectively, and wore small hats of white sequins and carried contrasting bouquets. Joseph Scaletta, brother of the bride, acted as groomsman, with Mr. Harry Bagno ushering. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Sam Scaletta, mother of the bride, was becomingly attired in a brown ensemble.

The out of town guests included, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Scaletta of Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Deodato, Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Deodato of Newburg, Mr. Nick Cecchini of Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. Lank Paige of Kingston, Mr., Mrs. Bowen of Napanee, and Mrs. Guglietta and daughter Mary of Toronto.

SMITH—STAPLEY

On Saturday was solemnized a home marriage was solemnized by Rev. A. L. Geen, when J. Randall Smith and Florence Lillian Stapley were united in the bonds of Holy Matrimony.

After the ceremony the guests sat down to a bounteous wedding feast, at which the toast to the bride and groom was proposed.

TRUMBLE—DUESBURY

A pretty wedding was solemnized in the home of Rev. E. Farnsworth, 264 Bleecker Ave., on May 31st, when Daniel Orer Trumble of Belleville, was united in marriage to Miss Doris Victoria Duesbury of this town, was supported by Gordon Brown, while Miss Phyllis Irene Broad acted as bridesmaid. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. Farnsworth. The happy couple will reside in Belleville.

DONOHUE—WRIGHT

Stirling, (Special)—At St. Paul's United Church on Monday morning, June 3rd, at 7 p.m., Alice Grace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Wright became the bride of Donald Patrick Donohue, son of Mrs. Annie Donohue, and the late Martin Donohue, with Rev. W. Rowland of St. Paul's United Church performing the ceremony.

The bride who looked lovely in a bridal gown of ivory satin duchesse lace made on princess lines with corsage bouquet of gardenias and carried pink and white carnations, and baby's breath fern. Her attendant was Miss Ethel Clark Stirling, who wore a lovely frock of pink Beaucloud flat crepe with white accessories and a shoulder bouquet of blush pink carnations. Mr. John Chase, Stirling, acted as best man and the ushers were, Mr. Delbert Rowe and Mr. Sidmer Reid.

A reception was held later at the home of the bride's parents with the bride's mother receiving in a gown of Alice blue crepe with white accessories. The groom's mother also received and was gowned in navy and white.

For travelling to the bride was a substantial cheque; to the bridesmaid a white ivory compact with initials; to the groom's man a compact red with gold trimmings; to the best man gold cuff links, and to the organist gold cuff links. The bride and groom left afterwards for Toronto and other western cities, the bride travelling in a honey-dew and brown ensemble and white accessories.

On their return they will reside on the groom's farm in Sidney.

Among the out-of-town guests were, Mr. and Mrs. A. Dault, Toronto; Mrs. D. Campbell and Beverley, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. George Reid, Ivanhoe; Mr. and Mrs. S. Reid, Ivanhoe; Mr. and Mrs. A. Linn, Campbellford; Mr. and Mrs. R. Wallace, Harold, Ernest and Mrs. B. Clarke, Trenton; Mr. and Mrs. Mr. Wickett and Evelyn, Foxboro; Mr. and Mrs. C. Dodds, Harold, Mr. and Mrs. R. Morgan, Springbrook; Mr. and Mrs. R. Reid, Mr. Pleasant; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wallace, Wallman's; Mrs. William Mills, Frankford; Miss H. Hubble, Frankford, and Mr. Les Hubble, Frankford.

RYAN-KENNEDY

At St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church the marriage took place at three o'clock yesterday afternoon of Mary Grace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kennedy and Edward Charles Ryan, son of Mrs. Ryan and the late Rev. M. L. Ryan, of Toronto.

Rev. W. J. Walker officiated.

White lilacs were used effectively in the decoration of the church and the ceremony was performed in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives.

The bride who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Matt Kennedy, wore a lovely frock of dusky rose triple sheer chiffon, with matching turban. She carried roses and lilies of the valley.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Lillian Kennedy, who wore a graceful frock of turquoise blue chiffon with matching hat. Her flowers were pink roses.

Mr. Jack Padbury of Toronto, was groomsman. Wedding music was played by Professor Wheatley.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, about twenty-five guests being present. Mrs. Kennedy, mother of the bride, wearing navy blue with corsage of sweet peas and lilies of the valley and Mrs. Ryan, the groom's mother, attired in black satin with white accessories and corsage of sweet peas received with the bridal couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Ryan left on a wedding trip to Rochester, Ontario, and western cities, the bride wearing for travelling a frock of beige woven crepe, brown tweed coat and accessories. Upon their return they will reside in Montreal.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mrs. and Mrs. Ryan, Miss Margaret Ryan and Mr. Ernie Nolway, Kingston.

I. D. A.
KIDNEY PILLS
An efficient diuretic and kidney stimulant
48 Pills in the box 29c
I.D.A.
DRUG STORES

TANGLED LIVES

By ANN FORESTER

DISCORD

CHAPTER FORTY-SIX

If spiritual storms were visible as actual storms, great swollen dark clouds of discord might have been settling over the house of Cameron in the weeks which followed.

The silent antagonism between Joyce and Mrs. Cameron was growing between Natalie and Joyce. She was in Cameron's house like the force of the storm fell. If Roger Cameron had ranging these lives on purpose—if he had willed that his young widow live here in Riverton to humble the woman he disliked, he must have chuckled if he could have seen the comedy.

Cora Cameron had met her match in this quiet mannered, cool eyed girl. By ignoring her arrival and giving a dance that first night, by neglecting to set aside large quarters, Mrs. Cameron had fired the opening shot in this silent warfare.

She had a subtle antagonist in Joyce, Joyce had quietly taken Rogers despised brown suite, left unoccupied since his departure from Riverton years before.

Two days later—in the midst of a bridge luncheon which Mrs. Cameron was giving, without inviting Joyce, an interior decorator and his staff arrived from the city to modernize the suite.

Rumors had drifted out to electrify the town. Nothing like that suite had ever been heard of in Riverton. Done in the modern manner it was, which smacks of "the nineteen's in Canada and thickness. Black and gold and white. Here and there a touch of silver lacquer. The bed was on a dias, a royal bed with a trailing black and gold cover. Deep modern chairs cushioned in black velvet. Tall amazing mirrors. Modernistic furnishing where the dull brown secretary had stood. Dull gold candelabars in this place of a mellow glow. And through it moved —Joyce—slender and violet eyed, bronze haired and altogether lovely, making Natalie's flaxen beauty pallid and uninteresting by contrast.

And, as though all this were not enough to try the haughty soul of Cora Cameron—there was Kitty Darrow.

Kitty had arrived in Riverton one morning, rosy and snapping eyed under her bonnied grey hair, never guessing that she had been the cause of a little tinkar between her Joyce and Mrs. Cameron the day before.

Joyce discovered that Mrs. Cameron was making arrangements for Kitty to come to sleep with the servants.

"I think you are mistaken." the girl had said with ominous gentleness. "Miss Dawson is my personal friend. She will have a room next to mine, and of course she will take her meals with us."

Not only Roger could have looked back on this comedy he must have chuckled again with malicious triumph. Mrs. Cameron was red faced and beaten when the matter was arranged. In his heart, Jim Keith addressed the white faced girl who had gained her way...

"Clever! You beautiful proud devil! You put her in her place as a queen might have done. And how you can freeze a person!"

But worse was to come. Cora Cameron had not yet tasted the very dust of disaster. This Dawson person came to the house, invariably chatting to Joyce who had driven to the station to meet her.

Natalie was swinging in the porch swing that morning, chatting to her mother and Jim Keith who sat opposite smoking. Ice-cooled blue eyes passed through the two women who came up the steps. They said, these maulings expressionless eyes of Natalie, that by well-bred words, such people as Kitty Darrow—as Joyce Cameron did not exist.

The prominent grey eyes of her mother conveyed the same message. But the gaze of the man lit with a warm dark light, and he rose to his feet with an exclamation of pleasure.

At the same moment Kitty caught sight of him and gave a glad little cry of surprise.

"Jim! Jim Keith! An' Joyce never said a word of the surprise me! Glory be, how do you happen to be here at the end of the earth! Joy, you devil! Why did you do this t' never sayin' a word!"

"—I forgot—" Joyce stammered, for once off her guard. How could she explain that her life had stubbornly refused to frame Jim Keith's name even to Kitty.

"An' listen to me callin' you Jim!" bubbled Kitty, still pumping the young man's hand up and down.

"What else would you be calling me—Kitty?" his white smile flashed back at her.

Words could not do justice to Mrs. Cameron's mental condition, or to the shocked indignation of Natalie. Her cold eyes could not be lost on Jim Keith shot at the flushed girl who stood silent—beside Kitty, a look which crinkled to be at the same time pleading and triumphant as one who finds an ally.

Upstairs in Joyce's suite, Kitty faced her accusingly.

"Joy, why in the name of common sense, didn't you tell me the lad was here? You forgot! A likely story! Why are you disliking —Jim Keith so, Joy?"

Joyce had turned her back and was aimlessly searching in a dressed drawer. "Why . . . how does anyone know why one—one dislikes another, Kitty?" Her voice was surprisingly calm.

"What's he here for?" Kitty asked eyeing her shrewdly.

"To marry Natalie!" It came, smothered, from Joyce's lips. "I think your handsome young man is a fortune hunter, Kitty."

"Natal' burst from Kitty's lips. "Why, that's your husband's sister, an' she's a stuck up thing, too. Maybe she's here to marry you!"

A crimson tide went over the girls face, and Kitty saw. Joyce completely at a loss. She tried to speak, blustered her lips. Abruptly walking to the window and stood twisting the curtain cord. Her stifled voice came over her shoulder.

"He's been corresponding with Natalie for years. Why would a man keep writing to a girl for a long time if he isn't interested in her! And Natalie has a tidy little fortune of her own. Her own . . . not tied up for five years the way Roger's will is tied up. Mr. Keith is tired of going to sea . . . and he's always had a way with—women."

Kitty's face went round and blank as though she were receiving a new idea. Then she'd come. And if I I've a moment she eyed that slender back in silence.

Then she was suddenly contrite, running across the room to draw the girl into her arms to rest her shoulders shaking.

"Joy—there, my lovely, don't cry. I'm a mean old thing to say it. Kitty stroked the bronze head lying on her shoulder for a moment in silence, then burst out with unexpected vehemence. "That that Natalie Cameron!"

MADDY

CHAPTER FORTY-SEVEN

Riverton society ("And what we may by the quantity of quality up in quality!" Ms. Cameron was accustomed to say) found itself in a quandry.

What attitude to take toward Roger Cameron's widow? Mrs. Roger Cameron, mistress of the Cameron mansion, had a right to be courted. But Mrs. Cora Cameron was a person to avoid offending.

Over bridge tables at porch parties, dinners, receptions, the youngest set's Thursday Night Bridge at the Country Club dance, the subject was thoroughly discussed out.

Mrs. Harmon, president of the Riverton Ladies' Sewing Club could not take a book from the library without bringing up the subject with Hattie Fields faced Geneva Haines who was librarian.

"I really can't think what to do about the—the—meeting at my house. If I ask this girl, Joyce, then Cora won't come. And if I don't ask her . . . well, my husband was telling me he wanted her to buy some of that new linen of gas stock and after all, there's no need to offend Cora."

"Of course, when she lived here before, none of us knew her—not really knew her—" fluttered Geneva and every freckle seemed to twinkle with excitement, "and after all, as you say, dear Mrs. Harmon, perhaps we ought to be big about this thing for after all, she is enormously rich and she's been everywhere, and after all travel is so broadening . . ."

"And it's all very well—" went on Mrs. Harmon fretfully, "for Cora to expect us to take up her quarrels, but Cora doesn't like to play second fiddle and that's what she promises to be for five years at least, from what I hear of the old man's will, and Natalie and Cora Cameron never—"

"Oh-h-h! Here she comes—" Geneva's ferrent whisper as Joyce came into the library.

Mrs. Harmon discreetly stooped and pretended to be so absorbed in the titles of the lower row of books that she was unaware of another presence. Both pair of eyes turned to follow the graceful figure of the girl as she left.

It remained for Mrs. Lloyd Weaver to take the bit in her teeth and bolt at the head of public opinion.

A caucy word from Lawyer Weaver to his sagacious wife and Joyce received an invitation to the Country Club dance which was quite the peak of Riverton society. Not only was the invitation proffered but it was immediately followed by Norman's offer to drive her to the Club.

Riverton society might have spared itself the perplexity. Young Mrs. Roger Cameron, it appeared wanted none of it. Joyce smothered a contemptuous little smile and distinctly longed to be rid of them.

"Why are you so remote?" asked Norman irritably. Joyce had come down to his father's office on business, and Norman had immediately invegled her into his own private office.

It was a hot day toward the last of summer, so hot that the women's heels sunk into the soft pave on Main Street and left little half moons in the soft asphalt.

Norman thought how lovely lovely Joyce looked. She wore a chiffon frock, fashionably long, and of a pale orchid which deepened the flower in that shady old place. He found himself remembering the long-ago twilight when he had thought her eyes looked like pools of purple ink.

The loose waves of her hair were parted and brought to a soft flat knot at the back of her neck. An exotic and metropolitan figure which made Riverton's girls, bobbed, shirt skirted to a stereotyped pattern appear stale and uninteresting by contrast.

In the dusk of the office here, back-grounded by the tiers of pigeon hole books, Joyce was a vision to make a young man's heart beat faster.

She turned deep blue eyes upon him. "Remote? If"

"Don't try to pretend!" Norman said harshly. "You've avoided me ever since you came back, Joyce! You turned down the first invitation to dinner! Mother told me you didn't go to that tea fight she was giving last week. You wouldn't go to the club dance with me. And last night you weren't anywhere to be seen—even in your own home! Why do you suppose I went to that dance last night if it wasn't because I thought you'd be there?"

Joyce thought of how fervently she had once longed to go to such places with Norman. How she had wanted to be part of that gay social life of Riverton—one of the young girls who passed the Commercial House summer evenings, laughing and singing in automobiles on their way to the Country Club. And she remembered that night she had waited alone under the dark maples while Norman was with—was ashamed to be seen with her. . . .

Perhaps something of this showed in her face for Norman's voice held earnestness.

"I was a fool once, Joyce, but don't punish me for that forever! I'm not a boy any more. I've grown! blah like all kids. But I was really crazy about you, Joyce, just as I am about you. And even if you were different—if you were still down there in that shabby old place, I'd found himself remembering the would still be you—just as beautiful—as sweet—"

Copyright 1935

"Hush!"

Norman caught Joyce's slim hand, pressed it hard against his lips.

"I mean it, Joyce. I love you. I always have. You were mean for me—"

"Oh—no . . . 'Please!'"

Very handsome and earnest he was, his pleading face close to her own. Something of the old magic coming down through the years like faint perfume.

Anything might have happened in that moment throbbing with old memories—but nothing did, for the door opened and the mouse grey stenographer—very obviously delighted at the opportunity, came into the room.

"Mr. Parks to see you, Mr. Weaver," she murmured with a look of faint malice at the girl across the room.

Norman swore softly. "I'd forgotten about that fellow? Joy—you'll go for a drive with me tonight?"

Again the spell was broken for the time being. Joyce drew back and gently away. "I don't know . . . Not tonight . . . later on."

TO BE CONTINUED

FRONT ROAD LADIES' AID

The Front Road United Church Ladies' Aid held their May meeting at the home of Mrs. Andy Reid with a large attendance. The meeting was opened by the president, followed by a hymn, The Lord's prayer was repeated in unison. The Scripture lesson was read by Miss Madeline Bell.

The first part of the afternoon was spent working at quilts, then followed the business meeting when it was decided to send the president Mrs. C. J. Brown and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Bell to Wellington to attend the convention.

It was decided to make donations of blankets to Mrs. Atkins. After the closing hymn and prayer all enjoyed the refreshments served by Mrs. Reid and conveners.

Windsor, Ont., June 4 (CP)—Establishment of a Hilda Foundation at a Canadian University, Windsor, Ont., was announced by Richard E. Gesteadt of Chicago at a meeting of the B'Nai B'Rith here last night. Mr. Gesteadt also said it has been decided to set up a Canadian Branch of the Anti-Defamation League as soon as Canadian Jews were able to decide upon a suitable location.

FOREST FIRES THREATEN SCOTIA TOWN

Two views of a raging forest fire which swept through timberlands near Liverpool, N.S., endangering the town, also the village of Milton, and the big newsprint mill of the Mersey Paper company, scene of which pulpwood can be seen floating in the Mersey river in top picture, as flames reached within a few blocks of Liverpool, where they destroyed an old church building and a home. Every available man and all equipment was rushed to the city. Liverpool was left in darkness as light and telephones wires were destroyed by the flames.

POINT THE WAY TO...

Business Directory

AUTO LOANS

AND REFINANCING
Direct with Purchaser
At Low
S. J. FISHER & SON
26 Bridge St. East Telephone 160
Campbell Auto Finance Co. Ltd.
Toronto - Ontario - London - Windsor

CHIROPRACTOR

A. A. WYATT, Ph.C., CHIROPRACTOR and Drugless Therapeutist. Spinal examination and treatment. Electro-therapeutic and mechanical appliances. Solaraid and ray examinations. Modern methods. Consultation and examination without charge. Office hours: 10 Coleman street, Belleville, phone 388.

VERA E. FITCHER, CHIROPRACTOR, and R. E. FITCHER, Chiropractic Therapeutist, Radiestal Diagnosis and Treatment. Ultra-violet and Infra-red Radiations and Mineral Treatments. 424 Bridge St. E., Belleville, Ont., Phone 1274.

DENTIST

DR. ROST. H. EMPSON
DENTIST
X-Ray
Phone 68 Metro Trust Bl. 11-39

RADIO SERVICE

JOHN A. DEWAR
RADIO TECHNICIAN
Registered — Graduate
Phone 213
249 John St. 41-42

SURVEYORS

FRASER AYLESWORTH
Ontario Land Surveyor and Registered Professional Engineer. Surveys, Reports, Plans and Descriptions, Etc., promptly attended to.
PHONE 6 — P. O. BOX 89
MADOC, ONT.

INSURANCE

Protect yourself against accidents with our Automobile Insurance
SANDY HARROWS
HOWARD FROST
Life and Fire Insurance
351 Front St Phone 139

HALL & EARLE
General Insurance, Fire, Automobile, Accident and Plate Glass
215 Front St. Phone 1194-W

STOCKS & BONDS

EDGAR AND CRAWFORD, MEMBERS of Toronto Stock Exchange, Belleville 178. F. E. Wills, branch manager. 39-tf

LEGAL

WALLBRIDGE, CAMERON AND CO. (Successors to the late J. Walter Wallbridge), Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Solicitors for the Bank of Montreal. Money to loan on mortgages. W. N. Poulton, K.C., B. A. E. Graham. Office: Belleville, Ont.

MALCOLM WRIGHT, BARRISTER, Solicitor, Notary Public, Etc. Office: Campbell St., Madoc, Ont.

T. Y. WILLS, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Notary Public, Money to Loan. Phone 74. 248-tf

FORSTER, PAYNE AND ARNOTT, BARristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public. Chas. A. Payne, K.C., M. D. Arnott. Offices: Bank of Nova Scotia Bldg.

FONTON AND GRAHAM, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Conveyancers, etc. Office: 10 Bridge St. East, Belleville. Money to loan on mortgages. Lionel Fonton, K.C. B. A. E. Graham, Solicitor.

DONNAN AND BUTLER, B. C. Donnan, K.C., B. A. Butler, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public and Commissioners, etc. Bank of Nova Scotia Building, Belleville, Ont. Phone 338.

Fine Brick House
Excellent stabling and about seven acres of good land.
For Sale
On Moira River, near Lazier's Old Mill, Canniffon Road. Residence of the late Geo. I. Thomas.
LOW PRICE
BELLEVILLE LOCATORS
Geo. N. Gorman, Prop.
198 Front St.
Phone 30 House Phone 697
BUY NOW AND MAKE WORK

PHONE 99
Classified Ad. Rates

SOCIAL NOTICES—Births, 25c; Marriages, Engagements, Personal Notices, 25c; Deaths and Funeral Notices, 25c; Floral Tributes, 25c a line. Minimum charge, 50c. Cards of thanks, minimum charge, $1.00 for 12 lines, over that 10c per count line. Lodge notices, minimum charge, minimum charge, 75c.

LOST AND FOUND—Minimum charge, 25c.—15c per word each for first and second insertion; subsequent insertions, 5c per word.

COMING EVENTS—Not to pay Insertion for 25 words or under, over that number 1c per word.

PROFESSIONAL, LEGAL AND BUSINESS CARDS—Minimum charge, 25c per line per month.

AUCTION SALES—NO GOVERNMENT NOTICES CHARGED FOR. Those concerning Land Sales—60c per inch for first 12 lines to 6 inches, for first insertion; 15c per line for subsequent insertions.

AUCTION SALE—3c per word, leading to count as 25 words minimum; 25 words for 75c, consecutive insertions, 3c per word.

An initial or figure counts as one word.

Not advertising allow five words to one time.

Telephone your Want Ads when it is convenient. PHONE 99.

The Ontario Intelligencer will not be responsible for more than one insertion of an incorrect ad. Phone 99 for classified ads.

Ontario Intelligencer will not be responsible for errors in ads received by Bell Telephone unless dictated to Bell Telephone operator in addition to Bell Number one at the Ontario Intelligencer.

WANTED

OLD FASHIONED NARROW SOFA — write Box "T" Ontario Intelligencer. 34-36

RELIABLE MAN FOR NURSERY AND store route, this country and adjacent districts. Previous experience unnecessary. Permanent and profitable position. Apply Stanley Nursery, Dept. 3, Hamilton, Ont. 34-36

AGENT WANTED TO REPRESENT US in Belleville and district for the sale of Rawleigh's Quality Products. Pleasant, profitable business. Write today. Rawleigh's, Dept. ONJ-64, Montreal, Que. 34-36

MAN WANTED FOR BELLEVILLE TO Canvass for Rawleigh's Quality Products. Good selling proposition. Permanent and profitable. Write today. Rawleigh's, Dept. ONJ-64, Montreal, Que. 34-36

Also one in Prince Edward County, for man with car. Write T. R. Davis, Rawleigh's, Dept. ONJ-64, Montreal, Que. 34-36

MALE HELP WANTED

66 MILES ON 1 GALLON?
SCIENTIFIC LABORATORY, N-180 Wabash, Illinois, wants an amazing new vapor automatic gas-oil saver. 100% to 300% profits. Write if active anyone can attach. One sent free to introduce. Make $75 weekly. Spare or full time only.

WANTED AT STENOGRAPHER OR stenographer and book-keeper. High school education and Christian business College training and five years' experience essential. Apply Box 33 Intelligencer. 34-36

WANTED—RELIABLE WOMAN TO DO good plain cooking. Apply with references to Superintendent Prince Edward County Hospital, Picton. 31-36

TO LET

LARGE FURNISHED FRONT BED SITting room. Ground floor. 152 Bridge street west. 34-tf

HOUSE, PINNACLE STREET, FIRST floor, 4 rooms and bath. Apply 212 Victoria Avenue. Phone 1194-W. 34-tf

SEMI-DETACHED BRICK APARTment, hardwood floors, newly decorated, immediate possession. Apply 213 John street. 33-tf

FURNISHED APARTMENT, HEATED, three rooms, kitchenette, bath. Private entrance. Suitable for business couple. Professor Wheatley, Bank of Nova Scotia Building. 34-tf

12 WEST MOIRA, ALL MODERN HOUSE, immediate possession. Apply 11 July 1. Reliable parties only need apply. Apply 20 Coleman street. 34-tf

TWO COTTAGES ON OAK LAKE PUBlished immediate possession. Apply J. S. Bell, Oak Lake. 34-36

SUMMER COTTAGE—SCREENED, FIVE rooms, fully furnished, electric lights, sandy beach, new boat, well, ice, milk and vegetables delivered. 30 miles from Belleville on lake facing Prospect. Phone 1194-W, Belleville, or write C. B. Brethen, Westville, Ont. 34-36

SEVERAL UNFURNISHED, HEATED apartments, 4 rooms and bath. Apply Bleecker avenue. Apply on premises. 34-36-37

APARTMENT HEATED AND FURNISHED or partly furnished for light housekeeping. Apply 176 Foster Av. 33-tf

MEDIUM SIZED APARTMENT, HEATed, hot water, bath, electric lights, stove and sewer. Immediate possession. Apply Ontario Intelligencer. 33-tf

FOR SALE

BARRED ROCK BABY CHICKS, JUNE Price 8 cents. Willet S. Black, Bellrock No. 1. 34-tf

USED VACUUM CLEANER, A-1 Condition. Very reasonable. Phone 2227-r. 34-tf

DESIRABLE BRICK HOUSE, 45 HIGH-land avenue. Apply on premises or evenings for interview. 34-36

TRACTOR—INTERNATIONAL 8-16 Deering, 1929, hardened delivery. Reasonable. Apply Ontario Intelligencer. 34-36

MRS. THOMAS GILLEN, 264 FRONT. 34-36

BOSTON TERRIER PUPPIES FROM registered parents. Ready to go home now. Can be sent by mail. Apply Box 32 Intelligencer. 32-36

QUANTITY OF 4" CEMENT TILE. Apply Ontario Intelligencer. 34-36

ONE OKEHAMPO HEINTZMAN PIANO in walnut case. Apply 22 Pinnacle street. Write Box "C" Ontario Intelligencer. 33-36

TO RENT OR FOR SALE

FURNISHED COTTAGE AT OAK LAKE. Garage, boat and oil stove included. Apply to Mrs. E. Thrasher, 236 Aberdeen avenue, Hamilton, Ont. 34-36

IN MEMORIAM

GRIFFITH—In sad and loving memory of Jane Griffith, who died June 4, 1933.
Griffiths, who passed away June 4, 1933.

A silent thought, a secret tear
Keeps his memory ever dear.
Sadly missed by wife and children, Kathleen and Jean. 34-36

DIED

PEPPER—At the home of her nephew, Rev. A. J. Pepper, Shannonville, on Monday, June 3, 1935, Elizabeth Ann Pepper in her 84th year.

Interment resting at Rosher's Funeral Home, Ottawa. Funeral service Wednesday, June 5, 1935, at 2.30 p.m. in the Church. Sign street, Ottawa. Interment Beechwood Cemetery, Ottawa. 34-36

TICKELL & BROWNE
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
We Serve for Less
FUNERAL HOME
Corner Church and Victoria Ave. Phone 2235

BELLEVILLE
BURIAL COMPANY
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
27 Campbell St.
Phone 78-W Day and Night
A. W. CHILLIS
Proprietor
Modern Crypt For Sale

Thomas C. Thompson
Funeral Director
Funeral Home
52 Everett St. Phone 62
Office
320 Front St. Phone 62

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF ONTARIO

THE MASTER IN CHAMBERS, Thursday, the sixteenth day of May, 1935. Between: THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL OF CANADA, Plaintiff, and EDWARD OBRIEN BOYLE and others, Defendants. Upon the Motion of the Plaintiff, upon hearing Counsel for the Plaintiff and upon reading the Affidavit of the Plaintiff filed herein.

IT IS ORDERED that service upon the Defendant, EDWARD OBRIEN BOYLE of the Writ of Summons herein and Statement of Claim in this action by publication thereof in the Ontario Intelligencer, a newspaper published at the City of Belleville, be deemed good and sufficient service of said Writ and Statement of Claim.

AND IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the time for appearance to the said Writ by the said Defendant, Edward Obrien Boyle be on or before the twentieth day of June, 1935, and that the Statement of Defence, if any, be delivered within ten days thereafter.

I. HILLARD,
Master S. C. O.

Entered O. B. 146 page 218
May 16, 1935
E. Z.

NOTICE

The Plaintiff's claim is for a decree of the Supreme Court of Ontario for the cancellation of the said Defendant EDWARD OBRIEN BOYLE by reason of his acceptance of the said Defendant with the Plaintiff's Agreement for Sale of the undivided one-half interest of the said EDWARD OBRIEN BOYLE and the Plaintiff; and for such further and other relief as the Plaintiff may be entitled to, and for payment and permanent alimony of the said Defendant and for such other and further order as to this Honourable Court may seem meet.

I. HILLARD,
Master S. C. O.
MCI 34-36

LOST

SATURDAY NIGHT — GIRL'S CAPE. Finder kindly phone 1888-J. 34-tf

FALLS OFF HORSE CHILD INJURED

9 Year Howard Hayden, Wellington, Suffers Head Injuries

Little 9-year-old Howard Hayden, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hayden, residents in the village, was badly injured in the Picton General Hospital early Saturday morning as he is believed to be a fracture of the skull and other injuries as the result of a fall from a horse near the little home early last evening. His parents who are at present on a vacation trip near Ottawa, have been advised of the fact.

The little fellow, who has been in charge of an older brother since his parents left, is believed to have been assisting in watering the horses when the animal had apparently mounted the animal to ride him back home. Falling from the horse, he struck his head on the hard macadam road and was rendered unconscious. Hastily summoned from Wellington, Dr. Robertson rendered first aid, afterwards conveying the boy to the hospital, where it is reported he is still in a critical condition.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS
ESTABLISHED OVER 60 YEARS
MORE THAN 100,000,000 THE PROOF

ACCLAIMED BY CRITICS

ELIZABETH BERGNER

Critics acclaim Elizabeth Bergner, great Jewish actress, for outstanding performance in British film "Escape Me Never". Her work is said to rival the greatest screen accomplishment. Miss Bergner was recently exiled from Germany.

SCENE OF EARTHQUAKE DISASTER

One of the few photographs in existence of the city of Quetta in Western India, showing a fruit stall in the city's market place. The city, now an important British army post, was razed by the severe earthquake that swept the neighborhood. Four-fifth of the population of 60,000 persons were reported killed in the catastrophe.—(Photo courtesy National Geographic Society.)

THE PRINCE LIKES AMERICAN GIRLS

Proof of the Prince of Wales' liking for American women is his choice of the Countess of Carrick (Circle) as his latest dancing partner. She is the former Marion Dopaghue, of Philadelphia, and succeeds Mrs. Wally Simpson, of Baltimore (Top with Prince) and lady Thelma Furness (left) pen slater of Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt.

Current Attractions at Local Theatres

What Local Theatre Managers Have to Say About Current Offerings

AT THE ELLE
"Les Miserables"

Great Production Wins Much Favorable Comment Here Last Night

Fresh laurels were heaped on the head of Fredric March and Charles Laughton, when the Belle Theatre yesterday as co-stars of Victor Hugo's stirring production of Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables", now in its third recording triumphs and back by the tremendous waiting Wednesday evening.

A truly great picture, handsomely mounted and flawlessly directed by Richard Boleslawski, this latest 20th Century production follows the eventful life of Jean Valjean, who suffered five years imprisonment in the galleys of a French prison ship for stealing a loaf of bread and found his whole life darkened by the shadow of the law, in the person of Javert, a dauntless detective who has dedicated himself to carrying out the law to the letter.

Fredric March does the finest work of his career as the unfortunate Valjean and Charles Laughton is superb as Javert. Cedric Hardwicke, the celebrated British stage and screen star, is splendid in making his American screen debut as the villain of the piece, Thenardier, who starts the brutality of ex-convict on the road to a noble character.

Rochelle Hudson, as Jean Valjean's adopted daughter, Cosette, is real, as her sweetheart, Marius, furnish the love interest which offers a wonderful relief to the desperate adventures in his life long adventure. Frances Drake is Jean Javert, ——

If you have a hankering for thrills and real-life drama in your screen fare—especially when they are supplied by one of the finest cast—don't fail to see "Les Miserables" now playing at the Belle. Words are inadequate to express the true appreciation of this picture.

Dietrich in Grand Drama

A woman who won ten films all men, yet gave it to none: an enthralling movie suite brought into production, whose kiss brought her stardom. That is the role Marlene Dietrich is playing in Paramount's "The Devil is a Woman", coming to the Belle on Friday for two days, matinee and evening.

The latest of the pictures to be produced by the famous Dietrich-Von Sternberg combination is a drama of love and intrigue.

Lionel Atwill and Cesar Romero are the male principals in "The Devil is a Woman". Open the closet of friends, these two are split by their love for the same woman. The climax is a tense duel scene in which the lovely Dietrich first learns the meaning of love.

Among the supporting cast of "The Devil is a Woman" is Miss Dietrich's singing of two new songs by the authors of "Lazy Bones", Johnny Mercer and Hoagy Carmichael.

"Little Friend" Unique

There is a theory which one often hears about children, that a quarrel and separation between parents, the hate and fear they have toward the mother, and the female toward the father, are provided motives to have made themselves odious in the children's eyes. But in the unique and gripping picture "Little Friend" the second feature attraction on the same program, we see a reverse of this supposed rule of choice. Here, with a divorce suit pending, a child is kept separately devoted to both parents, finds it impossible to estrange the affection from her mother, and the manner in which she fights to prevent such a possibility, gives the film its big moment—the testimony of the daughter in the divorce court. It is said to be a moment of such poignancy as not to be easily forgotten.

HYDRO STANDARD BROKEN BY AUTO

Police State Action Will Be Taken Against Driver

While driving from out of a local service station at the lower end of Front street on June 1, 1:30 p.m., motorist struck a city electric light standard, breaking it off at the base, P. C. Thomson was called to the scene and procured the license plate number of the vehicle. Charges of failing to stop at the scene of an accident and also failing to report an accident will be preferred against the driver of the automobile police stated.

Local hydro officials stated the damages incurred would amount to approximately $43.00. Hydro workmen were notified and commenced replacing the standard. The motorist said he had been driving for ages had driven into the service station to be filled up with gas, it is alleged by the witnessed that the driver of the car stopped, got out of his motorcar and viewed the damage before driving away.

AT THE CAPITOL
"Princess O'Hara"
A Swell Feature For Racing Enthusiasts

Horse racing, "the sport of Kings", supplies one of the thrilling and colorful backgrounds in the film, "Princess O'Hara," by Damon Runyon, showing at the screen of the Capitol Theatre tonight only.

It is estimated that millions of people all over the world are racing enthusiasts and back up their enthusiasm by wagering millions of dollars on the galloping steeds. But how many of these people know of some of the real, emotional drama, heart-aches and romances that are going on constantly behind the scenes of the paddock?

It might be imagined by most persons that life around a race track is one grand and glorious holiday, a lot of fun and play, and that being the owner of a stable of horses is the epitome of something to envy.

How untrue all this is in reality is forcibly brought home in this thrilling and emotional film, originally written by Runyon, one of America's greatest sport commentators and human interest writers.

Jean Parker and Chester Morris are the two principal characters in the story, Morris is faced with the problem of weighing his honor as a sportsman and his affection for the girl he loves. His reputation in the racing world is threatened but he faces the issue honestly and squarely.

A great cast has been assembled for this picture. It includes Leon Errol, Verna Hillie, Henry Armetta, Vince Barnett, Ralph Remley, Sam Hardie, Tom Dugan, Dorothy Mcek and many others. David Burton directed it.

Added featurettes include a Harry Langdon comedy, "Shivers," and it is a wow—you'll spit your sides laughing. Screen snapshots of the movie stars, and a short reel "With Medbury at the County Fair", coincide a fine bill. "Do Berry" saucers tonight only.

Complete shows at 2.30, 7.15, 9.15. Matinee Wednesday Only.

Janet Gaynor has never shown her talents to better advantage than in "Paddy, The Next Best Thing" in which she is co-starred with Warner Baxter at the Capitol Theatre.

Cast as a lively little Irish lass whose sole fault is her ability to tell white lies, a quality she occasionally embroils her in all sorts of complications as she performs in her usual charming manner. Warner Baxter, as the scion of the Irish racetrack family in which Paddy takes place, does an excellent piece of acting in a typically romantic Warner Baxter role.

The others of the cast, including Margaret Lindsay, who will be remembered as the "titanic" girl in "Cavalcade" and Walter Connolly whose performance from the New York stage, all do their utmost to make "Paddy" an enjoyable screen work.

Harry Lachman, who directed many film successes abroad, has made his best work with "Paddy," which is set against as beautiful a background as has ever been viewed in films in many months.

Coming Thursday

The Show of All Shows, "Go Into Your Dance"

This is Ken Murray's production, the famous Broadway singer who in Hollywood talking pictures to the public, and Miss Kenny, the famous musical comedy star who rose to fame in two years on the screen, have ever played together before. Their team work is said to be remarkable.

The picture is based on a story by Bradford Ropes, author of "42nd Street." It is intensely dramatic in spots, with hilarious comedy situations and a glowing romance.

Spectacular dance numbers in which scores of Hollywood's most beautiful chorus girls take part, were created and staged by Bobby Connolly, noted Broadway musical comedy director who recently has turned his talents to the screen.

There are seven song hits in the picture, written by the face team of Warren and Dubin. These are sung by Ruby Keeler and Helen Morgan, famous torch singer.

See Ruby and Al together for his first time. Eight other star-crowned thrilling songs—beauty chorus of hundreds—Dancing Girls, Ruby pack it to the brim with fun, rhythm and excitement.

It is the finest show Belleville has ever seen and at no advance in prices.

RAIN GREAT AID IN REDUCING LOSS

Bush Fires Except North of North Bay Under Control

(By The Canadian Press)

Last of the Northern Ontario districts menaced by bush fires to receive rain, North Bay region early today was rejoicing at a steady shower, expected to bring the situation within the limits of control.

Elsewhere fires were generally controlled.

Important reinforcements were rushed into the district north of North Bay as hundreds of men fought the flames.

The fires are too big—too big," Premier Hepburn said.

Difficulty was being experienced in equipping and feeding the fire fighters, summoning more than 700 men. Mosquitoes and black flies were still other hazards.

The worst fire is at Sand Dam, where workers battle throughout the day, remaining overnight when the opportunity affords, so precious is the time in the battle against fire.

Other Developments

New Liskeard: No word was received from Ashley Gold Mines, 80 miles north, where several settlers in the Montreal River area were burned out this season.

Toronto: Hon. Peter Heenan, Ontario Minister of Lands and Forests said danger would be eliminated if rains continued. He reported no loss of human life had occurred.

FIRE DESTROYS THURLOW HOME

One of The Occupants Forced to Escape by Window

2nd Thurlow — Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Atkins sustained a serious loss Wednesday morning when their house and most of the contents were destroyed by fire. Miss Ida Fargey also had a narrow escape through an upstair window and was later taken to the hospital but is improving and expected to return to her home soon.

RADIO PROGRAMS
— Daylight Saving Time —

TUESDAY

4.00—Poetic Strings—WABC
4.00—Betty and Bob—WJZ.
4.30—Singing Lady—WJZ
4.45—Midweek Hymn Sing—WEAF
6.30—News; Jim Hunter—WOR
7.00—Amos 'n' Andy—WJZ
7.15—Tony and Gus—WJZ
7.30—Grace Hayes, songs—WJZ.
7.30—Easy Aces—WEAF
8.00—Leo Reisman's Orch.—WEAF
8.00—"Lavender and Old Lace"—WOR
8.00—Chris Chces—WJZ
8.30—Wayne King—WEAF
8.30—Melodiana—WABC
8.30—Edgar A. Guest—WJZ
9.00—Red Trails—WJZ
9.00—Ben Bernie—WEAF.
9.00—Bing Crosby, cartoons. —CFRB
9.30—Ed Wynn, Graham McNamee, Eddy Duchin's Orch. —WEAF
9.30—How to Care for Charm; Phil Spitalny—WABC
9.30—Hands Across the Border—WJZ
10.00—Glen Gray's Orch.—WABC
10.00—Beauty Box Theatre, Constance Bennett—WEAF
10.00—Fibber McGee and Molly—WJZ
11.15—Jesse Crawford, organist. —WEAF.

WEDNESDAY

9.00—Breakfast Club—WJZ.
11.15—Tony Wons—WJZ.
1.15—Radio Gossip Club—WOR
4.00—Betty and Bob, drama—WJZ
4.30—Amos 'n' Andy's Orch. —WEAF
8.30—Jim Hunter, News—CFRB
6.45—Lowell Thomas—WJZ
7.00—Amos 'n' Andy—WJZ
7.15—Tony and Gus—WJZ
7.15—Stories of the Black Chamber
7.30—Easy Aces—WEAF
7.45—Dangerous Paradise, sketch —WJZ
8.00—Kemp's Orch. Bebe and Her Brothers—WJZ
8.00—Johnnie and His Foursome—WABC
8.00—One Man's Family—WEAF.
8.00—Breaking Hearts—WABC
8.30—Wayne King's Orchestra—WJZ; WTAM
8.30—Hours of Glass—WJZ
9.00—Our Home On the Range; John Charles Thomas, baritone—WJZ
9.00—Fred Allen's Revue—WEAF
9.00—Romance; David Ross, reading—WABC
9.30—Presenting Mark Warnow—now—WABC
10.00—Parade; Lennie Hayton's Orch.; Richard Corbett, tenor—WEAF
10.00—Burns and Allen—WABC
10.30—Hits and Bits—WJZ
10.30—Ray Noble's Orch.—WEAF.
11.15—Jesse Crawford, organist. —WEAF.
11.30—Tak Shots—WJR

FOR RELIABLE INFORMATION ON INVESTMENTS
CONSULT
JAMIESON BONE & CO.
INSURANCE INVESTMENTS

FINANCIAL MARKETS

NEW YORK - TORONTO - WINNIPEG

WALL STREET FINANCIAL

New York, June 4 (AP)—A quiet but persistent upward movement marked trading in today's stock market.

Among Canadian stocks, fractional gains were established by International Nickel, Dome and Canadian Pacific. On the curb, Lake Shore and Hiram Walker were improved. Dominion Government Bonds were steady. Canadian funds continued unchanged.

Shares of Cuban-American Sugar Preferred recovered five points and others, up fractions to around 2, included U. S. Steel Common and Preferred, Columbian Carbon, Allied Chemical, Du Pont, Westinghouse, Philip Morris, Liggett and Myers B, American Tobacco B, Curtiss-Wright, several Motors, Johns-Manville, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, Standard Oils of New Jersey and California, Seaboard Oil and American Tripoli. Radio Common and Preferred.

TORONTO MINES CLOSE

Toronto, June 4—(CP)—Firm but fairly quiet, the mining section of the Toronto exchange had a rather uninteresting session today. Before holiday, Dome of the golds and base metals had a morning rally into higher ground but for the most part the gains were dropped during the afternoon. Generally speaking, mildly soft through the morning but the loss improved in the afternoon and the final losses were of minor proportions.

The mining market was in a lethargic condition following the holiday with sellers more in evidence than buyers. A few stocks, taking their lead from the New York Board, advanced at the opening but the bulk of the gains were dropped as trading flattened out in the early afternoon. Moranda forfeited a gain of 51 and in the golds, Ceiling, Patricia, San Antonio and Reno-Malartic lost opening gains.

The trend in the shares showed down and recession of a few cents were posted for Bidgood, Cadillac and Bear. A sharp drop in the price of bar metal imposed a restraint on the market for the while metal stocks.

Oil shares developed strength. Mineral gas shares held their own and some improved a point or more.

TORONTO STOCKS CLOSE

Toronto, June 4 (CP)—The oils gave a strong demonstration and were able to attract a considerable following on the industrial section of the Toronto Exchange today. International Petroleum pushed up 2 7/8 to add to yesterday's nearly three points while Imperial Oil was nearly two points up at the close. The group led the board for volume also and a fair turnover in the base metals as well as Ford A and Brazilian. Gains outnumbered losses at the close.

The oils supplied practically all the driving power there was behind the industrial share market today while the rest of the board, with a few exceptions, lagged behind, paying little heed to the generally buoyant note in the New York market.

Imperial Oil and International Petroleum had gains of two points or more most of the session and holding 75 per cent of the advance at early afternoon on active trading. Other oils registered narrow gains but failed to hold. In the metals, International Nickel forged ahead on good volume but Consolidated Smelters slipped back with the silvers, influenced by a substantial decline in the bar silver price.

Utility, Steel and miscellaneous shares were strong as well as C.P.R. while Ford A and Brazilian were mildly soft.

NEW YORK CLOSE

New York, June 4 (AP)— The stock market continued to push ahead today as traders apparently ignored bullish results from the RFA developments at Washington.

The activity expanded somewhat on the further upturn and gains of 1 to around 3 points were registered by Columbian Carbon, Union Carbide, Union Pacific, American Can, Air Reduction, Du Pont, Philip Morris, American Tobacco "B", Standard Oils of New Jersey and California and Seaboard Oil. Cuban-American Sugar preferred recovered a point. The late tone was firm. Transfers approximated 800,000 shares.

UNLISTED MINES

United mines furnished by A. H. Ketcheson and Co., today:

Bankfield 34-36.
Casey 14-16.
Coniaurum 80-90.
Forty Four 400-600.
Gold Eagle 32-33.
Great Bear 64B.
Hardrock 39B.
Unita 410B.
Lamaque 175B.
McLeod 4-5.
Matachewan 10-12.
Ontario 31-33.
Rice Lake 3¼-3¾.
Smeltgrs 5-6.
Stadacona 32-35.

Stock Markets

Quotations at 2.15 furnished by Biggar and Crawford, P. H. Wills, branch manager.

Mines.
Ashley 13¼B.
Ajax 75B.
Astor 21.
Broth. Treth. 45.
Barry Hollinger 37½B.
Base Metals 70B.
Bobjo 20.
Big Missouri 65B.
Bagamac 5.
Bralorne 60B.
Castle Treth. 101B.
Coniaurum 186.
Central Patricia 55.
Coast Copper 230B.
Dome 432B.
Dominion Explor. 44½B.
Dickenso 177.
Falconbridge 380B.
God's Lake 141B.
Goldale 113.
Granada 39B.
Greene Stab. 22½B.
Hollinger 1800B.
Halcrow 21½.
Home Oil 53B.
Hudson's Bay 152½B.
Lewey 81B.
Int. Nickel 28¼B.
Kirkland Lake 41B.
Kerr Townsite 20B.
Lake Shore 532½B.
Little Long Lac 525B.
Macassa 195B.
Malartic 39B.
Maple Leaf 9¾.
McIntyre 422½B.
Mining Corporation 123B.
McKenzie 122B.
McWatters 12B.
McVittie 15B.
Nipissing 340B.
Noranda 291B.
Pioneer 1065B.
Parkhill 21.
Premier 168B.
Reade Anth. 68B.
Reno 18½B.
St. Anthony 31.
Sherritt 9B.
Sisco 275B.
San Antonio 340B.
Stadacona 32.
Sudbury Basin 137B.
Sylvanite 212B.
Teck Hughes 415B.
Ventures 253.
Wayside 10.
Waite Amulet 60B.
Wright Hargreaves 250B.
Pickle Crow 250.
Paymaster 14½.
TORONTO
Bell Telephone 134B.
B. A. Oil 16.
Brewing Corp. 3 1-2.
Brax. Thers. 2 3-4.
Can. Bud Brewry 8 1-8.
Can. Cement 35.
Can. Dredge 24B.
Can. Dom. Alcohol 8B.
C.P.R. 10.1-4.
Can. Malting 32 1-2B.
Can. Vinegar 27 1-4B.
Canada Car 7 1-8B.
Cons. Bakeries 15 1-2B.
Con. Smelting 167 1-2B.
Dominion Stores 72.
Dist. Seagrams 32 1-4B.
Ford "A" 25 1-4B.
Gypsum 5 3-4B.
Goodyear 150B.
Imp. Oil 31 7-8.
Inter. Pet. 37B.
Imp. Tobacco 33B.
Loblaw 34 1-2.
Massey Harris 4 1-4B.
Mond. Power 27 3-4B.
McColl-Frontenac 13 3-4.
Power Corp. 7 1-8B.
Steel of Canada 37 1-4B.
Supertest 27B.
Shawinigan 31 3-4B.
Walker's 24 3-8.
Walker's, Pfd. 17 1-4B.
Walkerville Brewery 4 5-8B.
NEW YORK
American Can. 124 1-4.
American T. and T. 133.
Amer. Pwr. Power 4.
Anaconda 15 3-4.
Auburn 19 3-4.
Case 54.
Chrysler 44 3-4.
Consol. Oil 6.
Curtis Wright 1 1-2.
Electric Boat 14 5-8.
Stewart-Warner 9 1-2.
U.S. Rubber 108 3-4.
U.S. Steel 32 1-8.
United Aircraft 12 5-8.
Vanadium 18 1-4.
Westinghouse 47 1-4.
American Rad. 11 1-2.
General Elect. 25 1-8.
POWER BONDS
Gatineau's 5 percent 97 1-4B.
6 percent A. 72B.
6 percent B. 72B.
Beauharnois
5 1-2 percent 86 1-4B.
5 percent 33 3-4B.
MacLaren 78B.
Dubs Price 96 1-2.
Ottawa Valley 86B.
Can. Northern Power 98B.

Produce Markets

(By United Farmers Co-Operative Company)

Toronto, June 4—Quotations per cwt. produce delivered at Toronto as supplied by the United Farmers Co-operative Co. here to-day were:

Buying Prices
Eggs—
Grade A, large, doz.	.16
Grade A, medium, doz.	.15
Grade C, doz.	.14
Butter—
No. 1, Creamery lb.	21
No. 2, Creamery lb.	20 1-2
Closing prices
No. 1 lb.	.21
No. 2 lb.	.19
(F.O.B. shipping point)
Poultry

	Live Dressed	Dressed
	"A" "A"
Over 5 lbs.	.11	.14
4 to 5 lbs.	.13	.16
3 to 4 lbs.	.12	.11
Old roosters	.07	.09
Broilers 2 1-2 lb		.16
Broilers 1 1-4 to 2 1-2		.14

Selling Prices

Toronto, June 4—Quotations per cwt. today were about equivalent to retail dealers as the following prices:

Eggs
Grade A large loose, doz.	.21
Grade A medium doz.	.19
Grade B medium doz.	.17
Grade C large doz.	.16
Butter—
No. 1 Creamery, prints	.24
No. 2 Creamery, prints	22 1-2
Rye and Straw

No. 3 timothy hay, baled, ton, $14.50 to $15.50; No. 2 timothy hay here, $16.50 to $17; clover mixed, baled, ton $10.00; oats straw, $7.50 to $8.50.

Grades Eggs Prices

Toronto dealers today were paying the following nominal prices per graded eggs, cases free:

Grade A medium, doz.	.19
Grade A large, doz.	.21
"A" pullets, doz.	.15

Livestock Quotations

(Toronto)

Steers, up to 1,000 lbs.

Good and choice	6.00 6.50
do medium	5.25 6.00
do common	4.25 5.25
Steers, over 1000 lbs. good and choice	6.00 7.00
do, medium	5.25 6.00
do common	4.50 5.25
Canners and cutters	1.50 2.75
Bulls, good	4.00 5.00
do common	3.50 3.75
Milkers and springers	33.00 50.00
Stocker and feeder steers, good	5.00 5.75
do medium	4.50 5.00
do common	4.00 4.50
Calves, good and choice	6.00 7.50
Veals	6.00 7.50
do common to medium	4.00 5.75
do, grassers	2.00 3.00
Hogs, bacon, selects	8.75 9.00
do, off. cars	8.90
do, f.o.b.	8.75
Good ewes and wether lambs	9.00 9.50
do medium	8.00 8.50
do, bucks	6.00 7.00
do culls	4.00 5.00
Sheep, good weight	3.50 3.00
do, heavies	1.00 1.50
do, heavies	2.00 2.50

LIVESTOCK

Toronto, June 4.—(CP)— Cattle trade was practically at a standstill at the opening of the Toronto Livestock market today and for the second successive day, not enough sales were made to establish prices. Holdovers numbered 1,700 head. Calves, sheep and lambs opened unchanged while hogs, as usual were unstated.

Receipts as reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were:— Cattle 410; calves 220; hogs 320; sheep and lambs 270.

A few butcher cows sold at $2.00 to $4.85 cwt., and a few bologna bulls brought $3.25 to $3.50. They were the only sales on the division.

Calves were steady with choice vealers at $6.50 to $7.00 and common at $4.00. Lambs opened at $9.00 to $9.50 for choice spring lambs while sheep had tops of $3.00 with culls down to $1.00.

The hog division was unsettled and early bids from packers were lower than yesterday's close.

FOR SOUR STOMACH AND INDIGESTION

Don't suffer from after-eating discomfort. Eno's "Fruit Salt" will soon set you right. Eno neutralizes the acid condition and soothes the stomach almost like magic—safely!

And more—Eno gets at the root of the trouble and prevents recurrence. It purifies intestinal activity, keeps the alimentative tract free from poisonous waste.

A dash of Eno in a glass of water, morning and night, soon normalizes and revivifies the entire inner system. Doctors recommend Eno and take it themselves because they know it's safe! Eno acts gently, effectively, forms no habit. Handy size, 50 cents. Household size, 85 cents. Those the druggist sells.

Grain Markets

Closing quotations on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange as furnished by A. H. Ketcheson and Co. today.

Wheat—	High	Low	Close
July	83¾	83¼	83¼
October	83⅝	83	83¼
Oats—
July	40⅝	39⅝	40⅝
October	36¼	34⅜	36
Barley—
July	43⅜	41⅜	43⅜
October	40	39¼	40
Rye—
July	43⅛	42⅛	43⅛
October	43¾	44	45¾

HOGS

Toronto, June 4.—(CP)— Of six bacon hog market points reporting today, Chatham showed a 25-cent loss and Brantford and London 10-cent drops. Three others were unchanged. Today's prices:

Brantford $8.90; Chatham $8.90; Hull $9.25 Kitchener $8.85; London $8.75; Stratford $8.85.

FAIRY CITY NAME GIVEN NEW YORK

Wife of President of France Waits Return Trip on Normandie

New York, June 4.—(AP)—The record-breaking liner Normandie rested in the Hudson's Oil yards today and was broadcasting for a return trip while her No. 1 passenger, France's petite first lady, got acquainted with North America.

The sights on a first visit to the United States occupied chic, dark-haired Mme. Albert Lebrun, wife of the President of France.

"A fairy city," Mme. LeBrun said of New York before leaving today for an official visit to Washington.

Night silenced the clamor under which New York boisterously welcomed the visitor. Preparations were set in motion but the high interests publicity drew an estimated 1,000 persons to waterfront vantage points yesterday—permitted. Long trails of the curious stood in the sun, women's bills passed by for a glimpse of her grace and face.

Arrangements have been made for visitors to go aboard until late tonight and thousands are expected.

HORSE IS DRAWN BY DENBIGH MAN

Sea Bequest Has Chance to Win Derby But Not Favorite

Montreal, Quebec, June 4—The eighteenth drawing of the Army and Navy Veterans, Quebec Province Charity promotion, held here today on the running of the English Derby, world-famed British classic race, at Epsom Downs, Wednesday, June 5th, noon de plume Denbigh Herald, Alberta, drew favorite Balkan Bateman. Rocco H., Carleton Place, Ontario, drew horse Sea Bequest. Mrs. Alma Tims, Kenleigh, Ontario, drew Sea Bequest. Tuddy Allen, Ottawa, drew Denbigh Herald. Each of the above stand a chance to win thirty-five thousand dollars, total goal you have invested and fifty-three thousand dollars, total prize money. Second two seconds, $21,000 each, two third, $10,000 each, two fourth, $5,000 each. Fifty-eight other residents of Ontario drew prizes, Manitoba twelve, Quebec, fifty-three, Saskatchewan, seven, British Columbia, seven, and United States, one fifty-two.

DOZEN TRANSIENTS ARE GIVEN LODGING

Three inebriates appeared in today's local police court held before Magistrate E. J. Butler and all pleading guilty to charges of intoxication. Two of the offenders stated they were without adequate funds to pay a fine and were given ten days "on the cells." The third requested an enlargement for two weeks and which time he expects to have the necessary cash to pay the "ten and costs".

Last night's drizzling rain drove one seven dozen transients to the police station in search of dry lodging.

Tourist Traffic for Season is Started

FORT ERIE, Ont., June 4—(CP)—The season's tourist traffic for the current season started yesterday, D. H. McIntyre Peace Bridge Bureau head stated. Mr. McIntyre said twenty parties entered yesterday, French Riviera, Australia, Lake, Barry Bay, Georgian Bay, Rice Lake and Fairy Sound were principal destinations registered. He said the June movement, judging from inquiries, is expected to create new records.

LOCAL NURSES TO GRADUATE TODAY

Misses Margaret Shannon, and Helen Ada Trenton, Nelson and Allen Ellis, Wooler, Bertha Olbert, Helen Trualach and Margaret Lee of this city received their diplomas today at the 41st annual graduation exercises of St. Michael's Hospital School of Nursing, which took place at St. Joseph's College School. Archbishop Mac-Donnell, Justice H. T. Kelly presiding as chairman presented diplomas and

Moth Bags 15c 25c 50c
Paracide 49c
Moth Crystals 39c lb.
Kills Moth and Worm.
FILMS FOR THE HOLIDAY!
Bathing Caps
See Our Window For Cap Bargains!
DOLAN
THE DRUGGIST
Phone 118

2 MacTEMPLES LOSE APPEALS

Ontario Court of Appeal Refuses to Set Aside Convictions

Toronto, June 4 (CP)—The appeals of Frank MacTemple, alias Hall and his son, Fred Jake Temple, against convictions for the murder a year ago of Police Constable Colin McGregor in St. Thomas were dismissed today by the Ontario Court of Appeal.

Mr. Justice W. R. Riddell and Mr. Justice C. A. Masten wrote reasons in disallowing the appeals. Their decision was agreed with by Mr. Justice R. G. Fisher and Mr. Justice W. E. Middleton. The Chief Justice was not present.

Execution Date June 27.

The father and son were sentenced at the spring assizes in St. Thomas to hang June 27. McGregor was slain in a gun battle when police officers went to the MacTemple home to arrest the son on a theft charge.

Evidence at the trial last March showed Constable McGregor was killed by a bullet from a gun in Frank MacTemple's hand. During the shooting Fred MacTemple was injured in the neck.

Father and son were given separate trials. Frank MacTemple testified in his own behalf but the son did not enter the witness box. Two juries found them guilty and they were sentenced to death by Mr. Justice W. T. Henderson.

Fred Jake Temple passed his 21st birthday only three weeks ago in his cell in the St. Thomas jail.

The written reasons of the two Justices were brief.

Referring to what was said in Fred MacTemple's appeal as to provocation, Mr. Justice Riddell said: "where was nothing which our law permits to be considered provocation in this case, nor was the jury called upon to express any opinion as to the conduct of the officers and, indeed, no jury could be justified in finding that the conduct of the officers was faulty in any respect."

St. Thomas, Ont., June 4 (CP)— Frank and Fred MacTemple, father and son, whose appeals against their conviction for murdering Constable Colin McGregor were dismissed in the court of appeals at Toronto today, have not yet been notified of the court's decision. Sheriff Cameron said he would leave the breaking of the bad news to Father O'-Rourke, their spiritual adviser, when he pays his regular visit to them this afternoon. The condemned men have been in high hopes their appeals would be favorably received.

Clemency Will Be Sought.

W. M. Hall, K.C., who defended the elder MacTemple at the trial said no further action would be taken in the matter until after a conference with A. M. Lebel, London lawyer, who prosecuted the appeals in the court. He intimated, however, no time of the unanimous decision of the appeal court further court action might not be undertaken but clemency would be sought from the Minister of Justice.

Quinte Conference Transfers Listed

Ministerial transfers were announced at the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada.

Transfers are as follows: Belleville Presbyterian—Rev. W. Gardiner to Adolphustown, G. T. McKenzie to Hath, B. A. Bell to Bethel, Randolph Vatcher to Coe Hill, H. F. Saunders to Consecon, M. C. Fisher to Enterprise, C. Bowyer to Frankford and Cloyne, Fred Horton to Fuzboro, L. E. Kennedy to Harold, W. J. Smith to Morven, E. F. Swayze to Newburgh, J. W. Bell to Northbrook and to Yarker.

Colborne Presbytery—H. W. Brunish, superannuated, but will supply to Centredon; Roy H. Rutherford to Colborne, Wm. Hall to Keyhour, H. L. Partridge, Colborne, superannuated for one year.

Kingston Presbytery—L. B. Smith to Addison, J. T. Conn to Arden and Mountain View, T. Mathias to Brockville, A. E. Oliver to Escott, W. E. Hamilton to Glen Elbow, A. B. Doggett to Lyn, R. A. Cameron to Parham, L. Hall, without charge, to serve on request, L. S. Wight, superannuated for one year.

Lindsay Presbytery—C. G. Parr to George Street, Peterboro; Geo. S. Eaden to Trinity, Peterboro.

Lindsay Presbytery—R. H. Whitside to Cobconk and Bury's Green, Wm. Hollis to Dalrymple and Bury's Green, William Sterling to Dunsford, Wm. Thomas Hamilton to Greenbank, H. S. Willis to Little Britain, G. Wilson to Middleton Presbyterian, D. M. Stinson to Oakwood, F. C. McTavish to Omemee, Wm. Hamilton to Port Perry, supplied.

Oshawa Presbytery—H. S. Mutton to Greenwood, R. L. Beach and Charles R. Wragg to Newtonville, R. J. McCormick to King Street, Oshawa; Wm. Woodside, superannuated, but will supply to Northminster, Oshawa; W. J. Wilson to Scugog; Albert Street church, Oshawa, to be supplied, James Wilson and Dr. Gilmour, superannuated for one year.

Peterboro Presbytery—R. J. Merriam to Bathurst and Maberly, Preston C. Ross to Cavan, Millbrook charge settlement pending, J. F. Falconer superannuated for one year.

The following ministers are leaving the Bay of Quinte Conference: Rev. D. Lorne McTavish of Oshawa, to Hamilton, G. W. W. Rivers to Bethesda, Mr. E. Donnelly of Peterboro to C. W. Bishop to Perrpus, J. K. Graham to Cleveland Lake, J. R. E. Millyard to London.

Bathing Caps
See Our Window For Cap Bargains!
DOLAN
THE DRUGGIST
Phone 118

Jean Parker in "Princess O'Hara" showing for the last times tonight at the Capitol.

"Brutal Action" Promised Against Gold Speculations

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Paris, June 4 (AP)—Premier Pierre-and Boulsson pledged "brutal and decisive" action against those who "attack our gold" in a ministerial declaration today.

Making his first appearance as head of the Government before the Chamber of Deputies, which he ruled as President for nine years, Boulsson asked the full powers already granted him by the Government could "safeguard the franc from any assault."

Those "broad but limited and temporary powers," he said, "entitle us immediately to crush speculation."

"It took only a few days for speculators to make their assault, attack our gold vainly and to try to alarm investors and demoralize workers. The Government's reply will be brutal and decisive."

Boulsson said the National Union which has been achieved in France since the World War.

"Men who opposed each other yesterday," he declared, "are grouped today in close association to support the franc, rehabilitate finance, and revive business."

EMPLOYMENT BILL UNDER SCRUTINY

One Drafted by Irish Free State is Quite Drastic

By JOSEPH DENNIGAN
Canadian Press Correspondent

Dublin, June 4—(CP)—A maximum working week, holidays with pay, restriction of night and Sunday work and regulation of overtime rates and shift hours are the main proposals of the conditions of employment bill introduced by President Eamon de Valera's Minister for Industry and Commerce, Sean Lemass, and now passing through the Free State legislature.

The main purpose of the bill according to the minister, is to confer on him power to make regulations after consultation with representatives of employers and workers in any industry prescribing maximum hours of work.

When the bill becomes law, adult men and women may only work an eight-hour day and a 48-hour week, for juveniles, the normal maximum will be 40 hours a week. No reduction in wages may take place where hours of work are reduced by the bill.

Wage agreements between employers and their workers may be confirmed by the Department of Industry and Commerce so as to be legally enforced.

The Minister proposes also to take power to limit the employment of women or to fix the proportion of women workers to men in any industry.

One week's holidays with pay together with all public holidays per year must be given to all industrial workers. Exemption from this rule will be banned except under special licence. Where such a licence is granted, 24 hours' continuous rest must be given to workers in the same week.

Women may not be employed at night in industrial work and men may be employed only on work which must be carried on without intermission.

ADMITS ASSAULT DENIES MURDER

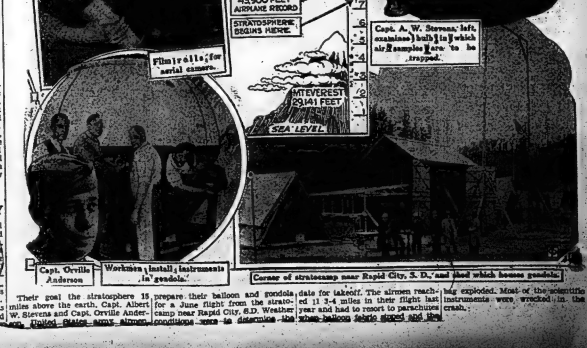
John Welch, Transient, Held After Arrest at Source, Man.

Nalcam, Man., June 4—(CP)—Inquest into the death of 10-year-old Anna May Benson, found in a deserted cabin near her mother's farm 22 miles east of here May 18, resumes today at Tiddah.

Meanwhile, Royal Canadian Mounted Police hold in custody on a charge of murdering the little girl, John Welch, 28, transient arrested at Source, Man., after allegedly assaulting a six year-old girl.

Welch re-enacted for police and neighbors his meeting with the murdered girl. He is said to have admitted criminally assaulting the girl but steadfastly denied killing her.

Later, finding her dead, he is alleged to have declared he hid the body under the floor of the cabin and placed the stove over the hole.



Three days later he appeared in the Souris district, where he was arrested and turned over to R. C. M. P. when the crown waived proceedings in the Souris assault charge.

His preliminary hearing will begin at the completion of the inquest.

INJURED JOCKEY DIES

LAWRENCE, Mass., June 4—(AP) —Bert" Smith, 17-year-old Montreal jockey, critically injured while exercising a horse at Rockingham Park died today.

BALLOONISTS READY, FOR ATTEMPT TO SOAR 15 MILES INTO UPPER AIR

Their goal the stratosphere 15 miles above the earth, Capt. Albert W. Stevens and Capt. Orville Anderson, United States army airmen, prepare their balloon and gondola, date for takeoff. The airmen, reaching altitudes of 13 miles, will test instruments were wrecked in the first flight last year and had to resort to parachutes when balloon falsely signed and flew crash.

REDNERSVILLE MEETS DEFEAT

Tweed Scores 10-4 Win With Laffman's Sensational Pitching

Tweed — With the exception of the first inning, Rednersville was utterly helpless before the slants of Elden Laffman, Tweed schoolboy pitcher, in a scheduled softball fixture on the local park on Saturday afternoon. The local fans witnessed their favorites emerge on the long end of a 10 to 4 score over the recent conquerors of Young Canada.

Laffman had great difficulty in controlling the ball in the first inning and walked four men, two of whom scored. The visitors' scored again in the second, on Thompson's homer, and in the fourth when Cooke came all the way home as Quinn dropped his fly back of first base after a hard run. Fourteen of the visitors were retired on strikes by Laffman whose exhibition was comparable to his best effort in the 1934 season, and six hits were made off his delivery, two coming in the ninth with two down.

Wannamaker, in the box for Rednersville, allowed eleven hits, and two bases on balls. He struck out one batsman, Sinclair swinging on a low third strike. He was replaced by Dempsey in the eighth. Rollins was the fielding star with five put-outs, some on hard chances. His catch of Dempsey's drive in the seventh was a gem. McCutcheon had a hard day in left field and made two sparkling catches. H. Farley at first for the visitors featured with some nice playing.

Orr with three hits including a double and a homer, was the leading batsman; Meraw, Tummon and Cutcheon as the victims in third evenly divided. The only double play was made by Walkom, Wesse and Farley with Tummon and McCutcheon a sthe victim in the third innings when the side was retired on three pitched balls. Errors were made by Quinn, Meraw, Wannamaker, Wesse and Russell.

Ovenoy, at the plate, and Wilson on bases, were the umpires.

The Line-ups

Rednersville—C. Clarke ss, H. Farley 1b, J. Farley c, A. Dempsey c.f., F. Walkom 2b, H. Russell lf, C. Gills rf, H. Wannamaker p, L. Wesse 3b, Thompson cf, Moy rf.

Tweed—A. Simpson c, T. Meraw 2b, G. Quinn 1b, T. Tummon cf, H. McCutcheon lf, S. Rollins 3b, J. Orr ss, G. Sinclair rf, S. Laffman p.

Score by Innings

	R.H.E.
Rednersville— 210 100 000—	4 6 3
Tweed ..... 220 030 30x—10	11 2

Cross-Channel Swimmer Designs Styles

GERTRUDE EDERLE

First woman to swim the English channel, Gertrude Ederle, former champion distance swimmer, is a creator of styles for stout women. She is pictured at her work in New York looking over diagrams of some new models.

SOFTBALL

RECREATION MERCANTILE SOFTBALL LEAGUE SCHEDULE 1935

June 3—London Lunch vs. American Hardware
4—Ont. Intell vs. C. D. S.
6—Finch vs. Simpsons
7—Recreation vs. Loblaw
10—American Hardware vs. Ont. Intell
11—C. D. S. vs. London Lunch
13—Loblaw vs. Finch
14—Simpson vs. Recreation
17—London Lunch vs. Ont. Intell
18—American Hardware vs. Simpsons
20—C. D. S. vs. Loblaw
21—Finch vs. Recreation
24—Simpson vs. London Lunch
25—Loblaw vs. Ont. Intell
27—C. D. S. vs. Finch
28—Recreation vs. American Hardware
1—Simpson vs. Loblaw
July 2—C. D. S. vs. Am. Hardware
4—London Lunch vs. Finch
5—Ont. Intell vs. Recreation
8—Am. Hardware vs. London Lunch
9—C. D. S. vs. Ont. Intell
11—Simpson vs. Finch
12—Loblaw vs. Recreation
15—Ont. Intell vs. American Hardware
16—London Lunch vs. C. D. S.
18—Finch vs. Loblaw
18—Recreation vs. Simpson
22—Ont. Intell vs. London Lunch
23—Simpson vs. American Hardware
25—Loblaw vs. C.D.S.
26—Recreation vs. Finch
28—London Lunch vs. Simpsons
30—Ont. Intel vs. Loblaw
Aug. 1—Finch vs. C.D.S.
2—American Hardware vs. Recreation
5—Loblaw vs. Simpson
6—American Hardware vs. C. D. S.
8—Finch vs. Loblaw
9—Recreation vs. Ont. Intell
13—London Lunch vs. Loblaw
13—Simpson vs. Ont. Intell
15—Finch vs. American Hardware
16—C. D. S. vs. Recreation
19—Loblaw vs. American Hardware
20—C. D. S. vs. Simpson
22—Ont. Intell vs. Finch
23—Recreation vs. London Lunch

KING WILL SIGN DIVORCE

Copenhagen, June 4 (AP)—Court attaches said a divorce of Prince Erik from his wife, the former Lois Booth of the Ottawa lumber family, was in the hands of the King and it was indicated he would sign the document within two weeks.

BISONS SHOW NO PARTIALITY TO LEAD LOOP

Throws Off Challenge of Montreal by 9-3 Win

BEARS CLIMB

Move Into First Division by 5-4 Win Over The Orioles

(By the Associated Press)

Buffalo Bisons, now leading the International League pennant race by 2 1-2 games, apparently do not believe in showing any partiality.

First they knocked Toronto Maple Leafs out of first place. Then they whipped the lowly Rochester Red-Wings in three out of four games and yesterday they hurled back the challenge of Montreal Royals, which has climbed to second place. The score was 9-3.

For eight innings, the Royals managed to hold Ray Schalk's men on even terms. But in the last frame the Bisons went on a hitting rampage, sending 11 men to the plate to pound out six hits, including a homer by Buck Crouse, and score six runs. The Royals had counted once in each of the first three innings, with Gus Dugas hitting a homer in the second, but in the third the Bisons drove Lauri Myllykangas from the mound with a three-run attack. Leo Mangum came to the rescue and matched Ken Ash in a scoreless pitching duel until the ninth inning uprising when Johnny Pomorski had to be called in.

Bears Move Up

Newark Bears found themselves in the first division again, when they withstood a ninth inning threat of Baltimore Orioles and eked out a 5-4 victory last night. Dick Porter, Ernie Koy and Bill Baker were the big guns of the Newark attack, while Irvine Jeffries clouted two home runs for Orioles and batted in three of the Birds' four runs. Roy Spencer also hit a homer for Baltimore.

The string of seven straight victories Syracuse Chiefs compiled in order to secure a berth in the first division was snapped last night by Albany Senators who blasted out 26 hits and scored a 23-11 decision over the Chiefs. The defeat cost the Chiefs their place in the higher group. Bob Graham and Johnny Kroner hit circuit clouts for Syracuse and Bud Hafey scored one for the Senators.

They Will be Shooting for U.S. Open Championship

WILLIE MACFARLANE

Willie MacFarlane, veteran Scot, who beat Bobby Jones by one stroke for the title 10 years ago, is favored by many to win the United States open championship this year. He won the Pennsylvania title over the Oakmont course in 1934, so is well acquainted with the layout.

RALPH GULDHAL

Rated an outsider in the betting Ralph Guldhal yet ranks as a possibility in the American open. He lost the title by a single stroke to Johnny Goodman in 1933 and is said to be shooting keener than ever. He was one of those automatically qualified this year.

AL ESPINOSA

Ace of a California golfing family of Spanish descent, Al Espinosa is a grim battler when the going is tough and if he can shake the hoodoo which seems to ride him in big tournaments may give more favored golfers a close drive for the U.S. open championship.

KY LAFFOON

The French-Irish-Indian star from the Ozarks, Ky Laffoon is one of golf's most brilliant shotmakers when he is on his game. His great fault is inconsistency, but when he is on his game he is sensational. Pre-tourney rounds tend to show Laffoon is shooting at top form as he goes into the American open tournament.

KING'S DERBY ENTRY SHOWS FINE FORM

FAIRLEAD

Carrying the colors of King George, Fairlead will go to the post in the Derby at Epsom Downs on June 5, with the sentimental backing of many Englishmen. Fairlead is shown breezing along in a workout and showing good form.

FAVORED TO WIN ENGLISH DERBY

BAHRAM

Heavily favored to take the historic Derby at Epsom Downs on June 5, Bahram, sensational runner owned by H.H. the Aga Khan, is seen, above, with Jockey Fox up. This Derby candidate has shown himself the class of his year in races so far and will probably go to the post heavily backed.

SECOND STRING TO AGA KHAN'S BOW

HAIRAN

H.H. the Aga Khan has more than one string to his bow, and Hairan above, will be another of his horses to start in the English Derby on June 5. Bahram, from the same stable, has been installed favorite.

JOHNSON'S FATE RESTS WITH LANDIS

JOHNSON LAN DIS KAMM

Cleveland's baseball troubles were tossed into the lap of Judge K. M. Landis, the game's supreme arbiter, when President Alva Bradley of the Indians arranged a hearing of Manager Walter Johnson's charges that Willie Kamm, suspended third baseman was undermining him as pilot of the club. Kamm demanded a showdown when Johnson sent him home while the team was on the road, at the same time giving Catcher Glenn Myatt his unconditional release. Judge Landis is pictured seniors, with Kamm, right, and Johnson, left. If Kamm wins out in his hearing before Judge Landis, then Johnson will step out as manager of the Indians. President Bradley announced.

FOR THE STOMACH—Max Baer rolls on a medicine ball at Asbury, N. J., training camp, to harden stomach muscles.

WATER JUMP—Horses take the water jump gracefully during a steeplechase at St simons park

PICARD CHAMP—Henry Picard, LEFT, wins Metropolitan open at Great Neck, Long Island, RIGHT, Stewart McLeod, Met. president

GOODYEAR PRICES REDUCED

New prices on Goodyear Speedway Tires — effective at once — compete with prices of even so-called "bargain" tires. Yet Speedway quality has not been reduced. You get the same tough, long-wearing tread . . . Supertwist cord construction . . . guaranteed against defects and road hazards. Immediate service. We put 'em on. We're here all year round to stand back of the guarantee—handle claims—all without cost to you.

SPEEDWAY

30x3½ $4.99

Size	4-Ply Heavy Duty	6-Ply Heavy Duty
4.40-21	6.35	7.90
4.50-21	6.95	8.60
4.75-19	7.75	9.70

Other sizes equally low-priced

Baker's Service

3 DUNDAS STREET. PHONE 606

Baseball
Current Sport

IN THE REALM OF SPORTING EVENTS

Bowling
Golf

Wrestling — Belleville ARENA

EXHIBITION

FRIDAY JUNE 7th

9.15 P.M. D.S.T.

MASKED MARVEL ?, 220 lbs. vs. DAN PETROFF, Russia, 210 lbs.
JACK PAVLOS, Greece, 205 lbs. vs. JOHNNY GYROFFY, Hungary, 205 lbs.
PRELIMINARY—JOHN McITAY vs. TED BONAHOOM
The Large Attendance Weekly — Warrants No Increase in Prices Account of Tax.

BASEBALL

C. O. B. L.

EXHIBITION PARK

Thursday June 6th at 6.15 p. m.

D.S.T.

PETERBORO (SEA HORSES) vs.

BELLEVILLE (STEWART-WARNERS)

This will be the first appearance of Knotty Lee and his rejuvenated team. League leadership will be at stake.

ADMISSION 35c - CHILDREN 15c (including tax)
GRANDSTAND FREE

16-21

YANKEES VENT WRATH ON A'S TO WIN BY 7-4

Secure Nine Hits For a Total of Eighteen Bases

INDIANS WIN

Score Seven Runs in Fourteenth Frame to Down Browns

(By Andy Clarke)
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Wags, who dubbed the Yankees the "fifteen wonders" did a dirty trick on the Athletics.

Ranked by such a label the American League leaders yesterday vented their wrath on the boys of Connie Mack by way of 18 hits straight win and snapped the Athletics win streak at four games. They hammered out nine hits for 18 bases to chalk up a 7-4 victory; This despite the fact the Athletics collected a total of eleven safe blows, including two homers.

George Blaeholder who started in the box for Philadelphia was treated so unkindly he took refuge in the showers in the fifth inning as Dickey's home run was the blow, that sent Blaeholder off with his fourth straight defeat since he went to the Athletics from the Browns.

That the Yanks went into the game with dire intentions was evidenced in the first inning when with two aboard, Lazzeri smacked one to the outer reaches for three bases.

In the next inning Crosetti whaled one for a double to scorch by another tally. The Yanks got three more in a ninth inning uprising which was capped by "Dickey's circuit blow and Ben Chapman hit a triple to send Combs home for the final run in the seventh with Mc-Maffie at the plate.

Jim Peebone, who met languishon on the bench all season was called into service for the first time and he fared well until the ninth inning, when he passed Myer to lead the bases with one out. Murphy, who relieved him, then forced Pinky Higgins to hit into a double play, ending the game. The win increased the Yankees lead to 3 1-2 games.

Score Seven to 14th

In the only other game in the American League, Cleveland Indians waited until the 14th inning to unleash an attack, that netted seven runs and an 11-4 victory over the down-trodden Browns.

In a nip and tuck battle in which the Indians went into a one run lead in the eleventh only to have the Browns tie it up, again, Cleveland finally shelled Jack Knott, the fourth Brownie pitcher to the mound and then continued the attack against Bob Weiland. As a final shot, Bruce Campbell hit a homer with the bases loaded and displeased any thought the Browns might have had of again knotting the count.

In the only game played in the National League, St. Louis Cardinals, striving to overhaul the speeding Giants, dropped one to the Chicago Cubs, 6-2. It was the Cards' first defeat in seven games and set them four full games behind their New York brethren. Charlie Root pitched beaut'ful to hold his club in the first division. A defeat would have dropped the Cubs into fifth place behind Brooklyn Dodgers.

Ruth Finishes Career as a Ball Player

(By Edward J. Neil)
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, June 4.—(AP)—A seething mountain of a man was George Herman Ruth today as all the arguments in the wrfld, all the hot words, bitter recriminations that have passed between him and the Boston Braves couldn't hide his epochal line for baseball's history: Babe Ruth is all done.

His final turbulent exchange with Emil Fuchs, President of the Braves, and Bill McKechnie, manager of the Club, served today only to emphasize the completeness of the passing of the man who for 15 straight years has been making major league history.

The Babe admits he's through as a ball player.

An Associated Press poll of the big league owners indicates none have anything but an academic interest in him and his future.

It went out with the final blast of McKechnie whom he had taken great pains to defend, ringing in his ears. Since the Babe announced Sunday he was through, during the hot words, that whipped back and forth between Ruth and Fuchs, McKechnie kept his peace.

Manager's Statements

McKechnie in a formal statement, said yesterday:

"I must state publicly that in justice to the action of Judge Fuchs with reference to Babe Ruth on Friday and Saturday of last week. I pointed out to Judge Fuchs that there was trouble with the ball club was that it has not been functioning properly with Babe Ruth playing the ball game.

"I frankly stated that certain players on the club, while with the ball club, which I have endeavored forbid with any other member of the club responsible for the lack of discipline, and that unless Ruth's case could convince Babe Ruth to retire, I was unable to get any real discipline or proper spirit as manifested by the players and for the acquisition of Ruth from the Yankees from the start.

"When the Babe got home yesterday, in apology but the triumph that used to greet his newspapermen awaited him as of old.

Ruth Hits Back

"I'm glad you're here," he said. "I'm going to tell you about this thing right from the bottom. There is no good to discuss it again. It's bad for baseball.

"The main thing in a nutshell is this. Judge Fuchs got all he could out of me. He wanted to get rid of me because fr could no longer pay my salary—$35,000 for three years. But he didn't know how he was going to do it. Instead of coming to me and asking me to retire, which I would have done, he starts passing stories around, trying to force me to quit.

"And my first jam with Fuchs," Ruth said, "when I refused to go to Philadelphia to Boston and sign 500 tickets the storekeeper agreed to buy for a game if I appeared. We had a long argument and he called it off. I quess that's what being vice president means.

"Before we started west on the last trip Fuchs called me and McKechnie I was through but talked about the advance sales cut Boston pleaded me to go there.

"Fuchs said, 'If you quit now I might has as well run to the anyone too.' I said 'O.K. Judge, I'll go'.

Like a Boy Guitar

"We had bir conversation. I hit three homers in Pittsburgh. It was like old times. I felt great. We got to Cincinnati and the diamond was hard. I hurt my knee. Then in Philadelphia, Chicago, third baseman, hit one to me and before I got it he was spreading the plate. When I saw that, I knew I was done.

"McKechnie and I got along like a couple of kids. He 'phoned me Sunday night and he was almost crying. 'Don't believe anything you see in the papers supposed to be from me'" he said. 'It's a lie'."

"He asked me when I was leaving. He came down to see me off. He said he was sorry I was going, that he wished me all the luck in the world. What a pity he turned out to be."

There's only one thing the Babe would like now from the Braves. "I'd like to buy my uniform," he said. "I gets that's the last one."

PICTON MEET IS SUCCESS

Three Races Are Staged With Fine Weather Prevailing

Harness Horse racing came back to Prince Edward County after an absence of many years on the holiday, when at least 1,000 gathered at Picton under the auspices of the Agricultural Society and was a pronounced success. Rain deterred many, who otherwise have been in attendance, but little fell during the most or before and the track was in excellent condition which can be noted by the times made in the several heats. The races were conducted under the three heat plan, every heat a race and horsemen and spectators were pleased with the plans as it gave better racing with fewer delays. Only one spill was recorded, that being made in the 2.16 class, when the horses were scoring for the "word" and swept for a slight delay no damage was done.

The winner of the fast class turned up in Billy Paish owned by R. Craig, of Kingston. Lou Bennett of Port Hope showed the three year old peicer in Tramp Abbey, eligible for the Futurity in Toronto. The results were:

2.16 Class

Bill Paish,	Craig,	1	1
Ginger Grattan,	L. Bennett	2	2
Port Hope,		4	2
Carl Signal,	W. Hillock,	3	4
Picton,		5	3
Daisy Patch,	J. McMillan,	6	5
South Monaghan,		2	4
Margaret Brewer,	L. Bennett, Port Hope,	3	5
Time—2.15, 2.18 1-4, 2.23 1-4.

2.21 Class

Richard Hall,	E. M. Vanalaine, Port Hope	1	1
Tillie Creese,	M. Dunford, Peterboro	3	2
Picton,	L. Bennett, Port Hope,	2	3
Belle Private,	J. W. McKenzie, Picton	4	4
Time—2.13, 2.16, 2.11 1-4.

2.27 Class

Agnes Grattan,	W. McSiver-nen, Picton	1	1
Tramp Abbey,	L. Bennett, Port Hope	2	2
Miss Queen,	A. Calhoun, Picton	4	3
Kentucky Gratton,	S. Craig Brighton	3	4
Dandy,	Stewart, M. Wade, Brighton	5	4,5
Time—2.16, 2.15, 2.14 1-2.

Starter—Norman Hodgins, Kingston.

Standings

International League

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Buffalo	26	18	.519
Baltimore	26	18	.519
Montreal	26	21	.553
Rochester	25	21	.543
Toronto	25	22	.531
Newark	23	22	.511
Rochester	18	26	.409
Albany	13	32	.302

Monday's Scores
Buffalo 9; Montreal 3.

National League

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
New York	26	10	.722
St. Louis	26	18	.591
Pittsburg	24	19	.558
Chicago	23	21	.523
Brooklyn	20	21	.513
Cincinnati	18	21	.432
Philadelphia	16	27	.372
Boston	10	27	.270

Monday's Scores
Chicago 6; St. Louis 2.
Only game played.

American League

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
New York	27	15	.643
Chicago	25	16	.610
Cleveland	25	17	.595
Detroit	21	18	.538
Boston	20	19	.513
Washington	17	23	.425
Philadelphia	15	23	.395
St. Louis	13	27	.270

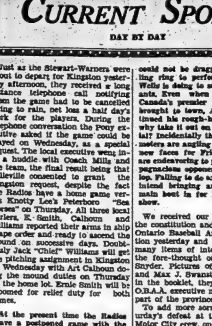
CURRENT SPORT

DAY BY DAY

Just as the Stewart-Warners were about to depart for Kingston yesterday afternoon, they received a long distance telephone call notifying them the game had to be cancelled owing to rain, but less than half an hour for the players. During the telephone conversation the Ivory executive asked if the game could be played on Wednesday, as a special request. The local executive went in to a huddle with Coach Mills and the team, the final result being that Belleville consented to grant the Kingston request, despite the fact the Radios have a home game versus Knotty Lee's Peterboro "Sea Horses" on Thursday. All three local hurlers, K. Smith, Calhoun and Williams reported their arms in ship shape order and will each ascend the mound on successive days. Doubtless Jack "Chief" Williams will get the pitching assignment in Kingston on Wednesday with Art Calhoun doing the mound duties on Thursday on the home lot. Ernie Smith will be groomed for relief duty for both games.

At the present time the Radios have a disputed game with the O-hawa "Brewers" on their hands, should soon be considering. Looking over the team as a whole, one casually, that there are very few open dates, but with all of the clubs in the league boasting of added pitching strength this year it should not be hard to arrange the teams in playing on successive days. According to the Oshawa Times Belleville is slated to appear in Oshawa on June 22nd next, with the previous night's game a day or open date. The Radios could do worse than invite the Major City crew to play their postponed game on that date. Or, if not then, on the next Friday, June 28th. Incidentally the Radios are scheduled to practice tonight, their last workout of the week, as they play Wednesday and Thursday.

With a 16-4 victory over their Redmerville rivals, the Tweed ball belliers moved into a tie for second position in the local senior softball loop on Saturday. The teams in this league are battling a parachute even terms, so keen is the rivalry. Brian Loffman, elongated Tweed youth hurling his first game in the loop, completely baffled the Walkerton-ites from across the bay. To date every club in the loop has registered at least one victory and a merry battle is expected before the season advances much further. Incidentally the line-ups facing will be at stake this evening when Tweed journeys the Aajmaa Club at Central Park.



During the progress of last week's wrestling bouts Referee Joe Carr was on hand to personally able abuse at the hands of the fans, just why the fans were so wroth is hard to explain, except that he may be a home town boy and therefore subject to far abuse from more irritated fans, who already can be depended upon to blame the official, when their favorite team or athlete is being beaten, following the bouts, he also visited the wrestlers in their individual dressing rooms and discussed Wells' work inside the ring separated only by a pet sy ter than some of the officials we have had here. Wells in Western Ontario," stated Jack Pearl, who can be remembered lost his bout with Bulldog Bishop and could have nursed a grouch had he so desired. Upon taking another look Arena each Friday night upon those who continually heckle Wells, we find, that the majority of them could not be dragged into wrestling ring to perform the duties Wells is doing to earn the contestants. Even when Jack Furlong, Canada's premier referee was officiating in the ring, Bulldog Bishop tossed his rough-house tactics, so why take it out on the local official? Incidentally the Kiwanis promoters are angling for a couple of new faces for Friday night and are endeavoring to procure a rough and tumble opponent for Al Dunlop. Failing to do so, however, they intend bringing an entirely new mob next week.

We received our 1935 edition of the Constitution and By-laws of the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association yesterday and find included names of interest, thanks to the fore-thought of Secretary Bill Switzer. Gerrie or Eddie Gibbard and Max J. Swanson are included in the booklet, they being the two O.B.A.A. executive members from this part of the province.

To add more sorrow to last Saturday's defeat at the hand of the Motor City crew, one car load of local players were forced to push their vehicle from one mile west of Tyendinaga to the town to be pulled out by Jack Williams, as he trudged many street cars passed him carelessly, "yeah, this is kinda rubbin' it in, ain't it?" panted Johnnie while Harry Green gave him the well known raspberry by slating—"whats the matter, Johnnie, getting awful, giving us ample reason to take a well-earned rest by sitting down on the roadside."

Ever since Harry Knotty's representative St. Pauls teamballers acquired the services of four proven players from Point Anne, they have been playing inspired softball. Yesterday they won their second consecutive game defeating the Belleville nine at the home diamond, 6 to 1 to elevate their position in the local softball loop to a tie with Tweed for the second rung in the league ladder. Clem Bennett, Aajmaa ace hurler, in their winning streak to three consecutive games and we hadded the parade without a loss, when they beat the Young Canada club 28 to 11 in a ghastly affair at Central Park last eve.

Over at Picton yesterday in conjunction with the horse races, the Gibbard A. C. trimmed the Picton-ites something like 4 to 3 in an exhibition ball game. Incidentally the races at Picton were keenly contested, with one horse race being decided tie, while the Redmerville loss to Belleville also was the result of a race. During a scoring in the 11 class, however. Bennett became peeved at the decision and in a merry mix-up followed, with both benches participating, the incident occurred during the scoring of the run by proceedings for some time. Incidentally the results of the heats were exceedingly fast, taking the Belleville Lenden Lewis time taking the American Hardware squad into camp by the score of 19 to 15. The game proved exciting to the letter as both teams applied the hickory to no small degree. Circuit blows by Hughes and Cole, with the base paths well populated, turned out to be the feature. Next schedule appears elsewhere in today's issue.

Al Jolson at his best, Betty Koe ler practically in his arms, burnt cork on his face and a song on his lips, "Go Into Your Dance," coming to the Capitol on Thursday.

AAJMAAS YET TO TASTE DEFEAT

Win From Young Canadas While St. Pauls Take Redneresville

Slugging out a 22 to 11 victory over the Young Canada Club, the Aajmaa A.C. continued their undefeated winning streak in the local senior softball league last night to retain the league leadership in a game played at Central Park while the St. Paul's A.C. won their second consecutive game to advance into a tie for second position with a 6 to 1 victory over the Redneresville nine on the latter's grounds.

At Central Park the Young Canadas pounded on the offerings of Johnnie Bawden for five runs in the initial frame, but the Bowler-lead crew forged to the fore in the third with five runs to their credit as Bawden settled away to pitch hitless game at Central Park while the game progressed and held the Barrage-led crew in check. Bill Gilbert started on the hillop for the losers, but was forced to vacate the mound in favor of Lorne Milner in the fifth.

Kisey was the big hitter of the night, clouting a homer with one aboard in the fifth, while previously he had driven in three runs with a triple. Clarke hit for the circuit with the bases full, but the long ball was played by both teams as many errors were committed and ragged ball played. Henn counted three scores for the Aajmaa for the winners with Reid being the big swatsmith for the losing Young Canada Club, two safeties being awful, for his contribution. Lucky ticket number eighteen won the basket of groceries.

The line-ups — Young Canada Club—Barrage 2b; Morgan and Murray ss; Murray 3b; Reid rf; Cy Barriage rf; Robinson lb; Mitchell lf; Anderson cf; Schrader and Miller p.

Aajmaa Club—Tuttle cf; Henn 2b; Kiser lf; Weber 2b; Jordan s; Hanna 1b; Clarke rf; Whalen c and J. Bawden p.

Batting by innings:

	Runs
Aajmaa A.C.	1 2 5 2 1 1 3 2 x—11
Young Canada	3 0 0 2 1 2 0 1 0 3—11

St. Paul's Win

Over at Redneresville the newly formed St. Paul's softball combination their fine play to win their second consecutive game when they defeated the Redneresville nine by the score of 6 to 1. Bill Gilbert was on the hilltop for the local squad, in the rare form limiting the homesters to four scattered safeties, the only two errors gave the Redneresville nine their only runs in the game, one each frame. The St. Paul's victory was built up from into a tie with Tweed for second place in the league standings, while the Redneresville loss left them in the cellar position.

The line-une—Bennett 3b; Leit 3b; W. Knott ss; Green lf; Rushlow cf; Revell cf; Hutchinson cf; Gaulin 1b; Pointer c and Hillage p.

Redneresville—Cook lf; M. Farley, Dempsey, Taylor, Russell, Sills; Wannamaker and Weere.

Batting by innings—

	R. H. E.
St. Paul's A.C.	0 0 0 1 0 0 0 3 2 x—6 11 1
Redneresville	0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—1 4 3

Batting Leaders

(By The Associated Press)
(Including Yesterday's Games)

National League

Batting: Vaughan, Pirates, .403; Martin, Cardinals, .400.

Runs: Vaughan, Pirates, 39; Martin, Cardinals, 36.

Runs batted in: Medwick, Cardinals, 37; Vaughan, Pirates, 35; Lombardi, Reds, Pirates, 35; L. Waner, Pirates, 64.

Doubles: Medwick, Cardinals, 16; Martin, Cardinals, 13.

Triples: Goodman, Reds, and L. Waner, Pirates, 5.

Home runs: Ott, Giants, 9; John Moore, Cardinals; Vaughan, Pirates, and Joe Moore, Giants, 6.

Stolen bases: Myers, Reds, and Bordagaray, Giants, 6.

Pitching: Parmelee, Giants 6-1; Carleton, Giants, and Walker, Cardinals, 5-1.

American League

Batting: Johnson, Athletics, .410; Foxx, Athletics, .362.

Runs batted in: Athletics, 38; Rowars, White Sox, 32.

Runs: Foxx, Greenberg, Tigers, 44; Johnson, Athletics, 39.

Hits: Johnson, Athletics, 64; Gehringer, Tigers, 59.

Doubles: Vosmik', Indians, 13; Weber, Red Sox, 12.

Triples: Cronin, Red Sox, 6; Vosmik, Indians and Stone, Senators, 5.

Home runs: Johnson, Athletics, 12; Greenberg, Tigers, 11.

Stolen bases: Almada, Red Sox, Webber, Red Sox, 8.

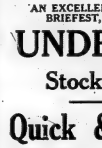
Pitching: Whitehead, White Sox, 8-0; Tamulis, Yankees, 5-0.

Clothiers of Quality

• FOR COOL SUMMER COMFORT

Shirts and Shorts

AN EXCELLENT SELECTION OF THE BRIEFEST, COOLEST, SUMMER



UNDERWEAR

Stock up Now!

Quick & Robertson

First in Style, Quality and Reasonable Price

NEW SWIM STAR

HOLIDAY GUESTS AT MADOC HOMES

Madoc—Mrs. Holden, Mrs. Brenshaam, Mr. H. Brenaham, Mrs. Edith Breenaham of Renfrew spent the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Brown.

Miss Garrett of Sharbot Lake is spending the week-end with her sister, Miss Grace Garrett.

Miss Mae Connor left on Sunday to spend two weeks visiting friends in Detroit, Mich., and Arthur, Ont.

Miss Catherine DaFoe of Toronto spent the holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. DaFoe.

Miss Kathleen Mersw, nurse-in-training at Hotel Dieu, Kingston, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Mersw.

Mr. Tony Hart and family of Midland visited his father, Mr. John Hart on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wrylock left on Sunday for Toronto and Niagara Falls.

Mrs. Hart and Jas. Irwin and the Misses Garrett spent Saturday in Toronto.

Mr. McDonald and Mrs. S. Brown spent Sunday with Mrs. Parker Sunbury.

Mr. Anderson of Toronto, Mrs. Anderson of Belleville visited at the home of Mr. A. C. Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Snider of Toronto are spending the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Gillespie.

Mrs. Jas. Irwin of Toronto is spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cran Walbridge.

Mrs. F. Harrison arrived from St. Petersburg, Florida, on Saturday.

Miss McDermid of the high school staff, spent the holiday with friends in Markham.

Miss Ulrich of the high school staff, is spending the week-end in Toronto.

Rev. W. A. Hunter of St. Peter's Presbyterian Church is conducting anniversary services in Roslin, the Rev. M. Hill occupying the pulpit at St. Peter's Church.

Owing to the absence of the Rev. G. W. Rivers at Conference in Peterboro the service in Trinity United Church was in charge of the Women's Missionary Society. The guest speaker was Mr. W. S. Gordon of Toronto. During the service Mrs. Stevenson sang "Teach Me O Lord's" The evening service was withdrawn.

Twenty-four members of the Trinity Church choir visited Cooper St. Sunday evening and conducted a Sebh Parker service.

A minstrel show presented by Tweed-Bubphide Musical Society and sponsored by St. John's Church, Tweed, was held in the Masonic Hall on Friday evening, May 31st. The evening's entertainment on by the trompe were very much enjoyed, particularly the old plantation scens and plantation songs.

BEST TIME IN CLASS C ENTRY

Punt Races Held on Bay to Commemorate King's Birthday

With a light wind blowing, the annual King's Birthday yacht and punt races, held under the sponsorship of the South End Yachting Club were well contested yesterday. Despite the light winds that blew during the early stages of the race, the various skippers guided their crafts to the finishing line in fairly good time. A large number of punts were entered in all classes and no accident reported, as the wind increased towards the end of the races. The best time of the day was made by the craft in the "C" class entry.

The results of yesterday's South End A. C. races off Victoria Park were:

"A" Class

1.—After You II—Skipper M. Callaghan.

2. Atlantic—Skipper Jack Rinchey.

3. Anne O.—Skipper H. Semark. Time: 2 hours and 9 minutes.

"B" Class

1. Let's Go—Skipper Ed Kellaway.

2. Dorothy—Skipper W. Thomas.

3. Scotch—Skipper A. Rushlow.

4. Scrapper—Skipper H. Kellar.

5.—Angwan—Skipper A. Clarke.

6. Spray—Skipper R. Hay.

Time: 2 hours, 44 minutes.

"C" Class

1. Tools—Skipper H. Green.

2. Tex—Skipper G. Cooke.

3. Cavalcade.

Time: 1 hour, 55 minutes.

"D" Class

1. Ron Wallace—Skipper W. Whitman.

2. Imp—Skipper E. McMurray.

3. Romedo—Skipper W. Rowe.

"E" Class

1. Eagle—Skipper Leo Flagler.

2. Wanda—Skipper G. Bishop.

3. Comet—Skipper J. Ivy.

Time: 2 hours 39 minutes.

Starter: Wm. "King" Rogers.

Clerk of Course: Chas. Jeffs.

Daily Short Story

Practical Joker

(Copyright 1935 King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

'Tis office boy came over to Ed Fraizey's desk and told him Mr. Conwery wanted to see him.—Ed got up and went into the office of the head of the company.

"Mr. Fraizey," said the latter, "you remember that yesterday, when you were in a hurry to leave, I asked you to telephone to Mr. Walton and ask him to come in to see me?" Ed nodded.

"Did you do it?" The question was shot at him.

"Why yes," Ed replied. "I was in a hurry to keep an appointment, but I called Mr. Walton at his home last night."

Mr. Convery stood up. "You did no such thing," he said. "I have just been talking to Mr. Walton. He said you didn't call him. Either he's lying or you're lying. There's no reason why he should lie. The truth is that you were in such a hurry that you forgot it. I won't stand for that. You're discharged."

Protestations and argument did no good. "Take the cashier and get your pay," was Mr. Convery's final word.

Ed waited until the usual hour to go home. It was bad enough to be fired and worse to be fired unjustly. But the worst of all was to tell his wife.

Helen Calms

Helen took it more calmly than he expected. "You told the truth and you have nothing to be ashamed of," she said. "They'll find out you weren't lying. How about calling on the Lawsons tonight. I don't want you idling around here and moping."

"What's there number?" asked Ed. Helen told him and he dialed it. Twice he got the wrong number. "There's something wrong with this 'phone," he told Helen. "You try it."

Helen dialed the number and got an immediate answer, "What number did you dial?" she asked Ed when she hung up. "The number you gave me," she answered. "Just like this." He began to illustrate.

Helen suddenly grabbed his hand. "Listen Ed," she said, "what was the number you were supposed to call for Mr. Convery?" Ed told her. "Dial it," directed Helen. "What for?" asked Ed. "Never mind what for," she told him. "Just dial it."

But again she stopped him before he had completed the first digit. "Watch and see what happens. If it's a practical joker I'm only sorry he's got sense enough to realize what he has done and is willing—" She left the sentence unconcluded to say, "Hello."

The next day Ed was waiting at the entrance to Mr. Convery's office when the head of the firm arrived. With him was another man, a man with a round, bland face, a man who nudged Ed as Mr. Convery appeared and said, "Is that him?"

Ed nodded impatiently and stopped Mr. Conbery, "I wish you would give me a few minutes," he said, "I can prove to you that I didn't lie to you yesterday." He turned to the man with him. "Was it Mr. Wall," he said. "He'll verify what I have to say."

"All right," answered Mr. Convery.

The Joker

"Well, what is it?" he added when they were in his office.

"The number you gave me to call, Mr. Walton's number, is Pennsylvania. 6782, isn't it?" asked Ed. "That's right" replied Mr. Convery.

"All right," said Ed, "here's what happened. Mr. Wall here," he nodded toward the third man, "has a telephone with the number Pacific 6782. When I dialed the 'phone to call Mr. Walton I made a mistake that lots of people make. I dialed PA instead of PE for Pennsylvania. It's near enough to understand that PA is the abbreviation for Pennsylvania and some people use the abbreviation instead of the key letters when dialing."

Mr. Convery nodded. "That's possible," he said.

"So when I dialed I got Mr. Wall instead of Mr. Walton," Ed continued. "I asked to speak to Mr. Walton. Then I gave him the message."

Mr. Convery turned to look at Mr. Wall.

"Just a little joke," said the latter, "a practical joke. I didn't know it was going to do any harm. Not until this fellow's wife called me last night and asked me if that wasn't what had happened. Seems like she noticed her husband making the same mistake on another call and figured out what might have happened. She asked me if I would come here with her husband and I did and—"

Ten minutes later Ed was making another call, dialing the right number this time. It was a call to tell his wife that he had his job back.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma and pop was eating breakfast and he said, Is that an impenetrable forrest or a head of hair.

Meaning mine, and I said, G, I been intending to get that out, and pop said, That's most affecting, considering the fact that I've been begging, cajoling, entreating and commanding you to go to the barbers all week.

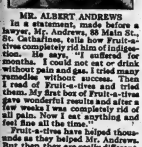
Well yeah, pop, I think of it every day, I said, and pop said, You bring learn to buy eyes. At this rate the time is horribly approaching when I shall be forced to ask my self, is this my son or is it a hay rick?

Meaning on account of how long I was getting, and I said, I'll try to think to be sure to remember today, pop.

I feel it my duty to warn you that a herd will nest in that hair some day, pop said, it will keep flying in your window all nite with bits of straw and string, and when you awake you'll be a birdlover, and it will be cruel to evict your little feathered tenant, so you will have to lie quietly in bed till all the eggs are layed and the brood is hatched and have all got their proper license, he said.

Jiminy Christmas, pop, I bet any amount of money it will be out by the time you come home nonite, I said, and pop said. All beta aside.

If I come home this evening and find a trackless jungle instead of an offraying, I shall consider myself a miserable failure as a leader and an executive, wich will give me an inferiority complex wich can only be appeased by wreaking pane on someone weaker than myself, though I wont mention any names because the person in question mite just happen to be present.



Ed knowing who without being mentioned, and being the reason I got my hair cut ritz after school to get it off my mind.

CHINESE CONSUL

In recognition of the increasingly important part British Columbia seems destined to play in trade with the Orient, the Chinese government's representative in Vancouver has been elected to consul-generalship. He is Hon. Chunhow H. Pao, who has arrived to take over his duties after service in Australia and New Zealand. Hon. Mr. Pao believes that increasing silver prices will enable China to trade to greater advantage in world markets, and he believes that the next five years will see a tremendous gain in commerce between the Orient and Canada.

Lawyer Takes Evidence

MR. ALBERT ANDREWS

In a statement, made before a lawyer, Mr. Andrews, 50 Main St. Cathafines, tells how Fruit-a-tives completely rid him of indigestion. He says, "I suffered for months. I could not eat or drink without pain and tried many remedies without success. Then I read of Fruit-a-tives and tried them. My first box of Fruit-a-tives gave wonderful results and after a few weeks I was completely rid of all pain. Now I eat anything and feel fine all the time."

Fruit-a-tives have helped thousands as they helped Mr. Andrews. But then they are really different. The discovery of famous Canadian doctor, Fruit-a-tives contain extracts of apples, oranges, figs, prunes and herbs. Acting on the liver and intestinal tract, they help the kidneys to normal, healthy action. If you suffer from indigestion, constipation or kindred ills, try Fruit-a-tives. You'll be amazed how much better they'll soon make you feel.

50c and $1.00—at dealers everywhere or sent postpaid on receipt of price. Write Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa. FRUIT-A-TIVES—the Medicine EVERYWHERE

TEX AND HIS PALS (Actual Photographs)

Copyright, 1935, by Warner Features, Dallas, Texas, U.S.A. All Rights Reserved

By Leslie A. Hill

BRINGING UP FATHER—

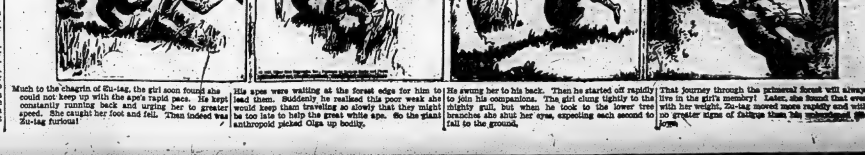
By George McManus

TILLIE THE TOILER—

By Russ Westover

DANGER TRAILS—

By The Famous Explorer Martin Johnson



MR. AND MRS—

By Briggs

TARZAN THE UNTAMED—

(Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service)

Much to the chagrin of Su-tag, the girl soon found she could not keep up with the ape's rapid pace. He kept constantly running back and urging her to greater speed. She caught her foot and fell. Then indeed was Su-tag furious!

His apes were waiting at the forest edge for him to lead them. Suddenly he realized this poor weak she would keep them traveling so slowly that they might be too late to help the great white ape. So the giant anthropoid picked Olga up bodily.

His swing her to his back. Then he started off rapidly to join his companions. The girl clung tightly to the mighty pull, but when he took to the lower tree branches she shut her eyes, expecting each second to fall to the ground.

That journey through the primeval forest will always live in the girl's memory! Later, she found that even with her weight, Za-tag moved more rapidly and with no greater signs of fatigue than his companions.

Biographical Sketches of New Companions Named by King

(By The Canadian Press)

MAJOR GENERAL ASHTON

Made companion of the Bath, (military division) in command of Military District No. 11, at Victoria, B.C. He has 41 years military service, having begun in 1892 as 2nd Lieutenant in the Dufferin Rifles. During the war he organized the 30th Battalion and following command of a reserve battalion, also of the Shornecliffe training area, he was recalled to Canada to become Adjutant-General. Later, after serving as Quartermaster General of the Canadian militia, he was appointed District Officer Commanding at Toronto. Later General Ashton was appointed to No. 11 District, with headquarters at Victoria.

DR. G. E. BARTON, DEPUTY MINISTER OF FINANCE

Made a companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, was appointed in 1924, after being for the staff of Macdonald College, Montreal. He was born at Yankleek Hill, Ontario, 1883.

DR. CHAS. CAMBELL, -DEPUTY MINISTER OF FINANCE

Made a companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, was born at Fred Laird, N.W.T., 1874. His father was chief factor of the Hudson's Bay Company. He graduated at Queen's University and joined the Canadian Geological Service in 1904, which in the beginning of the North was due to his exploration. Appointed Deputy Minister of Mines in 1930.

DR. WM. C. CLARK, DEPUTY MINISTER OF FINANCE

Made a companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, is one of the Deputy Heads of Ministers, having been born in 1880 at Metcalfe, Ont. He was appointed Deputy Minister of Finance in 1932 after extensive service in Washington and Professorship of Economics in Canada and United States.

W. STUART EDWARDS, K. C., DEPUTY MINISTER OF JUSTICE

Made a companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, was born at Thurso, Que., 1880, and practised law in Ottawa and Vancouver. Joined the Justice Department in 1919 and became Deputy Minister in 1934.

DR. CHARLES W. GORDON

Whose pen name is "Ralph Connor," made a companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, has been one of Canada's best known fiction writers. He was born in Glengarry County, Ont., in 1860, and became a missionary in the Northwest, was Senior Chaplain of the Canadian Forces in France with rank of Major during the Great War, and went to France as Senior Chaplain of the Ninth Brigade B.E.F. Prominent in social work in the West.

HON. GEORGE H. SEDGEWICK, CHAIRMAN OF THE TARIFF BOARD OF CANADA

Made a companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, was born in Musquodoboit, N.S., in 1878. Educated at Dalhousie University, Halifax, and Osgoode Hall, Toronto. Admitted bar in Toronto. Appointed to the Ontario Supreme Court bench in 1926 and made chairman of the Tariff Board in 1932.

H. S. SOUTHAM, B.A., OTTAWA

Member of the Southam Publishing Company with a chain of Canadian daily newspapers, made a companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, was honored in recognition of his contributions to the cultural life of the Dominion. He is Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the National Gallery of Canada and a Governor and Director of The Ottawa Citizen.

J. H. WOODS, CALGARY

Made a companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, is publisher of the Calgary Herald and is Senior Chairman of the Canadian Press. Born at Quebec, 1867, he was educated at McGill and Toronto Universities. Reporter and editor on several Eastern dailies, he went to Alberta in 1907. Former Chairman of the Empire Press Union of Canada, formed President of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, and was member of press delegations to Europe and United Kingdom during the war, to Melbourne, Australia, in 1924, and London in 1930.

E. J. McLEAN, OTTAWA

Assistant Chief Commissioner and Acting Chairman of the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada, made a companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, was born in Quebec in 1871. He was educated at the University of Toronto, with post-graduate work at Columbia and Johns Hopkins, Chicago. He held Professorships in Economics at the University of Arkansas, and at Leland Stanford University in California, and from 1909 to 1912 was Superintendent of Education at University of Toronto. Appointed to the Board of Railway Commissioners in 1916.

WILLIAM E. MATTHEWS, CHAIRMAN OF THE FEDERAL DISTRICT COMMISSION

Made commander of the Order of the British Empire, has charge of the Dominion Government's extensive park land holdings in the capital. He is a brother of Dr. C. C. Matthews, Minister of National Revenue and was born at Lindsay (Ontario).

MRS. SARAH T. WARREN, TORONTO, CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF THE CANADIAN GIRL GUIDES ASSOCIATION

Made a companion of the Order of the British Empire, was born at Orange, N.J., and came to Ontario in 1887, she has been associated with prominent Canadian industrial companies and has devoted her life to philanthropic and social service work.

COL. W. G. OSBORNE, OTTAWA

Made a commander of the Order of the British Empire, received the award in recognition of his "distinguished service to Canadian drama as Honorary Director of the Dominion Drama Festival." Col. Osborne is Canadian Commissioner on the Imperial War Graves Association.

J. O. PATENAUDE, OTTAWA

Made a companion of the Imperial Service Order, is King's Printer a position to which he was appointed in 1923. He has had long leisure in the Civil Service and now receives an honor which was also held by his predecessor, F. A. Acland.

MAJOR BURNS OF OTTAWA

Made an officer of the Order of the British Empire (military division), is an officer of the permanent force—the Royal Canadian Engineers.

MISS MARY VIVIENNE BURN, R.R.S., SUPERVISOR, WOMEN'S DIVISION, DEPARTMENT OF IMMIGRATION, OTTAWA

Made an officer of the Order of the British Empire, received recognition for her long and devoted service and counsel to newcomers to the Dominion.

MISS REBECCA CHISHOLM, TORONTO

Made an officer of the Order of the British Empire, for "many years of public services in peace and war," a sister of T. L. Chisholm, Minister of the House of Commons for Toronto East. She was for many years a teacher in Toronto Public Schools and has been active, particularly during the war, in numerous social service activities. Prominent in the Independent Order Daughters of Empire and the Canadian Red Cross Society.

DR. ALLAN ROY DAFOE, CALLANDER, ONT.

Physician who came into world prominence a year ago when in attendance at the birth of the Dionne quintuplets, is made an officer of the Order of the British Empire. A quiet country doctor, Dr. Dafoe has become an international figure because of his successful care of the only living quintuplets in the world, and established their first birthday on May 28.

JOHN KERFORD GOW, KINGSTON, ONT.

Made an officer of the Order of the British Empire, is a retired Inspector of Customs and Excise who had more than 45 years' service.

EDWIN J. HARDY, TORONTO

Made an officer of the Order of the British Empire, "for services to education as teacher, honorary life member, executive Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Association and since 1927, Treasurer of the World Federation of Education Associations."

MRS. E. W. MACDONALD, 97 LEASKDALE, ONT.

Made an officer of the Order of the British Empire, is the well-known Canadian novelist who writes under the name of "L. M. Montgomery." Her books have been translated into many languages and have recently been made into talking productions. One of her most famous works, "Anne of Green Gables" was published in 1908. She was born in Clifton, P.E.I.

L. B. PEARSON, OTTAWA, UNDER-SECRETARY OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EXTERNAL AFFAIRS

Made an officer of the Order of the British Empire, in recognition of his "advisory services to international and inter-Imperial Conference and Royal Commissions." He was assistant press liaison officer at the 1932 Imperial Conference in Ottawa in 1932, and Secretary of both Commissions—Canada and Beying which recently completed its work. He has made many journeys to Europe on diplomatic missions and accompanied the Prime Minister to London for the King's Silver Jubilee.

JOHN A. STILES, OTTAWA

Made an officer of the Order of the British Empire, is Chief Executive Commissioner of the Boy Scouts Association in Canada.

MRS. JESSIE MABEL STEWART, PERTH

Made an officer of the Order of the British Empire, is Mayor of Perth for many years a voluntary public servant.

MISS ELLA W. THOBURN OTTAWA

Made an officer of the Order of the British Empire, "for over 40 years voluntary service for community welfare."

RAY BROWN, OTTAWA

Made a member of the Order of the British Empire, is President of the Parliamentary Press Gallery and a member of the Parliamentary Staff of the Canadian Press. He is 'also a Rhodes Scholar.

HAROLD S. GRAHAM, OTTAWA

Made a member of the Order of the British Empire, is confidential clerk to the Governor-General of Canada with many years of service.

GEORGE T. HANN, OTTAWA

Made a member of the Order of the British Empire, received the award in recognition of "faithful discharge of civil administrative duties with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police."

WILLIAM IDE, OTTAWA

Made a member of the Order of the British Empire, is General Executive Assistant in the Department of National Revenue.

GEORGE P. LEWIS, TORONTO

Made a member of the Order of the British Empire, is Ontario Fire Marshal and President of the Association of Canadian Fire Marshals.

M. C. MACCORMAC, OTTAWA

Made a member of the Order of the British Empire, has been Assistant Librarian in the Parliamentary Library for over 40 years.

MRS. R. W. M. REYNOLDS, TORONTO

Made a member of the Order of the British Empire "for voluntary patriotic and social community service."

MISS ELSIE SAUNDERS, OTTAWA

Made a member of the Order of the British Empire "for many years of faithful service as Supervisor of Personal Services, Civil Service Commission of Canada."

JOHN STEVENS, OTTAWA

Made a member of the Order of the British Empire "for faithful discharge of civil, administrative duties with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

G. W. YATES, OTTAWA

Made a member of the Order of the British Empire, has held many years' service as Assistant Deputy Minister of the Department of Railways and Canals. He was Secretary of the Duff Railway Commission.

Fire Army, Navy and Air Force non-commissioned officers were made members of the Royal Victorian Order "for meritorious and faithful service." They are First Class Master Gunner (W.O.1) Herbert Collings, Royal Canadian Artillery, Equimalt, B.C.; Commissioner Victualling and Canteen Service (Class One) A.A. Bastet, Royal Canadian Air Force, Ottawa; Sub-Lieutenant (S.B.) George Smith, R.C.N., Halifax, and R.S.M. John Wyatt, D.C.M., Royal Military College, Kingston.

MINSTRELS PLAY IN MADOC HALL

Large Crowd Enjoys Offering of Tweed-Sulphide Talent

Tweed—Rev. R. B. Nicholson was elected minister at the Annual Pay of Quinte Conference held in St. Andrew's United Church, Peterborough, Mr. W. G. Gordon, a member of the Settlement Committee, also attended the sessions.

Fire of an unknown origin completely destroyed the barn home of Mr. Thomas Merow, about three miles north of Tweed, last week. Members of the Tweed fire department went to the assistance of Mr. Merow but the flames made such headway in the frame building that it was beyond control by the time they reached the scene. The family succeeded in saving most of the furniture.

The measles epidemic has abated somewhat in Tweed. It played havoc with the attendance at the Consolidated and High schools. Seven members of the entrance class have been absent for more than a week, this unfortunate circumstance in view of impending examinations.

Miss Ruth Parks, nurse-in-training at Homewood Sanitarium, at Guelph, spent her vacation at her home here.

Tweed-Sulphide Minstrels presented their show to a Madoc audience on Friday, May 31st. The show was preceded by a parade of the newly-organized Tweed-Sulphide band and black-faced comedians.

The Masonic Hall was filled to overflowing for the show, scores being turned away through lack of seating accommodation. The audience was greatly pleased with the performance and gave the performers an ovation reception. A request was made that the minstrels repeat the performance once on June 7th but it will not be possible owing to the lateness of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Ryan and children of Windsor spent a few days with relatives in Tweed and Shannonville.

Miss A. M. Rayburn was taken ill while visiting her sister, Mrs. J. P. Martin in Marmora last week and was taken to Kingston General Hospital where an operation was found necessary. Miss Rayburn is making progress and is to learn of her improved condition this week for a speedy and complete recovery. Miss Grace Moran of the staff of the Tweed Consolidated School accompanied her to the hospital and Mrs. Arnold Montgomery has been supplying in her place.

Miss Elizabeth Bunnell, B.A., a member of the staff of Tweed High School, has been ill for the past week. Her duties have been carried by Mrs. (Rev.) A. D. Wallis of Deseronto, a former member of the staff of the local school.

Mrs. Sylvanus Bunnell, R.A., a son of Mr. Bert Donnelly, formerly of this town, spent here, and Mrs. Donnelly, who had been ill for a time, is convalescing at Whitby last week. He is making favorable progress.

Mrs. S. Silverthorne who has been staying with her aunt, the late Mrs. Annie R. Sayers, for some months, returned to Staffordville where she will make her home with her daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fenwick and children of Hamilton, spent a few days with Mrs. Fenwick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gulp.

Annie R. Sayers, a resident of Tweed for several years, passed away at her home here after an illness of some duration. She was born in Hastings, Ireland, in 1846, coming to Tweed at an early age. The late Mrs. Sayers was married three times. Her first husband was Mr. R. King. In 1892 she married Robert McConnell, who died some years afterwards. In 1913 she married Robert Sayers who passed away four years later. The deceased was a faithful member and regular attendant of Tweed United Church. Surviving are three half-brothers, one half-sister, and two step-sons, Reeve W. H. Sayers of Tweed, and Robert McCammon, of Hungerford.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. R. B. Nicholson from her residence to Victoria Cemetery. The bearers were, Edward Pitcher, Bert Wilberry, Wm. Pipe, W. H. Hicks, J. W. Kingston and Stan. Lee.

Miss Sarah Greatrix, a life-long resident of Actinolite, and more recently residing in Tweed, passed away at her home on Arthur St. at the age of 78. She is survived by two brothers, James, in Alberta, and William, at home; two sisters, Kate at home, and Mrs. C. Lannigan, Actinolite. The funeral services were held at Actinolite United Church by Rev. M. O. Price, assisted by Rev. T. Smith. The funeral was

WEATHER
Moderate westerly winds; partly cloudy and rather cool today and Thursday; probably a few light scattered showers.

The Ontario Intelligencer

TEMPERATURES

	Max	Min
Today	55	54
Year Ago	88	63
Weather—Overcast.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 5, 1935

MRS. RATTENBURY STABS SELF IN RIVER, DROWNS

NEWS BRIEFS AND ODDITIES

Hamilton, Ont., June 5 (CP)—An "ear stamp collector" is another. His Majesty and H. H. Mechler have been exchanging letters in the past few weeks. Mechler, knowing the King is an ardent fan, sent him first day covers of the Silver Jubilee issue, together with Diamond Jubilee covers of Queen Victoria's reign and the 1902 issue of King Edward and Queen Alexandra's Jubilee. His Majesty replied, personally thanking Mr. Mechler for the stamps.

• • •

North Battleford, Sask., June 5 (CP)—It was sports day in Fairbrother's Jail. Warden W. J. K. McManus rambled about in his cell block like a little child day in his own whole, acted seven days in jail.

Here are the charges he faced: Driving a car while intoxicated; driving without a license; failing to register his car; overcrowding; failing to heed police demands to stop; dangerous driving; causing a disturbance.

• • •

Edmonton, June 5 (CP)—Employees who do seasonal work during their summer holidays are asked not to accept relief, according to a friend, Mayor Joseph Clarke declared, in Edmonton, any civic employees who accept salaried jobs during their holidays will be fired.

• • •

Madison, Wis., June 5 (CP)—The Wisconsin Supreme Court holds drunkenness in one's own home can be controlled and penalized.

Upholding the conviction in Frank Nelson, Milwaukee, for intoxication, the court said that he had "lived an intolerable life" for a week, had gone on a longer spree and had left his job.

• • •

Philadelphia, June 5 (CP)—A police guard to protect it would be provided for the Pulitzer Prize Commission refused to accept the $500,000 bequest and art collection of the late Mrs. Emma T. Gary, Steelman's widow.

• • •

Hixton, Ont., June 5 (CP)—Mrs. Fred Sheets, 25, who decapitated herself in her husband's butcher shop here, was buried yesterday.

In a fit of despondency, officers said Mrs. Sheets laid her head on an automatic electric cheese slicer and severed it.

• • •

Memphis, Okla., June 5 (CP)—A man's courage in the face of death by pistol her call, attacked him with flying fists and pocketknife, and today the boy may die.

The boy, Leon Hoyt, 15, son of D. V. Hoyt, farmer, was kicked Saturday.

• • •

Fort Riley, Kas., June 5 (CP)—Some natives of the Kaw Valley fished with spears, others with rescue today—not even get of live logs.

Army officers in a motor boat said they reached two men marooned on the south of Geary Sea, at considerable risk. Their boat struck the tree-tops, but declined to leave.

They said they felt "safer" among the branches.

INDIVIDUAL AIM NEEDED IN TRADE

Manufacturers' Association Hears of Results of Regulation

Hamilton, June 5—(CP)— Faced with a rapidly changing relationship between government and business, leaders of the Dominion's industries assembled in Hamilton today for the annual convention of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

New legislation affecting private enterprise and trade, new conditions arising out of the price spreads and mass buying investigation, unemployment insurance, and trade-unionism dominated an extensive three day program. The president of the association, James H. Webb, gave his annual review saying, if the policy of "trying to cure all ills and attract all efforts by legislation and governmental supervision is continued, we shall soon be at the parting of the ways.

"Then we must decide between a reasonable measure of government supervision, which every one admits is necessary, plus a much larger proportion of individual effort, or governmental direction of all activities, with every one looking to the state."

Gravest Crisis Faces France as Pierre Laval Attempts to Form Gov't.

Overthrow of Bouisson Cabinet is Record For France

SHOPKEEPERS STRIKE

Protest Heavy Tax Burdens And Clashes Occur.

By JOHN EVANS

Copyright 1935
By The Associated Press

Paris, June 5 (AP)—Pierre Laval, Foreign Minister of France, told President Albert Lebrun today he personally was unable to organize a cabinet to succeed that overthrown yesterday.

Paris, June 5 (AP)—Pierre Laval, veteran Foreign Minister, and tireless toiler in the cause of French security, today began to attempt to form a cabinet to succeed that of Fernand Bouisson.

Laval only last night rejected the suggestion of President Albert Lebrun he accept the premiership on the grounds his services were more needed in the Foreign Office.

He finally acceded today after the President tried in vain to persuade Edouard Herriot, leader of the Senate, to assume the responsibility.

Laval told Lebrun he would accept the premiership "in principle" and report to him latter after consulting his supporters.

Paris Graves Crisis

Deprived of a government for the second time within a week when Bouisson's ministry fell last night, France faces one of the gravest crises she has experienced since the Great War.

Bouisson, 60-year-old former president of the Chamber of Deputies, liberals declined to attempt to form a new government. He contended the Chamber's refusal to concede him the full powers he sought to battle for the franc eliminated him as a possibility.

The unsettled political situation brought into the National prominence of War Veterans, representing most of France's 3,500,000 ex-soldiers, a threat to take action unless an end were made to "despair" and fear of confidence.

The tense situation created by developments of the last week was reflected in a strike of shopkeepers against tax burdens and a clash last night between gendarmes and several hundred members of the nationalistic Solidarite Francaise.

The overthrow of Bouisson's cabinet ended the new record for short life among France's kaleidoscopic briefs governments. He occupied it for only seven days, a little over 30 hours. The previous record was established by Herriot's "fall of the franc" cabinet, which collapsed after five days in July, 1926.

Five Belleville Soldiers Marched in Triumph Into Fallen Pretoria

Thirty-five years ago today bands played in South Africa.....gun barrels glinted in the sun.....drums rolled, and wave after wave of dusty and tired but smart-stepping, plumed soldiers in solid ranks and columns marched steadily on and into Pretoria, capital of the dethroned Boer Republic had been captured. The war was over, practically over for one of the most dramatic pages had been written. Lord Roberts and Earl Kitchener were the Empire's leading heroes.

Quickly the word was flashed around the world by the newest method, that of telegraph. London was riotous in its celebration. Even into the Canadian hamlets and villages of Canada the news spread as well as throughout other parts of the Empire. Empire-wide the word spread. It was a day of celebration throughout the Empire, particularly in the Colonies for had not Colonial troops done their share and covered themselves with glory in the dogged and dusty, but bloody war?

Five Bellevillians There

Among those who followed Lord Roberts and Earl Kitchener into Pretoria on that day thirty-five years ago today, were at least five Belleville boys, marching side by side in the Royal Canadian Regiment. They were members of the 19th Brigade, composed of the Gordon Highlanders, the Scots Guards and the Shropshire Regiments. They paraded in review in front of the Volksraad, where the Commander-in-Chief took the salute from the grimy but smiling warriors.

Those five were Mr. E. T. Austin (this city); Arthur Boyes, Detroit, Horace Jones, Ollecote Holmes and Ernest Fry. They were among the twenty-seven hundred soldiers of Belleville who left here on October 3rd when the call for volunteers came.

Screaming headlines in Canadian and overseas daily papers carried the word of the capture of Pretoria quickly to the homes of loved ones. A typical example of the lavish display of large type in banner headlines is found in the issue of The Daily Intelligencer of the date of Tuesday, June 5, 1900:

"Pretoria In New British"

"At two o'clock this afternoon, South African Time, Lord Roberts and his Victoria troops occupied Transvaal's capital.

London Communique

A communique, dated London, England, in the same issue read:

"Tuesday, June 5, 12.47 p.m.—We are now in possession of Pretoria. The official entry will be made this afternoon at 2 p.m."

A further communique from Lord Roberts on that same day read:

"We started this morning at

(Continued on page eight)

KHAN'S BAHRAM UNBEATEN COLT IS WINNER OF DERBY

Robin Goodfellow, Long Shot, Second, And Field Trial Third

KING WATCHES RACE

Favorite Comes From Behind to Win Going Away in Stretch

Epsom Downs, June 5 (CP Cable)—Coming through like the champion he is, the Aga Khan's Bahram, unbeaten colt, today won the 156th running of the derby.

Sir Abe Bailey's Robin Goodfellow, long shot, was second, and Lord Astor's smart Field Trial third in the field of sixteen emalled field since 1913.

Kens Smashing Race

Bahram ran a smashing race to record his sixth successive victory since he started racing as a two-year-old. He became the eighth horse to win the first two of the three classics for three-year-olds since 1900—also two thousand guineas at Newmarket a month ago, and the Blue Riband.

One of the hottest favorites ever to win the derby, Bahram went to the post at odds of 5 to 4. Previously he had been a shade less than even money.

Robin Goodfellow started at odds of 20 to 1, Field Trial at 9 to 1.

The Aga Khan's compact little colt, carrying the tremendous strength in his frame, finished the gruelling 1¼ mile race two lengths in front of the Oxfidder. Robin Goodfellow had a margin of half a length over Field Trial at the finish.

Theft, running for the Aga Khan finished fourth, Hyperion fifth and Helrad, finished sixth. It was the greatest victory Khaled Khalifa's derby has known since it was first run in 1780, and since Khaled's death, although many had thought he might possibly take first, second and third places.

King Is Present

The King and Queen and the Prince of Wales, with most others of the royal family, saw the race from the grandstand. The crowd was roughly estimated at half a million, and possibly the largest attendance record, the derby this year being a feature of the royal jubilee celebrations.

It was the second derby triumph for the Indian potentate, who has one of the greatest racing stables in England. He won with Blenheim in 1930.

Lord Derby, whose Robeigh was second choice to the favorite, is grasping mishap forced his withdrawal gained fifth place with Forseveron.

Ridden by Freddy Fox, Bahram, by the Hampton Court Stakes winner Prize's daughter, easily upheld the confidence of the public who flocked to his support despite the crushing disappointment a year ago when another unbeaten colt and not favorite, Colombo, finished first.

The surprise of the race however, was the showing of Robin Goodfellow, whose best prior performance was a second place in the Two Thousand Guineas at Newmarket when he was beaten by Thetf. Robin Goodfellow is by Swynford out of Epple Alair, was ridden by Tommy Weston.

Jockey Wicks had the mount on Field Trial, a colt by Preistead out of Poignard.

Track Not Fast

Bahram's time was 3 minutes 33 seconds, two seconds over the record set by Hyperion in 1933 and equalled by Windsor Lad. The course track, however, was not fast, inter-mittent showers during the night easily dodged softening the going.

A special place betting Bahram was held at 1 to 2.

After the first quarter mile, First Son was setting the pace, followed by Field Trial, coming down the hill to the finish, Field Trial was in the van with First Son second and Bahram third, Robin Goodfellow third. Bahram came on to finish going away while Robin Goodfellow came through to overhaul Field Trial.

Mr. Jack Jarvis, Fairhaven fifth and Sea Request sixth, Halcyon seventh, Indagation eighth, Sandwich ninth, Phideas Son 10th, Peruvian Walter 11th, Screamer 12th, Japetus 13th, Sir Ivor 14th, Barberry 15th and Sir Bololph last.

Winner Sired Proof

Apart from the war derbies run at Newmarket—which are discounted by the experts, Bahram was the shortest priced winner since Cicero, who won at 4 to 11 in 1952.

Robin Goodfellow, Japetus and Fairhaven were slow getting away but otherwise the start was good.

(Continued on Page 8)

ALVIN EARDLEY, TOP
HARRY CAMPBELL

U. S. Department of Justice net is spread for Alvin Karpis, public enemy No. 1 and Harry Campbell, suspected of having been participants in the kidnapping of Geaw Weyerhaeuser of Tacoma, Wash.

NOTATIONS NOT VALID IN LAW

Judge Holds in Judgment That Memoranda Not a Release

Toronto, June 5—Judgment was given by Justice J. A. McEvoy at Osgoode Hall on Mr. Cooke issue to herewith given:

National Trust Company, Limited, H. C. Martin and Joseph Wickens v. Mrs. Jessie Cooke) Wickens v. Mrs. Jessie Cooke) Cooke) Cooke—B. C. Donnan for National Trust Company, Limited; Charles Cameron for other plaintiffs; C. A. Payne, K.C. for defendants. Trial at Belleville. Issue directed to be tried as to whether a memorandum endorsed upon a statement showing the names of certain mortgagors indebted upon mortgages to the deceased, together with principal and interest owing on the said mortgages is a valid disposition of the arrears of interest set forth in the said statement, whereby the executor is bound, (b) whether the executor is bound by a memorandum as to reduction of rate of interest, and as to cancellation of arrears of interest.

Judgment: "...I am of the opinion that the memoranda in question cannot operate as a valid release of the arrears of interest on the mortgages and promissory notes in question, as a valid reduction of the rate of interest from 1932 and 1933 and 1934, on the said mortgages. I would assess all parties' costs as between solicitors and client out of the estate.

Pleads Guilty to Possession of Still

Frederick Holland, Marmora Township, pleaded guilty to a charge of the possession of a still at his residence on Monday, an illicit liquor, when he appeared in the county police court held in Madoc Township magistrate Lloyd yesterday. Holland pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined the minimum fine, that could be imposed under the Canada Act, $100.00 and costs. The fine was not paid and a sentence of three months was imposed in default. The case was prosecuted by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who investigated and found the still on Holland's premises, although not in operation at the time.

"LOST HIS HEAD" BEREAVED FATHER ADMITS TO JURY

Rushed Out of House to Save Car Instead of Children

NO BLAME ATTACHED

Positive No Fire Burning When He Retired in Morning

Alderwood, Ont., June 5—(CP) — Panic-stricken, a father rushed out to save his automobile and let his children burn to death last Friday, an inquest jury heard last night.

Harry Scott, the father, who with his wife and one of his six children were all that escaped the holocaust, admitted he "lost his head" in the excitement.

Perhaps two or of the five children, who perished might have been saved if he had not broken down, Scott told the crowded inquest hall.

The jury ruled the children died from suffocation caused by a fire of unknown origin.

Scott, a fireman, arrived home with his son Victor, about half past four in the morning. He retired after having coffee with his wife. Scott was positive there was no fire burning in the stove, and he left the electric toaster which Fire Chief John O'Connor thought had caused the blaze.

Did Not Smoke

He was awakened by his wife and rushed outside to give the alarm. Next he and his wife and child had roused the children then at least two of them would perish in the flames. The second was positive neither he nor his son had been smoking before they retired because they were out or cigarettes when they returned from the barrowed a cigarette in New Toronto.

Some conflict was brought out in the stories of 30 witnesses examined by Coroner Dr. H. R. Conn and assistant Crown Attorney Hugh Jones.

Several maintained at least four of the five children died in their sleep; others said at least three could not have been awakened early enough by Scott or his wife.

Twin brother of the late Mrs. Scott drove the baby to him from the verandah roof and then jumped down.

O'Connor said his brigade was at the scene within three minutes of the call but flames had already turned the home into an inferno. With his deputy he had climbed a ladder and reached the body of Victor, 13. Twelve-year-old Mary, the second child were both dead when reached.

FLEES FROM BANK AS WOMAN RINGS

Armed Bandits Hiding in Bank Foiled by Robbery

HAMILTON, Ont., June 5.—(CP) —Hiding themselves in the manager's office of the Bank of Commerce, Burlington, ovs night, two masked armed bandits were foiled in their attempted robbery early this morning.

A. Smith, janitor, who lived with his wife in the upper and lower flats of the bank building, today noticed a side window of the bank open. He telephoned to his wife to notify the manager, Col. S. R. Wallace, Mrs. Smith, however, found the door had just succeeded in getting cellars all parties' mails as between solicitors and client out of the estate.

Hugo, Okla., June 5 (CP)—Grier Johnson, an Indian, was arrested and accused of forging the name of County Judge Cyrus Hester to a cheque.

The Judge asked him why he did it.

"You sign my name and years when get money in bank," the Indian replied. "I sign your name and when you get money out of bank."

He was given a two-year sentence.

Architect's Widow Freed At Old Bailey Last Week In Mallet Murder Case

Released From Nursing Home, Five Days After Trial

WRITES PRISONER

Scene of Drowning Not Far From Scene of Murder

Christchurch, England, June 5 (CP Cable)—The body of Mrs. Alma Rattenbury, acquitted in Old Bailey in London five days ago of charges of complicity in the murder-suicide of her husband was found today in the River Stour, which flows through this country town.

Mrs. Rattenbury died yesterday left the nursing home to which she was taken for treatment at the close of her trial.

Her chauffeur, George Stoner, 19, with whom she admitted intimacies, was convicted and sentenced to hang.

Stoner pleaded guilty to the 47-year-old Rattenbury and inflicting injuries which caused his death.

It was learned Mrs. Rattenbury who wrote songs under the name Rosanne, sent a letter by special messenger yesterday to Stoner in prison.

The scene of the drowning was not far from Bournemouth, where the Rattenbury home is situated and where the murder was committed.

(Continued on page two)

HURLED FROM CAR DIES OF INJURIES

Picked Up By Wife And Children From Roadside

Hamilton, Ont., June 5—(CP)—Found lying helpless outside his home in Caistor Centre last night, Alex Sarritch, 45, Caistor farmer, died during the night. Provincial Police at Grimsby were notified today.

Officers hurried to the spot this morning on an alarm issued by Mrs. Sarritch's wife who reported she had found him in an unconscious condition in the road last night only to discover this morning that he had died.

According to the story told Provincial Officer Hughes, Mrs. Sarritch and the man, Sarritch had gone out with several companions to Grimsby on a night's car ride and upon the house and as it did so Sarritch was hurled out into the road.

The family heard the crash and rushed out to find the unconscious body lying by the roadside. The wife assisted by her children carried Sarritch into the house and placed him on a sofa, where he remained until he went to sleep for the night he was heard singing and the thought to be unhurt but evidently died not long after.

Dr. J. D. Fisher of Smithville ordered the autopsy which is being performed by Dr. G. A. Sinclair of Grimsby. An inquest will be held. In the meantime, Provincial Police have booked the man's companions for questioning them. Sarritch was the father of six children.

Provincial Police Inspector's series of raids in Caistor township and Grimsby district today seemed to cover the theory the death of Alex Sarritch had been caused through police action.

Search warrants have been issued to permit police to seize a number of places suspected as bootleg resorts.

LOCAL LEGAL

Before Middleton, Master; and Fisher J.J.A., at Osgoode Hall.

Charles J. Rowe v. Rowe—Appeal by plaintiff from a judgment of McFarland, J., Feb. 28, 1935, dismissing action for damages for injuries received when the appellant was run down by the defendant's motor car. It was alleged that the defendant was driving his car at excessive rate of speed when it left the highway, and that the defendant was aware that the tires were defective. His Lordship held that the car was not being driven negligently, and that there were no mechanical defects to make the defendant liable. C. A. Payne, K.C., for appellant. R. J. E. Graham for respondent. Appeal argued and judgment reserved.

Campbell Will Seek Auto Speed Record At Salt Lake City

LONDON, June 5.—(AP)—Sir Malcolm Campbell, British sportsman, will attempt to better his own world's automobile speed record at Salt Lake City in July, he announced today. He lifted the record to 276.76 miles per hour at Daytona Beach, March records.

"It's impossible to rely on the future on the flood if you wish to go in anything in the region of 300 miles an hour," the sportsman said. "You must have 100 per cent perfect conditions for high speed. We are now arranging out further tests for our attempt in July."

JORGENSEN DIES, POLICEMAN FAINTS

First Fatal Liquor Episode in Over a Decade Occurs

St. Pierre, Mq., June 5.—(CP Cable) — Second Officer Paulin Jorgensen of the Norwegian Steamship Oyda, shot two days ago by a French gendarme, who suspected him of rum-running, died here today.

His death signalled St. Pierre's first fatal liquor episode in more than a decade as a rum-running centre. And, by strange irony, it came after his French port had been toppled by United States repeal from its position as the greatest liquor clearing house in the North Atlantic.

The shot that killed Jorgensen was fired, admittedly, by Policeman Joseph Bianconi as he tried to halt a boat slipping through the harbor entrance at 2 a.m. last early Monday.

Bianconi fainted when the news was brought to him. Recovering he went to bed what with a hastily-empanelled Coroner's jury and became a reconstruction of the incident.

The little policeman, standing through a saddened town, Flags had been flown at half mast on the hall-mast in most business buildings; residents were sailing over the shooting. Little flotillas came and in the harbor, French and foreign ships had lifted their flags.

PECULIAR ACCIDENT

OTTAWA, June 5.—(CP)—Death of Thomas Job, 33, Brockville, Ont., resulted from a peculiar type of accidental, Job a passenger in an automobile driven by his brother-in-law Edward Hill, Toronto, while collided with a 'safety island' on a Toronto street car, was instantly dead in a hotel.

Evidence last night showed his death was due to asphyxiation resulting from blood from a ruptured abdominal artery, the pressure on the windpipe and interfering with respiration.

WEATHER

Toronto, June 5.—(CP)— Showers have occurred in Quebec and in some parts of Ontario and light to moderate rains have been reported in Saskatchewan and Alberta. It is quite cool throughout the Dominion and has been somewhat cooler in the region of the Great Lakes.

Kenora and Rainy River—Northerly winds; partly cloudy and quite cool.

Manitoba—Northerly to easterly winds; partly cloudy and cool; probably followed by some light showers.

Saskatchewan—Partly cloudy with a little higher temperature and light showers in some sections.

Alberta—Partly cloudy with much the same temperature; probably light shower in some districts.

Coming Events

REMEMBER THE DATE, JUNE 26th—Final Day at the Green on Cecil Street—Tennis Tournament—Watch for further details see posters. 3t-5

OPEN AIR DANCE AT MY CHELSEA, Carrollton, Thursday, June 6. Music by Anderson's Melodians. Admission 35c. J3-11

DANCING AT OAK LAKE PAVILION tonight. Dancing every night. Admission. J3

DANCE DANCE AT WM. MATTHEWS, Carrollton, Thursday, June 6. Good music. Lunch. 9 p'clock. Admission 25c plus 5 tax. J3-11

City and District News

PULP WOOD CAMPS MAY START MOVE

North Hastings is feeling the result of reduced export on pulp wood, by increased demand for workers. It was stated in the city today. Formerly employed by one, lumbering concern near Bancroft, two local men left last evening for that district where they expect to obtain work on peeling and cutting.

TOURING PARTIES NOW FILL ROADS

Tourist traffic through the city has begun in greater volume. Restaurants and hotels already report signs of what may be a bumper tourist crop, and over gas and service stations declare a sharp upturn in business. Scores of cars bearing foreign appearing license plates roared the four corners at Front and Bridge Streets throughout the day, and at the local Chamber of Commerce increasing use of the visitors' book is reported. At the city tourist camp first registrations of touring parties making overnight stops is being experienced.

WATER IN BAY TWO FEET HIGHER

Swinging back to normal levels on its regular cycle, the Bay of Quinte at the present time is just 2 feet 4 inches higher than the depth registered one year ago. Measurements taken today by employees of the local pumping station, Small islands are gradually disappearing in the bay, and canal service owners are finding navigation in the channels to and from boat houses less of a task.

EXTRA MOISTURE SPURS GOOD CROPS

"Perfect weather, and perfect crops; the country around does just now looks being 'clean I've seen it in a good many seasons' comments a well known Thurlow agriculturist this morning.

According to official records, there's a reason for the excellent state of conditions in the district. There is plenty of moisture in the ground. And, in spite of previous complaints regarding dryness, the season has been better than average for rainfall.

During the period between January 1 to the end of May this year a total precipitation of 11.36 inches of water and rain has been received over the district. Of this amount rainfall has been registered at 7.27 inches. For the same period of 1934 total precipitation was 10.33, with rainfall registering 6.38.

The figures are taken from the records at the local pumping station.

It Pays to Shop at the Rexall Store.

AFTER WINTER'S STRAIN!

Glucose—D

The that tired feeling.

Supplies Rapid Energy and Nourishment

IN OUNCE TIN

98c

McKeown's

Drug Store

DR. H. J. FAHEY

desires to announce the location of his office now in the Bell Telephone Bldg. 219 Front St., Belleville.

M-7-tfn

RECOVER STOLEN CAR NEAR BARRIE

Information was received in the city today to the effect that Mrs. Irene Aman's Ford coach, that was stolen from her premises some ten days ago, had been recovered near Barrie. The information was received by the local police authorities from Provincial Constable J. Lewis of the motorcycle patrol, who found the green colored vehicle abandoned on a side road, near Barrie corporation limits. The car, a roadster was stolen from Mrs. Aman's driveway under the cover of darkness ten days ago. According to reports, the vehicle had been slightly damaged leading to its abandonment, police were informed.

SHIPPING CIRCLES REPORTED QUIET

Carrying a cargo of coal for Trenton the Carrier, Coalhaven, which went up the Bay late yesterday afternoon made her return down trip this morning. Owing to lack of dock space at the local port it was reported that one local firm is having coal delivered to Trenton port for the present, creating a considerable diversion of shipping from here.

Two Deer Browse Along Tweed Highway

Browsing contentedly by the side of the Tweed highway two miles south of Roslin, two full grown deer were observed at 4 o'clock yesterday morning. While Mr. Fred Gray, resident of that section, was motoring to Belleville from the verandah of his home nearby, unbeknownst to him a search along the road attracted the attention of the animals. Unhurriedly, both deer, the larger, mother of the two, gazed at the approaching car, then turned around, or two then bounded lightly over the ditch and into the graveyard on a nearby thicket. Except for the appearance of a fawn near Canifton, Pen. the same period of 1934 total precipitation was 10.33, with rainfall registering 6.38.

"I've lived in the same place for the past twenty-nine years, and I've never seen them in that district before," said Mr Grey in reporting the incident.

MUSIC

Students of Albert College Conservatory Present Program of Music

Piano students of Mr. W. P. Hunt, director of music, and of Miss Bessie Handley and voice students of Mr. Sam Anglin of the Albert College Conservatory of Music, assisted the first of the commencement programs in Albert College memorial chapel on Tuesday evening before a large and appreciative audience. Those who took part gave one of the finest manifestations of the importance of musical training, which it has been the privilege of the commencement audiences to hear. The classes this year have been of unusual ability and one of the results was the uniformly excellent performances of last evening. A very high standard of musical sense was revealed by every pianist and singer and the satisfaction of the staff with the result of the year's work was voiced by Mr. Hunt, who spoke with pleasure on the really fine work which has been completed by the students in music. The audience endorsed this judgment as it was revealed in the interpretation of the numbers last evening. Some of the numbers were unusually revealed with progress in its merit and all was excellent.

The program follows:

Piano—Sir Roger— Schumann, by Anita Cavanagh.

Song—The old Man Viol—Bohanan, by Kenneth Brenton.

Piano—A Ballet Dance—Dunhill, by Jean Sharpe.

Piano—Fairy Pipers—Brewer, by Doris Hoskin.

Song—Come, Sing to Me—by Elsie Hamilton.

Piano — Valsette — Kirchner, by Beth Galley.

Song—Bells of the Sea—Soloman, by James Cordes.

Piano—Sonata op. 2 No. 1—Beethoven, by Helen Millligan.

Song—Still wie die Nacht—Bohm, by Edwin Brenton.

Piano—Prelude in C sharp Minor—Chopin, by Reta Clarke.

Piano—Children's Favorites—Lestchetsky, by Dorland Houston.

Piano—Romance opus 36—Schumann; Polichinelle—Rachmaninoff, by Laurene Scott, A.T.C.M.

Song—Sylvelin — MacDermid, by William McIntosh.

Piano—May Night — Palmgren; Gollivog's Cake Walk —Debussy, by Dorothy Croft.

Song—L'aveule spirito (Simon Boccanegro) — Verdi, by Grant Rathbun.

Piano—Liebestraume No. 3—Liszt, by Fay Ruskard.

Song—I am Pale—Hamblen, by Laurel Arkills.

Piano — Fantasie Impromptu — Chopin, by Helen Milligan.

Song—Un bel di (Madame Butterfly)—Puccini, by Flora MacDonald.

Piano—Hungarian Rhapsody No. 6 —Liszt, by Laurene Scott, A.T.C.M.

POLICE ROUNDUP IS CONTINUING

Two Arrested in Toronto May be Implicated in Robberies

Continuing their concerted drive against juvenile problems of the law, local police today took two more young boys into custody in connection with many recent robberies that have been committed locally during the past six months. Five were arrested and questioned yesterday, two this morning, while two other sixteen years old youths of this city were taken into custody by the railway police at Long Branch last night, these latter two being in possession of a revolver and large knife. According to police authorities all of the gang, which is believed to have been organized locally for the purpose of pilfering goods saleable to junk dealers, are under or around the age of 16 years therefore not personally the authorities as five cited type are being held in custody while the remainder are being allowed to return to their respective homes, under the supervision of their parents. The two Toronto boys have become a menace to the Scarborough district, purchasing from bicycles to junk and boldly offer their stolen goods for sale at junk dealers. Chief Constable Kidd today as he itemized, that various charges faced the ringleaders.

The two local youths being held at the Branch pending investigation will be brought back to Belleville today by the older brothers of one of the lads, incidentally the police announced this afternoon that two brothers in one home were included in the "gang" that has allegedly been robbing the district of business of late, while in two other cases two brothers of families, are involved. To date 5 boys have been arrested and questioned in relationship to many local robberies. Local police today announced that statements had been voluntarily given by some of the youth admitting the majority of the previously unsolved robberies, that have been committed in this city for some months past.

Police News

Five bicycles were picked up on local streets by Belleville police last night, all having been apparently abandoned, only one having been reported stolen previous to the findings. Frank Gimoli, Broadfield, corroborated to the police that he parked his bicycle at the upper end of Front Street, later returning to find it gone. This robbery was reported shortly before 11.00 p.m. A police alarm was given and within an hour local police constables had found five abandoned on local streets. Gimoli's "bike" was among the five lodged at the police station. Subsequently two other owners reclaimed their "bikes", stating they had left them in their parking places while still two others are reposing at the police station awaiting their owners, no reports as to them having been stolen received.

Fifteen transients slumbered peacefully at the police station last night, all being instructed to "move along" this morning when liberated.

Six motor vehicle owners found police stickers on their windshields this morning, the authorities having left parked on local streets all night, in violation of traffic rules, impeding the progress of the city sweeper.

ARCHITECT'S WIDOW FREED

(Continued from page one)

Determined Suicide

The determined suicide of Mrs. Rattenbury, stabbed and drowned, was the next to last act of as grim a tragedy as the late Thomas Hardy ever staged in his beloved "Wessex" countryside of which Christchurch and Bath Street were central in the Hardy novels.

The last act will probably be the hanging of Mrs. Rattenbury's 18-year-old chauffeur, conviction has been set for June 18.

The opening act was the murder of Rattenbury, distinguished architect, who lived for many years on Canada's Pacific coast and there met Mrs. Rattenbury, who spent her childhood in Belleville. Mr. Rattenbury designed the British Columbia Provincial Parliament buildings and many of Canada's finest homes.

The prologue was the engagement of Stoner as chauffeur to the Rattenburys in November, Mrs. Rattenbury becoming his confidante shortly after; and even before that, long quarrels between the Rattenburys were overheard by the cook-housekeeper.

Late last night, it was learned that Mrs. Alice Rattenbury, 58 years old, was found in a bath-filled little backwater of the River Stour two miles north of Christchurch. She had flung herself into the water with a gleaming knife in her hand, and while still struggling with the stream had stabbed herself in the left breast, four times.

Only a few days before Mrs. Rattenbury had sat on the edge of the dock in the Old Bailey before a jammed court, struggled and fought to get within the court and had admitted improper relations with the youth 20 years her junior.

Both were accused of the slaying of the husband, elderly Rattenbury struck on the head with a mallet and left unconscious in a pool of blood in the living room of the Rattenbury villa at Bournemouth on the night of March 24. He died four days afterward.

Stoner Accused Woman

Counsel for both of the accused stated during the trial Stoner had admitted striking the fatal blow that there was no case against Mrs. Rattenbury except alleged confessions that were wrong from the start. The woman "worked with drink and hysteria" at the time, and had pleaded Stoner was himself in love with her and with Irene Seaton of the husband of his mistress that he had killed Rattenbury because of being intimate with her husband that afternoon and had obtained from Mrs. Rattenbury a promise the couple would have separate bedrooms on their holiday.

After the fainting woman had heard the words "I am guilty", and the unemotional youth had heard the death sentence pronounced on him, with a recommendation for mercy, Mrs. Rattenbury was taken to a nursing home and then to gaol. Stoner was taken back to prison, where he told his father: "I am glad she has been spared; it doesn't matter what happens to me."

A friend of Mrs. Rattenbury said today she had attempted suicide several times since the end of the trial. Each of other times had been quite cheerful. She had not planned to go back to Bournemouth.

Story of Mysterious

Today the second act unfolded. The body recovered, identified by William Mitchell, farmer, was apparently the only eyewitness of Mrs. Rattenbury's atonement. "With a knife in her hand, she slipped into the river," he said.

"I tried to grab her foot, but she slipped through my hand. I cannot swim, so I held out my coat, and attempted to her to grasp it.

"But her head went back, and she went further out. I saw blood coming up through the water. I was unable to do anything more so I went for help."

Mitchell said he had seen the woman sitting on the edge of the river with a knife in her hand. After she had disappeared, he brought policemen who searched the river and found the body floating face upwards. She was dead when taken out and brought to the mortuary here.

One of the last things Mrs. Rattenbury did before leaving the London Nursing Home where she was taken after her acquittal, was to write a letter to her condemned lover. After posting the letter, she left for Bournemouth, not so far from here.

Watch Holway Bros. ?

NEON GAS SIGNS FULLY EXPLAINED

David Rogers Tells Kiwanis Club of Discovery Ten Years Ago

Neon gas and its use in the Neon sign was interestingly told the Kiwanis Club at their regular luncheon held at the Queen's Hotel on Tuesday by David Rogers, outside representative of the firm. Cliff Barrager was in the chair and Dr. Hall introduced the speaker and Cam Hardy as sergeant-at-arms. Before the address was given considerable business was discussed by the members.

The transportation committee was constituted on arranging for the Salvation Army to visit the hospital on Sunday afternoon. The president told the members the result of the meeting regarding some project of rules funds for the club, stating that it was decided to hold a barbecue and indoor circus in the arena later in the month and also a fall carnival. Frank Domenico, chairman of he project, gave out the list of members of the various committees and they will soon be funcioning. Frank Foxwell, George Lee and Ross Oliver reported on the activities in softball, wrestling and horse shoe pitching, while Jack McIntosh, who is in charge of the Oshawa trip on June 19 told the boys what a wonderful day was in store for them. Belleville club will have a large representation on the excursion.

A Kiwanis 'picnic and ladies' night will be held at Oak Lake on Tuesday June 18. Rotarian Bowerman will be in place of the regular luncheon. Merle Wickett, one of the newer members of the club was booster for the day and gave a description of the various articles used by his firm, which was most instructive and interesting. The winners of Merle's boost were Phil McKee and George Postyn.

Mr. Rogers, introduced by Hrnis Finkle and appreciation of the address was tendered by the president, stated that signs were the earliest form of advertising and traced the development of Neon signs for the past ten years. Three essentials should be used in advertising said the speaker, a simple shape, brief wording and distinctive color scheme. He explained the origin of Neon gas and its principle by which it is used for neon signs. The address was most instructive.

DRIVER'S ATTENTION DRAWN TO BLAZE

"Go ahead" motioned the brawny arm of a driver of a large Provincial Transport of Hamilton on east Dundas Street, when an automobile driver attempted to pass him early this morning. But when the looting of the car behind developed into a long drawn out wailing a helper leaned far out of the cab to find the cause, and soon was treated to clouds of smoke and the driver signalling frantically at the top of the trailer.

Almost before the truck ground to a stop, driver and helper were at the task of hurriedly ripping a burning tarpaulin from the trailer and of extinguishing a brisk fire, which had started in the load of baled rags. No theory as to the start of the fire could be given.

THOU SHALT NOT KILL !

Drive Carefully!

Better Vision — Better Life

Yes, not necessarily seeing more sharply, but seeing without effort positively means living better. Just "getting glasses" wherever obtainable is not even economical. When you question that your eyes may be the cause of both a strained feeling and appearance . . . even though using glasses . . . make an appointment by phoning 26 for a modern visual ANALYSIS.

J. A. McFee

Professional Optometrist

Obituary

LATE MRS. EMILY A. SWORD

The funeral of Mrs. Emily A. Sword, widow of Andrew Sword, who passed away at Trenton on Saturday last, took place from the Belleville Funeral Chapel Friday Home, Campbell Street, Tuesday afternoon, and many friends were in attendance. The service in the chapel and at the graveside in Belleville cemetery was conducted by Adjutant A. W. Martin of the Salvation Army local corps, assisted by Sergt. Major Hunt.

The bearers were Messrs. Andrew, David, Stephen and James Sword, all sons of the late Mrs. Sword; James Wilson and Sergt. Major Hunt.

MRS. ALEXINA PALMER

Tuesday afternoon the funeral of Mrs. Alexina Palmer, widow of Robert Ridley Palmer, took place from the residence of her son, Mr. Arthur Palmer, in Camelot, Park, to the home and also at the graveside in Elmwood cemetery was conducted by Rev. T. R. Merrick.

The bearers were Messrs. William Reynolds, William Bleechman, Thomas Rosevear, Blake Bedell, Harry Shorey and Norman McWilliams.

MRS. ANNIE WOOD

Mrs. Annie Wood, who resided in Belleville until six months ago with her son, Mr. Roy Wood, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sherry Muckleree in Black River, N.Y., on Tuesday, June 4. She had been in failing health for some time.

The late Mrs. Wood was born in Tamworth 94 years ago her parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. John York. She was a member of the Pentecostal Church and during her residence in this city was highly esteemed by many friends who will regret to learn of her death.

Surviving to mourn her loss are four daughters, Mrs. Vernon Sevey, Illion, N.Y.; Mrs. W. Miller, Springfield, Ont.; Mrs. R. Martin, New York, N.Y.; Mrs. Sherry Muckleree, Black River, N.Y.; two sons, Roy Wood of Belleville; John Wood of New York; one sister, Mrs. James Wade, Plain Cot.

The body of the late Mrs. Wood is being conveyed to Belleville for interment by the Belleville Burial Company. Funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this issue.

JOHN WALKER ELLIS

On Tuesday evening, June 4th., John Walker Ellis passed away at the residence of his son-in-law Mr. William McPherson in the 3rd concession of Thurlow. He had been in failing health for close to one year.

The late Mr. Ellis, who was in his 80th year was born in Madoc, his parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. John Ellis. For some years he resided at the Carrying Place and for the last three months had been residing at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. William McPherson in the 3rd concession of Thurlow. Mr. Ellis was a most amiable character and was a member of the Bandon Presbyterian church.

Surviving to mourn his passing, are two daughters, Mrs. William McPherson, Thurlow township; Mrs. Ketch Swezi, New York, N.Y.; one son, Mr. R. A. Ellis, Carrying Place.

LATE LEONARD WILKES

The funeral of Leonard Wilkes took place from his late residence, 120 Catherine Street, Tuesday afternoon and many friends were present to pay their last tribute of respect and to manifest their sympathy with the family in their bereavement. An impressive service was conducted in the home by the Rev. R. E. Newman, pastor of Holloway Street United Church, assisted by the Rev. J.D.F. Knox.

Interment was made in the Belleville cemetery, the service at the graveside being conducted by the same minister.

The bearers were Messrs. Geo. Kerr, B. Langabeer, Fred Morgan, Thomas Meyers, H. Green and R. Dougherty.

Increase Your Ice Cream Sales by Serving

"Neilson's Ice Cream"

The Trade Supplied by

CITIZEN'S DAIRY

Phone 236

A28-M-W-F-2-tf

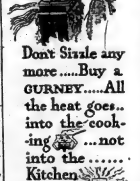
ECLIPSES ALL SHOWS IT'S THEIR SCREEN HONEYMOON!

AL JOLSON RUBY KEELER

THE SCREEN BEST-LOVED LOVERS TOGETHER FOR THE FIRST TIME IN A GRAND ENGWARREN BROS. MUSICAL!

A First National Picture with All-Star Cast Including Glenda Farrell Patsy Kelly Helen Morgan Ruthless Beauty Chorus

Al singing 7 swell new songs—Ruby stepping her most spectacular numbers—a thrilling story of Broadway's hot-spots by the famous author of "42nd Street"!



"GO INTO YOUR DANCE"

At 2.30 7.05 9.15

TOMORROW CAPITOL

Lucky Capitol Programs •TONIGHT ONLY— 3: 16: 101: 193: 213. 'Paddy the Next Best Thing'

Are you a SUMMER SIZZLER?

Don't Sizzle any more.....Buy a GURNEY.....All the heat goes.. into the cooking ...not into the..... Kitchen

COME IN AND SEE THIS NEW GURNEY RANGES

Ask about our EASY PAYMENT PLAN

JOHN LEWIS COMPANY

255 Front St. Phone 2260

4th and LAST DAY

FREDRIC MARCH CHARLES LAUGHTON in VICTOR HUGO'S "LES MISERABLES"

A Dietrich you have never known before! She knows twenty ways to say "I Love You" and they're all alluring Ha - - -

MARLENE DIETRICH

in

"THE DEVIL IS A WOMAN"

with Lionel Atwill Alison Skipworth Edw. Everett Horton.

A JOSEF von STERNBERG PRODUCTION

Daily 2.30 7.10 Last Comp. Show 9.30

BELLE STARTS TOMORROW

In Paramount's brilliant love drama

ONE GOOD PICTURE DESERVES ANOTHER AND SO The Screen's Gayest Personality in one of the most Sincere Stories of Recent Years

NOVA PILBEAM in "LITTLE FRIEND"

14 Years Old and an Emotional Star incomparable

Her performance in this picture is simply amazing for its sheer emotional appeal and sincerity. You have never seen her equal on the screen.

LIBERALS DEFY MARKETING BOARD IN PARLIAMENT

W. A. Fraser, Trenton, Says Act Stepping Stone of Fascism

C. C. F. ASSAILED

Ottawa, June 5—(CP)—Threats of an opposition blockade loomed in the House of Commons today after the liveliest debate of the session last night, when Conservatives and Liberals joined issue on the merits of the Natural Products Marketing Act. The dispute arose, when Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture sought approval of the money vote for administration of the Act and seized last year and stubborn opposition was offered.

When the 11 o'clock adjournment stilled the angry tongues last night a half-dozen back-bench members were doing their best to shut off a speech by J. Ross Rowe (Dufferin-Simcoe). Mr. Rowe was repeatedly interrupted as he charged the Liberals with a "master false" attitude, with speaking in the interests of the dealers, who made more out of farm products than the farmer who produced them.

Finally Liberals contended Mr. Rowe had spoken more than 40 minutes and the Deputy Speaker ruled some of the interruptions had been separate speeches and had enabled Mr. Rowe to begin his 40 minutes anew.

Hon. Ian Mackenzie (Lib. Vancouver Centre) and William Duff (Lib. Antigonish-Guysborough) appealed from the ruling but Sir George Perley and Hon. Ernest Lapointe, acting leaders on the government and opposition sides urged the question of an infringement of the rule should not be decided in such a summary fashion and the adjournment hour arrived.

Minister of Agriculture Robert Weir and Mr. Rowe came to the defence of the Marketing Act, with the Grain Act the only other existing national round of fire from the Liberals. They claimed the Act was the only salvation of farmers, enabling them to command their own marketing.

Humphrey Mitchell (Lab. Hamilton East) joined the opposition by attacking C.C.F. members. He called them "overnight revolutionists" and "revolutionists in a hurry," and advised them to talk less and act more.

W. A. Fraser Heard

William Fraser (Lib. Northumberland), an Ontario apple grower, threw out an open defy to the Apple Marketing Board to fine him or throw him in jail for infractions of their regulations. The branded the Act the threshold and stepping stone of Fascism in Canada.

Liberal members criticized the Marketing Act on various points but concentrated on its compulsory features. Hon. W. R. Motherwell, former Minister of Agriculture, disagreed however, claiming it was nonsense to claim a minority of 10 should dictate to a majority of 90.

Government-paid propagandists were covering the country organizing unions favorable to the Act the Liberals charged, citing an expenditure of $50,000 for workers in conjunction with the poultry scheme in the west.

The Minister of Agriculture claimed the Eastern Canada potato scheme had placed thousands of dollars in the pockets of farmers, and announced a vote on continuing it would be held before July 10.

Aretch, chairman of the Federal Board, figured in the debate. It was claimed by W. Turner Moore (Lib. Ontario), that Leitch was President of the Tobacco Syndicates and, at the same time, a member of the Ontario Tobacco Board which was in the position to fraud producers. The Agriculture Minister claimed Leitch was in no position to favor his associations but promised to find out the acreage he controlled and its relations to the whole tobacco acreage in Ontario.

Mr. Rowe said the Act brought near to realization the dreams of farmers for many years past. Every agrarian movement had been aimed at securing to the producer a measure of control over the marketing of his product. All such movements had been captured and turned to political ends by the Liberal party. Canada was 15 years behind in its marketing methods and had lost markets because of this.

GRASP THIS ECONOMY OPPORTUNITY

SAVE $1.00 A TON on HAMCO COKE

THOUSANDS OF ONTARIO HOMES were kept really warm every day last winter thanks to Hamco Coke. And thousands of dollars were saved because this high-grade, dustless coke is low-priced.

But here's a way to save even more money on next winter's fuel. Order Hamco Coke now . . . and save an extra dollar on every ton.

There's plenty of this all-Canadian, dustless coke available at this reduced Spring price but you must act NOW! Phone your dealer today . . . and make sure that next winter's heating budget will be substantially less than last year's.

HAMCO COKE Gives more heat Costs less money Dustless! AND ORDER TODAY and SAVE!

Buy from your local HAMCO DEALER

FOR A LIMITED time ONLY

FOR YOUR HAMCO DUSTLESS COKE

PHONE 2071

We handle 37 different Varieties of Coal, ranging from Various Prices

DEALERS IN COAL WOOD ICE

HARRY SMITH

Phone 2071

116 Pinnacle Street.

SAVE ON COAL AND COKE

While the prices are down. PITTSTON AMERICAN HARD COAL; HAMCO COKE—the all kinds of good wood.

B. M. MASON

13 GEDDES STREET. PHONE 1722

HALLOWAY MINISTER LEAVES FOR WEST

Halloway—No church service was held at this appointment on Sunday last owing to the pastor attending conference in Peterborough.

Mr. Armstrong of McMaster University, Hamilton, is taking charge of the Baptist Church for the summer. Mr. McNeil, former pastor, is taking up a field in one of the western provinces.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Robson and Mr. and Mrs. P. Reilly called on Mr. and Mrs. E. Hough on Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Hagerman and Mr. and Mrs. W. Rogers of Belleville were guests at Mr. O. H. Rose's on Sunday.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. H. Kelly is slightly improved after being seriously ill for the past week.

One of our popular young men, Mr. Arthur Reid and Miss Nellis Sutherland of Ameliasburg were quietly married on Saturday last and are on their honeymoon trip to Toronto and other points west.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Hamilton were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. Haggerty, West Huntingdon, on Sunday.

Mrs. R. Townsend and Mrs. Jacques of Foxboro, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Holmes of Belleville, on Sunday.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilson were glad to learn they escaping serious injury in the recent car accident.

The play "Red Headed Step Child" by Moira Linton which was given here on Wednesday night, was enjoyed by those present.

Mr. C. McInnis and family and Mr. A. Sibe and family spent a day last week fishing at the Rapids.

Miss Doris Carter and Miss Bertha Smith called on Mrs. G. Frederick on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Rood conducted prayer meeting at the home of Mrs. Ward on Wednesday evening with a good attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. K. Belcour of Maple Grove, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Lloyd of Belleville, were visitors at the home of Mr. C. Belcour's.

Mr. and Mrs. Embury Hough attended the shower for the latter's sister, Miss Richardson at Consecon Tuesday evening.

Miss Evelyn Morland of Fuller, spent a day recently at Mr. W. Wilson's.

Mr. J. Ryan has returned to work again on the locks at Frankford.

The Misses Elliot of Sine, called on Mrs. R. Townsend on Wednesday evening and attended the drama at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Hamilton were guests at Mr. E. Hough's on Thursday evening.

Mrs. C. Rose entertained the W.I. program committee on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Cadman visited at Mr. Elder's sister in Wooler on Sunday.

Mrs. E. Lowery had a bee repairing her cement verandah on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tobin of Madoc had dinner at Mrs. Ryan's on Friday.

Mrs. Strom has returned to Toronto, after spending the past week with Mrs. A. Cadman.

Mrs. V. Reed and Mrs. G. Cadman spent a day last week at H. Reed's.

Mr. and Mrs. Wannamaker and family of Demorestville, were visitors at Mr. Carter's on Sunday.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ELECTS OFFICERS

Moira—A number from here attended the Liberal Conservative Association Convention held in Marmora recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Thompson of Toronto, are visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Thompson.

Dr. and Mrs. Duprau and family of Belleville, were recent visitors in the village.

Mrs. Roy Holgate spent an afternoon this week the guest of Mrs. Frank Emerson.

The Young People presented their play "The Red-Headed Step-Child" before a large audience at Halloway. Much credit is due the young people for the excellent rendition of each and every part and after putting forth every effort it has indeed proved a decided success.

Mr. Howard Emerson is able to be out again after a lengthy illness and is much improved in health.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Crerar, Consnie and Kathleen of Belleville, were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Ketchenson and Mr. and Mrs. George Ketchenson.

Friends were sorry to hear of the death of Miss Rebecca Rodmon of Calgary, and formerly well-known in this neighbourhood. The sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved ones.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Vanderwater, who have been visiting their daughter, Mrs. Max Reynolds of Bancroft have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Angus Mumby and children were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mumby on Sunday evening.

The recent rains have caused a decided improvement in the crops and farmers are more hopeful than they were a few days ago.

The Sunday School had their reorganization meeting and some of the younger element are being brought to the fore. The list of officers are as follows—Superintendent, Mr. Gordon Wannamaker; Miss Fredina Bailey; Secretary, Mr. Henry Emerson; Treasurer, Mr. Donald Ketchenson; Adult Bible class teacher, Mr. Henry Emerson; Teen Age Girls and Boys—Mrs. John Morton; Children's Class Mrs. George Foster. Arrangements are being made for a Sunday School picnic to be held in the near future.

IS SUCCESSFUL IN COURSE AT NORMAL SCHOOL

6th Trendinnago—The recent rains have made a real difference in the prospect of the crops in this section.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Conley, Frankford were guests of Mrs. Theodore Parks over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Emerson and family visited at Mr. John McCullough's at Foxboro on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Cronkrite were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Boldrick on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Goodman spent Sunday at Mr. A. Parks'.

Miss Martha Treverton is home from Peterboro Normal School having passed on all her subjects on her year's work.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Alexander of Hillier, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Harrison and Mrs. Charlie Hardy and children visited at Mrs. J. Boldrick's on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Parks spent Tuesday in Belleville.

Mrs. E. Ladley of Mountain View is spending a few days with her brothers, Messrs. Alfred and Ross Conley.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Treverton were Sunday evening callers at Mr. and Mrs. Frank Treverton's.

Mr. and Mrs. John Weese called on Mrs. J. R. Emerson on Monday.

Miss Helen Boldrick spent a few days last week in Belleville with her sister Mrs. Ralph Hudgeon.

Mr. and Mrs. Orval Beard visited at Mrs. T. C. Treverton's on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson and Mr. A. C. Chandler and family of Consecon were Sunday visitors of Mrs. J. Boldrick.

HYATT TRIED IN STRATFORD

London, Ont., June 5 (CP)—Archie Hyatt, escaped Kingston convict held in jail here, will be tried in Stratford it was learned today following instructions from the Attorney-General's Department.

Had Almost Given Up Hope

But Dodd's Soon Revived Health

"About seven or eight years ago I had a very severe attack of sciatica and lame back," writes J. C. Brown, R.R. No. 3, Moosefield, Ont. "I tried a lot of different medicines with results. My doctor gave me no hope of getting better. I read Dodd's Kidney Pills advertised and got a box. Before I had taken all of them I felt like a new man. My whole system seemed to be in good condition once more and the pains left me. I could rest and sleep with comfort. I always keep a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills on hand, and if I feel a little out of tune I take a dose and feel better by the morning." D.

Dodd's Kidney Pills

"MECCA" OINTMENT

THE FAMILY FRIEND

FOR— BURNS - BOILS - BITES CUTS - SORES - ULCERS INFECTION CHEST COLDS

MECCA OINTMENT REMEDY

Soothing Healing Pain-Relieving

N.R.A RESTORED WITHIN LIMITS ROOSEVELT PLAN

President Starts Series of Conferences With Leaders

Washington, June 5 (AP)—President Roosevelt appeared ready today to propose to the United States Congress the restoration of fundamental NRA principles limited to interstate commerce.

As President Roosevelt started a series of conferences with Cabinet members and Congressional leaders, it was said by some of his sympathizers he had added the Wagner Labor Disputes Bill and the Guffey-Snyder Coal Bill to his program for Congress.

It was presented the Wagner labor measure would be amended before passage so as to set up a National Labor Relations Board with powers of voluntary arbitration for strike settlement.

The Guffey-Snyder Coal Bill would set up a national bituminous coal commission which would be directed to fix district standard wages and hours and fix maximum and minimum prices.

High Mortality in Canada Appals

Toronto, June 5 (CP)—Canada's high automobile mortality rate was emphasized before the Vital Statistics Section of the Canadian Public Health Association today by Dr. A. Hartley Stollery of the University of Toronto's School of Hygiene.

"Only India, Australia and England and Wales have higher mortality rates than Canada," he said. Since 1921 the death rate from automobile accidents had almost trebled in Canada and now stood at 10.6.4 per million of population. Combined with rail accidents the rate was 14.7 per million.

BLACK WIDOW SPIDER VENOM USED IN ANGINA

New York, June 5—The venom of the black widow spider is good for relieving the pain of angina pectoris, its use for this was described to the American Institute of Homeopathy today by Dr. Linn J. Boyd, of the University of Chicago.

Dr. Boyd's report is in line with recent developments in using snake venoms as a substitute for morphine to ease pain. The venoms apparently are not habit forming.

Black widow spider venom is said to be more powerful than rattle-snake venom. But because the spiders have only a little venom they are not as dangerous as the snakes.

THE TOBACCO OF QUALITY

Satisfaction Assured!

½lb. tin .85c.

LARGE PACKAGE 20¢

20 TASTY VIRGINIA FLAKE CUT

OLD CHUM SMOKING TOBACCO

Distillers Tobacco Manufacturers

Tuckett & Co

OLD CHUM

CUT COARSE CUT FINE

SAVE THE POKER HANDS

Old Chum's superiority has been so marked, for more than fifty years, that it is today accepted everywhere as "The Tobacco of Quality". The name itself is your assurance of satisfaction.

At only 20c for the large package, no smoker need deny himself the pleasure of Old Chum Tobacco.

REPAY LOANS IN CANADIAN FUNDS

Plan of Hepburn in Explained in His Comment

Toronto, June 5 (CP)—As he considered the problem of Ontario's short term borrowing today, Premier Mitchell Hepburn declared only condition on which he would go to money markets outside Canada would be that the loans could be repaid in Canadian funds.

Determined to secure a lower rate of interest than the three per cent. which Canadian chartered banks have been charging, the Premier has indicated he may sell short term treasury bills in New York. However, he is in communication with representatives of Canadian banks today and he believes it is still possible they will meet his terms.

SHOWER HELD FOR THURLOW FAMILY

Zend Thurlow — Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Mitchell, Carmel and Manley Mitchell spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Moncrief of Consecon.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Keene, Laura and Ila, called on Mr. and Mrs. Percy Sprackett on Sunday evening.

Several from the line attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Yatesman, 2nd Tyendinaga on Sunday last.

Rev. Mr. McMullen and Mr. Peoples of Belleville, took tea with Mr. and Mrs. Percy Sprackett one night recently.

Miss Lulu Mitchell spent Sunday with Miss Ilene Robinson.

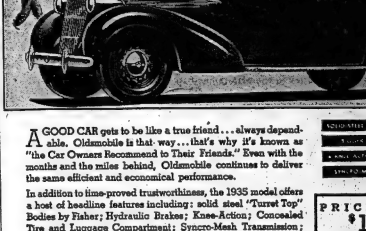
A miscellaneous shower was held at the factory for Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Atkins and was well attended by sympathetic friends and neighbours.

Mrs. Wilbert Moncrief, Consnie, is spending a week with her sister, Mrs. Arnold Mitchell.

BETHANY W.C.T.U.

The regular meeting of the Bethany W.C.T.U. was held at the church on Sunday evening, June 2, with 18 members present. The President opened the meeting with hymn 11 and prayer by Mrs. J. Cooley. The Scripture lesson taken from Matt. 6.8—24 was read by Mrs. Wm. Casey. The minutes were read and approved and the business was discussed. Mrs. O. Hamilton then took charge of the meeting. Hymn 19 was sung followed by a reading by Stella Bradshaw. Mr. Jack Smith rendered a beautiful solo, "An Evening Prayer." Mrs. Hamilton gave a very interesting reading "The Tearless Handkerchief," followed with a piano solo by Edith Walker. Readings were given by Norman Christie and Reta Bagley. Collection $1.26.

REDNERSVILLE PERSONAL NOTES



Rednersville, June 5—Mr. Harold Ward entertained company on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Adams of Toronto were Sunday evening callers of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Adams.

Mrs. Lasley of Massassaga was Thursday guest of Miss B. Jones.

Miss Bessie Trumpling spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. Tompkins.

It Means So Much to Know You Own a Dependable Car

OLDSMOBILE

A GOOD CAR gets to be like a true friend . . . always dependable. Oldsmobile is that way . . . that's why it's known as "the Car Owners Recommend to Their Friends." Even with the months and the miles behind, Oldsmobile continues to deliver the same efficient and economical performance.

In addition to time-proved trustworthiness, the 1935 model offers a host of headline features including: solid steel "Turret Top" Bodies by Fisher; Hydraulic Brakes; Knee-Action; Concealed Tire and Luggage Compartment; Synchro-Mesh Transmission; and No-Draft Ventilation.

The Oldsmobile line includes a low-priced Six and a big Straight Eight. Come in and see them. Drive them. You'll be surprised to find how easily ownership can be arranged!

PRICED FROM $1053

(See the 6 cyl. Sedan Coupe) Delivered in Belleville, fully equipped. Government Restrictions may add extra. Bumpers extra. Prices for 6 cyl. and 8 cyl. models begin at $1261

J. B. BOYCE

Chevrolet - Oldsmobile - Buick - Pontiac

348-350 Front St. Sales and Service Phone 704

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER
THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon except Sunday and holidays at the corner of the Ontario Northern Railway Front Street, Belleville.

15,000 DRIVERS SUSPENDED

Rather depressing to the ardor of motorists is the picture of lost lives and damage done in the first four months of this year on the highways of this province. Now, awful records have been set up.

Yet all the while motor cars are more dependable, efficient and safe. Roads are better. Weather conditions have been no worse than at any other time.

In the final analysis, says the Hon. T. B. McQuesten, "There remain only the human beings who cause or are the victims of these accidents—the pedestrians and motorists who by their own actions or because of the faults of others have encountered tragedy on our roads and highways."

During the first four months of this year suspension of driving privileges was imposed upon nine thousand persons, an increase of twenty-seven percent over last year's figures for the same period.

In a message the Minister comments: "Since the Financial Responsibility Law came into effect in September, 1930, over fifteen thousand suspensions have been imposed and almost five thousand of these are still in force. I cite these figures as an indication that the threat of loss of driving privileges is no idle one. Those who persist in breaking the law, in violating the rules of safety, will be driven from our highways.

"It is not my wish that a large number of suspensions be imposed. Rather, I bespeak the co-operation of the motorists of Ontario. The Department of Highways has built highways according to sound engineering principles. We have conducted educational campaigns in the schools, and, by means of the radio, newspaper and bill-board advertising, made every possible effort in the interests of driving safety. But despite these efforts, the accident situation becomes of increasing seriousness. Why? Simply because the ultimate solution of the accident problem remains with the individual—upon a proper attitude towards others when using the highways.

"By far the accident waste must be reduced and those who fail to assist in this effort must be prepared to face the full penalty provided by law for failure to adhere to the regulations. Penalties imposed in recent months have been more severe, and I would point out that this increase in severity of punishment extends to those guilty of many so-called 'minor' offences as well as those usually regarded as of a more serious nature. All traffic laws are, in fact, rules and all of these offences against public safety can be considered as of minor importance. There can be no half-way course. Drivers must drive carefully at all times, or must stop driving."

HOSPITAL COSTS

The Department of Health in its 65th annual report on hospitals in the province for the year ending September 30th, 1935, shows that there are 162 hospitals participating in grants and 89 private hospitals. 238,626 patients were treated in hospitals, Red Cross outposts and sanatoria during the year for a total of 4,540,177 days' stay. The cost of operation was $15,301,908.37 including interest and sinking fund charges, the revenue being $14,332,383.42 of which $12,876,676 is operating revenue.

The average daily per capita cost for the province, was $2.81 for hospitals, Red Cross outposts, sanatoria for consumptives and hospitals for incurables. Public hospitals themselves have an average daily per capita cost of $3.20, Red Cross outposts $2.96.

The General Hospital, Belleville, is listed as possessing 98 beds for adults and 18 nursery cots. Patients treated during the year totalled 2,972. The average days' stay was 11.9 for adults and infants. The number of graduates and professional staff is given as 9 with 74 other employees including nurses-in-training. The average daily per capita cost was $2.41.

Cost of disteries was $23,259.39, other operating costs amounted to $61,628.39 making a total operating cost of $84,887.41. Income from patients for treatment, miscellaneous sales aggregated $71,826.40, income and grants from municipalities for patients' treatment, $26,514.83, income from property investments, $1,889.11; donations, bequests and other gratuitous incoms, $344.58, the total income from all sources other than government grant being $100,078.34. Government grant was $9,209.76.

In the Bancroft Red Cross Hospital the daily average cost per capita (hospital patients only) was $3.46. The total operating cost was $4,729.32.

In Prince Edward County Hospital at Picton the average daily per capital cost was $2.86.

How large a share the municipalities are bearing in the cost of hospitals is shown by the figures. According to C. J. Telfer, Inspector of Hospitals and Sanatoria, $6,510,813.56 was paid by the municipalities while $6,107,703.54 was received from patients, the province contributing $1,890,156.60 in grants.

SIDELIGHTS

THE HOME FORUM

Discussing the events of the day, home gossip and general topics of interest, conducted by the Ladies of the page—under the standing name—and romantic Grave and Gay, — supervised by The Laughingon.

NOT TOO NEAR

Let me not be too near
The lives I hold most dear,
Lest much detail obscure
The plan, the purpose sure
Which in their being flowers
Through bright and sunless hours.
May I, afar, discern
The truths I long to learn,
How clear my loved ones' eyes,
How brave they are, how wise,
How strong for sacrifice.
The distance has its haze;
But yet the closer gaze,
Too fixed and too intent,
Must lose the full extent
Of all a life has meant.
Too near, I could not seize
On moods and mysteries,
The soul's far boundaries.

—Aline Michaelis.

x x x

DRINKING AND DRIVING DO NOT MIX. Sounds like the heading of a pamphlet on the evils of liquor, published by the Anti-Saloon League, Banish the Bar organization, or the W.C.T.U.. Strange to say, it is the heading of an advertisement in New York newspapers, paid for by an old firm of distillers. The advertisement runs in part:

We who make whiskey say:

"DRINKING AND DRIVING DO NOT MIX."

Liquor has no place in the front seat of an automobile—alcohol and gasoline do not mix. These statements may seem to work directly against our self-interest but actually they do not. It is very much to our self interest to see that the privilege of drinking is not abused. It is to our interest to see that liquor is consumed as it should be consumed.

Even more important—as one of America's leading distillers, we have a definite social responsibility. We must recognize and fulfill this responsibility in all its implications.

—and more also in the same line, then this significant paragraph:

THEREFORE, WE INVITE YOU TO JOIN US IN THE CRUSADE FOR SAFER, SANER DRIVING. WE INVITE YOU TO CO-OPERATE WITH THE POLICE AND HIGHWAY DEPARTMENTS OF THE NATION.

What preacher could ask for a better text for a Temperance sermon than such an advertisement.

Just another indication of the changing times and the general recognition, even by the distillers themselves, that ALCOHOL AND GASOLINE DO NOT MIX, and that drinking and driving should be forever separated—for the distillers, alert and far-seeing business men, see a menace to the continuance of their business in the rising of alcohol and gasoline.

Prohibition has not been in vain after all.

x x x

POLICE MAGISTRATE BUTLER has declared in no uncertain words that motorists who use the city streets for speedways need expect no sympathy in his court if apprehended. This is as it should be and motorists who have become infected by this speed mania should go out into the great open spaces and park in some quiet space, there to consider the whole matter of speed quietly and carefully and try to exorcise the evil spirit out of their systems before some terrible accident places a shadow on their lives for ever.

x x x

SALLY RAND, famous fan dancer, telegraphed congratulations and good wishes to Mr. Allan Dafoe of Callander on the occasion of the birthday celebrations of the Dionne-Dafoe Quintuplets and Dr. Dafoe. Sally reminded Dr. Dafoe in her message that she is still his greatest fan. Sally met Dr. Dafoe on his visit to New York when he was introduced to the night life of Manhattan, which included incidentally Sally Rand and her dance in the "altogether" and a medium-sized fan. Hundreds of other telegrams of congratulations and good wishes were received by the genial Madoc-Callander doctor, and those which expressed a wish for many happy returns of the natal day to all concerned were filed for future reference.

x x x

She (playing piano): "That was 'Siegfried's Death.'"
He: "I'm not surprised."

CHARMING CHARMER CHARMED

Carole Lombard is entirely at ease surrounded by such movie-hunt breakers as Cary Grant (left) and Ricardo Cortes (centre) and Clark Gable (right). Lucky Carole got this break at home party in the Cortes Hollywood home.

REVOLT IN THE DESERT

by

T. E. LAWRENCE

CHAPTER IV

CHECKS AROUND YENBO

After I had been a few days in Cairo, my chief, General Clayton, told me to return to Arabia and Feisal. This being much against my grain I urged my complete unfitness for the job: said I hated responsibility—and that in all my life objects had been gladder to me than persons and ideas than objects. So the duty of succeeding with men, of disposing them to any purpose, would be doubly hard to me. I was unlike a soldier; hated soldiering; whereas the Sirdar had telegraphed to London for certain regular officers competent to direct the Arab war.

Clayton replied that they might be months arriving, and meanwhile Feisal must be linked to us, and his needs promptly notified to Egypt. So I had to go; leaving to others the Arab Bulletin I had founded, the maps I wished to draw, and the file of the war-changes of the Turkish Army, all fascinating activities in which my training helped me: to take up a role for which I felt no inclination. As our revolt succeeded, onlookers have praised its leadership; but behind the scenes lay all the vices of amateur control, experimental councils, divisions, whimsicality.

My journey was to Yembo, now the special base of Feisal's army, paying off today the pensioners who were resident, and those entitled to receive a pension from the American Government.

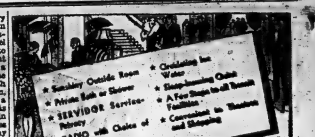
As I was starting thence up country to visit Feisal again, news came in of a Turkish sapeine. A reconnaissance of their cavalry and camel corps had been rushed too far into the hills, and the Arabs had caught it and scattered it. So I, made a happy start with my sponsor on the journey, Sherif Abd el Kerim. With him were three or four of his men, all well mounted; and we had a rapid journey, for Abd el Kerim was a famous rider who took pride in covering his stages at three times the normal speed. It was not my camel, and the weather was cool and clouded, with a taste of rain. So I had no objection.

After starting, we cantered for three unbroken hours. That had shaken down our bellies far enough for us to hold more food, and we stopped and ate bread and drank coffee till sunset, while Abd el Kerim unrolled his carpet in a dog-flight with one of the men. When he was exhausted he got up; and they told stories and japed, till they were breathed enough to get up and dance. Everything was very free, very good-tempered, and not at all dignified.

When we re-started, an hour's mad race in the dusk brought us to the foot of a low range. We crossed it, going up a narrow, winding, sandy valley, because this had run in flood a few days earlier, the going was free, for our pasching camels; but the ascent was steep and we had to take it at walking pace. This pleased me, but an angered Abd el Kerim, that when, in a short hour we reached the crest-line he threw his mount forward again and led us at break-neck speed down hill in the yielding night (a fair road, fortunately, with sand and pebbles underfoot) for half an hour, when he reined flattened out, and we came to the valley-bed, full of the camps of Mubarak, chief date-gardens of the southern Jubeina.

As we got near we saw through the palm trees flame, and the flame-lit smoke of many fires, while the hollow ground re-echoed with the roaring of thousands of resting camels. And mingling of shots or shoutings in the darkness of location, who also were busy with cows to rejoin their friends. As we had heard in Yembo that the Wadi Safra camel corps of this tumult meant something strange, perhaps hostile. We crept up, and from the end of the grove and along a narrow street between mud-brick walls to the silent group of houses. Abd el Kerim forced the courtyard door of the first, and we passed into the court within, and hobbled them down by the wells while the camels remained unseen. Then, he slipped a cartridge into the breech of his rifle and stole off into the dark to see what towards the noise to find out what was happening. I followed him in the sweat of the ride slowly drying in our clothes as we lay there in the chill night, watching.

He came back after half an hour to say that Sherif Nasir's camel corps had just arrived, and we were to go down and join him. So we led our camels out and mounted; and rode in file down another lane on a line approximately with a big garden of palms on our right. Its centre was filled with a crowd of Arabs and camels, mixed together in the wildest confusion, and all of them silent. We passed through them, and down a ramp suddenly into the bed of the valley, here broad, open space; how broad could only be guessed from the sound of voices echoing shimmering over it to a great distance. Also it was very damp; while the floor was of a shallow flood two days before, yet covering its ground. Our camels found a slippery under foot and began to move timidly.



We had no opportunity to notice this, or indeed anything, just now, except the mass of Feisal's army, filling the valley from side to side. There were hundreds of fires of thornwood, and round them were groups of Arabs making coffee or eating, or sleeping muffled like dead men in their cloaks, packed together anyhow in the confusion of camels. So many camels in company made a mess of camels in company made a mess indescribable, combed as they were or tied down all over the camping ground, with more ever coming in, and the old ones leaping up on three legs to join them, roaring with hunger and agitation. Patrols were going out, caravans being unloaded, and dozens of Arabs noisily disputing angrily over the middle of the scene.

We ploughed our way through this din, and in an island of calm at the very centre of the valley-bed found Sherif Feisal. We halted our camels by his side. On his carpet, spread there over the stones, he was sitting between Sherif Sharraf, the Naimmakam both of the Imaret and of Taif, his cousin, and Mesdhut, the rugged, slashing old Mesopotamian Bedouin, part acting as his A.D.C. In front of him heath a secretary talking down an order and beyond him another reading reports aloud by the light of a firebrand hung which a slave was holding. The night was windless the air heavy, and the unshielded flame poised there stiff and straight.

TO BE CONTINUED

Lord Carson is Ill With Pneumonia

London, June 5 (CP Cable)—Lord Carson, Ex. Minister without Portfolio in Home Rule for Ireland and subsequent leader of the partisans of Ulster, was reported seriously ill at his home in Minster. He caught a chill which developed into pneumonia.

COAST NATATORS MADE GOOD SHOWING

This team of Vancouver swimmers holder of the 220 yards record. At left, BACK, LEFT to RIGHT, was Harry McCormick, of Edmonton, who gave fine performances in the national championship meet at Winnipeg. Photographed in Edmonton, Mary McConkey is shown LEFT, FRONT, with Marion Moffatt. RIGHT, holder of the Dominion 300 yards free style record and former ex-Canadian champion; Eddie Climie, 100 yards champion; and Bobby Hooper, holder of the 100 and the 220 yards, prone acting as his A.D.C. In front of him heath a secretary taking down an order and beyond him another reading reports aloud by the light of a firebrand hung which a slave was holding. The night was windless the air heavy, and the unshielded flame poised there stiff and straight.

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

JUNE 5TH. 1915

A cable expressing hearty congratulations was sent from Belleville to Sir Gilbert Parker on the occasion of the new royal honor of Baronet conferred upon him by the King's birthday and the following reply has been received: "Grateful thanks to Belleville and greetings to all." Gilbert Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Reidy will leave tomorrow to visit friends in Toronto and other places in Western Ontario.

Mr. Wilfrid Ackerman of Rossmore brought to the Intelligencer office this morning some peas in blossom 2 feet long. He has a quarter of an acre of these early peas which he expects will be ready for table use in ten days' time.

Citizens of all classes were besieged with rose sellers on occasion of Red Cross Day in the city. Thousands of flowers were disposed of and a substantial sum was realized for the worthy object.

30 Years Ago

JUNE 5TH. 1905

It should be a profitable undertaking for some liveryman to run a bus to the cemetery twice a week during the summer. Hundreds of people would like to pay a visit to that beautiful spot, but the walk is a long one and livery horses come high. A bus in the afternoon would fill a popular need.

Messrs. J. Haig and C. K. Stephens of Campbellford were in the city yesterday.

Mr. E. O. Lawrence after passing his examinations at the College of Pharmacy, Toronto, left for that city this morning to take an assistantship position. His many friends here will wish him success.

Mrs. Ed. Ashley and young son of Cleveland, Ohio, are in the city visiting Mrs. Ashley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. McCrudden, Catherine Street.

Mr. Edgar Foster of Montreal, formerly of Belleville, is in the city today.

Mayor Sulman was on hand to take charge of the police court proceedings this morning, but there was no business to be transacted.

Col. Hendrick, U. S. Consul was

40 Years Ago

JUNE 5TH. 1895

The plate glass window in Mr. Orton's clothing establishment on Front Street, was broken this morning by a blast from the sewer.

Mr. Walter Alford has been awarded the contract to build a handsome residence for Mr. H. C. Hunt on the Trenton road near the pump house.

Messrs. John Pepper and Robert Wilson, Jr., left last evening for Chicago, Ill.

Messrs. E. L. Pope and Harry C. Thompson of this city sailed recently from Montreal on the Allan Line Steamer Lake Ontario for Liverpool. They will spend two months in Europe visiting Italy and Switzerland as well as touring the British Isles.

There have been 91 dogs registered up to date—an increase of 70 over last year.

Mr. R. N. Wright, for several years with G. F. Fraser and Son, Picton, has accepted a position with Messrs. Sinclair and Ostrom in this city.

Mrs. William Davis of Montreal arrived here last evening to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Rankin.

50 Years Ago

JUNE 5TH. 1885

The "Bible Christian Church" on North Front Street, near the upper bridge will be sold by public auction on June 10th. The property comprising good brick church with grounds will be sold together. R. Purdy will be the auctioneer.

Several of our young sports went to Massassaga Point yesterday and when returning to the city two of them fell off the yacht. They were rescued after being in the water about twenty minutes.

Capt. J. E. Walmsley is raising a cadet company of volunteers in the city which will devote attention to target practice. They will drill in the marble hall opposite the upper bridge.

The circus parade this morning attracted the usual crowd and presented the usual attractions.

LETTER FIGURES IN MACPHAIL CASE

Note of Ex-Convict Hall Made Centre of Argument

Ottawa, June 4 (CP)—Legal obstacles against tying a letter written by Alfred George Hall, former convict of Kingston penitentiary, to Minister of Justice Hugh Guthrie last July were ventilated on resumption today of the hearing before Judge R. T. Daly of Miss Agnes Macphail's charges against Inspector J. D. Dawson.

The burden of Miss Macphail's complaint is that on April 9, 1934, Dawson, then an official of the penitentiary, told Hall that she had made a "monkey out of herself".

Whether this letter which also discussed matters not relevant to this particular point should be filed as an exhibit formed the subject of warm argument between J. C. Mc-Ruer, Miss Macphail's counsel, and C. H. Greer, counsel for the commission. Mr. McRuer was permitted to read extracts from Hall's letter. These incorporated Hall's definite charge against Dawson.

Hall's Criticism of Dawson.

They also showed Hall to have criticized Dawson severely about his reference to Miss Macphail". Hall had also communicated to the Minister of Justice a suggestion that Dawson manifested a lack of penology and social psychology.

Dawson, according to Hall's charge, had also talked about the morals of women interested" in social welfare, Mr. McRuer brought out. He was also finished for writing this "misadventitious letter", Hall informed Judge Daly. Dawson had made no challenge as to the truth of the offending remark. However, on August 3, 1934, Hall was called before a board at the penitentiary but the only question he was asked dealt with the frequency of his conversations with Warden W. B. Mc-Loughlin.

Session Comes to Head

This document, said Judge Daly, was an exhibit and he would always to interpret it himself. He did not think the lyre was going to have any effect on him in trying to decide the case.

A somewhat contentious session came to a head when McRuer, recalling previous evidence, brought out Hall had believed himself to have been unjustly punished by Warden McLoughlin.

"You told Mr. Greer on May 4, after a breach with Mcgloughlin you would not be in a position to support him any longer. What did you mean by that?" asked McRuer.

Judge Daly objected.

"Well, then, I'll stop the cross-examination right now," said McRuer. "Here is a witness who tells Greer he could't support Mcgloughlin any longer. If I can't ask the question as to what the subject matter was I quit."

The Judge wanted to be fair but thought the question was leading per.

It was brought out Hall had generally been considered as advisor to the convicts.

"They looked to me for advice," he said.

He knew trouble was pending and it was in his power to stop it. But after what he considered unjust punishment he said he thought he could not support the administration in any trouble that might occur.

Never Fomented Trouble

Hall said he had never fomented trouble in the penitentiary. He said he had been called to Chaplain of the Cabsugna County jail at Cleveland in 1931. He had served on the Mc-Neil Commission, investigating methods of probation and re-establishment of ex-convicts. Columbus penitentiary and had helped to write the report. He had also had written briefs on penology and sociology.

"The information we have is that you were arrested for representing yourself as a minister," said the Chaplain," said Greer.

"Not purporting to be—I was acting Chaplain," said Hall.

"Well, during that period you were arrested and deported from the United States." Commission counsel said.

A retort by Hall prompted Greer to tell him not to be impertinent.

"Well, I don't think the psychology of your question," said the witness. "You are Commission counsel not prosecuting counsel."

Some question arose as to Hall's proper spelling of various affidavits statements showed him giving his name as Ernest Albert Hall and Hall said His information was derived from relatives.

The Commission adjourned until 3 p.m.

ASTHMA

Hay & Bronchial Colds

Mrs. Geo. King, Gowie, Ont., writes: "FRAZ-MAH is just up to date. Asthma as for Hay Fever, FRAZ-MAH gives me back my breath, lets me work and sleep comfortably. Have tried other remedies, but always come back to RAZ-MAH." Guaranteed relief from $1 sworth or your money back. No harmful drugs. Chas. Cornoke, Sfr. & $1 every where. Get RAZ-MAH today. 20

Don't cough, choke, gasp—Use

THE GUARANTEED HAY-FEVER

RAZ-MAH

Savings Safeguard Employment

It's the steady turning of the wheels of business that provides work. It is money—or credit—that keeps the wheels of business turning. Your savings, with those of countless others, deposited in the Dominion Bank makes it possible to extend credit to business, employ workers and pay wages. Protect your own "job" by opening a savings account in this bank. 45

THE

DOMINION BANK

ESTABLISHED 1871

Belleville Branch B. C. Sisler, Manager

INSISTS REDFERN LIVES IN JUNGLE

MRS. PAUL REDFERN

New hope that Paul Redfern, average missing since a flight over South America in 1927, is alive in the jungle, though badly crippled, was taken by Mrs. Redfern when she received news at her home in Toledo that Tom Roche, German-American adventurer, had seen her husband. Roche produced a balloon disc to corroborate the often disbelieved story that the American aviator still was alive. Mr. and Mrs. Redfern are pictured.

PAUL REDFERN

Trying to Become Physician Before Turning to Stone

Berkeley, Calif., June 4 (AP)—In a seemingly hopeless race against death, Albert Hagedorn, 20-year-old University student, is trying to become a doctor before he turns to stone.

The young medical student at the University of California, labors nearly 16 hours a day over his books and back of a counter in a chain grocery store in the faint hope he can save himself, or at least others, from the rare and slow death caused by calcinosis. He works in the grocery store to pay for his studies.

Young Hagedorn admits only a miracle of medical science can save him but still he hopes somehow to be kept from turning to calcium carbonate. His body began slowly to turn to stone nearly seven years ago.

ENTERTAINS FRIENDS AT BIRTHDAY PARTY

EMPEY HILL—Mr. and Mrs. Spencer of Campbellford visited his sister, Mrs. F. Husband one day recently.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Akey spent Sunday with friends in Shannonville.

Mr. J. E. Sexsmith motored to Chicago on Monday.

Miss Lucille Hudgins, Selby, spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. R. Price.

Mr. Bert Russell of Montreal, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Russell, over the week-end and other friends.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Wintzr, Mr. and Mrs. W. Winter, Miss M. Perry and Mr. H. Winter were Sunday visitors at Mr. Will Jackson's, Selby West.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Wood and family of Selby spent Sunday evening at Mr. Bruce Kinnerly's.

Mrs. E. Tucker and Lilly Russell spent Sunday at Mr. A. Wadding-ham's.

Mr. and Mrs. W. McCrae entertained Mrs. A. Penny, Messrs. Earle and Kenneth Penny of Napance to dinner on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. McMath, Mr. and Mrs. R. Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. F. Kinnerly, Mr. and Mrs. Dupre and families spent Sunday in Napanee.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Ford of Brighton, were week-end guests at Mr. R. Harvey's.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Price and Marjorie spent Sunday in Redmerville, with Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Pulver.

Mr. and Mrs. James Barnes visited Mr. and Mrs. Bert Mowers in Deseronto a few days the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mowers and family were Sunday visitors at Mr. C. Ceorne's Melrose.

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Ashley, Miss Dewart, Mr. and Mrs. W. Winter and Mr. C. Winter were Sunday visitors at Mr. Carl Winters, Napanee.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank German, Beryl, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Husband visited at Mr. Spencer's, Campbellford on Sunday.

Miss Rita Sexsmith was hostess to twelve of her chums on Thursday evening celebrating her eighth birthday.

Mrs. C. Akey, Mrs. F. Husband and Mr. and Mrs. F. Kinnerly were recent visitors at Mrs. R. McMath's.

Mrs. E. R. Price, Marjorie and Miss Lucille Hudgins spent Thursday in Trenton with their cousins, Mrs. L. Abbott and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Winter.

Mrs. Angus St. John, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Laundry, Evelyn and John Laundry of Cornwall, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Stapley and other friends.

FIRST SEA LORD ILL

London, June 4—(CP-Havas) — Admiral of the Fleet Sir Charles Edward Madden, former first sea lord of the Admiralty, was in critical condition today in a London clinic where he was removed yesterday.

Admiral Madde, who was Commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet in 1919-20, has been in a coma for the past 24 hours, suffering from general poisoning, physicians said. Little hope was held out for his recovery.

ANTIQUES SELL AT LOW PRICE

Articles Hundred Years Old Bring Small Returns at Sale

Picton, June 5—Mrs. R. B. Small is seriously ill at her home, Main Street, West.

Mrs. Blakely, Sr., is taking up residence in Picton. Her son Mr. Will Blakely and family will remain on the homestead at Cherry Valley.

Mrs. Robert Welsh is at her home on Washburn Street after spending some weeks with Mr. R. Welsh at Marmora.

Workmen are very busy getting the lovely grounds and surroundings of old St. Mary Magdalene's Church ready for the expected visit of the Primate of Canada when a service will be held in this historic old church.

The large auction sale at the residence of Mr. Thos. Welsh, Washburn Street, on Saturday afternoon was an interesting event. A very large crowd attended and prices were very reasonable. A walnut "what not," larger than most, and over one hundred years old went to a collector of antiques for $2.25, as did four quaint black lacquered wall brackets, also very old, at the ridiculous price of 50c each. Chairs, tables, mirrors, lamps, bedroom suites, in large numbers, and splendid condition, sold very low. Mr. Emil Welsh with whom Mr. Thos. Welsh now resides in New York State, was here for the sale.

Mr. Tom Turpin has accepted a position in the Gazette office.

The funeral of Miss Blanche Van Ceean was held from her late residence, Main Street, to St. George's Gregory's Church on Thursday morning, at nine o'clock. Many relatives and friends gathered to pay a last tribute to one who had spent her life so unselfishly in the service of others. Rev. Fr. J. J. Meehan said the requiem mass. The pall bearers were Clair Newman, Jas. Burke, David Harrington, Jerry Clifford, George Lewis Collier and Dr. Gerald Hinsley. Interment was made in Mount Olivet cemetery.

Mrs. Alva E. Scott

The death occurred at her residence, Queen Street, on Wednesday, May 29th, of a very highly esteemed resident of Picton, in the person of Sarah Ann Scott, relict widow of the late Alva E. Scott, in her eighty-eighth year. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Allan Young of Napanee. The funeral service was held at her late residence on Friday afternoon, at two o'clock with interment at Cherry Valley cemetery.

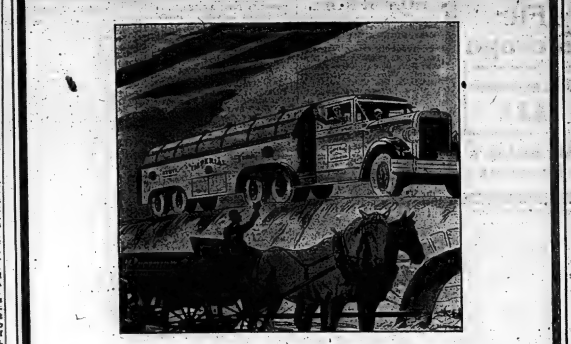
On Thursday evening Mr. George Kingsley, President of the Driving Club held a final meeting before the races on the King's birthday. It was decided that prize money should be paid to "best winners" making every heat a race. There were three races with purses totaling $450.00. Mr. Kingsley announced that here were nine horses in training.

R.C.M.P. RETIREMENTS

Ottawa, June 4.—(CP) The Royal Canadian Mounted Police have announced impending retirements of three assistant commissioners, A. J. Cherrier of Ottawa, C. Junget of Halifax and C. V. Phillips of Vancouver, a native of Belleville. They will be gazetted retired from July 1 and retired next January 1.

Regina, June 4 (CP)—W. J. Hastings of this city is still in a correspondence checker tournament begun in 1925. Today there are five undefeated originals. During the 10 years Hastings has lost only three games and for seven years was undefeated. Four games are played with each man, taking about six months.

Haven't you noticed that your happiest hours occur on days when you feel your best?



Here more of these happy days. You and all your family. Guard health while you have it. Keep on the sunny side of life.

The greatest enemy of health is common constipation. It may cause loss of appetite and energy. Certainly it kills enthusiasm! Yet it can be banished by eating a delicious cereal.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" and vitamin B in relieve common constipation. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. How much pleasanter to get this delicious ready-to-eat cereal than to take patent medicines. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor. Made by Kellogg in London, Ont.

A LITTLE COMPANY GROWN BIG

IMPERIAL OIL was a little Company in 1880. There was then only a handful of employees. A dozen or so products were the Company's stock in trade.

Today nearly 18,000 Canadian men and women are engaged in making and selling 714 different Imperial Oil Products. So, counting their families, there are about 90,000 people directly dependent for livelihood on this Company and its operations. 90,000 is a lot of Canadians.

Imperial Oil's growth depended upon more than growth in population and demand. Fair dealing, honest value and the ability to meet new needs with new products and new services all played their part. Of course a loyal, capable staff was indispensable. Such a staff was built up by fair and considerate treatment. Good wages, sickness and death benefits, retirement pensions, group insurance, industrial councils—these are some of the measures by which the Company has recognized its responsibility to the men and women in its employ. These men and women have recognized in turn their responsibility to the Company. By loyal, whole-hearted service they have helped it to make better products at lower cost and thus become "a big company."

IMPERIAL OIL LIMITED

THE SIGN OF ★★★ IMPERIAL PRODUCTS A FAIR DEAL

Welcome Newcomers To Stirling Home

Stirling—Miss Thelma Shore spent the week-end in Belleville the guest of Miss Lillian Hagerman.

Mr. O. L. Clote, accompanied by his aunt, Miss M. Vandervoort, left on Sunday for Reston, Ont., where they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Murduff.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Fargey and Rose of Buffalo, N.Y., were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Montgomery on Saturday, June 1st.

Miss Lucille Lawrence returned to Toronto after spending the past few days at her home in Stirling.

Miss Betty Hulin spent the week-end and holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scott at Wellman's Corners.

Miss Lota Campion, Miss Thompson, Mr. E. Ferguson and Mr. Wallace Lawrence, all of Marmora, were among those who attended the party given in honor of Miss Lucille Lawrence at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Heasman on Thursday evening.

On Friday evening, May 31st, a large number of friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McGrath for a surprise party given in their honor at their new home just north of the village. Until recently Mr. and Mrs. McGrath have resided at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. McGrath, on their farm on the Oak Hills. Mr. Frank McGrath will for the future operate the farm formerly owned by the late Mr. John Osborne.

As the friends gathered the first part of the evening was spent in community singing and dancing to the fine music supplied by Percy Brunson and Russel Pitman. During the evening the following address was read by Mrs. Matheson:

Dear Mary and Frank and Ronald,

We have gathered here tonight to spend a social hour with you, and it is with great pleasure that we do so. Very heartily we welcome you to this community. May your lives be filled with health, happiness and prosperity.

We would ask you to accept these small reminders of our esteem and regard. Just as it has given us real enjoyment to give them, may you enjoy using them.

Signed on behalf of the community,

Bill Mosier,
Bill Heath,
Jack Wilson.

After the very pleasant task of opening the many lovely and useful gifts had been completed by the guests of honor, each responded in very fine manner to the address. Several other short and appropriate speeches were also delivered by several other guests. At midnight a very tasty lunch was served with the assistance of the ladies and the remaining part of the evening spent in dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Thompson, accompanied by Mrs. C. W. Thompson, Rev. Robert Thompson and Miss Ruth motored to Toronto on Saturday and were the guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Thompson. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Thompson and Mrs. C. W. Thompson motored to Stirling on Monday. Rev. Robt. Thompson and Miss Ruth returned to Toronto from Ian Williams, Man.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Weaver and son Frank spent Sunday in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Jeffrey and Bobbie were Sunday guests at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jeffrey.

Mr. Harry McPaul spent Sunday in Marmora.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Belshaw and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Stafford Hayle in Picton.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Roblin, Lillian, and Mrs. Carmen Roblin spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Roblin.

Mrs. William Gunning and Vera are spending this week at Mozart's Station.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Grassick (nee Margaret Bailey) who were married in Winnipeg, Manitoba, May 16th, were Monday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Belshaw.

Miss Emma Allen, nurse-in-training of the Belleville General Hospital is spending her vacation at the home of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Middleton.

Mrs. Stanley Roblin and Lillian left Tuesday spend last week at the home of Mr. Roblin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Belshaw.

Mrs. O. Meraw and daughter Theresa of Manitoba are spending a month visiting the former's mother, Mrs. Kerby and other relatives in Ontario.

Mrs. J. Lee of Belleville is spending a week at the home of Mrs. C. W. Thompson.

SIDNEY CROSSING COMMUNITY NOTES

Sidney Crossing—The regular annual cleaning bee was held on Wednesday last. A number of the ladies cleaned Aikins' Church and dining hall.

Miss Edna Wheeler has returned from the Belleville General Hospital, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hogle and Master Garnet May of Belleville, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Sickle, Johnstown.

Mister Garnet May of Belleville, spent the week-end with his grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd King of Wellman's, spent the week-end with the latter's mother, Mrs. G. Dickens and family. Miss Mary Dickens of Belleville O.S.D., also spent the week-end at her home.

Miss Edna Wheeler has returned from the Belleville General Hospital, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hogle and Master Garnet May of Belleville, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Sickle, Johnstown.

Have You Done Your Bit?

Belleville Red Cross

NEED HELP THIS WEEK

A GOOD AND GENEROUS SUPPORT IS ASKED

$900.00 is the Objective

"The measure of your support will determine the measure of the help Red Cross can give in the coming year."

Send contributions to:

J. W. DILLA,
Campaign Treasurer.
37 Campbell St.

I. G. HEFKEY,
President

MRS. STUART LAZIER,
Vice-President.

Fur Storage

Telephone 421

Woodley's Furriers

Personals

Mr. & J. Colley of Montreal was a guest over the holiday of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Mulligan.

Mrs. May Wilson, of Hamilton, is visiting in the city due to the illness of her mother, Mrs. Hamilton, Mary Street.

Mrs. Roy Blakely and son, Clarence, spent the week-end at Smith's Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Acton Ingleton, Kingston, are spending holiday with relatives in the city.

Miss Edna Taylor, 54 Crier St., was operated on for appendicitis at Belleville Hospital Sunday, and is doing fine.

Mrs. Clarence Arnott and Master Jimmie, and Mrs. Harold Arnott and Helen, are visiting Mrs. Lloyd Monday with Mrs. Arnold Pettit, Shannonville.

Colonel W. N. Foston, M.A., attended the final meeting of the Senate of the University of Toronto on Saturday, when the graduates in Arts this year in Douglas Glasgrave, B.A., son of Venerable Archdeacon and Mrs. Glasgrave of Peterborough. Mr. Glasgrave is a grandson of Colonel Foston.

Over the week-end the Most Reverend Derwyn T. Owen, Archbishop of Toronto, and Primate of Canada was the guest of the Ven. Archdeacon R. C. Blagrave, D.D., and Mrs. Blagrave at St. John's Rectory, Peterborough. Archbishop Owen confirmed a class of candidates at St. John's on Sunday.

Mrs. G. H. Scott and Mrs. R. J. Carr were hostesses at the Belleville Golf Club tea this afternoon.

The ladies who will represent the Women's Association of Belleville United Churches at the convention in Wellington tomorrow include Mrs. Harry Hobbs, Mrs. A. F. Lester and Miss Dickens from Bridge Street; Mrs. R. E. Newman and Mrs. J. Waddell, Holloway Street; Mrs. F. B. Fairy, John Street, and Mrs. C. P. Lent and Mrs. A. Mayler, Tabernacle Church. Mrs. Newman will be charge of all the devotional period in the afternoon.

Miss Elaine Clarke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Clarke, Charles Street, who has been studying singing at St. Hilda's College, Toronto, during the past year, has returned to her home here for the vacation.

Mr. T. Howard Clarke, of London, Ontario, who has been associated with the Government Biological Laboratory, Dundas street, during the past few summers, has graduated at Western University, London, in Medicine and has received his degree as Doctor. Dr. Clarke carried off high honors and won awards. He is to a large number of citizens known to a large number of citizens.

A very successful euchre was held Tuesday evening at St. George's, Station Street, under the auspices of the teachers. The prize-winners were: Ladies' first, Mrs. Moon; second, Mrs. McGee; third, Mrs. Jones; men's first, Mr. Grey; second Mr. Mott; third, Mr. Moon. The door prize was won by Mrs. Moon. A dainty lunch was served after the cards.

BISHOP LEA ADDRESSES W. A. OF CHRIST CHURCH

The Right Rev. Arthur Lea, of Japan, gave an informal talk to the W. A. of Christ Church yesterday at Mrs. Vanvorvoort's home. Speaking of his journey from Asia to England where he recuperated then on to the United States and Canada, he expressed the thought that in our beloved Canada during this stress there is loyalty, freedom, courage and Christianity. The Bishop was accompanied by his two daughters and his chaplain, the Rev. Alfred Clark and Mrs. Clark, his sister, of East Haven, Conn.

L.D.A. KIDNEY PILLS

An efficient diuretic and kidney stimulant

at Fills to the box ... 29c

L.D.A. DRUG STORES

HONOR ROLL

HONOR ROLL FOR MONTH OF MAY, QUEEN MARY SCHOOL.

Jr. IV—Bruce Crook, Heather Dodds, Ruth Oliphant, Betty Shier, Jean Sharpe, Olive Frailck, Spence Wormwood, Katherine Winters, Winfred Wood.

Everett S. Fairman.

Jr. IV—Norrene Frederick, Billie Bennison, Norman Bateman, Elsie Sprung, Stewart Hibbard, Mike Rickenstorfer, Lorne Colborne, Seth Colley, Harry Kirk, Mary Campbell, Billie Kyle, Fred Gordon, Isabel Dalziel.

Sr. III—Bobby Dack, Clarence Cook, Teddy Dotts.

F. M. Sullivan.

Sr. III—June Crosby, Barbara Green, Phyllis Gibson, Herbert Middleton.

Jr. III—Fred Poole, Barbara Thomson, Gordon Post.

Lillian M. Hart.

Jr. III—Lois Liddle, Marie Lashbrook, Nadine Hall, Corinne Wahlley, Margaret Middleton, Ilene Bower, Margaret Rawson, Rose Cassie, Nina Pilgrimson, Helen Salisbury, Ruth Wise, Marie Lusk, Barbara Lloyd, Miriam Pilgrimson, Irene Rainey.

R. W. Ketcheson.

Jr. III—Artie Gilbert.

Class II—Betty Armstrong, Helen Brown, Helen Miles, Mary Kyle, Ryteilla Munro, (Jack Magee and David Marcus equal), Harry Denlis.

F. Carr.

Second Book—Vincent Massey, Norman Bowler, Florence Potter, Maida Woodley, Bernice Cook, Joan Lashbrook.

First Book—Kenneth Hall, Leon Spafford, Joe Burns.

O. Hiscn.

First Book—Betty Joss, George Blakley, Jean Ingram, Winnifred Edward, Jean Harris, Jean Corr, Dorothy Brown, Earl Woodley, Lois Kellaway, Helen McKeown, Bruce Lowery.

Senior Primer—Robert Smith, Stephen Genaja.

E. Styles.

First A—Muriel Taylor, Noreen Moreau, (Stuart Blake and Ronald Rayner equal), (Lawrence Watson and Gordon Wilkin equal), Leonard O'Neill, Elinor Waddell. Earl Ostrum.

B—Billy Dugnan, Ethel Ling, Frances DeLong, Gerald Smith, Bertice Cunningham, Bob Orr.

C—(Jack Carswell and Lois Clarke equal), Eugene Johnson, George Barlow, Mary Spafford, Beatrice Zebedee.

J. Craighead.

Primary Classes "A" Sr.—Kenneth Byles, Scott Denton, Teddy Thrasher, Shirley Bunnell, Douglas Buck, Roy Bower, Bob Vaughan, Jack Chilson.

"A"—Jr.—Hazel Brooks, Douglas Cooke, Shirley Hill, Marjorie Ashton, Betty McCoy, Pauline Hollingstone, Kenneth Woodley, George Zebedee, Lorna Patrick.

"B"—Billy Dack, Alec Shute, "C"—Jean Lindsay, Jean Arnold Fralick.

"D"—Marie Massey, Ramon Walmsley, Douglas Rogers, John Munro, Bruce Wahlley.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA

HONOUR ROLL FOR MAY

First Book Class I—Ruth Bleeks, Norman Hazard, Margaret Williams equal Betty Donnery, Ethel Smith, Phyllis Elliott, Joe Kennedy, Frederick Miles equal, Donald Beavis.

First Book Class II—Betty Calvert, Evelyn Stevens, Lois Caldwell.

Senior Primer, Class III—Rose Woodcock, Wilvert Carter, Pearl Dafoe, Marietta Sandercock, Vira Shortis.

Jr. Primer, Class IV— Wilbert Sherry, Jim Rushbrook, Jr. Hallow, Frank Rushbrook, Ruth Pinnar.

Class V—Howard Martin, Bobby Douglas, Betty Holmes, Shirley McGuire, Carole Loomer, Barbara Hanna, John Dafoe.

A. M. MacKay, teacher.

First Book Class I — Norman Meyers, Carolyn Morden, Kingsley Farmer, Dorothy Wallace, Charlotte Finkle, John Rollins.

Class II — June Ostrom, Bert Price, Leo. Rushbow, Daisy Barclays, Carmel May.

Class III—Peggy Sandford, Harry Abbey, Bruce Diamond, Annevs Dracup, Mollie McIntosh, Ross Watson, Muriel Rushbow.

Primer Class I—Beatrice Hodgkinson, Kenneth Woods, Marie Richardson.

Class II —Isabel Armitage, Billy Pappas, Tom Parks.

Class III—Bobby Cook, Jimmy Fry, Lois Greenleaf.

L. M. Aull, teacher.

Junior II—Barbara Ann Michael, Barbara Reid, Billie Sandler, Helen Bateman, Bobby Dickens, Allan McKenna, Flossie Barriage, Mary Bowler.

Senior I.— Donald Taylor, Gwen McIntosh, Billy Stephenson, Barbara Cook.

Helen A. Potter, teacher.

Senior II—Muriel Hibbert, Margaret Miller, Dorothy Gordon, Mildred Newton, Jane Weller, Ethel Jeffery, Phillip Wills.

Junior II—Joan Hamilton, Marjorie Hollis, Margaret Ann McGuire, Cecil Pradette, Elfreda Monk, Jack Musgrave, Barbara Read, Andrew Rodgers.

Senior I—Helen Liddle, Florence Newton, Helen Kellar, Fays Rushbow, Charlie Bulpitt.

Phyllis Clemence, teacher.

Senior II—Dorcas Bird, Willis Hutchinson, Lois Meyers, Barbara Rankin, Jean Williamson, Teddy Licence, June Donooly, Margaret Bentley, Betty Rosevear, Lillian Cornell, Pearl Carr, Tacky Laskaris, Reta Hollins, Gordon Bankler.

Esther Cook, teacher.

Senior II—Jean Meyers, Muriel Semple, Doris Hanna, Hilcen Cameron, Jack Preston, Meriseth Hobbs, Eleanor Sandercock, Mary Flintoft and Doris Foster are equal; Joan Pendall, Henry McMillan and Norma Finch are equal; Lois Cockburn, Jean Watson and Sam Lasker are equal; Ronald Shortis, Joyce Morton and Myles Morton are equal; Barbara Greenleaf, Clifford Cook.

Lillian M. McGuire, teacher.

Junior III—Kenny Davis, Blanche McSkrien, Jean Freeman, Bruce McCrory, Pauline Rushbow and Pauline Rushlow are equal; Bobbie McCrory.

D. Young teacher

Senior III—Dorothy Taylor, Nilda Harvey, Kathleen Reeves, Frank Stokes, Wilma Clarke.

Junior III—Kane Dumberry, David Smith, Armstrong Boyle, Elinor Finkle, Dean Wilson, June Dafoe, Ivy Armitage, Grace Stewart, Peg Mountain, Jean Mosson.

Kathleen E. MacPherson, teacher

Senior III—Helen Douglas, Gerald Hyde, Phyllis Clapp, Patricia Caldwell, Betty Cormier, Douglas Latimer, Helen Rankin, Evelyn Johnson, John Legate, Ronald Calbury, Laurence Cook, Betty Cook, Berniece Gordon, Marion Greenleaf.

Helen M. Beatty, teacher.

Senior Third—Shirley Wood, Lillian Krech, Esther Kroon, William Conley, Elsie Van Luxemburgh, Margaret Harvey, Charles Lyall, Margaret Semple.

Junior Fourth—Eugene Illsey, Ralph Graham, Walter Hutchinson.

M. Cunningham, teacher.

Junior IV — Elaine Cook, Lois Sandler, Betty Clarke, Margaret Dooley, Dick Spalding, Irving Kroon, Joyce Watson, Roy Pearson, Jean Ostberg.

G. J. C. Wallace, teacher.

MISS M. C. YOUNG WILL BECOME B. PAED.

Former Belleville Teacher Is Recommended For Degree

Miss Madeline C. Young of Toronto, formerly of Belleville, has been recommended for the degree of Bachelor of Pedagogy in the College of Education, University of Toronto. Miss Young's name also appears in the list of those who have passed the examination in educational administration.

Miss Young is a Belleville girl who has made brilliant progress as teacher, and instructor as well as in the study of pedagogy. She graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Arts from McMaster University and was for some time on the staff of Albert College. For several years Miss Young was head of the English department at Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School. She took a deep interest in dramatics at the Collegiate and in the work of the Literary Society.

After receiving the degree of Master of Arts at Columbia University, Miss Young was appointed to the staff of Toronto Normal School and is at present master in the English department.

W. C. A.

The regular monthly meeting of W.C.A. was held in Council Chambers of City Hall on June 4th at 2.30 p.m. with the President, Mrs. Bell in the chair. Mrs. Dolan was appointed lady on duty at the Home for June.

Belleville Home for the Aged donation for May 1935. Mr. Julian Chapter 1 O.D.E.: tobacco and cigarettes, twice, Mrs. F. Coon, Hemmeter, Mrs. Purdy, canned fruit, Mrs. Merry, basket of potatoes, Bethel Church ladies, fresh fruit, Jello, potatoes and bread, Mrs. Schuster, basket cut flowers.

Services for May, 1935.

Rob. Mc Newman

May 4th—No service.

May 11th—Rev. Mr. Newman.

May 18th—No service.

May 25th—Rev. Mr. Newman.

May 27th—Rev. Mr. Newman.

WEEKLY NOTES FROM CENTRE

Centre—Mrs. Frymer and Ruth of Redneraville visited Mrs. Frymer's parents.

Mrs. Ridley Anderson spent the dinner hour on Friday with Mrs. Beatrice Jones of Redneraville.

Mr. Don Morgan called Thursday evening at Mr. Elgin Sellery's.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stone called at Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Mohee's last Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Pringleberry of Detroit spent a couple of days last week at Mr. Wellington Howell's.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Nobes and baby called on Mr. and Mrs. James Barker, Friday evening.

114 BODIES RECOVERED

Mexico, D. F., June 5 (AP)—The bodies of 114 victims of the floods which swept parts of the mining village of San Pedro and surrounding communities were identified today.

Officials said there was little prospect the exact number who perished in Monday's disaster ever would be known.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 5 — (CP)—First strawberries of the season are reported here this week. The berries are the "Senator" variety, large, well ripened and have a delicious flavor. This is the earliest in several years strawberries have been picked.

Halifax, June 5 (CP)—Bruce Mansell, 16-year-old schoolboy living almost 24 hours aboard a small sailing craft, was believed lost today. He borrowed the yacht from a friend yesterday, and was to have returned with it at nightfall but he was not seen after noon.

FUR Clearance SALE

EVERY GARMENT ORDERED SOLD

• MUST MAKE SPACE FOR NEW STOCK •

Priced to Clear—Free Storage

• Summer Budget Plan if Desired. No Extra Cost •

MUSKRATS	HUDSON SEALS	BROADTAILS
Sizes 14-20	(dyed muskrat) Sizes 14 to 42	Black, brown, grey Sizes 14 to 18
$97 to $169	$197 to $395	$89 to $189

BROADTAIL MUSKRAT CONEY GREY KID 12 Coats in this group

YOUR CHOICE $49.50

FRENCH SEAL CARACUL PAW MOCK PLANK MUSKRAT 15 Coats in this group

MODEL COATS Made, Record, Alaska Seal, Natural Lamb, White Squirrel, Hudson Seal, Caracul, Mink Marmot. $119 to $235

$69.00 buys Brown or Grey BROADTAILS Sizes 14 to 18

Persian Lambs 279.00 cannot be repeated at these prices in standard skins.

DELANEY EXCLUSIVE FURRIERS

Phone 797 17 CAMPBELL ST. Established 23 years.

J. GORDON DELANEY, Manager.

The House of Quality. The Lowest in Price.

Watch Holway Bros.

?

Forced to Raise $5000.00 Cash and the Prices Are Telling the Story

Hundreds of Thrifty Shoppers have been taking advantage of the tremendous Savings being offered in this most dramatic Selling event.

KROCH BROS. FACED WITH A MOST EMBARRASSING PROBLEM AND USING EVERY POSSIBLE MEANS TO TURN STOCK INTO CASH AT ONCE.

Selling Now in Full Force . . . Entire High Grade Stock of Coats and Dresses Being Sacrificed as Never Before.

THURSDAY EARLY MORNING SPECIAL Another lovely one for

DRESSES $1.00

EVERY SALE FINAL Limit one to a customer NO TRY-ONS

HERE IS A RED HOT SPECIAL IN

COATS

Our regular $14.95 to $15.00 Values going at $5.00

NEW WHITE Crepe Hats $1.00

OTHER Coat Special Reg. Value $25.00 at $10.00

DRESSES Just arrived a special shipment New Printed and Pastel shades. Values reg. to $6.00 ARE GOING AT $2.88

DRESSES Regular Values up to $18.00 All sizes

$4.84

A GROUP OF DRESSES Big Value. Specially priced.

$3.79

Kroch Bros.

247 FRONT STREET BELLEVILLE

Better DRESSES CHIFFON AND CREPE In the latest designs and colors. At Reduced Prices

$10.95 & $12.95

NEW Felt Hats $1.49

H. LOVIBOND ADDRESSES Y.P.S., MOUNT PLEASANT

Rawdon, June 5—Mr. John Osgoode, opened Mount Pleasant Young People's Society on Friday evening. Mr. Irvin Reid gave a splendid devotional talk on the subject: "What You do in Your Leisure Hours." Mr. Reid's addresses pe ing plans were made to write the members of Sydenham Y.P.S. to pay a friendly visit.

Miss Mildred Sharp read the Bible lesson and Mrs. John Reid gave a vocal solo with harp accompaniment.

The guest speaker Mr. Harry Lovibond of Stirling chose as his theme "Success." He said success is not measured by dollars and cents or the accumulation of property, but rather it is measured by what you have received. In a graphic picture he pointed out the success of such men as Edison, who have accomplished much for the good of humanity.

Mr. Lovibond then he turned to the highlights of Lindbergh with "The Spirit of St. Louis" and Sir Malcolm Campbell and his record car, in connection with these two men he pointed out that it was not that an average man who built both car and plane. The world today would achieve very little if it depends for the brain power expended by the workmen who plan and build these masterpieces and then some other individual drives his way through to success.

Words of appreciation were extended Mr. Lovibond for his kindly address. Miss Edna Thrasher contributed a piano solo. The service closed with "Abide With Me" and a "Rainbow" contest.

Mrs. Charles Sharp and grandson Master Douglas Miller spent a day last week at the home of Mr. Ernest Cronkwright, Thurlow.

Master Ralph McMullen spent Sunday with his father at Springbrook.

Mrs. Clarence Runnalls entertained a few friends to a quilting it being the occasion of her birthday.

Mrs. W. H. Brady of Toronto, has been visiting her father, Mr. John Thompson.

Miss Grace Dayman spent a recent week-end with friends at Norwood.

Mr. and Mrs. David Tucker have returned to their home in Rawdon, having spent the winter months with their daughter, Mrs. Owen in New York, U.S.A.

Mr. Ernest Adams of Toronto, visited his wife at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Heath over the week end.

Carmel Women's Association held their May meeting at the home of Mrs. Hattie Hubble with a good attendance.

Rawdon friends extend heartiest congratulations to Mr. Clifford Holmes in having been successful in passing his test examinations at Peterboro' Normal thus eliminating the worry of trying the trials. Clifford arrived home on Wednesday evening May 29th. We understand that Clifford was one of five pupils out of a class of one hundred and fifty who achieved this high standing.

The pupils of the Allan School enjoyed a half holiday on Monday afternoon.

A large number of fans journeyed to Glen Ross on Friday evening and enjoyed a good game of softball. Mount Pleasant boys returned home victorious with a score of 12-11 The lineups for Mount Pleasant: Clifford Holmes c, Kenneth Holmes p, Clifford McKeown 1b, Bert Jeffs 2b, Charlie Dunkley 3b, Herb Hicks ss, Harold Hagerman cf, Herbert Smith lf, Carleton Potts rf.

Mr and Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Eileen and Ormsi visited Mr. and Mrs. James MacMullen and Mrs. E. MacMullen, Springbrook on Sunday.

Mr. Jim Broad and sister Hattie of Massassaga, were guests of their cousins Mr. and Mrs. John Holmes and family on Sunday.

Rawdon friends were delighted to see Mrs. F. C. Joblin attended conference sessions at Peterborough this week and on Sunday the regular services were cancelled. However, Sunday School was held in the various appointments.

Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler co-star for the first time in "Go Into Your Dance," the Warner Bros. musical-dramatic hit. They are supported by Helen Morgan, Glenda Farrell, Patsy Kelly, Benny Rubin and other notables. It opens tomorrow at the Capitol Theatre.

Cosmetics don't injure Peggy's skin

She removes make-up thoroughly—guards against COSMETIC SKIN...

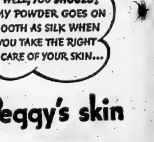
PEGGY; Come along, Mr. Powder Puff, you're a real pal to me—

PUFF: Sure I am now. But in the old days—

PEGGY: I'd put on fresh make-up without getting old make-up out of my pores—

PUFF: Jump into bed with make-up on, too.

PEGGY: What chances I took then!



PUFF: Now you're removing stale cosmetics the modern way—with Lux Toilet Soap.

PEGGY: Sure—I'm taking no more chances. No ugly Cosmetic Skin for me!

Lux Toilet Soap is made to remove every trace of dust, dirt and stale cosmetics. It is ACTIVE lather sinks deep into the pores. 846 out of 857 leading English and Hollywood stars use this safe economical care. Why not try it tonight?

"I use cosmetics, of course, but I never have a sign of Cosmetic Skin. I use Lux Toilet Soap."

LUX TOILET SOAP

Binnie Barnes
ENGLISH STAR OF UNIVERSAL PICTURES

Business Directory

AUTO LOANS
AND REFINANCING
Direct with Office in Toronto
J. J. FISHER & SON
10 Bridge St. East Phone 3-3
Campbell Auto Finance Co. Ltd.
Toronto — Ottawa — London — Windsor

CHIROPRACTOR
R. A. WYATT, Ph.C., CHIROPRACTOR and Drugless Therapist. Radiation, examinations and treatments. Consultation 3c. Scoliosis and heart-specialty. Office hours 9-12, 2-5. Evenings by appointment only. Special attention to children. Consultation free. Many operations on Coleman street, Belleville, phone 90.

VERA B. FITZGERAL, CHIROPRACTOR, cor. of E. Phone 3-3. Sheffield Block, Dundas and Front streets. Ultra-violet and Infra-Red Ray Therapy. Clinical Treatments. 424 Bridge St. E., Belleville. Open. Phone 1254.

DENTIST
DR. ROST. H. EMPSON
DENTIST
X-Ray
Phone 3-3

RADIO SERVICE
JOHN A. DEWAR
RADIO TECHNICIAN
Registered — Graduate
162 John St. Phone 277

SURVEYORS
FRASER AYLESWORTH
Ontario Land Surveyor and Registered Professional Civil Engineer. Land Surveys, Plans, Reports, Valuations promptly attended to.
Phone 3-3. P. O. BOX 49
MADOC, ONT.

INSURANCE
Protect yourself against accidents with our Automobile Insurance
SANDY BURROWS
and
HOWARD FROST
Life and Fire Insurance
201 Front St. Phone 130

HALL & EARLE
General Insurance, Fire, Automobile, Accident and Plate Glass
324 Front St. Phone 1154-W

STOCKS & BONDS
EDGAR AND CRAWFORD, MEMBERS of Toronto Stock Exchange. Private Wire to N. Y. Curb. Belleville Office: 203 Front St.

LEGAL
WALLBRIDGE, CAMERON AND CO. Barristers, etc. to the late F. S. Wallbridge, K.C. Solicitors for the Bank of Nova Scotia. Money to loan. Dominion Bank Building, corner Front and Bridge streets, Belleville, Ontario.

MALCOLM MURPHY, BARRISTER, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. 10 Campbell St., Belleville.

T. Y. WILLS, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Notary Public, etc. 14 Campbell St., Belleville. Telephone 3-3.

FORSTER, PAYNE AND ARNOTT, Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public, etc. Solicitors for the Bank of Montreal. 19 Front St., Belleville.

FOSTER AND ANGLIN, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Commissioners, etc. Solicitors for the Bank of Montreal, Money to loan at lowest rates. K. C. Masters, K.C. H. J. R. Graham. Office: Belleville.

DONEGAN AND BUTLER, B. C. Donegan, K.C., B. G. Butler, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Solicitors for the Canadian Bank of Commerce. Money to loan. Belleville, Ont. Phone 238.

Fine Brick House
Excellent stables and about seven acres of good land.
For Sale
On Moira River, near Lazier's Old Mill, Canniton Road. Residence of the late Geo. I. Thomas.
LOW PRICE
BELLEVILLE LOCATORS
Geo. N. Gorman, Prop.
166 Front St.
Phone 39 Home Phone 347

BUY NOW AND MAKE WORK

PHONE 99 Classified Ad. Rates

SOCIAL NOTICES—Births, 25c; Marriages, $1.00; Deaths, $1.00; Cards of Thanks, $1.00; Resolutions of Sympathy, $2.00; Memorials, $2.00; Notices of Meetings, $1.00 and up; Lodge Notices, $1.00 and up; Obituaries, $2.00 and up; Funeral Notices, $1.00 and up.
CLASSIFIED — One cent, three lines, 25c per issue. Additional lines, 3c per issue.
DISPLAY — Commercial rates on application.
CONTRACT RATES — Quoted on application.
BIRTH NOTICES—No per insertion for first 3 lines, 25c per insertion for each additional 3 lines.
MARRIAGE NOTICES—Free when accompanied by full particulars.
DEATH NOTICES—No per insertion for first 3 lines, 25c per insertion for each additional 3 lines.
IN MEMORIAM NOTICES—Minimum charge, $1.00. Over 4 lines, 25c per line.
CARD OF THANKS—Minimum charge, $1.00. Over 4 lines, 25c per line.
OFFICIAL MUNICIPAL AND GOVERNMENT NOTICES—Rates on application.
CLASSIFIED DISPLAY—Rates per agate line (14 lines to inch) for first insertion, 10c per line per insertion thereafter.
ACCOUNTS due and payable net, heading to count as 12 words minimum. All words to be paid for unless in ounces. No per word.

An initial or figure counts as one word.
In calculating allow five words to the line.
Telephone Advertisements will be in more convenient. PHONE 99.
The Ontario Intelligencer will not be responsible for more than one insertion of an incorrect ad. unless it is in words.
Advertisers may have their replies addressed to a box number, care of the Ontario Intelligencer.

WANTED

JOB ON FARM BY YOUNG MAN WHO is willing to work for small wages and board. Apply Ontario Intelligencer. 72-21

SMALL USED CAR, CHEAP FOR CASH. Give particulars. Box "C" Ontario Intelligencer. 73-14

PROPERTIES WANTED

HAVE YOU THE USE OF A CAR? IF so, you can open a wide territory as we require a man with car. No selling. Permanent position. Write Box 1, Ontario Intelligencer. 73-21

WANTED TO BUY—A GOOD USED Oak parlor suite. Apply Box 30 Napanee Beaver. 73-21

MEN WANTED

MEN WANTED IMMEDIATELY IN every city, town, country in Hastings, county, to take orders for our Hosiery, underwear, household products, pedlar-Hosiery can make you $50 weekly. Write Dominion Hosiery Co., Limited, 1 Mount Royal Ave., Montreal. 73-21 2 9 10

OLD FASHIONED NARROW SOFA — with Bed. Apply Ontario Intelligencer. 74-21

AGENT WANTED TO REPRESENT US in Belleville and district for the sale of wicks and oils to manufacturing plants, garages, offices, etc., on a commission basis. Give full particulars to Wipes & Waste Products, Ltd., 371 Notre Dame West, Montreal. 74-21

MAN WANTED FOR RELIEF-SALE—TO handle Watt's Quality Line Coal, Coke, Coque, Stoves, Ranges, Toilet Preparations direct to established trade. Also opening in Prince Rupert County. Apply to Watt Bros. Ltd., 1 Ward Company, John South, Hamilton. 74-21

TO LET

HOUSE, WEST DONALD STREET. Apply to William Bleecker, next door to R. Bleecker's residence, 75 Dundas St. Campbell St., Belleville.

SUITE OF UNFURNISHED ROOMS to let. Apply Intelligencer. 73-tf

3 Metre street cast. 73-tf

ONE HEATED FURNISHED FRONT Bedroom. Phone 3-3. Apply 274 George street. 73-21

SUMMER COTTAGES, DOMINION Beach, Prinyer, Sidney, Ontario. Phone 260. 73-21

HOUSE, PRINCESS STREET, FIRST door north of Bridge. Apply to Mrs. Victoria avenue. Phone 736-F. 74-tf

TWO UNFURNISHED HOUSES, 6 rooms, bathroom, hardwood floors, newly decorated throughout, electric range and refrigerator. Apply 178 Pinnacle street. 74-21

IN WEST SIDE AREA, MODERN SEMI-detached house, 5 rooms, bathroom, hardwood floors, garage. Apply at once. Apply 26 Grove street. 73-tf

TWO COTTAGES AT OAK LAKE FOR-rest, furnished, to rent. R. Bell Ewart, Shilling. Phone 87. 73-21

SUMMER COTTAGE—MODERN, 6 rooms furnished, wonderful sandy beach, privy lane, boating, bathing and tentsites reserved, 26 miles from Belleville on the Lake Ontario Shore, by month or season. Write Box 1, Ontario Intelligencer. 73-21

SEVERAL UNFURNISHED, HEATED apartments. All conveniences. 207 Dundas street. Apply on premises. 207-tf

APARTMENT HEATED AND FURNISHED or partly furnished for light housekeeping. Apply 178 Pinnacle. 73-tf

MEDIUM SIZED APARTMENT, HEATED, hardwood floors, electric range and refrigerator. Apply at once. Apply Ontario Intelligencer. Phone 99. 73-tf

FOR SALE

CHOICE ASPARAGUS ROOTS, MARY Washington variety. Wm. Rowland, Consecon, Ont. 73-21

16' SKIFF AND 14' LIGHT ROWING Boat, practically new, cheap for quick sale. Apply Ontario Intelligencer. 73-21

LOT FOR SALE. APPLY 13 EVERETT street. 73-21

THRESHABLE RESCK MIXTURE, 45 BUSH-land avenue. See S. A. Lockwood, corner of overhangs for limestone. 73-21

TRADE-IN BARGAINS—ELECTRIC RE-frigerator, Belleville, $110; coal and wood Electric washer, nearly new, $50; Electric washer, $30. Terms. Apply Ontario Intelligencer. 73-21

ONE GERRARD HEINTZMAN PIANO like new. Will sell cheap for cash. Write Box "O" Ontario Intelligencer. 73-21

BELLEVILLE MADOC BUS

Leaves Madoc ..... 9.30 a.m.
Leaves Belleville .. 5.30 p.m.
Daily Except Sunday
Parcel Express
PHONE 1346

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Mrs. Murray wish to thank their friends and neighbors for kindness and sympathy during their recent bereavement for the memorial floral tributes and acts of care. 73-21

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Mrs. Alvina Palmer wish to thank their friends and neighbors for kindness and sympathy extended to them in their recent bereavement. Also for floral tributes and acts of care. 73-21

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Leonard Wilson wish to express their appreciation to the Doctors and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy shown them during recent and bereavement. They are especially grateful to Mr. Young for his lovely basket cars for the funeral. 73-14

BIRTH

BATEMAN—At the Belleville General Hospital on Monday, June 3, 1935, to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bateman, (nee Hazel Elliott), 296 Coleman street, a son (still born). 73-21

DIED

RICHARDS—On June 4 in the Belleville General Hospital, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Richards, a daughter. 73-14

DIED

ELLIS—At the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Harry Cumberland, on the 10th concession of Thurlow, on Tuesday, June 4, 1935, Walter Ellis, in his 90th year.
Funeral will take place from the above residence on Thursday, June 6, to Rosehill Cemetery. Friends please accept this intimation. 73-21

DIED

MORAN—In Los Angeles on Friday, June 31st, 1935, Mary Ann Moran, wife of Mr. John Moran, 614 E. Third street, Los Angeles, Cal., and daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Purcell, Sr., Tyendinaga Township.
Funeral service Tuesday, June 4, at 2 p.m. from the residence of Mrs. Moran. Body will be temporarily interred in the vault in Belleville cemetery. Private and burial at a later date in Bury's Green cemetery, Tyendinaga. Toronto, Oakland, Canada.

DIED

WOOD—In Black River, N.Y., at the home of her son, Mr. Ernest Wood, Mundeyeve, on Tuesday, June 4, 1935, Mary Ann Wood, widow of Mr. Thomas Wood, in her 86th year.
Funeral will take place on Friday, June 7, from the Belleville Burial Service, 203 Front street, at 2 p.m. Interment Belleville cemetery. 73-21

TICKELL & BROWNE
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
We Serve for Less
FUNERAL HOME
Corner Church St. and Victoria Ave. Phone 2222

BELLEVILLE BURIAL COMPANY
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
24 Hour Ambulance Service
Phone 176-W Day and Night
J. W. BELAH
Proprietor
Successors Crydon Bros. Ltd.

Thomas O. Thompson
Funeral Director
Funeral Home
36 Everett St. Phone 42
Office
203, Front St. Phone 42

PERSONAL
KIPPS UNEQUALLED HERB TABLETS good for constipation and Biliousness. 50 tablets 50c. Druggists.

MORTGAGE SALE

UNDER AND BY VIRTUE of the Power of Sale contained in a certain Mortgage which will be produced at the time of Sale, there will be offered for Sale by GEORGE C. TICE, Auctioneer, at the Auction Rooms, on Friday, the fourteenth day of June, 1935, at the hour of two o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular those certain parcels of land and premises situate, lying and being in the Township of Thurlow, in the County of Hastings, and Province of Ontario, and being composed of Lot No. 4 in the Second Concession of the said Township, one-third of the west half of said Lot No. 4 in the Second Concession of the said Township, containing 100 acres of land more or less, and Lot No. 4 on the north-east corner of Lot No. 4 in the Second Concession of the said Township, containing 100 acres of land more or less, save and except the quantity described in Deed registered as No. 4000 and also save and except the quantity conveyed to the Lake Ontario Cement Company, Limited, and also save and except all that parcel of the north end of Lot No. 4 in the Second Concession of the said Township of Thurlow, more particularly described in Deed No. 8782 in Book No. 182 Registry Office for Hastings, save and except all that parcel of land described in Deed No. 8783 in Book No. 182 Registry Office for Hastings, save and except all that parcel of land described in Deed No. 8784 in Book No. 182 Registry Office for Hastings.
THERE PARCELS TOGETHER CONTAIN by admeasurement 100 acres of land more or less.
At the same time and place under the authority of a chattel mortgage, there will be offered for Sale by Public Auction:
1 bay mare; 1 black mare; 1 spotted (steer); 1 cultivator; 1 finishing harrow; 1 set of harness; 1 set of single harness; 1 walking plow; 1 Deering binder; 1 Deering mower; 1 Deering rake; 1 grind stone; 1 set of scales; 1 fanning mill; 1 set of sleighs; 1 Deering mower; 1 set of sleighs.
On the said farm there is said to be a good frame house and other ancillary farm buildings.
The Sale will be sold subject to a reserve bid.
TERMS OF SALE OF LAND—Ten per cent. of the purchase money to be paid down at the time of sale and the balance within thirty days.
TERMS OF SALE OF CHATTELS—Cash.
For further particulars and conditions of sale apply to
GEORGE C. TICE,
Auctioneer,
East Block, Parliament Bldgs.,
Toronto, Ontario.
Solicitor to the Mortgagee.
DATED at Toronto this 27th day of May, A.D. 1935. M29 J5 12

BELLEVILLE
Exhibition Grounds
TENDERS WANTED

Sealed tenders will be received up to 1 p.m. June 20th by the undersigned for the following improvements to Exhibition grounds:—repairs to Roof, Parapet Walls, also painting windows, etc., Agricultural School—repairs to Roof, and painting Dairy Building—repairs to Roof, painting interior of five classrooms also concrete floor, Horse Barn—repairs to Roof, Poultry Building—repairs to Roof, Education Room 112, Collegiate. J5-21

TO RENT OR FOR SALE

FURNISHED COTTAGE AT OAK LAKE. Garage, boat and its supply included. Apply to Mrs. Ethel Hamilton, 1 Victoria Ave., Hamilton, Ont. J4-21

FOR SALE OR RENT

TWO COTTAGES AT OAK LAKE. O. H. Lucy and Son, Shilling, Ont. J3 11

FOR SALE OR RENT

FURNISHED SUMMER COTTAGE ON bay shore near Belleville. Will rent for season or sell reasonably. Phone 3-3. J3-21

AUCTION SALE

Auction Sale of the entire contents of 20 cottages on June 7, 1935, 1 p.m. at Massassaga Point Beach, Parrying Place street, Belleville.
J. E. Graham, Auctioneer.
Norman Montgomery, Auctioneer, 183 Wellington St., Belleville.
Phone 1170. M31 J5 5

GETTING READY FOR THE GREATEST TEST OF THEIR CAREERS

JOE LOUIS

Here are the two gladiators who meet in New York on June 25 in what is expected to be one of the best heavyweight fights in years. Joe Louis, Detroit's Dark Dynamiter, whose sensational rise has been the envy of all the boxing experts, will face his biggest test when he meets the mammoth Carnera.

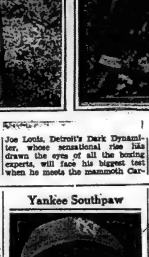
PRIMO CARNERA

Primo is fighting for his future—another chance at the championship crown or oblivion. The pair are photographed as they settle into training.

PENNANT RACE REAL HOT ONE

The hottest pennant race in years goes on in the International League with the team continuing to shift their standings in the battle for play-off and pay-off first division.

The Buffalo Bisons who were idle yesterday, put their game with the Montreal Royals being postponed because of wet grounds, still lead the pack by being two and a half games ahead of Montreal and Baltimore Orioles who are tied for second. Close behind the first three are the Toronto Maple Leafs, Newark Bears and Syracuse Chiefs. Five games separating the sixth place Chiefs from the first place Bisons.



Tuesday Toronto hopped back into the first division by taking advantage of John Gerry's wildness to beat Rochester 5-2. Gerry issued seven walks and hit three batters. This plus a mix-up between Carey and Mills on a fly ball gave the Leafs four of their five runs. Whitey Hilcher, Leaf hurler, was nicked for nine hits but was stingy when men were on the paths.

The Albany Senators chalked up their second straight victory over the Syracuse Chiefs and their third in a row last night scoring twice in the tenth inning to win out 8 to 4. It was the second time this season that the Senators had won three straight, their high mark of the year. Eddie Albosch's double after Bud Hafey had singled scored the deciding run. Pitcher Brandon added another two base hit scoring Albosch for good measure.

Newark and Baltimore battled way into the night before the Bears succumbed 5-3. Five runs in the last three Orioles hurlers saw action in the slugfest. A total of 37 hits were made by the two teams including six homers. Georges (Pooch) Puccinelli added two more circuit clouts his collection and increased it to 22. Vince Barton and Eddie Mayo got one more each for the Birds and Don Heffner and Bernie Ness connected for the Bears. With their defeat the Bears dropped out of the first division while the victory of the Orioles moved them into their tie for second with Montreal.

Belleville
TENDERS WANTED

Sealed tenders will be received up to 1 p.m. June 20th by the undersigned for the following improvements to Collegiate—repairs to Roof, Parapet Walls, also painting windows, etc., Agricultural School—repairs to Roof, and painting Dairy Building—repairs to Roof, painting interior of five classrooms also concrete floor, Horse Barn—repairs to Roof, Poultry Building—repairs to Roof, Education, Room 112, Collegiate. J5-21

Yankee Southpaw

VITO TAMULIS

Recruit Vito Tamulis of the Yankees won his first two full games this year, both victories scored at the expense of the Cleveland Indians. The 22-year-old left-hander from Cambridge, Mass., came to the Yankees from Newark last September, and in his only 1934 appearance pitched a shutout against the Athletics, allowing seven hits. One of his victories over Cleveland was a shutout, too.

ERRORS DEFEAT R. C. A. F. TEAM

Whittal Can of Trenton Take Advantage to Win 19-3

Trenton, June 5 (Special)—Errors were the downfall of the R.C.A.F. softball team last night when they lost 19-3 to the Whittal Can after outhitting them seven to six. Every ball hit to the field was missed and the boys coached by Tom Cain coasted home to victory. Tough pitched steady ball for the Flyers, striking out six and issuing five walks. Derry went the route for the winners, fanning nine and giving three free trips to first. Broadbent was the best on the willow, getting three safeties, Jack Kidd hammered out a Stratton and both Whitney and Stratton got in the last frame for the losers.

Whittal Can—Anderson, ss; Roberts, 2b; Heaney, lb; Lamore, c; Ellis, cf; Derry, p; MacMillan, rf; Hazlett, 3b; Simpson, lf; Broadbent, ss. MacMillan in fifth; Gray replaced Kidd in seventh; Mitchell replaced Dadwell in fifth.

R.C.A.F.—Pollows, 2b; Broadbent, ss; Stratton, 3b and 1b; Winder, cf; Devine, lf; Powers, cf; Masiah, c; Neff, 1b; Tough, p; MacDonald replaced Powers in third; Reeves replaced Masiah in third; Burden replaced Neff in third.

Whittal Can	4	1	4	1	7	2	—	19
R.C.A.F.	0	0	0	0	1	1	—	3

Umpires — Plate, Orval Ward; bases, Don Cummings.

Trenton Softball Standing.

	W.	L.
Canada Bud	3	0
Whittal Can	2	1
Woolr	2	1
Downs-Coulter	2	1
Carrying Place	1	2
Maple Leafs	1	2
Benedict-Proctor	0	3
R.C.A.F.	0	3

AAJMAAS AND TWEED TIED

Northerners Defeat Locals 17-9 to Pull Even in Race

Pounding the deliveries of two local hurlers to every corner of Central Park the Tweed entry in the Belleville City Softball League administered unto the local Aajmas Club their initial defeat of the season, when the Tweed Gunsmoke squad downed the Aajmaas by the decisive score of 17 to 9, thus elevating themselves into a tie for first place in the league, together with the heretofore undefeated Aajmaas.

The Tweedsters played inspired softball to win, hitting well in the pinches and getting their two hurlers superb support in the field. The loss sustained by the local nine was their first in four starts and lowered their league standing into a tie with their victors.

Stan Yuffman, who stopped the Redmerville aggregation in Tweed last Saturday, ascended the mound for the Tweed entry last evening at Central Park and pitched consistent ball until the fifth when he faltered and was relieved in favor of Bill Goswell in the next frame. Goswell, with a world of experience and marvellous support, went on to pitch the Tweed nine to victory. Sgt. Jones got on the hilltop for Clem Bowler's Aajmaas, but his deliveries proved an mystery to the batsmen and they counted five runs in the initial frame and drove Sagyr to the showers in the fourth. Frank Parraro ascending the local hilltop and stemming the tide of battle until the eighth when indifferent fielding on the part of the Aajmaas outer gardners cost Parraro a victory.

"Rusty" Clarke with a circuit blow and a double led the hitters of the night, as Kiser and Frank Parraro connected for two safeties apiece for the locals with Bill Goswell hitting for the first home runde for the winners. Tuumon, Rollins and Simpson all hit well in the pinches for the Tweed crew in a slugfest that saw plenty of long distance hitting throughout. The Aajmaas made a chance to recover the top rung of the league ladder with a victory over the fast nine of St. Paul's A. C. at Central Park tonight. Incidentally the Foster Ward nine have won their last two starts.

Aajmaas A. C.—Tuttle, Ham, Kiser, Ehler, Jordan, Hanna, Clarke, Whalen, Bawden, Sagyr and Parraro.

Tweed—Simpson, Mercer, Rollins, Tummon, McCutcheon, Machen, Orr, Simpson, Lehman and Goswell.

Score by innings:

Tweed	5	1	0	1	1	0	1	3	2	17
Aajmaas A. C.	2	0	0	1	0	0	0	6	0	9

Umpires—Wilson, Tweed, plate; Ehler, Belleville, bases.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Gabby Hartnett, Cubs—Drove in six runs with homer, triple and single and scored three times in 5-2 victory.

Floyd Young, Pirates—His double cleared the loaded bases in the third and his single scored another in the fifth against the Cardinals.

Wes Ferrell, Red Sox—Kept Senators at bay while he batted.

Alan Strange and Johns Solters, Browns—Accounted, for seven of the team's eleven runs.

DEATHS YESTERDAY

(By The Canadian Press)
Montreal: Canon P. J. Brady, 76, dean of Montreal's Roman Catholic clergy.
Winnipeg: Dr. J. G. Munroe, 61, prominent in medical work and native of Picton County, N.S.
Fredericton: Charles Robert Hawkins, 42, member of the New Brunswick Council of the Canadian Legion.
Moncton: George A. Hutchinson, 71, Registrar of Probate for Kent County and Municipal Auditor of Richibucto.
Lawrence, Mass.—"Bert" Smith, 17, Montreal hockey.

Current Attractions at Local Theatres

What Local Theatre Managers Have to Say About Current Offerings

AT THE CAPITOL

"Go Into Your Dance"
A Smash Hit With Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler Co-starred For First Time!

"Go into Your Dance" which opens Thursday at the Capitol Theatre is not only a musical comedy but a picture that is replete with dramatic situations as well as hilarious laughs, romance and glamour, spectacular dance numbers.

The cast is headed by a most remarkable team, Al Jolson, stage and screen star who introduced the talking picture, and his wife, Ruby Keeler, one time musical comedy star who rose to fame on the screen in the last two years.

Never before have the two played together, each fearing to take the spotlight from the other. But in this picture they work together as a perfect romantic team.

Jolson shows more of his old time verve, both in his singing and his acting, than he has displayed in any other picture. His work with Ruby Keeler seems to have given him an unusual stimulus.

As a Broadway entertainer, in the picture, he is barred from the New York stage because of his feuds with the "powers" and also wins and women. After losing money in his dancing girl in a mid-West town he stages a comeback that sees a theatrical success attained by the police.

Miss Keeler is as sweet and winsome as ever as the dancing partner, who is unable to hide her love for the great entertainer although he continually snubs her, having fallen for the wiles of a blues singer, the wife of the king of the underworld.

Helen Morgan, torch singer and piano artiste, is given a better part than usual. Her singing is excellent, but she also has an important role as the other woman and rival of Miss Keeler for the love of Jolson the entertainer. She handles a difficult part with rare artistry.

Glenda Farrell is the same wise-cracking, hard-boiled character she usually portrays, although in this picture she is given a refined ring in her voice that is not always present. Her work is fast and snappy and adds no end to the entertaining humor of the production.

Others with exceptionally fine work include Barton MacLane, league gambler with the heretofore undefeated Aajmaas.

The Tweedsters played inspired softball to win, hitting well in the pinches and getting their two hurlers superb support in the field. The loss sustained by the local nine was their first in four starts and lowered their league standing into a tie with their victors.

Stan Yuffman, who stopped the Redmerville aggregation in Tweed last Saturday, ascended the mound for the Tweed entry last evening at Central Park and pitched consistent ball until the fifth when he faltered and was relieved in favor of Bill Goswell in the next frame. Goswell, with a world of experience and marvellous support, went on to pitch the Tweed nine to victory. Sagr Jones got on the hilltop for Clem Bowler's Aajmaas, but his deliveries proved an mystery to the batsmen and they counted five runs in the initial frame and drove Sagyr to the showers in the fourth. Frank Parraro ascending the local hilltop and stemming the tide of battle until the eighth when indifferent fielding on the part of the Aajmaas outer gardners cost Parraro a victory.

"Rusty" Clarke with a circuit blow and a double led the hitters of the night, as Kiser and Frank Parraro connected for two safeties apiece for the locals with Bill Goswell hitting for the first home runde for the winners. Tuumon, Rollins and Simpson all hit well in the pinches for the Tweed crew in a slugfest that saw plenty of long distance hitting throughout. The Aajmaas made a chance to recover the top rung of the league ladder with a victory over the fast nine of St. Paul's A. C. at Central Park tonight. Incidentally the Foster Ward nine have won their last two starts.

Aajmaas A. C.—Tuttle, Ham, Kiser, Ehler, Jordan, Hanna, Clarke, Whalen, Bawden, Sagyr and Parraro.

Tweed—Simpson, Mercer, Rollins, Tummon, McCutcheon, Machen, Orr, Simpson, Lehman and Goswell.

Score by innings:

Tweed	5	1	0	1	1	0	1	3	2	17
Aajmaas A. C.	2	0	0	1	0	0	0	6	0	9

Umpires—Wilson, Tweed, plate; Ehler, Belleville, bases.

AT THE BELLE

"The Devil is a Woman"
Beauty, Drama, Romance Abound in Sparkling New Twin-Program

A master of the craft has been at work and tomorrow at the Belle Theatre when Paramount's brilliant love drama "The Devil is a Woman" will unfold its moving story against a background of Spanish grandeur and intensity you can see what a motion picture should really be like!

Into this picture, the latest which he and Marlene Dietrich have made together, Josef von Sternberg has thrown all the vigor, creative imagination and capability of his direction and he has produced a film which will literally make you want to rise and cheer at its conclusion.

With Miss Dietrich acting the role of a heartless enchantress, "The Devil is a Woman" tells a compelling true-to-life story, of men and women and life and love, with amazing vigor, candor and simplicity.

The background of the film is a gay carnival fete, a riot of color, gaiety and music. Its protagonists are the enchanted and her lover. Lionel Atwill as the middle-aged man who has given everything for her seeks destroying the love Cesar Romero as the ardent young latin.

Surrounding these, the two most split, find themselves embroiled in a duel over love and a mystery of the dead, which is resolved by the police, Atwill gravely wounded, Romero in an unescapable predicament, artfully contrived by the director, this complex love tale is straightened out, tragedy averted and peace restored.

Even in the briefest synoptic detail is the story, but words can never express its charm, its moments of magnificence and terror, its complete and total grasp on your imagination.

See it and you will appreciate the excellence of a well constructed story, told, photographed and played with consummate artistry.

Hide Friend" Sincere

What is said to be the screen's most subjective treatment of the child victim in a "triangle" divorce case will be seen in one of the most sincere stories in recent years "Little Friend", the second sparkling hit on the new program.

It is a tale of the usual marital tangle, the child's disquiet in the couple, a young wife and an older husband, over an interloping male friend, which is heading their domestic barque for the divorce courts, despite the efforts of anyone. It is told from the viewpoint of the youngster, a little girl, the fourteen-year-old daughter. This role is played by little Nova Pilbeam, a newly discovered child star", who is said to be remarkable for her dramatic ability.

Under the title "Miserables" Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables" one of the greatest stories ever told in the realm of life in a mighty screen triumph with Fredric March and Charles Laughton in the leading roles. "Les Miserables" completes a four day engagement at the Belle tonight.

Princess Royal Undergoes Operation

London, June 5 (CP)— The Princess Royal, Countess Harewood, underwent a thyroid gland operation in West End Nursing Home and was reported recovering normally. Operation was performed by Lord Dawson of Penn, His Majesty's physician.

RADIO PROGRAMS

— Daylight Saving Time —

WEDNESDAY

9.00—Breakfast Club—WJZ
10.30—Morn Watch and Horoscope—CFRB
7.00—Temple Bells—WEAF
4.00—Betty and Bob, drama—WJZ
4.30—Singin Sam, News—CFRB
6.45—Lowell Thomas, news—WJZ
6.45—Sicopsagie and Budd —WABC
7.00—Amos 'n' Andy—WJZ
7.15—Tony and Gus—WJZ
7.30—Merry Minstrels—WEAF
7.30—Johnny Hunter Floyd Gibbons—WJZ
7.30—Benay Venuta, songs—WABC
8.00—Ruby Valles—WEAF
8.30—Jack Smith's Orchestra—WABC
9.00—Show Boat—WEAF
9.00—Gene Valley Days, drama—WJZ
9.00—Amateur Show—CFRB
9.00—Glen Gray's Orch.—WABC
9.30—Fred Waring's Orch.—WABC
9.30—Mexican Musical Tours—WJZ
10.00—Paul Whiteman's Music Hall—WEAF
10.00—Horace Heidt's Brigadiers—WABC
11.00—News—CFRB
11.15—Jesse Crawford, organist—WEAF
11.30—Isk Spots—WJZ
11.30—Eddie Duchin's Orch.—WJZ

FOR RELIABLE INFORMATION
INSURANCE and INVESTMENTS
CONSULT
JAMIESON BONE & CO.
INSURANCE INVESTMENTS

FINANCIAL MARKETS

NEW YORK : TORONTO : WINNIPEG

TORONTO MINES CLOSE

Toronto, June 5 (CP)—Leaders of the various metal groups turned sharply upward today with volume and price gains particularly heavy in Cody's Lake, Pickle Crow, Central Patricia, Buffalo-Ankerite, Eldorado and Sudbury Contact. Around 30 to 35 cents were recorded but none of the leaders held at their top prices till the close, profit-taking causing a considerable shading in spots. Volume on the heads was much heavier.

Secondary gold stocks sprang into action on the mining section today, led by Pickle Crow, Cody's Lake, Central Patricia, Eldorado and McWatters in which gains up to 25 cents featured the close. Lake Jumped from 1.41 to 1.85 and Central Patricia, after touching 1.72, up 11 cents, held to a few cents. Volume in the group was heavy.

NEW YORK CLOSE

New York, June 5.—(AP)— The stock market closed irregularly lower today under the leadership of Utilities, Chemicals, Oils and miscellaneous Industrial specialties.

American Telephone was a leader, rising over two points to a new high for the year. The list had been battered down yesterday but scattered losses were mostly recovered today in the final hour. Issues 1 to 2 points included Consolidated Gas, Amerada, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical, Standard, National Biscuit and Western Union. Group Oils, as a special specialty, jumped 4 points to 218. The late tone was firm. Transfers approximated 2,000,000 shares.

TORONTO STOCKS (Close)

Toronto, June 5 (CP)—A broad group of food, milling and financial stocks appeared on the Toronto Industrial Board today with a general note of strength, predominating. Oils and metals continued to lead in those which showed signs of strong in both. Morning dips in the oils were restored. Liquors and the other interlisted leaders did no better than hold their ground.

The oils recovered early recessions and the tone of the market had a general note of firmness with trade heavier, the slow oils. Metal stocks were slow to fall into line with the buoyant note in the New York market. Wheat standing unchanged this afternoon and Consolidated Smelters showing a narrow set-back.

WALL STREET FINANCIAL

New York, June 5—(AP)— Wall Street cast a critical eye on industrial business statistics today and found them moderately reassuring. The stock and bond markets were irregular, however, paused after yesterday's brisk rally.

Among Canadian stocks, Dome was a bit lower, while McIntyre and International Nickel showed gains. On the curb, Hiram Walker eased a minor fraction and Lake Shore rose better than a point. Dominion Government bonds were quiet and narrow, Canadian funds held at 103.09 cents.

UNLISTED MINES

Unlisted Mines furnished by A. H. Ketchesen and Co. today:

	Bank 34¼-36¼.
Casey 14-15.
Cons. Smelters 80-90.
Forty Four 600-800.
Gt. Bear Lake 87-70.
Hardrock 43-48.
Lamaque 373B.
Mahadi 10-13.
Okland 38-42.
Sightmor 166.
Shawkey 32B.
Sturgeon R. 61-6.
Vi. Chromium 85-90.

Grain Markets

Closing quotations on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange as furnished by A. H. Ketchesen and Co. today:

	High	Low	Close
Wheat—
July	83¾	83¼	83¾
Oats—
July	41¼	40¾	40¾
October	37¾	35¾	35¾
Barley—
July	43¾	42	43¾
October	40¾	39¾	40¾
Rye—
July	44¾	43¼	44¼
October	46¾	45¼	46¾

HOGS

Toronto, June 5.—(CP)—Bacon hog prices ruled unchanged to 15 cents higher at seven reporting market points today. Losses were up 15 and Barrie and Brantford showed 10 cent jumps. Chatham, Hall, Kitchener and Stratford showed unchanged levels. Today's prices:

Barrie, $8.35 Brantford, $9.00; Chatham $8.50; Hull, $8.25; Kitchener, $8.85 London $8.90; Stratford $8.85.

Stock Markets

Quotations at 2.25 furnished by Biggar and Crawford, P. H. Wills, branch manager.

Mines.
Ashley 10B.
Ajax 80.
Acme 23½B.
Breth Treth 2½.
Barry Hollinger 3¼.
Base Metal 71.
Big Missouri 67B.
Bobjo 23½.
Bradina 310B.
Bagamac 5.
Brakene 58B.
Castle Treth 106B.
Coniagrum 1903.
Central Patricia 167.
Coast Copper 210.
Cody 1½.
Dominion Explor. 5½B.
Dickenson 90B.
Falconbridge 372B.
God's Lake 192B.
Greene Stab. 2½.
Granada 33.
Goldale 1¼B.
Halcrow 2½B.
Hollinger 19.35.
Home Oil 6B.
Hudson's Bay 1535B.
Howey 70B.
International Nickel 28⅛B.
Kirkland Lake 4.80.
Kirk Township 30B.
Lake Shore 53.25B.
Little Long Lac 53B.
Macassa 196B.
Malartic 8B.
Maple Leaf 7.
McIntyre 426B.
McWatters 135.
McWatters 1.62.
McVittie 3B.
McKenzie 127.
Nipissing 2.50.
Noranda 296.
Pioneer 10.10.
Parkhill 21.
Premier 168B.
Reeds Auth 65B.
Reno 10B.
St. Anthony 20¼B.
Sherritt 37½.
Sisco 281.
San Antonio 350B.
Stadacona 231B.
Sudbury Basin 137B.
Sylvanite 222B.
Teck Hughes 419B.
Ventures 82B.
Wayside 16.
Walte Amulet 60B.
Wright Hargreaves 860.
Pickle Crow 270.
Paymaster 36½.

Produce Markets

(By United Farmers Co-Operative Company)

Toronto, June 5.—Wholesale prices on product delivered at Toronto as supplied by the United Farmers Co-operative, Limited, today were:

Buying Prices

Eggs—
Grade A, large, doz.	.17
Grade A, medium, doz.	.15
Grade C, doz.	.14
Butter—
Ontario No. 1, Creamery lb. 31
Ontario No. 2, Creamery lb. 30½
Cheese—
No. 1 lb	.21
No. 2 lb	.19
(F.O.B. shipping point)

Poultry

	Dressed
	Live Dressed Milfed
Hens—	"A" "A"
Over 5 lbs.	.11 .14
4 to 5 lb.	.10 .13
3 to 4 lb.	.10 .12
Old roosters	.07 .09
Broilers 2 lbs.	.16
Broilers 1 1-4 to 2 1-2	.14
Selling Prices

United Farmers Co-operative Co. today were offering products to retailers at the following prices:

Eggs—
Grade A large, loose, doz. ..... .21
Grade A medium, doz. ..... .19
Grade A medium doz. ..... .17
Grade C, doz. ..... .15

Butter—
No. 1 Creamery, prints 24
No. 2, Creamery, prints 23 1-2

Hay and Straw
No. 2 timothy baled ton, $14.50 to $15.50; No. 3 timothy hay ton, $13.00 to $14.00; straw, wheat baled, ton $10.00; oats straw, $7.50 to $8.50.

Graded Egg Prices

Toronto dealers today were paying the following nominal prices for graded eggs delivered:

Grade A, medium, doz. ..... .18
Grade A, large, doz. ..... .20
"A" pullets, doz. ..... .15

Livestock Quotations

(Toronto)

Steers, up to 1,000 lbs.,
Good and choice $6.00 6.50
do medium 5.25 6.00
do common 4.25 5.25
Steers, over 1000 lbs, good and choice 6.50 7.00
do, medium 5.50 6.50
do common 5.25 5.50
Heifers, good and choice 4.00 5.25
do, medium 3.25 3.75
do common 2.50 3.25
Cows, good 4.00 5.00
do, medium 3.00 3.75
do, common 2.00 3.00
Canners and cutters 1.50 2.75
Bulls, good 3.50 4.50
do common 3.00 3.25
Milkers and springers 50.00 90.00
Stocker and feeder steers,
good 3.50 3.75
do common 3.00 4.50
Calves, good and choice
veals 6.00 7.00
do common to medium 4.00 5.50
do, grasers 3.00 3.50
Hogs, fed & wtd. 8.90
do, off cars 9.65
do, off cars 9.40
Good sows and wether lambs 8.00 8.50
do medium 8.00 8.50
do, bucks 6.00 7.00
do culls 4.00 5.00
Sheep, good weight— 2.50 3.00
do, heavies 1.00 2.00
do, heavies 2.00 2.50

LIVESTOCK

Toronto, June 5 (CP)—The cattle, calf, sheep and lamb divisions opened steady on the Toronto livestock market today, lower prices for cattle left over from yesterday. The hog market was unsettled with Quotations offering $9.25 off trucks for bacon.

Guinea's 5 percent 87 3-4B; Imperial 3 percent 99; 4 percent 103; 5 percent 109 1-2; Beauharnois 5 1-2 percent 86B; 5 percent 32 1-4B; MacLaren 5 percent 103; Ontario Valley 90B; Duke Price 98B; Can. Northern Power 99 1-4B; Abitibi 30 3-4B.

BEN R. QUINCEY DIES AT AGE 86

Prominent Church Official Veteran of 1866 And Bread Inspector

After a lengthy illness one of the oldest residents of Belleville passed away this afternoon when Ben R. Quincey in the person of Benjamin R. Quincey, death occurred at his home on 141 Murney Street in the house adjoining the one in which he was born 86 years ago. All his long life was passed in the city of his birth and he was most highly esteemed by all who knew him. During his younger and active years he was a baker by trade and for many years up to the time of his death he held the responsible position of inspector of bread for the city. He loved his native place and had always the welfare of the city at heart. He was also loyal to his country and was a veteran of the Fenian Raid of 1866.

Benjamin Quincey was a man of most estimable character and in his passing the city of Belleville has lost a good citizen. Religion he was a member of Holloway Street United Church and during all his life he took an interest in church work, being for over forty years a Class Leader and an energetic worker, when age and health permitted, in the organizations of the congregation. His many friends he will be much missed.

Surviving him are three daughters, Mrs. Minnie Boulter, Belleville, Mrs. Alfred Gilbert, Belleville, Mrs. A. W. Gray, Norwalk, California, one son, H. M. Quincey, Los Angeles, California.

Announcement of the funeral will be made later.

GRADUATES TOLD OUTLOOK GOOD

Albert College Dining Hall Scene of Farewell Fête

Members of the Board, members of the Faculty, fellow students and a host of friends joined the members of the 1935 graduating class of the Albert College in a banquet held in their honour in Ackerman Hall, Tuesday evening, June 4th. The banquet was arranged by the Albert College Women's Guild who deserve no small praise for the enjoyable supper that they provided.

The candidates for graduation were: Arts Department, William Argue, Harold Burgess, Elizabeth Burrows and George McDevitt. Graduates of the Collegiate Course: William Lane, John A. McDonald, Gerald Mutton, Robert Summers. Conservatory Department: Miss Laurene Scott, Miss Helen Mae Hutley, Miss Margaret Hutley, Miss Helen Millman, Miss Laurene Smith; A.C.M., Miss Laurel Arkils, Miss Nellie Maraskas, L.T.C.M., Miss Dorothy Mindorff.

Rev. Dr. James Semple, minister of Bridge Street United Church presided over the gathering, fulfilling the role of toastmaster. He proposed the toast to the King and gave a few introductory remarks. He then introduced Principal Cody.

Speech of the Day of Quinte conference that has just closed at Peterborough. Many young men and candidates to be ordained and as was customary they gave their reactions of their school life as well as their Christian experience. The remarkable fact was that the King had been students of Albert College and Victoria College. They all spoke terms what the Albert College had done for them. Dr. Semple also declared that Principal Cody during the Albert College had been warmly loved by the students. Principal Cody's speech to that body had made a great impression. In closing the chairman remarked to the graduating class that great things have been done by men and women from the Albert College and the same expectations were held for their future.

The assemblage was honored last night by having Mrs. Cody, Mrs. Summers, of Montivideo, Uruguay (as their guest. They are the parents of Bob Summers, a popular student of Albert. Mrs. Summers addressed a delightful solo in Spanish language of Uruguay, which was greatly appreciated.

Toast to Graduates

The toast to the graduating class was proposed by Harry Atkinson a student of the college. "Your going from our midst is a sad event, Mr. Atkinson said, "and while you have gotten your education as far as Albert is concerned there is the parting of friendships. As we have mingled together we have come to be been like shuttles moving in and out weaving the pattern of life," helped get.

"While we know your leaving will cannot be replaced we can feel filled with sadness, and it is our hope that your future will also be a member Albert and your fellow students."

Bill Lace replied to the toast of the graduating class. Whether we go north or south, east or west, we will always remember Albert College and our fellow students because there is one thing we have in common and makes his life a part of the great brotherhood of all Methodists to forget one another. He described in detail what the Albert College had done for him. How when he first come there he couldn't stand on front of an audience and could make a speech, but the training in all departments of the school he received at Albert had smoothed off this difficulty, and had also educated him in much practical knowledge.

The college 'Glee Club sang "Sleep My Lady Sleep", and Miss Helen Sulman gave a reading on a humorous short poem in the negro dialect.

Toast to School

The toast to the School was proposed by John Holloway, who in part of the graduating class and expressed a very fluent speaker. He declared the toast to the School could be derived at Albert. How it can be considered to go out to the world to be a man and be able to accomplish great things at whatever profession he choose. Great praise was given by the speaker to Dr. Bissett for his many principal, "His character could be termed under three headings, a principal, a gentleman and a friend."

The Rev. Bert Howard, principal of the college spoke to the toast giving into detail on the benefits derived and especially the benefits to be benefits education and especially the benefits of such a religious denominational school.

Principal on Outlook

"I am sure the Albert College has immersed from a five years of trying times and has come out about face and is back on the road to recovery, as there are already many more students along with three years ahead as we expect back. The Albert College is in a hands and is bound to come out victorious over all adversity."

Rev. Dr. J. W. Bennett proposed a vote of thanks to James Semple who has been honored and also the city of Belleville by his election to the Chairmanship of the Quinte conference.

The singing of the doxology and benediction pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Harrison closed the program.

FIVE BELLEVILLE MEN IN TRIUMPH

(Continued from page one)

daybreak and marched about ten miles to Six Mile Spruit, both banks of which were occupied by the enemy. Henry's and Ross' Mounted Infantry, with the 19th Hussars, Dorset, Bedford and Sussex Companies of Yeomanry and Lovat's Scouts, pushed on the south bank and pursued them nearly a mile. When they found themselves under a heavy fire from guns which the Boers had placed in a concealed and commanding position.

"Our heavy guns of the Naval and Horse Artillery were then brought up and placed in the front part of the column with the result that the Boers were driven off. The casualties of the Mounted Infantry as fast as the oxen could travel over the great hills surrounding Pretoria.

Enemy Driven Off

"The guns were supported by Strickland's Brigade and Smuts' Commando, and after a few rounds drove the enemy from their position. The Boers then attempted to turn our left flank in which they were again foiled by the Mounted Infantry and Yeomanry, supported by the Maxim Brigade of Thorneycroft's Division, and still kept pressing our left rear, I sent word to Lieutenant Wise to send reinforcements to our left, to incline towards us and to fill up the gap between the two columns. This finally checked the enemy who were then beaten back in confusion.

"I hoped we would have been able to finish them up, but the latter are very short in this part of the world, and after nearly two hours fighting, the Boers had had to bivouac on the ground captured that day. The country in this part is quite near the southernmost point, by which Pretoria is defended, and is very hilly, the hills in places, about four miles from town. French with the Third and Fourth Cavalry Brigades and Hickman's New South Wales' Mounted Rifles, is north of Pretoria, and the Brigade Hospital is between French's and Hamilton's columns and Gordon's Brigade is on the left. All of the main force now far from the railway bridge and Pretoria, which will be destroyed by the enemy. Our casualties I hope are very few."

Entry Into Pretoria

Another communique dated London:

"At two o'clock this afternoon, almost six months after the declaration of war, Lord Roberts entered Pretoria. The Proclamation of Peace Crisis' fulfilled the promise he made to the people of the Transvaal and Orange Free State when they joined with the Empire in the defence of "Transvaal," and England is celebrating this event with great enthusiasm. Throughout the length and breadth of the country flags have been hoisted and bells are ringing.

"How the Gordon Highlanders, who have been the first to enter the town before Pretoria went into battle and gloriously earned the name of 'Highlanders' in their hands was told only in part today by Mr. E. T. Austin of the 'Daily'.

"The Highlanders might have been called 'Ironsides' for the way they deserved their name and glory" commented the local mayor. "Only one hundred and ten of them laid out for burial the day before, they were surrounded by a host of Boers on one. They were on the left of the Canadians most of the time."

Fighting No Play

Fighting in that sandy, dusty and desolate country is not exactly play, recalls Mr. Austin. The campaign meant long marches, forced marches, search, for days on end. Water was scarce. Hardtack, a biscuit hard as brick, was issued. Men landed down with a little tea was the average ration. Fresh meat, when it arrived, was carried—on the hoof. The animals were slaughtered as they were needed. Men lived in the open, in the twinkling camp fires at the ends of the long columns. Dust those were the days of plenty. At one time the company was reduced to nothing but the clothes they stood up in could be scrupulously clean. Mr. Austin was a member of the Canadian Contingent.

"We left Belleville some time in October, 1899, and after what seemed to us like a long voyage we finally landed at Capetown. Africa, with its sandy wastes, was a full marching order, despite the sun, and carrying a forty pound knapsack. Delagoa Bay I always seemed to be hundreds of miles. Anyhow, it took us a long time to get to the front at Bloemfontein, a sort of concentration camp."

On The March

In a broiling sun whose rays rebounded in a shimmering wave of heat, and in temperatures which sometimes rose to 120 degrees, the men continued to march, burdened by their heavy knapsacks, rifles and other articles. Dysentery took its toll; men fell sick by the way and died by the way. Field ovens were to be had kept them from developing dread fevers.

Disappointment

Once in their march, after a particularly long and exhausting march with the enemy, the Boers deported in their wagons, the Highlanders lifted their heads and kicking up the dust at their heels as they ran. Members of the company, Mr. Austin was attached to, ran forward to the little fighting line and asked several cads. They resembled the canisters in which flour was shipped. Quickly the canisters were pried open. The white powder was tasted, a sickly look came over the face of one of the leaders. He spat violently. "The infectant". He was right. All the precious cans contained was a small lasting mixture of the disinfectant. We had our usual ration of hour and water that night" recalls Mr. Austin.

Canadians See Kipling

It was in this district that the Canadian troops were privileged to see and converse with Mr. Rudyard Kipling. His heavy moustache and his high, stern figure was plainly evident around the camp fires at night. And Kipling's epic "Fuzzy Wuzzy" and "Gunga Din" and "Pay, Pay, Pay" was hummed the men found themselves under by the troops.

When Pretoria fell under the combined assaults of mounted, and foot soldiers and heavy cannon, the back bone of the Boer War was broken. Although battles and skirmishes were carried on in the fields for some time after. The major engagement had taken the heart out of the enemy and only punitive detachments of troops were needed to keep down the rebellion and some three days firing that was undergone later on.

In the same issue of the Daily Intelligencer carrying an account of the fall of Pretoria was the following from the Belleville boys to relatives sent soon after their arrival in Africa. They are as follows:

Letters From Front

In the same issue of the paper, letters from three Belleville boys who enlisted in the Canadian contingent time later and entered Pretoria with Lord Roberts and Earl Kitchener's forces.

The first, from Mr. R.T. Austin, Belleville, a member of the 21st Engineerworks Department containing some interesting excerpts, was dated Capetown, March 30, 1900 and was written to his sister.

"We arrived here about ten o'clock—the rest of the regiment is about 48 miles up country and we are going to join them within a day or so. Bloemfontein is a very nice place, and we are glad to say we have had been any war here at all.....the roads are out up terribly and fields are deserted, but they look fine with all their flowers and green grass.

"Well, the Canadians are all passing through here. They are very much the Boer prisoners admit that; they say we are all about the same size as they are, but they are surprised that we as a nation should not interfere with them. This we say that all the Colonial troops would get no mercy if they were captured.....We have had some very cold rainstorms and I guess for now there is nothing more to tell you, so I will close.

Your affectionate brother,
Ted.

The second, written from Glencoe Mulme contained the information that the writer had been appointed Sergeant Major of one of the Royal Canadian Rifles and that he was leaving for the front. He would give out three day's rations to the men, for what is expected to be a forced march, and concluded by adding,

Edward Green, in a letter to his mother pointed out that the only real hardship the men had undergone was the lack of water.

"So far out food has not been bad; we have had plenty of meat, tack, bully beef, tea and sugar but no milk. This is constantly scrounged for us, and is compared to what the boys go; at the start of the war." One hundred and seventy-seven men 600 yards of the station, but I think we will be there in a few minutes. Everything is being done to help defend the water supply. Our regiment is at present the six police boys are on a fox hunt, and is expected back in a few days. Another letter was received from Mr. Green, in which he described in detail what the Albert College had done for him. How when he first come there he couldn't stand on front of an audience and could make a speech, but the training in all departments of the school he received at Albert had smoothed off this difficulty, and had also educated him in much practical knowledge.

The college 'Glee Club sang "Sleep My Lady Sleep", and Miss Helen Sulman gave a reading on a humorous short poem in the negro dialect.

BUSY PLACE IS TRENTON COURT

Many Cases Heard And Adjusted by Magistrate Butler

Trenton, June 5—(Special)—Several cases were heard in Trenton court yesterday afternoon before Magistrate Butler, Belleville.

Trenton's civil list was assessed twenty-five dollars after pleading guilty to failing to remain at, or return to the scene of an accident in which took place on Sunday. Two charges of "driving to the common danger" a costly pastime in Trenton, when they were each assessed ten dollars and costs. Drunks paid for their fun at ten dollars and costs, and it looks as if just enough jungle juice to make him modest pedestrian will cost him ten dollars and costs. Driving a motor vehicle without a license will cost you five dollars, whereas not a motorist thirteen dollars or enough to cover licenses and have change to spare.

The comedy of the day was given when a big Roumanian named Hiski Pole appeared each charged with intoxication. The police officials look like a shiek with his head swathed in bandages. When asked what they would like to be tried the big boy said "How much", The little fellow did not wish to be tried at all. After an interpreter straightened out the case it appeared that the big boy's brother paid his $12, but the other lad will spend the next fifteen days at Bellevue. Both were residents of the Canadian Air Export.

ENO'S "FRUIT SALT"
For inner cleanliness and outer loveliness Gentle! Safe! Sure!

GOOD
HARRY SMITH
150 PINNACLE STREET. PHONE 2071

5 RECORDS FALL AT O.S.D. MEET

Senior And Intermediate 100 Yard Dash Time Lowered

Five school records were broken and some new ones established in the opening day of the annual field day of the Ontario School for the Deaf held on their spacious grounds this morning. The school records for the senior and intermediate 100 yard dash were both lowered considerably when David Alexander ran the century in 19 4-5 seconds and the senior event while Dalton Storring shattered the 220 yard record when he crossed the tape clocked at 11 seconds flat. Due to the fact that the deaf runners were started with a pistol, these records are considering very good. Three events in the jumping classes also found new distance records established in the contests.

The annual field day of the O.S.D. was under the direction of Frank Cunningham, the boys' athletic director, and found complete courses in readiness to receive the competing contestants. Lanes were marked off for the dash runners in the shorter distance events, while the setting for the field events was equally as good, the meet being staged on the school grounds.

As no previous records had been retained in the girls' events, it was impossible to ascertain whether or not they were lowered or being established by the feminine athletes at the O.S.D. despite the fact that they gave creditable runs in the races, and distances in the field events were made by the girl contestants while the morning events were in progress. The major events of the day will be run off this afternoon at the termination of which the school athletic champion, junior, intermediate and junior in boys and girls classes, will be announced.

The officials of the day's meet included Frank Cunningham, starter; Ed. Lally, timer, Miss Bell, clerk of the course, while all members of the teaching staff also took an active part, each being responsible for one of the events. The meet was adjourned for lunch at 12.30 p.m. to be resumed at 2.00 p.m. this afternoon.

The results of the morning program were:—

Events

Girls' Junior—50 yards dash—Ruth McKitrick, 6 4-5 seconds; Broad Jump—Ruth McKitrick, 7 feet, 3 inches; Eleanor Charron, Lillian Reid.

Base Ball Throw—Olga Bostnari 146 feet, 3 inches; Eleanor Charron, Lillian Reid.

Junior Boys' 100 yard dash—Kathleen Pratley, 10 1-5 seconds; Marion Storring, Margaret Bowen.

Broad Jump—Evaline Renaud, 8 feet; Margaret Shepherd, Violet Salmonin.

Base Ball Throw—78 yard dash—Dorothy Oulette, 10 4-5 sec.; Freda Scott, Meretta Clark.

Running High Jump — Dorothy Oulette, 3 feet, 11 inches; Rose Mitchell, Margaret Bowen.

Base Ball Throw—Mitchell, Lockett, 118 feet, 10 inches; Margaret McCarthy, Evaline Renaud.

Boys' Events

Junior Boys' 100 yard dash—Russell Manning, 13 seconds; George Trahill, Wm. Minisi.

Junior Boys' 220 yard dash—Russell Manning, 32 seconds; Wm. Minisi, George Trahill.

Broad Jump—Wm. Minisi, 8 feet, 6 inches; Clifford-Baillie, Steve Evans.

Discus Throw—Wm. Minisi, 64 feet 6 inches; Russell Manning, Donald McKenzie.

Intermediate Boys

100 yards — Dalton Storring, 11 seconds; Bud Hawthorne, Gordon Evans.

220 yards — Dalton Storring, 27 3-5 seconds; Bud Hawthorne, Gordon Evans.

Running Broad—Dalton Storring 16 feet 1-4 inches; Bud Hawthorne, Gordon Evans.

Running High—Gordon Evans, 4 feet, 3 inches; John Bossence, Dalton Storring.

Senior Boys

100 yard dash—David Alexander 10 4-5 seconds John Knoll, Donnie Hollister.

220 yard dash—Dominic Rolando 27 1-5 seconds David Alexander, John Knoll.

Running Broad Jump—David Alexander 15 1-2 feet; Herbert White, Earl Meloche.

Discus Throw—Albert Lavelle, 36 feet, 1 inch, David Alexander, Rothan Hollister.

Discus Throw —D. Rolando, 58 feet, 7 inches; A. Lavalle, M. Matyuk.

The meet is continuing.

BAHRAM WINNER OF EPSOM DERBY

(Continued From Page 1)

First Son raced in the early lead with Stroud St. Baloby, Fry II and Bahram on his heels. After about a mile First Son came with a rush, leaving the pace with Fry II, Sea Serquest and Field Trial racing along in the rear.

Coming to famous Tattenham Corner Field Trial was first in front and he led First Son and Bahram into the straight with Bahram Goodfellow gradually emerging from the second flight.

Bahram was the first horse home Bahram took command. He was strongly challenged by Welsh Goodfellow and Field Trial but held on to win by a comfortable margin.

Bahram very quickly after he was won, especially as its the King's horse. He is the first winner since the record of 100,000,000 Mahammedans as he led his second Derby winner Blenheim II in the Jubilee Stakes.

From Fox came the words that "Bahram ran the race of his life" ran splendidly. I never was in doubt about winning even before he went for home. He is quicker on a mile from home."

A. LIPSON BUYS STROUD BLOCK

Stroud's Business Howe ever Remains in Same Location

Stroud Block on the east side of Front Street, which has been in the possession of Stroud's for many years, has been purchased by Alex. Lipson of Picton, owner of a number of stores throughout which is in Belleville. Announcement to this effect was made today by Mr. Sam Kronin of Lipson's Belleville branch.

The property which is now occupied by the Stroud Store and by apartments will continue as at present. The present business of Stroud's will continue to be located in this building, Mr. Sam Blackburn is in charge.

Stroud's have been established here since 1872 and the erection of the building who sold to Mr. Lipson by Mr. Stroud, son of McCormick, the well-known tea and coffee importer. The property is a three-storey building and at one time upper storey was used for a roller skating rink.

MAY NOT PAINT LINES THIS YEAR

Whether parking lines throughout the city will be repainted this year is a question now under consideration by the Department of Public Works officials.

It is quite possible that we won't paint them this year, but we haven't decided as yet," stated Alderman Benjamin Safe today.

A sifting of approximately three thousand dollars in the city will make if the work is not done again this year, it is estimated by city engineer Chas. A. Mott.

KNIGHTHOOD IN FLO WER AGAIN AS NOTED CANADIANS HONORED

Many outstanding Canadians were honored with knighthoods in the King's birthday honors list. Major-General Sir James M. MacBrien, head of R.C.M.P.; Sir John C. McLennan is well-known scientist of University of Toronto; Sir Edward Beatty is president Canadian Pacific Railway; Sir Herbert Marler Canada's minister to Japan; Sir Ernest MacMillan, leader of Toronto Symphony orchestra and head of Toronto Conservatory of Music; Sir Charles G. D. Roberts, famous Canadian poet and author; Sir Wyly Grier, noted artist; Sir Arthur George Doughty, Dominion archivist and historian; Sir J. A. T. Chapais, senator and man of letters.

RIGHT to LEFT, TOP, Sir Wyly Grier, Sir Charles G. D. Roberts, Sir Herbert Marler, Sir John McLennan, Sir James M. MacBrien. BELOW, RIGHT to LEFT, Sir Arthur Doughty, Sir Ernest MacMillan, Sir Edward Beatty. (Sir J. A. T. Chapais is not shown.)

WHERE DOUBLE EARTHQUAKE KILLED THOUSANDS IN INDIA

Natives of the India province of Baluchistan, shown in camp in the mountains near the capital city of Quetta. The entire city was razed May 31st, causing an estimated number of deaths of 30,000. Among the victims are said to be 43 British officers attached to the military post, and a total of 300 Europeans.

UNITED CHURCH TO CELEBRATE TENTH ANNIVERSARY ON JUNE 9TH

Commencing Sunday June 9, the United Church of Canada will celebrate its 10th anniversary. In all parts of Canada, more than 2,000,000 adherents will take part in the celebrations. In Toronto, where the United church was first formed on June 10, 1925, a monster celebration is being arranged in which past and present moderators will participate. In the layout are shown, LEFT to RIGHT, Rev. T. Albert Moore, immediate past moderator, Principal Edmund Oliver, fourth moderator; Rev. Geo. C. Pidgeon, who was the first moderator of the church; Rev. Richard Roberts, present moderator and Rev. James Endicott, who followed Rev. Geo. Pidgeon.

CANADA MAY AID ABYSSINIA AS WAR LOOMS AGAIN

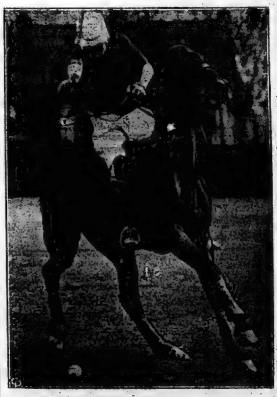
Statement of Premier Mussolini that various European governments are shipping arms and munitions to Abyssinia seems to be borne out by this picture, showing Ethiopian warriers carrying boxes of ammunition at Addis-Ababa. Here the troops of Emperor Haile Selassie are concentrating for expected war with Italy's expeditionary force. It is now reported that Canada is to join in supplying Ethiopia with war materials.

SINGING STARS TO WED

The engagement of Jovcly Maria Eggerth to Jan Kiepura, with whom she appears in the Gaumont British picture "My Heart is Calling" is reported. Both are singers. Miss Eggerth is Austrian by birth and was born in Poland, but achieved fame in operatic circles at the State Opera in Vienna, where he met his fiancee. The romance developed in England during the making of "My Heart is Calling" and both have since been signed to appear in Hollywood films.

QUINTUPLETS' NEW NURSE

MLLE. LAMOUREUX AND MARIE

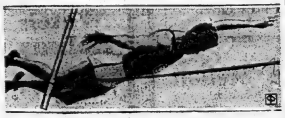


The Dionne quintuplets are busy getting acquainted with their new nurse, Mlle. Cecile Lamoureux, member of Montreal Graduate Nursing Association, who has been chosen to replace Madame Louise de Kiriline while latter takes much-needed vacation. Nurse Lamoureux is seen here with Marie.

AFTER THE UPRISING IN MANILA

In the attempt of the revolutionary Sakdalistas to overthrow the government of the Philippines, 58 people were killed when the attempt failed. Above shows some of the dead lying in the streets after uprising had been quelled.

Amerk Polo Star Tunes up Against British



Britain will this year send a polo team to America to meet the best of United States riders in an international series of matches. It is many years since the Britons conquered American players in their homeland. Here is one of United States best players, S. Sanford, playing against a team of Old Etonians at Hurlington, England, with the Whitney Cup as the prize. Sanford is about to take the ball.

IT LOOKS EASY—No trick at all to beat Harvard the way Dartmouth's Hoffstetter does it in 440 meters at Harvard stadium.

FOXX KISSES BRIDE—Jimmy Foxx kisses Mrs. Charles T. Smith, ex-former secretary becomes a bride in Philadelphia.

MEADOWS IN ACTION—Lee Meadows, Southern California's ace polo vaulter, is pictured at the top of his leap BRADDOCK SPARE—Jimmy Braddock, LEFT, who is to meet Max Baer in a title bout, heave with a spearmale at Loch Shaldrake, N.Y.

Baseball
Current Sport

IN THE REALM OF SPORTING EVENTS

Bowling
Golf

BASEBALL

C.O.B.I.

EXHIBITION PARK

Thursday June 6th at 6.15 p. m.

D.S.T.

PETERBORO (SEA HORSES) vs.

BELLEVILLE (STEWART-WARNERS)

This will be the first appearance of Knotty Lee and his rejuvenated team. League leadership will be at stake.

Admission 30c plus tax 5c. Children 13c, plus tax GRANDSTAND FREE.

J4-2t

Dean Brothers, Cocky Pair of Cardinals, Find Going Tough In Second Year of Big Time

Medwick And "Dizzy" Nearly Come to Blows on Bench

PIRATES WIN

Only One Half Game Behind Cards as Blanton Wins

The patronage path of the Brothers Dean has turned to a rocky road.

The cocky pair who have carried the unconditionary cognomens of Dizzy and Daffy to high prominence in the National League have found that big league ball players have little consideration for their reputations.

Last year they hung up imposing records and topped them off with brilliant world series accomplishments, but this year things have been different. Dizzy so far has won six and lost five; Daffy has won five and lost four.

Yesterday Dizzy was soundly walloped by the Pirates and the Cards, striking to overhaul the Giants, were defeated 9-5. In the fifth inning after they had returned to the bench Joe Medwick criticized Dizzy's constant use of a slow ball which, he stated, was discharge to a good batter. Dizzy told Medwick what he thought of him and the two assumed warlike poses. They were advancing on each other when other players stepped between them. Daffy it was noticed, was one of the first to rush to his brother's side.

Cy Blanton pitched for the Pirates in defeating Dean and the Cardinals yesterday and the win brought the Pirates within half a game of the St. Louis team.

Hartnett Leads Team.

In the only other National League game, Gabby Hartnett led the Cubs to a 15-5 win over Cincinnati by hitting a homer, a triple and a single, driving in six runs and scoring two others.

St. Johnson, on the mound for the Reds, abdicated after Hartnett clouted his triple with two on in the sixth. Each team collected 12 hits but the Reds left 12 men on bases.

In the American League Boston Red Sox defeated Washington Senators 2-3 and the Browns took the White Sox into camp by the overwhelming scores of 11-1.

Wesley Ferrell kept Washington's nine hits well scattered to chalk up his eighth victory of the season, while burly Bump Hadley, also allowing nine hits, was credited with his fifth defeat.

The White Sox lost more than the ball game for Jimmy Dykes, energetic little manager, was escorted off the field with a sprained ankle. Dykes, who was playing second base in place of the injured Hayes, regularly in that position, was injured when he collided with Jack Burns who was stealing second.

The defeat dropped the fading White Sox back into third position behind Cleveland Indians.

Batting Leaders

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Batting—Vaughan, Pirates, .399; Martin, Cardinals, .385.

Runs—Vaughan, Pirates, 41; Martin, Cardinals, 37.

Runs batted in—Medwick, Cardinals, 39; Vaughan, Pirates, 36.

Hits—Vaughan, Pirates, 65; L. Waner, Pirates, 64.

Doubles—Medwick, Cardinals, 16; Martin, Cardinals, 12.

Triples—Goodman, Reds; and L. Waner, Pirates, 4.

Home runs—Ott, Giants, 9; John Moore, Phillies, Vaughan, Pirates, and Joe Moore, Giants, 8.

Stolen bases—Bordagary, Dodgers and Myers, Reds, 6.

Pitching—Parmelee, Giants, 6-1; Castleman, Giants, and Walker, Cardinals, 5-1.

(American League unchanged).

PETES TO VISIT CITY THURSDAY

First Appearance of Knotty Lee And His Gang This Season

"Knotty" Lee's newly bedecked Peterboro "Sea Horses" make their initial O.B.I. appearance in Belleville in a regular scheduled twilight fixture on Thursday evening at the Exhibition Park. At the present time of writing the Radios and the Petes are racing neck-and-neck being tied for second place in the league standing, with the winner of Thursday night's tilt taking sole possession of second place in the league standing, aside from today's Belleville at Kingston tilt. Decks have been cleared by coaches Mills and Lee for this important tilt that completes the first round of the O.O.B.L. race, each club having met every team at least once, after the Petes and the Radios tangle here on Thursday evening.

Batter Up.

Doubtless Art Calhoun, ex-Toronto right hander who fared so well in the opening game while hurling for the Radios in Kingston, will be given the pitching assignment against the Sea Horses with either "Spooks" Scriver or big Russ Kitchen doing the flinging for the visitors. Calhoun boasts of a world of speed and a curve ball that dazzles, he works easily on the hilltop and should become a consistent winner on the second mound. Skipper Lee has a number of new faces on his 1935 team including Kearns, a highly advertised hard-hitting outfielder hailing from Toronto. Murphy is the club's new shortstop, while another new infielder will wear the Peterboro uniform in the person of a lad named Clarke, address unknown. "Red" Hollingsworth, late of Oshawa and originally a Peterboro boy, has returned to the hilltock city and will be seen in action on the mound in relations sack, while the remainder of the Sea Horse lineup includes such belhawks as Tommy Foley, Cy Whatley, their ace receiver, Willie Caladine, Les Burton and Freddie Ash.

The game will be the first twilight fixture of the season and is not scheduled to be called upon 6.15 p.m. thus giving all fans ample time in which to procure front row seats at the Fair Grounds for the renewal of the old Peterboro-Belleville baseball wars.

CURRENT SPORT

DAY BY DAY

The lack of hits coming from the bats of the local Radios in Oshawa dropped their team batting average to exactly .333, far too low for comfort. In reality the Radios are hitting the ball with some degree of consistency, but seemingly cannot pick the holes in their opponents' defence. To date the local mound corps has stood up famously, both as pitchers and as batters, the three local hurlers handling the local batsmen with Calhoun hitting .667, Williams an even .500, and Ernie Smith clipping the pellet-at the .333 rate. With the exception of the pitchers, Coach Mills does not go around knocker on the team that is hitting the ball, but has got an eagle eye Kerr leading the parade with the grand average of .286. As we have previously stated the Radios have the best all round mound corps in the league while their fielding average is far above average, but when speaking of their batting average well the abov figures need no further comment.

Today the Stewart-Warners are scheduled to appear in Kingston where they usually fatten their batting averages (let's hope that's no black cat omen). Manager Young and Coach Mills announced on the morning mail Jack Williams would get the pitching assignment today, saving Art Calhoun and Ernie Smith for the home tilt on Thursday (twilight) at home versus Knotty Lee's apple knockers. Just who Skipper Lee will elect to step the Radios remains to be seen, but 'tis safe in saying either Rookie Scriver or "Lefty" Lepper, their newly acquired portsider, will get the call. Although big Russ Kitchen has not been taken out of the pitcher's stable yet this year and may welcome the local batsmen at the Exhibition Park on Thursday evening. Judging from the feelings of the local players we are daily waiting for them to break out in an orgy of hitting that will result in a few broken legs for the opposition infield. If they persist in getting in front of line drives coming from the bats of the chastened local batsmen one of these fine days.

No less than 18 sailing punts and cnipes were out on the annual King's birthday sailing races staged by the South End Yachting Club so popular has sailing become in the Bay of Quinte waters since its rejuvenation by the S.E.A.C. a couple of years ago. Besides the craft actually participating in the races a goodly number of other sailing craft dotted the bay around the course. Secretary Charlie Jeffs announced yesterday that in the future all races will commence promptly at 2.30 p.m. (D.S.T.), thus giving all owners ample time to be at the sailing buoy on time. Later in the season the larger 24-foot yachts will be ready to face the starting gun and will add more color to the race. Today the sailors are again at it and the races will continue every Wednesday afternoon until Labour Day. The course is laid out in such a manner that an excellent view of the entire race can be procured from Victoria Park.

After angling about since last Friday for a top-notch main bout the Kiwanis wrestling promoters announced that no less a personage than the redoubtable Marvel had been signed to meet Dan Petroff in the main go of Friday night's wrestling card at the Arena. Local wrestling fans will well remember when Al Getzewich appeared in a local wrestling ring as the Masked Marvel. Getzewich was one of the best grapplers ever to appear in a local ring and continually was a winner while in Canada, but subsequently was defeated in Madison Square Garden where he unmasked and never returned to the 'sox'. Just who this new Masked Marvel is we cannot say, but providing he is as good as his predecessor, he will be a welcomed attraction to any wrestling ring. It is understood that the Masked Marvel is a burly up-and-coming wrestler who desires his identity to be unknown owing to parental objections to wrestling. Dan Petroff, the Russian Lion, is no stranger to a local wrestling crowd. Petroff is not one of those unorthodox wrestlers but one of the old school and providing the Marvel is of the same stamp, a real "big time" bout will be afforded the fans on Friday evening. Three new faces are included in the preliminaries.

Jerry Quinn's Tweed softballers accomplished something no other team in the Belleville Senior Softball loop has been able to do, they defeated the highly tooted Asjmas Club by the score of 17 to 9 last evening. The Tweed softballers made no mistake in their victory as they treated two Asjmas hurlers alike and won a well-earned victory to elevate themselves into a tie for first place along with their defeated adversaries of last night. Manager Quinn showed excellent managerial knowledge when he replaced Stan Laffman with Bill Bowsell, his ace hurler, in the sixth, as the Asjmaas pulled up even. The Asjmaas used two hurlers, Sager and Parraro. The boys from Tweed pounced on the offerings of both, although Parraro did show some excellent relief hurling ability from the fourth to the eighth. Careless fielding on the part of the Asjmas outer gardeners cost Parraro the game. Incidentally the game was filled with thrills galore, no less than four circuit blows and oodles of extra base hits being in evidence.

Our local fence softball team took it on the nose in their initial game in the local Mercantile loop last evening when the C.O.B. nine trimmed them by the score of 18 to 7. Incidentally these boys in the City Mercantile loop are playing stellar softball and are commanding a goodly crowd of spectators.

MASKED MARVEL TO MEET PETROFF

Kiwania Main Bout Arranged at Considerable Expense

When the Kiwania Club wrestling promoters announced that they had signed the unknown Masked Marvel, address also unknown, to meet Dan Petroff, the Russia Lion, they did so only after considerable negotiations between the parties concerned. The Masked Marvel, a newcomer to the Canadian wrestling circles this summer, is known to be a wrestler of parts, having successfully met some of the better class wrestlers in Western Ontario recently without sustaining a loss since his appearance in this province. The acquisition of an artist the class of the Masked Marvel was not completed without additional cost on the part of the Kiwania promoters while in the selection of Petroff as his opponent only-same following a thorough investigation, it being established that the "masked gentleman" is an orthodox wrestler and therefore would be an ideal opponent for Petroff, who also is a master of the old Graeco-Roman style.

The preliminaries for this all-star bout included many new faces who have never previously appeared in a local ring. At the time of writing two weeks, owing to injuries, Johnnie Gyroffy returns to the local ring as a "prelim" to meet Jack Pavios of Greece. Two new-comers will open Friday night's show at the Belleville Arena in Johnnie Mellay of Italy and Ted Monahoney, Irving to daylight saving time being in effect the bouts will not commence until shortly after 8.00 p.m.

Clothiers of Quality

Tired of Hot Heavy Clothes?

Step right into our Store and chose a snappy Summer Weight Suit with QUALITY and STLYE that you can see at a glance BUT PRICED TO PLEASE.

Quick & Robertson

First in Style, Quality and Reasonable Price

BOYS! Here's the way to earn your own C·C·M· in a few weeks

THE number of merchants, factories and offices having parcels and messages delivered by bicycle is growing all the time. In Toronto alone there are more than 10 thousand bicycles being used for delivery purposes. Openings are constantly occurring for boys with bicycles. A bicycle delivery job pays good money, and you can earn your own bicycle in a short time. Thousands of boys have earned their own bicycles.

Perhaps there is a merchant in your very neighborhood who needs a boy with a bicycle, or maybe there is one who is not delivering by bicycle, but who could be persuaded to do so if you pointed out to him that delivery by bicycle is far cheaper than delivery by motor truck or horse. Keep your eyes open and land a job. Most C.C.M. dealers will be glad to let you have a C.C.M. bicycle on easy payments.

Any C.C.M. Men's or Boys' model, with the addition of a parcel carrier, makes a good delivery bicycle. Because of the increased use of bicycles for delivery purposes, the front forks and front hubs of regular C.C.M. models have been made even stronger.

Boys' & Girls' Models	$29.95
Crescent Models	32.50
Ladies' Models	$33.50 & 37.50
Boy Scout	35.00
Standard Roadster	35.00
Road Racers	$7.50 & 43.50
Motorbike Models	$8.50 & 47.50
Light Roadster	47.50
Delivery (less Basket)	52.50

Time payments may be arranged for a small extra charge. Ask your dealer for a catalogue.

A well-loaded C.C.M. runs so smoothly, steers so easily, rides so comfortably that you make better time on it. And C.C.M.'s durable enamelling and chromium-plate over 20-year nickelling stand all kinds of weather. There are other C.C.M. features, too, such as Straight Line Drive, Triplex Hanger, powerful C.C.M. Hercules Coaster Brake, Frames of seamless steel tubing, Endrick Rims, rustless steel Spokes, Dunlop Fort or Dunlop Imperial Tires.

WHEN BUYING A BICYCLE BE SURE IT HAS THE C·C·M· TRADE MARK

C·C·M·

The True Value BICYCLE

This advertisement is copyrighted by Canada Cycle & Motor Co. Limited, 1935.

ANOTHER LITTLE

Col. W. Lawson Little

Colonel William Lawson Little, father of Lawson Little of San Francisco, who won the coveted British Amateur championship for the second successive year, demonstrates that he too can swing a golf club. He shows a long drive one of the strong points in his son's championship game.

ADDITIONAL SPORT PAGE 7

Watch Holway Bros. ?

Chris Lewis Speaking . . .

We have been serving the Public for seventeen (17) years and our aim has always been to give the very best possible service at reasonable prices. Patrons who started with us are still with us and the quality of our work has alway met with the approval of the trade. We wish to remind the Public generally that

WE ARE STILL OFFICIAL DELCO-REMY AND AUTO-LITE ELECTRICAL SERVICE—AS WELL AS OFFICIAL CARBURETOR SERVICE STATION —WE CHECK AND ADJUST NEW CARS FREE WHILE STILL IN THE WARRANTY PERIOD.

Your car will give you better service and a lot more comfort at less expense if tuned up properly. We have the latest machinery for testing your gas consumption and the performance of your car generally. You have many miles to travel this summer, let us provide you with comfort in riding and saving in consumption of gas.

Quinte Battery Service Station

CHRIS. LEWIS, PROPRIETOR.

4-6 Dundas St. Belleville Phone 731

STEPHEN LICENCE

SPORT GOODS DEALER

Headquarters for C.C.M. Bicycles and Accessories. Bicycle Repairs at Specialty

C. C. M. BICYCLES AND ACCESSORIES SOLD BY

COOKE'S REPAIR SERVICE

142 Front St. Bicycle Repairing a Specialty Belleville

Daily Short Story

A Gardenia for George

(Copyright 1935 King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

For more than three months, or did off, George had been travelling on the same train, in the same car with the girl who had such blue eyes, such red lips, and the cute little black toque. No, he didn't know her. And he wondered time after time whether a kind Fate would ever bring that about.

George was one of those reticent young men, seemingly a throwback to another age from this age of blare, blister and jazz. Not that he was an ascetic, that he lacked courage, or anything like that. But George, believe it or not, was one of those people whom the fella for another time called "bashful."

On George had kept boarding the same train day after day, trying always to locate himself in the same subway car, there he would feast his sight upon Miss Blue Eyes.

Sometimes he was lucky enough to squeeze into a seat just opposite her; sometimes even luckier he managed to hang to a strap and casually dangle over the seat where she sat, smiling to herself how had either no any seemingly slighter attention riveted upon the book of a partly folded magazine.

Well, as a long last, Miss Anderson turned a somersault and seemed momentarily to be about to give George a "break," if you could call it that. On this particular Thursday morning, George was congratulating himself upon being the straphanger who could have his unknown divinity as the express clattered downtown. The only drawback was that the auburn-haired youth next to him, who alternately chewed gum and dozed, sat on Miss Blue Eyes and seemed to be poaching upon George's secret preserve.

Sharp Elbows

The unwelcome passenger was one of those rambunctious young men who seem to care little whether they step on your toes or not, or give you an elbow in the ribs as the pushing crowds sway on the subway curves.

Anyway, the train was nearing a station. Two other militant passengers started for the door with fell-back tactics. The gum-chewing young man, who had again been eyeing Miss Blue Eyes, suddenly realized that he had reached his station and his jaw set as he obviously made up his mind that he would reach the doors first, no matter who or what might get him that way.

In the sudden plunge that he made, the chalk-faced youth brushed rudely against the girl, who was leaning slightly over, knocking the magazine from her hand and almost removing her pale Bibb black hat.

He paid not the slightest attention to what he had done. And now it was George who became the militant one. In fact, he had the mannerless youth by the collar.

"Tell the lady you're sorry," demanded George.

But the offender only glared and tried to shake loose. "If there was room here I'd poke you one," he threatened. "Leggo me or go get your papers."

George refused to be shaken off. Everybody was looking including Miss Blue Eyes, who now realized that she was the cause of the clash and turned as crimson as a sunset.

The upshot was that the warlike young man went through the door with the others and with George still slinging him. Everybody tried to peer through the windows as the doors hissed shut, leaving the two young men on the station platform, where the offender had finally freed himself and struck at George as he wrenched loose. Miss Blue Eyes had managed to get a glimpse of her champion knocking his opponent down as the train swept on its way.

Mixed Up Things

On the following morning George almost missed his usual train. He had told himself that he made a mess of things and nearly convinced himself that Miss Blue Eyes would ignore him if she ever set eyes upon him again. However, force of habit triumphed and he found himself in the usual car. With a flutter of his heart he caught a glimpse of her, standing only a few feet away from the door, clinging to a strap. This time he did not try to work his way near her, but aimed one of the enameled posts and clung to it in a very unhappy mood.

Deep in gloomy thoughts, George kept unseeing eyes on the ornate car ads—until he suddenly felt a little tug on his free elbow and turned to look down into the smiling eyes of the chambermaid one. She stood looking up at him coyly an instant. Then she said:

"I hope you'll pardon me, but I just had to—thank you for what you did."

George's heartbeat increased as though someone had stepped on the accelerator.

"I—I wasn't—"

He seemed unable to complete an intelligible sentence, but the pressure on his arm increased as she said:

"Some cynic has said that chivalry is dead, especially in the subway, she went on, "but I thought he was wrong and now I know he was."

"Thanks for the compliment," said George. "You see, I didn't know—that is—"

"Where are you getting off?" she asked, apparently approbos of nothing.

"Cortland," he gulped. Then, with a half-guilty smile: "If I don't start a fight with someone."

"So am I," she said brightly.

Well, they did alight at Cortland. George helped her through the pressing crowd and they went side by side up the little steep stair into the bright light of the morning. George thought he had never seen the sunlight so brilliant.

Miss Blue Eyes herded George out of the line of pedestrian traffic and into the quiet doorway of a bookshop.

"She's Grand."

Once more she looked up at him, with a glance that raised his temperature and it was only then that he noticed that she carried in one hand something carefully wrapped in waxed tissue.

"I think you were grand, Mr. Mr.—"

"George Sterling," he said, supplying the name.

She tore the paper off the little package, drew out a single blossom—a gardenia, and, reaching up, fastened it in his lapel.

"—I hoped a lot I'd see you again today," she went on almost breathlessly. "Of course, I didn't get a chance to say a thing yesterday. Anyway, it almost seems as if I'd known you for a long long time; we've—we've traveled so much — together."

George met her smiling eyes happily. "So—so you've noticed, too," he exclaimed almost unbelievingly.

"Why of course, I've noticed," the girl confessed. "And—and, really, I've wanted to know you."

George was more than happy as he answered: "What's that about great souls with but a single thought? Well I guess there must be something in it anyway."

"Why shouldn't there be?" asked Miss Blue Eyes.

"I'd be delighted," she said, "but I must hurry now, I go this way."

She went down the street, turning once to wave her hand. As she passed out of sight in the thickening crowd, George looked down at the gardenia. "What a little princess!" he murmured to himself. And it was only then that he realized he had forgotten to ask her name.

"Oh, well" he told himself, "you'll meet will soon come." And it did. Also the girl.

Little Benny's Note Book

After supper ma said to pop, Willyum, I'm afraid you'll have to speak to Benny and perhaps with something more substantial than words. I dont know whether he's being affected by the modern spirit of lawlessness that seems to be rife in the air, or what it is, but he's been getting into his after fife with boy after boy, and his latest exploit was just this afternoon with Sidney Hunt, she said.

Benny, this sounds serious, pop said. I trust you're not thinking of taking up fighting as a career, he said, and I said, No sir, O, no indeed, pop, you would learn any guy call you a frizzled onion?

I'd certeny consider it an exaggeration and I'd most proberly resent it, pop said, and I said, Then you would, O, and then how about if he called you a floppy plate of cornmuffin rite afterwards?

It wouldn't make me feel any better, I dont, pop said, and I said. And that's not the worst, because the darn guy kept rite on and said I was a soft boiled tomato, a mashed condeloop and a squshed squash.

Well my lands what if he did? ma said. You know you're not any of those things, don't you? she said, and I said, Sure I do, and that's why I dont want to be called them, not by that guy, anyways, and not by anybody else, either.

Well at least you'll admit this Hunt boy gave proof of a bery fertile imagination in his choice of names, pop said, and I said, No sir, because it was the only that made the name up, and all he did was stand there dum and keep on saying, So are you, who are you tawking about, yourself, and dum things like that. No wonder I got mad, I said.

Yes gods, do your homework pop said,

Wich I did reeling against N.

Fundamentalists Ask Paper Space

Peterborough, June 4.—A minor controversy between the fundamentalists and the liberals among the Bay of Quinte Conference delegates arose over the United Church publication "New Outlook". Rev. James Taylor of Napanville declared the "New Outlook" has constantly spurned opportunities to present the fundamentalist point of view. Rev. E. W. Rowland of Stirling contended the magazine would lose its young readers if it used space on fundamental views. Space limitations prevent a presentation of fundamentalism. Rev. S. F. Dixon of Milford, declared, presenting the report of the Publications Committee.

TEX AND HIS PALS (Actual Photographs)

Copyrighted, 1935, by Harman Features, Dallas, Texas, U.S.A. All Rights Reserved

By Leslie A. Hill

BRINGING UP FATHER—

By George McManus

TILLIE THE TOILER—

By Russ Westover

DANGER TRAILS—

By The Famous Explorer Martin Johnson

MR. AND MRS—

By Briggs

TARZAN THE UNTAMED—

(Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service)

Not once did Zu-tag pause until he came to a stop among the tree branches near the ransacked village. They could hear the sound of life within the palisades and Olga caught a glimpse of the hideous savages.

From them she had so recently escaped. She shuddered to think of possible reception by them and she wondered why the apes had brought her here. Now the anthropoids advanced slowly and with noiseless caution, until they could easily look down into the village street.

Zu-tag, loosening the girl's arms, squatted on a limb, motioning her to find a footing for herself. Repeatedly he pointed at a hut's open door and by various gestures seemed trying to explain something to her.

At last Olga caught his meaning—for while man was a prisoner there Darkness was falling. The fires beneath the cooking pots were lighted. She saw the stake and faggot piles, suddenly realizing the meaning of these grisly preparations! But how could she prevent the feast?

Look ahead to 1948. Are you planning your Insurance programme in relation to your responsibilities ten years hence?

THE NATIONAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA
Head Office TORONTO
1897
R. H. HALY, Resident Manager — Belleville, Ont.

TANGLED LIVES

By ANN FORESTER

Norman's words lingered in the girl's mind as she walked slowly along Main Street on her way home. "If you were still down there in that shabby place I'd be the same as I am now . . . ." Was the circle closing? Was this drawing her closer to Norman—Norman whom she had loved so ardently—so recklessly in the old days? Once she had longed for wealth. Joyce remembered it now bitterly. Fate had heaped wealth in her lap. Was Fate in the same lavish manner going to give her Norman's love.

Joyce had reached the scanty opening of Hickey's vegetable store. Crates of wilted lettuce, of squashy tomatoes were piled on and about the entrance.

A woman in a faded orange house dress, balancing a hob for baby on her thin hip, stood while the obviously fingered vegetables. Her broad straw hat shaded her face so that Joyce could not see her features clearly. If it had not been for the curious little shrinking in the manner, the defensive way in which she stepped into the doorway, Joyce would have passed her by as a stranger.

As it was she found herself looking with a sudden quick interest at the bound beneath recognizing the thin figure, the troubled face of her friend Maidy.

THE ACID TEST

CHAPTER FORTY-EIGHT

No question but that it was Maidy. Maidy's pasty face damp with heat, its freckles like a sprinkling of cinnamon, taken on a greenish cast. Maidy shorn of any pretensions to prettiness to which youth and make-up might have entitled her.

Six years of marriage had aged Maidy. She looked quite as old as Mrs. Hall. Was the strange dress faded—but still strident — help matter? The color assaulted Joyce's little hope there was in Maidy's cheeks and eyes and turned her lashes and brows quite pale.

At the sight of Joyce she had hitched the heavy baby further down on her hip and made an instinctive movement to dive into the store. Joyce had exclaimed and stepped up to her.

"Maidy! I was sure I'd see you."

"Oh, sure . . . I come here to do my marketing," said Maidy sullenly. "And this is the baby! To think I haven't seen him! Isn't he big for his age!"

Maidy wielded lethargically as Joyce surveyed the baby. He had watched her with expressionless round eyes—with much of Aunt Clara's own stupidity of gaze.

"Aunt Clara told me you had married . . . told me about the baby. I've been wanting to see you, Maidy. I went down by your house but I think there was no one home."

"I guess I was down to the market," Maidy replied in a tight voice. Her eyes were taking in Joyce almost defiantly. She gave a little sharp laugh. "Well, you don't need me to tell you how fine you've got in', Joy. Like—like—" Maidy searched her vocabulary for an extravagant comparison "—like some beautiful film star. Looks like you got your wish . . . remember that day, just before you went away, when you sat me was sitting in our room—you on the bed—I can see you now, sitting cross legged, and scowlin', and saying you wanted money and beautiful clothes . . ."

Maidy was pulling her with the words, as though they were so many pieces of string, her basket hanging on her arm—along the market basket with vegetable tops protruding, chaining eagerly with the slender regal girl in orchid chiffon who carried the fat baby on her arm.

A startling sight for Riverton's prominent young attorney to meet as she came hurrying along the sidewalk with a client. Norman Weaver drew up short—his eyes flashing from one woman to the other. Plainly he was at a loss. His very ears grew red, and his bow was not so much a greeting as an instinctive ducking for cover.

Maidy looked after him with malicious satisfaction.

"He bowed because you were with me! When I'm alone he can't see me for dust. Terribly afraid I'll speak to him when he's with someone! Huh! Actin' like he never met me! Just as if I didn't play go-between for you an' him in the old days! Me . . . not . . . know . . . him—oh, Land!"

But Joyce did not echo Maidy's strange little sharp laugh.

Joyce was remembering a fervent young man who had spoken to her not half an hour before, pleading ardently—

"If you were still down there, . . . I'd be the same . . . ."

If she were! Joyce Allen again, down in the shabby Commercial House—thought Joyce in a sort of bitter amusement. Norman would be quitting her greetings on the streets of Riverton—and meeting her on the sly.

Poor Norman . . . not everyone could be like Joyce Allen—to take the acid test applied so swiftly . . .

ANOTHER ACID TEST

CHAPTER FORTY-NINE

To Joyce's modernistic black and white and scarlet suite of the Canadian house, Maidy seemed more grotesque than ever. Maidy had swooped down upon the baby and carried him off—ostensibly to see Joyce's suite, in the privilege of it to wash his hot and dirty face and hands. This left Maidy free to handle and admire to her heart's content, peering through the rooms like a barbarian in a harem for the golden market basket dangling on her arm.

But such things as market baskets and faded orange dresses had ceased to worry Maidy. She was in a transport of delight, livid with envy and admiration.

"My land, Joy—" there was an echo of awe on her voice. "It's like a fairy-land—isn't it. . . . Remember that day when you said you wanted to be rich and have beautiful clothes an' things! You gave me that silver vanity case Norman Weaver gave you—remember?"

Maidy avidly conjured up the picture of the sullen, miserable girl who had sat in the sagging bed in the hot little bedroom—was it only six years ago?

"That was just after you'd had a fight with Norman. . . . You never thought then you'd be living up here —owning all these beautiful things, eh? The small green eyes slid over the other and Maidy laughed a little spitefully. "Well, he'd be glad enough to marry you now, I guess, that Norman Weaver! I think he was always crazy about you, Joy. He sorta cooled on Natalie after you left, an' I guess the way he looked at you today when we met him on Main street! But you can't be married for five years, can you!"

Five and keep the money. It will go toward certain library and exploration funds if I remarry in that time.

"Well, you'd be a fool to give up this!" said Maidy vigorously. "I ain't worth it. Nothing is—

A shadow in the beautiful violet eyes watching her. "Nothing? Nothing at all, Maidy? Would you trade instead of your marriage?"

"Why's good man—as men go," said Maidy grudgingly, "but give me a chance to have a little luxury—" She broke off as Kitty came from the door with the placid, and clean, baby in her arms. Joyce, watching see Maidy's plain freckled face suddenly glorified as though a lamp had been lit within her, she reached up and took her baby, covering him with the curtains. You couldn't see me. Oh, what a fool I was . . . She give a light little laugh and again hitched the baby upon the hip he was slowly sliding down. Joyce saw that Maidy had made her choice back there in the bitter past. She had wanted wealth. Now she had it and love was denied to her. The only man to touch her heart—a chest and a fortune hunter . . .

Maidy, she didn't love Jim Keith! Joyce told herself with fierce pride. That had only been a mad physical attraction which had drawn them together on the Neptune. She didn't love him—she wasn't sure she didn't hate him—

She ordered lunch served out a corner of the verandah, henceforth sacred to Mrs. Cameron's bridge parties.

Maidy looked about at the bright green mat, at the porch swing with its gay awning, at the lacquered tables and chairs and bright cushions.

"Just like those pictures you used to pour over, when you was a kid. Joy those bright advertisements in the backs of the magazines," Maidy turned to Kitty. "You shoulda seen her, always with her nose in some book when I wanted her to play or sew with me and some boy friends!"

Lunch was nearly over when a large car rolled in the gate and stopped on the driveway before the steps. Mrs. Cameron, Natalie and Jim Keith got out. Jim and Natalie had been playing tennis at the Country Club. He wore white flannels and a shirt open at the throat, and Joyce had a flashing memory of him in a white uniform pacing the deck of the Neptune.

A moment of blank consternation as Mrs. Cameron caught sight of Joyce's guest. Maidy looked almost scared, but Joyce said coolly: "I believe you know my cousin, Mrs. Cameron. And you, Natalie. Mr. Keith—this is my cousin, Mrs. McNally."

"Lovely, oh lovely, you little thoroughbred!" the man applauded inwardly. "That's telling them! My sweet!"

Outwardly, he bowed and smiled to Maidy's hot red face and her embarrassed "pleased to meetcher."

"I believe I know Mrs. McNally—" Natalie stammered with a bewildered look at her mother.

But Mrs. Cameron was equal to the occasion. With such a look as Marie Antoinette might have given her captors, she sailed into the house calling, "come, Natalie" over her shoulder.

But Jim Keith lingered and addressed Kitty as the most interesting thing the other two.

"Could a dying man beg a cup of tea, or do you want me to perish right here at your feet?"

"Sure I can, if my feet I'd even be willin' you should perish! Kitty flashed back. And I let'm toe—it's ice coffee. Will the dying man come back to earth for that?"

"Yes, if one of your smiles goes with it—" Keith tossed as he seated himself.

Lightly bantering to Kitty, gravely courteous to Maidy, Keith kept the ball rolling. Maidy was entranced. After the effect of Mrs. Cameron's snub were away she was more vivacious, more like the old Maidy as Joyce had known her.

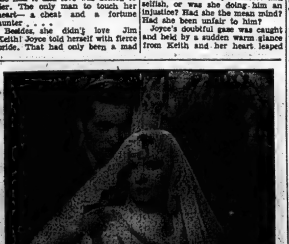
"Even with Maidy!" thought the girl, "Its charming self—and all women make fools of themselves the minute he's near. Even Maidy. . . . Even I . . . ."

As the others grew more talkative, Joyce grew more silent, fighting down the strange attraction, the strange antagonism this man roused in her. . . . Even in Maidy's grow communicative, even coquettish under his attention. Joyce felt her cheeks begin to burn.

"You are Mrs. Cameron's cousin?" He did not please Joyce.

"Yes, but you shouldn't hold that against her!" Keith laughed at Maidy, flattered at his attention. "I'm not in her class at all—you can see that. Ah! I had better go. You don't't nothin' stuck up about Joy. When she ran into me down here she soon made me come up herwfor lunch. I didn't want to 'lookin' like this an' all, but she made me come."

And as he made polite answer to this, Jim Keith's eyes met Joyce's across the table: "Oh gallant! I knew you wouldn't let Maidy down on you, my girl!" His dark eyes brushed her face as though in caress before he turned to speak to Maidy.



A tumult in Joyce's heart as she listened to them. At first she was angry. "Its, it, insincere! He's secretly making fun of her . . . . Does he hate him!" she thought furious. Jim was drawing out Maidy on the old subject which she thoroughly knew —the history of Riverton, and profoundly as though he listened to an eyewitness of the siege of Troy, or the building of the Pyramids. And he listened to the account of the railroad coming to Riverton, and the fight to build the tressel across the river.

And seeing his grave attention and Maidy's sparkling face, Joyce was suddenly ashamed of herself. Was Jim Keith truly insincere and selfish, or was she doing him an injustice? Had she the mean mind? Had she been unfair to him?

Joyce's doubtful gaze was caught and held by a sudden warm glance from Keith and her heart leaped madly.

Norman Weaver was not the only one to undergo the acid test that day.

(To Be Continued)

Cesar Romero and Marlene Dietrich in Paramount's brilliant love drama, "The Devil is a Woman," coming to the Belle tomorrow-Double bill.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If your bad sour and stuck and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of pills, salts and mineral oil. Instead, get the cause and make you feel great by starting the bile flow to your liver. Then you'll jump out of bed in the morning rarin' to go.

That's what you want to do. They only move the bile that's in your intestines. But you need the extra help that comes from your liver—and only 2 pints of liquid bile should flow each day. If it isn't flowing freely, your food don't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You have headaches. Your skin may break out in blotches. Your kidneys may be overworked. You feel sour, sunk and mean. Everything you eat ferments and poisons like garbage.

It takes those 2 pints of liquid CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get them moving. Don't accept substitutes. Insist on Carter's Little Liver Pills. They contain Nature's own mild, gentle vegetable laxatives, especially selected to act on the liver. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and see that you get them. Don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Only 25c at all druggists. Genuine must bear signature: Carter Medicine Co.

THE CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

Colorful Clothes Breeze Into Summer

• for camp — beach — cottage

Vacation time will soon be here—start now to compile lists of needs to help you really enjoy yourself! Check over these items and articles. We've really a splendid selection of wearables for the beach, the camp or the cottage; wearables that are practical, cool and sporty too. We are featuring them Thursday. In the department you'll probably see other suggestions which will give you aid in selecting your summer wardrobe. Come in Thursday!

Plenty of Comfort in Shorts and Slacks

And these are particularly sturdy too, of cotton jean cloth, or heavy white drill—the slacks, cut generous and for real leg comfort, finished with pleats or with button trims. Shorts, the cool abbreviated style, ideal for playing tennis and other sports. Sizes 14 to 20.
SLACKS, per pair 1.59 SHORTS, 1.00 and 1.59

Note:—Halter blouses to go with slacks or shorts, of gay colored cotton prints. Sizes 14 to 20. Each 49c
— Second floor

Bathing Suits
One and Two Pieces

A cooling dip in the lake or pool is just what you need to refresh you, and the O.D.S. is the place to buy that bathing suit you'll need, too. We have one and two piece styles, of fine botany wool in plain and waffle knit, with tieback, halter necks and smartly trimmed in a contrasting shade. You'll find plenty of variety in our fine stock. Almost any color you could wish for, with sizes from 34 to 44. Each 1.95 2.95 3.95
— Second floor

Kiddies' Bathing Trunks — of cotton, could you think of anything more serviceable or easy to launder? In fancy knit, choice of navy and white, yellow and white, blue and white, sand and white, red and white, and all white. For tots 4, 6, 8 years. Each 25c
— Second floor

Kiddies' Printed Cotton Sun Frocks — Printed cotton one piece suit frocks, with a cute little frill over the shoulders or plainly tailored with strap shoulders. Let them get a generous coat of tan this year, here's one way of doing it! In blue, green or red. Sizes 2, 4 years. Each 98c

Special Value! 3 pc. Sport Suits
• Blouse • Skirt • Shorts

For camp or beach, we can't think of anything smarter, or more practical. Here is a three piece outfit that tubs up well, easy to iron, and extremely sensible and economical, too. Blouse is tailored, with collar and short sleeves, some sleeveless and some with a scooped back. Skirt, in trim tailored style with buttons down front. Shorts, full and roomy buttoning down the side. You can select them in many gay colored stripe effects. If you take sizes from 14 to 20. Ask to see them in the Department Thursday.

1.95 Complete
— Second floor

Fine Wool Pullovers — Just the type of summer wear, for sports, etc. Of fine wool, short sleeve style, with round neck. Plain and two-toned effects, in white and bright summery shades. Sizes 34 to 40. Each
69c
— Second floor

Sport Suits — For Girls 8 to 14 Years — In comfortable pyjama style, one piece, some with detachable jacket. Of fine cambric and some of fine launder, they'll be seen on the beach quite frequently this year. In check gingham and stripe cotton shirtings. For 8 to 14 year olds.
1.59 and 1.95
— Second floor

CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

KIDNAPPED BOY-HEIR HAPPY ABOUT RELEASE

Tired and worn by his adventure, three poses as he smiles happily at safe return. The Kidnappers have 9-year-old George Weyerhaeuser, his release. It is reported that his not been apprehended as yet. of Tacoma, ash., is here shown in parents paid $200,000 ransom for his

MORGAN ROWLAND OCCUPIES PULPIT AT STIRLING CHURCH

Stirling—During the absence of Rev. E. W. Rowland, who for the past week has been in attendance in Peterboro, the service on Sunday morning was conducted by his son, Morgan Rowland. Taking his text from the Gospel of St. John, chapter 4, verse 42, "And the truth shall make free," Mr. Rowland delivered a most impressive address to a large congregation.

Rev. E. W. Rowland returned home on Monday after spending the past week in Peterboro where he attended the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church.

Mrs. Roy Tomlinson, Fays and Douglas spent Sunday at the home of the former's uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Walt in Frankford.

Mr. Clarence Duff of Port Hope was a week-end guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Spry.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Dodds, Isobel and Barbara of Smith's Falls visited friends in Stirling over the week-end.

Miss Margaret Craig has returned home after completing her year's work at Peterboro Normal School. Miss Craig passed all her subjects on the merits of her year's work.

Miss Helen Ketcheson of Springhook is spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Mason.

GREEN'S
I.D.A. DRUG STORE
BELLEVILLE

WEATHER
Light to moderate winds; cloudy and rather cool tonight and Friday with light showers.

The Ontario Intelligencer

TEMPERATURES
Max. Min.
Today 82 53
Year Ago 86 55
Weather—Fair.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, JUNE 6, 1935

BYNG FIRST COMMANDER CANADIAN CORPS DEAD

NEWS BRIEFS AND ODDITIES

Sacramento, June 6 (CP)—When escaping convicts steal the clothes of prison board officials and the warden, that's just too far for the officials, the American Way, Ways and Means Committee has ruled.

Warden James Holohan of San Quentin and Joseph Stevens and Gordon Atherton, prison board officials, filed claims totaling $39.15 for suits and hats which they claimed were ruined when, desperate, but unarmed as to weapons from the State prison van broke early this year by four convicts.

Washington, June 6 (CP)—Miss Miss may be Mrs.—It appears to the line passing wedding bells are causing agency no slow or bi-yow to a halt to carry around what used to be known as "maiden" name, they said, because people would pay attention to her.

FWA silence can't quite understand why Miss Miss has exempened that were M-year-old twins and each was 35 inches tall and weighed 44 to 50 pounds.

London, Ont., June 6 (CP)—A large toad, said to be the largest ever seen in London has been christened "Jumbo" by the lady of the house, into whose lap he fell when she was over canine into the garden. Jumbo is 9 inches in length and world, weighing about five pounds, is going to be named, according to his new friend when he grows up.

Toronto, June 6 (CP)—One of the first organizations to give official recognition to the title bestowed upon Canada's popular Governor-General is the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, which has formed a branch at a new chapter in Toronto. It is known as the Lady Tweedsmuir Chapter.

Peiping, China, June 6 (CP)—General Yang Hsiao, Mayor of Peiping, notorious all over China for his alliances with Japanese in the "blue laws" in Peiping, orders the cessation of all co-educational middle schools in this city. The social welfare office has received orders to have hundreds of bad sex rooms in the same courtyard to men and women.

Edmonton, June 6 (CP)—Daniel Kupchuk, 27, of Pelkham, Sask., bought a "sack of gold" for $275 and then found nothing but lead pellets inside it. Police Chief Cuk and Alvin D. McDonald have been committed for trial on a charge of conspiracy to defraud on Kupchenko's complaint.

New York, June 6 (CP)—Under "drastic action" Mayor F. H. La Guardia police will dump into Long Island Sound two tons of dope confiscated in connection with narcotic traffic.

The collection represents a loss to the system of $31,000 during the nearly three years of its operation, officials said. Heroin, cocaine, opium, morphine and other narcotics valued at the rate of 1,575 daily.

Platsville, Conn., June 6 (CP)—"The body of Mrs. Mary Smith of Niesil, 42, a local hairdresser, was found in the parlor of her home here last night and beside it was a note addressed to a local undertaker saying "I'll be needing my hair for my funeral. It will not need to be done over."

Medical examiner Dr. Lawr Rorl said the woman had committed suicide by inhaling illuminating gas.

Windsor, Ont., June 6 (CP)—One of things to be wary of today is the influence of the rich and millionaires" on the country's newspapers, Chancellor W. J. Whidden of McMaster University told the Western Association of Baptist Churches meeting here here. As an instance of influence on the press he said that H. H. Stevens' mass buying pamphlet had not been printed in an establishment which refused an advertiser asked to supersede.

Brockville Rejects Daylight Saving

Brockville, Ont., June 6 (CP)—By a vote of 7-3 members of the Municipal Council last night refused to accept the suggestion Brockville should adopt Daylight Saving for the period between June 16 and September 2, after requests to that effect had been made by the Board of Merchants' Association and some manufacturing concerns.

THREE KILLED AS CAR SANDWICHED BY TRANSPORTS

Florence Webber, Sadie Quick, R. Baker, Kingston, Victims

ONE IS INJURED

Rushed to Hospital And in a Critical Condition

KINGSTON, Ont., June 6.—(CP)—Three persons were killed, another injured, and two occupants of the car in which two young women, Ada Florence Webber, and Sadie Quick, were instantly killed last night, died this afternoon in the Kingston General Hospital.

The fourth occupant of the car, A. Robinson of Ottawa, was in a critical condition in the hospital, but hopes were entertaining today for his recovery. Baker had been almost completely scalped and suffered internal injuries.

Kingston, Ont., June 6 (CP)—Condition of W. Ray Baker, Kingston, said A. Robinson, Ottawa, seriously injured in an auto accident last night, when two young women were killed, was reported as still critical at General Hospital today. Baker suffered very deep severe injuries in the smash up and while improving, his condition still remains in danger. The young women killed were Florence Webber, 20, and Sadie Quick, 22.

The four people were in a car going west on the Provincial highway, west of Westbrook, about 10 miles from Kingston. As they were to pass a transport and trailer another transport sandwiched the car between the two trucks.

The car was crushed and the two young women were believed to have been instantly killed. Dr. Murray of Westbrook and Dr. Mumford of Kingston were summoned and the injured men removed to hospital.

From the condition of the car it seemed almost miraculous the two men were not instantly killed.

West Presbytery Urges Closing of Knox College

Montreal, June 6.—(CP)— From five Presbyteries scattered throughout Canada resolutions have come to the 61st Presbyterian General Assembly here with respect to the church colleges in Toronto and Montreal.

Declaring the church should be free to re-examine the whole work of training candidates for the ministry, to re-establish the colleges in the light of this examination and be able to close any that do not justify their liability to penalty through breach of trust, Hamilton Presbytery urged Presbytery urged closing Knox College, Toronto, and the Montreal Colleges or take such action as would terminate present agreements with the staffs.

The Presbytery urged Board of Colleges appoint a committee of contemporary arrangements for carrying on the work, to ask presbyteries to recommend changes in the position of principal and teachers and submit recommendations to the 1936 assembly.

CUBAN MILLIONAIRE HELD BY KIDNAPPERS

Seized With Servants And Body-Guard By Bandits

(By Edmund A. Chester)
(Copyright, 1935, By The Associated Press)

Havana, June 6—Eight "mango peddling" kidnappers held Antonio San Miguel, the Cuban millionaire, and three servants today, while a small army of police and soldiers searched for them.

San Miguel, 78-year-old former Spanish consul-general to Cuba, was seized yesterday while being driven in his luxurious country home in the Vibora suburb.

The abductors also carried off his bodyguard, Constantino Prieto, his chauffeur, Constantino Prieto, his valet, Jose Gonzalez.

Two children, a 14-year-old boy and his 11-year-old sister, only witnesses, told authorities the kidnappers used a wagon piled high with mangoes to mask their activities.

A reliable informant said the millionaire received a letter some time ago threatening him with kidnapping if he failed to pay a sum of money. He was said to have complied with the demands.

Discharged Hand Shot, Killed at Bethany; Accidental, Says Farmer

Allegation Norman Blair Tried to Break Into Farmhouse

RETREAT BEFORE GUN

Ralph Portsmith Says That Gun Went Off By Accident

Bethany, Ont., June 6.—(CP)—Norman Blair, 26 of Peterborough, was shot and instantly killed today at the farm home of Ralph Portsmith, Portsmith called police and said he had shot Blair accidentally after the Peterborough man attempted repeatedly to break into his home.

Blair was shot while standing in the woodshed at the Portsmith home on the 12th concession of Cavan Township, about 15 miles southeast of Peterborough.

Police information is that Blair, who had been visiting some time for Portsmith, was discharged yesterday morning and left. Returning Portsmith had some of his clothes. There were repeated attempts to break in.

Today Portsmith, again driving home, was headed him from the door at rifle point. The gun was discharged by accident, Portsmith told police, and the shot struck Blair between the eyes.

Constable Thompson of Bethany was notified, and Provincial Constable Oxley came from Cobourg to the scene.

Dr. Hamilton of Bethany examined the body and Coroner Dr. Turner of Minbrook.

Blair leaves a wife and seven small children, the oldest nine years old.

PRESBYTERIANS PROMOTE PEACE

Proposal to Form Great Movement To This End

Montreal, June 6.—(CP)—Institution of a national movement in Canada to promote world peace with the participation of General Assembly taking the lead is the subject of a proposal placed before the United Presbyterian gathering by the Saskatchewan Synod. The Saskatchewan suggestion urged the Assembly approach other religious bodies with the view to establishing the movement.

Suggestion for another kind of peace movement took the initiative from Guelph, Ont., Presbytery which proposed a joint Church Committee on evangelism and church life and work confer with other denominations to induce churches to form a general inter-church committee to deal with matters in which the whole church was interested. The committee would report on various developments the opinion of churches on these questions. Other overtures urged the age limit for retiring ministers be 65 instead of 70 and some wanted a greater amount.

Other overtures urged reduction of the minimum salary limit from $1,800 to $1,600, stricter moving picture censorship, a survey of conditions among young people.

A committee of the Assembly will consider the overtures and make recommendations respecting them.

Fire Marshal's Office Will Be Re-organized

Toronto, June 6.—(CP)—Attorney-General A. W. Roebuck today said an Advisory Committee had been formed to assist in the reorganization and administration of the Ontario Fire Marshal's office.

The appointment of William J. Scott, Owen Sound barrister and former Toronto newspaperman, to succeed Fire Marshal E. P. Heaton was announced last night.

W. H. Stringer, former Chief Inspector of the Criminal Investigation Department of the Ontario Provincial Police, was named deputy, succeeding C. F. Lewis.

Earl of Bessborough Reported Improved

Ottawa, June 6 (CP)—Condition of the Earl of Bessborough, suffering from a bronchial ailment, was described today as improved. A. F. Lascelles, his secretary, stated

Latest Line-Up Of New Cabinet For Great Britain

(By George Hamilton)
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
LONDON, June 6.—(CP Cable)—Stanley Baldwin, leader of the Conservative Party, today was giving the final touches to the reconstructed Cabinet. Unless all predictions go astray, tomorrow Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald will hand in his resignation to His Majesty at Buckingham Palace and Mr. Baldwin will be requested to form a new Cabinet.

The latest line-up of the new Cabinet, still of course entirely unofficial, follows:—

Prime Minister, Stanley Baldwin now Lord President of the Council; Lord President of the Council, Ramsay MacDonald.

Lord Chancellor, Lord Hailsham, now Secretary for War.

Chancellor of the Exchequer — Neville Chamberlain, as at present.

Foreign Secretary — Sir Samuel Hoare, now Secretary for India.

Home Secretary—Sir John Simon, now Foreign Secretary.

Sir John will also be Deputy Leader of the House of Commons.

Dominion Secretary — J. H. Thomas, as at present.

Colonial Secretary—Malcolm MacDonald, now Under-Secretary for Dominions.

Secretary of State for Air, Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, now Trade Secretary, but who will also probably be made a Peer.

First Lord of the Admiralty, Sir Bolton Eyres-Monsell, as at present.

Minister of Agriculture, Sir Godfrey Collins, as at present.

Minister of Agriculture, Walter Elliott, as at present.

First Commissioner of Works, William Ormsby-Gore, as at present.

Minister of Labor, Ernest Brown, now Minister of Mines.

The six other Cabinet Ministers —three new ones to be present Cabinet— are expected to remain unchanged.

EDWARD DUDLEY SETTING PACE

Oakmont Course Proves Tough For Golfers to Navigate

Oakmont Country Club, Pittsburgh, June 6—(AP)—Big Ed. Dudley of Seattle was the early morning 34, one under par, for a 72-hole test which began over the course today in the first round of the United States Open Golf, Championship.

Dudley was the first to crack par, but either half of the rugged Oakmont layout, as the vanguard of the field of 160 players otherwise failed to get a single stroke.

Denny Shute of Chicago faltered badly toward the finish, losing a 3 stroke to par on each of the last four holes as he took an inward 41 and posted a first round total of 78.

Finishing a shot behind Dudley as both faltered on the incoming holes, Byron Nelson of Ridgewood, N.J., and Floyd Farley of Oklahoma City, each posted 75.

Dudley, being a great chance to move out in front after his par-checking first eight holes, posted a 40. He four strokes to par on two holes, the 12th and 15th.

Princess Royal Is Making Progress

London, June 6 (AP)—The Princess Royal, who underwent an operation for goiter nearly two days ago, "continues to make satisfactory progress," said a bulletin issued by the nursing home today.

Province Mourning Death of Lord Byng

Toronto, June 6.—(CP)—Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario today sent a message of sympathy to Lady Byng on the occasion of the death of Field Marshal Viscount Byng.

The message read: "Please accept the deepest sympathy of the province and the people of Ontario on the loss of your gallant husband, the memory of whom will ever live in our hearts".

VISCOUNT BYNG OF VIMY DIES AFTER OPERATION

Former Governor General of Canada Passes at Home

VIMY RIDGE HERO

Commander of Canadian Corps in France as Sir Julian Byng

Thorpe-le-Soken Essex, June 6.—(CP Cable)—Blaunch warrior in war and in peace, Field Marshal Julian Hedworth George First Viscount Byng of Vimy, First Commander of the Canadian Corps in the Great War and later Governor-General of Canada, died at two o'clock this morning. He was 72 years old.

Death visited one of the Empire's most doggred and gifted of fighters at his home here. Byng for some time had been failing in health in recent years. He returned only a few months ago from another long journey to Canada and California.

He developed acute abdominal symptoms on Tuesday afternoon, and the operation was performed made an immediate operation imperative.

The operation was performed yesterday afternoon by Sir Arthur Sidney Griffith-Boscawen, and the Field Marshal died in the early hours of today.

Soldier All Life

Byng, a soldier all his life until he was appointed by the Governor-Generalship of Canada and then to the governorship of Metropolitan Police of London, had the hearty respect of the Empire's foremost military leaders, and his death was received with deep regret by the Isle Sir Arthur Currie, Byng's famous fellow commander of the Canadian Corps.

Byng was among the few professional soldiers to grasp the advantages of tanks from the Dominion he had served so well, and in the end would be a striking force of unshakeable determination.

Genius of Vimy Ridge

Genial with reserve, courteous to a fault, Byng of Vimy proved in his duties and never followed those other leaders whose jealousy or hatred dragged their names through found vent in statements or autobiographies.

He was called to the Western Front a few days after the beginning of the Great War; he was perhaps the last man in history to be given command of a corps, and that now find no place in major warfare. It was the genius of the triumph of Vimy Ridge, when a hundred thousand Canadians under his leadership fought the first great victory of the war, on Easter Monday, 1917 in the midst of the most bitter and much-promising general Offensive.

Commander-in-Chief

Byng after that was promoted commander of the Third Army and then was appointed to command the Canadian Corps, and saw his Cambrai campaign, with its brilliant and military conceptions of the entire war, neutralized for lack of troops and support.

He was promoted General after the battle of Amiens, and in the early spring of 1918 his Third Army hung on viciously in the teeth of the last of the German counter-offensives, and on Byng's own Cambrai strategy. He was made a Knight of the Bath, Civire, behind the ground-breaking Canadian advance to Mons.

In peace time Byng's name denied the seclusion he sought. He gladly accepted the post of Governor-General of the Dominion, and all went well until 1926, when Byng's unwavering support of the constitutional principle of responsible government in the centre of one of Canada's gravest constitutional crises. When Byng had accepted the resignation of W. L. Mackenzie King but insisted on acquiescing to the Liberal leader's request that parliament be dissolved, called upon Arthur Meighen to form a government. The Conservative minority government, with within short order and the Liberals gaining a majority in the subsequent election, the issue, a question of the constitutional issue, the refusal of the Governor-General to follow the retiring Prime Minister's advice, for Byng personally both aroused the highest respect, and as Byng said, "no matter what I do, I am wrong either way."

Took Charge of Police

His Majesty's "trusted old man" late in 1930, but he was again called upon, this time to fix up the Metropolitan Police, involved in publication charges that threatened to bring that force of men into total disgrace and Byng was considered the best man to remedy the malady. He worked again for three years, when his task was finished and the credit of the force was again fully established.

Since 1931, Byng and his wife, (Continued on page ten)

Heads Presbyterians

Rt. Rev. D. T. L. McKerroll of Victoria Church, Toronto, who was Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada at the General Assembly in Montreal. He was born near Owen Sound in Grey County, Ont., Dr. McKerroll was educated at Owen Sound and Knox College, Toronto. Ordained in 1901, he occupied charges at Sutton and Lockport, Ont., and in 1910 went to Victoria Church, where he has preached ever since. Dr. McKerroll has been Editor and Executive Secretary of the Church Pension Board.

T. L. CHURCH BILL MEETS BATTLE IN COMMITTEE

Vigorous Onslaught is Made on Newspaper Measure

GRAHAM OPPOSES

Canadian Daily Newspaper Association Makes Protest

Ottawa, June 6 (CP)—Vigorous attack as discriminatory and unfair was launched today in the Senate Banking and Commerce Committee on the bill of T. L. Church (Toronto East), to compel newspapers to publish names of their shareholders.

Almost at the outset the measure met with an amendment to kill it moved by Senator C. C. Ballantyne (Cons., Montreal) and Senator D. McRae (Cons., Vancouver). The amendment was not voted upon but after debate it was agreed that the decision whenever the bill is taken up again.

Burden of the amendment was the preamble of the bill had not been proven to the satisfaction of the committee, "the committee having arrived at the opinion that the passing of this bill would not be in the public interest."

Hon. Geo. George P. Graham (Lib., Brockville), Senator McRae, Senator Ballantyne, Senator Lois Cote (Cons., Ottawa), Senator J. P. B. Casgrain (Lib., Montreal) and Senator Lorne C. Webster (Cons., Montreal) led in the attack.

Is Political Charged.

A telegram was read from the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association protesting against passage of the bill "on the ground it would be discriminatory and unjust and constitutes an interference with the freedom of the press that has never been called for by any responsible body of public opinion."

"The bill wants newspapers treated in an entirely different way than you want other business properly treated," Senator Graham declared. "You want to make ownership a matter of one or two people only "to get even with something about their neighbors".

Already there were ample provisions to prevent a newspaper from doing anything contrary to the public interest. He was not a critic for a newspaper proprietor to own two newspapers any more than he was a critic for one man to own two or three businesses in the same line, Senator Graham said.

"If you pass this bill I will move for a man to run two or three businesses in the same line, Senator Casgrain said.

Senator Cote charged as ultra vires a section which would impose a penalty for publication of an article for which responsibility had been received without marking it as an advertisement but which was "We are trying to make criminals out of these owners under the guise of a Post Office Act amendment," he added.

Senator Webster said the press was "head and shoulders" over any other industry.

Mr. Church, father of the bill, defended it on the ground that it was "head and shoulders" over any other industry.

Mr. Church, father of the bill, defended it on the ground that it was again fully established.

Since 1931, Byng and his wife, (Continued on page ten)

Canada's Right to Bar Appeal to Privy Council In Crime Cases Held

Irish Free State Has Right to Abolish Appeal in All Cases

IRISH TEST CASE

Petition of Coal Corp. For Right of Appeal Dismissed

London, June 6 (CP)—The Judicial committee of His Majesty's Privy Council today delivered two judgments which in effect mean that Canada has the right to bar appeals to the Privy Council in criminal cases, and that the Irish Free State has the right to abolish appeal to the Privy Council in all criminal cases.

Lord Sankey, Lord Chancellor, delivered the judgments which followed months of argument before the Lordships of the judicial committee on cases of far-reaching constitutional importance. The Canadian decision confirms the existing Canadian Criminal Code which does not recognize the right of appeal in criminal matters.

Irish Decision.

The Irish decision is that the Free State, since passage of the Statute of Westminster, which formally recognizes the right of self-government for the dominions, abolished appeals. laments with that of the United Kingdom, is entitled to disregard that article of the previous Irish Free State constitution which preserved the right of appeal to the King.

Specifically the privy council first dismissed the petition of the British Coal Corporation of Quebec, for special leave to appeal against Quebec court which convicted the corporation of conspiracy with other companies to limit output and illegal combine to maintain prices, and fined the corporation.

Secondly, their Lordships dismissed petition for leave to appeal from the Irish Free State decision that was made a test case.

Appeal In Civil Cases.

The two petitions were linked together by their Lordships as both involved the right to appeal from appeal from self-governing dominions, and which, therefore, involved the right of appeal to His Majesty in all other than purely criminal matters.

Dealing with the petition from the province of Quebec, their Lordships' decision as read by Lord Sankey, said: "The appeal [in criminal law] is refused, is from the decision of a Canadian court and is to secure a reversal or alteration of the order of the Canadian court. If it is successful its effect is to make the order of the Canadian court will be reformed accordingly.

Right Left With Canada.

"The appellant and the respondent are both subjects of His Majesty the Canadian subjects or persons who have submitted to the jurisdiction of the Canadian courts. Such appeals (criminal) must be essentially matters of Canadian concern, and the regulation and control of such appeals must be left to the primary element of Canadian sovereignty as appertaining to matters of justice, peace and order within the Dominion of Canada."

Their Lordships' decision in the Irish Free State decision that was made a test case.

Appeal In Civil Cases.

The two petitions were linked together by their Lordships as both involved the right to

City and District News

COLLECTORS AFTER JUBILEE ISSUE

A slight rush on the part of collectors and enthusiasts was experienced today at the local post office, the first day that the new series of stamps could be secured locally. The 5, 10, 12 and 50 cent issues of the new series were being snapped up eagerly by the purchasers.

PUBLIC SCHOOL CADETS INSPECTED

Resplendent in trim uniforms and shining equipment, cadets of the local public schools paraded today on the first day of their annual inspection.

At eleven o'clock this morning, Queen Alexandra school cadets paraded on the school grounds, and at two o'clock this afternoon the same order of drill was held for the cadets of Queen Mary school. On Friday morning at eleven o'clock cadets of Queen Victoria school will undergo their inspection. The inspection is being carried out by Captain Pauffley of Kingston, Military District No. 3.

Owing to the fact that Mr. Brown, cadet instructor of King George school has been indisposed, no cadet inspection will be held at that school as was reported today by Lt.-Col. A. C. Cassi, chairman of the Board of Education.

It Pays to Shop at the Rexall Store.

SPECIAL VALUES

Toiletries and Patents

BALANCE OF THE WEEK SEE BELLA AT YOUR DOOR

McKeown's Drug Store

DR. H. J. FAHEY

Desires to announce the location of his office now in the East Robertson Block, 213 Front St., Belleville.

M-1m

CAPITOL

TO-DAY

"EVERY INCH PACKED WITH ENTERTAINMENT"

Ruby Keeler

L. D. A. KIDNEY PILLS

An efficient diuretic and kidney stimulant

48 Pills in the box 29c

I.D.A. DRUG STORES

GO INTO YOUR DANCE

Showing Starting Today

10-STAR CAST

Shows 2.30 - 7.05 - 9.15

11 INCHES RAINFALL SINCE FIRST OF YEAR

Carrying the parallel of rainfall further, after considerable jogging of figures, it was announced by the local department of waterworks that since the beginning of the present year, two billion and thirty-five million more gallons of water fell over Belleville district than for the same period during the preceding year. The pumphouse and filter precipitation of over 11½ inches, it was pointed out on departmental charts that 113 inches of water fell here as received in a one-inch downfall of rain.

One Hundred Blooms On Cactus Plant

Passers-by pause to admire the beautiful blossoms of the cactus plant on the lawn of the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Lee's home, 78 Dufferin Street. Deep crimson blossoms, the petals of paper-like texture, attract instant attention. The plant, which is four or five years old, has over one hundred buds making their appearance on the long leaves presenting bloom for several weeks.

MOST HOLIDAYS FALL ON MONDAY

Holiday lovers, who enjoy having the national holiday's falling on Monday's will be glad to see that long week-ends can register no complaints this year as most of the holidays fall on that day. Monday of this week was the King's birthday, and in the public schools and business establishments. The first Monday in July will be Dominion Day. The Civic Holiday will be observed this year on Monday, August 19th. Labor Day will be on Monday, September second, and Monday, October the seventh will be the last holiday to be proclaimed as a Thanksgiving Day.

FOUR GIRLS CAUGHT AT NORTHRUP HOME

Found Trying to Pry Boards From Outside Window

Juvenile bobbed hair bandits or rather house-breakers were discovered in Bellevilles yesterday, when local police investigated a complaint of breaking and entering the Northrup home on North Front Street. Following information received from Mr. T. Mason, the caretaker of the premises, the local police apprehended four young girls, all under the age of fifteen years, endeavouring to enter the home. The girls were found trying to pry boards from an outside cellar door through which they expected to gain entrance to the building. What their objective was when the police were unable to find out, however. Numerous reports of persons breaking and entering the Northrup property had previously been received by the police, but no connecting link could be established until yesterday when the four young girls were caught trying to gain entrance to the home.

Obituary

MRS. JESSIE M. NOXON

Mrs. Jessie Maria Noxon, 74, widow of Stephen Noxon, and daughter of the late Charles Everett Wilson, banker, of Picton, Ont., passed away on Tuesday, June 4th, at Windsor, at the home of her son-in-law, Dr. Arnold Brabin. Interment will be made at Ingersoll, Ontario, on Friday.

MRS. MARGARET VAN ALSTYNE

On Tuesday, June 4th, Mrs. Margaret Van Alstyne, wife of John M. Van Alstyne, passed away at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. A. R. Simpson, in Toronto. The late Mrs. Van Alstyne was the mother of Mrs. Matthew Taylor of Napanee; Mrs. A. S. Hardy, Toronto; Miss Madge Van Alstyne, Toronto; Mrs. A. R. Simpson, Toronto. Interment will be made in Napanee on Friday.

WILLIAM GILES ANDERSON
(Contributed)

There passed away at Belleville General Hospital, on May the twenty-fourth, William Giles Anderson, in his eightieth year. The deceased was the third son of George Anderson and Sarah Giles, was born on the Massassaga Road, Ameliasburg, on what is now known as the Osborne property, living all his life in this vicinity. He followed the occupation of farming. He bought the farm owned by the late Silas Walbridge. On this farm was situated one of the first cheese factories in the County of Prince Edward. The deceased was instrumental in building the Massassaga cheese and butter factory, a third of a century ago. He was a true son of the soil as his broad acres show which showed his skillful and wise management gave most abundant crops. His tables were filled with the best of stock which thrived under his good and kind care. A man of a highly, kindly nature, he made many life-long friends. His able advice was frequently sought, ably pertaining to the advancement of agriculture. His treatment of children was remarkable. The deceased was one of Nature's noblemen.

The funeral was held on Monday, May 27th, from the Ketcheson Bell Parlours, Rev. Mr. Keough of Point Anne and Rev. Mr. Osborne of Ameliasburg were in attendance. Rev. Mr. Keough took for his text from the one hundred and tenth verse of the ninth Psalm. The interment took place in the Belleville cemetery, Ameliasburg, the Bay of quinte, he loved so well in life. The committal service was read by the pastors, Rev. Keough and Rev. Campbell.

He leaves to mourn the loss of a loyal friend are: Morley Anderson, of Detroit; Shelly Anderson, of Thurlow, brothers; Mrs. Owens, of Belleville; Mrs. Ed. Wm. Osborne, of Thurlow; William W. Anderson, of Detroit; Shelly Denyes and Mr. Osborne, nephews; Mrs. Beasle Wallbridge, Massasaga; J. R. Anderson and Ridley Anderson, of Mountain View; Mrs. Ella Simpson of Redneersville, cousins; and all who were privileged to know him regret the passing of that generous-hearted person.

MRS. BRIDGET FLEMING (Sioco)

Mrs. Bridget Fleming, widow of Peter Fleming, passed away on Thursday morning, June 5, at her home in Sioco after a brief illness.

The late Mrs. Fleming was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Larkins, where he was called Mrs. Larkins. Ontario. Most of her life was passed in Sioco. She was a member of St. Edmund's Church at Sioco and was highly esteemed by all who knew her.

Surviving her are five daughters, Mrs. Thomas Murphy, Tamworth; Mrs. Thomas Lavrick, Sioco; Mrs. Patrick Mulkonney, Minot, N.D.; Mrs. Frank McGrath, Detroit; Miss Agnes Fleming at home, two brothers, Lawrence Healey Larkins, Oshawa; John Healey, Sioco, Ont.; one sister, Mrs. Margaret Hinch, Rochester, N.Y. (Owen papers please copy).

PHILLIP F. CANNIFF

Word has been received in Belleville announcing the death at Edmonton on Wednesday, June 5, of a former well-known resident of this city in the person of Phillip Fleming Canniff.

The late Mr. Canniff was born in Belleville 68 years ago and resided here for many years, being engaged in operating with the Great North Western Telegraph Company, now the Canadian National Telegraphs. He was most highly esteemed by many friends here and was an active and highly valued member of Holloway Street Church, being especially interested in the Sunday School of which he was superintendent. Twenty-two years ago he went to reside in Edmonton, Alberta and had resided in that city since that time.

Surviving him are his widow, formerly Miss Beatrice Osborne of Belleville; one son, Dr. Harold Canniff of Provost, Alta.; one sister, Miss Letita Canniff of California; two brothers, Mr. Lou Canniff of California, and Mr. Fred Canniff of Toronto.

Announcement regarding funeral arrangements will be made later.

LATE MISS REBECCA ROBINSON

The funeral of Miss Rebecca Robinson, who passed away in Calgary, Alta., on Saturday, June 1st, 2031, took place this Thursday afternoon from the residence of her niece and Mr. Mr. Thomasburg to the United Church in that village where a highly attended service was conducted by Rev. Mr. R. Herrington was very impressive and in his remarks he referred to the many fine traits of character possessed by Miss Robinson and the great service she had rendered by devoting her life to the teaching profession; Her influence upon all with whom she came in contact was for good.

The choir of the church rendered suitable music.

At the conclusion of the service the funeral procession proceeded to the Thomasburg cemetery where interment was made. The services at the graveside being conducted by the same minister. The bearers were all former school associates of the late Miss Robinson and were Messrs. William A. Morton, Albert Porter, Malbourne Aldcorn and Irvine Bateman of Thomasburg and Jesse Clare and Benjamin Morton of Moira.

The passing of Miss Robinson has brought to many old friends and pupils much deep feelings of regret. Although separated from her by a great distance and for a period of time, she was always remembered and held in the highest regard for the many fine qualities of character which she possessed. Her final illness commenced in January last when she suffered an attack of pneumonia and from the effects of which she never recovered. Part of the time during her illness she was a patient in the hospital at Calgary. Upon receipt of word of her serious state of condition her sister, Mrs. Percy Westover of Frankford, immediately left for Calgary and Miss Robinson passed away the day before. She arrived in that city. Mrs. Westover accompanied the body of Miss Robinson to her old home in Thomasburg where it was placed at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ella Way until the funeral today.

Miss Robinson's parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Robinson and she was born in Thomasburg 57 years ago. For twenty-five years she taught in the public schools at Calgary and held the responsible position of principal of one of the schools in the city. After her adoption she was well known and most highly esteemed.

Surviving her are five sisters, Mrs. James Albert Beatty of Chapman; Mrs. John F. Ames of Orrilia; Mrs. Edward Way, of Thomasburg; Mrs. Percy Westover of Frankford; Mrs. Ella Way, of Thomasburg; three brothers, George A. Robin ot Tweed; William E. Robinson of Minneapolis, Minn.; and John Robinson of Stratford, Ont. All of these were present at the funeral today.

It is a fact worth noting that ten children of the family of the late Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Robinson grew up and that for over 55 years there passed a death in the family of children. In October, 1932, Mrs. Joseph English, the eldest sister of the late Miss Robinson, passed away at an advanced age.

POLICE DECLARE SPEEDSTER WAR

Motorists Warned Against Fast Driving on City Streets

War, was officially declared by the police against speedsters on local streets yesterday, when authorities fired their first gun under the new clean-up local streets from reckless and fast automobile driving campaign. During the noon hour yesterday Sergeant Farman was stationed between Church and John streets where he was called upon to stop fourteen motorists, all of whom were speeding on Victoria Avenue. Following today the same procedure will take place in Belleville, but in a different section of the city. "We are only warning speeders at present, but if they continue to break the city by-law in reference to speeding, the police department intend carrying out this by-law to the letter and impose the maximum fines," stated police today. Numerous complaints have been received by the city Police Commission in reference to fast and reckless driving on local streets thus prompting the police to endeavour stamping out this practice even if drastic measures have to be taken.

ARRESTED MEN MAY COME HERE

Likely to be Charged With Robbery at Local Plant

Information was received in the city today, from Toronto, to the effect, that the two men arresting in Montreal for a Toronto robbery may possibly be the same two who broke and entered Sprague's clearing establishment in Belleville on Good Friday. The two men, giving their names as Fred Hart, St. and John Howes, 22, both of Toronto, were arrested in Montreal late Monday night and are being transferred to Toronto today. Chief Ponton was in communication with the Toronto Police Department today and was informed that these men are the persons suspected of the Belleville robbery. Detective Hazel and Mr. Mr. Thomasburg left leave for Toronto, with a warrant, tonight, to bring Howes and Hart to Belleville, where they will be officially charged with breaking and entering Sprague's Clearers and stealing a large quantity of clothing. When interviewed in relationship to the case this morning, Mr. Sprague stated —"now that the police have located the men who robbed my premises, I firmly believe that the remainder of the clothing, yet unrecovered, will be in our hands shortly."

Which of City's Thousands Of Pussies Belongs to You?

City Hall Says Cat Tax Idea Bobs up Every Now And Then

HOW TO CUT TAXES

A conservative estimate places the number of cats in the city at somewhere between three and five thousand. Put a tax of one dollar per cat on these cat—and the city will have that much more to spend for relief and a few more jobs. The only hitch in this thing, the proponent admits is the fact that the city at the present time has no by-law nor the power to impose such a tax at the present.

"It's a beautiful idea, though, this taxing the cats" maintains the citizen. "As it is now we tax all the dogs, but the cats go scot free, the birds feasting on lawns and flowers and caterwauling far into the night disturbing ordinary people's sleep."

What do the city fathers think of the scheme?

"It's a suggestion," agreed one alderman at the meeting of the question while leaning with his back to the post on the steps of the city hall this morning. "It's something to think about; the city really could collect some revenue that way couldn't it?" brightening visibly.

"Fish tork" scoffed a second fellow councillor. "How are you going to tax a cat? Whose going to be able to catch a cat in order to put a collar and tag on it? And supposing someone refused to pay the tax, what would the poundkeeper have to do, climb a tree after it? I've seen scores, I've seen dozens, yeah hundreds of cats around here and this city that doesn't belong to anyone. That often comes in my backyard at night and sit there and sing, how are you going to keep track of them?"

The idea is not a new one, it was pointed out at the city hall, for every year or so it comes up, bounces around like a rubber ball and is then forgotten for a while. One of the proponents of the scheme, Mrs. Rolando, a dog owner, who can't see the cat owner's side of the question, declared today that a tax would do a lot toward keeping down the roving fellow population, backyard fights and caterwauls. The idea of checking up on cat licenses is a big one, Mrs. Rolando has a particularly appealing one, it was decided.

City Council, it was pointing out are in the same predicament as the city fathers, "How who's going to bell the cat?

CHAMPIONSHIPS OF O.S.D. MEET WELL CONTESTED

Ideal Weather Supplied For The School Games

MANY ATTEND

In Many Events, School Records Broken By Contestants

School records were broken and new champions declared at the tenth annual O.S.D. field day held on Saturday afternoon at the Belleville Collegiate Institute grounds in the various events of the day. The annual O.S.D. field day commenced yesterday afternoon and the big and final event was finished late last night. A special train from Toronto was under the supervision of physical director Frank Cunningham who had the assistance of the entire staff of the school in his endeavors.

The school championships in the various categories were: Junior boys, Russell Manning; Intermediate boys, Gordon Evans; Senior boys, Dal Alexander. Junior girls, Ruth McBride; Intermediate girls, Kathleen Pratley; Senior girls, Freda Lockett.

The officials of the day's meet included Frank Cunningham starter, Dal Kelly, timer, Miss Bell, clerk of the course, while all members of the staff took an active part in some part each being responsible for one or more events.

The results of the afternoon events were:

Junior Boys

Broad jump—Russell Manning 14' 10"; Clifford Baillie; Steve Grasham.

Pole vault—Glen Roberson, 5' 9", Clifford Baillie, 4th.

440 yd. dash—George Traine, Russell Manning, Clifford Baillie, William Kinikli.

8 lb. shot put—Russell Manning, 28 ft. 10 in.; Jack Hawthorne; Kenneth Analey.

Intermediate Boys

Pole vault—Gordon Evans 8 ft. 6 in.; Bud Hawthorne; Leonard Byers, 7 ft. 6 in.

880 yd. relay—Dalton Storring 1 min. 8 sec.; Bud Hawthorne; Gordon Evans.

Discus throw—Gordon Evans 96 ft. Grant Thorburn; Dalton Storring.

Running high jump—Dalton Storring, Bud Hawthorne, Dalton Storring, Gordon Evans.

12 lb. shot put—Gordon Evans, 35 ft. in.; Grant Thorburn, Dalton Storring.

Senior Boys

High jump—Herbert White, 4 ft. 11 in.; David Alexander; Les Bostwart.

440 yd. dash—David Alexander, 1 min. 3 sec., Dominico Rolando, Bus-

Marlene Dietrich is the star of Paramount's dramatic love story "The Devil is a Woman," now on the Belle screen. Double bill.

ter Hoge.

880 yd. dash—Buster Hoage, 2 min. 25 sec.; Jim Gee; Dominico Rolando.

Mile Relay—Victor Egginton, Buster Hoage, Dominico Rolando, David Alexander.

Girls Events:

Junior boys—Russell Manning; William Hamilton; Clifford Baillie.

Intermediate boys—Gordon Evans, Dalton Storring, Bud Hawthorne, Grant Thorburn; Edmour Cloutier, Dominico Rolando; Edmour Cloutier.

75-yard dash—Lillian Dubeau, 10 1-5, Eleanor Charron, Ruth McKitrick.

Running high jump—Elva Richardson, 3' 10"; Ruth McKitrick, Lillian Dubeau.

Relay, three yards—Winning team: Lillian Dubeau, Hazel Blair, Ellen Mantel, Margaret Krause.

Running broad jump—Olga Rotondo, 9' 9"; Ruth McKitrick, Letita Bonneville.

Relay, three yards—Winning team: Lillian Dubeau, Hazel Blair, Ellen Mantel, Margaret Krause.

100 yards dash—Kathleen Pratley, 3' 9"; Margaret Shepherd, Violet Salminen.

Softball throw — Mabel Fairck, 182; Kathleen Pratley, Margaret Shepherd.

Relay, 220 yards—Winning team: Margaret Shepherd, Marion Armstrong, Evallne Renaud, Ruth McKitrick.

Senior Girls.

100 yards dash—Dorothy Ouellette, 13 3-5, Freda Lockett, Meretta Clark.

Running high jump—Freda Lockett, 4' 10½", Dorothy Ouellette, Meretta Clark.

Running broad jump — Dorothy Ouellette, 11' 9", Freda Lockett, Meretta Clark.

Relay, 220 yards—Winning team: Kathleen Pratley, Lillian Mallison, Meretta Clark, Ruth Morton.

Group winners—Junior girls, Ruth McBride; Senior Charron, Lillian Reid; intermediate girls, Kathleen Pratley, Margaret Shepherd, Evallne Renaud; senior girls, Freda Lockett, Dorothy Ouellette, Meretta Clark.

RECEIVES LETTER FROM THE KING

Miss Keitha Stapley, Madoc Jct. Receives Reply to Congratulations

Madoc Junction, June 6. — Miss Keitha Stapley sent a letter to Their Majesties the King and Queen extending congratulations to them on their silver jubilee, and was advised that while they would be celebrating the Jubilee from May 6 she would be celebrating her sixteenth birthday in Canada. This week she received a reply from the following reply:

Buckingham Palace.

The Private Secretary is commanded to convey to Miss Keitha Stapley the King's thanks for her kind message of congratulation and good wishes on the silver jubilee of His Majesty's accession. 23rd May, 1935.

Mr. and Mrs. George Eggleton visited Mr. and Mrs. Roy Welbourne on Sunday.

Mr., and Mrs. George Eggleton were recent visitors at Mr. and Mrs. Harold Manning, Clifford Baillie.

Mrs. Arthur Keegan returned home from the Belleville General Hospital on Wednesday of last week and is slowly regaining strength.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Harlow spent last week-end with relatives at Wellington.

Mrs. Sarah Stapley and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Carr were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Brummell of Massassaga.

Mr. M. Frost is able to be home again after undergoing treatment in the Belleville hospital for the past couple of weeks.

Mr. W. R. Pilchett of Stirling, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Strickland and baby of Toronto and Miss Helen Pilchett of Rawdon had tea Friday evening at Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Pilchett's.

Mrs. Wm. C. Brinkell of Consbyille and Mr. J. Bronson of Stirling spent Sunday at Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stapley's.

Miss Winnie Juby had Sunday dinner with Miss Bernice Cooke.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith of Anson were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Will Stapley.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Beauderie and Miss Lena Beauderie spent Sunday with relatives at Frankford.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wilson of Stirling spent Sunday at Mr. Jas Stapley's.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Ashley entertained relatives from West Huntingdon on Sunday.

A number from here spent Sunday afternoon at Oak Lake.

Mr. Kenneth Stapley, student at Peterboro normal school, spent the week-end and third of June holiday with his parents here.

Don't Let Mother Cook on a Hot Day

ORDER FISH AND CHIPS from

BEAN'S IDEAL

FISH AND CHIP CAFE

331 Front St. Phone 1543 for Prompt Delivery

THIS STORE IS NOW OPEN ALL DAY MONDAY

BARGAIN FARES

JUNE 7-8 to

DETROIT $6.90

CHICAGO $9.75

RETURN LIMIT

Lv. Detroit not later than 2.30 a.m. Eastern Standard Time, June 11
Lv. Chicago not later than 11.30 p.m Central Standard Time, June 11

ROUTE

Via Pooled Services to Toronto, thence Canadian Pacific only.
For full information consult agents. Ask for handbill.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

CANADIAN NATIONAL

J-16

GOLD FISH FREE

at

Doyle's Drug Store

WITH EACH 25c PURCHASE

Friday and Saturday

WE GIVE YOU FREE 1 BEAUTIFUL GOLDFISH

We Also have on Sale at Bargain Prices:

FISH FOOD 10c
FISH WEED 15c
ORNAMENTS ..... 15c and 25c
FISH GLOBES ..... 15c, 6 for 25c
SMALL GOLD FISH ..... 6 for 25c
MEDIUM GOLD FISH ..... 3 for 25c
LARGE GOLD FISH ..... 2 for 25c
EXTRA LARGE and FANCY FISH each 25c

POLICE COURT

Three charges of operating motor vehicles without the proper brakes, three charges of driving cars without lights and one charge of careless driving as well.

Continuing their concerted drive against local juvenile robbers, local police yesterday arrested another local lad, aged 14 years. This arrest brings the total of juvenile boys recently arrested by local police for alleged breaking and entering and robbery up to one even dozen. The youth taken into custody yesterday was caught behind a Front Street business house in possession of a lengthy piece of rope, which authorities believe he intended to use as a means of entering the premises. He along with the other eleven previously mentioned will appear on a special Juvenile Court tomorrow.

LOCAL LEGAL

Weekly Court, Cegrodie Hall, before J. J. McEvoy, K.C., D. C. Yourex r W. R. and I. Garfield—Appeal by defendants, Lyons, report of His Honor Judge Lavell, B. G. Donnan, K.C., for applicaion; C. Cameron for respondent. Dismissed with costs.

Watch Holway Bros.

?

It's Coming!

STARTS TODAY—2 FEATURES AND EACH A HIT!

BELLE

2.30: 7.15: Last Com. Show 9.30

ONE GOOD PICTURE DESERVES ANOTHER AND SO

The Screen's Glorious New Personality

NOVA PILBEAM

in one of the most gripping and sincere stories in recent years

"LITTLE FRIEND"

14 Years Old and an Emotional Star incomparable

Nova Pilbeam is not just a cute child. Her performance in this picture is simply amazing for its sheer emotional appeal and sincerity. You have never seen her equal on the screen.

CHOOSE CANADA'S LEADING TISSUE

Remember—there are many white tissues . . .
but only one
WHITE SWAN

Choose White Swan : : : a tissue of unquestioned quality : : : one that adds a note of distinction to your bathroom. Canada's leading tissue : : : leading in purity, in softness, absorbency and safety. Full count rolls of 750 sheets, sterilized, dustproof wrapped : : : economically priced. Also recess size. Mark "White Swan" on your shopping list.

THE E. B. EDDY COMPANY
Limited
KINGSTON - BRANCH: 139 Ontario St.

QUEENSBORO

QUEENSBORO—Olive Holmes of Tweed, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Thos. Lynn.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Leslie spent the past week with friends in Peterboro.

The Ladies' Aid of the United Church met at the home of Mrs. Goldie Holmes on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. George Glover and Mrs. Chalker went to Ottawa on Thursday, where they intend spending the next two weeks.

Mrs. Wheeler of Frankford, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Moore.

Mrs. Clemens of Deloro, was a Sunday guest of Mr. daughter, Mrs. Ralph Franklin.

Mrs. Nevell Broad of Hazards and Mrs. Manchester and Miss Alberta McCoy of Madoc, called on friends in the village on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Moote also Mr. John Moore spent last Sunday with friends in Frankford.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Chambers of Eldorado were guests at the home of Mr. John Lynn during the week.

Messrs. Bernard Barry, Frank Thompson and Carr Clarke of Napanee, spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Garry Barry.

Rev. A. S. Doggett has been attending the Bay of Quinte Conference in St. Andrew's Church, at Peterboro.

A number of delegates from Queensboro attended the Hastings-Peterboro Conservative Convention held at Marmora on Wednesday.

Mrs. Fred Holmes and Phyllis of Remington, were guests of her sister Mrs. Goldie Holmes on Thursday.

Rev. A. S. Doggett, Mrs. Doggett, Kathleen and Leslie spent the week-end in Oshawa.

Miss Hazel Thompson of Belleville spent the week-end at her home.

Miss Emma Lynn was the week-end guest of her sister, Mrs. Fred Holmes at Remington.

Mrs. Frank Reynolds, Mrs. Arthur Parks and Marilyn, of Cooper, were guests at the home of Mrs. James Love on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Moore are spending a few days in Toronto.

Mrs. Dan Bird of Toronto, Mrs. Hutchison and Wande, of Trenton, were guests of Mrs. Geo. Holmes on Saturday and Sunday.

OFFICERS NAMED FOR SPRINGBROOK WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Bonarlaw, June 5—The annual meeting of the Springbrook branch of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. A. V. Brown, on Wednesday afternoon of last week. There was a large attendance and thirty two members paid their fees for the ensuing year. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Miss Kathleen McComb, Vice President, Mrs. J. E. Baker, Secretary Treasurer, Mrs. W. J. Barlow, Pianist, Miss Eva Brown.

A splendid paper on the motto, "Don't walk next year in this year's rut," was given by Mrs. A. B. McComb. Current events was ably taken by Mrs. Walter Heath. The retiring President, Mrs. W. J. Barlow, in a few well chosen words thanked the members for their loyal support during the past five years that she was in office. Much of the success of this branch of the Institute is due to the untiring efforts of Mrs. Barlow during her term of office as President.

The report of the Secretary Treasurer showed about $70.00 cash on hand and gave a report of work done during the past year.

At nearly all meetings there was a musical program, readings, contests, current events, and a paper on the month's motto.

The conveners of the various committees for the coming year were appointed as follows:

Agriculture: Mrs. A. B. McComb; Legislation: Mrs. A. Burkitt; Immigration: Miss Violet Hannah; Education: Mrs. (Rev.) Percy; Home Economics: Miss Nellie Webb; Historical Research: Mrs. T. McKeown; Canadian Industries, Mrs. D. Brown; Health: Mrs. P. Heath; Publicity: Mrs. J. F. Bailey; Relief: Mrs. E. Spry; Community Activities: Mrs. A. V. Brown.

Mrs. O. S. Eastwood returned home from Toronto on Thursday of last week and went to Toronto again on Sunday evening. Her son Glynn is much improved and it is hoped he will soon be discharged from the hospital.

Mrs. Eastwood returned to Toronto on Friday of last week where she had been visiting her sister, Mrs. Fannie Haleman who has been in very poor health.

Miss Laurena Reid of Peterboro, and Mr. Cecil Baker of Norwood, visited their parents over the week end.

On Thursday of last week a tea was held to plant flowering shrubs, etc., in the cemetery at St. Thomas' Church and to beautify the grounds. There was a splendid turnout. This is the second tea held for this purpose and the grounds now present a very lovely appearance.

This part of the county has had some splendid rains during the past week and everything is growing beautifully.

Rev. Canon W. G. Swayne, rector of St. Mark's Church, is attending the synod meeting at Kingston for several days this week.

A large number of members of the local branch of the Women's Institute attended the annual convention held at Marmora on Tuesday of this week.

LILAC TEA HELD AT WEST LAKE

West Lake—A bonnie little daughter has come to stay with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wright (nee Marion Jackson). Congratulations.

The Lilac Tea held at the home of Mrs. Finley Hyatt on Wednesday, May 29th was a delightful affair. The weather was all that could be desired and many ladies were glad to take an afternoon off from the house cleaning etc and spend a pleasant hour or so in Mrs. Hyatt's well appointed home. Bloomfield ladies gave the program and a delightful and profitable afternoon was spent. The affair was sponsored by the W.M.S. of which Mrs. Hyatt is President.

Mrs. Russel Suddard was taken to Prince Edward County Hospital last week for an operation. Her friends are glad to know she is progressing favorably.

Mr. Clare Rankin, Toronto, visited his father, Mr. A. S. Rankin on Monday.

As Rev. Mr. Blanchard was in Peterboro attending Conference last Sunday, there was no regular afternoon service at the United Church here. Sunday School was held as usual however and Mr. Henry Brown took charge of a prayer meeting afterward.

An unusually severe plague of cut worms is causing much concern among gardeners and farmers.

Monday night's rain was much appreciated.

VICTORIA NEWS OF COMMUNITY

Victoria, June 6—Mr. and Mrs. G. Bailey and daughter spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brickman.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Redner and little son spent Sunday at Mr. Sidney Post.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Brickman spent the week-end at Peterboro at Mr. A. Price's and spent the last hour Sunday evening with Mr. Hreve Adam and sons. Mr. and Mrs. F. Crouter accompanied them and visited her sister and husband. Mr. and Mrs. James Hutchinson, Peterboro. They attended conference service on Sunday morning at Trinity Church. Professor Shaw of Queen's University was the special speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Fox spent Sunday at Mr. Arthur Stewart's at Belleville.

Mrs. G. W. Prymer spent last week with her daughter, Mrs. Herb Pulver.

Mrs. F. J. Bennett of Bloomfield is visiting her daughter, Mrs. B. L. Redner.

Miss Rachel Fox, Miss Horton, Miss Donnelly and Miss Benson of Belleville called Sunday evening on Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brickman.

FOXBORO Y.P.S. CLOSE SEASON'S ACTIVITIES

Foxboro—Mr. and Mrs. J. Frederick and son of Marsh Hill spent a recent Sunday at the home of Mr. H. Frederick.

Rev. and Mrs. H. M. Mutton returned home from Peterborough where the former attended conference.

Mr. B. Faulkner is ill at the home of his daughter Mrs. S.C. Orr.

Miss Marion Daniels visited relatives at Stirling for a few days.

On Friday evening, about thirty members of the Young People's Society of the United Church enjoyed a pleasant evening at the home of Mr. Clifford Wilson as the closing meeting of the season. Games were played, community singing enjoyed with guitar and piano accompaniment and all partook of a weiner roast after which Mrs. Wilson served lemonade. A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Wilson and Leon for their kind hospitality.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvoe Wickett (Hilda Evelyn) spent Saturday at Oshawa—Wright wedding in Stirling United Church on Monday evening. Miss Evelyn Wickett being the soloist.

Mrs. Embury and Mrs. Hagerman called one day on Mrs. H. Frederick.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ward returned to their home in Peterboro, on Tuesday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Sills and Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Sills spent Sunday in Picton, Mrs. Everett Sills remaining as a guest of her sister, Miss Beula Spencer spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Hamilton.

Mrs. Harold Stewart and Jackie are holidaying with the former's parents in Hastings.

Mrs. A. Wickett spent a day recently with Miss Marion Daniels.

Little Hazel Prindle of Wandfield, is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Clarke.

Mrs. McPee of Toronto, is staying at the home of Mr. S. J. Clarke.

Mrs. A. Scott of Stirling visited her sister, Mrs. J. W. Daniels on Tuesday.

Miss Lena Sills of Toronto and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sills of Zion were Sunday guests at Mr. J. C. Sills.

Mr. and Mrs. Rose and family of Trenton were Sunday visitors at Mr. J. Eggleton's.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Wannamaker and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Whitemaker spent the week end with their parents, at Port Stewart.

Mr. George Chalmers had the misfortune to lose a valuable horse last week.

SHOP AT ZELLERS RETAILERS TO THRIFTY CANADIANS IT PAYS

We Salute Summer with Boom Values!

Summer Needs for the Smart and Thrifty
Featured Friday and Saturday!

"Little Miss Marlee" DRESSES
For Ages 2 to 6
You will be more than proud of your little girl in one of the several styles to be found among our "Little Miss Marlee" Dresses. A variety of interesting and appealing styles. Made of guaranteed, Unshrinkable, Colourfast Broadcloth Prints 1.00

White Gloves
NEW SMART motto.

Give your costume that right summery touch! White Fabric Gloves, fashionably styled, permit you to lead with White Accessories — pair 25c

NEW! NEW! NEW!

WHITE BAGS
Have you visited our up-to-the-minute Bag Counter? Our new White Handbags, beautifully lined and fitted, are very tempting. And, what grand value! Only 1.00

DRESSES THAT ARE LOVELY TO LOOK AT—Delightful to Own
You need not strain your budget to include one or two new dresses in your Summer wardrobe. Our dress section presents lovely Pastel Crepe Dresses; delightful Floral Prints, and many Plain Bright Colours. Great variety of styles—tantalizing—summery—inexpensive! Sizes 14 to 44 ..... 2.98

Pique Dresses
A sensational value for so early in the summer season. Gay prints that have plenty of style. Sizes 14 to 44. Special 1.49

Pastel Crepes
A lovely group of Crepes in the popular shades for summer. Another extra special value that you cannot afford to overlook. Sizes 14 to 44. Special 1.98

WOOL 3-ply and 4-ply Knitting Wool. Variety of colours. Ounce ball 10c

Lingerie—Budget Priced!

Rayon Panties
Fine Rayon weave. Pastel colours. Tailored and Lace trimmed styles. Only 25c

Crepe Slips
Excellent quality crepe with generous lace trim. White. Sizes 32 to 44. Special $1.00

Lace Trimmed Satin Slips
Fully cut Slips of fine quality Satin. Lace trimmed at yoke and hem. Adjustable shoulder straps. $1.69
White, Tea Rose

HATS THAT ARE FASHION LEADERS

"Swanky" hat about describes this group of Crepe Hats. Made of pliable soft crepe, each model molds itself correctly to your head. The flattering brims are most appropriate for summer days. A wide range of colors 79c

Step Into Summer With WHITE SHOES
Complete Size Range
Select your White Shoes now, while the style and size range is at its best. You will find many styles in our group of White Calf Shoes. Each pair made to order for comfort, smartness and durability. Only 1.98

SPORT SANDALS
Women's sturdy Canvas Sport Sandals with rubber sole and Cuban heel. Blue, maize, white. Sizes 3 to 7. 98c

Children's Tennis Shoes
With heavy rubber soles and heels. Sizes 7 to 10. 54c

Girls' Rayon Undies
Panties and Bloomers for the Junior Miss, ages 6 to 14. Dainty Pastel colours. The kind of undies that the young girl of today will adore. Only 19c

For Vacation Days!
NEW LUGGAGE
HAT BOXES, Budget-Priced $1.49
OVERNIGHT CASES Budget-Priced $1.98
SUIT CASES, Budget-Priced $2.98
TRAVELITE CASES, Budget-Priced $4.98

Zellers Hosiery Helps Your Budget
Visit our Hosiery Counter Regularly

F.F. Silk Stockings
Chiffon, Service-Weights
Hosiery need not be a heavy item in your budget, when good quality, sheer clear Hose are so inexpensive at Zellers! Pair, only 69c

Knee Length
F. F. Silk STOCKINGS
Lace effect clastic garter top so smart for summer wear. Pair only 69c

Children's Ankle Socks
Wool and Cotton Mixture Ankle Socks. Plain colours. Some with contrasting cuffs. Sizes 5 to 8½. Pair 15c

Two-Way Stretch
ELASTIC GIRDLES
Complete size range. Come in and be fitted by our experienced corsetiere. Priced 1.00

Home Frocks
For the Smart and Thrifty Housemaker
Charming Home Frocks that are so smart and well-made, you will not hesitate to wear them on the street during Summer days. Colourfast vivid Prints, trimmed with crisp white Organdie. Sizes 36 to 46. Budget-Priced 59c

For the 2-to-6-Year Old
WASH SUITS
It costs very little to completely outfit your small boy for summer days. Our children's section features wash suits at the amazingly low price of 25c

Appealing Neckwear
A wide variety of Organdie, Batiste, Crepe and Lace collars. Only 25c

On the Candy Counter!
FRESH SALTED PEANUTS, lb. 12c
ICE WATER 19c
WAFERS, lb. 19c
MILK CHOC. BUDS, lb. 19c
CARAMEL TWIRLS, lb. 19c

WHITE CROCKERY
OATMEAL BOWLS 5c
8-INCH PLATES 5c
6-INCH BOWLS 5c
CUPS AND SAUCERS, set ... 5c
WAX PAPER ..... 2 rolls 25c

BRIDGE CLOTHS
Linen Crash Bridge Cloth, Size 36 x 36. Reg. 59c value. Special 39c

Values that are really worth while!

TEAS
Economically priced for this week end.

NECTAR
Blended India lb. 45c

OUR OWN
Special Blend lb. 37c

BLUE LABEL
Lyons ¼ lb. Pkg. 32c

YELLOW LABEL
Liptons ½ lb. Pkg. 38c

FIVE O'CLOCK
Ridgeways ½ lb. Pkg. 45c

Made in Our Own Sunlight Bakery
Health Biscuits 2 lbs. 25c

CHRISTIE BROWN
Fancy Peaks lb. 23c

McCORMICK'S
Lemon Creams 2 lbs. 25c

CALIFORNIA VALENCIA
ORANGES
LARGE SIZE Doz. 35c
MEDIUM SIZE Doz. 25c

FRESH CALIFORNIA
Peas 3 lbs. 25c

LARGE RIPE
BANANAS 3 lbs. 19c

PERFECT STRIKE RED SOCKEYE
SALMON
2 ¾ oz. Tins 35c
1 15½ oz. Tin 31c

THE BETTER BRAN FLAKES
PEP Kellogg's 2 10 oz. Pkgs. 21c

NATURAL COLOR AND FLAVOR—LIBBY'S
Catchup 2 12 oz. Bots. 25c

AYLMER CHOICE QUALITY
Peaches HALVES Squat Tin 17c

COUNTY KIST BRAND
Corn Golden Cream Style 3 17 oz. Tins 25c

DATED
Coffee Chase and Sanborn Lb. Pkg. 35c

CLARK'S—WITH CHILI SAUCE
Pork & Beans 2 16 oz. Tins 19c

YUKON DRY
Ginger Ale 2 30 oz. Bots. (Contents only) 25c

TENDER—SOFT-MEATED AND FLAVORFUL
Lamb Legs lb. 21c
Loins lb. 17c | Fronts lb. 12c
Rolled if Desired

EXTRA SPECIAL!—SMOKED BREAKFAST STYLE
Bacon Centre Cuts or Sliced lb. 25c By the Piece lb. 23c

Cheese Loaf 20c Jellied Veal 25c

ECONOMICAL CUTS OF A & P BEEF
Pot Roast Boneless and Rolled lb. 13c
Blade Roast lb. 14c
Short Rib Roast lb. 15c

FRESH CAUGHT LAKE NIPIGON
Whitefish lb. 16c

THE GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO.

THOU SHALT NOT KILL!
Drive Carefully!

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER
THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday excepted) at the Canada Building, Front Street, Belleville.

SIDELIGHTS

FINE FAITH ON THE HOMME

One of the surest signs of improvement is that indicated by building operations. While construction has not attained a high level in Belleville as yet and builders are still hoping, still there are several new houses under construction. One citizen who has been elegantly established with Belleville all his life, has maintained his faith, all through the past five lean years with all their woes to property owners and owners of rental houses alike, that real estate is the best investment here. He has just finished building a house and is likely to begin another.

This investor is building the compact type of house which is thoroughly modern and is not too large. The probability is that he will go on building for he says that he knows there is a demand as people have asked him to put up houses for them.

This citizen should know the needs and he is good judge of possibilities. He has had a long and successful business career and has had so much at heart the city's interest that he has served the city, in many capacities. He is one of those who are building the Belleville of the immediate future.

His optimism fortunately is shared by others, though they do not necessarily give expression to their expectancy in the same form.

This sense of the value in property as one of the normal institutions is a natural instinct to the English-speaking peoples. England is a nation of homes and Canada is practically the same precisely in this day of unrest which has overtaken the family and the home as well as other institutions. But it will not rock the home, for the faith in the home is too strongly entrenched in the very fibre of the people.

This word "home" means not only the family but it also means that place where the family dwells and lives all its life for the time being. So the man who builds the home which shelters the family is supporting the fundamental faith of the people that the home is the chief bulwark of the nation. It will be noted that this man who is mentioned as a builder is not building great office buildings or skyscrapers, but that thought established has never entered his mind, but he is building the places where families grow up. As a builder of houses he is making it possible for more persons to have their ideal of what a house ought to be expressed in the modern treatment of metals and materials which go into the construction of dwelling places.

Then he is building for a more beautiful city, for the modern builder follows modern principles in laying out his grounds. The deeds of the today are not the need of that other day, far back, when every lot had to have a fence around it. The absence of the fence gives the improved many of the older properties but a house built according to modern planning to harmonize with the grounds and the lay-out of the land and the district will bring the district and make the home and its surroundings beautiful for the community as well as for the dwellers in that house.

THOUGHTS OF TWO WARS

The days of Mafeking, Pretoria, and Ladysmith seem to us moderns to be very remote—so remote as to belong to another era. Yet men who remember those days from actual experience on the veldt live in our midst or nearby, not old men, but men in the very vigor of life.

Why do the days of the capture of Pretoria seem so far off? They were thirty-five years ago, only a base fifteen years before the Great War began. One reason of course is that the South African campaign was not linked up with international and economic disturbances which outside of the question of life and suffering are almost as bad as war. The Great War was the factor which brought down the curtain on civilization up to 1914 and marked the entrance upon an era of economic struggle which will be, it is hoped, the prelude to a newer and greater day.

Will another fifteen years from today make the Great War seem as remote as the fall of Pretoria seems today? Quite unlikely. The Great War will seem ever near, though the soldiers grow older day by day for the fact is, the hand of the Great War is upon us all and we cannot shake it from our shoulder. It has its insistent pressing demands in the economic warfare and in the social and international unrest. The South African War did not get at the very nerve of the people of the world as the last war did. That probably will explain why the Great War will seem ever so much nearer than the African struggle, even though some of the haze about the latter is no doubt due to the passage of years which accelerate the aging of the mind more than the number of years would indicate. But with all that, this generation can never quite forget the 1914-18 struggle and its aftermath, while it may give little thought to the other war.

THE HOME FORUM

Discussing the events of the day, home people and general home topics as revealed by the home-loving people inside the envelopes and postcards George and Gay, — Supervised by The Lamplighter.

GAIN IN GIVING

Her love was nothing much to give,
Although she gave him all.
To him its worth was fugitive
And small.

Yet, giving, she was richly blest
With much she lacked before,
For wisdom flowered in her breast,
And more.

New tolerance and pity dwelt
In her for all men's share;
She suffered for all those who felt Despair.

With all who joyed she could rejoice,
Could pray with all who prayed;
She answered every suppliant voice
With aid.

The love he thrust from his embrace
And gladly put away
Has cast in many a darkened place
Its ray.

—Aline Michaelis.

x x x

DALLAS, TEXAS, CORRESPONDENT comes to the rescue of this column builder today with a fresh budget of snappy news and oddities from that section. Here Tiz:

"IN OUR MARKETS, BUFFALO MEAT FROM GOODNIGHT RANCH. SERVE A BUFFALO STEAK."—Extract from newspaper adv. of Hunt Grocery Co. Wild and woolly to start with, eh, what?

x

Watermelon time in Texas is indicated by a picture of a darkey lad carving a watermelon, with a smile on his mahogany mug which will not come off as long as the melon lasts, and not then for the smile will linger longer as memory inspires and hope points to more melons soon. The picture makes a Front Page hit in a Dallas daily paper.

x

When it comes to fish stories Dallas can furnish some that will make Belleville anglers look like minnow catchers. Mrs. Norman Hamilton, of Dallas, was crowned champion of the Tarpon Rodeo last Saturday, with a catch of one good-sized tarpon, which sure means something for tarpon have a habit of growing to a length of six feet and over and carry considerable weight. Second prize went to Jack Dugger, Dallas theatre man, with one tarpon. Norman Hamilton won the prize for the most variety of fish with sixteen beautiful fish. Mrs. Hamilton also caught forty-five pounds of mackerel to win another prize for the most of the species. The largest tarpon of the Rodeo was six feet, two and a quarter inches. Mrs. Hamilton, who won the championship was fishing for the first time which makes her win all the more notable. Variety of fish caught included sharks, mackerel, jackfish, stingaree, mangrove snapper, yellow tail, jellyfish, sea perch, skipjack, pompano, catfish, pigfish, ribbon fish, blow fish, and croaker.

x

Callander has its quintuplets and Oklahoma has its quadruplets, the Koy sisters, nineteen years old, now visiting in Dallas. This "Bunch of Keys" who dress alike are called Leota, Mona, Mary and Roberta, all sophomores at Baylor University, Waco, Texas.

x

To those who imagine that Texas is covered feet deep in oil as the result of those dust storms featured in the eastern papers, let it be known that Dallas folk feasted their eyes during last week-end at the unusual spectacle of three million gallons of water going to waste over the spillway at White Rock Lake, a result of unusually heavy rains. So don't cross Texas off your visiting list as a dry state, in fact the water rates of citizens of Dallas have been materially reduced for the summer months, and instead of a charge of 18 cents per thousand gallons of water for sprinkling purposes, only ten cents will be charged. Who wouldn't pay ten cents for a thousand gallons of water just to sprinkle with.

x x x

? ? ? ? ? ?

HAVE YOU HEARD THEBE

Officer: "Now tell me, what is your idea of strategy?"

Private: "It's when you're out of ammunition, but keep right on firing."

x x x

"Let me kiss you under the mistletoe."

"Say, I wouldn't let you kiss me under an assesthetic."

THE UTMOST IN TRAVEL VALUE
Cozy quarters, roomy cabins . . .
good plenty of it . . good deals . . .
happy days of sport and fun . . fine, steady ships.
EUROPE
$114.50 RETURN FARE 3rd CLASS
CUNARD WHITE STAR
ANCHOR-DONALDSON
Apply to your local agent or 21st Key Street TORONTO.

REVOLT IN THE DESERT

by T. E. LAWRENCE

Feisal, quiet as ever, welcomed me with a smile until he could finish his dictation. After it he apologised for my disorderly reception, and reviewed the slaves back to give us privacy. As they retired with the camelcookers, a wild camel leaped into the open space in front of us, plunging and trumpeting. Mahmud dashed at its head to drag it away; but it dragged him instead; and its band of great ropes for camel fodder coming untied, there poured down over the hapless Sharraf, his lamb, and myself, an avalanche of hay. "God be praised," said the Feisal, when that it was neither butter nor bags of gold." Then he explained to me I was interrupting. Mahmud had trespassed in the last twenty-four hours on the battle front.

The Turks had slipped round the head of the Arab barrier force in Wadi Safra by a side road in the hills, and had cut their retreat. The Harb, a panic, had rushed into the ravines on each side, and escaped through them in parties of twos and threes. The Turkish mounted men poured down the empty valley and over the Dhiseen pass to Bir Said, where Emir Zeid, Feisal's young half-brother was camped with a Harb contingent. The Turks took Zeid by surprise and fooled him. He was captured by the whole mob of fugitives riding wildly through the night towards Dhiseen.

Thereby the road to Yembo was laid open to the Turks, and Feisal had rushed down here only a day before our arrival, with five thousand men, to protect his base until something property defensive could be arranged. The situation was serious: but Feisal's presence here might steady the Harb, and encourage them to lose more days trying to catch the Ageyl army while we strengthened Yembo. Meanwhile, he was doing all he could, quite cheerfully and quietly, to conceal from the news; or to the petitions, complaints and difficulties being brought in and settled by him summarily.

An hour had still half-past four in the morning, it grew very cold as the damp in the valley rose through the carpet and soaked our clothes. The camp gradually stilled as the men and animals went one by one to sleep; a white mist collected softly over them and in it the fires became slow pillars of smoke.

Feisal at last finished the urgent work. We ate half-a-dozen dates, a frigid comfort, and curled up on the wet carpet. As I lay there in a shiver, I saw the Hashm guards creep up and spread their cloaks gently over Feisal, when they were sure that he was sleeping.

An hour later we got up stiffly in the false dawn (too cold to go on pretending) and lying down on the slaves lit a fire of palm-ribs to warm us, while Sharraf and myself talked over food enough for the moment. Messengers were still coming in from all sides with evil rumours of an immediate attack; and the camp was not far off itself, so Feisal decided to move to another position, partly because we should be washed out of this one if it rained anywhere in the hills, and partly to confuse all news's minds.

With his drums began to beat, the camels were loaded hurriedly. After the second signal every one left behind him were all the Ageyl who were carelessness had been mainly responsible for the disaster. These he rallied gently, chaffing them for having done this or that, (or having inflicted such losses, or lost so much. Then he called back Mirzuk and lowered his sand-flap: a sign that there was private business to be done. I thought of the meaning of Feisal's name (its sword flashing downward in the stroke), and feared it seem, but he made room for Mirzuk on his carpet, and said, "Come! tell us more of your 'nights' and marvels of the battle: amuse us."

Feisal is speaking, had a rich musical voice, and used it carefully upon his men. To them he talked in tribal dialect, but with a curious, hesitant manner, as though fatiguing perfectly among strangers, keeping inward for the just word. His thought, perhaps, moved only by a little in front of his speech, as the phrases at last chosen were usually the simplest, which gave an affect emotional and sincere. It seemed possible, so thin was the screen of words, to see the pure and very brave spirit shining out.

The routine of our life in camp was simple. Just before day-break the army Imam used to utter an astounding call to prayer. His voice was harsh and very powerful, and we were effectually roused, whether we prayed or cursed. As soon as he great. When Mirzuk at Tiberiad, his had finished, came in from Zeid to explain the shameful story of their recall, Feisal had laughed at him in public and send him aside to wait while he saw the Englishmen of the Harb and the Ageyl whose carelessand musically from just outside the tent. In a minute, one or Feisal's five slaves came round with sweetened coffee. Supper for the first day in the chill of dawn was considered rife.

(To Be Continued)

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

JUNE 6, 1913.

The Rev. H. B Kenny of Bowmanville, formerly of Belleville, was elected President of the Bay of Quinte Methodist Conference at Oshawa.

The proceeds of the Rose Day collections for the Red Cross Fund in this city amounted to over $600.00.

Messrs. James Warham and R. H. Ketcheson, delegates from Maiden City Lodge Prentice Boys of this city and Dr. Cluff, delegate to Grand Secretary, left today for St. Johns, P.Q., to attend the annual Grand Lodge of the Prentice Boys which is to be held in that city.

Elaborate preparations are being made for the visit of General Hughes to Belleville on June 11th, for the inspection of the 39th Battalion and in honor of the presentation of colors to that military unit.

The Rev. Mr. Bremner, boy of St. Thomas, Ont., formerly pastor of the ministers at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church here, was in the city this week on his way to the meeting of the General Assembly at Kingston.

30 Years Ago

JUNE 6, 1903.

The members of the Belleville Council of the Knights of Columbus met last evening in the C.M.B.A. Hall and elected the following officers for the ensuing year; E. J. Butler, Grand Knight; Dr. J. F. Delan, Deputy Grand Knight; Rev. D. A. Twomey, Chaplain; Rev. A. J. Hand, Lecturer; F. F. Carney, Chancellor; W. A. G. Mackey, Recorder; Wm. Williamson, Financial Secretary; T. J. Burley, Recorder; Trustees—R. Quinlan, Jas. Hendricks and W. J. Logue; Guards—J. Dowrie and J. J. Trualach.

The heating system at Hotel Quinte is being changed from hot water to steam and other improvements made in the house.

Mr. W. B. Deacon, chairman of the deputation appointed to visit the schools with the Old Boys' Reunion, has been making a personal canvass and he is assured that the city will look its prettiest when the old boys and girls return home next month.

Mr. and Mrs. George Brooker returned to their home in Chicago today after visiting relatives here for several weeks.

40 Years Ago

JUNE 6, 1893.

Mr. Charles Jones and family will remove to Rochester to reside in a few days.

Mr. William Johnson, Inspector of Weights and Measures, is in attendance at the meeting of the Bay of Quinte Conference in Napanee.

Mr. F. D. Hughes of Sheldon, Ont., is visiting his brother in this city.

Mr. H. M. Arnold of the staff of the Bank of Montreal, Montreal, left today to visit friends in Belleville.

All clerks in the city are requested to be present at the Drill Hall this evening. The business is important.

50 Years Ago

JUNE 6, 1883.

A team of horses belonging to a carter named Roblin ran away yesterday and badly smashed a new cow gear which was being conveyed from the station for Mrs. Wallbridge.

The party who took the chessboard and bell from the game room at the Mechanics' Institute without permission will please return the same and save his reputation.

The members of St. Andrew's Society have nearly completed arrangements for the grand demonstration which is to be held in Belleville on Dominion Day, July 1st.

The return match between the High School and the City Football team was played yesterday, the former team won, the score being 1 to 0. The following composed the teams: High School—T. Weekes, R. Forin, H. Spencer, J. Bonfy, S. Wallbridge, J. Moore, J. Clarke, B. Fairman, H. Simpson, J. Campbell, D. Sarvgar. City Team—H. H. Austin, G. Smith, Wilkie, T. Green, R. Elliott, T. O'Neil, P. Thomas, Lingham, P. McKay, J. Hynes, W. Henderson. The umpires were E. F. Milburn and H. Wallbridge.

CICERI — BOLTON
FREE Phone 926 DELIVERY
KELLOGG'S
CORN FLAKES 3 for 23c
Caravan Coco Castile SOAP 2 for 13c
MAPLE LEAF Pure Soap Flakes 24 oz. 23c
CASTLE Floor Wax 1 lb. tin 24c
OAT PUFFS 2 for 19c
DARK HONEY 5 lb. tins 39c
CREAMERY BUTTER lb. 23c
WITH EVERY $1.00 PURCHASE OR OVER
10 Pounds SUGAR Gran. . . 51c
LARGE CALIFORNIA LEMONS doz. 17c
SEED ONIONS lb. 5c
PINEAPPLES Lge. 2 for 29c Med. 6 for 69c
Good Size Sweet ORANGES 2 doz. 39c
NEW CABBAGE 2 lb. for 9c
SWIFT'S PREMIUM ROUND STEAK lb. 18c
COOKED HAM lb. 49c
Genuine Spring Lamb LEGS 28c LOINS 26c FRONTS 18c
Schneider's BREAKFAST BACON Sliced lb. 26c

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK

by R. J. SCOTT

Synod of Ontario Chooses Executive

Kingston, June 6.—At the session of the Diocese of Ontario Anglican Synod, the executive committee was elected as follows: Clergy, Rev. S. E. Morton, Brockville; Rev. A. Tesky, Kingston; Rev. R. W. Spencer, Camden East; Rev. A. L. McTier, Cataraqui; Rev. G. G. Wright, Belleville; Rev. S. E. Huffman, Kingston; Rev. J. D. M. Naughton, Kingston; Rev. A. C. Cooke, Barriefield; Rev. H. H. Pelton, Prescott; Rev. A. B. Payne, Belleville.

Laymen—Judge E. H. McLeish, Picton; Dr. H. H. Alger, Stirling; H. T. Price, Kingston; Col. A. W. Gray, Brockville; W. B. Anderson, Kingston; William Jolly, Brockville; H. Beamish, Prescott; Dr. F. B. Lowe, Kingston.

Reports adopted included the Committee on Group Insurance; submitted by Archdeacon Coleman, Kingston; Committee on Episcopal Funds, submitted by Very Rev. Dean W. W. Craig, Kingston; and the report on rural deaneries, submitted by Rural Dean A. O. Cooker, Calarsqui. The Committee on Fire Insurance submitted their report through Archdeacon J. Dumbrille, Napanee, but was referred back to the committee for further consideration.

MOUNTAIN VIEW Y.P.S. ENTERTAINED

Mountain View, June 5—Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McNeil of Calgary, and Mrs. and Mrs. J. G. Sprague spent the tea hour on Tuesday even with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sprague and family.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Derbyshire of Trenton, were Friday evening callers of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Badgley of Big Island, spent Friday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Sprague.

Mr. and Mrs. Loral Wannamaker and Jean spent Saturday with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Wannamaker.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Langstaffe and Mr. Les Patience and children spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Morley Dempsey.

Mrs. Chas. Wood spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Everett Wood of Belleville. Mr. Everett Wood of Lome from the hospital but improves very slowly.

Mr. George Whitaker spent the week end with relatives in Belleville.

Mr. Jay Sprague and Eleanor spent the dinner hour on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Sprague and family of Big Island.

Rev. D. J. Campbell spent last week attending Day of Quinte conference at St. Andrew's United Church, Peterboro.

The Y.P.S. of Mountain View put on the church service on Sunday night. Mr. W. J. Parliament gave a very interesting address, possibly the most helpful and inspirative address ever delivered at Mountain View Church.

Mrs. Alfred Poole spent Tuesday with the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Sprague.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Sprung and Mrs. Carrol Gardiner spent Sunday noon with Mr. and Mrs. Eddy Hall of Hurl's Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Wood spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Everett Wood of Belleville.

Mrs. W. J. Hickerson spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Hagerman of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Anderson and Misses Lillian Sprague and Annie Blair enjoyed a motor trip through Green Point and lower parts of the county.

The Mountain View Y.P.S. were entertained by the Massassaga Y.P.S. on Thursday night at Massassaga United Church. The evening was spent in a short program and games. Prize for contest was won by Miss Hazel Minaker and Mr. Albert Hillman.

Delicious refreshments were served and a social half hour enjoyed.

HOLIDAY GUESTS AT SCHOHARIE

Schoharie, June 6.—Mrs. Strait and two young sons of New York are spending several weeks with her mother, Mrs. R. H. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cleave entertained Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Hagerman, Mrs. George Ward and Mr. Jack Ward, also Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wells of Belleville on Decoration day evening.

Mr. John Benson and Mrs. Mildred Benson were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Ketcheson, Wellington Road.

Miss Rose Walters spent last week with her cousin, Miss Gena York, Bloomfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cleave were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Will Cleave, Gilead.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Hobson and Miss Lillian Wiznan spent the dinner hour on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Hobson.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Palmer of Jericho Shore spent Sunday of last week with their daughter, Mrs. H. Foster and Mr. Foster.

A number from this neighborhood attended the horse show held at Picton fair grounds on Monday.

Mr. John Benson and Mrs. Mildred Benson spent the hour noon Monday with Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson, Picton.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Walters and Rose spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Orpha Walters, Picton.

Mrs. Jennie Clark who has been spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cleave is visiting friends in Picton this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coleman and Billy of Toronto, are holidaying with her mother, Mrs. Ward.

QUARTERLY SESSION OF FRIENDS' CHURCH

Wooler, June 6.—Mrs. J. J. McColl and Mrs. George Anderson returned home from Toronto on Thursday.

Bert Wilkins of the Airport, Trenton, spent the week-end with friends.

The annual quarterly session was held at the Friends Church on Saturday and Sunday. Rev. Howard Perry of Wellington was the speaker. Those from Sunday were: Mrs. Webb and Jennie, his daughter, and Miss Jackson, From Bloomfield Mrs. and Arthur Hall and daughter, Mrs. Hobson of Picton, Mrs. Kelley and her daughter and Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Corke. From Wellington Rev. and Mrs. Harry Perry, Mr. and Mrs. S. Crook, Mr. W. Crook and daughter of Marion, Mrs. Durland and daughter and a number extra attended on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Herrington of Milwaukee are spending this week at Floral Hill Farm.

Mrs. Hicks Hennessey is very poorly.

Bert Richards of Toronto is spending the summer with R. Putnam.

Mrs. Masters spent the week-end in Toronto.

John Down is a victim to scarlet fever.

Dr. Callahan of Toronto is convalescing at the Farm.

The Misses Pearl and Emma Cole entertained the W. C. O.'s class at their home on Monday night.

Miss Dunfield spent the week-end in Toronto.

A number from here attended the funeral of the late Walter Ames, Codrington, on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Levina Durland and daughter Beatrice spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Palmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kinnear of Melville and Miss Alfred of Trenton called on Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Terrill on Sunday afternoon.

Miss Eva Cronk of Wellington is spending a few weeks with Mrs. Cecil Nelson.

On Monday afternoon S. L. Terrill accompanied by Hugh Galsworth and Leland Bryant were in Peterboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Herrington and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Herrington of Hilton spent Wednesday evening at Floral Hill Farm.

Mrs. William Gillings is ill, suffering with lumbago.

The Woman's Missionary meeting at the Friends Church on Saturday evening included members from Bloomfield, Wellington and Wooler. Mrs. Lydia Nelson, president, presided over the business reports, etc., and then introduced the new president, Marion Cronk of Wellington who conducted the program. The first chorus was given by Charlie Nelson, Hazel Cronk, Hart Smith, Alice Montgomery and Fay Dalmas, accompanied by Hugh Galsworth and played by Mrs. G. Curry. Recitation, "The Gospel according to you" by Hazel Smith. Vocal duet, Mildred and Nadine Cole. Friends' work in Palestine, outlined by Marion Nelson. Visiting friends from Bloomfield sang "The Dying Love". Exercise by primary class—China, Pearl Smith; Japan, Norma Galsworth; India, Betty Wells; Alaska, Lillie Burley; Turkey, Iva Burley. Recitation, Edward Burley. Solo, Winnifred Galsworth. Recitation, Clarence Burley. Message, Burton Hill.

Miss A. F. Bell spent Tuesday evening with Mrs. J. W. Down.

Percy Gooding and Herman Morrow are attending county council in Picton this week.

J. A. Down sold a few head of holstein this week.

Sterling Nelson returned to his school at Coe Hill on Monday.

Miss A. F. Bell entertained the teachers of Murray Township at the Stone School House on Wednesday evening.

PRINCESS SOAP FLAKES
Fine for Silks, Woolens or Hosiery. Money Back Guarantee.
16¢ Large Package
Try a Package . . . If not entirely satisfied we will refund your money.

PALMOLIVE SOAP
5¢ A CAKE or 3 for 14¢
Keeps Complexions Youthful
Lathes perfectly in Hard or Soft Water.

CASTILE SOAP
MADE FROM PURE COCONUT OIL
2 Cakes for 5¢
BIG VALUE STOCK UP NOW

SUPER SUDS
10¢ A PKGE.
- Quicker for Dishes
- Easy on the Hands
- Advertised by the Radio Stories "Ma Perkins, Let 'S Eat"

LELYS Hard Water CASTILE SOAP
Lathes in Hard or Soft Water.
5¢ A CAKE

LARGE NUMBER SEE BALL GAME AT BOWERMAN'S

Christian Street, June 6.—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Noxon called on Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson one evening last week. Mr. Johnson is not so well again, and his many friends hope he will soon be feeling better.

Mrs. Macormack of Picton spent several days last week with Mr. and Mrs. David Fox and called on several friends in the neighborhood who are confined to bed.

Quite a number from here attended the ball game at Bowerman's on Thursday evening when they were victors over Crofton by a 13-11 score.

Mr. Arthur Noxon is company with his brother, Rev. Harold Noxon, student, D.D., of Perth, attended the United Church Conference at Peterboro last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Werden and family and Mrs. M. M. Werden spent Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Geray Parks and sons of Wellington Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Noxon attended the ball game at Mount Pleasant on Tuesday evening.

Everyone was delighted with the wonderful rain received on Tuesday night as it was a wonderful help for hay and spring crops.

Miss Georgia Bonny spent a night last week with her aunt, Mrs. T. O. Wright of Picton.

Mrs. W. J. Calnan spent Saturday afternoon with Mrs. M. M. Werden.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Thompson and Russell and Mr. Ira Beamish of Consecon were guests last week from Arden.

Mrs. M. B. Noxon spent Sunday with Mrs. James Noxon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pooley and sons of Campbellcroft spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Werden and family.

Mrs. S. J. Cross, Gertrude, Willet, Howard and Mrs. Fred Tinsen spent Sunday with Mrs. Clarence Sprague and children of Mountain View.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tinsen of Ameliasburgh also Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Noxon and daughter, Evelyn, were guests on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Noxon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Barr and Ronald of Barry's spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Werden.

Miss Patricia Cayton of Belleville spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Clayton and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Allison and Arthur of Big Island spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. D. W. Allison.

The many friends in the community of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Wood (nee Flossie Ainsworth) are very sorry to hear of his serious illness at his home in Belleville and hope he may soon be restored to health.

There will be a ball game at Crofton on Friday evening when the Rednal team will play against Crofton team.

Spend Holidays With Malone Friends

Malone, June 6.—Mr. and Mrs. H. Long and children of Madoc spent the week-end as guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Wessel.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Nickle and children of Belleville are spending a few days the guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nickle.

Mr. Fred Fox and daughter Marilyn spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Fox.

Mrs. Charlie Kelly, Helen, Lela and Brucy, also Mrs. Henry Wesse and Mrs. Thomas McCann spent Monday last at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Bateman.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gordon and family of Madoc spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Fox.

Mr. Carmen Ashley and little daughters Carmella and Madeine of Belleville spent Sunday with friends in this vicinity.

Mrs. Fred Fox, Freda and Johnny and Mr. Alex Gawley spent Sunday in Point Anne and Belleville.

Miss Leona Gawley spent week-end under parental roof.

Misses Jeana and Alma Nickle of Springhouse spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Nickle.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nickle, also Mrs. Dan McCrimmon spent one day last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nickle.

Mr. Arthur's mill has completed the sawing up of logs and has moved to Millbridge.

Miss Helen Kelly of Marmora spent the week-end at her home here.

Misses Arlis Pack and Laura Robinson spent Monday with Miss Ruby Pack.

Mr. Thomas McCann and Mr. Alex Gawley of Cleaverdale spent the week-end at their homes here.

THIRD HILLIER NEWS BRIEFS

Third Hillier, June 6. — Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Benway attended the funeral of the late Walter Ames of Codrington on Monday.

Mrs. Arthur McFaul is again teaching at Niles' Corners much improved in health since her recent illness.

Mrs. Frank Benway spent several days with her daughter, Mrs. Jack Roote at Consecon Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Reilly of Belleville spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Benway.

Tomato setting seems to be the order of the day.

The lovely rain on Monday was badly needed in most parts of the county.

Mr. Albert McKinnon of Wellington called at Chas. Benway's on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Clapp were at Belleville on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Leavens spent Sunday at Trenton.

Mr. William Anthrop of Cole Creek spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Will Dalland.

QUALITY PREVAILS AT LOBLAWS

"SPECIALS" on Sale June 6th to June 12th
Our Specials at other points are not all the same but you will always find them equally as reliable.

Special For Excellent Baking Results
MONARCH PASTRY FLOUR
7-lb. Bag 24-lb. Bag
24¢ 76¢

RED RIVER CEREAL
Nature's Food for Young and Old. PKG. 22c

TEA-BISK
Add milk or water only. 20-oz. Pkg. 17c

Special DOMESTIC or RASIPIRST
SHORTENING 1-lb. Carton 12¢

Special EMERY BRAND
CORNED BEEF 12-oz. Tin 9¢

Special CHATEAU
PLAIN or PIMENTO CHEESE 2 ½-lb. Pkgs. 25¢

Special LAND O'LAKE
PEARS 2 No. 2 Squat Tins 19¢

Special IRRADIATED CEREAL
MUFFETS 2 Pkgs. 17¢

EXTRA GOOD SPECIALS

Rich RED KING—Fancy Sockeye
SALMON Tall Tin 24¢

AYLMER Choice
GOLDEN BANTAM CORN No. 2 Size Tin 9¢

SILVER RIBBON
Tomato Juice 2½ Size Tin 9¢

WHITE WEAVE
TOILET TISSUE Roll 6¢

CHIPSO Large Package 16¢

MAPLE LEAF Brand
MATCHES Package 21¢

GOLDEN WAX
BEANS 2 No. 2 Tall Tins 15¢

CAMPBELL'S
VEGETABLE SOUP 2 Tins 17¢

CLASSIC
CLEANSER Tin 4¢

Special CATELLI'S
MACARONI
Ready Cuts Spaghetti Vermicelli
10-oz. pkg. 8¢
Save the Premium Coupons

STORE HOURS
8.30 a.m. to 6.00 p.m.
Wednesday, 8 a.m. to 12 p.m.
Saturday, 8 a.m. to 11 p.m.

Loblaws "Special"
Tea Black lb. 33¢
EXCELLENT VALUE

Loblaws "TRUMPET"
COFFEE
A Favorite with Thousands
1-lb. Cellophane Bag 25¢

Special
Tin 16¢

LOBLAW GROCETERIAS CO., LIMITED

GET THESE SOAP BARGAINS ON SALE AT THESE STORES

BELLEVILLE, ONT.

FRANK ADAMS
185 Bridge St. Phone 46

AYRES & MacLAURIN
196 Front St. Phone 1490

BARGMAN'S GROCERY
No. 1 Moira St. East. Phone 702

G. L. BLUE—BLUE'S MARKETERIA
296 Front St. Phone 2230

A. CARSWELL
65 St. Charles St. Phone 13293

CERRI & BOLTON
Cor. Victoria Ave. & Front St. Phone 936

W. R. DAVIDSON
Cor. Murray & Dorry St. Phone 1270

BILL DENNIS
47 Pine St. Phone 1259

E. E. DeVAULT
16 West Bridge St. Phone 1213

B. ELVINS
330 Front St. Phone 306

A. GAEL
75 West Bridge St. Phone 473

H. HALES
36 Olive Street Phone 1635

C. HILTON
66½ Catherine St. Phone 1311

JEFFREY'S
83 Station St. Phone 570

E. A. KELLAWAY
30 Bridge St. West and 61 Dundas St. East Phone 81

G. LYNCH
301 Coleman St. Phone 1963

F. W. MARNER
32 Queen St. Phone 955

C. H. McBRIDE
Victoria Ave. & Charles St. Phone 2

F. C. McMASTER
1 South Park St. Phone 808W

NU-IDEA GROCETERIA
135 Front St. Phone 175

E. A. RIDLEY
Cor. William and Victoria Phone 438

W. ROSEVEAR
27 North Front St. Phone 1575

W. J. SMITH
97 Cannifton Road Phone 1365

SHERIFF SHOP
Cor. Evans & N. Front Sts. Phone 1112

MRS. F. A. TWIDDY
156 West Moira St. Phone 689

WALLBRIDGE'S
220 Front St. Phone 157-158

WARD'S
74 S. John St. and 98 W. Bridge St. Phone 1687 Phone 2181

L. N. WESSE
20 St. Paul St. Phone 1

WRIGHT'S
84 West Moira St. Phone 1135

FOXBORO, ONT.

J. E. MORGAN
Phones: 292-2 — 7-r-1

W. E. PRENTICE
Phone 2804-5

WELLINGTON, ONT.

F. KELMLEY
Phone 18

L. P. COXALL
Phone 7

STONEBURG & RABBIE
Phone 71

Personals

Mrs. M. E. Bowerman, Mrs. O. S. Clark, Mrs. J. Quinn and Miss Alma Richardson were tea hostesses at the Country Club yesterday.

Rev. J. A. Maclean, pastor of St. Gregory's parish, Picton, left this week for the Province of Richmond for a two months' holiday which he will spend in Ireland.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Andrews and two children were visitors in Picton on Tuesday.

Dr. and Mrs. Perry Goldsmith, Toronto, entertained at a garden party in Hart House Quadrangle yesterday, for the American delegates to the Oto-Laryngological Society convention in session at the Royal York Hotel. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Angus Campbell, who poured tea, Mrs. Edward N. Mrs. C. O. Bee, Mrs. Edward N. Wright, Mrs. H. S. Pentland, Mrs. George Hays and Mrs. G. Strachan.

Mr. Hrosek Smith who was injured in a motor accident last night is resting comfortably in the Belleville General Hospital this morning. Kingston, is progressing favourably.

Miss Ruth Frances Peet of Belleville is among the graduates of the graduating class of Kingston General Hospital to receive their diplomas this evening. Edwin Perry White, M.D., C.M., and C. Douglas Lawrence, M.D., C.M., will receive interns' certificates.

Mr. William E. Robinson of Minneapolis, Minn., is in the city yesterday, having been called to Toronto by the illness of his father, Colonel Robinson, who passed away in Calgary, Alta.

Weddings

INGERSOLL—ASHLEY

A very pretty wedding took place on Saturday, June 1st, when Estelle Viola, daughter of Mrs. Ashley and the late George Ashley, was joined in "Holy Matrimony to Mr. Edward Ingersoll, son of Mrs. and the late Alexander Ingersoll of the late Alexander Ingersoll, of Pultneyville, N.Y. The ceremony was performed at Glen, Rev. P. Simons.

The attendants were Miss Elinore Shelden, of Albany, N.Y., and Mr. Albert Ingersoll, brother of the groom.

The bride wore a rose crepe ensemble with matching accessories, her bouquet was Talisman roses and lilies of the valley. Her attendant wore a gold necklace set with sapphires, the gift of the groom. The bouquet was sapphire asters blue with matching accessories and carried a bouquet of cornflowers.

The reception was held in the Canadian Club, Oana Johanie, Glengrove, N.Y., after which the young couple left for Washington, D.C., and the Southern States. Mr. and Mrs. Ingersoll will reside in Pultneyville, N.Y.

PARTIES AMICABLY SETTLE DAMAGES

Tender damage to two automobiles was the result of a collision that occurred on East Bridge street shortly after one o'clock today. According to P. C. Evans, who investigated and reported the case, Harold Woods, 184 Victoria avenue, was proceeding westward on Bridge street, as Samuel Way, Toronto, was backing out from the north curb nearby. Way apparently failed to observe the oncoming Woods car and backed into it. Neither vehicle was travelling at a great rate of speed and thus minimizing the damage sustained. The matter of damages was amicably settled between the parties concerned, without any intervention on the part of the police.

I'M SAVING MONEY SINCE I THREW AWAY MY WASHBOARD!

Her clothes last 2 or 3 times longer now

It isn't smart, all right! She knows that by scrubbing rasps her clothes. She knows that scrubbing reddens and roughens her hands. So she changed to Rinso! Now she gets clothes 6 or 7 shades whiter without scrubbing, without boiling. Rinso rasps out dirt, safely. It keeps colors bright and gay as new, wonderfully. IN WASHING, LIFE'S magic for dishwashing. Just try it! You'll never be satisfied again with any soap but Rinso. Get the BIG package

MUST WORKS WITH THE LARGE PACKAGE

Rinso

TANGLED LIVES

By ANN FORESTER

JEALOUSY

CHAPTER FIFTY

Someone else has seen that long warm look which Jim Keith flashed across the table to Joyce.

Natalie—who had elderly sons to the front door and was watching the group on the porch, Natalie, whose light blue eyes flashed as they rested on the slender orchid figure of the other girl, was jealous, jealous of Natalie's heart, murderous jealousy; and the thing of sin on her was the devil when she called sharply: "Jim, will you please come in! Mother and I are waiting for you!"

Surprise in Jim Keith's face as he turned. "I'm sorry, Natalie. I didn't realize—"

Maddy looked after him when he left. "Now she was hopping mad because he was out here, wasn't she?" she said bluntly. "That's the fellow she's engaged to, isn't it? I heard she was just crazy about him."

"Engaged!" It came from Joyce's lips with a harshness which surprised them all. "Yes . . . I—I suppose they are." The sound of her own voice appeared to reach her. She was out with a distinct effort. "They have known each other for years . . . Maddy—Kitty—let me have you with softer—you haven't a thing on our plates!"

Something cool and furious leaping in her heart. Engaged . . . Jim engaged to Natalie . . . Well, that she spoke bitterly to herself what did it matter to her! Why she was he here in Riverrest! All these years—writing to Natalie. What was it to her? She didn't even like him . . . She hated him.

Talking, smiling . . . and a side issue of forlorness creeping over her. Natalie in Jim's arms . . . Oh, dear God, what was the matter with her! Where was her pride—

When Maddy reluctantly rose to go home, Joyce entered the car and, around, but she herself took the wheel, behind the wheel, "I feel like driving," she replied to Maddy's half hearted protests. She must get away—if only for a few minutes from the house which was becoming a prison.

Down Valley View Street, where the homes are comfortably on their wide lawns and the shadows of the trees arched along the street. A feeling of comfortable security on all sides—the easy languor of a prosperous country town. The big car purred along the golden street, past trim gardens, gay lawn umbrellas, bright porch swings, and the rich sensuous smell of roses in the air after a shower. Rain had fallen in splashing.

"Good land . . . to think you live up here," breathed Maddy by Joyce's side. "It's like a fairy tale come true."

Down through the business section to Maddy's modest Baltimore flat.

All afternoon the direct rays of the summer sun had been pouring on the squat house. Its yellow paint was blistered and the thick air inside Maddy helped to her feet as Maddy opened the front door.

But Maddy wore the magnificent glasses of possession. She did not notice the heat—the smell of paint and the lightness. She chattered at Joyce in his wooden pen on the front porch and insisted that Joyce come inside.

"I want you to see the Chesterfield set Will got me for Christmas." Maddy ushered Joyce into a stifling front room overflowing with her "best things."

"Of course it's smaller than your place and not so swell, but I do like it's cozy, don't that?"

"That" was a three-piece Chesterfield set, a cheaply pretentious affair, the springs always sagging under the shabby velour. But Joyce's tenderest and kindest gesture had never called forth the beaming satisfaction which now shone in Maddy's freckled face.

Joyce's last glimpse of her shrewd Maddy on the front porch, the fat baby under one arm, as she waved dangerous goodbye.

A blur of tears in Joyce's eyes, so that she had to blink to watch the road as she swung the big car around. Maddy—with nothing—had everything! Maddy with her home and her husband and baby . . .

Maddy—worried over next month's rent and last month's butcher bill . . . Maddy, homely and shabby . . . and happy.

The machine roared like an angry animal up the river road, the big engine pounding under its hood as the tortured heart of the woman who drove it pounded in her breast. Joyce's face was white and her eyes were dry as her clenched hands grasping the wheel were icy. A demon of jealousy was shaking her, crushing her . . . Natalie . . . in Jim's arms . . . as she had been one moonlight night long ago . . .

She turned and rent her own spirit in her torment. Despair came and mocked her. She would go through life with this lonely ache in her heart. There was nothing in her which repelled love. Impossible—Joyce knew instinctively was that mad night in the bow of the Neptune . . . but love, the warm and radiant emotion of love was not for her.

Suddenly suddenly jammed on, the machine slid to rest under a tree and Joyce slumped down on the wheel.

She did not cry. That twisted tortured head did not have the relief of tears. She lay, face in her arms, every muscle in her body aching with pain.

Natalie—the girl who had given a sob of fainting like a wild blowing over it. "Oh, I—I hate him . . . I—I hate him . . . "

A lonely road here. No other car went by. Only the grey highway, the fields, the trees, the yellow sunshine. The stubble of bayfields swelling on either side of the road, the unbending shadow of the five oak overhead.

After long moments Joyce raised her head. She pushed back her hair and pressed her hands hard against her eyes, as though to clear them.

She drove home. Back to the big house which would be her prison for five years. After all, there was nothing else to do.

Out in the fragrant twilight, Joyce and Kitty lingered after dinner. Bread of peace standing on the sill-air. The yellow sickle of the new moon. To the north, from beyond a forest tree, black against a grey sky.

Over everything a velvet hush had fallen, a hush which held the two women silent as an enchantment.

Sunk in the depths of a garden chair, Kitty was puffing her cigarette and idly watching Joyce as she lay in her porch swing, Joyce was green tonight; perhaps her best color, a flimsy chiffon dress which left her arms and neck bare and fell in a clong to her ankles. In this half light detail was lost. Kitty saw only the long, graceful lines of her body, the pensive droop of the head as the girl dreamily studied the glowing tip of her cigarette in the long lazy bodies.

Something lonely — something wistful about Joyce's pose struck the older woman and she spoke.

"Isn't it still?" Sort of whisper. As if it was waiting." There was, in a hush in Kitty's voice, a though she feared to disturb the quiet grey-beast of the garden.

"Funny, isn't it—" Kitty went on as the other said nothing. "... you and me sitting here like this—in this quiet garden, when we've been in so many strange places, together. Places overrunning with colors . . . and here we sit. So still. Just as if we were actresses sitting in the wings waiting for our turn to go on and speak our lines."

The willowware fancy caught Joyce's imagination. "Do you suppose—" she said in curious voice, "that we go on in death?"

"Sure we do!" said Kitty stoutly "Playing out our parts. Like a play, isn't it us finding Jim Keith here. Kitty, Joy, that what you suppose?"

She started as a streak of red fire went by her. Joyce had flung her cigarette into the garden, and Kitty's eyes, shaking with a cold, cupped hands, "I'm sorry, I—I didn't mean words.

Kitty—don't mention that nasty name to me! I detest and despise that fortune hunter!"

Kitty was hurt. "Well, you needn't snap my head off. And I think you're unfair, Joyce. I really like Jim—"

Joyce was on her feet. She was trembling with the effort to hold herself on leash. "And I—I hate him! Cruelty—cheating—for a little deal of money . . . Oh . . ." After a shocked moment, she spoke again, her voice was tired and humble. "Please forgive my temper Kitty . . . it isn't against you. Come on for a drive with me. I'm cool off." She slipped a concrete arm through Kitty's arm as they went down the steps to-ward the garage.

In the dark library, behind the closed French windows gaping back on the porch, a man rose out of the deep chair where he had been hidden during Jim Keith's face was very pale.

GONE

CHAPTER FIFTY-ONE

Jim Keith had left Riverton.

He had—so he carefully explained received a wire calling him back west, a wire which explaining face was very grim and his lips set firmly as he spoke about it. Whatever it was, it required his immediate presence. He would catch the morning train.

He departed, leaving Mrs. Cameron bewildered—Natalie disappointed. Joyce he did not see. She learned the news through Kitty who came rushing into Joyce's bedroom while she was putting on her riding habit for a morning ride.

"Jim's gone . . . Burke told me he just left for the station to catch the nine o'clock train. He's gone, and he won't coming back!" Kitty sat across the room and turned as he spoke and even through her agitation Kitty found time to notice how white Joyce looked this morning. Her face was like a piece of ice.

She suddenly laughed, a harsh little laugh. "Well, don't look so distressed, Kitty. I'm glad it's all over. I'm sure we'll all live quite as long if we never see Jim Keith again."

"Do you know—" Kitty went on, "I'll bet he wasn't engaged to Natalie, although that part of it." Kitty suddenly like that!"

Joyce's face left the room had turned back to the mirror and was carefully adjusting her hat. "I—I while silk shirt—which was undoubtedly the reason why her voice sounded a little muffled—"Perhaps she turned him down."

"Not on your life!" Kitty cried. "She was crazy about him."

Joyce stopped short, finally heard of his unsavory past. That old scandal the ship's doctor was always talking about . . .

"I don't believe it!" said Kitty hotly. "I don't believe it! I don't have—"

"Oh, Kitty— for heaven's sake, sing another tune!" Joyce snapped It's making to me, if that Joyce hunter finally had the good taste to go away—"

Nothing to her. It only burned all of her. Her flat and stale. It only turned her heart to a lonely, whimpering thing so, that all her will power went to holding her head high, to forcing her lips to smile.

Joyce rode up the trail through Maidens Woods, and the beauty of the morning crept into her consciousness and the unhappiness in her own mind.

Early sunlight spotted the brown earth, striking through the trees in long, quivering shafts.

Her horse broke the wake of rose spiders which dragged the hot beach along the trail, and filled the air open which threw off rainbow sparkles in the light.

The air was crisp and heady, bringing the lang of early autumn. Birds flashed through the trees and chipmunks ran along branches, scolding and peering at her with curious, bright eyes. A few yellow leaves drifted down on her shoulder and were blown away from the trees in long, quivering curves.

Her thoughts broke the web

Business Directory

AUTO LOANS

AND REFINANCING
Direct with Customer—Saving of all kinds
R. J. FISHER & SON
39 Bridge St. East Belleville Telephone 165

Campbell Auto Finance Co. Ltd.
Toronto — Oshawa — London — Windsor

CHIROPRACTOR

R. A. WYATT, D.C., CHIROPRACTOR and Drugless Therapeutist. Modern examination and treatment. Electric analysis. Office hours: 9 a.m. to 12 noon; 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Phone 1000. Residence phone 1001. 38 Coleman street, Belleville, phone 906.

VERA B. PITCHER, CHIROPRACTOR, and N. A. Pitcher, Chiropractor and Drugless Therapist, Radiation Diagnosis and Treatment. Electro-Therapy and Infra-Red Radiations and Massage. Consultation, 6th Bridge St. E., Belleville, Ont. Phone 1376.

DENTIST

DR. ROST, H. EMPSON
Dentist
Phone 269 Over Rose's Store, Phone 269
11-39

RADIO SERVICE

JOHN A. DEWAR
RADIO TECHNICIAN
Radios Serviced — Tubes Tested
89 John St. 41-42

SURVEYORS

FRASER AYLESWORTH
Ontario Land Surveyor and Engineer
Professional Engineer of Ontario
Surveys, Plans and Descriptions, Etc.
Surveys and Plans
PHONE 8 — BOX 69
BANCROFT, ONT.

INSURANCE

Protect yourself against accidents with our Automobile Insurance
SANDY BURROWS
Agent
HOWARD FROST
Life and Fire Insurance
285 Front St. Phone 128

HALL & EARLE
General Insurance, Fire, Automobile, Accident and Plate Glass
282 Front St. Phone 1134-W

STOCKS & BONDS

HOGAN AND CRAWFORD, MEMBERS of Toronto Stock Exchange
1126 P. E. Wills, branch manager
35-tf

LEGAL

WALLBRIDGE, CAMERON AND CO. (Successors to the late F. B. Wallbridge) Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Solicitor for Molson's Bank. Dominion Bank Building, corner Front and Bridge streets. Phone 96-97

MALCOLM WRIGHT, BARRISTER, Solicitor, Notary Public, Etc. Office: Campbell Block, Belleville.

T. V. WILS, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Notary Public, Etc. Campbell St., Belleville. Telephone 14. 40-42

PORTER, PAYNE AND ARNOTT, Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public. Counsel for Canadian Bank of Commerce. A. PAYNE, K.C., Belleville, Ont. Telephone 67.

PORTON AND GRAHAM, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Conveyancers, etc. Office: 39 Bridge St. East, Belleville. Money to loan. Mortgages bought and sold. Inquiries invited. W. N. Porton, K.C., B. J. R. Graham. Office Telephone 35.

DONNAN AND BULLEN, B. O. Donnan, K.C., L. S. Bullen, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Office: Second floor, Bank of Montreal Building, Belleville, Ont. Phone 322.

Fine Brick House — Excellent stables and about seven acres of good land.

For Sale

On Moira River, near Lazier's Old Mill, Canniffton Road. Residence of the late Geo. I. Thomas.

LOW PRICE

BELLEVILLE LOCATORS
Geo. N. Gorman, Prop.
198 Front St.
Phone 90 House Phone 667

PHONE 99
Classified Ad. Rates

SOCIAL NOTICES—Births, 50c; Marriages and Engagements Notices, $1.00; Deaths and Funeral Notices, $1.00; Floral Tributes, 10c a line; Cards of Thanks, 50c; In Memoriams, 10c a line; Resolutions, $1.00 for 12 line; over that 10c per count line. Lodge and Society notices, minimum charge, 75c.

CLASSIFIED — (Per Word) Cash with order, 1c; 10c per word per week. Charge accounts, 2c per word per week. Minimum charge, 25c per insertion.

CODING SYMBOLS—75c per insertion for 25 words or under; over that 1c per word per insertion.

PROFESSIONAL, LEGAL AND BUSINESS CARDS—$1 per week (Non-Contract); $5 per month (Non-Contract); $3 per month (Contract); AUCTION SALES—(Including Government Sales)—15c per agate line (14 lines to inch) for first insertion; 10c per line for each subsequent insertion.

AUCTION SALE—3c per word; handling 5c extra on all sales entered. Minimum 25 words for 75c. Additional, 2c per word.

An initial or figure counts as one word.

Any astounding allow five words to the line.

Telephone your Want Ads when it is most convenient. Our operator will take them.

The Ontario Intelligencer will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of an incorrect ad. Phone 99 for Want Ads.

Replies to Box Number ads may be addressed to P.O. Box—or care of the Ontario Intelligencer.

WANTED

BY BUSINESS GIRL, ROOM AND board in private home, centrally located. Apply Miss Ellis, Box 1, or write "X" Ontario Intelligencer. 36-1

1935 OR 1936 MODEL CHRYSLER OR DeSoto car. Apply, Write Box 40, Ontario Intelligencer. 36-1

JOB ON FARM BY YOUNG MAN WHO is willing to work for small wages and board. Apply Ontario Intelligencer. 36-1

MAN WANTED FOR BELLEVILLE TO handle Ward's Quality Teas, Coffees, Cocoa, Spices, Extracts and Preparations direct to established customers. Permanent position. Splendid opportunity. Write with full particulars, Ward Corporation, John South, Hamilton. 36-38

TO LET

OAK LAKE CAMPS—2 FEW RESERVATIONS still available by week, month or season. Boating, bathing, fishing. Mr. Burgar, Gid, Belleville. 36 2 11

FURNISHED APARTMENT FOR THE summer months. Apply Box 37, Ontario Intelligencer. 36-1

MODERN 6 ROOM HOUSE, BATH, sunroom, low rent. Apply 36 Gordon street, Belleville. 36-1

MODERN SEVEN ROOM BRICK HOUSE No. 61 West Bridge. Apply 76 Bridge West. Phone 1473. 36-1

SUITE OF UNFURNISHED ROOMS suitable for light housekeeping. Apply 15 Moira street east. 36-2

SUMMER COTTAGES, ICE, RUNNING Water, Frigidaire. Apply Mrs. Thompson, Phone 30. 35-36

FOUR ROOM PRIVATE STREET, FIRST floor north Bayshot Church. Apply 19 Victoria avenue. Phone 1474-W. 34-37

123 WEST MOIRA, ALL MODERN IMprovements, large garden. Reduced rent to right tenant. Also only need apply. Apply 121 West Moira. 34-37

FURNISHED UNFURNISHED, HEATED apartments. All conveniences. Reasonable rentals. Apply Mrs. Wilson, 108 Front. 1126-tf

APARTMENT HEATED AND FURNISHED or partly furnished for light house-keeping. Apply 9 Victoria avenue. 1126-tf

MEDIUM SIZED APARTMENT, HEATED, hardwood floors, electric refrigerator and stove. Immediate possession. Apply Ontario Intelligencer. Box 1126-tf

DIED

GUTHRIE—In Belleville on Wednesday, June 5, 1935, Mary Ann Guthrie, widow of the late Thomas Guthrie. Funeral will take place from her late residence, 10 Pinnacle street, on Friday, June 7, at 2 p.m. Interment Belleville Cemetery. 36-1c

TICKELL & BROWNE
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
We Serve for Less.
FUNERAL HOME
Corner Church and Victoria Ave. Phone 2283

BELLEVILLE
SURIAL COMPANY
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
Of Quinte for
Phone 178-W Day and Night
A. W. MILLER
Proprietor
Manitoulin Cryptz For Sale

Thomas C. Thompson
Funeral Director
Funeral Home
32 Everett St. Phone 49
Office
325 Front St. Phone 49

FARMERS
A word to the wise is sufficient
ONE — $ — SAVED IS
TWO — $ — EARNED.
Let us help you in paying more when less will do.
The Farmers Director of the BAY OF QUINTE FIRE
INSURANCE CO.
Ask for our rates in Windermere, Asc. and Audit Forms
W. BURE
111 Front St. Belleville
Res. Phone 2362

TREASURER'S SALE OF LANDS
City of Belleville in the County of Hastings, Province of Ontario

To Wit:

By virtue of a warrant issued by the Mayor of the City of Belleville bearing date the 15th day of May, A.D. 1935, for the sale of lands in arrears on the 31st day of December, A.D. 1934, I shall offer for sale at the Council Chamber, City Hall, at the hour of ten o'clock in the morning of the eighteenth day of June, 1935, unless the taxes and costs are sooner paid, the following lots of land, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to pay the arrears of taxes and costs thereon up to the end of the sixth day of April and on the day of sale, with the taxes that may accrue of the said list may be had at my office, City Hall, Belleville, Ont., dated 15th March 1935.

R. B. STOCK, Treasurer.
M21 26 &4 11 18 25 &5 9 16 23 30 J6 13

TENDERS WANTED

Sealed tenders will be received up to 12 o'clock noon, June 8th, 1935, for the following named work. At Collegiate Institute for painting the interior and exterior woodwork. At King George School—repairs to roof, painting and two classrooms. At Queen Mary School—repairs to roof, painting and two classrooms. At Albert College—repairs to concrete floor in basement. Specifications from J. R. Findlay, Secretary Board of Education, Room 113, Collegiate. 36-2c

NOTICE TO CREDITORS AND OTHERS

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF MATTHEW NORTH, late of the City of Belleville in the County of Hastings, Gentleman, Deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to the Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1927, Chapter 121, that all creditors and others having claims against the said Matthew North, late of the City of Belleville in the County of Hastings, who died on or about the 31st day of March, 1935, are required to send by post prepaid or deliver to the undersigned, on or before the 5th day of July, 1935,

Their Christian and surnames, their addresses and full particulars of their claims, the statement of their accounts and the nature of the security (if any) held by them.

And further that after the said date the executor will proceed to distribute the assets among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to such claims of which it shall then have notice.

Dated at Belleville, this 5th day of May, A.D. 1935.

WALLBRIDGE, CAMERON & COMPANY, Belleville, Ontario, Solicitors for the Executor. J6 13 20

Painful Piles

Go Quick—Prevent Cutting—
No Salves

When sore and painful Piles distress and upset you, and salves give insufficient or only temporary help, and wish is to avoid operation; isn't it best to at once try HEM-ROID—the internal remedy for piles?

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt has now convinced early in his career that the cause of piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel—due to superficial veins filled with stagnant blood—and that the right and safe way to get freedom from piles is to get at and remove the cause with an internal medicine. Immediately Dr. Leonhardt set to work to find a remedy. He succeeded and called his prescription HEM-ROID. Pile sufferers everywhere are benefiting by Dr. Leonhardt's internal treatment. So why dodge or delay longer when J.-R. McKown and other good druggists say, "No matter what kind of fiend you have, one bottle of HEM-ROID tablets will relieve you." The safe thing to do is get rid of your pile misery or money-back."

Current Attractions at Local Theatres

What Local Theatre Managers Have to Say About Current Offerings

AT THE BELLE

"The Devil is a Woman"

Beauty, Drama, Romance and Adventure Blend in New Belle Program

A picture instinct with the breath-taking beauty and color of Spain Paramount's, "The Devil is a Woman," now at the Belle theatre, brings Marlene Dietrich back to the screen to enact her greatest characterization. Miss Dietrich plays a pitiless and ruthless beauty, a woman who fires men's hearts to action with her spell and breaks their hearts with her kiss, and she fits into the role with a subtle vigor and conviction of which she is notably capable.

Few, if any pictures from either Hollywood or the European studios can boast the pictorial beauty of "The Devil is a Woman." In it you see the cathedrals of Seville, the bullfights, the director, alone possess—the sheer wizardry of the camera, the magical effects that transforms properties and players into scenes of vivid drama, the effervescence of a genuine creative spirit.

"The Devil is a Woman" portrays Miss Dietrich in a Carmencesque role. She is a bewitching enchanting creature who values men's hearts as trophies. Among her lovers is Lionel Atwill, once a power in the republic, now reduced by the fever and weakness of his love for her.

The poignant action of the love tale takes place against the wild frivolity of a Spanish carnival. Cesar Romero, as one of the carnival merry-makers, glimpses Miss Dietrich and immediately falls in love with her. But he is a close friend of Atwill's and when the latter wakes him of the beauty's destructive proclivities, he promises to avoid her.

Love proves stronger than vows, however, and soon the two friends are locked in deadly combat themselves on the field of honor fighting for the love of Miss Dietrich. Atwill is gravely wounded and Romero, arrested as a political fugitive, faces execution.

From this point the drama of the wounded man, the jailbreak scene and the intrigues of the republic move forward rapidly to the stirring climax in the bull ring of the story of these three lives is happily resolved.

Atwill, in his role, displays his customary vigor, strength and insight while Romero, a recent screen arrival, is excellently cast as the young and artless lover. Among the cast whose portrayals are especially noteworthy are Edward Everett Horton and Alison Skipworth in supporting roles.

News, Short Subject, Vaude-Child

Skillful treatment from a novel viewpoint succeeds in bringing from an old and familiar theme a screen drama of telling power and deep significance in "Little Friend," the second feature attraction on the same program. Also showing on screen lovers their first view of little Nova Pilbeam, 14 years old and an emotional star extraordinary. You have never seen her equal on the screen, and her amazing acting in this splendid picture has meant a 9 year screen contract to this little girl whose first major screen "find" of the year. Performances start daily at 7.10, the last complete show starting at 8.30 p.m.

Would Compel Bank To Purchase Silver

Ottawa, June 6 (CP)— Thomas Reid, New Minister; B.C., Liberal, gave notice on the House of Commons order paper of a bill designed to compel the Bank of Canada to purchase silver for redemption of notes.

Mr. Reid whose recent bill to renominate silver was declared out of order in the House, would compel the bank to buy silver by amending the Bank of Canada Act.

Nova Pilbeam the year's screen "find" in Matheson Lang's "Little Friend", now on Belle screen, Double bill.

Current Attractions at Local Theatres

AT THE CAPITOL

"Go Into Your Dance"
Al Jolson Co-Stars With Ruby Keeler in New Musical

The sensation of the year in the film world is the teaming of Al Jolson, famous Mammy singer who first introduced the talking pictures, and Ruby Keeler, his wife, former Broadway musical comedy star who leaped to fame in the movies in two years, in the latest, and said to be the greatest, musical spectacle, "Go Into Your Dance," now at the Capitol theatre.

While the picture is a mammoth musical spectacle, it carries a well defined plot and a fascinating romance with the emotional accent interspersed with hilarious comedy moments.

Spectacular dance ensembles were staged by Busby Connolly with scores of Hollywood's most beautiful chorus girls. One of the most unique and flashy numbers is a mammoth replica of the universe interwoven with artistic pictures showing the globe in four directions representing the evolution of the dance from the Indian maiden of Argentine to Park Avenue and Hollywood, the world. The finale with a hundred beautiful girls, is led by Jolson and Miss Keeler, who is Mrs. Jolson in real life.

Al Jolson has the role of a Broadway entertainer who is barred from the New York stage, because he quits his shows without notice, for Hollywood glory in an airplane and the "movies." He winds up in Hollywood in the hocks, waking up with a headache and without a job.

Glenda Farrell plays the part of his devoted sister who gets him a Hollywood job, and finds convincing him that Broadway is through. She persuades him to take a job in Chicago with a partner. She has already persuaded Ruby Keeler, who has the role of a clever dancer on the West Coast to join with the brother.

After a series of exciting incidents the New York opening comes off with a blaze of glory in an unusual and surprising climax.

Of note in the large supporting cast which includes Helen Morgan, Hatton MacLane, Sharon Lynne, Ruby Keeler, Al Jolson, Phil Regan and Gordon Wescott.

The feature is preceded by the "Capitol News", a Lonnytoon Cartoon, "Bubbles Swanky Pony Express", and a reel composed of clever and unusual "Vaudeville Acts." Shows at 1.30; 7.05; 9.15.

WITH THE LAWN BOWLERS

by
McElhearan & Watkins

The Lawn Bowling Club held their first mixed Tournament of the season on Wednesday evening. The play consisted of two twelve-end games, the teams being selected by the Game Committee. Over sixty members turned out, and those who took rinks for the first time were very enthusiastic about the sensation of the game. Some ladies bowled out in goodly numbers and they assure us they say that their society will be a great success this season.

It was indeed a very enjoyable afternoon for all.

The prize was won by the following: Skip Thompson, Mrs. Shaw, Newt. Wilbur, and A. Symons.

The High Score for one game was won by Mrs. Hogate, Mrs. Walker, and T. Thompson.

Fourteen Rinks were entered in the competition.

SOFTBALL

Three games of softball were played on the local Belleville and District Senior loop last evening that resulted in the Aajmaa Club taking over the Young Canada by the score of 6 to 5 at Central Park while the Young Canada Club trimmed the Tweed nine 6 to 4 at Victoria Park. The athletes pounded out a 13 to 2 victory over the Sidney ville squad in the Prince Edward Heights. The following results of the games played find the Aajmaa out in front in the league standing with four wins and a loss, while 4 Tweed ranks second.

Over in Tendercliffe the Alemites behind the superb pitching of Vic Wells, nearly downed the homesters 13 to 2. At Central Park, however, City baths caused when Johnnie Bawden limited the Bank rivals play to four scratch hits, but equally as good pitching on the part of "Cap" Smith resulted in a typical pitchers' battle with the Aajmaas eking out a narrow margin win. The Tweed crew staged a last inning rally that gave them two runs, but they came one short of tying the game. At Victoria Park Young Canada's string gained an early inning lead to defeat the homesters 6 to 4 and advance themselves far in the league standing.

RADIO PROGRAMS
— Daylight Saving Time —

THURSDAY	FRIDAY
4.00—Betty and Bob, drama—WJZ	9.00—Breakfast Club—WJZ.
4.30—Jim Hunter, News—CFRB	1.30—Nez Rattle's Orch.—CBCT.
6.45—Lowell Thomas, news—WJZ	4.00—Betty and Bob—WJZ.
6.45—Stoopnagle and Budd — WABC	3.00—Westminster Choir Festival Program—WJZ
7.00—Amos 'n' Andy—WJZ	6.30—News, Jim Hunter—CFRB
7.15—Tony and Gus—WJZ	7.00—Amos 'n' Andy—WJZ
7.30—Merry Minstrels—WJZ	7.15—Tony and Gus—WJZ
7.30—Headline Hunter Floyd Gibbons—WJZ	7.15—Stories of the Black Chasm—WJZ
7.30—Benay Venuta, songs—WABC	7.30—Pickens Sisters—WJZ.
8.00—Rudy Vallee—WJZ	7.45—Uncle Ezra's Radio Station—WJZ.
8.00—Eddie Smith's Swanee Music —WABC	8.00—Irene Rich—WJZ
8.00—Show Boat—WJZ	8.00—Lulu Stevens' Orch.—WABC
9.00—Death Valley Days, drama—WJZ	8.00—Concert, Jessica Dragonette, WEAF
9.00—Amateur Show—CFRB	8.15—Morton Downey—WJZ
9.00—Glen Gray's Orch.—WABC	8.30—College Prom: Ruth Etting, Red Nichols Orch.—WJZ
9.00—Fred Waring's Orch.—WABC	8.30—Court of Human Relations—WABC
9.30—Mexican Musical Tours — WJZ	9.00—Waltz Time, Frank Munn, tenor, Abe Lyman's Orchestra—WJZ
10.00—Paul Whiteman's Music Hall—WJZ	9.00—Hollywood Hotel—WABC
10.00—Grace Heidt's Brigadiers—WABC	9.00—Resisted Life, comedy drama—WJZ
11.00—News—CFRB	9.30—Ted Baker—WJZ
11.15—Jesse Crawford, organist—WEAF	9.30—To be Announced—WEAF
11.30—Eddie Duchin's Orch.—WJZ	10.00—Meetin' House—WJZ.
	10.00—Richard Himber's Orch. —WABC
	10.00—Press Nighter, drama—WEAF
	10.30—Circus Nights in Silvertown —WEAF
	10.30—Stoopnagle and Budd—WABC
	11.15—Ben Pollack, organist — WEAF.
	11.30—Press News—CBCT

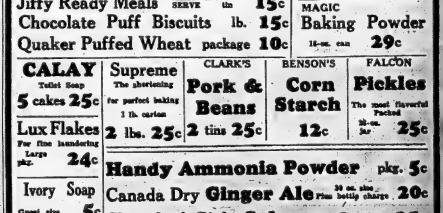
YACHTING

The Wednesday afternoon sailing of the Bay yacht races was held off Victoria Park yesterday with six classes entered. A light wind prevailed for the greater part of the race only to increase towards the end when a more thrilling finish offset the rather monotonous early stages of the race. The various skippers guided their craft tactfully and well throughout, providing much better time in covering the course than was anticipated. The race was held under the sponsorship of the South Bay Athletic Club. Ring Rogers was starter and Charlie Jeffs acted as timekeeper.

The results of the races are as follows:

A CLASS:
After You, skipper Callaghan, Atlanta, skipper Hinchey.
Anna "C", skipper Semark.

B. CLASS:
Let's Go, skipper Kellaway.
Scrapper, skipper Keller.
Dorothy, skipper A. Rushlow.



C. CLASS:
Toots, skipper Green.
Trots, skipper Good.

D. CLASS:
Mighty Mouse, skipper Williamson.
Dottie, skipper Parliament.
The Clark Estra For Roy Hay Trophy.
Scotsia, skipper Rushlow.
Spray, skipper Hay.
C Serpent, skipper Rosevear.
Sailes
Eagle, skipper Flagler.

Rowing

Washington, June 5 (CP)—Dr. Donald A. Laird, Colgate University psychologist, reports sexes "cerebral anemia" from gorging their brains aren't in shape for their work.

Today Dr. G. W. Calver, attending physician to Congress, replied: "A Senator's got to be pulpit-y, he said. "If he has to make a constituent to lunch, he's got to be a great fellow. He orders a big lunch for his victim and then has to eat two more to make the meal feel at ease."

Kellogg's Cornflakes	3 pkgs.	25c
Malayn Crushed Pineapple	2 tins	25c
Weston's Icy Water Wafers	lb.	19c
Jiffy Ready Meals (HEAT AND SERVE)	tin	15c
Chocolate Puff Biscuits	lb.	15c
Quaker Puffed Wheat	package	10c

CALAY Toilet Soap	5 cakes	25c
Lux Flakes For fine laundering Large pkg.	2 lbs.	25c
Ivory Soap Giant size	4 cakes	25c
Lux Soap Used by screen stars	5 cakes	25c
O. S. O. S. Magic Scouring Pads	4 Pad	14c
	8 Pad	23c

Supreme The shortening for perfect baking 1 lb. carton	2 lbs.	25c
CLARK'S Pork & Beans	2 tins	25c
	12c
BENSON'S Corn Starch The most flavorful Package	25c
FALCON Pickles	16-oz. can	29c

Handy Ammonia Powder	pkg.	5c
Canada Dry Ginger Ale Plus bottle charge	26 oz. size	20c
Cloverleaf Pink Salmon	2 tins	25c
Santa Clara Prunes	40-42 size	2 lbs. 25c
Red Pitted Cherries Red and White Brand	tin	19c
Jubilee 5-String Brooms	ea.	43c
Choice Green Peas Red and White Sieve No. 4	2 tins	25c
Red & White Vacuum Pack Coffee	lb.	39c

A NEW CANDY CREATION
Rowntree's Butterscotch Crispettes lb. 29c

QUALITY ALWAYS HIGHER THAN PRICE

Admiral of Fleet Mistaken as King

London, June 6 (OP Cable)— Admiral of the fleet Sir Charles Madden, who looked so much like King George he was often mistaken for him, died following an operation.

On one occasion when the King was expected to visit the fleet at Scapa Flow, Sir Charles' approach was greeted by the playing of the National Anthem while a guard of honor gave him the royal salute.

Sir Charles was a brother-in-law of Earl Jellicoe. He was retired in 1920 after 46 years in the service.

BUY NOW AND MAKE WORK

DIAMOND JUBILEE EVENT

"Seventy-Five Years of Continuous Service"

To the citizens of Belleville and surrounding district, a record which we are mighty proud of. We are pleased from results that the public "TESTED OUT" our special claims of last week. Listed below are some more specials which we think will also prove of interest.

We carry a very complete line of consisting of the following designs: Blended; Orange Blossom; Bridal Wreath and Bridal Rose. Priced from

WEDDING RINGS

5.00 to 75.00

A SINGLE STONE DIAMOND RING, in white, or yellow gold with a 5-stone Diamond Wedding Ring to match. Jubilee Special, the pair

25.00

BLUEBIRD QUALITY

A T-stone Diamond Engagement Ring, set in 18k white gold with a T-stone Diamond Wedding Ring to match. Special

100.00

$25.00

WE HIGHLY RECOMMEND THE OYSTER to any person who is particularly hard on Watches. A Liberal Allowance will be made on your old Watch. MAKE ENQUIRIES.

GUARANTEE

ROLEX OYSTER

GUARANTEED

Airtight and Element proof

This watch No. ..... has been tested at The Scientific Laboratories of The Rolex Watch Co., Ltd., Geneva under pressure equal to 66 feet of water and altitude of 66,000 feet, therefore deep into the stratosphere.

This complete air-tightness is obtained by precision testing of the case, and by its patented winding crown.

No perishable material such as rubber, leather or asbestos is used.

The Rolex Oyster

is the ORIGINAL WATERPROOF wrist watch patented in all countries since the year 1926 and none other is PERMANENTLY HERMETICALLY SEALED

A Beautiful

Centre Diamond

with 2 shoulder stones in an 18k hand wrought ring. Jubilee special

150.00

We invite comparison on any of our rings, particularly this one.

"DELIA IN THE COUNTRY" by Moreland

200

(COPIES OF)

"COUNTESS POTOCKA" by Sir Thos. Lawrence

"OLD MASTERS"

Beautifully framed 12" by 15 ins.

"INNOCENCE" by Reynolds

49c each

"SIMPLICITY" by Reynolds

"BABY STUART" By Van Dyck

REGULAR $1.50

"GIRL WITH DOVES" by Greuze

SEE THE SPECIALS ON OUR TABLES DURING OUR JUBILEE CELEBRATION

A REAL SPECIAL

16" Flower Basket

Nicely pierced, plated on copper. A limited number at this price.

3.50

BOYS!

Don't Miss These Bargains in

MICROSCOPES

20 Microscopes	100 Power	each	$1.00
20 "	150 "	"	$1.50
15 "	200 "	"	$2.00
10 "	250 "	"	$3.00
4 Only With Triple Lens	200, 400, 600		$6.50

216 Front Street

Angus McFee JEWELLERS SINCE 1860

Phone 128

Use Our Deferred Payment Plan. All Gifts Nicely Boxed

SINGLE STONE

Diamond Ring

with two diamonds on either side, set in 18k. white gold. Jubilee Special 24.75

BLUEBIRD registered

DIAMOND RINGS

PEERS of PERFECTION

The BLUEBIRD trade mark means PERFECTION in DIAMONDS. Only the most perfect diamonds, selected by experts for brilliance and fine cut-perfection, are set in Registered BLUEBIRD DIAMOND RINGS.

BLUEBIRD — the Mark of Perfection in Diamonds

We are exclusive agents in Belleville for Bluebird Engagement and Wedding Rings.

20-INCH "OLD LONDON" SERVING TRAY

In Old English Reproduction, with pierced border $25.00

22-inch size $35.00

Smartest Gift of the year!

Sunbeam FLAT TOASTER and BUFFET TRAY

The Toaster and Buffet Tray BOTH FOR $9.75 Complete

We have it! The toaster ideally suited for use with the Buffet tray because it toasts bread (2 slices at a time), sandwiches (2 at a time), rolls, appetizers—everything toasting improves. Nor combined in lovely harmony with the beautiful 3-compartment Sunbeam Buffet Tray. Come in and see it.—

USE OUR DEFERRED PAYMENT PLAN

Grow Your Own Perennials From Seed

Big Savings May Be Made And Many Will Bloom The First Summer

Delphiniums and Hollyhocks are the tallest perennials and no perennial border can well do without them. When it comes to those of medium height ranging between 2 and 4 feet, there is a wide selection. These, however, form the mainstay for sheets of bloom at various times during the season. For the earliest display, starting in mid-May, as the tulips wax and wane, come the pyrethrums or painted daisies and the columbines.

In the latter there is a wide latitude as to blooming season, extending from late April through July. The pyrethrums come all at once in great sheets of bloom for a month, with later scattering bloom.

Pyrethrums are one of the finest of cutting materials, the long stemmed daisies, sometimes growing 3 feet tall, keeping for days when cut. They range in color from pure white to palest pinks, rose, scarlet, maroon and crimson. The dark shades are the rarest and a packet of seed will give a prevailing number of light tones. To get a good strain of pyrethrums it is necessary, first of all, to buy a good strain of seed from a reliable seedsman.

It is necessary also to grow a much larger number of plants than you really need and select the types. It is best to grow the seedlings—a packet will give scores of them—in rows like vegetables until they bloom. Then take the ones you want and throw the rest away, propagating any particularly fine variety by division, which is easily done. There will be a large number of plants with washed out coloring. Select those of clear color and throw away the lifeless ones.

Columbines do not need this selection, as they show a wide diversity in size or form if the seed is from a good strain. Mrs. Scott Elliott's strain of long spurred is as fine as any. There are fine-named types that come fairly true from seed. You may select the color you like in columbines, but it is one perennial which, because of its sort coloring is as effective in mixed coloring as grown in separate colors. It is best in shade, but will grow well in full sun, dot plants a foot apart for masses of bloom.

Dafoe Will Leave 'Quints' for Few Days

Callander, Ont., June 6—(CP)—Dr. Allan R. Dafoe today prepared for his expected departure next week for Atlantic City to attend the Canadian-United States Medical Conference as the Dionne quintuplets were reported "all fine."

To enable Dr. Dafoe to attend the conference Dr. Harold A. Williams, of the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, will care for the five babies.

DRAGGING FOLLOWS THE FINDING OF BOY'S BODY

Toronto, June 6—(CP)—Dragging operations were begun following the discovery of the body of an unidentified boy, slightly under two years of age, found floating just inside the ice wall at the C.N.E. Dragging operations were ordered when police were told a woman with a child in her arms was seen at 10.45 last night at that point.

BRITISH LINKS STAR OPENS AS PRO.

A large gallery of golf enthusiasts saw Joyce Wethered, British lady champion, watched a woman star, open her tour of United States and Canada as a professional with an exhibition of golf that shows she is still the top flight of women golfers. She teamed with Johnny Dawson, Chicago business man golfer in a mixed foursome against Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare and Gene Sarazen, Bobby Jones, who was to partner Miss Wethered, was prevented by illness. The match ended all square. Miss Wethered is seen shooting on the fifth hole with the gallery in attendance.

— DUKE WINS APPEAL

London, June 6 (AP)—The Duke of Manchester won his appeal against his conviction of May 10 on a charge of obtaining money under false pretences.

Lord Heward, Lord Chief Justice, announcing the court of appeal had quashed the conviction, said the summing up after the original trial in Old Bailey was insufficient and unsatisfactory.

PICTON COUNCIL HOLDS MEETING

Authorizes Parallel Parking of Cars on All Streets

Picton.—At a meeting of the Town Council on Tuesday night a motion was carried authorizing parallel parking of cars on the streets of Picton.

Miss Hermione Wark of Toronto spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Doug. Wark, Bridge Street.

Miss Marion Wycott arrived in Picton on Saturday, having completed her year at Peterboro Normal School.

The "Perrie" of the Canada Steamship Lines loaded canned goods at Hepburn's Dock on Monday, giving several hours' work to local men.

The launch "Amherst Islander" was in Picton Harbor on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Norman of Barrie were holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Norman.

Miss Anna Gertrude Bird motored from Ottawa on Saturday. Her mother, Mrs. Peter Bird, accompanied her back to Ottawa on Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Will McKenna of Black Creek have returned from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Van Gesen at Brownville, N.Y.

Little Miss Connie Allison is the guest for some time of her uncle, Dr. Gerald Allison and Mrs. Allison, Main Street West.

WINDSOR MINISTER NAMED MODERATOR

WINDSOR, Ont., June 6.—(CP)—A Chatham minister, Rev. Joseph Janes, has been named Moderator of the Western Association of Baptist churches in succession to Dr. J. W. Brien of Windsor. Mr. Janes was unanimously chosen at the final sessions of the 99th annual meeting yesterday.

W. L. Bowden and Rev. Alfred Burgess, both of Kingsville, were selected as Vice-Moderator and Clerk Treasurer, respectively. Mr. Burgess held the same office last year.

ELECTRIC STRIKE ENDED IN OHIO

Toledo, O., June 6.—(AP) — A crew of "trouble shooters" and creative operators went to work in the power plant of the Toledo Edison Company today, ending a strike which for a while threatened to shut off electric power over an area of 800 square miles in Northwestern Ohio.

Union Electrical Workers who called the strike yesterday morning called it off early today, pending negotiations on their demand for a 30 per cent. wage increase.

G. H. CHALLIES BEREAVED AS MOTHER PASSES

Morrisburg, Ont., June 6.— (CP) —Mrs. Margaret Challies, of Morrisburg, mother of George H. Challies, member of the Ontario Legislature for Grenville-Dundas and former provincial secretary, died at her home here last night. She was 77.

Mrs. Challies was an active member of the local Church here and an officer in its various societies. Besides her husband and son, George, another son, John of Westmount, Que. survive.

Flo-glaze

PAINTS - VARNISHES - ENAMELS

"LEAVE NO BRUSH MARKS"

Sold in Belleville Exclusively by

WALKER HARDWARE CO. LIMITED

245-250 Front Street Phone 163

Follow the thrilling JASPER PARK route by the "Continental Limited". See the highest peaks of the Rockies from a mountain observation car. Stop off at JASPER and rest your trip with a cruise to ALASKA. Low cost table d'hote and a la carte meals in the diner.

Ask any Canadian National ticket agent for details.

I. O. O. F. HALL AT THOMASBURG IS RE-DECORATED

Thomasburg—The showers over the week-end were much welcomed by the farmers in this district.

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Prindle and Wesley were Wednesday afternoon in attendance at the funeral of the late Mrs. David Laughlin at Belleville.

Messrs. Neil Steven and Willard McTaggart were busily engaged last week re-decorating the I.O.O.F. Hall which makes a considerable improvement in the appearance of the hall.

Mrs. Thos. Downey of Tweed spent a day last week with her mother, Mrs. W. E. Kerr.

Mrs. James Way spent the past week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Westover at Wallbridge.

Mr. Harry Lee is ill.

Mr. Willard Reid of Toronto was a caller at Mr. Wesley Morton's on Monday afternoon.

Mr. Wm. Shaw has returned home after spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Shaw, at Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Carleton, Gordon and Kenneth were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. Farmer's father, Mr. John Carleton, at Maxwynne.

The teachers and pupils of the local public school enjoyed a holiday on Monday.

Mr. E. Kerrish of Kingston was a week-end guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Halbert.

Mr. Ross Wilson of Smith's Falls is spending some time at Mr. Harry Lee's.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dudgeon and Dorothy, of Belleville, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Carter of Purdoro and Mr. and Mrs. J. Evans of Belleville, spent Sunday with their sister, Mrs. R. Perry.

New swings have been erected on the local school grounds, over the week-end.

Mr. William Holbert has returned home after visiting his daughter, Mrs. Dennison and Dr. J. H. Dennison at Port William.

The many friends of the late Miss Rebecca Robinson were sorry to learn of her death. The body was brought to the home of her sister, Mrs. James Way, in the village, from where the funeral was held this (Thursday) afternoon.

Mrs. Addison Wilson of Dryden is visiting her brothers, Messrs. John and Thomas Downey and other friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Grills and family spent Sunday with the former's mother, Mrs. E. J. Grills.

Miss Myrtle Walker is spending some time at Mr. Chas. Weaver's at Mr. Cutwater's at Plainfield.

Mr. William Morton, by delegate from Christ Church, is in Kingston this week attending the 74th annual Synod for the Diocese of Ontario.

Mr. Albert Porter is also attending these sessions.

Born on Monday, June 3rd, to Mr. and Mrs. Clifford H. Adams, a son.

Mr. William Robinson of Minneapolis, U.S.A., is in the village in attend the funeral of his sister, the late Miss Rebecca Robinson.

Successful Dance at Marmora Pavilion

Marmora—Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Cook and family of Syracuse, N. Y. visited relatives here for over the week-end. Mrs. Cook is a sister of Mr. Pierre Murphy.

Mr. W. E. Fryfer and son Harry of Colborne were in town on Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Jos. Simpson was called to Toronto on Sunday, owing to the death of her cousin, Miss S. Thompson.

Mr. Ed Kesley of Schumacher visited his brother Rev. Fr. J. J. Kesley, over the week-end.

Mr. Hickey of Toronto was in town on Monday.

The many friends of Miss Kate Doyle, who is a patient in Hotel Dieu, Kingston, will be very glad to know that her condition is much improved.

Clarence Campion of Madoc spent Sunday with friends in North Marmora.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Aboud of Havelock visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Jones on Sunday.

A large crowd were in attendance at the midnight frolic held at Marble Cliff Pavilion on Monday at 12.01 a.m. Good music was furnished by Don Richardson's Orchestra, under the management of Mr. Bernard Kerr of Campbellford.

Mrs. H. Moulder and Mrs. Marble, who have been visiting Mrs. J. F. Marrin for a few days last week returned to Cleveland, Ohio, on Wednesday. They were accompanied by Miss Frances Marrin, who will visit there for a time.

The condition of Miss Ann Rayburn who is a patient in Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston is much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker of Toronto are occupying their summer home at Crowe Lake.

Mr. W. J. Dougherty made a business trip to Toronto on Monday.

Mrs. John Murray who has been visiting in New York City for the past two months has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Flynn attended the graduation of their daughter Margaret, from St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterboro, on Wednesday.

Graduation Exercises were held in the Collegiate Auditorium at 2 p.m. Miss Flynn was awarded prize for General Proficiency in the Nursing Profession. Her many friends extend heartiest congratulations on her success.

Mrs. C. Nichol left for Hamilton on Thursday, where she will be a delegate at the C.O.C.P. convention for a couple of days this week.

The death occurred on Sunday, June 2nd, of Mr. John Ryan, at his home here. The late Mr. Ryan was in his 86th year. He is survived by his widow and six children. Deepest sympathy is extended to the sorrowing family in their and bereavement.

Mrs. R. Brady and Miss Ada Archer visited relatives in Toronto on Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Schrader and family have moved into the late Mrs. O. R. Jones' residence.

Miss Evelyn Mills of Toronto visited at the home of Reeve and Mrs. F. N. Marett over the week end.

Buy Salada Orange Pekoe Blend and discover the pleasure that fine tea gives.

"SALADA" TEA

BROTHERS BEGIN FLIGHT TO ROME

GEORGE DE MONTEVERDE

ALFRED DE MONTEVERDE

Leaving Cincinnati for Floyd Bennett airport, New York, 21-year-old George de Monteverdi, LL.B., and his 25-year-old brother, Alfred planned to take off for Rome in their latest airplane monoplane as soon as their permitted. They are pictured before leaving Cincinnati. Alfred is pilot and George navigator.

SHOWER AND TEA FOR RECENT BRIDE

Rednersville—Mr. Alva Badnage of Montreal, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. John Orr. On Sunday May 26 and Mrs. Orr, Mr. Willis Orr and Mr. Badnage motored to Fuller and spent the day with Mr. Archie Orr.

Miss Marjorie Calnan of Belleville spent Sunday with her friend, Miss Annabel Adams.

Mr. Will Bowers of Belleville, is spending a few days with his sister, Mrs. Harley Hubbs.

Mrs. Belburne Westover and Miss A. Adams attended a most delightful shower and tea given on Monday at the home of Miss Phyllis May on Thursday last, in honor of Miss Nellie Sutherland who was married on Saturday to Mr. Arthur Reid of Halloway.

Mrs. W. Cook of Bellevilla and Mrs. Holl of Manchester, Rochester visited Mr. and Mrs. Orr one-day this week.

Miss Clara Adams, Miss Gladys Brown and Mr. Lin Brown spent the holiday week end with Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Adams and family.

Mr. Belburne Westover and Mr. Rob Hartt, accompanied by Mr. Frank Hamilton and Mr. Cyril Mc-Mullen, 2nd Line, motored to Canaanoque on Monday to join the Masonic party who were entertained by Chaumont Bay Lodge on Monday night.

Mrs. Will Colbey and children of Bellevilla, spent the week end at the home of Mrs. Colbey's mother, Mrs Orr, while Mr. Colbey attended the Masonic Lodge at Chaumont Bay, New York State, Monday, June 3rd.

Mr. George Lawrence, Mr. Frank Lawrence, Mr. Lawrence Hubbs accompanied by some friends from Wallbridge, motored to Consecon North Hastings, on Sunday and spent the day with Mr. Tom Lawrence.

SIXTH SIDNEY NEWS BRIEFS

6th Sidney—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Frost of Frankford were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Badgley.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carr and Cecil also Mrs. C. Carr of Morganston were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. M. Seaward.

One of the twin boys of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Dafoe is in Belleville Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lott were guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Sharpe, Belleville on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Ketcheson and Edna spent Sunday in Thomasburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Sine and Mr. M. Sine were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Solebridge, Thurlow.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lott accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Badgley and Bertha of Thurlow, spent a day recently with Mr. and Mrs. Percy Badgley of Deseronto.

CANNINGTON Y.P.S.

The president, Mr. Mills, of Canallton Y.P.S., had charge of the following devotional and program. Two verses of Hymn 157 and Hymn 150 were sung. Mrs. Black then led in prayer. The 19th Psalm was read responsively. A poem entitled "When Sorrow Comes" by Edgar Guest was read by Roy Found. A few verses entitled "My Religion" was given by Miss Margaret Smallacombe. A duet was sung by Mrs. Merrick and Mary, entitled "Love One Another." Mrs. Charles Calnery gave a very interesting talk on "If I Had My Life To Live Over Again." Another poem by Guest was read by Daniel White. Mrs. Mills gave a humorous reading entitled "Lead Me quest." Miss Grace Mills favoured with an instrumental. League was closed with the singing of Hymn 216 and the League Benediction.

YOUNG PEOPLE CONDUCT SERVICE

FRANKFORD.—The regular meeting of Trinity Church Guild was held on Tuesday afternoon in the Parish Hall with Mrs. Ketcheson presiding. The meeting opened with Hymn 320 followed by prayer by the Rev. A. S. McCormack.

At the conclusion of business a short programme, which enjoyed by the members present, was conducted by Mrs. Ketcheson, Mrs. Hugh Miller and Mrs. E. Ketcheson. The meeting closed by singing the Doxology. There were forty members present.

The evening service at the United Church on Sunday, June 2nd was conducted by the Young People's Society members.

The responsive reading was led by Miss MacGillivray followed by prayer by Miss Dorothy Ketcheson, Morrow and H. Bonisteel.

Miss A. Morrow addressed the boys and girls which was followed by the Scripture lesson taken from John 14-1-18 read by Gertrude Ferguson.

Miss A. Harriell in a very pleasing manner told of the aims of the Society, a few of which are:

Developing and training in leadership talent and self confidence.

Miss Joyce read the duties and attiliations of the Young People's Society.

Gerald Snider told of some of the points of the Y.P.U. Song. The Society has taken a definite stand against war and is endeavouring to live up to the social standards of the members as far as health, education and home life is concerned.

The choir was supplied by the young people and Mr. Frank Ricketson of Belleville rendered a solo which was well received.

The service closed with repeating the Mispah Benediction followed by singing the National Anthem.

Personal

George Montgomery, taxi driver, while repairing his car at Lumsden's blacksmith shop on Thursday afternoon was struck on the face by a piece of steel. After receiving first aid the injured man was taken to his home.

Mr. D. C. MacKenzie spent the week-end in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rose of Bluffton, spent the week-end with Mr. C. P. Rose.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O'Neil and daughter, Kay of Bowmanville, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Sprague over the week-end.

Mrs. Cecelia Smith, who has been spending the winter in Toronto, has returned to the village.

Mr. and Mr. Fhaff also Mr. and Mrs. R. Mosey of Rochester, N.Y., are visiting Mrs. S. Hadley.

Mr. Murray Mc. Donald, Telephone Co., completed the purchase last week of the Gold Telephone line running from Frankford to Stirling.

Mr. Arthur Hubble has returned home from Kingston, where he was re-united to the General Hospital.

Mrs. G. W. Sine left this week for Follet Junction, Northern Ontario where she will spend a few weeks with her son, Ross Sine.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Dawes Downs on Monday, June 3rd, a daughter.

THIRD THURLOW PERSONAL NEWS

Third Thurlow, June 6—Miss Eva May took dinner on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weber.

Mr. Norman Christie and Mr. Bruce Christie, Gilead, spent Sunday at their home in Belleville.

Mrs. Carl Paul of Toronto, is spending a few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. M. Paul.

Mr. Frank Walker, also Mr. H. Walker, North Line, and Mr. J. Huffman, Gilead attended Masonic Lodge at Chaumont Bay on Monday June 3rd.

Quite a number from this line attended the W.C.T.U. meeting held in Bethany Church on Sunday evening.

Mr. Robert Cooley of La Fayette, Ind., and his brother Donald are spending their holidays at their grandfather's, Mr. J. E. Cooley.

Mrs. Emily Phillips has returned home after spending a few weeks with relatives in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Marsh Bell of Frankford spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. W. Dontaior.

Mr. Roy Wilson of Belleville spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. S. Dean.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Eggleton and family took dinner on Sunday at the home of Mr. Harold Cummings, Centenary.

Mrs. Weddell and daughter and Mrs. Tracy of Belleville, spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. W. Dontaior.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hamilton spent Monday with Mr. Wm. Hamilton, Sidney.

Mrs. (Rev.) R. J. Merriam and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thurlow.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Dontaior and Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bell called on Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Cooley on Friday evening.

Mr. J. Jeffrey spent last week and with his sister, Mrs. M. Johnson.

BABY ECZEMA

Have you baby in one baby? Suffering from dreadful eczema, sore and tormented, itching, burning skin? Then call Dr. Chase's Ointment at once. Soothes and relieves these distressing ailments. It's proven medicine from coast to coast. Keep it handy. In tube or box.

Dr. Chase's OINTMENT

MELVILLE NEWS OF COMMUNITY

Melville, June 6—Rev. R. J. Merriam rejoined home Saturday evening after attending conference in Peterboro.

Mrs. Warner Wood spent Tuesday in Belleville.

Mrs. Dobson attended the funeral of Mr. Martin, Thurlow on Saturday.

On Tuesday, May 28th a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rose in the Nurse Rexbury, Wellington is the attending nurse.

Mrs. A. Carley spent Tuesday with Mrs. E. Carley.

Sunday callers on Mrs. J. Root were Mr. and Mrs. Will Parry, Belleville, Mrs. Geo. Underhay and Jean, Toronto, Mrs. Chas. McHenry, Allisonville, and Mrs. Clayton Pellar.

Fishermen from Pt. Traverse were through this locality selling whitefish on Monday.

Fishermen from Consecon were through this locality on Monday.

Miss Catherine MacKinnon of Bloomfield spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. W. H. Anderson.

Miss Esther McFaul, Toronto, was a week end guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McPaul.

Mr. Walter Durling, Toronto, who spent the week end with his sister, Mrs. Clifford McPaul, was a caller in this locality Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Frank Benway, Hillier, spent a few days with her daughter, Mrs. J. Root.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Norton and family of Bloomfield were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Kinnear.

Mrs. W. H. Anderson spent Tuesday of last week with friends in Wellington.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Carley called at Mr. J. Root's Thursday evening.

PERSONAL NEWS FROM CROFTON

Crofton—Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gray visited Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Parson's at Demorestville on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Covert called on Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Crook on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. James York and two children spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. T. Mowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Munroe and Miss Norma Fairman were in Picton, one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Covert were in Picton on Monday.

Mrs. Albert Davern and Mrs. Van Vlack motored to Black River and visited her sister, Mrs. L. P. Hubbs and Mr. Hubbs. Mr. Hubbs is very ill at time of writing.

Quite a number were out to bid the ball game on Thursday evening between Crofton and Demorestville.

Lerst. H. H. Frink spent a few days last week at Camp at Gallowsay.

Belleville visitors on Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. R. Jones and Mrs. W. J. Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Crook, Mr. George Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Munroe and Mr. Donald Munroe.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Munroe spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ross Fairman at Hutt's Island.

FOREMAN NAMED SHERIFF

Toronto, June 6 (CP)—Inspector Norman, M.M., D.C.M., has been appointed sheriff of Victoria, succeeding the Hepburn cabinet. He will also fill the office of clerk and registrar of the county, surrogate and supreme courts. The office of sheriff was vacated by the death of the former incumbent.

Now at a New Low Price!

The TRIPLE VALUE SALAD & COOKING OIL

Delicious Wonderful MAYONNAISE

Is Perfect for DEEP FRYING

Is Most ECONOMICAL

MAZOLA

Everything in QUALITY FOODS at Dominion Stores LIMITED

FIVE ROSES FLOUR 24-lb. Bag 79¢ 7-lb. Bag 25¢

TEA DOMINO Red Package 1-lb. Pkg. 39¢

FANCY QUALITY Tuna Fish Tin 17¢

GLASSCO'S—With Added Color JAM Raspberry, Strawberry and Black Currant 32-oz. Jar 31¢

Heinz KETCHUP Large Bot. 19¢

Maple Leaf MATCHES 3 lge. boxes 25¢

ICING SUGAR - 2 lbs. 15¢

Libby's Prepared MUSTARD - 9 oz. glass 10¢

Princess SOAP FLAKES - pkg. 16¢

Calay Soap 3 Cakes 14¢

Prices in effect from June 6th to June 12, inclusive.

FRUITS and VEGETABLES

HOT HOUSE TOMATOES lb. 19c

NEW BEETS bunch 6c

FRESH Medium Sized PINEAPPLES . 15c

LOCAL—Fresh and Crisp SPINACH lb. 5c

NEW NO. 1 GRADE POTATOES 6 lbs. 25c

NEW—Solid Round Heads CABBAGE lb. 5c

IMPORTED CARROTS 2 bunches 13c

SUNKIST Oranges good size doz. 25c

CHASE & SANBORN'S COFFEE The New Package 1-lb. Dated Bag 35¢

GOOD QUALITY BEANS WAX No. 2 Tins 2 for 19¢

GOOD QUALITY CORN No. 2 Tins 2 for 17¢

QUAKER MUFFETS - 2 Pkgs. 17¢

Oxydol Small 2 Pkgs. 17¢ Large Pkg. 19¢

P & G SOAP 10 Bars 33¢

CLOVER HONEY 4½-lb. Tin 49c 9½-lb. Tin 75c

NIAGARA DRY GINGER ALE 12c bottle

LIME RICKEY 12c bottle Large bottle

CHRISTIE'S FANCY PEAKS BISCUITS 25¢

PERFECTION Floor WAX 1-lb. Tin 23¢

DOMINION STORES

"WHAT delicious flavour" YOU MUST GIVE ME YOUR RECIPE"

● If it were practical to make corn flakes in the home—it would be the QUAKER Corn Flakes recipe for which women would be asking. Because Quaker Corn Flakes are never flavoured, more delicious and more temptingly toasty-crisp.

This is because they are made from a secret recipe—that brings out the full rich flavour of sun-ripened corn, improves it with quality ingredients and toasts it to a crunchy golden brown.

If it's most women, you are constantly seeking flavour in food—try QUAKER CORN FLAKES. If you don't agree they are the best delicious you have ever tasted —your money will be refunded.

FOR RELIABLE INFORMATION ON INSURANCE and INVESTMENTS
CONSULT
JAMIESON BONE & CO.
INSURANCE INVESTMENTS

FINANCIAL MARKETS
NEW YORK - TORONTO - WINNIPEG

NEW YORK CLOSE

New York, June 8 (AP)—The metals and scattered specialties made the best showing in today's quiet stock market.

Some of the oils, steels and utilities were inclined to hang back under profit-taking but the list on the whole gave a fairly good account of itself.

Coca-Cola and Owens-Illinois Glass got up around 4 points each. U. S. Smelting gained 3 and advances of fractions to a point or so were registered by American Smelting, Cerro De Pasco, Union Pacific, American Locomotive and National Biscuit. The last named was actively. Transfers approximated 700,000 shares.

TORONTO STOCKS
(Close)

Toronto, June 8 (CP)—A fluctuating industrial list closed irregular and definitely off late this afternoon to give the Board a preponderance of recessions for the week. Hydro, Commoun and Weston's were the outstanding weak issues, the former slipping a point to 23 1-2 and Weston's 3 to 39. Oils, steels, banks and the foods all had a volume was undersized, only about 13,000 shares changing hands.

Buying dragged in the industrial share section and, apart from a display of strength in the utilities, prices were inclined to weaken. Selling was heavier than the buying in the oils and the two leading Imperial, International and Petroleum were off 1-4 to 3-8 while British American held steadily.

The metal issues substituted Smelters and International Nickel reflected moderately the cut in bar silver and Base Metal price, Nickel losing 1-4 and Smelters 3-4 point and Brazilian, C.P.R. and the Bayer stocks registered recessions of 1-4 to 3-4.

Chief weakness in the foods centered in Canada Bread and Weston's which were off 1-2 to a full point.

TORONTO MINES CLOSE

Toronto, June 8—(CP)—Gold shares took the bumps on the mining section of the Toronto exchange today and lead, metals were barely firm. Silvers presented a somewhat firmer front but did little better than hold the ground although New York silver listings were buoyant for a time. Weekly base in the secondary golds were not important, stocks were in supply at prices under those selling in the previous session.

The mining section, up till early afternoon, displayed more weakness than strength with the soft spots appearing mainly in the golds and base metals. Braleme, McIntyre, Pioneer and Lake Shore were off 20 cents to 1.30 and in the secondary gold group the gains of the previous session in Goldy Tough and Coniagas Sloore were pared down. Macassa was weak, selling down 40 cents.

Silver shared with the New York white metal leaders although the silver recorded another decline. Midorado sold above 1.90 on good volume in the base metals. Big Missouri, up 5 to 70 was the only strong note. Noranda, Base Metals Corporation and Sherritt changed hands at price concessions.

WALL STREET FINANCIAL
By VICTOR RUBANE.

(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, June 8 (AP) — Stock market was a patch quilt of guesswork today as prices backed and filled indifferently.

Dows and International Nickel were slightly higher among Dominion stocks while Canadian Pacific held about even. Dominion Government Bonds ruled steady. Canadian funds continued unchanged at par.

Shares of U. S. Smelting and American Smelting got up around 2 to 3 points. Coca-Cola was pushed some 4 points another new top. Improvement was also shown by Nicional Biscuit, American Locomotive, Philip Morris, Union Carbide, Standard Oil of New Jersey, General Electric, Westinghouse, Union Pacific, and Santa Fe. A list of two points was suffered by Eastman Kodak and American Can. The motor, power and steel groups slipped a shade in either direction.

UNLISTED MINES

Unlisted mines furnished by A. H. Ketcheson & Co. today:
Smithfield 36½-38½.
Casey 15-16.
Cons. Chibi. 80-90.
Forty Four 400-408.
Street Davis Calda 65-68.
Hardrock 54-56.
Unita 56.00.
Lamaque 475-485.
McLeod 4-5.
Okland 36-37.
Rice Lake 2¾-3¾.
Stadiums 4-7.
Sherritt 39½.
Sturgeon River 83-90.
Chromium 54-56.

Stock Markets

Quotations furnished by Biggar and Crawford, P. H. Willis, branch manager, Quotations at 2.15.

Ashley 113
Ajax 75B
Acme 34
Breth Treth 2 1-8
Barry Bridger 4
Base Metals 68
Bobjo 23B
Big Missouri 70
Bradian 200B
Bagamac 7
Braleme 525B
Castle Trethi 105
Coniagas 1963
Central Pat 163
Coast Copper 205B
Dome 42255
Dominion Explor 5 1-2B
Eldorado 19B
Falconbridge 272B
God's Lake 151
Goldale 129
Granada 30 1-2
Graham Bel 26
Hollinger 1500
Halcrow 3 1-2B
Home Oil 58B
Hudsons Bay 149QB
Howey 81
Inter Nickel 38 1-4
Kirkland Lake 40
Kirk Townsite 19B
Lake Shore 2300B
Little Long Lac 535
Macassa 186

TORONTO

Bell Telephone 136,
B. A. Oil 18 1-4,
Brewing Corp. 3 1-2B,
Brai. Trac. 9 1-4B,
Can. Bud Brewery 8B,
Can. Cement 8 1-2B,
Can. Dredge 26B,
Can. Ind. Alcohol 8B,
C.P.R. 10 3-8B,
Can. Malting 32 1-4B,
Can. Vinegar 27 1-2B,
Canada Car 7 1-4B,
Cons. Bakeries 13 3-4B,
Con. Smelting 16B,
Dominion Stores 7 1-4B,
Dis. Seagrams 15 1-2B,
Ford "A" 25 1-2B,
Gypsum 5 3-4B,
Goodyear 155 1-2B,
Imp. Oil 21 1-4,
Imp. Oil A 21 1-4,
Imp. Tobacco 13B,
Jubilee 18 7-8,
Massey Harris 4 1-8,
Mont. Power 27 3-4B,
McColl-Frontenac 13 7-8,
Power Corp. 72,
Steel of Canada 46 1-2B,
Supertest 27 1-2B,
Shawinigan 163,
Walker's 34,
Walker's Pfd. 17 1-4B,
Walkerville Brewery 3 1-2B.

NEW YORK

American Can. 126 1-4,
American T. and T. 127 1-8,
Amer. Power & Light 4-8,
Associated. 15 3-8,
Auburn 19 1-2,
Case 56,
Chrysler 44 5-8,
General Motors 30 7-8,
Elec. Auto Lite 20 1-4,
Inter. Telephone 8 1-4,
North American 16,
Montgomery Ward 25 3-8,
Phillips Pet. 5 1-8,
Radio 5 1-4,
Standard Oil of N.J. 43 1-4,
Standard Brands 14 3-4,
Stewart-Warner 9 1-2,
U.S. Smelting 109,
U.S. Steel 72 1-4,
Vanadium 13,
Westinghouse 47 3-4,
American Rad. 13 5-8,
General Elec. 25 1-4.

POWER BONDS

Gatineau 3 percent 87 1-2B,
6 percent A. 72 1-2B,
6 percent B. 73B,
Beauharnois
5 1-2 percent 82 1-4B,
5 percent 32B,
Duke Price 80 1-4B,
Maclaren Que. 76B,
Ottawa Valley 91B,
Can. Northern Power 90 1-2B,
Mulitt 20B,
Malartic 93B
Maple Leaf 6 1-2
McIntyre 4200B
Mining Corporation 129B
McKenzie 134
McWatters 136
McVittie 16
Nipissing 245
Noranda 2000B
Pioneer 890
Parkhill 22
Premier 167 B
Reade Auth. 65B
Reno 1143
St. Anthony 30B
Sherritt 68
Sicose 3702
San Antonio 345B
Stadacona 22
Sudbury Basin 142B
Sylvanite 2223B
Teck-Hughes 417B
Ventures 83
Wayside 16
Wright Hargreaves 85B
Wright Hargreaves 85
Paymaster 26 1-2
Pickel Crow 39B

Produce Markets

(By United Farmers Co-operative Company)

Toronto, June 8—Producer prices on product delivered at Toronto as quoted by the United Farmers Co-operative Co. here to-day were:

Buying Prices

Eggs—
Grade A, large, doz. ..... .27
Grade A, medium, doz. ..... .16
Grade C, doz. ..... .15

Butter—
Ontario No. 1 Creamery, lb. .. 20½
Ontario No. 2 Creamery, lb. .. .20
Cheese, large—
No. 1 lb ..... .21
No. 2 lb ..... .19
(F.O.B. shipping point)

Poultry

Hens—	Live Dressed	Milled
	"A" "A"	"A"
Over 5 lbs. ..	.11 .14
4 to 5 lb. ..	.10 .13
3 to 4 lbs. ..	.09 .11
Old roosters	.07 .09
Broilers 2 1-2 lb.	.16
Broilers 1 1-4 to 2 1-2	.16

Selling Prices

United Farmers Co-Operative Co. today were offering products to retail dealers at the following prices:

Eggs—
Grade A large loose, doz. ..... .21
Grade A, medium, doz. ..... .20
Grade B, medium, doz. ..... .18
Grade C, doz. ..... .15

Butter—
No. 1 Creamery, prints 23½
No. 2 Creamery, prints ..... .22

Dairy Butter—
No. 3 timothy hay, baled ton, $14.50 to $15.50; No. 2 timothy hay ton, $13.50 to $14.50; No. 1 timothy baled, top $10.00; oats straw, $7.50 to $8.50.

Graded Egg Prices

Toronto dealers today were paying the following nominal prices for graded eggs, cases free:

Grade A, medium, doz.	.18
Grade A, large, doz.	.16
"A" pullets, doz.	.15

Livestock Quotations

(Toronto)

Steers, up to 1,050 lbs.
Good and choice $6.00 8.50
do medium 5.25 6.00
do common 4.25 5.25

Steers, over 1050 lbs. good
do choice 6.50 7.00
do, medium 5.00 6.50
do common 4.00 5.00

Heifers, good and choice 6.00 6.50
do, medium 4.75 5.25
do common 4.00 5.25

Fed calves, good and choice 8.75 7.50
do, common 5.50 6.50
Cows, good 4.50 5.00
do, medium 4.00 4.50
do, common 3.00 3.75
Canners and cutters 2.00 2.75
Bulls, good 3.50 4.00
do common 2.00 3.25
Milkers and Springer 35.00 50.00
Stocker and feeder steers, good 3.00 5.75
do common 3.00 4.65
Calves, good and choice veals 6.00 7.50
do common to medium 3.00 5.75
do grassers 2.00 3.50
Hogs, bacon, f.o.b. 3.00
do, off cars 3.00 3.25
do, off truck 2.75
Good sheep and heavy lambs 2.00 3.50
do medium 2.00 2.50
do, bucks 2.00 7.00
do culls 7.00 8.00
Sheep, good weight 2.50 3.00
do, heavies 1.00 1.50
do, heavies 2.00 2.50

HOGS

Toronto, June 8 (CP)—Bacon hog prices ruled unchanged to 15 cents higher again today at five reporting market points. Kitchener took the 15-cent jump and Peterboro was up 10 cents. Chatham, Hull and London remained unchanged. Today's prices:

Chatham, $8.50; Hull, $9.25; Kitchener, $9.00; London, $8.90; Peterborough, $8.85.

Grain Markets

Closing quotations in the Winnipeg Grain Exchange as furnished by A. H. Ketcheson and Co. today:

	Close	Close
July	83¾	83¼
Oats—
July	41⅛	40⅝ 41⅛
October	36	35⅝ 36
Barley—
July	42½	41¾ 42¾
October	40⅝	40⅛ 40⅝
Rye—
July	44⅝	44 44⅝
October	46⅛	45½ 46⅛

LIVESTOCK

Toronto, June 8 (CP)—Supplying on the Toronto Livestock Market today totalled only 136 head, made up of 100 butchers, mostly stockers, six head of fresh cattle and 30 hogs. No sales were made on any division during the morning.

"DRUGGED" MAN BREAKS WINDOWS

Transient Runs Amok on Front Street Late Wednesday Night

Standing in his bare feet, David Hunter, 36 year old transient appeared before Magistrate E. J. Butler, K.C., in today's police court charged with drunkenness and the wilfull destruction of property. Hunter regretfully told the court he was sorry for picking up an iron sign and crashing it through two large plate glass windows in the front of Wm. Cook's cigar store 223 Front St. at 10.30 p.m. last night. Hunter assured the court he had been "drugged" and couldn't, when he committed his act. He was not asked to plead, but remanded until tomorrow.

Excitement ran high and hundreds of local citizens were attracted by the breaking of glass on Front St. last night, when a crazed man ran amok and after failing to break the large plate glass window in Doyle's drug store by throwing it with his fist, staggered further up the street, picked up a newspaper display sign and crashed it through the large plate glass window in Bill Cook's cigar store. As innocent bystanders endeavored to grapple with the man, he again turned and ran and hurled the sign through the south window of the same place of business. Constable Thompson and Arnott were soon on the scene, and found a man, who gave his name as David Hunter standing, apparently in a stupor nearby with his hands and wrists cut and bleeding profusely. Eye witnesses to the entire affair related the above story to the police.

When taken to the police station Hunter stated he had been previously employed at the government relief camp No. 84 at Tichborne, Ont. "I'm sorry, but I don't seem to recall what happened". Inasmuch stated Hunter as he seemed to have difficulty in remembering just what had happened, Chief Constable Bruce related a story to the police to the effect that he had been drinking in the local "jungle" east of the city limits. "I believe I was drugged, as I don't seem to remember what happened", stated the repentful Hunter to Mr. Cook today.

Red Cross Drive Results Cheer

Red Cross workers are greatly encouraged over the generous response of the community to this annual campaign which opened on Monday. Before the formal canvass began, donations were received by the campaign treasurer, W. W. Imlah, 27 Campbell Street, by mail and the sum of one hundred and sixty-five dollars was realized, nearly half of which came from citizens who had not subscribed to the Red Cross appeals in previous years, this augurs a growing interest in the work of the society.

Canvassers visiting the residential districts today and tomorrow are met with marked success although their returns have not yet been completed.

Custom Returns For May is $46,436.76

Better industrial conditions during the past month in this district are reflected in customs returns at the local port as given for the month of May. During the month the receipts collected reached a high total of $46,436.76. This contrasts with a total collection during May 1932 of $44,533.37. During the month of April for the same the receipts collected totalled $51,295.14.

Turbans or Brims
Summer Headwear in Felts, Crepes, Taffetas, and Softias. In every new shape and trimming imaginable, are on display in our Millinery Department.
"A PRICE FOR EVERYONE"
Woodley's
273 Front St.
"THE SMARTEST HATS IN TOWN"

T.L. CHURCH BILL MEETS BATTLE

(Continued from page one)

lature. New York newspapers published names of ticket shareholders, he said, and this step had been taken, he claimed, to enable electric airways in New York State began buying up newspapers to influence public opinion.

There was a proposal in Canada for railway consolidation, he said. The public should know who was behind the agitation for amalgamation of railways. The public was entitled to know the identity of owners.

Conditions in New York State were entirely different from those in Canada, Senator Graham said, and there was no occasion for this bill in any way.

A MESSAGE TO MOTHER
FATHER, SISTER, BROTHER
SAVE MONEY AT LIPSON'S
WITH THESE SPECIALS

Fresh

Dresses
CREPE
Printed and Pastel shades. Just received. Be here early to get yours. ONLY 2.97

Dresses
ORGANDY and Sheer very attractive styles in the newest colors. ONLY 1.97

Bargains

SPECIAL
Ladies' Voile Dresses
All sizes and Colors
77c

MEN'S Shirts and Ties to match in plain and stripes. ONLY
97c

MEN'S Sport Shoes at lowest prices. Brown and tan and black and white and plain white. Priced at a real saving
1.97 to 2.97

LINEN Dresses
Short sleeves and no sleeves sailor collars, exactly what just the thing for this weather. ONLY
97c

LADIES' SPORT OXFORD SHOES
In all white and black and white, also brown and tan, low and high heels, and different widths. Priced at 1.59 to 1.97

BOYS' Polo Shirts
Mesh, cotton, green, khaki, and white... Sizes to 14, collar or crew neck styles... ONLY
47c

BOYS' Athletic Shirts
Zimmerknit make, with picture on front. Priced at ONLY
25c

RAYON Sockettes
Every shade, colored tops, sizes to 10. Priced for quick selling
25c

Blouses
Printed Broadcloth Blouses, smart and good wearing, sizes 6 to 12 years... Reg. price 69c. Special ONLY
49c

BOYS' Bathing Suits
Popular Speed style. Quality wool Sizes 24 to 34. ONLY
97c

MEN'S FLANNEL SUITS
in grey, form-fitting styles. ONLY 11.95

MISSES' PRINTED Blouses
Guaranteed fast colors, charming styles, all sizes, each ONLY
33c

Flannel Pants
Boys' Highwaisted grey flannel long pants, all sizes, cuff bottom finish. ONLY 1.49

Dresses
Styles to suit everybody, every size—it will pay you to see these MISSES' DRESSES — it will pay you to buy several at ONLY
49c

Scampers
Popular Scamper Shoe for youths and boys, tough elk leather with an exceptionally strong rubber sole. Sizes to 5. ONLY
97c

Lipson's
CHAIN OF POPULAR PRICED STORES

VISCOUNT BYNG OF VIMY DIES

(Continued from page one)

always at his side, tried to enjoy the retirement so often delayed. Failing in health, he made numerous sea voyages, chiefly to California and Canada's Pacific Coast.

He was of course the recipient of many honors from the British and foreign governments, he was thanked by parliament for his "distinguished services" and awarded a grant of £150,000. There is no heir to the title.

Last of Commanders

Ottawa, June 8 (CP)—Death of Viscount Byng of Vimy removes the last of the commanders of the Canadian corps. Of these, two were regular soldiers, one—the late Sir Arthur Currie—a citizen-soldier.

The Canadian corps was formed in September, 1915. Major General E. A. H. Alderson was promoted to command.

In May, 1916, command of the corps passed to General Sir Julian Byng. Under him the Canadian corps was increased to four divisions. He held command for about 14 months when, promoted to the third army, he was succeeded by Sir Arthur Currie.

All three are now dead.

Ottawa Tribute

Ottawa, June 8 (CP)—Men prominent in Canada's military and political life today joined in paying tribute to Viscount Byng of Vimy, one-time commander of the Canadian corps in the Great War and former Governor-General of Canada, who died early this morning at Thorpe-Le-Stoken, Essex, at the age of 72.

Hon. Donald M. Sutherland, Minister of Pensions and National Health, said:

"I have just learned with the deepest regret, of the death of our old corps commander, Lord Byng.

"The secret of Lord Byng's success was that he inspired confidence in everyone with whom he came in contact.

"His post-war association with Canada as Governor-General endeared him to the civilian population who today, with his old comrades, will sincerely mourn his loss."

"Canadians one and all will mourn the death of Baron Byng, this country never had a more devoted friend. In war and peace he was a prince among men—a courageous and skilful captain in battle but an ardent champion of all that makes for peace. He was of the sort who have made England great. I have never known a finer type of manhood."

Byng and Vimy

Montreal, June 8—(CP)—Col. J. L. Ralston, former Dominion Minister of National Defence and an adjutant in the Canadian corps during the fighting with General Byng at the battle of Vimy Ridge, was shocked to hear of the death of his commander. "The names of Byng and Imy will be forever linked together in the minds of Canadians," said Col. Ralston. "Members of the Canadian corps will ever remember Lord Byng as a gallant leader."

Store Wide CLEARANCE

Baguette WATCH
24.75
$5.00 ALLOWANCE ON YOUR OLD WATCH

DIAMONDS
HALF PRICE
To clear our large stock we are forced to sacrifice.

BOYS' 15 JEWEL WATCH
Guaranteed Movement
$12.95
ONE ONLY
24 Piece Chest Mansfield
SILVERWARE
$6.95
Open Stock Pattern

TEASPOONS
E.P.N.S. QUALITY
12c each
A SPECIAL MENTION $75.00 for 37.50

CUT GLASS TUMBLERS
Only 6c each

LOVELY ENSEMBLE!
DIAMOND ENGAGEMENT and WEDDING RING
25.00

ROGERS TEA SERVICE
Only $6.95
TRAY TO MATCH
$4.95 for $2.50

ENGRAVED
Wedding Rings
3.95 up

WELL AND TREE PLATTER
$10.00 for $5.95

NOW IS THE RIGHT TIME TO BUY THE RIGHT THINGS IN THE RIGHT WAY AT 26 Bridge Street, East
PALMER'S JEWEL SHOP
Phone 3850

TENNIS CLUB NAMES OFFICERS

Harry Lovibond President of Stirling Organization For 1935

Stirling—The annual re-organization meeting of the Stirling Lawn Tennis Club was held in the office of the Stirling News-Argus on Tuesday evening at seven thirty. A good number of the members were present. After a period of general discussion, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Honorary Presidents—Mr. R. G. Lawlor and Mr. J. B. Reid.

President—Harry Lovibond.

Secretary—Harold Baker.

Treasurer—Don McCallum.

Property Committee—Fred Johnson, convenor; Clifford Holmes and Harry McGee.

Games Committee—Bill Jones, Convenor; Marie Desmoreau and Desmond Jackson.

Social and Match Committee—Mildred Lovibond and Marie Desmoreau, with power to add to their number at their own discretion.

Excellent courts were heard on work of re-conditioning the courts and it is expected that the work will be completed in next week or two. Several of the members are assisting in the work to speed up the work as much as possible, Saturday should be a playing day for some of the active members.

Normal Increase in Setback Games

On Tuesday night Bethel setback team took a firmer grasp on the league leadership, when they moved their third straight victory, defeating the boys from Glen Ross by a score of 15 to 4, before a large number of enthusiastic fans, at Bethel. The Glen Ross boys are not in their stride yet, and while they show up very well in the field, their batting is far from the mark as the score indicates, looked superior in every department. But at this early stage of the game it is hard to say what the season play will bring forth. A little bit of shifting around in the line-up of the Glen Ross team is now in progress by way of experiment and they will, no doubt, be found the real contenders before long. They were greatly strengthened by a change made in the fifth, when Charlie Smith replaced Brooks on the mound. Smith, who hasn't played a game for a couple of years, some time, still possesses a speed ball that worries the batters and he whips them in rapid succession. Broadworth pitching for Bethel turned in his usual fine performance and was well supported by his team mates in the field. Errors were not out of order in this game, there being only one which was a hard drive to right field by Neil Heath of the Bethel team in the fifth, scoring Broadworth from second. The batting orders were as follows:

Bethel—J. Kirby; P. Stewart; R. Mogford; R. Holland; G. Broadworth; B. Heath; W. Warren; L. Clement; J. Acheson.

Glen Ross — K. Wickener; H. Brown; G. Fryer; R. Hagerman; H. Brooks; J. Scott; C. Smith; R. Brooks; J. Armstrong.

Burt Wallace and Ernest Cain officiated as umpires.

Birthday Party

A number of friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Dempsey Tyler on Sunday, June 2nd in Consecon in honor of her niece, Mrs. Delbert Ulman of Stirling who celebrated her fiftieth birthday on that day. Mrs. Tyler who has recently passed her ninetieth year made all the preparations for the party and made the cake. Those from Stirling who were present at this unique party were Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Ulman, Mr. Gerald Irvin and Miss Belcour.

The members of the Stirling Lawn Bowling Club had their day on the rinks on Wednesday afternoon, when a good number of the members were present for the opening of the greens which are in fair condition for this period of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Conley of Melfort, Sask., are spending a few weeks visiting at the home of Mrs. Conley's father Mr. J. Bird and other relatives in the district.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Frazer of Emerson, Man., are visiting at the home of Mrs. Frazer's sister Mrs. Mary Morrow for a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Bennett, Joan and Roy of Frankford spent Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. Mc.Bennett's parents Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bennett.

Mr. Walter Elliott of Belleville visited friends in Stirling on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. J. Bird had the misfortune to step on a rusty nail while at work installing the machinery at the new sand and gravel pit recently acquired by the County from Mr. Geo. Belshaw. Dr. K. H. Alger dressed the wound and he will be unable to carry on his work for a week or so.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bush and family were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Morrow.

Miss Gladys Asquith of River Valley was a week end guest at the home of her sister Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hulin.

Miss Mary Grant of Toronto is spending a few days at the home of Mrs. James Rainforth.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Joyce and family of Foxboro were Sunday guests at the home of Mrs. Joyce's parents Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fairs.

Mr. W. J. Whitty, local representative of the Excelsior Life Insurance Co. was successful in securing the cup donated by district Superintendent W. J. McCallan to the agent transacting the greatest amount of business for the company in the Oshawa district. The cup is a very fine one and the winning of it is an accomplishment worthy of note. Along with the cup Mr. Whitty also won a fine Modernistic Clock for his fine efforts in acquiring new business for the firm he represents.

L.O.B.A. No. 685 Hold Regular Meeting

On Tuesday night June 3, the Stirling L.O.B.A. held a well attended meeting in their lodge rooms when representatives were present from the lodges of Hallbway and Frankford. The initiation of a candidate was put on in a very capable manner by the local degree team, and after the regular business of the evening was completed a dainty lunch was served by the ladies and a social hour enjoyed by all.

VEALE NAMED COACH

Hamilton, June 6 (CP)—Hamilton Tigers, champions of the International Football Union, have named Fred "Smut" Veale as coach of the club for 1935.

Old Dutch cleans quicker doesn't scratch because it's made with SEISMOTITE

There's a wonderful cleanser—"Old Dutch". It's pure, and it doesn't cost much.

But it sure can work magic. On pots that look tragic, And on sinks, utensils, paint work and such.

Written by Mrs. F. N. Shearer, Peterboro, Ont.

Old Dutch saves surfaces . . . saves money, time and work because it is the only cleanser made with Seismotite—a scratchless cleaning and polishing material that is scientifically processed and compounded with other valuable ingredients. Date a package of Old Dutch when you open it. When it's empty, look at the calendar. The length of time the package lasts and the greater amount of cleaning prove its economy. Remember, you can't afford not to use the best when the best costs less to use!

Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler in a clever number from "Go Into Your Dance," now at the Capitol Theatre.

RAIL SITUATION SLIGHTLY BETTER

Manufacturers Told of Increase in Revenues

Hamilton, June 6 (CP)—Slight improvement in the railway situation in Canada was seen in the report of its transportation committee of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in annual meeting here.

The improvement was shown through increased and net revenues but the commission declared the country was still faced with annual contributions for equipment, construction, betterments and interest due on securities held by the public, which, it was estimated, would require $48,300,000 in 1935.

"The motor vehicle transportation situation also presents many difficulties, the solution of which would appear desirable in the interests of carriers and shippers," stated the report.

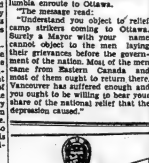
Approximately 40 per cent of the total importation of goods from the United Kingdom under the preferential tariff entered Canada during 1934 according to the report of the tariff committee.

A greatly increased trade with the United Kingdom has been built up by exporters of Canadian primary products since the Ottawa conference, stated the report. "For the 12 months ended Feb. 1932, the total value of Canadian exports to the United Kingdom was $276,000,000 compared with $478,000,000 during the 12 months ended Feb. 1932."

Steady improvement in economic conditions in the world's principal countries was noted.

Mr. Webb pointed out statistics compiled by the League of Nations showed an expansion in industrial production, a very considerable increase in the number of those gainfully employed, a slight rise in the quantum of world trade and some progress in methods of financing.

Dealing more particularly with Canadian conditions, Mr. Webb referred to the fact that the index number showing physical volume of business had risen from a low of 67.0 in February, 1933, to a high of 90.6 in February, 1935, while in the fiscal years, 1933, 1934 and 1935, Canada's trade with other countries of the British Empire had increased by 45 per cent, and with foreign countries 27 per cent. There was little indication, however, that economic nationalism was declining. Nearly all countries were still determined to be self-contained as possible, making more products within their own boundaries and supporting that policy by blocking exchanges, regulating currencies, maintaining or increasing customs tariffs, embargoes on import regulations and rulings and to a considerable extent carrying on trade by quotas.



"While this condition of affairs is undesirable and incredible it is especially to a country like Canada which has large and varied amounts of products for sale," said Mr. Webb, "we have been compelled by world circumstances and procedure to adapt ourselves to the facts and to make the best of the existing situation, as, obviously, it is impossible for any one country to oppose world policy and practice. If we attempted such a rash experiment we could accomplish little in the way of persuading other countries to change their policies and would lose part of our own trade."

McGeer Sends Reply To Mayor of Ottawa

Vancouver, June 6—(CP)—Mayor G. G. McGeer sent a telegram to Mayor P. J. Nolan of Ottawa with reference to the latter's protest against striking relief camp workers being permitted to leave British Columbia enroute to Ottawa.

"The message read:

"Understand you object to relief camp strikers coming to Ottawa. Surely a Mayor with your name cannot object to the men stating their grievances before the government of the nation. Most of the men came from Eastern Canada and most of them ought to return there. Vancouver has suffered enough and you ought to be willing to bear your share of the national relief that the depression caused."

THE COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS MUTUAL ACCIDENT ASSOCIATION of AMERICA
W. L. MAYCOCK, Secretary
760 Wellington Street, OTTAWA, ONTARIO

GLASSES

Quality Lenses — Expert Examination

Do not suffer from the discomfort that Eyestrain Causes—it is unnecessary. Let our Registered Optometrist examine your Eyes and prescribe and fit glasses that will correct your vision and be becoming to you.

LOW ESTABLISHED PRICES
PHONE 1406

LEWIS
285 Front St. Opposite Loblaw's

W.C.T.U. MEETING AT MRS. DAFOE'S

Niles Corners, June 6.—Mr. and Mrs. S. Mumford and daughter Dorothy of Wellington called on Mr. and Mrs. Will Ellison Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Clapp, Mrs. H. Lunn and Mrs. H. Dafoe spent Friday afternoon in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Fraser and family of Belleville were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Lunn and children. Mr. and Mrs. Baldson of Consecon also called on the Lunn family in the evening.

Mrs. A. N. Dafoe attended the parlor meeting of the Wellington W. C. T. U. on Friday evening last at the home of Mrs. Rufus Wilder.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Clapp were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Pettingill, Rosehall.

Mr. and Mrs. D. McPaul were at Picton Saturday evening.

Mr. Richard Lunn Sr. left on Monday to spend a holiday in Toronto.

Mr. V. O. Clapp was a guest at the Pillingham home, Rosehall, on Sunday evening.

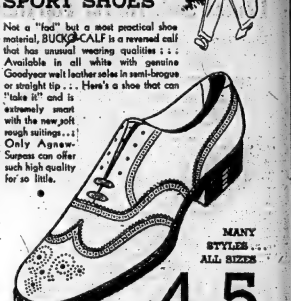
15 Million Issue Is Refunding Plan

Toronto, June 6 (CP)—Ontario's $15,000,000 debenture issue advertised today does not mean the Hepburn Government has abandoned any idea of going to the New York money market for funds to meet maturing obligations, Premier Mitchell Hepburn said today as he went into a pre-Cabinet conference with a group of New York financiers.

Mr. Hepburn explained the request for tenders for the $15,000,000 issue was only to take care of the refunding of unemployment relief obligations bearing an average interest rate of 5.0164 will be maturing this year, the Premier explained and he hopes by selling short term treasury notes in New York he will be able to refund at a fraction of that rate of interest.

Selling tomato plants is the order of the day. The farmers are very glad for the rain.

The anniversary of Rosehall United Church will be held on afternoon and evening of June 16 with the annual chicken dinner on the following Tuesday evening, June 18.



Mr. and Mrs. Will Ellis were at Picton on Monday.

ROUGH SIDE OUT for STYLE and SERVICE

BUCKO CALF SPORT SHOES

Not a "fad" but a most practical shoe material, BUCKO CALF is a reversed calf that has unusual wearing qualities . . . Available in all white with genuine Goodyear welt leather soles in semi-brogue or straight tip . . . Here's a shoe that can "take it" and is extremely smart with the new soft rough suitings . . . ! Only Agnew-Surpass can offer such high quality for so little.

MANY STYLES . . . ALL SIZES

$4 AND 5

MANY OTHER SPORT TYPES PRICED FROM $2.98

AGNEW-SURPASS SHOE STORES LIMITED

252 Front St. Belleville Phone 2042

WHY HAVE A HOT KITCHEN...?

Don't be a Summer Sizzler!

Let a GURNEY Range put the Heat into the Cooking

Come in Today... Look over the beautiful new Gurney gas ranges, in two, three and four burner models..

A grand sight in any kitchen

Easy to pay for

Come in and see us

JOHN LEWIS
285 Front St. COMPANY Phone 2260

Phone 2380 FOR SNAPPY SHOPPING SERVICE FREE DELIVERY

BLUE'S MARKETERIA
Belleville's Largest Independent Market

Phone 2380 FOR SNAPPY SHOPPING SERVICE FREE DELIVERY

Shop at BLUE'S

Phone 2380

GROCERY DEPARTMENT

TOILET PAPER	Large Roll	4 for 23c
MAXWELL COFFEE	1 lb. tin	39c
WALNUTS HALVES	lb.	35c
MATCHES	3 for 21c
PALMOLIVE SOAP	3 for 14c
PUFFED WHEAT	pkg.	10c
SUPER SUDS	2 for 9c
GRAPE JUICE	Pint Bottle	19c
JEWEL SHORTENING	2 lbs. 25c
Large Jar Prepared MUSTARD		19c
Assorted Meat Sandwich Pastes		10c
H. and P. SAUCE		10c

MEAT DEPARTMENT

Rib Stew	2 lbs. 15c
Rolled Veal	lb. 15c
ROUND Steak or Roast	lb. 20c
Rump Fillets Veal	lb. 16c
Breakfast Bacon	lb. 25c

FRUIT DEPARTMENT

LIMITED SUPPLY OF FRESH PINEAPPLES	2 for 23c
6 Nice Seedless Grapefruit	25c
ORANGES Nice Size	doz. 20c
FIRM RADISHES	3 bunches 10c

Baseball
Current Sport

IN THE REALM OF SPORTING EVENTS

Bowling
Golf

Swell Support Behind Pitcher Gives Radios 1-0 Win Over Ponies and Tie for Top Rung

Lone Counter Scored on Three Singles And Fly Ball

SMART DEFENCE

Weir, Green And Barclay Supply Fielding Features

Limiting the Kingston Ponies to six well scattered hits, Weir Williams hurled the Stewart-Warners of Belleville into a tie for the leadership of the C.O.H.L. when the local Radios downed the Ponies by the score of 1 to 0 at Kingston last evening. The game proved a masterful pitchers' battle between Williams and Bud Clancy, the elongated right handed Kingston imported pitcher from Philadelphia. Both Williams proving the master of the situation as he, too, pitched a real, completely out-generalled the Pony hurler from the first pitched ball until the final out. Three successful singles and a long fly to centre field, from the bat of Alex Weir, gave the Radios their only counter, in the initial frame, and sufficient to carry the Williams hurled shut-out ball behind stellar fielding on the part of his team mates.

Only once during the pastime was the Williams lead threatened, that being in the seventh, when the Ponies filled the bases following a single, a sacrifice, a walk and a subsequent single as two fast men immediately were retired. With practical defeat facing him, Williams bore down to strike out Stone and Cooper on a called third strike, Stone struck out. Compeau was batting rally of the entire game. Williams literally had the Pony batsmen eating from his pitching hand as he struck out seven, Clancy's six and allowing only six scattered hits as the Radios collected nine from the deliveries of Clancy. Earl "Sexy" Gray led all hitters of the day with three singles and Johnny Kerr and "Sonny" Green each collected two one base blows. The outstanding hitting feats of the pastime went to the two pitchers, with also hard mastered ball throughout, Williams and Clancy getting only extra base hits of the day as both fell for doubles, Clancy in the eighth and Williams in the ninth.

Weir Fields Well

The fielding honors were proportioned Weir Alex, local centre fielder, who accepted no less than seven lone chances, all of which he took in big league fashion for putouts. Gerry Gray Allan, classy shortstop ball in the outer garden, as Williams repeatedly made the Kingston lasses step up. Compeau, with two singles, was the leading Kingston batter although Scrutton collected two safe blows. The fielding sensation of the day was supplied by Sonny Green in the form of a double play, when he tagged a Kingston base runner between first and second and subsequently tossed out the hitter with same, to terminate the game. Jim Barclay, local receiver, threw out H. Smith as he tried to splitter second. Jim Barclay previously tossed out Compeau as he tried to steal third Veronica sack in the second frame. The termination of the game saw the Radios play three games in as many days and tie by one run being scored against them. Incidentally only 18 batters faced Williams in the five six innings or an average of seven batters per inning. The Ponies did not have a base runner left stranded until the seventh, when they walked from the field leaving each combined occupied as Williams struck out the third. Smart fielding on the part of both contesting teams featured the game.

Perched on the top rung of the C.O.H.L. ladder, along with Oshawa, the Stewart-Warners take on the fast moving Peterboro Sea Hawks of the local Exhibition Park in a twilight fixture this evening at which time the Radios are scored to the league leadership with a victory.

PLAY BY PLAY

First Inning.

Belleville—Grey singled to centre. Barclay singled short. Green laid down a bunt filling the bases. R. Smith grounded to Compeau and Grey was forced at the plate. Weir filled to centre scoring Kerr. Barclay added to centre. Two, 3 hits, 0 errors.

Kingston—Scrutton aided to centre. Arniel aided to the same place. McQuaide filed to right. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

Second Inning.

Belleville—McIlroy filed to Scrutton in centre. Ford grounded out to Compeau. Williams fouled out, to Arniel. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

Kingston—Smith lined to Smith. Compeau singled to right on first pitch. Stone struck out. Compeau was thrown out stealing. 0 runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

Third Inning.

Belleville—Grey scored unaided an infield hit and went out stealing. Kerr aided to McQuaide, Green singled through short. R. Smith safe on H. Smith's bobble, Green going to third and R. Smith to second. Weir aided to Clancy. 0 runs, 2 hits, 1 error.

Kingston—Quinn aided to centre. Webber filed to Grey. Clancy filed to Weir. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

Fourth Inning.

Belleville—Barclay singled to centre. McIlroy filed to Compeau. Ford whiffed. Williams fouled out to H. Smith. 0 runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

Kingston—Scrutton singled to centre. Arniel hit into a double play, Green to R. Smith. McQuaide was safe on R. Smith's error. McQuaide was thrown out stealing. Williams to R. Smith to Ford. 0 runs, 1 hit, 1 error.

Fifth Inning.

Belleville—Grey grounded out to H. Smith. Kerr bounced to Compeau. Green was safe on Compeau's error. R. Smith struck out. 0 runs, 0 hits, 1 error.

Kingston—H. Smith struck out. Compeau fouled to McIlroy. Stone whiffed. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

Sixth Inning.

Belleville—Weir flied out to Arniel. Barclay whiffed. McIlroy fouled to Arniel. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

Kingston—Quinn aided to Weir. Webber grounded to Williams. Clancy aided to Green. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

Seventh Inning.

Belleville—Ford whiffed. Williams aided to Scrutton in centre. Grey singled to centre. Green aided to right. 0 runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

Kingston—Scrutton beat out a hit. Arniel sacrificed. McQuaide filed to Ford. H. Smith walked. Compeau scratched a hit to fill the bases. Stone struck out. 0 runs, 2 hits, 0 errors.

Eighth Inning.

Belleville—R. Smith whiffed. Weir did likewise. Barclay aided to Scrutton in centre. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

Kingston—Quinn whiffed. Webber was grounded to Williams. Clancy doubled to left. Scrutton aided to centre. 0 runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

Ninth Inning.

Belleville—McIlroy aided to McQuaide. Ford aided to Webber. Williams doubled to centre. Grey aided to Scrutton. 0 runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

Kingston—Arniel whiffed. McQuaide grounded to Williams. H. Smith singled to centre. Smith was thrown out stealing. 0 runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

A REAL ONE

Belleville—	AB	R	H	PO	A
Grey, cf	4	1	3	2	0
Kerr, lf	4	1	2	1	0
Green, 2b	4	0	2	2	3
R. Smith, lb	4	0	0	5	0
Weir, cf	4	0	1	7	0
Barclay, ss	4	0	0	1	3
McIlroy, 3b	4	0	0	0	0
Ford, c	4	0	0	7	0
Williams, p	4	0	1	0	2
	37	1	9	27	8

Kingston—	AB	R	H	PO	A
Scrutton, cf	4	0	2	4	0
Arniel, c	4	0	0	6	1
McQuaide, lf	4	0	0	2	0
H. Smith, 3b	3	0	1	0	2
Compeau, ss	3	1	2	1	0
Stone, lb	3	0	0	4	0
Webber, rf	3	0	0	1	0
Webber, rf	3	0	0	2	0
Clancy, p	3	0	1	0	4
	29	0	6	27	7

Score by innings:
Belleville ..... 100 000 000—1 9 1
Kingston ..... 000 000 000—0 6 2
Summary—Earned runs, Belleville 1. Runs batted in, Weir. Sacrifice hits, Arniel, two base hits, Williams, Clancy. Errors, R. Smith, H. Smith, Compeau. Double plays, Green to R. Smith. Left on bases, Belleville 9, Kingston 4. Struck out, by Williams 7, by Clancy 6. Base on balls, Williams (1). Winning pitcher, Williams. Umpires, Meagher, Heath and Gerow. Scorer, Kingston bases. Time of game, 1.49.

RON CHURCH TOO GOOD FOR LOCALS

Belleville Intermediates Shutout by Picton in Fast Game

Pitching shut-out ball big Ron Church, classy all round performer and hander of the Picton intermediates, hurled the Prince Edward County senior league contingent consecutive victory in the Bay of Quinte town, when the homesters defeated the Belleville intermediates by the score of 6-0 at Belleville before a fast and limited the Quinte City aggregation to six acclaimed hits, never at any time being in any serious trouble. Inadequate umpiring cost the Belleville team five runs, however, as they counted five runs in the fifth after three batters had legitimately been retired at first base. Phil Loft started on the mound for the Belleville team, but was derieked in favor of Juby a giant right hander halfway through the game. Juby subsequently held the title of battle from the sixth until the end of the game, limiting the Picton crew to one lone run.

Bob Greer, Picton catcher, hit for the circuit with one on in the fifth, while Cole, Mighton and Mel Little hitting doubles, were the other batters to count extra base hits. Three fast double plays featured in a smart fielding game behind the victor while the third consecutive hung up by the Picton club leaving them undefeated in the league.

The line-ups:

Belleville—Cy Barriage, ss; Chuck Barriage 2b; Little 2b; Ebber lf; Ashford c; Cretsey lb, Bennett rf; Morgan cf; Loft and Juby p.

Picton—Hudgins cf; Rorke ss; Leavens rf; Prout 3b; Greer c; Mighton 2b; McQuaid lf; Cole 1b; and Church; p.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
Picton ..... 200 150 100—6 9 2
Belleville ..... 000 000 000—0 6 3
Umpires—Meagher, Belleville, plate, Young, Belleville.

Wrestling — Belleville ARENA

EXHIBITION

FRIDAY JUNE 7th

9.15 P.M. D.S.T.

MASKED MARVEL ?, 220 lbs. vs. DAN PETROFF, Russia, 210 lbs.
JACK PAVLOS, Greece, 205 lbs. vs. JOHNNY GYROFFY, Hungary, 205 lbs.
PRELIMINARY—JOHN McITAY vs. TED BONAHOOM
The Large Attendance Weekly — Warrants No Increase in Prices Account of Tax.

White Sox Rookie Defeated After Running Eight Straight Showing Greatness in Losing Team Mates Fail to Give Whitehead Any Runs

TIGERS WIN

Cubs Register Only Gain of The Day in Either Loop

By HUGH S. FULERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The last memories of the Wrigleyville rookie pitchers, who have been setting the batters of the two major leagues upon their respective ears this season have had their defeat but at least one of them, silent John Whitehead of the White Sox, has shown signs of greatness even while losing.

The 25-year-old recruit had won his first eight major league starts before he finally met fate, the Browns yesterday and then he lost more because his teammates couldn't get him any runs than because of his own shortcomings.

Whitehead allowed a seven-hit game and granted only two walks and lost it 2-0 when Jack Knott went through with a two-hit masterpiece.

It was a different matter with Vito Tamulis, the little Lithuanian lefthander of the Yankees who had run up five straight victories. He was wild from the start and finally left the game in the fourth with the count 3-1 against him and the bases full.

Bob Johnson welcomed the arrival of Johnny Murphy by belting his 12th homer of the season to clear the sacks and decide the game even though the Yanks added four runs in their half of the fourth.

Tigers Win in 9th

To round out a bad day for the leaders, the second-place Cleveland Indians were out on the short end of a 5-4 score against Detroit Tigers when Tommy Bridges clubbed his 10th double won his own game. The Tribe failed to score in a double-header, which had been delayed by rain but darkness stopped them after the Tigers had won the first 4-3.

Washington went 10 innings to beat the Red Sox in the end an eight game losing streak, when Lefty Grove walked in the deciding run. The Cubs registered the only gain of the day in the National League, beating Cincinnati 2-1 on a homer by Chuck Klein and Ken O'Dea helped decide a second duel between Larry French and Gene Schott That put them closer to the league leading Giants, who divided a bargain bill with the Phillies and to the Cardinals and Pirates, whose game was rained out.

Fred Fitzsimmons' bad start and wobbly relief pitching once gave the Phils enough runs in the first inning to take the measure from the Giants 4-3 but the league leaders had little difficulty pounding out a decision in the second game 8-3.

Brooklyn and Boston also split a doubleheader, Dodgers winning the opener 3-0 on Van Mungo's five hit pitching and the Braves the afterpiece 7-5 on Al Spohrer's three-for-four seven-hit flingling by Fred Frankhouse and a 15-hit attack on George Earnshaw and Johnny Babich.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

By The Associated Press

Bob Johnson, Athletics—Hit homer with bases full and double, knocking in six runs in triumph over Yankees.

Larry French, Cubs—Struck out seven in fine relief victory over Reds.

Buckley Cochrane, Tigers— Hit homer, double and two singles in doubleheader with Indians.

Fred Camilli, Dodgers and Joe Moore, Giants—Camilli's homer with one on and first game, Moore made six hits in two clashes.

Jack Knott, Browns—Shut out White Sox with two hits.

Van Mungo, Dodgers, and Welly Berger, Braves—Mungo pitched five hit shutout in opener, Berger made three hits including homer, and knocked in three runs in nightcap.

Roy Johnson, Red Sox—Pounded out four singles and stole base in losing battle with Senators.

THE "MASKED MARVEL"

Who is he? Where did he come from? Is he really as good as press notices say he is? Are some of the questions being asked by local wrestling fans regarding the Masked Marvel who is to meet Dan Petroff, the Russian Lion, in the main bout of Thursday night's all-star Kiwanis wrestling show at the Belleville Arena. Two high class supporting preliminaries have been included on the program to make this week's card the best wrestling show ever presented in Belleville. The usual Kiwanis popular prices are still in vogue for this exhibition.

Watch Holway Bros.

?

It's Coming!

SECOND THURLOW IS VICTORIOUS

Record Attendance at Rural Baseball Game

Judging from the record crowd which was in attendance on Tuesday evening interest in rural baseball seems to be rapidly increasing. The Second of Thurlow defeated the Third Ward by the score of 12-2 on the former's diamond.

Owing to the late arrival of the visitors but six innings were played. Clapp and Tweedy of the Third Ward each pitched three innings and hurled on almost equal terms, but errors by their team mates were their numerous and costly.

Line-ups: Second—Bonnett, Reid and Seeley; Hall, Whalen; O. Atkins; A. Whalen; J. McKinnon; O. Whalen; R. Keene.

Third—Clapp; Faulkner; Paul; Easton; O'Carroll; Bell; Gray; Tweedy.

Umpire—C. Keene.

Standings

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Buffalo	26	16	.619
Montreal	26	21	.553
Baltimore	25	21	.543
Toronto	26	22	.531
Newark	23	23	.500
Syracuse	23	22	.500
Rochester	18	27	.400
Albany	16	25	.333

Yesterday's Scores.
Newark at Baltimore, rain.
Toronto at Rochester postponed, rain.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
New York	29	16	.644
St. Louis	24	17	.585
Pittsburg	24	17	.585
Chicago	21	17	.553
Brooklyn	21	20	.512
Philadelphia	21	23	.477
Philadelphia	14	24	.368
Boston	13	28	.317

Yesterday's Scores.
Brooklyn 3-0, Boston 0-10.
Philadelphia 4, New York 7-7.
Chicago 8, Cincinnati 3.
St. Louis at Pittsburg postponed, rain.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
New York	27	18	.428
Cleveland	26	17	.605
Chicago	22	17	.564
Detroit	22	18	.550
Boston	21	18	.538
Washington	18	22	.439
Philadelphia	16	23	.410
St. Louis	13	27	.308

Yesterday's Scores.
St. Louis 5, Boston 4.
Washington 5, Boston 4 (10 innings).
Philadelphia 9, New York 7.
Detroit 5-4, Cleveland 4-4.
Second game called end of sixth—darkness.

ADDITIONAL SPORT PAGE 7

'Maple Toppers' Close Season With Banquet, Prize Awards

Major Bowling League Had Most Successful Season

A hot chicken supper at the Quinte Cafe after an enjoyable night's bowling made a fitting climax to the bowling season in the Major "A" League on Wednesday evening.

A varied range of prizes were played for throughout the evening. The final team play for the cup was also played with the Belleville Pruit teams winning the victory for the winter season and they now hold the cup given for the best team average throughout the winter season in their proud possession. The Christie Cake team won the cup for the Pool League.

Prizes Distributed.

The prizes won for high scores and averages for the season are as follows:

High three string. Dave Tobe with an average of 271. High single, Claude Tice, 367. High average, Paul Orlando, 218. These were the winners for the winter league. The winners for the winter league, high three string, Les Shiels, 845; high single Bob Miles, 390; high average, C. Bryant, 227.

The winners for last night's play in the blind prizes and high singles and three string were: High three string, Harry Ridley, 668, C. Davison, 648; high single, Gerald Lynch 348; Harry Ridley 272.

Blind prizes—Single, Dave Tobe, 321; single, Frank Donnenley, 319; three string, Paul Orlando, 583; blind single, H. Ridley, 272; blind single, Gerald Lynch, 246.

Pat Drumm, Chairman.

Speeches and singing followed the presentation of prizes with Pat Drumm as chairman. Old favorites such as "My Wild Irish Rose", "Sweet Adeline", "Pack Up Your Troubles In Your Old Kit Bag" were lustily and whole heartedly sung by the enthused bowlers. Jack Dominico, speaking for the victorious Belleville Fruit team declared it was team play and no starring on the part of any of the players on the team that brought them the cup. Jack Marsh of the Belleville Golf team assured the other bowlers that the Golf team entries for fellowship throughout the season and although the Belleville Golf team didn't win the cup he was confident if any of the other bowling teams decided to take up golf, they could be taught a few pointers by the team he represented. Mr. Evan Barrow of the Ontario Intelligencer team humorously declared that although the Ontario Intelligencer team had finished fourth out of the six teams it was no fault of theirs, it was more through the good graces of the Belleville Golf and Recreation team who finished in the last place. He also expressed the hope that all the teams would be back again next season and hoped that the same friendly rivalry would again be a dominant factor next season as it was during the past year.

Mr. Ernie Clarke in discussion it was moved by George Lee that the Ontario Bowling Association rules be adopted for play next year. It was unanimously carried.

Officers Elected.

The election of officers for next year was the next item. The officers are:

Honorary president, Jos. Lagault; president, Pat Drumm; secretary, George Lee; treasurer, Art Wesley.

The National Anthem brought the banquet to a close.

Clothiers of Quality.

Tired of Hot Heavy Clothes?

Step right into our Store and chose a snappy Summer Weight Suit with QUALITY and STLYE that you can see at a glance BUT PRICED TO PLEASE.

Quick & Robertson

First in Style, Quality and Reasonable Price

CURRENT SPORT

DAY BY DAY

"UP ON TOP OF THE HEAP"

That's exactly where the Stewart-Warners are perched, along side of the Oshawa "Brewers" today, thanks to the superb hurling of Johnnie Williams and stellar fielding of Alex Weir and his left and right sidekicks in Kingston last evening.

'Twas an odd ball game, purely a pitchers' battle, with Jack Williams besting the highly touted Bud Clancy. For the first six innings only five batters faced Williams in exactly three per inning. Only once in the entire pastime did the Ponies have a base runner left stranded in the seventh, when the Ponies filled the bases with two out only to have Johnnie Williams strike out Stone and practically end the ball game right there.

Jack Williams was in rare form and was given superb support by his team mates in the field, whereas the Ponies just six well scattered hits. The excitement of the entire game came in the initial frame, when Alex Weir drove a single to centre, Barclay also singled consecutively in the initial frame, with none out. The outcome was never in doubt, Bud Clancy showed his usual ability by forcing the local Radios to bat at single tally, which proved the victory. Before advancing further we doff our chapeau to Bud Clancy for his fighting finish. Although a fifth top Clancy hurled equally as well as Williams, except that the local hurler pitched himself out of a desperate situation, that Clancy failed to do. Two of Clancy's fanned between a pitcher and a pitcher", Williams being socialistic at the winning hurler of the day.

Prior to yesterday's game it had been advertised in Kingston that Williams did not relish the idea of pitching in Kingston mound. Yesterday's exhibition amid dispense with all such ideas in the future as Mr. Williams has proved his mettle on the Ponies already this season. Incidentally we might state that the "Radios" have had but one complete game, or nine innings. That one run was scored in Oshawa, by the way. Prior to that Williams blanked the Ponies here and Peterboro and duplicated that feat in Kingston last evening. All the locals have to do is win this evening's twilight game versus Peterboro "Sea Horses" and all will be "Tootsy Goodsy" in local baseball circles, as the Radios are now in the commanding position for the league leadership.

It seems the Kiwanis wrestling promoters do not intend carrying on their weekly grapplers' shows at the Arena during the hot summer months. Next Friday night's show or three more top-notch shows before the opening of the new season for the season Chairman George Lee made this statement in the ring after the main event of last night's show. From the curtain raiser right through to the final fracas each match is a headliner. For instance in the semi-final Johnny Gyroffy, who is fast recovering from a sprained shoulder received in a hard fought, fall, takes on a newcomer to Belleville wrestling circles in Jack Pavlos, the Greek Adonis. Pavlos has just completed a successful season in Montreal and succeeding Michigan State cities and will undoubtedly prove a formidable opponent for the Iffie Hungarian. The opening bout of the night's show pits two fast faces seeing to it in Johnnie McIlray of Italy, and his opponent Ted Bacchorus, self-dress unknown. McIlray was well recommended to the Kiwanis wrestling committee and Ted Bacchorus who is well versed in the art of Greco-Roman wrestling will become a favourite among local fans being a grappler the type of Frankie Hart.

For the information of many sport fans who attend athletic or sport meets, such as baseball, hockey, wrestling, softball or any amusement where a fee is charged, an announcement tax must be paid by the holders of passes to all sports events, with the exception of bona fide league or club passes for baseball games that purchase a governments tax ticket before entering the grounds. The government law is most emphatic in regard to this new act and all persons entering places where sports are being participated in with passes should hold in mind the new ruling. The same holds good for wrestling in the matter of free list.

Local clubs in the Belleville Senior Softball League are complaining in regards to the wrestle between Oshawa and their games at Central Park. One manager in particular was quoted yesterday that his team had played two games this week and "We have to pay for the use of the grounds, simply balls and pay the umpires. It costs in the neighborhood of $30 per night to stage a game in the senior league and that is the existing manager. As pointed out by the club officials events are sufficiently large enough to carry the financial burden, if they would but "dig down" for a few coppers or a nickle once in a while.

It seems that all clubs in the local Senior Softball League went to town last night with the Aajmaas retaining the league leadership as they stretched out a 6 to 5 win over the St. Paul's crew. The Young Canadas Club were pressed to beat the Tweed team 6 to 4 at Tweed, Over in Bedrerding Cross Alley's Athletics ran amok to return to town with a 13 to 2 victory under their belts. The result of last night's triple-header finds the Aajmaas well out in front with four wins and a single loss to their credit. The victories of the Athletics and the Young Canada Club advance them into a tie for second place with Tweed for second place and tonight we find the Rednerville nine battling the Aajmaas.

Congratulations are due Frank Cunningham, athletic director at the O.S.H.S., for the immense success in which he staged the annual O.S.H.S. Field Day meet yesterday. Frank, and the entire staff of the school, assured the contesting athletes every convenience, that goes along with a big time athletic meet. Incidentally many new records were broken and new ones established in yesterday's O.S.H.S. track and field meet. The day was most successful from every angle.

Daily Short Story

Lost Romance

(Copyright 1935 King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

By Leslie A. Hill

The kisses were over. Mr. and Mrs. George Murston waved a heartening farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Homer Clark. The elderly pair stood silent for a moment as they watched the newly-weds depart. So that was the end of an epoch. Their daughter had now become Mrs. Clark—her lovely shattered Genevieve had finally flown the nest.

As they stood there in silence, there was more than the mere sadness of separating from a daughter both had loved. That moment had marked finis to a period of their own—a period that had lasted over ten years of their daughters' eighteen. A period fraught with ominous reprisals, with tense emotions with restrained ad hates—especially restrained hates.

"Let's go home," said George to his wife.

Gladys Murston fell in step beside him. His voice had sounded a bit throaty. Two tears flowed freely down her cheeks. She did not know whether they were sad tears or glad tears. Her own mind and heart were in a state of confusion.

Her daughter was departing on a honeymoon—with her hopes for a wedded bliss all before her. For Genevieve's sake she hoped it would be all bliss. For her—the wedding of her daughter had meant something else. It meant the severence of her home ties.

For Mr. and Mrs. Murston were going home to a home that had been held together for twenty years.

It had been held together by Genevieve. For it was long, long ago that George and Gladys had come to the conclusion that they were not companionable—filled for each other. But both had been anxious to see their daughter happy. And in a moment of clear-cut facing of the issues they had decided to live it out until that daughter needed them no more.

Clothing Packed

And now—George's clothing and personal belongings were packed. He was to move the same night. And later on she was to go to Reno and have it over with—clean and without fuss or feathers. After all—for ten years there had been no scenes and there was no need for them now.

At any rate—she was happy. Her daughter had married a wealthy youth and was off for a six-months honeymoon. She would be surprised on her return to notice the protective bonds of her own domesticity would be able to take it.

George Murston proceeded to live his own life. He moved into a club and settled himself to the comforts of a belated bachelorhood. He played cards and went to athletic spectacles and for lunches and night clubs. Often, a charming companion would accompany him. It was swell to be free. The day's had his business. The night—was devoted to his pleasures.

Gladys Murston likewise settled herself into a groove. She began to devote more attention to her bridge and to her charities. She began to palter about with poor grass widows and genuine divorcees to fashion shows and musicales and tea parties—and occasionally to hospital wards where she made bandages for the ill.

They were filling up their lives with the things which had seemed to them interesting and delightful. And of course, there was the freedom.

Mrs. Murston, of course, found it rather difficult to find male companions. She wasn't young anymore. And she had a fundamental aversion to those young flutterings attention that one met here and there—she pushed with haughty condescension and patted one so ruthlessly.

Mr. Murston found it a bit easier to acquire female companionship. He is too found the same insincerity in the young squirts. Often, he wondered whether they did not laugh behind his back. And he hated the phrase "Sugar"—though he knew they applied the term equally to young and old.

The weeks passed and months. Although they tried to avoid each other—there was one point of contact between them. Whenever Genevieve wrote to them Mrs. Murston felt it her duty to inform her husband about it and send him either the original or a copy of her letter. By some mutual understanding, neither had written their daughter of their separation.

Then, the letter arrived telling them of their daughter's impending return and within a fortnight both met at the her—waiting for the liner to steam in.

Shamefaced

They greeted each other cordially and somewhat shamefacedly. Each felt that it was up to the other to break the news to their daughter. George's throat was dry. And tears flowed down the cheeks of Gladys.

"How do you find life?" asked Gladys by way of conversation.

"Dooley", answered George, "I never saw so many fights and wrestling matches. And the night clubs are great. Full of pep. How have you been doing?"

"Fine," answered Gladys, "the charity work is very interesting and so are the women. My bridge has improved one hundred per cent. I could even substitute for Mrs. Cubberson."

"Sounds—well," said George, "but how do you find it—otherwise. Does bridge and the hospital fill your life up completely?"

The manner in which he said the words—rather the words themselves—struck a sudden heartstirring.

"I've often thought of you," she said suddenly, evading a direct answer. "I wondered whether you ever were lonely?"

George looked up at her. The tears were streaming down her cheeks. He tried hard to clear the rasp in his throat.

"To be perfectly honest—and we have always been honest with each other—I lacked the old solid comfort of your presence. The companionship—not of your talking or playing or worrying, but just that of your presence. Yes, I was lonely."

"So was I," said Gladys, "Oh, the passengers are beginning to get off the gangplank. Do you notice Genevieve?"

"Yes," said George, "who—will break the news to her?"

"You fool," said Gladys, "must we?"

The tears were still streaming down her cheeks, but she seemed to be happy, George understood.

"Well, you are a fool, too," answered George. "Shall we call it the end of an experiment—my dear—and she won't have to be told at all?"

Mrs. Murston placed her hand in her husband's arm—and he pressed it against his body. Understanding had returned.

Little Benny's Note Book

I was around at the firehouse yawing to Mr. Riley the hookend ladder driver and I said, What end the most number of people you ever saved at one time, Mr. Riley?

"I, Mr. Riley said, I carried them down a rope, he said, and I said O, all together at the same time, do you mean?

Absolutely, Mr. Riley said, and I said, What were they, babies?

No, they ranged up to about 40 years in age, and the youngest was 5, Mr. Riley said. His name was Otto and he was the one that almost made me drop the whole family. That's what it was, one complete family. It was a family of midgets that was playing in a show that was next door to where they were staying cawt on the 23rd and the midgits were on the 12th floor. Well, I did what you mite call a human fly act up the front of the building with a rope tied around my waist, and I climbed in the midgits window and hitched the end of the rope to the chandeleer and gathered the midgits up in my arms and started to climb down the rope with them, Mr. Riley said.

And what did Otto do? I said, and Mr. Riley said, he was just coming to that. I was just passing the 9th floor when the mamma midgit let out the papa midgit and all the other midgits suddenly sang out, Where's Otto, where's Otto? the other words they all seemed to be there but Otto, and I promised them I'd go back after him after I'd got the rest safely down, but they didn't satisfy them. They clammered for me to climb up again rite then and there after Otto, and they kept adjusting their fingers in my eyes and tickeling me and pulling my hair to make me go back after Otto, and just as I was losing my grip on the rope for the 3rd and last time, a little midgit piped up. Here I am, here I am. And sure enough it was Otto. He had been hanging on to one of my boots the whole time without saying a word, the mischivous midgit, and the papa midgit gave him a spanking and the moment we reached the payment, and bleeve me I didn't interfeer, Mr. Riley said. Drop around again some time, he said.

Meaning the end of the subject.

CLOSING MEETING OF Y. P. SOCIETY

Massanaga.—Mr. and Mrs. Ray Valleau and family spent Friday evening with Mr. and Mrs. I. Nightingale.

The W.M.S. took charge of the service here on Sunday morning, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Mr. Campbell.

Mrs. Bentley Simonds spent last week at Hawkes' visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Burt Kellcharm of Bethesda spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Am Broad.

Miss Norma Huff spent a couple of days last week with Miss Gertrude Wallbridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Anderson spent the week-end at Maldon visiting friends.

A number from this community attended the funeral of the late W. G. Anderson which was held at Belleville on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Howard Wallbridge who has been confined to her bed for a short time is slightly improved.

Mr. S. Osborne called on Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Wallbridge on Sunday afternoon.

The M.Y.P.S. held their closing meeting on Thursday evening by entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Ross and Huff's Island Y.P.S. A social time was spent after which refreshments were served.

TEX AND HIS PALS (ActualPhotographs)

By George McManus

BRINGING UP FATHER—

By Russ Westover

TILLIE THE TOILER—

By The Famous Explorer Martin Johnson

DANGER TRAILS—

By Briggs

MR. AND MRS—

TARZAN THE UNTAMED—

Two warriors appeared before the girl's vision now, and soon set up a large stake beside the one already in place. Others entered the hut that Zu-tag, the ape, had been watching. They came out, dragging two captives.

One of them the girl recognized as her protector and the other as an Englishman in an aviator's uniform. This, then, was the reason for the two stakes! "Tarzan!" she said to Zu-tag, as if she were talking to one of her own kind.

She swung lightly to the hut's roof below, then to the ground, hoping within the dense shadows. "I only had some sort of weapon," she thought. "Had I might give me a slight advantage against the savages!" She turned to look for Zu-tag.

Seeing that Zu-tag was close behind her, and believing that the other apes followed, she felt more secure. Moving cautiously, she saw the cannibals congregating about the prisoners, already being bound to the stakes. Quickly she slipped into the hut.

Eaton's

WHERE IT PAYS TO SHOP

No finer tributes could be paid to any firm and no policies than a customer's continued goodwill and patronage. Eaton's is one service—first and always—service that declares giving our customers all that is best in fine foods and merchandise in freshness—assurance is enabled by the many buying opportunities that represent economy and thriftiness. There is dependability. Come to Eaton's "where it pays to shop."

GOING AWAY or your own cottage or camp soon? Come in and choose your food supplies—from our complete selection. We will arrange to pack and ship your order delivered prepaid to the nearest railroad station on orders of $15.00 or over within a radius of 100 miles.

JUNE ECONOMIES

JEWEL SHORTENING

In baking, confidence in your ingredients is important. Let Cheese Jewel, the better Shortening—the choice of the good cook.

2 1 lb. Prints 23c 4 lb. Carton 44

COFFEE SALE

Eaton's MeJava Blend

Exaggerated claims do not make good coffee—the test is in the cup. In our MeJava blend we have a rare blend for superlative flavor. Try it—we will be glad to buy it back if it is not all right!

It's especially good this weather to make it worth your while. Lb. 29c

FAMILY BLEND TEA

How is your tea supply? Whether you have any on hand or not, you will want to take advantage of this outstanding price to 5-lb. cure a supply, for the serial is noteworthy. Lb. 37c

MEAT

SPECIALS for FRI. & SAT.

Gov't. Graded Blue Br. Beef.

BLADE ROAST

A medium size, tender, meaty roast, partially boned—tied and ready to cook. lb. 14c

Sliced
SHORT RIB ROAST ... lb. 16c
Sliced
BRISKETS ... lb. 12c
Sliced
CHUCK ROASTS ... lb. 12c
Sliced
COTTAGE ROLLS ... lb. 19c
Sliced
BOLOGNA ... 2 lbs. 25c
Sliced
CHEESE LOAF ... lb. 17c
Sliced
CORNED BEEF ... lb. 17c
Sliced
VARIETY LOAF ... lb. 25c
Sliced
Bacon RINDLESS 1/2-lb. pkg. 15c

THE HEART OF A SALAD—CLOVER LEAF BRAND
Med. Red Salmon Salad time calls for Salmon. Buy now at this saving price. No. 1 tall tin 19c

ENTER THE HEINZ POPULARITY CONTEST—ASK FOR ENTRY BLANK
Heinz Ass't. Soups 2 Med. Tins 25c

THE ECONOMY WAY TO BUY THIS FAVORITE SPREAD—ST. WILLIAMS
Straw. JAM with pectin 4 lb. tin 49c

CHANGE TO A SUMMER CEREAL—CURLY CRISP FLAKES OF FLAVOUR
Corn Flakes Kellogg's 3 pkgs. 25c

TO END A GOOD MEAL MORE ENJOYABLY—SUNDALE BRAND
Red Pitted Cherries 2 No. 2 Squat tin 25c

TASTY TWIN SODAS—CRISP FLAKY, SLIGHTLY SALTED, WESTON'S
Salted Club Sodas Approximately 72 double, crispy soda in each package. Large Pkg. 21c

A SEASONABLE SUMMER MEAL NEED ESPECIALLY PRICED
Med. Old Tangy Cheese lb. 19c

A DAINTY OBLONG EMBOSSED TAFFY BISCUIT—WESTON'S
Cream Sandwich Biscuits lb. 17c
Bulk Ready Cut Macaroni lb. 5c

FRUITS and VEGETABLES

FIRM RIPE HOTHOUSE
TOMATOES lb. 21c
FIRM HEADS
New Cabbage 2 lbs. 9c
VALENCIA
Oranges Full of Juice doz. 24c

SUN-GLO Creamery Butter ... 2 lbs. 47c
GREENFIELD Creamery Butter ... lb. 23c
OGILVIE'S MINUTE Oats, 1qs. pkg. 19c
CALAY THE SOAP of Beautiful Women! 3 cakes 14c

MORE JUNE ECONOMIES
3 Large Boxes in Package
Sure Lite Matches pkg. 21c
White For Your Summer Shoes
2 in 1 Shoe Dressing bottle 14c
Cleaning Economy—Extra Special
'Square Deel' Cleanser tin 3c
JOHNSON'S GLO COAT Liquid Wax, lg. bot. 97c

FRONT ST. BELLEVILLE.
PHONE 800—Orders of $1.00 or more selected and delivered without extra charge.

C.D.S. FRIDAY BARGAINS

Big Values from Every Department—Save!

Men's Balbriggan
Combinations
Short sleeves and long sleeves, with button fronts. Well made, good fitting and amazingly good value at this price. Sizes 36 to 44. Save on a summer's supply.
Special Suit 55c
— Men's Store

Men! A
Neckwear Sale
Worthwhile
Smart, fancy stripe neckwear, and other neat designs to select from—all grouped together for a big special selling Friday. Of rich looking cotton and rayon materials, and with good knotting qualities. You'll want several at this price. Bargain at 2 for 25c
—Men's Store

Women's Fine Rayon Bloomers Seconds
A fine knit rayon bloomer with elastic at waist and knees and gussetted. In mauve, pink, lea rose, white, green and blue. Seconds and hence the low pricing. Sizes small, medium and large in the group. Bargain, each ... 39c 59c and 69c
— Second floor

35-36-inch Paisley Pattern
Sateen
Smart for cushions, for draperies,etc., soft, well woven, sateen, in quaint Paisley patterns, on black and blesque colored grounds. Rounded also for making quilts and comforters, 35-36" makes it dorby advantageous 29c lon. Yard ... — Main floor, rear

19-20" Nottingham
Curtain Net
19-20" wide, white Nottingham curtain net with neat scalloped edge. Suitable material for single, double or triple style windows. Add a real ... 10c
Bargain, at yard ...

Bridge Lamp and Shade
A complete outfit for any porch-er, for living room, or den; a smart little metal bridge lamp, finished in bronze color, with a pretty parchment paper shade. A choice of designs and colorings in the shade. Bargain 1.98 complete... — Main floor, rear

Sharply Reduced!
Misses' and Women's
Dresses
Smart jacket and one-piece styles in this selection, a big special grouping of odd lines, all clearing at just one-third off regular prices. Mostly all dark shades, to select from—in some very becoming styles and detail interests. A broken size range 14 to 42 in the lot. Save by shopping early.
Clearing 1-3 off Regular Prices. Reg. 6.95 to 16.50
Sale Price, each
4.63 to 11.50
— Second floor

Boys' Nainsook
Combinations
Button or no-button style whichever he prefers, well made, in athletic style which affords most comfort and freedom. Reg. 50c each. Sizes 24 to 32. 39c
Bargain, each ... — Men's Store

Women's Fine Swiss Lawn
Hankies
In white, with colored embroidery, or all white. Some with scalloped edges, others simply hemstitched. Of fine Swiss lawn, in a popular size for women. Bargain, each 3c
— Main floor, centre

Stamped Cotton
Aprons
Of sturdy factory cotton, stamped ready to embroider. Makes up into a very smart and serviceable apron. Good size, too. Bargain, each 14c
— Main floor, centre

Cotton and Rayon and Cotton Spreads
Reduced 1-3 to 1-2 Regular Prices.
Some are slightly counter soiled, but the majority are only slightly creased or wrinkled. All first quality merchandise, and superior quality spreads. Two sizes, 72" x 90" and 80" x 100"—of brocaded cotton and rayon and cotton. Regularly 2.95 to 5.95. Sale price, each 1.95 to 3.95
— Main floor, rear

Borderless
Congoleum Rugs
Bargains!
In attractive mosaic designs, in grey, rust, sand and green — borderless style rugs, in room sizes. Check your sizes here, then shop early Friday morning.
6' x 9'. Each ... 3.90
7' 6" x 9'. Each ... 4.87
9' x 9'. Each ... 5.75
9' x 10' 6". Each ... 6.75
9' x 12'. Each ... 7.80
— Basement

Aluminum Preserving
Kettles
Strongly made of excellent weight aluminumware, in two sizes. With preserving time just around the corner it would pay to invest in several of these kettles at these prices.
12-quart size. Each ... 98c
15-quart size. Each ... 1.19
— Basement

Sale! Outside Paint in 5 Gallon Cans
A well mixed Paint, made from good grade ingredients, to a special formula. Here's a chance to paint and preserve the finish on all your buildings, at a big saving in price. In Grey, Red, or Brown. Bargain, 5 Gallon Can ... 4.95
— Basement

BY CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

NEGRO PREACHER AT LAST WEAKENS

Sets About to Collect Oil Well Fortune of $250,000

OMAHA, Neb., June 8.—(AP)—Daniel Young, the itinerant negro preacher, has been running away from a $250,000 oil well fortune since last January but today he weakened and allowed George D. Pollock, of Dallas, Tex., to act as his attorney.

But young still insists he is not the missing heir, Cabe McElroy, who fled from Texas 40 years ago, when he thought he shot a Ku Klux Klan member. He is still positive he will not return to Texas except by proxy, although an Omaha police official promised to act as bodyguard to the Southern State and assure him a safe exit.

O. L. Lee, Anderson, Tex., negro and boyhood friend of McElroy, already has identified Young as the missing heir.

Since last January friends tried to get Young to claim the estate. He said: "I'm a Christian man and I can't crash heaven under nobody else's name."

Hauptmann Composes Music in Death-House

New York, June 8 (AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann, while awaiting his next two weeks' lease from conviction for the slaying of the kidnapped Lindbergh baby, composes music, his Attorney, Egbert Rosenzweig, disclosed today.

"Hauptmann composes the words and some of the music," said Rosenzweig, "and three other inmates of the Trenton death house join him in the rendition.

"The 'death house quartet,' Rosenzweig said, includes one negro who has an excellent voice."

CALLS STERILIZATION "LEGAL LYNCHING"

Hamilton, Bermuda, June 6 (CP)—A storm of bitter controversy has swirled over this British colony in the wake of a recommendation of a House of Assembly select committee for a state scheme of voluntary and compulsory sterilization to cut down the island's "excessive" population.

The drastic proposal, put forward as an eventual solution to the unemployment problem, has stirred up one of the hottest disputes in Bermuda's history.

Under the recommendation mental defectives and those guilty of sexual crimes would be sterilized compulsorily. Voluntary sterilization would be legalized, with the government bearing the cost in the case of fathers of two or more children. Loss of reproductive powers would be compulsory for the father of an illegitimate child and the unmarried mother of two children.

The term "legal lynching" was applied to the scheme by speakers at one mass meeting. Hon. G. A. Rankin, member of the select committee, declared it was the committee's hope "to train the populace to curtail the population".

ASK FOR Kellogg's
BIG VALUE in cereals!
Kellogg's CORN FLAKES
IF YOU WANT the biggest possible value in the cereal you buy—insist on Kellogg's Corn Flakes! With Kellogg's you get the most for your money. Many servings for only a few cents. The season's biggest value!
Kellogg's Corn Flakes are the most popular ready-to-eat cereal in the world. They're oven-fresh. Because they're heat-sealed in the patented WAXTITE inner bag. And they're flavor-perfect. No imitation has ever matched their delicious flavor.
Be sure, when you ask for Corn Flakes, that you get Kellogg's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.
Kellogg's CORN FLAKES
OVEN-FRESH FLAVOR-PERFECT

HUFF'S ISLAND WEEKLY NOTES

Huff's Island, June 6.—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Blackburn and Mrs. Goodman of Boston and Mrs. McBain of Hamilton were guests of Mr. George and Miss Julia Huff on Tuesday.

Miss Beatrice Wallbridge of Peterboro normal school spent the week-end at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Munroe were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. Fairman on Sunday

Mr. George and Miss Julia Huff spent Sunday with Mrs. Ethel Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Barber were callers at Mr. W. Black's on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Black were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Black's Dorzee's.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Wallbridge and Francis spent the dinner hour on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. I. Nightingale and called on Miss Rosie Wallbridge and Mrs. Lazier also Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Wallbridge.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Anderson were callers at Mr. T. Nightingale's on Monday.

Tomato planting is now in full swing and the weather seems ideal for that purpose.

DISTRICT ANNUAL W. I. MEETING HELD AT LONSDALE

Zion, June 6.—The recent rains are very beneficial to the growing crops.

Rev. Mr. Everson is attending conference and the services on this appointment were taken on Sunday by Mr. Elliott of Mount Pleasant.

Quite a number of members of the Women's Institute attended the district annual held at Lonsdale on Wednesday.

Mrs. Cecil Ketcheson entertained relatives from Picton on Wednesday afternoon.

Master Floyd Ray is much improved having been ill for a few days with bronchial trouble.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Blakely and Gerald, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Blakely of Tweed and Miss Alice Fleming of Stirling spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. Stevenson.

The Zion W.M.S. motored to the home of Mrs. Theodore Roblin at Bayside on Wednesday afternoon and held their June meeting.

Mrs. George Post of West Huntingdon spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Brough.

Mrs. Annie Bunchan of Foxboro is spending some time with Mrs. A. Casey.

Toronto, June 5 (CP)— Hon. Arthur W. Roebuck, Attorney-General of Ontario, has been forwritten. Today it is made Arthur W. Roebuck. For Mr. Roebuck is going back home, back to the old farm in Leather township he has not seen in 41 years.

DEATHS YESTERDAY

London—Sir Charles Madden, 72, admiral of the fleet.

Hanover, Germany—Gen. Alexander von Linsingen, 83, commander of Germany's southern army during the Great War.

Toulouse, France—Prof. Jean Serdall, Doctor Honoris Causa of the University of Montreal and director of the National Veterinary School here.

Morrisburg, Ont.—Mrs. Margaret Challies, 77, mother of George H. Challies, Conservative member for Grenville-Dundas.

Westboro, Ont.—Dr. William J. Derby, 81, veteran Ottawa Valley physician.

Toronto—Fred J. Smith, 57, secretary general of the Toronto Y.M.C.A.

Motor Nerve Severed So Eye Will Not Blink

Montreal, June 8 (CP)—The sad case of the man too embarrassed to eat in public because every time he chewed and his jaw moved to the right, his left eyelid would come down in an involuntary wink, was described to the American Neurological Association by Dr. Francis O. Grant of Philadelphia.

Dr. Grant tried various means of undoing the nervous short-circuit which caused the "jaw-wink" and finally found a way out—severing the motor nerve which sends the message to the jaw muscles to pull the jaw to the right.

The result is that now the patient cannot move his jaw to the right hence the left eye does not blink.

WEATHER
Rain ceasing this afternoon but thundering mostly cloudy and cool ... Saturday—moderate winds; fair and a little warmer.

The Ontario Intelligencer

TEMPERATURES
Max. Min.
Today 59 46
Year Ago 69 50
Rainfall from 9.00 a.m. to noon .01 inches.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, JUNE 7, 1935

W. S. MORDEN ELECTED PRESIDENT BY C.M.A.

HIGHLIGHTS IN CAREER OF BRITISH PRIME MINISTER WHO RETIRED TODAY

The resignation of J. Ramsay MacDonald, Prime Minister of Great Britain took place this afternoon. The head of the National government and former Labor leader is suffering from a serious eye ailment which, it is reported, has made it impossible for him to carry on. His retirement from active political life is the result. Ramsay MacDonald has been a dominant figure in British and world politics for many years. Former Labor Premier in 1924, he was called by the King to form a short, National government late in 1929 and has been Prime Minister ever since.

NEWS BRIEFS AND ODDITIES

Hamilton, Ont., June 7 (CP)—When Hazel King lay in pain, his legs torn off at the knees by a small boy's playful attempt to overpower over his foes to shelter it from the hot sun, he pleaded, they said to a friend: "Thank little boys for me."

Philadelphia, June 7 (CP) — Patience near to a virtue to most folks, but Mr. Mary only exposed to S. F. Shandy.

Forty times his automobile was passed away by police and impounded for illegal parking.

Forty times he paid a $1 fine and $5 in towing and storage fees.

Two No. 41 war tins made for Masonic's packages, left by Mrs. Magistrate Jacob Dagle's in Court, and got his car back for nothing.

Caughnawaga, Que., June 7 — For the benefit of tourists who may wish to see Indian reservation, the "Caughnawaga Iroquois Square Deal Band" has been formed in the "Canadian Indian village" here because they think the reservation near enough Indian atmosphere. Indians will be dressed in costumes and will give war-dances for the benefit of visiting palefaces.

Halifax, June 7 (CP)—Working alone inside a drum, first class stoker James Ernest Woodwell, 32, of R.M.C.S. Saguenay was killed yesterday when the drum caught in a vessel-hand around his neck and strangled him. The accident occurred in the dockyard boiler room.

New York, June 7 (CP)—Unless Miss is back by next Sunday Dutch owners of Fort Amsterdam St., Presbyterian Reformed Church will go to services without her. Miss has been in Europe "to be her" visiting down the ancient Miss. Next week, however, had been missing since Wednesday from the apartment of his cousin, Mrs. Spencer Trevor. For months he has shuffled his way to the morning worshippers across the street.

NEW C. M. A. HEAD READ LAW HERE MADE K.C. IN 1910

W. S. Morden, Former Chairman of Board of Education

CAPTAIN IN A. L. I.

Practised Law Here For Over Eighteen Years

Hamilton, June 7 (CP)—Wilson Saunders Morden, K.C., Toronto Financial Executive, today was elected President of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at the 66th annual meeting. He succeeds James W. Webb, of Montreal.

R. W. Coghlin, of Montreal was chosen First Vice President with F. C. Brown, Vancouver, Second Vice President and T. R. Ferguson, Toronto, Treasurer.

Vice President of Chartered Trust and Executor Company, Toronto, Mr. Morden is President of Canadian Tube Company, Limited, and a Director of Fitzw. Bones Limited, Federal Fire Insurance Company of Canada and Consolidated Fire and Casualty Insurance Company.

Born at Hillier, Prince Edward County, Ontario, in 1884 he was educated at Picton and Queen's University, Kingston. He read law with Mr. Justice Clute and was called to the Bar of Ontario in 1907 and created a King's Counsel in 1910. He practised in Belleville until he came to Toronto to engage in Trust Company business.

Mr. Morden practised law in Belleville until about 1911 when he left for Toronto to make his home. He was a former chairman of the Belleville Board of Education, was captain and adjutant of the Fifteenth Battalion, A.L.I., at one time.

He married Miss Cairns Gibson of Hamilton, former member of the staff of the D. and D. Institute, over the School for the Deaf. Mrs. Morden was presented at Court at St. James' Palace some years ago. Mr. Morden is a frequent visitor to Belleville.

Council Recommends Buying Chlorinating Machine Also Valve Inserting Machine

Cost Will be $2,700 to be Borne By Waterworks Dept.

GRANT IS MADE

Ruddy Company Ordered to Remove Sign on Hotel

Through two recommendations of committees meeting of council last evening, city council at its next regular meeting will be asked to provide a sum of $2,700.00 for the purchase of new equipment for the local waterworks department. In a letter addressed to Alderman W. R. McCrum, chairman of the waterworks department, requests are made for a new duplicate chlorinating machine for use at the pump house, at a cost of $1,230.00, and a valve inserting machine at a cost of $1,213.30. The latter machine will be used for the purpose of inserting valves in any section of the city. Both recommendations, together with several minor ones, passed the committee.

The letter by manager E. T. Austin pointed out that Dr. Berry of the Ontario Department of Health had recommended the installation of the duplicate chlorinator.

"Last year when we had so much trouble with algae in the water we were at a great disadvantage as we had no way to chlorinate the water. The duplicate machine would also be of great service if anything should happen the one we are now using. The one we have has been in use since 1924, and should be shipped back to the factory for a thorough overhaul and check up.

"The cost of the new machine, installed, would be $1,230.00"

"I wish you would take this matter up with council as soon as possible as we certainly should have a duplicate machine, I may say that we have saved nearly one half of the above amount in power this year over last."

E. T. Austin, manager.

In asking for the valve inserting machine, it was pointed out in a second letter by manager Austin, that a hydrant, had been broken off at the corner of W. Bridge and Everett Streets and as it was directly connected to the 16 inch main from the pumping station it was not to found feasible to shut off the water supply on the main side to repair it. We brought in a valve inserting machine to put in the valve under pressure without doing that. We still have this machine, and I would like very much if you would take the matter up with council for the purchase of the machine. I may say we have had to use it a few times, that I would like to insert valves so as to give better regulation. It also have several on the east side."

"The cost of this machine years ago, for similar valves and tapping machine is $1,213.30.

E. T. Austin, manager.

The second recommendation for purchase was also carried.

Other Recommendations

Other recommendations carried last evening were:

"That Albert College be given a grant of fifteen dollars, cost, the cheque of $577.00, and the balance of the taxes of 1935 due, on condition, that they pay arrears of water rate now due the city."

"That the city treasurer be authorized to pay the amounts due the Belleville Business Men's Association for the coronery inquest on the body of the late Harold Vermilyea on May 2, 1935.

"That the K. I. Ruddy Company, Limited, be ordered to remove the sign from the roof of the Belvidere Hotel immediately.

"That the city solicitor prepare a "Gas by-law" to protect the city from gas leakage from gas lines in cities."

"That the Chairman of Fire St authorized to have the ceilings and walls of No. 2 Fire Station painted.

Recommended "that the Municipal Band be allowed to play two or three times during the summer at the tourist camp on East Dundas Street, and that the city assume the cost of hydro used by them for light.

"That the city treasurer furnish council with a statement of the outstanding accounts of the weighing fees of the city scales, same to be in

(Continued on page eight)

OUTSIDER WINS THE OAK STAKES

Quashed at 33 to 1 Defeats the French Favorite Mesa

Epsom Downs, England, June 7 (CP Cable)—An upset resulted in the running of the Oaks Stakes at Epsom Downs today when 12-year-old fillies this afternoon ,when Quashed romped in ahead of Ankaret with the favorite, Mesa, third in the field of seventeen.

Lord Stanley's Quashed, a brown filly by Obliterate out of Wonder, became the 157th winner of the long roll of the Oaks, first run in 1779—the year before the derby.

Ankaret raced in the silks of Mrs. G. R. Miller and Mesa for the French owner, Pierre Wertheimer. Mesa won the one thousand guineas only the only other classic for fillies on the English turf at Newmarket last month, but was unable to repeat at Epsom as the Aga Khan's Bahram had done in the two open classics—the Two Thousand Guineas and the Derby.

Quashed had barely a head margin over Ankaret at the end of the journey over the course and a mile and a half. Mesa was another length to the rear.

MOTHER AND SON PAY WITH LIVES

Georgetown, Del., June 7—(AP)—First white woman to be hanged in Delaware went to her death at dawn today with prayer for forgiveness on her lips.

For the seven-year-old "perfect crime" slaying of her brother, Mrs. May H. Carey paid with her life on the gallows in company with her eldest son, Howard, 27.

The mother was taken from her cell at 6:02 a.m. E.D.T. the trap was sprung at 6:07 and she was pronounced dead at 6:24.

Howard was taken from his cell at 6:31, the trap was sprung 10 minutes later and he was pronounced dead at 7 a.m.

Mrs. Carey walked unfalteringly up the 13 steps and before the cap was adjusted she turned to the witnesses and said in a trembling voice.

"My way is clear, I have nothing to say."

Howard mounted the platform and said "What I did was against my will. I feel sure anyone in my position would have done the same. I hope to see my three little ones on the other side."

He mumbled a prayer as the cap was adjusted.

W. S. MORDEN, K.C.

Native of Prince Edward County and former Belleville Barrister, honored by election today at Hamilton as President of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

FUGITIVES' CAR FOUND ABANDONED

Believe Two Men Who Escape at Cobourg in Toronto

Toronto, Ont., June 7 (CP)—The blue sedan, in which Alex Cross and Fred Shaw escaped from Cobourg lockup last night, was found early today on Don Mills Road, six miles from downtown Toronto. The men are believed to have abandoned the car, and walked into the city.

Alex Cross and Fred Shaw, the two prisoners, who escaped from the Cobourg jail last night, are the two men believed by Belleville and Toronto police to have committed the robbery at the Sprague cleaning establishment last Easter, Warrants charging Cross and Shaw with this robbery have been issued by local police. Detective Izard and Mr. E. C. Sprague were to have gone to Toronto today to bring these men to Belleville to face charges of theft. Cross and Shaw were identified when they abandoned their automobile recently in Toronto, as being the men to have rented the private garage where some of the stolen goods from Sprague's were found.

Hamilton, Ont., June 7 (CP)—Thirteen years after her years, containing a send of money, was stolen, Mrs. George Richards received the nurse money and interest on it for 13 years. The Salvation Army was responsible for the change of conscience, an unsigned letter stated.

Prisoners Force Door Of Cobourg's Lock-up Escape in Stolen Car

Officers in Charge at Cafe Eating, When Break Occurs

WOMEN REMAIN

Girl Companions in Next Cell Abandoned in Liberty Dash

Cobourg, Ont., June 7.—(CP)—Report Alex Cross and Fred Shaw, who escaped from Cobourg lockup while being brought to Toronto for questioning in connection with a robbery in North York Township, were seen in Morganston, proved erroneous today. Provincial Police raced over Northumberland County and Campbellfors in search of the fugitives.

The two men answering the description of Cross and Shaw were seen in Morganstown, 30 miles north of here, last night but police who rushed to the spot were unable to locate the pair.

Cross and Shaw escaped from Cobourg Town Hall, while officers were at dinner. They forced a door, and dropped from a window to the street. Shortly afterwards a blue sedan was reported stolen, and the men are believed to have escaped in it.

The fugitives are without funds, and police believe this fact will force them to the open soon.

Cobourg, June 7.—Alex Cross and Alex Cross, wanted in Toronto for several recent robberies, including the sensational $60,000 raid on the offices of the North York Township tax collector, forced a steel door in the local lock-up Thursday evening climbed out of a rear window, stole a Chevrolet car from the street and vanished while their police custodians sat at supper in a nearby restaurant.

Up to midnight the fleeing pair had successfully evaded capture, the fact that police forces were scouring the immediate district, Toronto authorities had thrown a strong cordon of officers about their city and every provincial constable between Cobourg and the Quebec border, ordered on duty by Queen's Park headquarters, was maintaining special vigil over roads.

En Route to Toronto

Shaw and Cross, who, with two girl companions, Rina Howes and Cora Hart, were arrested in Montreal on Tuesday, were en route to Toronto to stand trial, when they staged their sensational "break for liberty". They had been travelling in a Toronto police car, in the custody of Inspector Arthur Parish, Sergeant of Detectives Harold Waterhouse and Chief Roy Rittenhouse of North York, with P. C. Miles Sharp at the wheel of the vehicle. On reaching Cobourg, the party had stopped to eat, the prisoners being turned over to the local police. Shaw and Cross were lodged in one steel cell and their girl companions in another. Half an hour later, when the officers prepared to resume the trip, they found their "birds" had "flown the coop."

(Continued on Page 3)

TEN GYPSIES HELD

Brockville, Ont., June 7—(CP)—Population of the county jail here increased by 10 today when five adults and five children, members of a gypsy band, were remanded there until Wednesday next on charges against the adults that they had stolen $45 from Leslie Jackson, a Plum Hollow farmer. The adults, two men and three women pleaded not guilty and elected trial by the county judge.

ABYSSINIAN CLASHES

Despite official word that things have been patched up between Italy and Abyssinia, reports indicate that clashes between Italian and Ethiopian troops are still taking place. Map shows locations where according to Italian reports, Abyssinian troops have made attacks. (1) The Danakil region, and (2) at Gubdat. It is stated that the latter affair occurred beyond the border of Italian Somaliland.

PRINCIPAL ASKS AID FOR ALBERT

Rev. Bert Howard is Speaker at Toronto Conference

TORONTO, June 7. — (CP) — Lack of funds has placed the fate of Albert College, near Belleville, Ontario, "in the lap of the gods", Rev. Bert Howard of Albert College today told the Toronto Conference of the United Church of Canada.

He urged the friends of the school to co-operate with financial assistance so the school could be maintained. More than $51,000 which would put the school back, on its feet was still owed it. In contrast, he said, the school had yet to pay only $38,000 of the original $600,000 cost.

In the near future about eighty per cent of our students will make their year comfortably," he said in describing the school's activity. "Thirty per cent will pass with honors and 50 per cent with a generous margin. The fate of 5 per cent. is in the lap of the gods while I am afraid the other five per cent will drop down in the keen of the gods".

While United Church charges in 1934 decreased from 379 to 376, membership increased from 116,000 to 118,630, the Conference was told. Salaried ministers by congregations decreased from $457,138 to $577,197.

MEN IDENTIFIED IN POLICE LINE-UP

Two alleged "cheque artists" giving their names as Emma Hudson and Charles Mayhew, addresses unknown, were placed in a police lineup at the county gaol this morning and identified by two local business men as the persons to have cashed forged cheques in Belleville last week. Baker and Mayhew were arrested in Trenton on similar charges and placed in the county jail on remand.

Detective Fred Izard, accompanied by Mr. Goodman and R. E. Howson, proceeded to the gaol this morning. In an ante room on the floor arranged a police line-up for identification with Mr. Houston Identifying Baker as the man to have issued a cheque to him for $23.00, forging the name of Gerald Anderson, drover. The line was changed before Mr. Goodman came in and he immediately picked out Mayhew as the man to have cashed a forged cheque in his place of business for the sum of $27.00 he also using the alias of George Anderson.

STANLEY BALDWIN ACCEPTS POST OF PRIME MINISTER

Has Twice Served in That Capacity in Great Britain

MacDONALD RESIGNS

England Only Without Head of Government For 4 Minutes

London, June 7 (AP) — Stanley Baldwin, twice Prime Minister of Great Britain, accepted that post again today from King George after Ramsay MacDonald, who has served as the head of the government for the last six years, resigned.

Mr. MacDonald, then Mr. Baldwin, by royal summons, conferred with the King in turn at Buckingham Palace.

The retiring Prime Minister, leaving his high post because of failing health, handed over his portfolio to the King in His Majesty's private apartments. Their audience lasted almost an hour.

He recommended to the King Mr. Baldwin succeed him and Baldwin, Lord President of the Council and Leader of the Conservative majority party, was summoned as soon as Mr. MacDonald had left the royal presence.

Crowd Watches Change

A group of only 100 women which watched MacDonald go forth from No. 10 Downing street to resign swelled by the time Baldwin had started out and when Mr. MacDonald returned, they were waiting for him.

He raised his hat in acknowledgment of their cheers.

Mr. Baldwin's interview with the King lasted only ten minutes, and then he returned to Downing street where Mr. Chilston, aides, were assembling to set his new cabinet in motion.

Official arrangements were carried through in such rapid order that the country actually was without a Prime Minister for just four minutes.

During this brief time, Mr. MacDonald was returning to Downing street and Mr. Baldwin was en route to the palace. Their autos passed each other on the Mall.

The outgoing and incoming Prime Ministers greeted each other by solemnly raising their top hats.

Turn In Seals

Baldwin arrived back at Downing street at 5.15 p.m., and the outgoing cabinet members departed for the palace to turn in their seals of office.

Mr. MacDonald returned to the King's chambers in the early evening, accompanied by his son, Malcolm, which would not be slated for the office of Secretary for Colonies.

Mr. Baldwin was cheered by a huge crowd as his car passed through St. James' Park.

The King then summoned the Privy Council to be present in addition to Baldwin, those attending included Viscount Hailsham, Minister Sir Samuel Hoare, Lord Hailsham, Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, Lord Londonderry and Secretary for War Sir Kingsley Wood.

The King received the seals of office to the new ministers who then kissed his hands in accepting the appointments.

WEATHER

Moderate showers have occurred in most districts of Ontario and Quebec, and it has been mostly cloudy in the Maritimes with light scattered showers. The weather has been unsettled in Saskatchewan with showers and local thunderstorms, but fine elsewhere in the west. Temperature continues below normal in nearly all districts east of Manitoba.

Lake Superior—Light to moderate winds, mostly cloudy and cool with scattered showers.

Kenora and Rainy River—Partly cloudy and cool with light showers.

Manitoba—Partly cloudy with showers or a little higher temperature; a few scattered showers.

Coming Events

ATTENTION TRACKERS! THE PUBLIC School Women Teachers of your Garden Party are holding their Annual Picnic at Springside Park, Napanee, on Wednesday, June 19th. Come and make it a success. 7137

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF BELLEVILLE Art Association, Memorial Ave. Public invited. Social afternoon. Thursday night, 8.15 (D.S.T.). 7-15

DANCE EVERY SATURDAY NIGHT AT the Manor. See your new cooling system, fresh air all the time. The coolest dance floor in town. Admission 25c per person. 7-1

DANCING AT OAK LAKE PAVILION tonight. Distinctive music by the Ambassadors. 7-1

City and District News

OILING COMMITTEE TO INSPECT STREETS

For the purpose of arriving at some estimate of the amount of work required in oiling this year, a committee composed of Alderman Foley, Barlow, McCreary and City Engineer Chas. A. Mott completed a tour of inspection of surfaced roads throughout the city yesterday afternoon. Their report will be presented to council at the next meeting.

WORK HELD UP BECAUSE OF RAIN

Outside operations employing a few men on the Department of Public Works were halted temporarily today by the continuous threats of rain. Work on the resurfacing of St. Paul Street with new gravel was suspended late this morning as well as construction work on a section of sewer on Dufferin Avenue, which is being lowered by the department.

CITY FLAG FLOATS IN MOURNING

From the flag staff of the Army, Navy and Veterans' Memorial Hall in Union Jack is floating at half-staff out of respect to the late Lord Byng.

ROAD SIGNS ARE BEING CHECKED

Employees of the Ontario Department of Highways were in the city yesterday engaged in a check-up of road signs at various locations along the highway. Several bent and broken signs have been straightened and replaced. At the intersection of Front and Dundas streets one large direction sign was removed and replaced with a smaller one pointing the route along No. 2 highway.

REGIMENTAL CAMP FOR H. & P. E. REGT.

Hastings and Prince Edward Regimental camp will be held this year at the fair grounds in Picton for six days during the month of August. It is expected that between 500 and men of all ranks will be under canvas, a considerably larger number than last year. Town council has granted permission for the use of buildings on the grounds and will furnish water and light also.

MR. FRED MAPES GIVEN PROMOTION

Mr. Fred Mapes, well known resident of this city who for the past twenty years has been decorating the hillsides with pulp wood, has been notified that he may soon be moved to Toronto general office by the company. The move from this city as a promotion as the Peterboro field is a large one with a big organization. Mr. Mapes, who has been with the company for the past twenty-five years, is one of its most skilled workmen. A Kingston representative of the company is expected to take over the local district. An accident fisherman himself, Mr. Mapes has maintained a large camp at Lake Wellington for at least eight years and has made it a headquarters for well known anglers of the city.

Shannonville Easily Defeated By Foxboro

Wednesday night the Foxboro baseball team, twice champions of the South Hastings League, had no difficulty in defeating Shannonville 16-3. Making four runs off Dorsay's pitching in the first inning, they steadily increased their lead off Juby for the rest of the game. Olmsted put a fine exhibition at the bat for Foxboro getting a safety every time up, and Ashley, relying on good support, pitched easily throughout and was always master of his game. The batteries were Shannonville, Dorsay, Juby, and Bell, Dorsay; Foxboro, Ashley and Ketcheson.

It Pays to Shop at the Rexall Store.

SPECIAL VALUES in Toiletries and Patents

BALANCE OF THE WEEK SEE RILLS AT YOUR DOOR

McKeown's Drug Store

DR. H. J. FAHEY
Graduate of optometry the location of his office now in the Reed Robertson block, 219 Front St., Belleville.
M7-tfn

I. D. A. KIDNEY PILLS
An efficient diuretic and kidney stimulant
of Pills to the box 29c
I.D.A. DRUG STORES

Increase Your Ice Cream Sales by Serving "Neilson's Ice Cream"
The Trade Supplied by CITIZENS DAIRY
Phone 326
A28-M-W-F-tf

$2.00 SPECIAL
Confined for Limited Time.
Permanent Creaplende Wave.
COMBINATION SPIRAL and CREQUINOLE $2.50
OIL TREATMENT SHAMPOO and FINGERWAVE $1.
EUGENE PERMANENT $6.00
QUEEN'S Beauty Parlor
326 Front St. Phone 946

Watch Holway Bros.
?
IT WON'T BE LONG NOW!

TO MAKE HER DEBUT IN HOLLYWOOD

Pretty Dorothy Page won a prize contest held under the auspices of Paul Whiteman. Now she is in Hollywood, where she is making her debut into the world of films.

Ordained Fifty Years Ago, Is Still Active as Clergyman

On June 7th., 1885, 50 years ago, Albert L. Geen was ordained to the ministry of the Church of England in His Grace Archbishop Lewis in St. Paul's Church, Kingston, since that day—Mr. Geen has spent an active church life. He has had charge of nearly every church in this part of Ontario. During the absence of the Rector of St. Thomas Church-in England, he was in charge. Trenton while the rector was in England also Marmora where Rev. Mr. Harris was in Europe. Christ Church, Belleville during vacancy also Picton, Brighton, Grafton, Colborne, Christ Church, Mohawk, Stirling, Roslin and others. For four years he was incumbent of Wellington and several years of Shannonville. For six years he assisted his brother-in-law, Canon Forneri at Adolphustown, where they held all services each Sunday.

Before Mr. Geen was ordained he was a licensed Lay Reader and was busy in Church services nearly every Sunday in that year. He still keeps up his activity, on Saturday last he took the wedding on Sunday morning he assisted at Holy Communion in Christ church. 3.30 p.m. conducted service at the House of Refuge; 4 p.m. visited the sick in hospital and at 7 p.m. took part in Christ Church service. During the 50 years he has never had to say he was unable through illness to take Sunday duty. He is the oldest active clergyman in the Diocese of Ontario.

Throughout Mr. Geen's busy Church life he has found time for much work in fraternal societies. He is Past Grand Chaplain of the Oddfellows of Ontario also P.D.D. Grand Master of Oddfellows; P.G. Grand Chaplain of the Black Knights of British America; past officer of Sons of England, Workmen and Foresters, Select Knights of Canada, Royal Arcanum, Eureka Masonic Lodge, etc.

The drug business which he purchased from Mr. J. C. Holden, 1871, is still carried on with the able assistance of his son, Howard. Mr. Geen can be found in his office each working day at his desk writing correspondence. At the great banquet of the Drug Trading Co., in Toronto, he received a great ovation, when the chairman read his certificate as a member of the Ontario College of Pharmacy dated 1871. He is the oldest active druggist in Ontario, probably in Canada. He is Senior Past President of the Medical Merchant Association of Canada. He led one of the largest deputations which ever waited on the Federal Government when they had trading stamp use banned.

If Mr. Geen lives until July 22nd., he will be 86 years old.

At the meeting of the sixty-ninth session of the Synod of the Diocese of Ontario meeting at Kingston, the following resolution was passed unanimously: His Synod of the Diocese of Ontario convey to the Rev. A. L. Geen its congratulations on the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination and its prayers that many years of health and happiness. The notification of the passage of the resolution reached Mr. Geen today from the secretary, the Rev. J. H. H. Coleman, M.A.

RUPTURE EXPERT COMING
TUESDAY, JUNE 11th
New Queen's Hotel, BELLEVILLE
1 p.m. to 9 p.m.
To demonstrate the most remarkable scientific method known for reducing all ruptures or rupture. No leg straps. No medicine. No salves. Free advice. You cannot afford to miss this opportunity of examining the opportunity.
SMITH MANUFACTURING COMPANY,
Preston, Ontario.
J7-X

Obituary

MRS. JANE ANN FRENCH

After an illness of several months' duration, Mrs. Jane Ann French, widow of William French, passed away on Thursday, June 6th, at her residence, 130 Bridgman street.

The late Mrs. French was in her 89th year and was born in Farmington township, being the only daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Fitchett. For many years she resided at Madoc Junction and for the past eighteen years she had made her home in Belleville. She was a member of the United Church and highly esteemed by all who knew her.

Surviving her is one brother, Mr. William Edward Fitchett, Stirling.

LATE JOHN W. ELLIS

The funeral of John Walker Ellis, late of the Township of Thurlow, took place Thursday afternoon from the family residence at the graveside being conducted by the Rev. Mr. Johnston.

The bearers were Messrs Harry Tweedy, Gilbert Clapp, Frank Carroll, Fred Rupert, Frank Mayes and William Jerry.

Surviving to mourn his passing are two daughters, Mrs. William McPherson, Thurlow township; Mrs. Edith Elwell, New York, N.Y.; two sons, Mr. R. A. Ellis, Carrying Place, and Mr. W. H. Ellis, Point Anne.

MRS. McGEACHY

Tweed (Special)—After an illness of ten days' duration, Nell McGeachy, a well-known resident of Elzevir township, passed away at his home two miles west of Johnston's Corners on Wednesday, June 5th. The deceased was born in Elzevir forty-nine years ago coming to Canada with his parents at the age of three years. He has lived all his life in Elzevir where he was well-known. He was a prominent member of the Liberal party in politics. Surviving are his wife and one son, Wallace, at home. The funeral will be held on Friday afternoon at 2 p.m. from his late home.

MRS. SAMUEL BOWERS

Tweed, June 7 (Special)— Mrs. Samuel Bowers, beloved wife of Samuel Bowers, passed away at her home here tonight, Thursday morning, June 6th, after an illness of seven months following a stroke. The late Mrs. Bowers, whose maiden name was Matilda Jane Fleming, was born in 1867 on the second concession of Hungerford, a daughter of the late John and Mrs. Jane Fleming. She resided in the township for a number of years before coming with her family to Tweed several years ago. In November 1934, Mr. and Mrs. Bowers celebrated their Diamond Wedding, when their family gathered to honor them.

The late Mrs. Bowers was a member of the United Church in which she took an active part. She is survived by her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Dewitt Dowsett, and Edgar of Watertown, N.Y., four grandchildren, Mrs. A. McQuarrie and Mrs. John Redmond of Watertown, Mrs. H. S. Beldon of Rochester, and Mr. Marvin Bowers of Dundas, two sisters Mrs. Hugh McVee and Mrs. Mary Johnston of Carthage, N.Y., and one brother, James Fleming, of Cooper also author.

The funeral will be held from her late home in Tweed on Monday afternoon, June 8th, to Thomasburg United church at 2.30 p.m. Rev. R. H. Nicholson of Tweed United Church will conduct the services. Interment will be at Thomasburg.

MRS. BRIDGET FLEMING

Tweed (Special)—Bridget Healey, widow of the late Patrick Fleming, of Stoco, died at her home on Wednesday evening, June 5th, at the age of seventy-six years. Deceased was born at Larkins, where she resided for all her life. In 1876 she married the late Peter Fleming who passed away thirty-four years ago.

The deceased was a member of St. Edmund's Roman Catholic church at Stoco. Her sudden passing is deeply regretted by her many friends. She is survived by two sons, Patrick Fleming of Stoco; Peter Fleming, on the homestead at Larkins; Peter and John, Hungerford, and five daughters, Mrs. Thomas Murphy, Chatsworth; Mrs. Thomas Breck, Hungerford, Mrs. Patrick Mullroney, Mino, N.D.; Mrs. Frank McGrath, Detroit, and Miss Ann at home. Two brothers, John Healey, Stoco, and Patrick Healey of Larkins, and one sister, Mrs. Michael Hinch of Rochester, also survive.

The funeral will be held on Saturday morning at 9.30 from St. Edmund's church. Rev. Father Feeley, a nephew, of Napanee, and Rev. Father Hillman, parish priest of St. Edmund's, conducting Requiem Mass. Interment will be at St. Edmund's cemetery.

MRS. EMMA ROSE

Mrs. Emma Rose, widow of Charles Rose, passed away on Thursday, June 6, after an illness which extended over a period of seven years, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Ira Bleecker, West Donald street (Thurlow township).

The late Mrs. Rose, who was, in her 83rd year, was born in Sidney township, her parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. George McCauley Ketcheson. Nearly all her life was passed in the township where she was born, and she was highly esteemed by all who knew her. She was a member of the Tabernacle United church.

Surviving her are one daughter, Mrs. Ida Bleecker, Thurlow township; three brothers, Daniel Ketcheson, Foxboro; Bleecker Ketcheson, Sidney township; Col. W. G. Ketcheson, Sidney township.

REV. M. PURDY

Boston, Mass., June 7.—(CP)—Rev. M. Ray Purdy, retired secretary-manager of the Maritime Home for Girls, Truro, N.S., is dead here. He underwent an operation and failed to rally. Born in Ontario, 58 years ago, Mr. Purdy went to Western Canada as a young man and later into Nova Scotia, where he held several pastorates before he was appointed to the house in Truro 12 years ago. He retired and moved to Yarmouth, N.S., where he assisted in the work of the Children's Aid Society and the Lord's Day Alliance Association. He is survived by one sister, in Belleville, Ontario, where the body will be sent for burial.

Ayres & MacLaurin announce
An Important Change in Their Business Operations EXPANSION IS THE ORDER OF THE DAY
and this young firm which has been favored with such a manifest expression of the approval of the public have already found it necessary to expand in the interest of better service to patrons. Consequently the Firm is pleased to announce taking over of the Meat Business conducted by C. C. Goodrich, which now becomes part of the Ayres and MacLaurin business, and will be under the management of
WALTER THOMAS
The Well-Known Meat Specialist
THE MEAT DEPARTMENT will be conducted along the most modern lines with the experience of the firm's business the following MONEY-SAVING MEAT SPECIALS will PREVAIL SATURDAY.

ROASTS
CHUCK BEEF ... lb. 14c
RUMP ROAST ... lb. 17c
BLADE ROAST ... lb. 15c
STEWING BEEF ... lb. 8c

VEAL
LEG VEAL ... lb. 14c
SHOULDER VEAL CHOPS ... lb. 13c
LOIN VEAL CHOPS ... lb. 15c
SHOULDER VEAL ... lb. 13c

STEAKS
BACK BACON ... lb. 25c
P. M. COTTAGE ROLLS ... lb. 18c
BOLOGNA ... lb. 12½c
ROUND STEAK OR ROAST ... lb. 19c
SIRLOIN STEAK ... lb. 22c
PORTERHOUSE STEAK ... lb. 25c
AYRES & MacLAURIN
186 FRONT ST. BELLEVILLE PHONE 1490

Insurance is our Business
Our entire time is occupied by applying ourselves to efficient and prompt service. Our staff is made up of experienced clerks and our office is open from 9 a.m. to 5.30 p.m. and 9.30 p.m. Saturdays.
HAIG BROS. Limited
168 Front St. Phone 168

A Glorious Thrill Awaits You!
Out of the wilderness sweeps the most unusual drama ever filmed!
A living romance of wild animal, maid and man!
"SEQUOIA"
(Pronounced SEE-QUO-YAH)
With Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Cast
JEAN PARKER
Russell Hardie-Edw. Brophy
Melibra Godow—a deer and a mountain lion—lead you through unforgettable thrills!
"SEQUOIA"...for me the greatest picture of the last decade!
—says Louis Gray
"SEQUOIA" Starts 2.46 - 7.26 - 9.36
"ROYAL CAVALCADE" 3.48 - 8.30
AND ON THE SAME PROGRAMME
GREAT EVENTS IN BRITISH HISTORY FROM THE CORONATION TO THE ROYAL SILVER JUBILEE
ROYAL CAVALCADE
A richly glowing tapestry of real life, packed with mighty drama . . . depicting every stirring event in the most glorious period in England's history!
You'll See: The Coronation—the visit to India—Captain Scott's heroic death to the Pole—the War—Signing of the Armistice—the growth of Flying—Their Majesties at the theatre—the Victory Ball—the amazing inventions of the past 25 years—
A GLORIOUS, THRILLING PAGEANT RE-ENACTED BY ENGLAND'S FOREMOST ARTISTES!
NOTE: "Royal Cavalcade is NOT a series of Newsreels . . . but a story . . . written especially for this great occasion.
BELLE TOMORROW
Daily 2.30: 7.18. Last Con. Show 8.30 p.m.
LAST DAY "The Devil is a Woman"— "Little Friend"

THE DRAMA
ALBERT COLLEGE STUDENTS OFFER 3 SHORT PLAYS
Juniors Present Delightful 'Pirate' Play at Albert College
BROCK AS HERO
Senior Group Excels in Genial Satire on Husbands

Pupils of the Expression Department of Albert College presented in their annual recital last evening three varied and worthwhile one act plays whose patronage conformed to the usual high standard of acting associated with the dramatic offerings at the college. A splendid crowd attended the entertainment. Rev. Bert Howard, principal of the college, welcomed the visitors and explained a number of changes on the program.

Juniors' Excellent Work.

One of Rose Fyleman's charming plays, "The Princess and the Pirate" was a particularly well chosen vehicle for the junior pupils of the department and introduced the audience to a very talented group of children. Entering delightfully into the spirit of the story, the boys and girls made very lovable characters of the engaging people of make-believe. When a little princess commands a pirate to appear at her party, and that pirate not only rescues her from kidnapping by the under gardener, but proves to be the runaway son of her nurse, things are sure to be interesting. The clear voices of the small actors, their very good stage presence and their lovely costumes made the play a success.

The characters were: Princess Maine (Jean Cook), her father, the king (Elsna Hall), her mother, the queen (Betty Anderson), her nurse, Mrs. Williams (Marion Main), Lord Chamberlain (Betty Gilbert), Lady Shakebolte (Phyllis Geen), Ireen, a wicked house maid (Isabel Sharpe), Rudolph, the villain (Howard Ostrander), the constable (Lloyd Davis), Grim Jim, the Pirate (Doddy Cameron), pages (Barbara Davis, Phyllis Truesdale), Lady Gwendolyn, playmate of the Princess (Barbara Mitchell).

Story of Brock.

For the second play in which a number of boys of the college took part the scene was laid in Upper Canada in 1813 and the action was based on a dramatic incident between the soldier-destroyer and the soldier-builder with an idealistic young recruit torn between his trust of one and his admiration of the other. The cast of "The Paths of Glory" was well chosen to present this commendable cross section and the major characters carried their parts straight forwardly and convincingly. Characters were: Brock (Hamilton Bone), MacDonnell (Jack Hodder), Sheaffe (Don Lewis), Darcus (Gerald Mutton), Evans (Ted Hall), Pitzgibbon (Elmer Mutton), Dean (Leonard Sylvester).

Mature Satire.

The group was constituted by a bit of comedy by the senior pupils of the department whose finished style was at best advantage in this subtle little story of the annoying minor habits which break up homes. After a dinner party for a number of her married friends, a young fiancee is warned by her feminine guests to watch for signs of fads in her husband-to-be which they say ruined their married life. As each contributes the habit in her husband which annoys her the business becomes perturbed and finally telephones her fiancee for assurance that after all he is perfect. The cast of "Hope's No One of Them Perfect":

Amanda Bartlett (Mildred Lloyd), Lucy, Mrs. Roger Hatton (Muriel Vermilyea), Amy, Mrs. George Ryan (Lurene Smith), Julia, Mrs. William Moore (Nellie Marsaback), Cecile, Mrs. Herbert Prentice (Catherine Smith), Eve, Mrs. William Forster (Helen Sullman), Jane, the maid (Helen Gunn).

The students in the plays last evening reflected the careful training of their director, Miss Jessie S. Tulle, who must indeed be proud of the success of the evening's delightful program.

Between acts, songs were given by pupils of Mr. E. M. Anglin who acted as accompanist for the soloists. Mr. Edwin Brenton sang "Islands" and Mr. Grant Rathbun was heard in two numbers, "All Joy Be Thine" and "Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride".

DELANEYS
LEADER IN FUR REPAIRS FOR OVER 22 YEARS are Furriers Exclusively for Metis
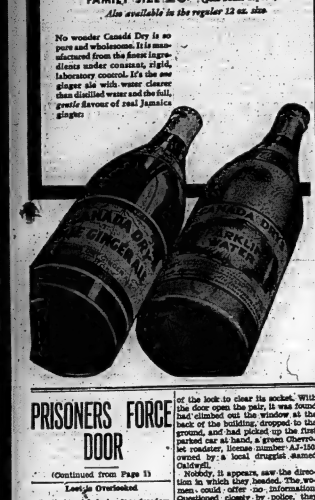
The Highest in Quality at the Lowest in Price
Scotch Mole Coat Special $49.50
Delaney Exclusive Furriers
Phone 327 17 Campbell St.
J. GORDON DELANEY, Mgr.

CAPITOL
YOU HAVEN'T SEEN ANY BETTER SHOW IN YEARS!
ENDS SATURDAY
THE KING AND QUEEN OF SONG-AND-DANCE IN THEIR FIRST GREAT SHOW TOGETHER!
Al Jolson
ruby keeler
Go into your dance
"BUDDY'S PONY EXPRESS" "VAUDEVILLE ACT"
CAPITOL SUPER NEWS.
SHOWS START 2.30: 7.05: 9.15

Above all, when the children enjoy ginger ale



... of course, it's

"CANADA DRY"

The Champagne of Ginger Ales

FAMILY SIZE 20¢ (plus bottle deposit)

Also available in the regular 12 oz. size

No wonder Canada Dry is so pure and wholesome. It is manufactured from the finest ingredients under constant, rigid, laboratory control. It's the one ginger ale with water cleaner than distilled water and the full, gentle flavour of real Jamaica ginger.

PRISONERS FORCE DOOR

(Continued from Page 1)

Lock Is Overlooked

In their mad dash for freedom, the pair apparently made no effort to free the woman. They also gave no heed to a suitcase containing some $4,000, which is alleged to have been taken from them when arrested in Montreal and which, during the Coboury ball, had been locked up in the police building.

Chief of Police Enos of Cobourg told The Mail and Empire afterwards he didn't know what happened, and declined to answer questions as to whether the "break" would bring suspension for any officials under his jurisdiction.

Examination of the cell from which Shaw and Cross made their get-away revealed that they had thrown themselves against the door, shoving it sideways. The side of the cell is of sheet steel, and according to police, had given enough, under the pressure exerted, to displace the door sufficiently to permit the bar of the lock to clear its socket. With the door open the pair, it was found had climbed out the window at the back of the building, dropped to the ground, and had picked up the first parked car at hand, a green Chevrolet coupler, license number AJ-150, owned by a local druggist named Caldwell.

Nobody, it appears, saw the direction in which they headed. The women could offer no information. Questioned closely by police, they declared that all they knew of the escape was when Shaw and Cross called to them: "Are you girls o.K.?" and ran out the cell door and disappeared.

The general alarm which was turned in brought immediate cooperation between local authorities, the Toronto police, under Chief Constable Draper, and the provincial force under Major-General Victor A. S. Williams.

Descriptions Broadcast

Radio broadcasts of the escape were at once prepared and by 11.15 o'clock complete descriptions of the fugitives had been given to every section of the province.

There was no minimizing by authorities of the "toughness" of the pair nor the seriousness of the crime with which they have been charged and to which this Cobourg "break" adds but another serious chapter. Police believe that all the way down from Montreal they had been planning an escape. At Cornwall where they were locked up for a time earlier in the day they made an unsuccessful attempt to pick their cell locks.

At a late hour police opinion differed sharply as to the direction of their flight. Early in the evening it was felt that they might be trying to make Toronto and some possible "hideout." In that city, but later Eastern Ontario police were convinced that the Quebec boundary was their undoubted goal.

All Police Ordered Out

Word of the escape reached Toronto police headquarters about 8 o'clock. Deputy Chief George Guthrie immediately ordered every man on the city force to report for special duty and started organization of the most complete police search since the night when Brockmaine shot down F. C. McQuillan.

Police cars were rushed to guard every road entering the city. The teletype system flashed the word to every man on his beat while newspapers were added to co-operate by broadcasting descriptions in their newscasts.

At 10.30 o'clock Chief Constable D. C. Draper arrived at headquarters and took command.

The following official statement was issued from police headquarters:

"Two men being brought from Montreal to Toronto in custody on charges of breaking into the North York Township offices and stealing cash and valuable documents escaped from the Cobourg lock-up tonight at about 7.30 o'clock. The 1933 model Chevrolet roadster No. AJ-150, serial number S-58109. The men are:

"No. 1—Alexander Cross, alias W. H. Rowan, Canadian aged 24, five feet, five or six inches in height, weighing 145 pounds medium build, medium complexion, brown hair, blue eyes, mole on the right side of his mouth.

"No. 2—Fred Shaw, alias George Price, Canadian aged 21, height, five feet, nine inches medium build fair hair, blue eyes.

"Both men were wearing grey suits and blue Jockey hats. Anyone seeing them or having any information is asking to get in touch immediately with the nearest police station or telephone direct to Toronto police headquarters Ad. 2121."

Escaped in Ten Minutes

The Toronto officers stated on their return to the city last night that no more than ten minutes elapsed from the time Shaw and Cross were locked up at Cobourg until they were out.

The handcuffs were not removed from the pair until after they had been placed in the cell. Inspector Parish reached between the bars and unlocked them, telling the men supper had been ordered for them. "It will be over in ten minutes for you," Constable Reid of the Cobourg force informed them.

But before the meal was ready, the pair had escaped. How much, so far as known, had any money on him. Certainly, neither carried a gun.

According to the Toronto officers Shaw and Cross picked up their car one street over from the jail, and headed in a westerly direction.

The two women who were brought back to Toronto were taken first to headquarters and later lodged for the night in Court Street station on charges of theft.

North York Break-In

In one of the most sensational vault robberies in years, thieves broke into North York Township municipal offices some time last week-end and after slipping away sufficient bricks to permit them to enter, crawled into the vault and scooped up $4,000 in cash and $56,000 in non-negotiable cheques.

With only meagre information to work on, Montreal police arrested the two men and their wives as they were leaving a restaurant on Tuesday. From information gleaned from the prisoners, city and North York Township police visited a cottage on Cornwall Avenue, North York, and discovered a quantity of cash and documents which police said would link them with the robbery of the vault of Lewis Hydro counsel and several other vaults.

Belief that the prisoners had embarked recently on a safe-robbing career was strengthened by the discovery by police in the cottage of a large assortment of safe-breaking equipment, including several acetylene tanks, three large electric drills and other tools. Police, police said, had been occupied by the pair arrested in Montreal.

Cheques taken from the North York vault were said to have been found in the cottage.

Following the discovery of the robbery early Monday city police were baffled by the experience with which it had been carried out. The robbers were conversant with all details of the municipal office machinery apparently and left few clues to lead to their apprehension.

Night Day Chosen

Saturday was the first instalment day for North York taxes and an unusually large sum of cash, some $6,000, was left in the vault. The office closed at noon and no one was near the building until the watchman arrived Monday morning. The police building next door is closed each night at midnight because the township's force is too small to permit any member of the force being on duty 24 hours of the day and police concluded that the robbers must have done the job after midnight.

Few persons were aware that the township's vault was not steel-lined and that the walls surrounding it were of hollow tile construction but the robbers evidently knew or else guessed right and it was but the work of a few minutes police estimated, to hack away the bricks and leave a gaping hole large enough for a man to enter.

Diligent police search of the grove uncovered only a rubber heel mark in the hall and this was found not to have belonged to any of the employees. A search for fingerprints yielded little result.

Information received by police concerning a car said to have been purchased by one of the men was relayed to police of other districts, and an alert Montreal officer noticed the car and arrested the pair and two women, said to be their wives, as they came out of a cafe. They were held on warrants charging them with the theft of cars, but the additional charges of theft from the North York vaults and other Toronto safes followed the discovery of valuable papers in a North York cottage.

The Toronto and North York officers who were bringing back the prisoners last night had with them police say, a considerable portion of the cash taken from the North York vault.

With the arrest of the men and the recovery of cheques, papers and documents from the North York cottage, police had hoped to solve the robbery recently of a number of vaults in Toronto, particularly that of Lewis J. Duncan, Hydro counsel. Police thought at first that the robbers of Mr. Duncan's safe were in search of valuable papers for political information but this theory has been blasted by the recent recovery of the papers in the North York cottage.

Police were also said to have been in possession of information to charge the men with the robbery of $800 from the offices of the London Life Insurance Company, Pape and Danforth Avenues.

LUCKIN'S

Choice Oven Roasts lb. 12c

Boiling Beef lb. 8c

Pot Roasts lb. 12c

Rump Roasts lb. 14c

Pork Liver lb. 10c

Fresh Sausage lb. 15c

Rib Stew lb. 8c

Finest Creamery Butter lb. 22c With Meat Order

LEGS VEAL ..... lb. 14c

STEWING VEAL lb. 7c

Rolled Roasts lb. 12½c

Roasting Pork .. lb. 21c

Mealed Rolls .... lb. 23c

COOKED HAM . . . . lb. 47c
ROAST PORK .... lb. 33c
JELLIED VEAL .... lb. 33c
BRAND CHEESE .... lb. 15c
BOLOGNA . . . . . lb. 15c

Machine Sliced BACON lb. 27c

Fine New CHEESE 2 lbs. 25c

Compare Our Prices
PHONE 579 We Deliver
LUCKIN'S

TWEED LOSES TO YOUNG CANADA

Smart Baseball Features 6-4 Game at Tweed

Tweed.—Young Canada defeated Tweed by a score of 6 to 4 in a game replete with everything that goes to make up a smart ball game. Sparkling fielding by the visitors which featured likely-looking drives into outs played a major part in their victory. They got a lucky break in the fifth when Latchford's fly hit a wire and fell just out of McCutcheon's reach as he was all set to make the put out. Two runs came in on the play—the margin of victory. Reid's unassisted double play in the seventh with two runs in on the play—the margin of victory. Reid's unassisted double play in the seventh with two runs in, one out and the bases loaded helped Schreider out of a bad hole. His took Orr's line drive and stepped on third base to force Sinclair who had started for home on the hit. This cut off the homesters' most promising rally which threatened to sew up the game.

Gowsell had some trouble in controlling the ball in the first and walked Latchford, wild-pitching him to third from which he scored on Morgan's hunt. A nice double play, Orr to Morchen, retired the next two batters. Robinson scored in the sixth on Tummon's error, and two more counted on Rollins' error on Latchford followed by Murray's home-run. Marchen and Gowsell combined for two runs in the fifth on the latter's peculiar home-run which the fielder lost sight of. Two more came in in the seventh on hits by Rollins and Sinclair coupled with an error by Robinson and two bases on balls which forced in Marchen.

Schreider pitched a good game, although nicked for nine hits. His fielders backed him up with splendid support. He had no strike-outs and gave two free tickets to first. Gowsell on the other hand allowed only six hits and struck out eight opposing batsmen. He allowed five bases on balls, only one of which blossomed into a run. He contributed three hits, and Orr and Rollins two each. Murray at short and Reid at third were the fielding stars for the visitors with Sinclair, Tummon and McCutcheon pulling down nice catches for the locals.

In the fifth inning Catcher Morgan was knocked out when he collided with Schreider and Robinson as they came together when fielding Sinclair's pop fly.

The teams:

Young Canada—W. Latchford, rf; W. Morgan, c; F. Murray, ss; R. Reid, 3b; J. Barrage, 2b; Robinson, lb; Brant, lf; Jenkinson, cf; Schreider p.

Tweed—Simpson, c; Meavy, 3b; Orr, ss; Tummon, cf; McCutcheon, lf; Rollins, 2b; Marchen, lb; Gowsell, p; Sinclair, rf.

Umpires—H. Wilson, Tweed, at plate; H. Rollins, Belleville, on bases.

Score by innings:	R.H.E.
Young Can.	1 0 0 0 2 1 2 0 0 — 6 6 2
Tweed	0 0 0 0 2 0 2 0 0 — 4 9 5

Save Money — Be Thrifty

BUY COAL FOR CASH

WE ARE CERTIFIED REPRESENTATIVES FOR GENUINE SCOTCH ANTHRACITE COAL

We are receiving this COAL DIRECT FROM SCOTLAND through the Scotch Anthracite Coal Co. of Montreal via. Canadian National Railway Here — Our Supplies are Unlimited.

THIS COAL WILL RETAIL UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE AT ..... $14.50 per ton

THE F. S. ANDERSON COMPANY

209B FRONT ST. BELLEVILLE Telephone 231

IT IS BETTER TO BUY YOUR USED CAR FROM A FORD DEALER

He has thoroughly reconditioned cars of all makes and models . . .

FULLY PROTECTED BY A MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE OR FREE-EXCHANGE PRIVILEGE

3-DAY MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE on cars priced at $300 or more

THIS CAR IS SOLD WITH A 3 day

5-DAY FREE-EXCHANGE PRIVILEGE on cars priced under $300

THIS CAR IS SOLD WITH A 5 DAY free EXCHANGE PRIVILEGE

THE very large sale of 1935 Ford V-8 cars has brought to Ford Dealers an unusual number of good used cars in exchange. Ford Dealers this year have already sold 4000 more new automobiles than their nearest competitor. Many of the used cars taken in are 1933 and 1934 Ford V-8's which have required very little work to put them in excellent condition. Virtually all makes are represented, however, and whatever your preference in a used car, you are sure to find attractive values. If you are considering the purchase of a used car, by all means see your Ford Dealer's offerings. He has a wide selection of safeguarded Diamond Value used cars at surprisingly low prices.

Diamond Labels Identify Choice Values

You will recognize these cars on his lot by the Diamond Labels (shown here) which are pasted on the windshields. Cars so identified are sold under the terms of the Ford Dealers' exclusive 3-5 Plan — created to protect your used car purchase.

Terms of the 3-5 Protective Plan

Suppose you select a car priced at $300 or more. After driving it, if you are not entirely satisfied, the Ford Dealer from whom you purchased will refund your money without question any time within three days of the date the car is delivered to you. Or suppose you choose a car priced under $300. You may decide later that you prefer a different make or body type. The Ford Dealer from whom you bought will gladly exchange it for another used car of the same price or he will apply it as partial payment on a higher priced used car or a new car, provided the request for exchange is made within five days from the date the car is delivered to you.

Your Ford Dealer a Responsible Merchant

The Ford Dealer values his reputation for fair dealing and good service. He wants you to be satisfied with the used car he sells you. Making a sale is not nearly so important as making a friend and customer.

He has a force of trained mechanics to recondition used cars and put them in first-class running condition. When he guarantees a car he is sure it is right and you can be sure you can depend on him.

Ask About Easy Terms

Visit the Ford Dealer's used car display tonight. See his cars. He will be glad to arrange convenient terms of payment. Your present car will be taken in exchange and in many cases will cover the down payment. ALSO SEE THE FORD DEALER WHEN YOU WANT USED TRUCKS AND COMMERCIAL UNITS.

FORD MOTOR COMPANY OF CANADA, LIMITED

Ford

USING SHELL ON YOUR TRIP, SIR?

NOTHING ELSE BUT. Sealed SHELL PUMPS ARE A WONDERFUL PROTECTION. I CAN FILL UP AT ANY SHELL PUMP ANYWHERE KNOWING THAT NOTHING BUT GENUINE SHELL CAN COME FROM A SHELL PUMP AND THIS PROTECTION COSTS ME NO MORE.

15-35

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER
THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon except Sunday at the Ontario Intelligencer Building, Front Street, Belleville.

DRY CYCLE ENDS

Higher water level in the Bay of Quinte indicates to local observers that the water will now continue to rise slowly but surely.

This ending of the dry cycle of years is accepted generally throughout the country, even as far west as Manitoba and the Western Provinces.

The coming of the wet years' cycle means relief for farmers. Many saw their lands blowing away in sand, and the sections of the west making almost a desert. But after the wet cycle will come another dry cycle unless steps are taken to protect the lands, The Winnipeg Tribune predicts.

But in this part of Ontario such conditions do not prevail. Yet the wet cycle is welcomed, not only by the farmers but also by the users of electricity, who depend upon the water power resources.

A few years ago in Belleville the water level was very high and some dwellings were almost inundated by the bay water, while portions of Queen Victoria Park were submerged.

MANUFACTURER SPEAKS

The need for economy in public expenditures, not coincident with existing conditions, was stressed by President J. H. Webb of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at its meeting in Hamilton this week. He also thinks that a country can spend its way out of a depression by reckless borrowing and printing of money, disregard all the experience of history. But he pointed out the due for the unpleasant awakening that other countries have suffered when their day of reckoning arrived.

He suggested a policy of lowest practicable interest rates as desirable to enable producers to borrow money on easier terms and to encourage commercial undertakings as well as to ease the burdens of taxpayers. Mr. Webb stated that it was encouraging to note that the rates on Canada bonds have declined from five, five and a half, and six per cent to three and a half, three and even two per cent and that the rates on industrial bonds and commercial loans have also been reduced slightly. He pointed out, however, that the control of any country over interest rates is very slight, being determined mainly by international influences and that the lowering of rates during the past two years has been partly due to the scarcity of good opportunities to invest money.

The president spoke of criticisms, fair and unfair, to which manufacturers are subject. "I state that the manufacturers of Canada and their employees are endeavoring to act honestly with other citizens, that they are conducting their various enterprises as well as they know as economically as will permit, that their methods are fair and that their products compare favourably with those of other countries."

He defended the business man against the policy of trying to cure all its ills and direct all efforts by legislation and governmental supervision, instead of relying for individual effort, explaining that "modern civilization and all that it signifies is based largely upon individual thought and effort, that in so many cases have abandoned their economic liberties to small groups. This is a new form of tyranny and what is there about it to show that it is better than the other tyrannies of history?" He added, "Who are the governments, if they are only small groups, temporarily in office, what qualifications have they?" Then he added "that governmental supervision means an army of civil servants, forms, returns and reports multiply, costs mount, borrowing and debts increase and taxpayers often find that governments are often competing with them in making and selling products. Efficiency and individual thought and effort are handicapped and discouraged."

"How much of invention and improvement is due to governments?" he asked. "Scientific men in university and commercial laboratories, after long and costly research discover new methods and materials. Private management and funds take this information and develop great industries and fabricate new products that people want and need and which provide work. Governments rarely create but they have large powers of consumption."

The president while not advocating futile optimism which ignores facts, and admitting that there are grave ills which require treatment, is optimistic for he sees that there are more people than ever in the world today and that the standard of living is higher than it ever was. Canada's physical assets are great, her technicians are as expert as any and domestic and foreign demand for our products is gradually returning. He warned against futile discussions and urged co-operation, intelligent, sympathetic study, looking eagerly for new methods but not disregarding the old and proven.

SIDELIGHTS

THE HOME FORUM

Sometimes I wish my life were like
An Oriental room,
Quite bare of ornament, save one
Bright, ceremonial bloom;
Nothing to hint of other days,
No souvenirs to bring
Old thoughts which, blessing, strangely leave
A lingering pang, a sting.

If life were stripped until it bore
An elemental air,
It might not be so hard to find
The meanings waiting there.
How restful and how calm a place
That ordered room would be,
That life with nothing which could mar
Its sure tranquility!

There naught could hint of any griefs
Or joys that are outgrown,
If life's white room held nothing fair
Save one chrysanthemum!

—Aline Michaelis.

x x x

OLD BOYS' REUNION seems sure for 1936. There was a movement on foot to hold the reunion this year and the Kiwanis Club considered the matter very seriously but finally decided to hold the reunion next year on account of the lateness of the season. Sidelight Fan suggests that the cash surplus left from the Centennial Celebration of last year be handed over to the Kiwanis Club to be expended upon the entertainment of the Belleville Old Boys and Girls who return to the old town for the 1936 reunion. Sounds like a good idea.

x x x

"IN MY FATHER'S HOUSE ARE MANY MANSIONS, if it were not so I would have told you, I go to prepare a place for you." That verse I am told is one of many in Judge Deroche's address in the army by the bagry umbrella hanging from his saddle-bow. Occasionally a man was given private audience at this hour, but seldom; as the sleeping-tent furnished with cigarettes, a camp-bed, a fairly good Kurd rug, a pipe-rack, and the delightful old Baluch prayer carpet on which he prayed.

At about eight o'clock in the morning Feisal would leave his tent for ceremonial dagger and walk across to the reception tent. He would sit down at the end of the tent facing the open side, and we with our backs against the wall, in a semi-circle round from him. The slaves brought up the rear, and clustered round the open wall of the tent to continue the day's setting supplicants who lay on the sand in the tent-mouth, or beyond, waiting their turn. If possible, business was got through by noon, when the hour called to rise.

We of the household, and guests, then reassembled in the living-tent; and Hejris and Salem carried in the luncheon-tray, on which were as many dishes as circumstances permitted. Feisal was an intemperate smoker, but a very light eater, and he used to make-believe with his fingers at a spoon among the beans, lentils, spinach, rice, and sweet cakes, till he judged that we had had enough, when in a wave of his hand the tray would disappear, to other tents where it would be our waiter for our fingers at the tent door. Fat men, like Mohammed the Shefia, make a comic appearance of the Emir's quick and delicate meals, and would have 100 of their own prepared for them when they came away. After lunch we would talk a little, while we smoking up two cups of coffee, and savouring two glasses full of sugary-thin green tea. Then till two in the afternoon the curtain at the tent-door was drawn, signifying that Feisal was sleeping, or reading, or dozing private business, and everybody in and out again in the reception tent till he had finished with, and was wanted him, I never saw an Arab leave him dissatisfied or hurt—a gift to his race and to his chivalry; for he seemed never to hail for less of a fault, nor to stumble over a relationship.

If there were time after second audience, we would walk with his friends. Between six and seven there was brought in for our evening meal, to which all present in headquarters were called by the slaves. It resembled the lunch.

This meal ended our day, save for the stealthy offering by a bare-footed slave-girl a tray of tea-glasses at protracted intervals. Feisal did not sleep till very late, and never betrayed a wish to hasten our going. In the early morning he was up as late possible and avoided a voidable work. Very rarely he would play cards with the unthinking directness of a fencer, and brilliantly. Sometimes, perhaps for my benefit, he had discussions of what he had seen in Syria, and across the Hejaz railway, or family affairs. I learned much of the men and parties in the Hejaz from this light.

Suddenly Feisal asked me if I would like to bring my kit and live my own while in the camp. I should find it better for work, he thought, as it was a comfortable dress in which to live Arab-fashion as we must do. Besides, the Turkish officers and then understand how to take me. The only weapon I had with me under my experience had been Turkish officers, before whom they took up an intimidate attitude if I wore my own clothes, they would behave to me as though I were one of the staff leaders; and I might slip in and out of Feisal's tent without making decisions from which he had to explain away each time to strangers.

I agreed gladly. Very gladly. Hejris was pleased, too, and ever-ready to help. Feisal lately had given it a hint(?) by his great-aunt in addition to his own gift. The main looseness of them round the palm-gardens, to accustom myself to their feel.

Feisal's stand in Nakhl Mubarak would in the ordinary course of things only be a pause, and I felt that I had better get back to Yenbo, to think when the Emir had to rise.

We of the household, and guests, then reassembled in the living-tent; and Hejris and Salem carried in the luncheon-tray, on which were as many dishes as circumstances permitted. Feisal was an intemperate smoker, but a very light eater, and he used to make-believe with his fingers at a spoon among the beans, lentils, spinach, rice, and sweet cakes, till he judged that we had had enough, when in a wave of his hand the tray would disappear, to other tents where it would be our waiter for our fingers at the tent door. Fat men, like Mohammed the Shefia, make a comic appearance of the Emir's quick and delicate meals, and would have 100 of their own prepared for them when they came away. After lunch we would talk a little, while we smoking up two cups of coffee, and savouring two glasses full of sugary-thin green tea. Then till two in the afternoon the curtain at the tent-door was drawn, signifying that Feisal was sleeping, or reading, or doing private business, and everybody in and out again in the reception tent till he had finished with, and was wanted him, I never saw an Arab leave him dissatisfied or hurt—a gift to his race and to his chivalry; for he seemed never to hail for less of a fault, nor to stumble over a relationship.

If there were time after second audience, we would walk with his friends. Between six and seven there was brought in for our evening meal, to which all present in headquarters were called by the slaves. It resembled the lunch.

This meal ended our day, save for the stealthy offering by a bare-footed slave-girl a tray of tea-glasses at protracted intervals. Feisal did not sleep till very late, and never betrayed a wish to hasten our going. In the early morning he was up as late possible and avoided a voidable work. Very rarely he would play cards with the unthinking directness of a fencer, and brilliantly. Sometimes, perhaps for my benefit, he had discussions of what he had seen in Syria, and across the Hejaz railway, or family affairs. I learned much of the men and parties in the Hejaz from this light.

Suddenly Feisal asked me if I would like to bring my kit and live my own while in the camp. I should find it better for work, he thought, as it was a comfortable dress in which to live Arab-fashion as we must do. Besides, the Turkish officers and then understand how to take me. The only weapon I had with me under my experience had been Turkish officers, before whom they took up an intimidate attitude if I wore my own clothes, they would behave to me as though I were one of the staff leaders; and I might slip in and out of Feisal's tent without making decisions from which he had to explain away each time to strangers.

I agreed gladly. Very gladly. Hejris was pleased, too, and ever-ready to help. Feisal lately had given it a hint(?) by his great-aunt in addition to his own gift. The main looseness of them round the palm-gardens, to accustom myself to their feel.

Feisal's stand in Nakhl Mubarak would in the ordinary course of things only be a pause, and I felt that I had better get back to Yenbo, to think when the Emir had to rise.

We of the household, and guests, then reassembled in the living-tent; and Hejris and Salem carried in the luncheon-tray, on which were as many dishes as circumstances permitted. Feisal was an intemperate smoker, but a very light eater, and he used to make-believe with his fingers at a spoon among the beans, lentils, spinach, rice,

REVOLT IN THE DESERT

by

T. E. LAWRENCE

An hour or so later, the flap of Feisal's sleeping-tent would be thrown back: his invitation to call. ers from the household. There would be four or five present; and after the morning's news a tray of breakfast would be carried in. The staple of this was dates, but sometimes Hejris, our body slave, would give us odd biscuits and cercle of his own trying. After breakfast we would play with bitter coffee and sweet tea in alternation, while Feisal's correspondence was dealt with by dictation to his secretaries. One of these was Faiz el Ghusein, a wandering Syrian poet, adventurous; another was the Imam, a sad-faced person made conspicuous in the army by the bagry umbrella hanging from his saddle-bow. Occasionally a man was given private audience at this hour, but seldom; as the sleeping-tent furnished with cigarettes, a camp-bed, a fairly good Kurd rug, a pipe-rack, and the delightful old Baluch

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

June 7th., 1915

Yesterday afternoon the Ontario baseball team of Belleville played at Perth with a team representing that town. The result was a win for our boys, the score being 8 to 0. Coyer pitched a superb game and was well supported by every member of the team. At the conclusion of the game the visitors were royally entertained by the Perth boys. The Belleville players were as follows: Coyer, Mills, Gerow, Coyer, Morrison, Kelleher, Knott, Symons, Green and Gilbert.

Mrs. J. B. Simpson, of Ottawa, secretary of the Ontario Humanitarians' Association of Canada, is the guest of Mrs. Frank Reid, Osborne Landsly, George Street.

Mrs. W. E. Anderson accompanied by her daughter Miss Evelyn Anderson, of Rossmore, Prince Edward County, will leave tomorrow for Banff, Alberta, to visit her sons, Rogers, Berlaird and Brent Anderson. They will be away a month.

30 Years Ago

JUNE 7th., 1905

Mr. W. P. McMahon, barrister, is attending Division Court in Deseronto.

Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Clarke of St. Ola are spending a few days in the city.

Miss Isabella Turner, graduate of the Kingston General Hospital, formerly of this city, is a guest at Sidney Cottage, Trenton Road.

Miss Laura Adams of the Woman's Canadian Realtimes, has arrived in the city to spend the summer with her uncle, the Rev. R. N. Adams, Cedar street.

Miss S. E. Adams, nurse in training at St. Luke's Hospital, New York, is home on a short vacation.

Mr. Robert Irvine who has been an employe at the Russell House, Ottawa, for six years was presented with an address and a handsome watch fob on the occasion of leaving his position to enter business on his own account. Mr. Irvine is a former Belleville boy.

40 Years Ago

JUNE 7th., 1895

Pipe laying will soon be commenced on Front street west.

The Court House lawn was trimmed nicely yesterday for the opening of court and county council on Tuesday.

A scheme is being considered to number the houses on the various streets in the city.

Business is brisk at the Lingham brick works. The demand is good for local use and an expected considerable building will be done during the season.

A meeting of retail clerks was held last evening and it was decided to ask the merchants to close their stores Friday afternoon instead of on Wednesday. And gust. A committee interviewed the merchants this morning and several signed, but one refused to agree to the proposition and the matter therefore stands still for the present.

Mr. M. Reid of the Geo. Nichols Company, will sail from New York next Wednesday for Europe on a buying trip for the firm.

50 Years Ago

JUNE 7th., 1885

A deputation composed of Major Dunbar, Mayor of the city, Mr. John Bell, Q.C., Col. Ponton of the 49th. Battalion, Col. Lazier of the 15th., Belleville and Ald. J. W. Johnson waited upon the county council to ask their aid in getting the city in giving the volunteers now on duty in the Northwest a grand reception on their return from duty. The county council heartily endorsed this proposition and empowered the Warden to appoint a committee to confer with a committee from the city council to arrange details for the reception and the county council will assist in defraying the expenses. It is proposed to decorate the city with evergreens and bunting; erect arches and treat the boys to a sumptuous banquet.

There are many private picnic parties being held now and Consecrated Point is the popular resort.

How to have a "Happy" Stomach!

Are you sick and tired of having to say that you're "not feeling well" and that you don't take drugs. They are dangerous and habit-forming. Just follow Andrews' Liver Salts of Health. Eat moderately. Sleep plenty. Exercise regularly. Breathe deeply fresh air you can. And keep yourself in healthy condition with a purifying, energizing glass of Andrews' Liver Salts taken about twice each week while it is still delicious bubbling.

This fast rule is quite as important as all the others. What Andrews does is to gently and thoroughly cleanse the entire digestive canal and drains the whole system of impurities and waste elimination.

Don't let your stomach boss you. Learn to enjoy a real digestive system and good, hearty meals by following the Andrews' Rules. You will feel better—much better and healthier—from the day you begin. Get Andrews Liver Salts from your druggist. In tins, 35c and 60c. Extra large bottle, 75c. Sole Agents: McGillivray Bros. Limited, Toronto.

352

AIKINS W. M. S. HAS MEETING

Sidney Crossing, June 7.—The regular monthly meeting of the Aikins W.M.S. was held on Wednesday afternoon, June 5, at the home of Mrs. William Hamilton.

Devotional was played by Mrs. Percy Hamilton after which Mrs. F. Wright, president, took charge of the meeting and "A Better Day Is Coming" was sung. Prayer by Mrs. Orval Hamilton and Mrs. Bruce Hogle. Scripture reading was taken from Matthew by Mrs. Wright. Devotional reading, "Circle of Friendship" by Mrs. Percy Hamilton. Hymn, duties and roll call. Watch Tower No. 1. "Do You Know?" by Mrs. Roy Finkle. No. 2 was taken by Mrs. T. Irwin. Reading, "Challenge" by Mrs. Temperance by Mrs. Bruce Hogle. "Take My Life and Let It Be" was sung, followed with prayer by Mrs. T. A. Hinchliffe. Study book was taken by Mrs. Metta Irwin. Treasurer's report. Interesting letter from Mrs. Frooks was read by the corresponding secretary, Mrs. S. Westover. Reading by Mrs. Frank Wright. Hymn, "How Firm a Foundation" was sung and Mrs. T. Irwin closed with prayer.

An social number was present to enjoy the interesting program. A lunch was served and a social half hour spent.

Smiles Disarm House

Ottawa, June 7.—When, like the proverbial camel, one says it with a smile, one gets away with it—even in Parliament.

Last night, with the House of Commons laboring through the committee stage of the Natural Products Marketing Act, Hazel Bowen, the young agriculturist from Dufferin-Simcoe, stirred the House with a vigorous and impassioned defense of the measure. Playing the opposition to the Government, it was sponsored by indifference to the welfare of the farmer, Miss Bowen said, he gave directly on William Fraser, the member for Northumberland, who a few moments before had caustically condemned sections of the bill as containing "cast-iron" sentences for farmers who failed to observe its regulations, and informed the House that the latter was more interested in the marketing at barrels than in the fruit contained in them.

Mr. Fraser was instantly on his feet. "I want to characterize that statement as one without a little of truth," he declared. "And it behooves even as the Government members roared for a reaction.

Laughter Now

Deputy Speaker Morand was on his feet calling for order, but the member continued: "The honorable member goes a little too far in his efforts to create sympathy for that appeal to the — may I use the word "vacant?" And then he paused. The House was beginning to laugh instead of roar.

"Have I your point of order?" asked the Deputy Speaker.

"Mr. Fraser smiled again. "The point of order is that the member for Dufferin-Simcoe is stating something absolutely untrue," he pointed out. There was more commotion.

Mr. Bowen himself waved it down. He, too, was smiling. "Perhaps the member for Northumberland will remember that I have has any connection with the Trenton Co-operative," he suggested. "Here in Ontario we have to pay variously 60 cents to 75 cents a barrel, while in Nova Scotia they pay only 23 cents to 25 cents."

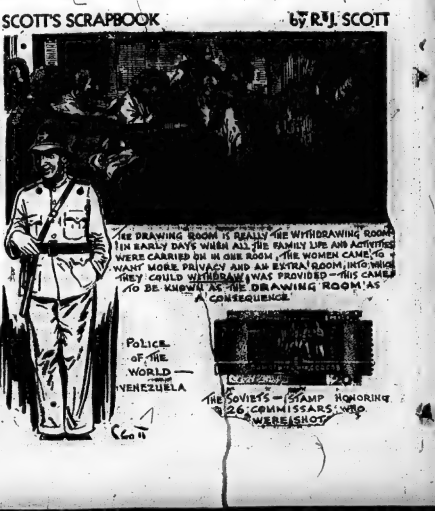
"That's not true", he shouted. There was another roar for retraction, but Miss Bowen stuck it was Mr. Rowe who smiled this time.

What I am trying to point out," she continued, "is that co-operation is really restored. But Mr. Fraser forgets that."

"Assuredly", he declared, "I am President of the Co-operative Company and it makes sugar barrels, eggs, apple barrels and other things unscrambled by any marketing act."

"He's advertising now," put in Deputy Speaker.

"We sell in the open market against all competition," Mr. Fraser continued. "And I want to assure the honorable member that I'm ready to discuss any general question he may want to put—so let him go ahead. But we all hope that the Act will be put to the Marketing Act."



"What I say," declared Mr. Rowe "is that on everything from tinplate to barrels the price is set by organized industry."

And he resumed with his fiery denunciation of the evils of organized farming industry.

There were no retractions, no apologies, no directions for withdrawal. The smiles did it. Even the Deputy Speaker, as he noticed Mr. Rowe to proceed, smiled himself.

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK

by R. J. SCOTT

FARMERS EXPECT SPLENDID CROP OF STRAWBERRIES

Large And Early Yield of Berries Is Indicated

West Huntingdon, June 7—The recent warm rains have made the community look like a perfect paradise. Those who have strawberry plantations report that they expect an extra large yield this year and some believe they will be picking the fruit next week.

Some lads from the Ridge Road public school played a friendly game of softball with our public school lads on Saturday afternoon.

Rev. R. J. Meriam returned home from conference on Sunday evening. He is being ministered to the Renfrew Presbytery, Bathurst circuit, and Rev. H. A. Turner of Cox Hill will succeed Mr. Meriam as pastor of West Huntingdon circuit.

Mrs. Geo. Post visited her daughter Mrs. W. Tuft and Mrs. Lorne Brough of Elzas a few days last week.

Mr. Ernest Urban and the Misses Helen and Ruby Urban of Walkerville visited a number of their friends here over the week-end.

Miss Viola Elliott was the guest of her friend Miss Georgia Pitman on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews of Walker, Mrs. Ethel Danford and Marjorie of Belleville were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bray of Mill Street.

Mr. Andrew McGowan visited his brother Mr. William McGowan of Frankford who is seriously ill.

Some repair work is being done at the Miller gravel plant and it is expected that the company will start operations soon. This is good news for local unemployed men.

The service on Sunday in the Presbyterian Church was held in the forenoon at 9.30 and will continue so for the summer months. There was a good attendance of the members present.

Mr. Arthur Wilson had charge of the service in the United Church, as the pastor, Rev. R. J. Merriam was at conference. Mr. George Allan Kingston of Toronto, requested that this service be held as a memorial to his father, the late Charles Kingston. Had Mr. Kingston have lived he would have been one hundred years old on the 29th of May, and he was one of the very few members in addressing in building the present United Church. It was very fitting that such a service should be held. The first hymn sung was one composed by Mr. Geo. Kingston in honor of his father and Mrs. Melville Donnan offered prayer in thankfulness for one who in bygone days made it possible for us to have such a building as this now is. Miss Georgia Pitman sang as a solo as did Eathbond, her inspiring song "Have you been to Jesus for cleansing power." Mr. Wilson gave an interesting

Here is a real thrill for green tea drinkers—a blend of first crop teas from Japan's finest gardens. Try it.

"SALADA"
JAPAN TEA

"BABIES" MARCHING AS TO WAR

Amid the grandeur that was Rome's besides the first Caesar, whose modern disciple he is, Mussolini expresses satisfaction as legions of five to seven-year-old boys whom he is having trained for fighting march past him on 20th anniversary of Italy's entrance into world war.

account of some of the pioneer settlers here; among the most prominent being the Kingston's of whom at one time there were seven families. Mr. Philip Carr gave the address, taking as his text "Do this in Remembrance of me." Mr. Carr brought out many inspiring thoughts along this line emphasing the importance of such memorials. How they should arouse in us a desire for us to greater things. He also gave a short report of conference held at Peterboro.

The closing hymn was "How firm a Foundation" sung by Thomas Elliott closed with prayer.

A number of the young children are suffering from colds, among those most afflicted were Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Cooke's two sons. One case of measles has also been reported.

The Misses Ruby and Eva Merriam were on Monday guests of Miss Ruby Bray.

Rev. and Mrs. Fred Lane and family and Mrs. Rich, called to see Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Post on Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Post and sons were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sandy McCurdy.

L.O.L. No. 800 met at their regular monthly meeting on Monday evening. The local members are extra busy these days completing their plans for the big day they are expecting on July 12th.

Mrs. Sarah Wilson of Frankford visited her mother Mrs. Effie Wilson on Tuesday evening.

Messrs. Harry and Clifford Scarboro visited their parents the Rev. and Mrs. Roy Scarboro of Bloomfield a couple of days recently.

with
Murphy Challenge PAINT
SPECIAL SALE
69c quart
$2.49 gallon
Every Can Guaranteed
• WHITE LEAD
• BOILED OIL
and
• TURPENTINE
SPECIAL
Asphalt Roofing Paint
Per Gallon
75c
JOHN LEWIS
COMPANY
285 Front St. Ph. 2260

FIRE DESTROYS BROODER HOUSE AND BABY CHICKS

Fourth Sidney, June 7.—Mr. Jack Wood of Consecon spent the week-end with relatives here.

The farmers are busy planting tomato plants for canning factory.

Rev. and Mrs. R. B. Setsmith, Mr. and Mrs. Oosiln and little daughter of Harrowsmith spent the dinner hour with Mr. and Mrs. F. Harris on Friday, also Mr. and Mrs. Davidson and children. Mrs. W. Phillips and daughter Maud were Sunday guests at their home.

Mr. R. Lloyd had the misfortune last week to have fire destroy their brooder house. They lost 150 little chickens.

Quite a number on this line attended the annual cleaning of the church and cemetery on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Herb Hook spent Sunday with Mr. Robert MacPherson.

NEW HIGH TAXES TO REPLACE NRA

Inheritances And Gifts Likely to Suffer Most

(Copyright, 1935, By The Associated Press)

Washington, June 8 (AP)—In the midst of sharply conflicting speculation as to what long-term course the New Deal may plan for NRA comes United States Congressional leaders said today the White House is tentatively considering new and high taxes on inheritances and gifts.

This, as explained by legislators who did not wish to be quoted by name, would be an attempt to continue and broaden "NRA's basic social aims." It would seek, they declared, to increase mass purchasing power through redistribution of money.

SIMPLE SERVICE FOR LORD BYNG

Requests No Military Ceremony in Connection With Funeral

Thorpe-Le-Soken, England, June 7 (CP)—It was Lord Byng's own request there be no military ceremony in connection with his funeral which will take place quietly from Thorpe Hall, where he died, next Saturday.

Two officers sent from a number of regiments, however, will attend the service and His Majesty will be represented at a memorial service in London by Viscount Allenby, Field Marshal Allenby of Palestine fame, who becomes virtually the only ranking British military leader of the Great War left on this earth.

The funeral will be almost as quiet as the simple service which saw the interment of Col. T. E. Lawrence of Arabia," a few days ago, following that famous guerilla leader's fatal motorcycle accident in Dorsetshire.

The regiments represented will be the Third King's Own Hussars, the 10th Royal Hussars, the Heavy Brigade of the Royal Artillery, the Territorial Army and the Fifth Battalion (Territorial) Essex Regiment.

Girl is Killed When Hit by Car

Dundalk, June 7—Marie Stinson, 7-year-old daughter of Ernest Stinson, received fatal injuries about 5 o'clock Thursday morning when she ran in front of a car driven by Mrs. Woods of R.R. 5, Orangeville, at the Victoria Corners School on Highway No. 1, five miles north of Dundalk. The girl died in the office of Dr. Frank Martin of Dundalk, where she was rushed immediately following the accident.

The accident occurred as her younger sister had been given a lift to school by a neighbor. Milton Bannon, On slighting, the older girl ran behind the car in the path of a roadster hauling a sheep-clipping outfit, driven by Woods, and with Lewis Wade and Caldwell Lake as a passenger. Rushed to Dundalk, the injured child died shortly afterward.

Former Teller Pleads Guilty to Theft

London, Ont., June 7 (CP)—Walter Thomson Crosbie of Delhi, 36, former teller in the main branch of the Bank of Montreal here, pleaded guilty to theft of $1,473 from the bank. Crosbie formerly was in a bank at Simcoe and served also at Lucan. The thefts took place between May 1, 1933 and May 13, 1933.

Rev. R. J. Craig of Demorestville Back in 1875

Presbyterian Church Was Formed in That Year

Montreal, June 7—Situation of Protestants in Germany should concern members of the church, said Dr. Stevenson, at the General Assembly of the Presbyterian CUurch, United States Presbyterians had the Secretary of State inquire of the German Ambassador what was being done.

Feeling the world was concerned over these men, so impressed Reichsfuhrer Adolf Hitler that imprisoned Protestant ministers were released, the visitor said amid applause.

Report on arrangements for celebration of the church's diamond jubilee was given by Rev. Dr. Robert Johnston of Ottawa, who asked if Monday might be set aside for celebration of 60 years of Presbyterianism in Canada — "not forgetting the last 10 years of that 60."

One of the speakers Monday night will be Rev. R. J. Craig of Demorestville, Ont., clerk of Kingston Presbytery, who, although not ordained at the time, was preaching in 1875 when the Presbyterian Church was formed.

HONOR ROLL

KING GEORGE SCHOOL MAY HONOR ROLL

Jr. I. Grade—Class A—Betty Lynch, Dorothy Smith, Shirley Morris, George Painteer, Gloria Cory, Bruce Edwards, Jack Davidson, Douglas Thompson.

Class B—Bobby Ashley, Marion Rushnell, Mack Horgan and Barbara Hannah equal), Gerald Moore, Gloria Cox, Donald Storvik (Shirley Wilson and Agnes Wright equal), (Douglas Storms and Phyllis Babcock equal).

Class D—Bruce Moore.

Class E—Madeline Claus, Billy Clare.

Sr. I. Grade—Class A—Lounsberry.

Jr. I. Grade, Class B—Jack Matthews, Annie Asselstine, Olive Brown, Freda Brant, Carl Smith, James Burshaw, George Asselstine, Guy Clapper, Maddine Sager.

Class H—Audrey Tebworth, Wilber Archer, Ila Green.

Mary H. Coot.

Sr. I. Class I.—Fay Mitchell, John Patterson, June Weaver, Zola Martin, Fred Miles, Grace Holloway.

Class II.—Clayton Archer.

Dorothy Boyle.

Sr. I. Class J.—Donald McGowan, Billy Spafford, Frank Ashmoor, Olive Smith, Georgina Mitchell, Jack Phillips, Jimmie Hastino, Ronald Moorman, Jean Grills, Donald Pomeroy, Jean Brown, Gladys Semark, (Clifford Vesterfelt and Doris Grills equal).

Jean Kilpatrick
Bruce Bankey.

Irene Grills.

L. A. Kells, B.A., Principal.

DONATIONS TO THE SHELTER

Mrs. Bernstein, clothing and toys; Holloway Street Church, per Mrs. F. P. Hagerman, meat, potatoes and carrots; Mrs. B. Simpson, rhubarb twice; Miss Louise Fleming, clothing; Mrs. Harry Stevens, Station Street, 6 jars fruit and jam; Mrs. Cassidy, cake and bread and butter; Mrs. Edward Cross, 1 dozen wash cloths.

Alice T. Harris, Matron.

Give Me 932
ZAKOS' FRUIT MART
The Home of QUALITY
FRUITS - VEGETABLES and GROCERIES
Extra Specials for Saturday
Priced Low to Effect Tremendous Savings in the Family Budget
WHERE QUALITY PLUS LOW PRICES REIGN—ASK FOR OUR SUPER SATURDAY SPECIALS.
ZAKOS'
FRUIT MART
209 Front St. Belleville Free Delivery

Blossoms Queen

MARGARET HEESENGER

Apple Blossom Queen of the annual Kentville, N. S. festival is Margaret Heesenger, who is shown above in her robes of office.

MAYOR G. O. TICE MARKS BIRTHDAY

Moira Miss of 12 Years Sends Greetings to Chief Magistrate

This is Mayor George O. Tice's birthday and the happiest of his fellow-workers is the aged mother, Mrs. Jason Tice, who resides with her son on Bridge Street west. This day of days in the year is one which she never forgets, for it is June 7th.

Born in Mountain View, the boy who was to become mayor of Belleville and sway the municipality for four years, spent his childhood in his native county but came to the city at the impressionable age of five years to get to know the place, which was destined to pay him the highest municipal honor it can. Here he went to school, published and high, received his secondary education under the late Dr. George Wright and was late 2 F. M. History, M.A., matriculated and went as a student to the Ontario Business College, from where what has been so much of a mystery to the many in the city hall, officials and aldermen of the present and previous years—that fine hand—that penmanship which is so much admired especially by poor writers.

Then he became a city barrister, and moved to Stirling. But the prairies beckoned and there he learned the spirit of the pioneer who built the newer West. Brandon and Saskatoon were among the places which best remember him.

But he came to come back to the old native spot overcame him and hither he came with his family in 1919. His career since that is known to everyone, as a business man and as a member of the city council, with his five years as alderman and four years as mayor.

"How are you spending the day?" His Worship was asked. Quietly and as usual was the reply. Besides the reply, business meaning of course to him, not only his own business, but also the city affairs which absorb a large portion of the time of the chief magistrate.

But yesterday Mayor Tice had another little piece of business to think about. Betty Foster of Moira, who is 12 years old today, soon knew learned that Belleville's chief Magistrate was born on the same day. So it turned out that Betty selected a lovely birthday greeting card with the legend, "May many added, pleasure each day spear as you travel along another year" and wrote within it:

"Moira, Ont., June 4th.

"Dear Mr. ——,

"I thought I would send you a birthday card as my birthday comes on the same day as yours, on June 7th. I will be twelve years old then. Wishing you many happy returns of the day.

"Your friend,

"Betty Foster".

Now it was, the Mayor thought, due Betty that she should have a birthday greeting card from him in return. So Mr. Tice sent a lovely little missive of a birthday character and with a greeting bearing the city's seal to the little miss who lives at Moira.

Fire Rangers Report Menace is Controlled

North Bay, Ont., June 7 (CP)—For the first time since the forest fire menace developed this year, Rangers were able to breath easily.

W. B. Greenwood, chief ranger for North Bay district reported the situation well in hand. "All big fires are either completely quenched or are definitely under control," he reported.

Rain last night aided the firefighters somewhat but the precipitation of .03 inch was not sufficient to wet the woods to any great extent.

Depression and the relief administration has had a profound effect on health services, he said.

"We are progressing readily toward state medical care," he declared.

Immunization against diphtheria of 92 per cent. of all school children in South Dumfries township was declared by Dr. E. J. Gordon of St. George to have been the result of public co-operation which made possible the hiring of a public health nurse.

"During the past three years it has been a rare occurrence to meet an objecting parent," he said. "Results of our efforts are seen in the fact that there has not been one case of diphtheria in five years."

FAR NORTH OIL WELL TO BE RE-OPENED

Oil well at Port Norman on the Mackenzie river, N.W.T., which is to be reopened shortly and will be the most northern oil well in operation in the world, supplying fuel oil for the Great Bear Lake mining region.

GEEN'S DRUG STORE and Geo. Pauley, Druggist presents the NAIL POLISH of the STARS

HERE'S the nail polish you've been hearing so much about—made popular by stage and screen stars. Moon Glow Nail Polish is a new blend—applies more smoothly—stays more lustrously. In six fair shades, from the delicate to the daring—CLEAR or CREAM. Scientifically perfected so as not to chip, peel, crack, fade or streak. Real economical—larger size bottle, lower price.
MOON GLOW NAIL POLISH 29¢

No Playing Politics In Health—Faulkner

Toronto, June 7.—Politics will not interfere with health in Ontario so long as the present government remains in power, declared Hon. Dr. J. A. Faulkner, Minister of Health, in an address to the Ontario Health Officers' Association at the Royal York Hotel. There has been no political motive in any of the economies effected by the government in the field of health, he declared.

"We have had ample opportunity to take advantage of our position, but we have not done so. There will be no political interference from Toronto with the medical health officers of this province."

Dr. Faulkner urged that every M.O.H. in Ontario take an enthusiastic part in the campaign to secure complete pasteurization of milk.

"The prevalence of undulent fever in this province is greater than the public believes," he said. "I received complaints about our efforts to secure pasteurization. Who am I to believe, The professors who teach bacteriology or men without such scientific training whatever."

The expense of illness in Ontario each year is beyond the public comprehension, he continued.

"If you medical health officers feel you are not paid sufficiently, I ask you to consider whether you have given the time and thought necessary for your job," he said.

About 2,500 persons in Ontario are receiving insulin free of charge, said Dr. W. J. Bell, deputy minister of health The cost he placed at $125,000 a year.

Certificates from a municipal clerk are now required along with one from the attending physician as to the inability of a patient to pay, he said. Persons requiring treatment need not be completely indigent to secure free insulin, he pointed out.

Mayor James Simpson, welcoming the delegates, stated that Toronto is internationally recognized as having the finest health department in the world.

Fur Storage
Telephone 421
Woodley's Furriers

Personals

Mr. George Turnbull, Toronto, was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Tucker, Trent Road.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Morton, Mr. Sherry, Mrs. J. Cook and Mrs. L. Bonisteel attended the funeral of the late Miss Robinson at Thomasburg on Thursday.

Bill L'Escuyer of Chatham, who has completed his year at Assumption College, Sandwich, Ontario, is visiting at the home of Jim Andrews, Cedarvale Street.

Among Senior Class prize-winners for nurses at the Kingston General Hospital this year, is included Ruth Frances Peck, Belleville, awarded a prize for Urology and presented by Dr. Nathan E. Berry. In second year prizes Ruby Evelyn Spencer, Madoc, was awarded a medal for General Proficiency, presented by Mrs. W. R. Mahner; Ethan Eleanor Walker, Napanee, medal for Obstetrics, awarded by Dr. G. A. Myrtle; Ruth Jessie Newman, Belleville, a medal for materia medica.

On June 5th, Dr. and Mrs. Geoffrey W. Ray, of East Broad Street, Boston, sailed for Germany on the "S.S. Stuttgart." They are planning to tour the principal European countries. Mrs. Ray was formerly Miss Vera Wrightmeyer, of Belleville. Dr. Ray will continue his studies with the Government Institute and children Hospital, Dr. Nobel and Erdheim at Vienna, Austria; Prof. Dr. Franoel at Zurich and Prof. Wieland at Basel, Switzerland. On September 9th he will again resume the practice of Pediatrics at Westfield.

Yesterday's ideal summer weather brought many guests to the home of Mrs. E. A. Geen, Moodie Cottage, for the afternoon tea held under the auspices of the Argyll Chapter, I.O.D.E. The spacious rooms were filled with flowers, bringing the charm of the garden indoors. The guests were received by the hostess who is Regent of the Chapter and were invited to the tea room by Mrs. W. O. Morgan. At the tea table which was delightfully arranged with lilies and honeysuckle, Mrs. W. N. Ponton and Mrs. A. I. Bird poured tea. Those who assisted in the serving were Mrs. J. G. Caldwell, Mrs. J. O. Sword, Mrs. Ross Mills, Mrs. Milton Davison, Mrs. Keith Scott and Miss Irene Keeler. Miss Pearl read from the "Canadian" from tea cups. Mrs. A. B. Gribble and Mrs. J. F. Bowell were in charge of the well-patronized home cooking table and Miss Amy Wallbridge was treasurer. Those much interested in the certificate from Lady Beaverbrook acknowledging the Chapter's donation to the Silver Jubilee Cancer Fund.

Weddings

ROWE—SHARPE

Rawdon (Special)—A quiet but pretty wedding ceremony was solemnized by Rev. F. G. Johnston, at eight o'clock on Wednesday evening, June 5th, at the home of the bride's parents at Rawdon, when Agnes Emma, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Sharpe, became the bride of Harold Haworth Rowe, youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Rowe.

The bride looked charming in a gown of powder blue georgette and white trimming, fashioned on long lines, and the young couple were unattended.

After the ceremony the bride's mother served a dainty buffet lunch and the house was adorned with lovely bouquets of spring blooms.

The groom included the bride's immediate family, also Mrs. Pearl Sharpe and Jack, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Scott, Billy and Shirley, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Reid and Edwin, Messrs. Delbert and Douglas Rowe.

The newlyweds are spending a short honeymoon with Mr. and Mrs. Percy Rowe, relatives of the groom, bride travelling in a frock of Royal blue crepe with white accessories.

CHAFING
To relieve chafing apply cooling, antiseptic Mentholatum to the irritated skin.
MENTHOLATUM
Gives COMFORT Daily

BEE HIVE
GOLDEN
CORN SYRUP
A GREAT ENERGY FOOD

WATCH OUR WINDOWS
The GEORGIA SALON
(Opposite Post Office)

Mrs. J. A. Lott Chosen President Of Women's Associations Of Hastings and Prince Edward

U. C. Women's Organization Raised $10,000 in Year

SPIRITUAL ENDEAVOR

On the morning of June 6th, the Women's Association, Prince Edward County, was the scene of great activity, when Main Street was lined on both sides with cars bringing delegates from as far north as Tweed, Ont. Hastings County to Milford in the southeastern part of Prince Edward County to attend the third annual convention of the Women's Associations and Ladies' Aid Societies for Hastings and Prince Edward Counties in the Belleville Presbytery of the United Church of Canada. The convention was held in the United Church and delegates and visitors were welcomed by the resident pastor, Rev. H. E. Hillis and Mrs. Hillis.

Mr. J. A. Lott presided in her usual capable manner. Community singing under the able leadership of Mrs. Leo Riggs and Mrs. Morley Duff, pianist, opened the convention after which Consecon-W.A. took charge of the devotional period. The hymn "Master Let Me Walk With Thee" was used after which Mrs. Chase led in prayer. Mrs. Rush read the Scripture lesson Psalm 84, after which Mrs. McDonald sang a solo "O Lord God Almighty".

The president chose "Our Task as W.A. Workers" for the subject for her address. She said last year "we had resolved to serve our Master better throughout the coming year, but have we done so? We must remember we will meet many obstacles but in overcoming them we fit ourselves to become efficient workers in the church. The family Bible has helped us over many a difficult path. There is no task too lowly, Jesus taught us when He washed the disciples' feet. She felt the women of today were measuring up to the standards set before us". She concluded her address with the message "Never become weary in well doing for in due time we shall receive the Master's 'Well Done'."

(Dr.) Bradley, Wellington then sang very appropriately "My Task".

$10,000 Raised

The Secretary, Miss Audra Brickman then called the roll of the different societies to which the following answered, giving wonderful accounts of the work accomplished during the past year in their societies. Ameliasburg, Wesleyarnacle, Belleville, Maville, Johnson Centenary, Redeemerville, Consecon, St. Paul's, Stirling; Alkenbrack, Wallace, John Wellington Trinity, Madoc; St. Ola, Greenbush; Grace St., Trenton; Mount Pleasant, Bloomfield, Bruce, Percy Road, Thurlow, Picton United, Hillier, Massassaga, Bethany, Shannonville; Canniffon, West Lake, Springbrook, Scott's, Solmesville, Wellington, Wellington Street, Stone Church, Northport, Victoria, Bloomfield Wesleyan, Consecon, and Holloway Street, Belleville. Ten thousand dollars was raised among the these societies by holding teas, quilting,-pot luck dinners, pancake socials, strawberry festivals, sale of quilts autograph quilts, patching days, holding concerts, backward dinners, supper contests, mother's boys, dime bags, sewing basket, apron, articles of food, bowling, shirt, etc. These funds were used to decorate and keep in repair parsonages, build new churches, church boards financially, donated toward refreshments, church music for the choirs, paid organists and assisted in community and charity activities. An interesting feature of the reports was an increase of membership in every society with a higher average attendance than usual.

In the absence of the treasurer, Mrs. A. E. Williams, Mrs. C. F. Linn, Stirling, read the treasurer's report showing a balance of $25 in the bank.

The secretary then read the minutes of the last convention held at Cannifton.

Future of Association

Mrs. G. A. Ferguson, Belleville, then gave a very inspiring address on the "Future of Women's Association", dividing her subject into three parts. "What is the relation of the W.A. to the church? our Divine Head and to raise money with dignity. She told the story of the mechanic who held the wires so that the King's speech on "Peace" might be transmitted all over the world and urged that we as church members might aid in completing the circuit for God's Heavenly message. Mrs. Macklin then outlined ten ways to kill a Society:

1. Don't come to a meeting—but if you do, come late.
2. Find fault with the officers.
3. Don't come in bad weather.
4. Never take an office and when you're left out of office complain.
5. Have nothing to say in the discussions but after the meeting air your views freely.
6. Don't do only what is absolutely necessary.
7. Say the Society is run by a certain few.
8. Hold back your dues until the last or don't pay them at all.
9. Don't try to get new members.
10. During discussions talk about the topics of the day to your nearest neighbour.

The President of the Wellington W. A. then extended to all the delegates and visitors a very cordial welcome to which Mrs. J. M. Wood, St. Ola, fittingly replied.

Quiet Half Hour

Mrs. (Rev.) McRae, Melville, conducted the "quiet half hour". "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" was sung after which the Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison. She chose as her subject "Friends of Jesus" reading the 17-23 verses of the fifteenth chapter of St. John where Jesus said farewell to His greatest friends, His disciples. This farewell message is full of comfort and assurance to His disciples for He says, "Ye are My friends" being of like spirit, of same mind and bound together by cords of love. Dr. Gordon has called this chapter the great brotherhood movement calling it "Friends of Jesus." "Friends" is the greatest word we have in our English vocabulary. What would life be without friends in sorrow, sickness, joy or prosperity? Characteristics of friends are loving, sympathetic, true, willingness to help establish the brotherhood spirit, to be helpful and to alleviate distress in the world. Will Jesus say as to us "Ye are My friends" or can we say to Him, "I am Your friend" Jesus said, "Love one another as I have loved you; then ye may be My friends." Jesus loved Himself, as He showed by reading the hymn, "Jesus Is All the World To Me". Jesus loved God, to each other and also to our neighbour. She explained the story of and quoted the hymn "By the Side of the Road" to further illustrate friendliness. Two minutes of silence were then observed followed by prayer in which the leader asked for communion with Jesus at all our meetings as He is our friend of friends.

"Take Time to Be Holy" brought this inspiring meditation to a close.

After a sing song the collection was reported. "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow" brought the morning's session to a close.

The Wellington W.A. served a delicious luncheon to over three hundred delegates and visitors in the basement of their spacious church.

Place of Prayer

The singing of "What a Fellowship, Sharing in Prayer" opened the afternoon session. Mrs. (Rev.) R. E. Newman, Belleville, had charge of the devotional period. She chose for her subject, "Prayer" during which prayer mentioned the prayer, "Breathe On Me Breath of God" was then sung after which Mrs. Newman read the tenth verse of the 46th Psalm and the sixth verse of the 119th Psalm. "Prayer is the Way, the Light, the Life, we want to know it and we want to resolve look for God but can we find Him? We see evidences of His works in science and industry but can He be found in all His fullness there?

Dissatisfied in these quarters we turn to our own lives, to find Him there. In some quiet place think on the secret of living. Be like while others are forgotten. What is His working philosophy? It is love, sympathy and sacrifice. Jesus came to give us the abundant life. He will again become our friend. His disciples with Him in our midst. Prayer gives us this fellowship with God. We do not make enough of prayer—of getting alone with God. If Christians again discovered the usefulness of prayer, if we would come into the influence of Jesus we would become Christ-like and in a spiritual way remedy the problems of unhappy homes, economic conditions and international difficulties as only they can be solved today. Mrs. Newman referred to a Scotchman who was very ill during a violent winter storm. When his daughter brought the Bible to read, the father told her he had thatched his house in the calm. Are we prepared for the storms of life?

Is prayer a real factor in our life? Jesus had a real garden for prayer. Alone we pass the gates of death, alone we fight our deadliest battles. In our hardest struggle we have the perfect prayer "Not my will but Thine be Done". We cannot live by bread alone. The path to prayer is still unused. And now abideth activity, organizing and prayer, but the greatest of these is prayer.

Mrs. Newman then read the following quotation:

"Have you and I today
Stood silent as with Christ, apart from joy or fray of life, to see His face;
To look but if a moment in its grace
And grow by brief companionship, more true
More served to lead ye dare, to do
For Him at any cost! Have we Found time in thought, our hand in His, and His our hand in ours
His will and ours, and wear
Through storm and flood; detect
His presence in life dim drear, its stain
Even a thought of love for Him again;
Steady the steps which waver,
The footpaths meant for you and me."

Prayer brought the devotional period to a close.

Round Table

The Round Table Conference, efficiently conducted by Rev. Sidford Dixon was very helpful and interesting. Questions if not all be repeated next year, Scope of the Women's Association; Duties of officers on articles to raise money, duties of flower committee, duties of treasurer, duties of secretary, duties of Mission Band leader, duties of W. A. way of collecting dues, the duties of Press Reporter, ways and means of collecting money, getting material for meetings, how to get new members and keep old ones interested, how to secure a president, duties of the president in regard to member's hands, and having all duties carried out, duties of the secretary and she summarize them. Mrs. Dixon closed her suggestions for next year—1 Discuss advisability of having a fee or consider every member belonging to the church. 2 W.A. member. 2 Send suitable flowers from the flower committee. 3 A short play put on by the W.A. as a special part of the convention programme.

Mesdames Leo Riggs and Morley Duff favored with a duet "Softly and Tenderly Jesus is Calling."

Mrs. Macklin read the letter from which amounted to over twenty dollars.

Task of Membership

Rev. D. Wren, Picton, then gave an inspiring address on "Task". "Is it Our Task as members or the church to be loyal to God?" Our task is still a spiritual one; although it is our duty to keep up our parsonages and churches, our spiritual task is the necessary one. Jesus left us great examples of duties our task in the building of the kingdom. Women all nations, regardless of color and creed come together to dwell. This book is the Bible, the Word. It is here the task of the establishment of the kingdom. Jesus came to live for us. To accomplish this we must have enlistment of men who are willing to devote themselves to the church, then go out and win the world. Jesus, living in a distracted world now—youth is fascinated and allured, enticed and whole sections of the world are ignoring God. President of Princeton University addressing the graduating class said, "you go out to take up your task of the world trying of the times" and Woodrow Wilson said this, "Christianity is not perfect unless it is redressed spiritually." Our contributions are valued according to their spiritual value. Our seeming problems are trivial when we look at them. Calvalism is a leader to lead the people through this world's struggle to the valley of hope. Will it be destruction or redemption? We stand or fall according as we members of whatever church. We must go out and face the foe, face to face on the battlefield but we must be equipped with the sword.

Triangular Man

Richard Hodgin an aged minister used to say "A triangular man is bound with his sermon on "The Triangular Man" Mrs. Wren. "The three worlds" he said, "Intellectual, Material and Spiritual." Today economic conditions control. We must bring in this day and generation the standard of the spiritual—the Master-Mind of Christ. We can never alone in a quiet place to God and receive strength. We pray in secret. He who hears in secret, will reward us openly. Christ was the sinlessest man that ever lived. A court came to see Hauffman's picture of Christ. He noticed a similarity of expression in the painter's face and the picture Hauffman had studied the life of Christ so closely and dreamed about his picture, that he had imbibed the spirit of Christ and his face radiated the glory of the new found Master. Mr. Wren referred to the heroism and loyalty of our pioneers who built, living are foundations. May we all build as surely for this temple where all may dwell. In closing he expressed the wish that all womanhood of our church in all our activities join this world upon their shoulders and lay it at the Master's feet, thus answering the call to sing "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name."

Next Meeting in Stirling

The resolutions Committee reported that the motto for the coming year would be "Worship the Lord in Spirit and in Truth." Resolutions of thanks were passed to the W.A. of Wellington, the choir of Wellington Church, those who assisted in the programme and the press for their co-operation.

The next convention will be held in St. Paul's United Church, Stirling.

Officers

The Nominating Committee brought in the following slate of officers for the coming year:

President: Rev. H. H. Hillis.
Hon. Organizer: Rev. Sidford Dixon.
President: Mrs. J. A. Lott, Frankford.
1st Vice President: Mrs. C. E. Macklin, Stirling.
2nd, Vice President: Mrs. Baxter, Bloomfield.
Secretary: Audra Brickman, Read-marville.
Treasurer: Mrs. A. F. Williams, Springbrook.
Press Reporter: Mrs. Clarence Holmes, Belleville 3.
Executive Committee: Mrs. J. M. Wood, St. Ola; Mrs. Morley Duff, Belleville; Mrs. Frank Harris, Wellington; Mrs. Fred Blakely, Trenton.

Mrs. H. H. Hillis then introduced and installed the above named officers.

Rev. H. H. Hillis pronounced the benediction which brought to a close a most successful convention which was full of interest socially, intellectually and spiritually.

CANNITON W. M. S.

The June meeting of the W.M.S. was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of the President, Mrs. S. H. Twiddy. The meeting was opened by the Vice-President, Mrs. Black. After singing a hymn, Mrs. Ewan Pound led in prayer and Mrs. Joel Brenton read the 16th of Mark from the Scripture lesson. The Watch Tower heralds Mrs. Brenton, Mrs. Mills and Miss Mills who gave short readings on Japan, Home Missions and India. The treasurer reported.

Miss Johns, leader of the group, then took charge of the programme which was on Temperance. Several real good readings were given by Mrs. Brenton, Mrs. Mills and the Devotional Leaflet, "Unselfish Friends." Hymn, "Land of Our Birth" was sung and Rev. Merrick pronounced the benediction.

The meeting served lunch after which a vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Twiddy and a hearty clap given for her hospitality.

MOIRA W.M.S.

The June meeting of the Moira W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. D. Thompson with a large number in attendance. The president, Mrs. Geo. Foster, opened the meeting with a hymn followed by a short prayer. The Scripture reading was Psalm 19 which was read responsively. The devotional leaflet which was "The Circle of Friendship" was read by Mrs. A. Bailey and followed by prayer. The minutes of last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. F. Emerson and the roll call was given.

This meeting was devoted to the temperance work and readings were given along these lines by Mrs. Bailey, Miss J. Henley, Mrs. D. Thompson, Mrs. Chas. Moreland, Mrs. Geo. Hodger and Miss Ruth Foster. A pleasing solo was then rendered by Mrs. Geo. Hollinger accompanied by Mrs. J. Williams followed by sentence prayers. A very interesting and inspiring letter was read from the Presbyterial vice-president in which many helpful suggestions were given to the auxiliary. A short poem was read by Mrs. F. Emerson. Mrs. Bailey was appointed to look after the program for the July meeting. The offering was received and the meeting closed with hymn 280, "One More Day's Work for Jesus" and a hostess served a delicious lunch and a half hour was spent in social intercourse.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS
TREATMENT
MEDICINE
MANUFACTURED BY THE DODD'S MEDICINE CO. LIMITED

To celebrate the Royal Jubilee
This clothes secret costs almost nothing
LUX will help you look adorably fresh and smart all the time! Ordinary soaps with harmful alkali—and cake-soap rubbing—tend to fade colours, shrink fabrics, make clothes seem dowdy and old. Lux has no harmful alkali. It keeps washing machines, blouses and dresses colour-fresh and charming for ages—a big economy, saving you many dollars that you can use for extra clothes.
Anything safe in water is safe in LUX
With the purchase of one Lux Jubilee Gift Package at your dealer will give you ABSOLUTELY FREE
one regular size Royal Jubilee Gift Package of Lux, together with a Jubilee Portrait of Their Majesties.
Get your free package today!

CLASSIFIED ADS POINT THE WAY TO SURE PROFITS

Business Directory

AUTO LOANS
AND REFINANCING
Direct with Owner On Financing of All Kinds.
G. J. FISHER & SON.
39 Bridge St. East Telephone 189
Belleville
Campbell Auto Finance Co. Ltd.
Toronto - Ottawa - London - Windsor

CHIROPRACTOR
R. A. WYATT, Ph.D., CHIROPRACTOR and Drugless Therapist. Radiodiet examination and treatment. Electro coagulation of bowels and haemorrhoids. Spinal and foot adjustments. Manipulative surgery with electrical treatments avoids many operations. 24 Coleman street, Belleville. Phone 1377.

TESS S. FITCHES, CHIROPRACTOR and R. N. FITCHES, Chiropractor and Drugless Therapist, Radiodiet Treatment and Treatment. Ultra Violet and Infra-Red Ray. Electrical Treatments. 62½ Bridge St. E., Belleville, Ont., Phone 1376.

DENTIST
DR. ROBT. H. EMPSON
DENTIST
X-Ray 393½ Front St.
Belleville 17-26b

RADIO SERVICE
JOHN A. DEWAR
RADIO TECHNICIAN
Kenwood — Grundig
365 John St. Phone 727

SURVEYORS
FRANK AYLESWORTH
Ontario Land Surveyor and Engineer
Professional Civil Engineering. Mine, Timber, Land Examinations, Reports, Plans and Descriptions.
PHONE 6 — P. O. BOX 89
MADOC, ONT.

INSURANCE
Protect yourself against accidents with our Automobile Insurance
SANDY BURROWS
and
HOWARD FROST
Life and Fire Insurance Phone 120
261 Front St.

HALL & EARLE
General Insurance, Fire, Automobile, Accident and Plate Glass
328 Front St. Phone 1154-W

STOCKS & BONDS
DUNCAN AND CRAWFORD, BROKERS of Toronto Stock Exchange. Phone 1126. F. H. Wills, branch manager. 82-tf

LEGAL
WALLBRIDGE, CAMERON AND CO. (Successors to the late F. B. Wallbridge), Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Money to loan. Dominion Bank Building, Belleville. Trust and Bridge streets, Napanee, Ontario.

MALONEY, WRIGHT, BARRISTER, Solicitor, Notary Public, Etc. Office: Campbell St., Belleville.

V. Y. WILLS, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Notary Public, Etc. 13 Campbell St., Belleville. Telephone 1111.

PORTER, PAYNE AND ARNOTT, BARristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public. Chas. A. Payne, K.C. R. D. Arnott. Offices: 212 Front St. Phone 1126.

POWTON AND GRAHAM, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Commissioners, etc. Offices: Bank of Montreal Chambers, Bank of Montreal, Money to loan at lowest rates. W. N. Powton, K.C., B. J. E. Graham. Office: Belleville.

DONNAN AND BUTLER, R. C. Donnan, K.C., H. C. Butler, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public and Commissioners. Office: Court House Building, Belleville. Ont. Phone 228.

27
Everett Street
Very Desirable House
For Sale
AT LOW PRICE AND REASONABLE TERMS
Brick House — Living Room — Dining Room — Kitchen on 2 Bed Room — Sleeping Room — 3 Piece Bath — Gas — Garage. Worth investigating.
Belleville Locators
GEO. N. GORMAN Prop.
196 Front St.
Phone 39 House Phone 687

BUY NOW AND MAKE WORK

PHONE 99
Classified Ad. Rates

SOCIAL NOTICES—Births, 50c; Marriages and Engagements Notices, $1.00; Deaths and Funeral Notices, $1.00; Floral Tributes, 10c a line; In Memoriam, $1.00; Memorial Poetry, minimum charge, $1.00 for 12 lines, over line 10c per second line; Lodge Meeting Announcements, $1.00 per insertion.

CLASSIFIED—For Sale, Wanted, Etc.—1½c per word each for first TWO insertions; subsequent insertions 1c per word, minimum 25 words.

COMING EVENTS—25c per insertion for 25 words or under, over that 1c per word.

PROFESSIONAL, LEGAL AND BUSINESS CARDS (Yearly Contract)—$5.00 per month per inch.

OFFICIAL, SEMI-OFFICIAL AND GOVERNMENT NOTICES (Including Municipal Council Meetings)—Same as agate line 11c (time to time) 14c (Casual) Minimum $1.00.

AUCTION SALE—3c per word, headlines to count as 12 words and minimum 25 words for 75c consecutive insertions, 3c per word.

An initial or figure counts as one word.

In estimating allow five words to the line.

Telephone your Want Ads when is most convenient.

The Ontario Intelligencer will not be responsible for more than one insertion of an incorrect ad. Phone us if in doubt.

Advertisers may have their replies addressed to Box Number care of the Ontario Intelligencer.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Sanford James Gorman wish to thank their friends for many kindnesses shown them during their bereavement and for the use of cars at the funeral. 27-1b

DIED

ROSE—At the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Bonter, Rose Hill Farm, Thurlow Township, on Thursday, May 30th, 1935, Ann Rose, widow of Charles Rose, in her 83rd year.

The funeral will take place from above address on Saturday, June 8, at 2 p.m. (D.S.T.). Interment in Belleville Cemetery. 27-1b

DIED

PRINCE—In Belleville on Thursday, June 6, 1935, Mrs. Jas. Ann Prince, widow of William Prince, in her 68th year.

The funeral will take place from her late residence, 130 Burnside Ave., on Sunday, June 9, Service in the home at 2 p.m. (D.S.T.). Interment in Belleville Cemetery. 27-1b

TICKELL & BROWNE
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
We Strive To Lead
FUNERAL HOME
Corner Church St. and Victoria Ave. Phone 1222

BELLEVILLE BURIAL COMPANY
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
87 Campbell St. Phone
Phone 716-W Day and Night
J. W. ENLAH
Proprietor
Successor to Clyde For Sale

Thomas O. Thompson
Funeral Director
Funeral Home
32 Everett St. Phone 62
Office
282 Front St. Phone 62

WANTED

RELIABLE MAN FOR HUNDRED STORE route, this county. No seller; distribute sample. Experience unnecessary. Should net sixty dollars weekly. Apply Mr. Lowell, Lowell, Mass.

LOAN ON GOOD ON SOLD ASSIGNMENT, (farm property). Write Box "O" Ontario Intelligencer.

COMPETENT MIDDLE AGED HOUSEkeeper at once. Apply 190 George street. 27-2b

TO LET

38 ISABEL STREET AND 36 CHATHAM street. Apply 265 Front street. 27-2b

SIX ROOM HOUSE, ALL CONVENiences, new roof. Apply 20 Bleecker street, phone 1237-W. 27-2b

SEVEN ROOM BRICK HOUSE, Dundas No. 81 West Bridge. Apply 73 West Bridge. Phone 475. 27-2b

SUITE OF UNFURNISHED ROOMS suitable for light housekeeping. Apply 13 Main street south. 27-2b

SUMMER COTTAGES, ICE, RUNNING water, fireplaces, screened, $10. Phone 290. 23-2t

HOUSE, PINDACLE STREET. PHONE 1237-W. Apply 20 Bleecker street. 27-2b

Victoria Street. Phone 1237-W. 27-2b

123 WEST MOIRA, ALL MODERN IMprovements, garage and garden. Ready July 1. Reliable parties only need apply. Apply 30 Crove street. 27-2b

SEVERAL UNFURNISHED HEATED apartments. All conveniences. 227 Bleecker street. Apply 225 same. M26-27

APARTMENT HEATED AND FURNISHED or part furnished for light housekeeping. Apply 176 Foster Ave. M2-tf

MEDIUM SIZED APARTMENT, HEATed, Bartwood Shore, electric refrigerator and stove. Immediate possession. Apply Ontario Intelligencer. M5-27

FOR SALE

CHEAP FOR CASH — 2 ROOM HOUSE, Division street, Trenton, central location. Full lot, garden, fruit trees. Write Box 141, Trenton.

RECONDITIONED ICE BOXES SACRIfice in price. Space needed for storage of everything for kitchen use. Write Box 141, Trenton.

DESIRABLE BRICK HOUSE, 43 HIGHland avenue. See it. Lockwood, corner of Highland for inspection.

1931 DODGE SPECIAL SEDAN, LICENSED until April 1936. Motor and tires in good town car with license. Time allowed. Terms cash down payment. Apply Lafferty's Garage. 27-1b

'36 CHEVROLET COACH, FIRST CLASS condition, just been gone over. Privately owned. Write Box "D" Ontario Intelligencer. 27-1b

TAPESTRY COVERED DIVANETTE, gas stove with oven. Perfect condition. Mrs. Mark Tucker, first house on left Avondale road, Trenton Road. 27-1b

COMPLETE OUTFARM FOR HOT DOG stand or other purpose. Apply 43 Bridge street west, phone 215. 27-1b

PERSONAL

KIPP'S UNEQUALLED KIDD TABLETS 50 for Ontario and Quebec Residents 25 cents. Postpaid in Dominion. 22 23 24 27 28 31 32 3 7 10 13 14

BUSINESS LINERS

RADIO LICENSES
Expired last day of March. Phone R. Bradshaw, 25-W; Leo Barker, 1036; Fred Milne, 1376, for your License Gathered to your door. 27-1b

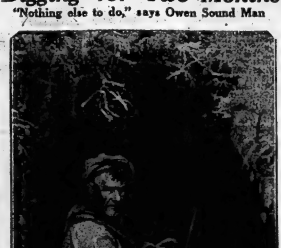
BUSINESS CHANGE
The Uptown Meat Market is now under the management of Mrs. Jessie Orser and I will not be responsible for any accounts accrued from May 30.
Mrs. Jessie Orser. 27-1b

READ Before You BUY!

ATTEMPT TO SHOOT IS CHARGE LAID

Thomas Claxton, Picton, Arrested in Home by Chief Biddle

Picton, June 7 (Special)—Thomas Claxton, middle aged man, residing on Union Street in Picton was arrested shortly after six o'clock Thursday evening by Chief Biddle charged with "intent to shoot his wife." He was lodged in the County Jail to appear for a hearing some time this afternoon.



According to information, it is alleged by the man, that his wife left his bed and board and came to Belleville with another man and that Claxton broke up his home, sold most of the furniture, and with his own two children took up his residence in a barn owned by a neighbor. It was further learned by police, they stated from the husband that he came to Belleville on Monday, June 3rd, to secure information respecting his wife and baby and also returned to Picton on Thursday afternoon, taking up with them and was aided by George Shane who managed to take the gun from the man while others called the police. Chief Biddle was soon on the scene and placed the man under arrest, later placing him in the county jail.

Watch Holway Bros.
?
IT WON'T BE LONG NOW!

WEEK-END KODAK FILMS
FRESH
LAURA SECORDS
BATHING CAPS
BATHING SHOES
DOLAN
THE DRUGGIST
PHONE 138

Treasure Lure Keeps Man Digging for Two Months

"Nothing else to do," says Owen Sound Man

"CHUB" LAPIERRE

By Central Press Canadian

Owen Sound, June 6—Two months ago, "Chub" Lapierre, who says he has nothing much else to do, started digging for buried treasure.

He's still digging, prodding his way between the rocks on the land of the late Joseph Ashash.

"It's said that Ashash buried coins to the value of over 50,000 somewhere on his estate, and Lapierre philosophy on the matter is that says the only place he could have buried it is where he is digging, since it is the only spot where the land being solid rock.

The property now belonging to John Ashash, friend of the persistent digger.

"Sometimes I think it's here and sometimes I think it isn't. Oh well, I've nothing else to do," says Lapierre, who is a carpenter.

EUROPE'S MOST RECENT ROYAL WEDDING

Princess Ingrid, granddaughter of King Gustav V of Sweden, is wearing her bouquet as she leaves Stockholm's 12th century Storkyrka church on the arm of her groom, Crown Prince Frederick of Denmark. Three kings attended the brilliant ceremony that was marked by a glittering pageant of old world pomp.

TURNS TO LOOK—Rosemont, con queror of Omaha in the Withers, turns to look at the camera as his picture is taken at Belmont park.

WIN LETTERS—Co-eds of Maryland win letters for cheer-leading. Left to right, Jane Kennedy, Sue Ida Hooper and Happy Mollman, the last of batting leaders.

"TIRED OF IT ALL"

GRETA GARBO

Just as a New York-bound train, which she almost missed, pulled out of a Chicago railroad station, Greta Garbo, posed for an instant in the doorway of her compartment for the benefit of cameramen. Bound for a vacation in her native Sweden, the glamorous film star became almost stranded in the railroad yards as anxious was she to avoid photographers.

UP AND DOWN

WALTER BROWN

In and out of the big leagues — that's Walter Brown, who has been up with the Yankees several times only to end up in the minor leagues again. This year he again went to the New Yorkers after starting the pitching championship of the International League with Newark last year.

PIRATES LIKE HIM

Floyd Vaughan

FLOYD VAUGHAN

Crack Pittsburg Pirate infielder, who in addition to playing a stellar defensive role is aiding the Bucs with some timely hitting. Vaughan is a sparkling, snappy player and his stickwork has him well up in the list of batting leaders.

"Current Attractions at Local Theatres"

What Local Theatre Managers Have to Say About Current Offerings

AT THE CAPITOL

"Go Into Your Dance"

Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler Star in Thrilling, Tuneful Musical Comedy

Screen audiences were given a long awaited treat last night at the Capitol Theatre when Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler were seen together for the first time in the sensational smash hit "Go Into Your Dance."

Spectacular dance ensembles were staged by Bobby Connolly with scores of Hollywood's most beautiful chorus girls. One of the most unique and striking numbers is a mammoth replica of the universe inter-cut with all the railway routes of the globe in four directions representing the evolution of the tango from the pampas of the Argentine to Park Avenue and throughout the world. The dance, with a hundred beautiful girls, is led by Jolson and Miss Keeler, who sing "A Latin from Manhattan."

Al Jolson has the role of a Broadway entertainer, who barred from the New York stage, because he quits his shows without notice, his weakness being wine, women and song. He winds up in California at the race tracks, trying up with a headache and without a job.

Glenda Farrell plays the part of his devoted sister who gets him straightened up, and finally convincing him that Broadway can go to hell. Ken Murray, who has a part in the Capitol show, is also in Chicago with a partner. She has already persuaded Ruby Keeler, who has the role of a clever dancer on the Wee stage, to team with her brother.

There is a series of exciting incidents the New York opening comes off in a real story that is an unusual and surprising climax.

There is a talented supporting cast including Helen Morgan as a beer-drinking pal; Benny Baker, as a forest ranger, and Willie Fung, as an oriental houseboy.

The picture is based on "Make It Two," by Gerald Beaumont and Lillie, by Vance Hoyt, noted writers of racing books.

A medal for patience should be awarded to the director, Sheridan Franklin, who worked for about two years to record nature's scenery with a camera.

"Royal Cavalcade" Unique

"Royal Cavalcade," a glorified pageant re-enacted by England's foremost artists, is announced as the most elaborate and talented on the same program. England's greatest stars appear such great names as Capt. Scott's dash to the Pole; Suffragette Riots; the War; Signing of the Armistice; Peace Rejoicings; the General strike; the growth of the Empire during the reigns of the past 25 years. It is unlike well to remember that "Royal Cavalcade" is not a News-reel but a full-length feature, the screen's tribute to the reunion of its silver jubilee, "The Law of the Wild" chapters play Tuesday Nan and Rin-Tin-Tin will be exhibited Saturday matinee. Two complete shows will be presented Saturday evening at 7.00 and 9.10 p. m.

AT THE PRINCESS

"Escapade"

Greatest Experience in a Motion Picture Theatre Promised in "Royal Cavalcade" on Same Program

The perfect answer to the demand for wholesome and inspiring pictures that has swept the screen world recently is offered in "Escapade", startling and unusual natural drama featuring Jean Parker, and coming to the Belle Tomorrow and Monday, matinee and evening.

Filmed amid the grandeurs of Sequoia National Park, the outdoor drama is as new and fresh as mountain air in the exxtraordinary entertainment values. Literally "something new under the cinema sun", it is proving a sensation.

Love Amid Thrills

With Miss Parker and Rardie as the young people who find love amin the grandeur of the giant trees in Sequoia National Park, there is also the most stirring drama or animal life ever filmed.

A deer and a mountain lion, two of nature's deadliest enemies, were photographed in their natural haunts from the time they were two weeks old until a friendship developed that lasted until maturity. After they pass the "bottle fed" stage, their instinct to fight with each other is transferred to a battle with wild.

Hundreds of deer on migration are shown leaping windbreaks over mountains in the New York on account of remote Sierra regions; more than a dozen varieties of wild fur are revealed in their natural haunts, including coyotes, bears, raccoons, eagles, mountain lions and small action cubs.

The Few Human Players

The few human players in the supporting cast with Jean Parker and Rardie, include Samuel Hinds as a naturalist-writer; Paul Hurst as a deer-catching poacher; Addison Brophy, as a forest ranger, and Willie Fung, as an oriental houseboy.

The picture is based on "Make It Two," story of Lassen Peak, by Lillie, by Vance Hoyt, noted writer of nature books.

A medal for patience should be awarded to the director, Sheridan Franklin, who worked for about two years to record nature's scenery with a camera.

"Royal Cavalcade" Unique

"Royal Cavalcade," a glorified pageant re-enacted by England's foremost artists, is announced as the most elaborate and talented on the same program. England's great stars appear such great names as Capt. Scott's dash to the Pole; Suffragette Riots; the War; Signing of the Armistice; Peace Rejoicings; the General strike; the growth of the Empire during the reigns of the past 25 years. It is unlike well to remember that "Royal Cavalcade" is not a News-reel but a full-length feature, the screen's tribute to the reunion of its silver jubilee, "The Law of the Wild" chapters play Tuesday Nan and Rin-Tin-Tin will be exhibited Saturday matinee. Two complete shows will be presented Saturday evening at 7.00 and 9.10 p. m.

CHOLERA IS FEARED IN SHAKEN INDIA

Simla, India, June 7 (AP)—Grave fears of a serious outbreak of cholera, arising from the decaying bodies of more than 30,000 victims still buried in the earthquake levelled ruins of Quetta, were expressed in a communique issued by the Indian Government.

RADIO PROGRAMS
— Daylight Saving Time —

FRIDAY

4.00—Betty and Bob—WJZ.
5.00—Westminster Choir Festival Program—WEAF.
6.30—News, Jack Hunter—CFRB
7.00—Amos 'n' Andy—WJZ
7.15—Tony and Gus—WJZ
7.15—Stories of the Black Chambers—WEAF.
7.30—Pickard Sisters—WEAF.
7.45—Uncle Ezra's Radio Station—WEAF.
8.00—Irene Rich—WJZ.
8.00—Lelb Sterner Orch.—WABC
8.00—Concert, Jessica Dragonette, WEAF.
8.15—Morton Downey—WJZ
8.30—College Prom: Ruth Etting, Red Nichols Orch.—WJZ
8.30—Court of Human Relations—WABC
9.00—Wayne Time, Frank Munn, tenor; Abe Lyman's Orchestra—WEAF, CFRB, CKAC
9.00—Hollywood Hotel—WABC
9.00—Beatrice Lillie, comedienne—WJZ
9.30—Phil Baker—WJZ
9.30—Tp be Announced—WEAF
10.00—Meetin' House—WJZ.
10.00—Richard Himber's Orch.—WABC
10.00—Press Highter, drama—WEAF
10.30—Circus Nights in Silvertown—WEAF.
10.30—Col. Stoopnagle and Budd—WABC
11.15—Jack Crawford, organist—WEAF.

SATURDAY

9.00—Breakfast Club—WJZ
11.00—Galaxy of Stars—WBEN
11.00—Cincinnati Conservatory of Music—WABC
12.00—A. Capella Choir—WABC
1.15—Festic Spa—WABC
3.00—Eddie Duchin's Orchestra—WJZ
5.30—Captivators.—WABC
6.30—News, Jim Hunter—CFRB
7.30—The Jamboree—WEAF
7.30—To be announced—WABC
7.45—Carl Frank's Harmonica Band—WGN
8.45—Grace Hayes songs—WJZ
9.00—Modern Minstrels — WABC
9.00—Phil Cook's Show Shop.—WJZ
9.00—Hit Parade, Lennie Hayton's Orch.—WEAF.
9.30—Dorsey Bros.—WJZ
9.45—Big Moments in Sports—CFRB
9.30—Radio City Party—WJZ
10.00—Navy Band—WABC
9.30—Barn Dance—WJZ
9.30—Chateau: Jack Jolson—WBEN
9.30—Freddie Rich Entertains—WABC
10.30—California Melodies—WABC
10.30—To be announced—WEAF
10.30—Camfire Carnival—WJZ.
11.30—News—CFCT
11.30—Paul Whiteman's Orch.—WJZ
11.30—Claude Hopkins' Orch.—WABC
11.30—Wayne King's Orch.—WGN
11.30—Ray Noble's Orch.—WEAF

FOR RELIABLE INFORMATION ON INSURANCE
and INVESTMENTS
CONSULT
JAMIESON BONE & CO.
INSURANCE INVESTMENTS

FINANCIAL MARKETS

NEW YORK - TORONTO - WINNIPEG

TORONTO STOCKS CLOSE

Toronto, June 7.—(CP)—Lacking news of a stimulating nature, trading got down to another dull session today with prices at the close showing more losses than gains. The day's turnover was little better than 200 shares and centred mainly in two oils, Imperial and British American along with Nickel, Westons, Fanny Farmer and Moore Corporation. Liquor, Foods and Steels were all inactive while Miscellaneous Shares were fairly firm at the close.

Interest in the industrial section was at low ebb while traders stood aside to see if a definite trend. The oils, particularly Imperial and British American, turned over in fair quantity with the former off 1-8 and the latter up the same fraction. Nickel also was inactive. Consolidated Smelters a little stronger.

Setting of Westons in the first hour which carried the price back a point to 97 and subsequent recovery to 80 as the shorts covered, featured the Food group. Canada Bread, Class A, Dominion Stores, Bank and Construction shares were quiet and prices steady.

NEW YORK CLOSE

New York, June 7 (AP)—Quiet but selective buying kept the stock market in a fairly pleasant frame of mind today. At the same time scattered declines were in evidence and the late trend was a shade irregular.

Gainers of fractions to around a point included Allied Chemical, Packard, American Telephone, Johns-Manville, U. S. Gypsum, Spiegel-May-Stern and Liggett and Myers "B". Most of the utilities, steels, oils, motors and rails were about unchanged to moderately lower. The transfers approximated 650,000 shares.

TORONTO MINES CLOSE

Toronto, June 7.—(CP)—Trading lapsed into a very dull condition today on the mining section of the Toronto exchange, with total volume under 40,000 shares. The general price tone was a bit soft but there were not a few of important exception for Bralorne's swing downward to a new low for the year on the announcement that more current dividend had been passed. Base Metal and silver stocks were steadier than the golds and the oils displayed little action.

Passing of the dividend by Bralorne gave the stock a jolt today and the price sagged to 4.40 at the mining section. Other gold stocks were quiet and unable to firm while silvers and base metals were also steady in decidedly slow trading.

An advance of more than a shilling in the bar gold price failed to stimulate trading. Of the former Mining Corporation and Noranda were in some demand at price advances and other base metals merely held their ground. In the silvers, Castle and Erdman picked up a shade slightly and other shares of the group were unchanged. In the first three hours only about 200,000 shares changed hands.

WALL STREET FINANCIAL

NEW YORK, June 7.—(AP)—While urgent sellers, generally, were not present in today's stock market, enthusiastic buyers also were absent and the majority of prices hugged a narrow range.

In the Canadian Department of the list, International Nickel was a bit lower while Alcans improved slightly, Canadian Pacific ruled unchanged. On the curb, Lake Shore was fractionally higher but Hiram Walker eased. Dominion Government Bonds improved a trifle. Canadian Funds were unchanged.

Among those moving ahead a point or so were Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Spiegel-May-Stern, Johns-Manville, Liggett and Meyers "B", U. S. Gypsum, Union Carbide, Columbian Carbon, Eastman Kodak and Du Pont.

U. S. Steel, Case, Montgomery Ward, Westinghouse, Homestake, U. S. Smelting and Standard Oils of New Jersey and California were inclined to slip.

UNLISTED MINES

Unlisted mines furnished by A. H. Robinson and Co., today:

Casey 14-16.
Coni. Chib. 90-40.
Forty Four 400-600.
Gold Eagle 30-32.
Great Bear Lake 63-66.
Hardrock 40-51.
Lamaque 175-182.
McLeod 4-5.
Manitenhurst 19-12.
Okland 34-37.
Smelters 6-7.
Sharkey 41-44.
Stargeon River 85-86.
Wingold 13-15.
Young Davidson 17-30.

Stock Markets

Quotations furnished by Biggar and Crawford, P. H. Wills, branch manager. Quotations at 2.15.

Ashley 10 1-2B.
Ajax 7 3B
Acme 22
Brett Trethi 22
Barry Hollinger 3 1-2B
Base Metals 66B
Bobjo 22 1-2
Bidgood 71
Bradian 186
Bagamac 4 3-4
Bralorne 461B
Castle Trethi 102
Chamberlain 136
Dome 42250B
Dominion Explor 35
Eldorado 18B
Falconbridge 374
God's Lake 151
Goldale 11 3-4
Granada 30B
Gwillim Red. 28 1-2
Hollinger 1500
Halcrow 28
Hasaga 1 3-4B
Hudsons Bay 1500B
Howey 80B
Inter Nickel 26 1-4B
Kirkland Lake 49
Kirk Townsite 13B
Lake Shore 2250B
Little Long Lac 505B
Malartic 10
Maple Leaf 7B
McIntyre 43500B
Mining Corp 137B
McKenzie 22
McWatters 134B
McWittie 15 1-2B
Nipissing 240B
Noranda 2665B
Pioneer 97B
Parkhill 20
Premier 180B
Reade Auth 67B
Reno 143B
St. Anthony 20
Sherritt 98B
Sisco 27B
San Antonio 23B
Stadacona 21 1-2
Sudbury Basin 143B
Sylvanite 225B
Teck Hughes 613
Ventures 33 1-2B
Wayside 12 1-2
Waite Amulet 553B
Wright Hargreaves 850B
Pickle Crow
Paymaster 25 1-4B

Toronto.

Bell Telephone 136B.
B. A. Oil 19 1-4.
Brewing Corporation 3½.
Brazilian Traction 9¼.
Canada Bud 8.
Canada Cement 61½B.
Canada Dredge 22½B.
Can. Industrial Alcohol 75½B.
C.P.R. 15¾.
Canada Malting 32.
Canada Vinegar 27½B.
Canada Car 7B.
Cons. Bakeries 15½B.
Dominion Stores 7¼B.
Con. Smelting 169B.
Distillers Seagrams 18¼B.
Ford "A" 25¼B.
Gypsum 5¼B.
Goodyear 186B.
Imperial Oil 21B.
Inter. Petroleum 36¼B.
Imperial Tobacco 13B.
Loblaw 18½.
Massey Harris 4¼.
Montreal Power 28½B.
McColl Frontenac 13¼B.
Power Corporation 7.
Steel of Canada 47B.
Supertest 26½B.
Shawinigan 161½B.
Walkers 215¾B.
Walkers Preferred 175B.
Walkerville 34¾B.

NEW YORK

American Can. 126.
American T. and T. 127.
Amer. For. Power 3 7-8.
Anaconda 14 3-4.
Auburn 19.
Case 52.
Chrysler 44 1-8.
General Motors 29 3-8.
Gen. Auto Lite 20.
Inter. Telephone 8.
North American 13 5-8.
Montgomery Ward 25 3-8.
Phillips Pet. 20 3-4.
Radio 5 1-8.
Standard Oil of N.J. 46 7-8.
Standard Brands 14 3-4.
Stewart-Warner 9 1-4.
U.S. Rubbers 107 1-8.
U.S. Steel 31 3-4.
United Aircraft 12 1-4.
Westinghouse 47.
General Elec. 35.
American Rad. 13 1-2.

POWER BONDS

Gatineau's 5 percent 87 1-4B.
6 percent A. 72 1-4B.
6 percent B. 71 1-2B.
Beauharnois
5 1-2 percent 86 1-4B.
5 percent 33B.
MacLaren, Que. 77 1-2B.
Duke Price 99 1-4B.
Abitibi 20B.
Can. Northern Power 90 1-4B.
Ottawa Valley 90 1-2B.

Produce Markets

(By United Farmers Co-Operative Company)

Toronto. — Wholesale prices on product delivered at Toronto as supplied by the United Farmers Co-operative Co. here to-day were:

Buying Prices

Eggs—
Grade A, large, doz. .... .19
Grade A, medium, doz. .... .17
Grade C, doz. .... .15

Butter—
Ontario No. 1 Creamery, lb. .... .30½
Ontario No. 2 Creamery, lb. .... .30½
Cheese—
No. 1 lb. .... .21
No. 2 lb. .... .18

(F.O.B. shipping point)
Poultry

Heavy—	Live "A"	Dressed "A"
Over 5 lbs.	.11	.14
4 to 5 lbs.	.10	.13
3 to 4 lbs.	.11	.15
Under 3 lbs.	.09	.12
Broilers 3 to 3 1-2		.14
Broilers 3 1-2 lb.		.13
Broilers 3 1-4 to 3 1-2		.12

Selling Prices

United Farmers Co-Operative Co. today were offering products to retail dealers as the following prices:

Eggs—
Grade A large loose, doz. .... .21
Grade A, medium, doz. .... .19
Grade B, medium, doz. .... .18
Grade C, doz. .... .16

Butter—
No. 1 Creamery, prints 32½
No. 2 Creamery, prints .... .31

Hay and Straw

No. 2 timothy hay, baled ton, $13.50 to $14.00; No. 3 timothy hay ton, $11.50 to $12.50; mixed hay, baled, ton $10.00; oats straw, $7.50 to $8.50.

Graded Egg Prices

Toronto dealers today were paying the following prices for graded eggs, cases free:

Grade A, large, doz. .... .18
Grade A, large, doz. .... .17
"A" pullets, doz. .... .16

Grain Markets

Closing quotations on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange furnished by A. H. Ketcheson and Co. today:

	Wheat	Oats	Barley
October	83¾	35¾	35½
July	83¾	40¼	40¾
October	85¾	35¾	35½
July	42¾	41¼	41½
October	41	39¾	41¾
Rye
July	44¾	43¾	44¼
October	46¾	45¾	46

HOGS

Toronto, June 7 (CP)—Gains of five to 25 cents featured the Canadian hog prices at three reporting market points today while five others held steady. Chatham was up 25 cents. Stratford 15 and Barrie 10 on today's prices:

Chatham, $8.75; Peterboro $8.85; Barrie, $8.60; Stratford, $8.50; Brantford, $9.00 Kitchener, $9.00; Hull, $9.25; London, $8.90.

JIMMY BARCLAY IS NOT SERIOUSLY HURT

Dr. R. A. Flynn, club physician of the Belleville baseball club, announced this afternoon that no serious injuries were sustained by Catcher Jim Barclay of the local senior club, following his being hit with a pitched ball during yesterday's game. Barclay was removed to the Belleville General Hospital directly following the Peterboro-Belleville game last night, where he will be confined for a week or two. "Barclay was complaining of soreness in his left side, near the heart, but an X-ray photograph, taken this morning, showed no fracture," stated Dr. Flynn this afternoon.

CORROBORATION IN PART MADE

Warden of Kingston Penitentiary Gives Evidence

OTTAWA, June 7.—(CP)—Col. W. B. Mcgloughlin, former warden of Kingston Penitentiary, today corroborated in part an affidavit by Dr. A. G. Hall, former convict, charging Inspector J. D. Dawson of the Penitentiaries Branch once said of Miss Agnes Macphail, southeast Grey House of Commons member, "Aggie made a . . . . . of herself."

Miss Macphail was granted an investigation of Hall's allegation. Dawson had made the remark to him during a conversation, Mcgloughlin told the Investigating Commissioner, Judge E. D. Daly. Dawson made a similar remark to him after he recalled that Miss Macphail was interested in the case of Convict Charles Baynes.

WOMEN OCCUPIES BENCH

Brockville, Ont., June 7—(CP)—For the first time on the bench, a woman occupied the bench of the Magistrate's Court here when Mrs. Alice Grange of Kingston sat in judgment on a charge of drunkenness against Mrs. Elizabeth Blum, Toronto, for buying old gold without a license.

QUEEN VICTORIA SCHOOL CADETS TAKE 1ST PLACE

Queen Mary School Corps Awarded Second Place

CONTEST CLOSE

The annual cadet inspections of the Belleville Public Schools were held on Thursday and today with Captain Poulton, district cadet inspector of the Kingston Training School inspecting them.

Only three of the four public schools took part in the inspection, namely: Queen Mary, Queen Alexandra and Queen Victoria. The Queen Alexandra School corps was inspected Thursday afternoon and the Queen Mary held theirs in the afternoon. Both were held on their respective school grounds. Queen Victoria had their inspection at the assembly hall this morning due to inclement weather. Queen Victoria had the largest turnout with four platoons present, while Queen Mary had three and Queen Alexandra had two. Great credit is due the cadets on their dress parade and military precision in the manoeuvres.

The different corps went through their platoon drills and marches with expert military precision and every cadet performed like a veteran. The march past the colours in column of fours and platoons and the rifle drill were excellent, especial interest this year was the physical exercises performed by the boys. Each school had a special class and other movements were a part of the gymnastics.

Captain Foulkes declared that the Queen Victoria Corps presented the best all-round performance in the city, but Queen Mary School ran a close second. In all the corps were excellent. He informed the press that the Belleville cadet corps had made a remarkable progress since they measured with the best in the district in efficiency and military drill.

Captain Foulkes congratulated all the corps on their excellent turnout and also their cleanliness and decorum. Their physical exercises drill and inspection has been highly satisfactory. He "ill make a report on whether your cadet suit doesn't match, its the cleanness that makes the difference. A cadet who has his buttons shined and his appearance good, fits in well with the corps that he is a unit of. Cadet training is beneficiary in that it teaches one to be clean and tidy and also teaches discipline and how to obey, and also through obeying also teaches one a name for himself." Particular praise was given by Captain Foulkes to the drummer of Queen Victoria School on his excellent performance. He also mentioned the valuable asset to a cadet corps in that it brings out a fine marching performance of a corps" declared the Inspecting Officer.

Col. E. A. Geen, chairman of the Board of Education and commanding officer of the Queen Victoria Cadet Battery, accompanied Capt. Foulkes on his tour of inspection and commended on the fine showing made by the cadets and told them they had been a valuable asset to the school and that they should be proud of their turnout and drill.

The officers of the three schools are as follows:

Queen Victoria School

Capt. Norman Gerow, O.C.
Cadet Lieutenant-Major Kennedy.
Norman Yerrow, Melville Gariepy, Thomas Burley.
Lt. Jack Jackson, O.C. of Signalers.

Quarter Master Sergeant C. Juby.
Sergeant-Major—C. Caverly.
A silver medal was presented to Capt. Norman Gerow for shooting prowess, 3 bronze medals presented for shooting to Arthur Mansfield, Stewart McBride, and Frank Scott.

Queen Mary School

Capt. Thomas Hyland, O. C.
Capt. Bill Gordon, 2nd in command.
Cadet Lieutenants—Gordon Palmer, Ken Chaplin, Douglas Windsor.
Quarter Master Sergeant—Boyd Cronk.
Sergeants—Fergus Hall, Douglas Sword and Max Scott.

Jack Lundberg was presented with a medal for the best rifle shot in the school.

Queen Alexandra School

Capt. Jim Stone, O. C.
Lieutenants—Mark Storms, Willis Stone.

Quarter Master Sergeant—Robert Stevenson.

Sergeant-Major—Joe Semaine.
Sergeants—Douglas Martin and Eugene Shorts.

R.C.M.P. POST IS INSPECTED

District Inspector Savoy of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, accompanied by Sergeant H. Moore, in charge of the local district, inspected the Belleville detachment of the R. C. M. P. today. Lance Corporal J. C. McPhee and Constable Johnson of the local office reported the activities of the local detachment. Inspector Savoy passed favourable comment on the work of the local officers.

Enraged Elephant Kills Little Girl

Crookston, Minn., June 7—(AP)—An infuriated circus elephant, which charged the length of the "big top" upsetting seats and spreading panic among 1,000 persons, killed a nine-year-old girl and left a score of persons nursing injuries today.

Margaret Ann Francis, who gaily had led her pony, sister, Geraldine, 7, to seats in the bleacher section a few minutes earlier, was trampled by the beast and died soon after in the hospital.

Injuries to the others, trapped when the bleachers collapsed, were confined mostly to cuts and bruises.

CURIO EXHIBIT FEATURES TEA

Garden And House Party Held by Christ Church W. A.

The lovely garden and home of Mrs. Bruce Vanderkoort were thronged with guests yesterday for the afternoon tea, arranged by the members of the Woman's Auxiliary of Christ Church, in addition to the usual attractions of an event of this nature were the displays of curios from the collection of historical and artistic interest.

Mrs. E. Johnson, Deseronto, the only surviving daughter of the famous Indian chieftain and scholar, Dr. Oronhyatekha was in charge of a table of articles. Mrs. Johnson wears a smoke-quartz ring means 'Moving Sun' is an unusually interesting personality. She is widely travelled and many of the curios on display were collected by her on her journeys. She made nine trips to Europe in her younger days and many countries and spending two winters in Constantinople.

Among the articles she brought for display was a tomahawk table napkin from Queen Victoria's table linens. The coat of arms and monogram which appears in the linen is the property of the royal household of Queen Victoria. In the linen and the minute hand stitching of the lace is unlike in its perfection. A cup, the last piece of China in a service presented to Queen Victoria by the Chinese was shown.

Curios from the Holy Land included the embroidered shawl of mother of pearl plaque of the Crucifixion, which was the work done by Miss Hill was also shown. Cooke and Mrs. Coles were in charge of the table of articles of civic groups. A plate one hundred and twenty years old and a river plate dated 1716 were among the interesting.

Tea guests, who were received by Mrs. Vanderkoort assisted by Mrs. Bruce Vanderkoort, enjoyed a pleasant stroll in the rock garden before tea was served indoors. Mrs. A. Beauchamp Payne and Mrs. Sargent presided at the tea table which was centred with bowls of yellow tapered candelabra and silm vases of yellow flowers. Mrs. Ross Crozier, Mrs. Pinkle, Mrs. Coulter, Mrs. Ketcheson and Mrs. Hall were housekeeping table was in charge Mrs. Bowyer, Mrs. Wilgress, Mrs. Clarke. Among the guests who were here in charge of the Wishing Well were Mrs. Ross Crozier, assisted after by Mrs. Harold, Mrs. Ketcheson and Mrs. Hall.

There were many delightful features of the afternoon. It was discovered that the tea was one of anniversaries and bouquets were presented to Mrs. Bruce Vanderkoort, Mrs. Pringle, and to Mrs. Edmund Coulter, Mrs. Vanderkoort, Mrs. A. Beauchamp Payne, who were observing birthdays. Rev. A. L. Geen who is observing the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination was also presented with a gift.

An informal W. A. meeting was held during the afternoon with Mrs. Edmund Grant of Bancroft, addressing members on W. A. work. A forum for exchange of ideas was most helpful.

COUNCIL RECOMMENDS

(Continued from page one)

the hands of council at the next committee meeting, June 22.

Also at the meeting the matter of furnish council with written statement of the building accounts for inside and outside renovations, the same to be presented to council at the next succeeding meeting.

Recommended, "that the firm of Belleville Typewriter Co. be given the contract of cleaning and repairing all typewriters, adding machines, changing ribbons and the same, with the exception of the Royal Typewriter, which will be cared for by James Teets."

CONDITIONS GOOD IN NORTH COUNTY

"Things look pretty good in the north country this year," reported Warden James Bronson, in the city yesterday presiding over the regular meeting of the Roads and Bridges Committee of the Hastings County Council.

Gravelling operations are a little slow yet, but we are hoping for some improvement," commented veteran Reeve Judson Gunter, Ameliasburgh. "Pulping operations haven't been any too good as yet, but lately there has been some indication of a start and more in the pulpwood."

Although the meeting of the committee held in Shire Hall during the afternoon was confined for the most part to routine matters, some discussion of the recent levy of $175,000.00 road tax by the Provincial Department of Highways was held. County Clerk Earl Dorland was instructed to dispute some of the smaller bills in connection with the cost of construction of No. 7 highway through the county.

$11,190 SAVING TO HYDRO USERS IS SEEN IN CUTS

Belleville Commissioners Today Authorize New Rates

REBATES TO CITY

$6,000 Domestic Saving Among Results of Reductions

Estimated annual savings of $11,190 to Hydro consumers of Belleville were voted at today's special meeting of the Belleville Hydro Commission when that body adopted the recommendation of the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission for new rates in this city on the basis of last year's report.

$6,000 of this amount, it is estimated will be saved to domestic users, $4,000 to storekeepers in commercial light and $1,190 saving in street lighting costs.

Rebate to City

Besides the reductions voted, rebates of $347.54 to waterworks, and $2,562.36 on street lighting were voted to be returned to the city, these amounts being the accumulated surpluses to these departments for the last year.

Power Rate Unchanged

No reduction was made in the power rate.

Interim rate for power this year is set at 2.5 cents against interim rate of 3.5 per horsepower supplied the city last year. The actual cost of the horsepower furnished the city last year was $32.50 which means that the power bill for the city this year still has a margin on the interim rate charged the city for the year 1934.

The new rates are as follows:

Domestic

No service charge.

Commercial service charge—3 cents per kilowatt hour for the first fifty kilowatts per month. Plus one cent per kilowatt hour for all additional monthly consumption.

Minimum bill 83 cents gross per month.

Prompt payment discount—10 per cent.

It will be noted that the three cent per kilowatt rate operates only for the first fifty-five kilowatts per month instead of sixty heretofore and that the secondary rate is one cent instead of one cent and one-half. This means that larger users of electricity pay considerable saving, the aim of the new reduction being to build up load.

Commercial

Service charge, 3 cents per 100 watts of installed capacity. Minimum gross service charge per month fifty cents.

Secondary rate charge,—2.3 cents per kilowatt hour for the first 100 hours per kilowatt of demand capacity. Plus 0.8 cents per kilowatt hour for all additional monthly consumption.

Minimum monthly bill—83 cents gross.

Prompt payment discount—10 per cent.

Previous commercial was 2.5 for consumptionages against 3.3 cents now, and 1 cents as against 0.8 cents of the new rate.

Power rate is unchanged.

Street Lighting—

$47.00 per 1000 candlepower series lamp (previously $52).

$26.00 per 400 candlepower series lamp (previously $28).

$8.50 per 100 candlepower series lamp (previously $10).

$20.00 per 300 watt multiple lamp (previously $23).

The rates for street lighting go back to the first of January 1935 and the other rates become effective with the bills sent out in April.

This is the fourth reduction in domestic rates, and the third cut in commercial lighting rates as distinguished from commercial power since the city bought the plant in 1929.

5 PLEAD GUILTY TO THEFT CHARGES

Magistrate Butler Enlarges Cases Until Monday For Sentence

Six local youths, ranging in age from 16 to 19, appeared before Magistrate R. J. Butler, K.C., with innumerable charges of breaking, entering and theft. Five of the young men pleaded guilty but all sentences were enlarged until Monday, while judgment in a fifth was also adjourned, one prisoner pleading not guilty to a theft charge.

Clifford Doel, Belleville, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering the premises of Harry Goodman, Station Street, and stealing therefrom eight bales of wool, sentence was enlarged until Monday. Bertram Montgomery, an alleged accomplice of Doel, pleaded not guilty to the same charge. Detective Isard, who investigated, gave testimony in the hearing and swore that Montgomery sold the wool to Goodman's while Doel completed the robbery. Doel claimed he did not inform Montgomery of his robbery intentions prior to the actual burglary, Judgment was reserved until Monday after Isard stated he was not aware that a robbery was being committed.

Thomas Graves, 17, and Samuel Way, 16, both pleaded guilty to breaking and entering Per and Irwin's bolting works with intent to commit an indictable offence, to wit robbery. Both pleaded guilty and were also remanded in custody until Monday when sentenced will be imposed. Graves pleaded guilty to another local robbery, while Way nodded his head in acquiescence to the subsequent charges of theft. Merrett Woods and Randal Smith both pleaded guilty to similar charges and found themselves waiting sentence until Monday, Smith being released out on bail, while all others being held in custody.

The name of George McWilliams, Corbyville, was called in the court, he being charged with reckless driving. Later it was discovered that McWilliams had made arrangements to have his case enlarged. The matter arose following a motor accident when the automobile which McWilliams was driving, struck and broke a city electric light standard on Front Street. Inferences in the court were to the effect that McWilliams was negotiating to replace the standard. Robert Gerow, Belleville, was fined ten dollars and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of reckless driving.

Husband And Wife Graduate Together

Husband and wife graduated together at Western University when Mr. and Mrs. Don Egener of London, Ont., received the degree of Bachelor of Arts at ConVocation on Wednesday. The degree will enter the Law School of Osgood Hall in September. Mrs. Egener is a sister of Mrs. A. E. Buck, Williams street.

Saturday Morning Specials

CHILDREN'S DRESSES
Fast color prints, many attractive styles. Sizes 2 to 6. Special

29c

LADIES' HOUSE
DRESSES
Figured Print. Daintily trimmed with organdy and pique. All sizes. Special

39c

Terry Towels
In colored stripe. Good weight —good sizes. Each,

9c

LADIES' SILK KNIT
SLIPS
Open top, lace trim, tailored tucker, green and pink. All sizes. Special

39c

LADIES'
F. F. HOSE
Sheer chiffon, crepe and service weight. Shades, grey, brown, and light shades, for summer wear. Special

49c

Broadcloth
36 inches wide, in white, rose, blue, green, etc. Special, yard

10c

Lipson's

REPORT TREASURE SHIP IS LOCATED

Said to Have Sunk in 1721 And Contained 14 Barrels Gold

Helsingfors, Finland, June 7—(AP)—A Russian treasure ship, which ancient lore says sank in 1721, with fourteen large barrels of gold in its hold, was reported to have been located by deep-sea divers.

Excitement ran high in the port, although there remained no definite assurance that the wreck discovered near here was the one long sought.

The ill-fated Russian tax-collecting ship, laden with treasure estimated at at least $10,000,000, was on its way home after a plundering expedition along the Swedish coast, as the story has come down through the centuries, when it went down in a violent storm.

The present salvage expedition was organized three years ago, when Count Wachtmeister of Sweden found in his family archives an old ship log in which the exact spot where the ship sank was noted.

LEAGUE IN CHARGE OF SUNDAY SERVICE

Rev. Seymour, June 7—Mrs. W. R. Mather and son Douglas of Toronto spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Clark at Menie and with Mr. and Mrs. Alex Rume and family. Miss Christina Mather, who has spent the past six months with her brother, Mr. R. R. Mather in Toronto, returned with them to her home in Menie.

Rev. J. J. Black and wife Harriet and Hugh, of Lindsay, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnston and Mrs. Allan Watson over the week end when Rev. Black exchanged with Rev. H. B. Neal of St. John's United Church, Campbellford on consecutive Sunday and preached very thoughtful and inspiring sermons.

On June 2nd, owing to the absence of Rev. P. G. McIlwrith, the regular service at 11 a.m. was conducted under the auspices of the League. Mr. Hilliard officiated as to the giving out by the hymns and reading of Scripture, etc. Miss Doris Rannie led in the responsive reading of the portion of Psalm 119. Mr. Frank Hedge gave an inspiring address on the life of Daniel based on the words "Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the King's meat."

Misses Jean Remington, Betty Rannie and Barbara Brady sang "Alone" very sweetly. Mr. Alex Rume took up the life of Moses showing God's plan in the saving of the little Moses' life for the deliverance of the Israelites from the bondage of Egypt.

Personals

Rev. J. J. Black and wife of Lindsay and Mrs. W. R. Mather of Campbellford called upon Mrs. A. T. Donald, Mr. and Alex Rume, Mr. F. R. Addie and others on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Percy Oddie has returned to her home after spending some days with her father Mr. J. A. Meiklejohn and her sister, Mrs. Allan Watson in Campbellford.

Mr. Sam Wallace and family were guests at the marriage in St. Paul's United church, Cobourg, of his niece and cousin Miss Grace Wright of Highland Creek, Toronto to Mr. Percy Valley, Monday evening at 7 p.m., June 3rd, 1935. Mr. and Mrs. Graham Trash of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Linn were also in attendance.

Miss Fern Weatherill is spending the holiday week end with her father Mr Burnhrae.

Miss Jean and Mr. Donald Craighead, B.A., spent the holiday under the parental roof.

The many friends of Rev. C. C. Salzbourg will be pleased to learn of his marriage which took place in May, Rev. Salzbourg is a former pastor of St. Andrew's Church, Burnhrae and is now residing in Ajax.

A number around here are suffering from colds and bronchial affections; Master Gerald and Muriel Heagle, Douglas and Marion Oddie, Jean and Hilda Hume, Billy Little and several others having been confined to their homes.

Mrs. Alan Hutcheon is having a sale June 8th of farm stock and implements.

Several from the country took the opportunity of hearing a former minister Rev. J. J. Black preach in St. John's Church, Campbellford on Sunday, June 2nd.

Miss Grace Dayman and Carolyn Johnson of Wellman's were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Walker.

PAINFUL JOINTS

often are a warning that your kidneys have become deranged and need attention. Don't suffer needless pain. Take Gin Pills to obtain relief while assisting your kidneys to function properly.

The Figure Men Admire

Slim and Active through a Daily Dose of Kruschen Salts

It is often said that fat girls must take "savings" when it comes to choosing sweethearts. That may be an exaggeration; but certain it is that most men, in this year of grace 1935, do prefer a slender, winsome girl. After all, can you blame them?

Fortunately, there is a simple and safe recipe which assists towards that much-desired slim and attractive figure. The recipe is—Every morning take one half-teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Kruschen is a blend of various salts which help the internal organs to function properly, and to flush away certain harmful poisons and waste matter. Kruschen actually builds up health and energy—it makes you more active and with the increased energy comes a wonderful improvement in your figure.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 45c. and 75c. a bottle.

TANGLED LIVES

By ANN FORESTER

THE TIRED HEART

CHAPTER FIFTY-TWO

Norman's excited words beat against the warm stillness up here on the hilltop. For a moment Joyce was still in his arms, a tired droop to her body, her head resting against his shoulder as though she found it good to rest for a moment.

She spoke in a peculiar voice, hesitantly, as a child might ask.

"But —the money, Norman. You know—Aunty's will—if I marry within five years—it is taken from me—"

He spoke eagerly, as one who had thought it well out: "That's true. But, darling we can be engaged—"

The horse stirred restlessly, jerking the reins in Joyce's hand. For a moment she turned away, soothing him.

"Engaged . . . for five years . . ." She had not returned to Norman's arms. She was rubbing the velvet muzzle of the horse, and her eyes were far out on the distant horizon.

"It's a long time," Norman frowned. "But—we have to be sensible. It's a lot of money, too, Joy. You have to look at it that way. An unfair will—but, after all, five years goes quickly, and many men spend their lifetime earning far less than that."

Then because she was so still, he spoke anxiously: "You believe I love you, don't you, Joyce? I'm crazy about you—but I don't want to be selfish about it. It's because I do love you so that I want you to—well, you see that, don't you?"

"Yes . . . I see," Joyce spoke slowly. Her eyes had come back and were fastened on him, deep, mysterious pools of purple—they did not seem to see him, but to be looking at someone behind him.

But when he tried to draw her into his arms again she held him off, one gloved hand against his chest.

"No, please, Norman— I must think. And we have plenty of time to think about it . . ." a sudden little laugh. "Five years! That is not rushing impetuously into marriage, is it?"

Something in Joyce's tone made him glance uneasily at her. She had drooped her head against the brown satin of the horse's neck.

Once she would have waited a life-time for Norman —grateful and content only to know that she loved her. He was right, of course —why throw away a fortune for a few years? . . . Five years were little in one's lifetime . . . And she had nothing to do with that thrilling, glorious love which flashed down through the night like a white comet . . .

But she would not give Norman his promise.

That night she stood at the window of her bedroom looking out over the garden. Mild and quiet . . . the lawn was freckled with patches of moonlight slanting through the tree tops. Placid moonlight—not like that white-hot glare that remembering in the bow of the Neptune . . . A tapir sea and dark eyes looking deep into her own.

"I've tried to take you . . . I'm not sure I don't yet . . ."

And her own voice—torturing her with humiliating memory—"I love you . . . God, I love you . . ."

Love or hate . . . what did it matter! He was gone, and she sat here in dark emptiness with her tired heart.

Still night —still heart —and a moon splashed lawn sloping away under the dark, drooping boughs of the trees. How many empty years was she to stand this way—looking out on this house, this garden—Her home—Her garden— gifts of the strange old man whose will had so strangely tangled the skeins of her life?

Joyce had leaned her head against the window frame and was quietly crying.

It was a time of breaking hearts and snapping nerves. Day by day reeling off a fresh film in the silent drama. Sometimes scenes of stagnant chantment. Natalie's spite. Mrs. Cameron's jealous fury, did not seem to reach her. But there were many clashes with Kitty. Loyal, quick tempered Kitty, whose Irish temper sometimes ran away with her. She detested Mrs. Cameron, and the sound of that lady's voice, speaking her name in no uncertain tones, brought her to an abrupt stop in the hall one morning. In the breakfast room, Mrs. Cameron was holding forth to Natalie on Kitty's latest brush with her.

"These humiliations are more than I can stand!" The lady's voice was low and furious. "No; only to have this adventuress claiming the very roof over our heads—but this common Dawson person here, cozening with us, mingling with us—quite as though she were an equal! Joyce is doing that only to spite us, Mother!" Natalie's voice sprouted on the verge of peevish tears. "She knows how Kitty Dawson grates on us, and she's keeping her here for that very reason."

Over the face of Kitty, listening in the hall, blank amazement chased red anger.

Mrs. Cameron's voice sounded again. It's an outrage to be inflicted so much as a person! I am going to insist that she be sent away—and at once! There's nothing in the will that we have to put up with two of them! I'll send her away myself when I see her."

"Well here she is!" The words burst from Kitty as she barged into the room, her eyes snapping blue fire. She stood before them, panting with anger, looking from Mrs. Cameron's stout figure to Natalie's lean figure in the lounging chair.

"How she lit! Tell her all you want to! An' in return I'll tell you something, my lady—there's only one person in this world can make me go an' that's Joyce herself, that's Mrs. Roger Cameron herself."

"This—" began Mrs. Cameron in a deep voice, but Kitty was not to be abash the offender, "is unforgivable—"

But Kitty, unfortunately, was neither awed nor abashed. She continued, in a rapid stream of words which swept Mrs. Cameron's majesty and Natalie's shrill fright before it.

"There isn't any real thing you can say about me, you two, because the Lord is my witness, I've bit my tongue till it hurt before now from makin' a good stiff reply to you! I've kept out of your way so's you couldn't strike at Joyce through me. You know I'm the only one she has got since Aunty died, an' I'm tryin' to take any the little comfort I can bring her—trying to make her life as near hell as you can, so she'll run away in self-defense and break the last will of the old man, aren't you! Well, I'm on to your tricks! Ah' I'm here to tell you I'll give you a good tussle for the next five years, so you'd better learn to get on with me!"

This is outrageous!" said Mrs. Cameron in her deepest tones. "I demand that you leave the room at once—"

"An' I—" said Kitty, hot and shaking with anger, "intend to do no such thing, an' if you want to get rid of my company, ma'am, you will just have to walk out the door yourself!"

Which in the end was just what Mrs. Cameron did do. With a look of withering scorn, which fell back, ineffective, from the flashing blue triumph of Kitty's eyes, Mrs. Cameron and Natalie left by the hall door, lips compressed, bitter anger in their up flung heads.

"A proper scrap, what!" spoke an admiring voice, "My word, you made the fur fly when you lit into her—"

Startled, Kitty wheeled to the door leading upon the porch.

There, balancing on his heels in the flood of morning sunshine, was a man she had never seen before. A stocky, red faced man of middle age, who wore a suit of very shabby tweeds, and who was eyeing her in obvious admiration.

(TO BE CONTINUED)

BIBLE STUDY PROGRAM GIVEN

Salem, June 7—The Community regular weekly meeting at the church on Tuesday night with an attendance of 36. The Bible Study programme was in charge of Mrs. Everett Manna. Everyone present enjoyed a very helpful and inspiring programme. Mr. Robert Spafford closed the meeting with prayer.

Miss Bernice Robinson, Saturday evening with her aunt Mrs. Harry Farnsworth, Stirling.

Miss Mary Lockhart visited over the week end with friends at Centreton.

Mrs. Dan Smith spent a couple days with her daughter Mrs. Albert Gibson, Latta.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Demills and Newton, Melrose, were Tuesday evening callers at Mr. Fred Robinson's.

Mr and Mrs. Herbert C. Webb and Mr. Percy Ferguson, M.Y., Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Gibson, Mount Pleasant, were Sunday guests of Mr. Wesley Bradshaw and Stella were dinner guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. George Hall.

Church service was withdrawn at Salem on Sunday afternoon owing to the funeral service of Mrs. Yeloman, second line.

MISSION BAND REGULAR MEETING

Melrose, June 7. — The Mission Band held their regular monthly meeting at the United Church Hall on Saturday afternoon.

A number from here attended the Sunday School Convention held in the men's Institute on Wednesday at Lansdale.

Mrs. J. Symington, Napanee, spent over the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. R. Simpkins.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hill of Shannonville were Thursday evening callers of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Pringle.

Miss Myrtle Macfarlane of Belleville spent the week-end and holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Macfarlane.

Mrs. M. Morden entertained Rev. and Mrs. Clarke at the noon hour on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyons of Kingston were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Snider.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Davis and Harry were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Sayers, Phillipston.

Mr. J. Leitch, who has been attending University is spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Leitch.

The remains of the late Percy McLaren, New York, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McLaren, formerly of this place, were interred in Melrose cemetery on Saturday afternoon.

The Friday evening ball game between Shannonville and Melrose was won by Shannonville.

PASTOR RETURNS AFTER ATTENDING CONFERENCE

Bayside, June 7.—Rev. James A. Plant attended the Bay of Quinte Conference held at Peterboro last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Hunt and baby spent the week-end with Mr. from makin' a good stiff reply to you! I've kept out of your way so's you couldn't strike at Joyce through me. You know I'm the only one she has got since Aunty died, an' I'm tryin' to take any the little comfort I can bring her—trying to make her life as near hell as you can, so she'll run away in self-defense and break the last will of the old man, aren't you! Well, I'm on to your tricks! Ah' I'm here to tell you I'll give you a good tussle for the next five years, so you'd better learn to get on with me!"

This is outrageous!" said Mrs. Cameron in her deepest tones. "I demand that you leave the room at once—"

"An' I—" said Kitty, hot and shaking with anger, "intend to do no such thing, an' if you want to DO YOUR FEET BURN?

Then use Zam-Buk. There is nothing so soothing for tender, aching or blistered feet. It will end the burning, draw out the soreness, prevent blistering and give you perfect foot comfort.
Also Zam-Buk is healing, so good as Zam-Buk for sunburn, heat rashes, blistered hands, aching muscles, mosquito and insect bites, cuts, bruises, burns and all skin injuries and ailments. 30c. all druggists and stores.
ZAM-BUK
IT'S SOOTHING!

FLY-TOX kills MOSQUITOES FLIES, ANTS and ALL INSECTS SAFE - SURE ECONOMICAL
FLY-TOX

PHILLIPSTON NEWS OF PAST WEEK

Phillipston, June 7.—Mr. Tobias Morreau and son Stafford motored to Toronto on Monday to see Mrs. Morreau who is seriously ill with heart trouble.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Clark attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Yeleman of Shannonville on Sunday afternoon.

Sunday school and church service was held in Bethel church on Sunday morning. Mr. Charlie Elliott of Mount Pleasant took charge of the church service, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. J. A. Everson, who is attending conference.

Mr. Charlie Elliott of Mount Pleasant spent the dinner hour on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Robinson.

Miss Clara Delyea, R.N., of New York, is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Delyea.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Robson and children of Toronto who has Sam Marshall on Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Vincent, Mr. Finlay Vincent and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Vincent and George of Unity Vale, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pearsall on Sunday.

A S.M.S. was held at the church on Tuesday afternoon. A splendid time was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bridge spent Saturday with the latter's parents in Foxboro.

ENJOY PICNICKING AT CROWE LAKE

Rawdon, June 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Rickwen, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thrasher, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jeffs and Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Eggleton, with their various families enjoyed a delightful picnic at Crowe Lake on Monday, June 3.

Mr. Cleland Reid and party of friends from Trenton spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Allan Reid and Mrs. John Reid.

Sgt-Major and Mrs. Stanley McConnell are the happy parents of a son and holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McConnell and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Harford Reid of Belleville spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Reid at Bethel.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith and Herbert were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Terwilligar, Colborne.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Reid and Barbara, Mr. and Mrs. A. Crassie of Toronto were week-end and holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Reid. Mrs. Crassie was formerly Miss Marguerite Reid, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bailey of Winnipeg.

Mr. Friday spent a few days last week ago and have taken up residence in Toronto.

Mrs. Mrs. Noyes has been in Marmora during the past week owing to the illness of her father, Mr. J. J. Ryan of that town.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith of Chatterton spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ryan.

Mrs. B. Archer of Havelock is holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. John Bailey.

Mrs. Joe Neil arrived at her home on the fourth concession on Saturday last from Belleville hospital and was accompanied by a baby son.

Wellman's Union Sunday School opened on Tuesday evening with a hymn of consecration. The roll call was also answered by a verse from the splendid program prepared by Miss Ruth Wellman. Miss Jean gave the Bible lesson. Miss Dorothy Dunham gave a splendid topic dealing with the hymn "The Ninety and Nine" and its author and origin. Miss Lillian Barnes delighted with a solo entitled "Be a Helper". Miss Lucille Dracup contributed an instrumental on the piano. Miss Grace Dayman gave a reading "The Pilgrim" Rev. J. F. Joblin gave a brief talk and the service closed with "Leaning on the Everlasting Arms" and a memory contest staged by Mr. Jack Hutcheon.

MARRIAGE

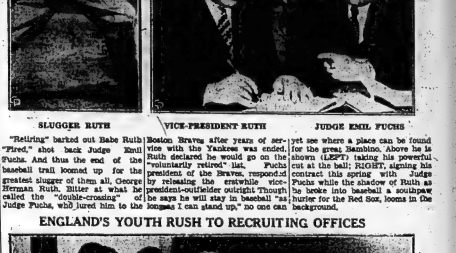
Mr. and Mrs. Dave Trow took dinner on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Dave McMarry of Stirling.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hall and their daughter of Campbellford spent Sunday at the home of Mr. Fletcher and Mrs. Paice.

A number of the ladies of this community attended the Women's Institute meeting at the home of Mrs. Clarence Holmes of Avondale.

$286,000 Offered to Miguel Kidnappers

(By Edmund A. Chester)
(Copyright 1935 By The Associated Press)



Havana, June 6—It was learned today in unpublicized commercial business associates of the kidnapped Freer had made a $286,000 ransom messenger to the abductors with demands.

STOP WOMEN'S ACHES & PAINS
Thousands of women are getting quick relief from these distressing periods of functional pain by taking ZUTOO TABLETS. Harmless but effective, they bring immediate relief. Women who thus suffer, are suffering needless pain, for one or two of these tablets will certainly stop the pain.
FOR SALE AT ALL GOOD DRUG STORES PER BOX
ZUTOO

RUTH REACHES TRAIL'S END AFTER TIFF WITH BRAVES

SLUGGER RUTH

VICE-PRESIDENT RUTH

JUDGE EMIL FUCHS

"Retiring" barked out Babe Ruth "Fired," shot back Judge Emil Fuchs. And thus the end of the baseball trail loomed up for the greatest slugger of them all. Judge Herman Ruth, Bilter at what he called the "double-crossing" Judge Fuchs, who lured him to the Boston Braves after years of service with the Yankees was ended. Ruth declared he would go on the baseball trail as manager and president of the Braves, responded Fuchs while the shadow of Ruth as president-outfielder outright Though he says he will stay in baseball "as long as I can stand up," he can see where a place can be found for the great Bambino. Above he is shown (LEFT) taking his powerful cuts at the ball; RIGHT, signing his contract this spring with Judge Fuchs while the shadow of Ruth as he broke into baseball a soulpaw hurler for the Red Sox, looms in the background.

ENGLAND'S YOUTH RUSH TO RECRUITING OFFICES

Those who think the youth of the world are opposed to war, look carefully at this picture. This is result of the pins of the British Empire depot at Victory House, government one of young men to volunteer for air force service. The ing Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin's announcement of a larger air force.

EARL AND COUNTESS OF ATHLONE

LORD CARSON

Fiery Irish Protestant opponent of home rule for Ireland, and one of Britain's greatest legal advocates. Lord Carson died, at 81, gravely ill at his home in Minster, England. He was formerly leader of the partition of Ulster.

Pictured here are the Earl and Countess of Athlone as they attended the annual service of the Order of St. Michael and St. George in St. Paul's Cathedral. The Earl, brother of Queen Mary, was installed as chancellor of the order.

Baseball Current Sport

IN THE REALM OF SPORTING EVENTS

Bowling Golf

PIRATES MAKE PRESENCE FELT IN NATIONAL

Now Second And Win Ten of Last Twelve Games

DETROIT MOVES UP

Tied For Third Place By Defeating Indians 10-9

(By Hugh S. Fullerton Jr.)
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Pittsburgh Pirates, content to be a team to be feared this season because of the hitting power in the lineup, have at last begun to make their presence felt in the pennant race. But their 10-4 win over Brooklyn Wednesday until slightly later Thursday. As a matter of fact the local Radios have had one bone of contest, the one Cabina luckily got scored against them in four games, or 36 full innings. Incidentally, the Mills-coached crew have been in five of the smartest ball games seen in the O.B.L. for many a year, this season. Going back from last night's triumphant victory over Lie Pens, 3 to 0, the Radios downed Kingston 1 to nil the night previous. Prior to that Cabina trimmed us on 10 all by Jack Williams beat Kingston here by the same score on Victoria Day. Then we revert back to May 22nd when a four-all tie was played with the cronies in Kingston. Summing it all up we find the Radios have played five games thus far in the O. B. L.; they won three, tied one and lost one. In all they have scored exactly nine runs against five enmassed by the united efforts of four different clubs. Kingston has scored four runs against us in three games, Cabana one in one game and Petroboro none in one game. The Radios have scored six runs against Kingston in three games, nosed against Cabina in one game and once against Peterboro in one game. On the surface we boast of the best fielding team and best offensive team in the loop, that is taking into consideration the showings made by the other three clubs in the loop, when playing against each other.

The highly touted and advertised Peterboro "Sea Horses" breezed into town last evening and were tamed by Art Calhoun of the local rec-ball artist let Kostly Lev's proteges with three scoreless hits, only one coming after a great Peterboro batting rally in the initial frame, when they got five singles. Calhoun was always in command of the situation and baffled his way into the heart's of the local fans. One serious accident marred the game, that being when Jimmie Barclay, local catcher was hit on the head with a bat. In fact ones, over the heart, Barclay gamely continued in the struggle, but was removed to the local hospital following the game, where he was found to be seriously injured. The defensive game afforded Calhoun was masterful, not a shoddy error being committed by the Radios as Calhoun hurled winning ball. Scherzer, for the Peks pitched well, but was much too erratic to record victory.

"Shades of Jake Solomon," when "Peeney" Mills and Knotty Lee tangled in continued verbal controversies, it reminded us of the days of Al Heckman, Max Swanland and Jake Solomon, with Jake making and firing all balls. Both Mills and Lee were more than serious in their shouting fray, but neither seemed to gain much on the guy's arguments, except Peeney took home a victory. It might be admitted, that the Radios were worthy weak with the willow in the early stages of last night's game, but that eighth inning rally, started by Alex Weir, dispensed with all previous gentleness, insofar as inability to hit is concerned. Perhaps the features of the game were Calhoun's efforts on the hillock, the smart double play he s'arted in the initial frame, to abruptly stop a Peterboro rally, and the batting orgy of the Radios in the eighth, not to mention anything of the fact, that the Radios played errorless ball behind Calhoun, and Kingston had a pret y fair day, getting a hit and pitching three hit ball. "Sum fun eh Art?"

Local sport byways lead to the Belleville Arena tonight for the big Kiwanis wres ling show featuring the Masked Marvel versus Jimmy Barclay, the Canadian Lion. Incidentally the attendants at the Arena have hooked themselves all week decorating the place with fresh paint and everything is spick and span giving the place a brighter atmosphere, so lets hope the croppings and the rest of the surroundings and a real night of entertainment can be enjoyed. There always seems to be an air of mystery surrounding a person wearing a mask, so doubtlessly the man with the sock over his head will come in for considerable razzing tonight, not only because the fans like the Mask, but the presence of sport fans seem to dislike those clothed and mysterious athletes for the most. We understand the Masked Marvel does not travel around the country with a paid manager so did Al Galsevich, when Bill Lewis used to look after Al's welfare, sometimes against the feelings of the fans. Without fear of contradiction the Kiwanis committee stake they have the best all-round wrestling card that has been presented in Belleville in many years for tonight at the Arena. The usual Kiwanis Club popular prices are also in vogue.

We understand the Kiwanis Club of Belleville is laying plans for a monster demonstration at the Exhibition Park on July 1st. The program when completed will include motorcycle races, 40 acts of vaudeville, outstanding softball teams from Toronto, a dance at night and hundreds of other attractions that will make the day one to be long remembered in the sport annals of Belleville. The feature of the day's program is to be a motorcycle meet that will find some of the best motorcycle riders in Canada in competition, while trick and fancy riding will entertain the audience between races. Of course there has been no authentic information regarding the proposition issued by the Kiwanis Club, but these plans are all in the making and hinge solely on the decisions to be arrived at during the next 24 hours.

Upon looking over our score book we find that Jack "Chief" Williams has blanked the Kingston Frontiers for exactly 18 consecutive innings, or two full games. Odd as it may seem, however, the local Radios have not been able to give Williams a very good working margin, the locals winning both games 1 to 0. Maybe Kingston baseball fans will change their minds in regards to Williams "not being fussy about pitching in Kingston", in the future. Incidentally Manager Joe Daly showed very good judgment after Williams purposely walked Hewitt Smith to get "Brick" Stone on Wednesday. Daly let Stone meander to the plate, and that's about all he did as Williams struck Stone out with the bases full and two out in the seventh. It was a beautiful piece of baseball strategy, as Smith was always a dangerous hitter.

BETWEEN SMOKES take "time off" for WRIGLEY'S
SWEETENS THE BREATH!

CURRENT SPORT
DAY BY DAY

Two shut-outs in 24 hours is "some pumpkins" in any man's league. Well, that's exactly what the local Stewart-Warners accomplished from about 6.00 p.m. Wednesday until slightly later on Thursday. As a matter of fact the local Radios have had one bone of contest, the one Cabina luckily got scored against them in four games, or 36 full innings. Incidentally, the Mills-coached crew have been in five of the smartest ball games seen in the O.B.L. for many a year, this season. Going back from last night's triumphant victory over Lie Pens, 3 to 0, the Radios downed Kingston 1 to nil the night previous. Prior to that Cabina trimmed us on 10 all by Jack Williams beat Kingston here by the same score on Victoria Day. Then we revert back to May 22nd when a four-all tie was played with the cronies in Kingston. Summing it all up we find the Radios have played five games thus far in the O. B. L.; they won three, tied one and lost one. In all they have scored exactly nine runs against five enmassed by the united efforts of four different clubs. Kingston has scored four runs against us in three games, Cabana one in one game and Petroboro none in one game. The Radios have scored six runs against Kingston in three games, nosed against Cabina in one game and once against Peterboro in one game. On the surface we boast of the best fielding team and best offensive team in the loop, that is taking into consideration the showings made by the other three clubs in the loop, when playing against each other.

The highly touted and advertised Peterboro "Sea Horses" breezed into town last evening and were tamed by Art Calhoun of the local rec-ball artist let Kostly Lev's proteges with three scoreless hits, only one coming after a great Peterboro batting rally in the initial frame, when they got five singles. Calhoun was always in command of the situation and baffled his way into the heart's of the local fans. One serious accident marred the game, that being when Jimmie Barclay, local catcher was hit on the head with a bat. In fact ones, over the heart, Barclay gamely continued in the struggle, but was removed to the local hospital following the game, where he was found to be seriously injured. The defensive game afforded Calhoun was masterful, not a shoddy error being committed by the Radios as Calhoun hurled winning ball. Scherzer, for the Peks pitched well, but was much too erratic to record victory.

"Shades of Jake Solomon," when "Peeney" Mills and Knotty Lee tangled in continued verbal controversies, it reminded us of the days of Al Heckman, Max Swanland and Jake Solomon, with Jake making and firing all balls. Both Mills and Lee were more than serious in their shouting fray, but neither seemed to gain much on the guy's arguments, except Peeney took home a victory. It might be admitted, that the Radios were worthy weak with the willow in the early stages of last night's game, but that eighth inning rally, started by Alex Weir, dispensed with all previous gentleness, insofar as inability to hit is concerned. Perhaps the features of the game were Calhoun's efforts on the hillock, the smart double play he s'arted in the initial frame, to abruptly stop a Peterboro rally, and the batting orgy of the Radios in the eighth, not to mention anything of the fact, that the Radios played errorless ball behind Calhoun, and Kingston had a pret y fair day, getting a hit and pitching three hit ball. "Sum fun eh Art?"

Local sport byways lead to the Belleville Arena tonight for the big Kiwanis wres ling show featuring the Masked Marvel versus Jimmy Barclay, the Canadian Lion. Incidentally the attendants at the Arena have hooked themselves all week decorating the place with fresh paint and everything is spick and span giving the place a brighter atmosphere, so lets hope the croppings and the rest of the surroundings and a real night of entertainment can be enjoyed. There always seems to be an air of mystery surrounding a person wearing a mask, so doubtlessly the man with the sock over his head will come in for considerable razzing tonight, not only because the fans like the Mask, but the presence of sport fans seem to dislike those clothed and mysterious athletes for the most. We understand the Masked Marvel does not travel around the country with a paid manager so did Al Galsevich, when Bill Lewis used to look after Al's welfare, sometimes against the feelings of the fans. Without fear of contradiction the Kiwanis committee stake they have the best all-round wrestling card that has been presented in Belleville in many years for tonight at the Arena. The usual Kiwanis Club popular prices are also in vogue.

We understand the Kiwanis Club of Belleville is laying plans for a monster demonstration at the Exhibition Park on July 1st. The program when completed will include motorcycle races, 40 acts of vaudeville, outstanding softball teams from Toronto, a dance at night and hundreds of other attractions that will make the day one to be long remembered in the sport annals of Belleville. The feature of the day's program is to be a motorcycle meet that will find some of the best motorcycle riders in Canada in competition, while trick and fancy riding will entertain the audience between races. Of course there has been no authentic information regarding the proposition issued by the Kiwanis Club, but these plans are all in the making and hinge solely on the decisions to be arrived at during the next 24 hours.

Upon looking over our score book we find that Jack "Chief" Williams has blanked the Kingston Frontiers for exactly 18 consecutive innings, or two full games. Odd as it may seem, however, the local Radios have not been able to give Williams a very good working margin, the locals winning both games 1 to 0. Maybe Kingston baseball fans will change their minds in regards to Williams "not being fussy about pitching in Kingston", in the future. Incidentally Manager Joe Daly showed very good judgment after Williams purposely walked Hewitt Smith to get "Brick" Stone on Wednesday. Daly let Stone meander to the plate, and that's about all he did as Williams struck Stone out with the bases full and two out in the seventh. It was a beautiful piece of baseball strategy, as Smith was always a dangerous hitter.

Standings

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE.

	W.	L.	P.C.
Buffalo	27	16	.628
Montreal	26	22	.542
Syracuse	26	22	.542
Toronto	27	23	.540
Newark	25	23	.521
Rochester	24	24	.500
Albany	18	31	.367

Yesterday's Scores.

Toronto 1, Rochester 0.
Syracuse 5, Albany 1.
Buffalo at Montreal postponed, wet grounds.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

	W.	Lost.	P.C.
New York	27	11	.711
Pittsburg	26	19	.578
St. Louis	24	18	.571
Chicago	24	17	.585
Brooklyn	21	20	.512
Cincinnati	16	23	.410
Philadelphia	14	24	.368
Boston	11	28	.282

Yesterday's Scores.

Pittsburg 2, St. Louis 1.
New York at Philadelphia postponed, threatening weather.
Cincinnati at Chicago postponed, rain.
Only games scheduled.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

	W.	Lost.	P.C.
New York	28	15	.651
Chicago	22	17	.564
Cleveland	23	18	.561
Detroit	23	21	.523
Boston	21	21	.500
Washington	21	22	.488
Philadelphia	16	23	.410
St. Louis	13	27	.308

Yesterday's Scores.

Detroit 10, Cleveland 9 (10 innings).
Second game postponed, rain.
Washington 3, Boston 0.
Philadelphia at New York postponed, rain.
Chicago at St. Louis postponed, threatening weather.

SOFTBALL STANDING

	W.	L.	R.P.	R.A.
Asjmas	4	1	56	29
Tweed	3	2	48	40
Young Canada	2	2	35	36
Alemite	2	3	41	46
St. Paul A.C.	2	3	21	45
Bellevrville	1	4	21	40

Peterboro "Sea Horses" Become "Put Puts" as Calhoun Tames 'Em 3-0

Local Right Hander Turns in Brilliant Performance

THUMP HORSEHIDE

Jimmy Barclay Severely Injured, When Hit Over Heart

With Art Calhoun throwing balls where the Peterboro bats weren't, the local Stewart-Warners staged an eighth inning batting spree to down the Peterboro "Sea Horses" by the score of 3 to 0 at the local Exhibition Park last night. The local victory elevates the Radios into sole possession of first place in the O.B.L., with three wins and only one loss. Calhoun was in rare form hurling without ball as he scattered the three Peterboro singles. Only once during the entire contest did Calhoun let the Sea Horses get in the initial frame, when two successive singles placed Peterboro runners on first and second. A fast two-pip play, however, soon ended the Lifluck City rally. Only twice from the second inning until the last man was retired did the Peters get base runners on the paths, once in the third, when Williams got advanced as far as second, and again in the fourth, when Tommy Foley got as far as third. From the fourth until the ninth Calhoun retired the opposition in a sensational manner, fielding on the part of the Radios materially assisted by Peterboro defensively as the Radios played errorless ball. The locals out-hit the Peters six to three, as they collected three extra base hits to clinch the contest with Jimmy Clock in a terrific eighth inning batting rally.

Locals Stage Rally

The game proved most exciting and carried an atmosphere of uncertainty until Alex Weir's single delated batting rally in the eighth inning. Peterboro had scored one on Roy Smith's single in the fourth inning triples by McIlroy and Weir and a double from the bat of R. Smith gave the Radios two more counters in the eighth. The game until the eighth, was purely a pitchers battle between "Spook" Scriver, the Petes' elongated right hander, and Art Calhoun, local fireball hurler. Both pitchers possessed a world of speed with Calhoun pitching the more steady ball, not walking a single batter and issuing but three passes, while he also hit no less than three batters. Scriver batsmen as Calhoun climbed but one. Scriver retired the Radios in order for the first three frames, but in the fourth two walks and a hit batsman placed three Radios on the board. Only one subsequent hit followed, counting from that of R. Smith and scoring Grey from third. In the fifth Scriver again developed a wild streak, hitting two and walking one, but striking out the third batter to retire the side and end the rally. On singles by Barclay and Calhoun and a hit batsman the Radios populated the base paths again in the seventh, but Scriver rose to the occasion and kept the Radios out of more trouble, only to have the fireworks break for the eighth inning. With one out Alex Weir lined a single to centre and pulled up at third, Roy Smith following suit to score Weir while Barclay was safe on Ash's error, Darrah running for Barclay, who had been injured with a batted ball that hit him in the fifth. McIlroy then stepped to the plate and lined a triple to deep left scoring R. Smith but Darrah, who fell some ten feet in front of the plate was called out on a close play, while Ford ended the rally, short to first. While all of this was going on Calhoun was mowing the Peterboro batters down in apple pie order, not a visiting runner reaching first base after the fourth inning.

The entire Belleville outfield played havoing four assists while Calhoun threw out five, Ford two and Green three. Each pitcher was issued a smart double play to terminate opposition batting rallies. Foley's running catch of R. Smith's line drive in the second featured for the visitors along with Scriver's drive to the pinches. Murphy at short for the Petes, kicked in with six fielding chances, without a bobble. One error was committed, the game being sensationally played in every department. The Radios now possess sole possession of first place, the Stewarts, and idle until next Tuesday, when the Cobalts squad makes its initial appearance in Belleville in a twilight fixture.

PLAY BY PLAY

First Inning.

Peterboro—Whalley grounded to first. Calladine singled to right. Foley scratched a hit to centre. Kearns hit into a double play, Calhoun to Green to Smith. 0 runs, 2 hits, 0 errors.

Belleville—Grey hit to Ash. Kerr struck out. Green skied to centre. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

Second Inning.

Peterboro—Murphy whiffed. Burton filed to Kerr. Ash fouled out to Barclay. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

Belleville—Weir reached first on Whalley. Smith aided to Foley. Barclay popped to short. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

Third Inning.

Peterboro—Starr grounded to Calhoun. Scriver grounded to Ford. Whatley singled and stole second. Calladine grounded to Green. 0 runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

Belleville—McIlroy was thrown out by Murphy. Ford went out the same way. Calhoun grounded to Scriver. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

Fourth Inning.

Peterboro—Foley was hit by pitched ball. Kearns sacrificed. Murphy went out. Calhoun to first, Foley going to third. Burton struck out. 0 runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

Belleville—Grey walked. Kerr hit by pitched ball. Green walked, filling out on infield fly. Smith singled to right scoring Grey and Kerr and Green out at the plate. Whalley then threw out Green going into third completing the double play. 1 run, 1 hit, 0 errors.

Fifth Inning.

Peterboro—Ash grounded to Ford. Starr grounded to McIlroy. Scriver struck out. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

Belleville—Barclay was hit by a pitched ball. McIlroy sacrificed. Ford was hit. Calhoun walked. Grey struck out. Kerr struck out. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

Sixth Inning.

Peterboro—Whatley skied to Weir. Calladine popped to Ford. Foley struck out. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

Belleville—Green grounded to Calladine. Weir struck out. Smith did likewise. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

Seventh Inning.

Peterboro—Kearns grounded to McIlroy. Murphy whiffed. Burton skied to Weir. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

Belleville—Barclay singled over third. McIlroy filed to Burton. Ford whiffed. Calhoun singled to left, Barclay hit by a pitched ball scoring. 1 run, 2 hits, 0 errors.

Eighth Inning.

Peterboro—Ash grounded to Green. Starr popped to Ford. Scriver struck out. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

Belleville—Green struck out. Kerr struck out. Green struck out. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By the Associated Press)

Henry Coppola, Senators, blanked Red Sox with five hits and scored first run after hitting single.

Guy Bush and Earl Grace, Pirates, Bush limited Cardinals to four hits Grace knocked in both Pittsburgh runs with double.

Goose Goslin, Tigers, hit triple and three singles against Indians; knocked in five runs including winning tally.

Get rid of the purgative habit at once!

No man or woman should be blamed for trying to get rid of constipation. Incomplete elimination is dangerous. It causes about 90 per cent. of all human ailments.

But those who take drastic purgatives or harsh mineral salts have only themselves to blame if the trouble gets worse instead of better.

For over 60 years Eno's "Fruit Salt" has been relieving constipation, preventing it from becoming chronic. And Eno is safe. A teaspoonful in a glass of water makes a pleasant-tasting, refreshing drink. In a short time Eno will make you feel like a new person—and Eno forms no habit. Handy size, 50 cents. Household size, 85 cents. 'Phone the druggist now.

Batting Leaders

(By the Associated Press)
(Including yesterday's games)

NATIONAL

Batting: Vaughan, Pirates, .392; Martin, Cardinals, .377.

Runs: Vaughan, Pirates, 41; Martin, Cardinals, 37.

Runs Batted in—Medwick, Cardinals, 39; Vaughan, Pirates, 36.

Hits: Vaughan, Pirates, 63; L. Waner, Pirates, 64.

Doubles: Medwick, Cardinals, 16; Martin, Cardinals 14.

Triples: Goodman, Reds, and L. Waner, Pirates 6.

Home Runs, Ott, Giants 9 Vaughan, Pirates, Joe Moore, Giants Camilli and John Moore, Phillies 8.

Stolen Bases: Myers, Reds and Bordagary, Dodgers 7.

Pitching: Parmalee, Giants 6-1; Walker, Cardinals and Castleman, Giants 5-1.

AMERICAN

Batting: Johnson, Athletics, .410; Gehringer, Tigers, .394.

Runs: Johnson, Athletics, 40; Gehringer Tigers 35.

Runs Batted in: Greenberg, Tigers 48; Johnson, Athletics, 46.

Hits: Johnson, Athletics, 66; Gehringer, Tigers, 63.

Doubles: Foxx, Athletics, 14; Werber, Red Sox, 13.

Triples: Vosmik Indians, 14; Walker, Cardinals and Castleman, Giants 5-1.

AMERICAN

Batting: Johnson, Athletics, .410; Gehringer, Tigers, .394.

Runs: Johnson, Athletics, 40; Gehringer Tigers 35.

Runs Batted in: Greenberg, Tigers 48; Johnson, Athletics, 46.

Hits: Johnson, Athletics, 66; Gehringer, Tigers, 63.

Doubles: Foxx, Athletics, 14; Werber, Red Sox, 13.

Triples: Vosmik Indians, 14; Walker, Cardinals and Castleman, Giants 5-1.

Home Runs: Johnson, Athletics, 13; Greenberg, Tigers 11.

Stolen Bases: Almada, Red Sox, 12; Werber, Red Sox 9.

Pitching: Whitehead, White Sox 8-1; Wilshere, Athletics 6-1.

FARMER A SUICIDE

Chatham, Ont., June 7.—(CP)—Alex Sommerville, 55, farmer of the River Road, Dover Township, was found dead on the road in front of his home, a bullet through his head and a rifle by his side. It was said he had been despondent because of poor health.

Clothiers of Quality

Look Smart

A SIMPLE MATTER FOR THE MAN WHO GETS, OUT-FITTED HERE.

He's dressed comfortably, yet smartly and Quick and Robertson Quality costs him less in the longer wear.

TRY IT—AND PROVE THE TRUTH OF OUR STATEMENT

Quick & Robertson

First in Style, Quality and Reasonable Price

WHITE SOX HEAVING STAR PITCHES

Sensational pitching of Johnny Whitehead, Chicago White Sox rookie so far, Whitehead has everything to back up his work. He is a right-hander, is in a great position to "stuff" good control and a fighting heart. Here he is delivering a ball.

A TRAVELLING SALESMAN MUST LEARN A LOT ABOUT GASOLINE..

YOU BET HE DOES! AND ONE IMPORTANT THING I'VE LEARNED IS TO FILL UP ALWAYS AT SHELL PUMPS. THAT'S THE ONLY WAY I CAN BE SURE I GET THE QUALITY GASOLINE I ASK FOR. SHELL PUMPS ARE Sealed

21-35

ANOTHER ONE

Belleville—	AB	R	H	PO	A
Grey, rf	1	0	0	1	0
Kerr, lf	3	0	0	1	0
Green, 2b	3	0	0	3	3
Weir, cf	4	1	1	2	0
Smith, 1b	4	1	2	12	0
Barclay, c	1	0	0	4	0
McIlroy, 3b	3	0	1	0	4
Ford, ss	3	0	0	2	4
Calhoun, p	2	0	1	0	2
	27	3	6	27	13
Peterboro	AB	R	H	PO	A
Whalley, 2b	4	0	0	1	3
Calladine, 3b	4	0	1	1	2
Foley, rf	3	0	1	3	0
Kearns, rf	2	0	0	2	0
Murphy, ss	3	0	0	2	4
Burton, lf	3	0	0	1	0
Ash, 1b	3	0	0	6	0
Starr, c	3	0	0	2	0
Scriver, p	3	0	0	0	1
	32	0	3	21	10

Score by innings:

Peterboro	....	000	000	000	0	3	0
Belleville	....	000	100	02x	3	6	0

Summary—Error, Ash. Two-base hit, Smith. Three-base hits, Weir, McIlroy. Earned runs, Belleville 2. Struck out by Calhoun 8, by Scriver 6. Bases on balls, off Scriver 2, Hit by pitched ball, Scriver (Kerr, Grey, Barclay, Foley). Calhoun (Foley). Runs batted in, Smith 2, McIlroy, Double plays, Calhoun to Green to Smith; Kearns to Starr to Calladine. Stolen base, Whalley. Sacrifice hits, McIlroy, Kearns. Left on base, Belleville 8, Peterboro 3. Umpires, McCauley, Peterboro, plate; Woodley, Belleville, bases. Time of game, 1 hour 46 minutes.

Watch Holway Bros.
?
IT WON'T BE LONG NOW!

Daily Short Story

BIG SHOT!

(Copyright 1935 King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

O'Brien walked into the office with a tired and weary look on his face. He flopped into a chair and hollered for a drink.

"Whaddaya think this is, a saloon?" I growls as I pour one for him.

He looks around weary-like and remarks absentmindedly:

"Well I must the same kind of people here."

"Fifty cents, please," I snaps back.

That sits him up straight.

"Whaddaya mean, fifty cents?" he wants to know.

"That's my price for a drink," I tell him. "And if you don't get it up pretty quick I toss you right out like they do in any saloon."

"Aw, can't you take a joke?" he says. "I'm all tired out and I thought a little kidding and you take me serious. Why, Pat, the reason I come into your office all the time is because I get sympathy here."

"You'll find sympathy in the dictionary and out you go unless you get that half-a-buck," I say in a tough tone, knowing that kidding hurts his soul like parting with his money no matter how little.

He sighs, and much to my surprise hands me a half. After testing it to find out whether or not it's a phoney, I pocket it, and look at him anxious-like. Something must be wrong, I think, and although he's a lifelong friend of the first water, I like the guy, because he knows me around with his parties and ideas.

"Pat," he says, "the reason I gave you that half is this. I make myself four hundred slugs today and I am afraid it's phoney."

I am becoming interested. Like all readers I am interested in new ones stories and anyone who can rake in 400 potatoes in one day in these lean times has a success story to tell.

"Spill it," I tell him.

"You know," he begins, "how for years everybody on the main event is steamed up over whether or a wrestler can take a boxer or vice-versa. I am always one of those who can be convinced that a boxer will win and am always willing to put a few slugs on the boxer should such a match come off.

"So when I heard about the match being staged by Jobbery, the promoter, I am very much interested. He has matched Waldo Wilde Wallace against One Round Lewis, both heavies, under catch-as-catch-can rules. I find out though, that the boxing commission forbids Freeman on the boat and the boys are planning to hold it secretly like they did in the old days. They decide to hold the match in a big old barn up in the Catskill mountains, so I move in, I'll combine business with pleasure and go up to the boats at the same time getting a little fishing in.

"It cost me ten bucks to get up to the place, five more for a fishing license and ten more to get into the barn. Therefore with the twenty-five bucks before I start. So I lay a little wager on One Round.

"It was a swell bout while it lasted—but it didn't last very long. One Round dances out of his corner and makes a pass at Wilding Willie and Willie ducks. One Round hits Willie and the grunter goes down—and One Round, forgetting he's tangling with a wrestler steps back toward his corner.

"Willie turns a somersault and grabs One Round by the ankle and rising with him gives him one of the nastiest airplane spins it has ever been my pleasure to see. After whirling him around forty or maybe sixty times he lets go. One Round describes a lovely parabola and comes hurtling out of the ring.

"Like Jack Dempsey at Philadelphia, I forget to duck and One Round's thick skull hits me right in the chest knocking all the wind out of my system.

"I go down like I am shot with One Round on top of me and when I come to the place is deserted—boys and the remains of the crowd is just pilling out of the doors.

"The last man going out is Jobbery, whom I recognized from having had him pointed out to me earlier in the evening, as I wish to see what kind of a guy it was who would promote such a goofy match.

"Hey, I yell, where do you think you are going?"

"At the sound of my voice he turns around and I can see he's trembling. He comes over to where I am weakly leaning against a chair.

"Listen," he jabbers before I get a chance to say anything. "Listen, I do not wish any trouble with the law. Can't I fix this some way?"

"What's the idea," I say, of having your wrestler throw me for air me? Do you know what I think I'll do...?"

"Whatever it is, don't do it," he says. He reaches into his pocket and hands me a roll of bills, whereupon he turns and runs from the place.

"I count the dough. There's sixty in the roll. I don't figure it out but I take it and start walking for the railroad station. When I get there, I found out why he has given me the dough. The station agent greets me thus:

"Howdy, officer."

"Whaddaya mean, office?" I asks.

"His point to my vest from which the gold edge of a badge is peeking. I laugh.

"Listen, mug," I tell him, you'll see a lot of these this Summer, that's the new type of dishing becomes the state issue.'

"So know you see how I make four hundred slugs today.

"Yeah, O'Brien, I tells him, 'I always knew you were light, but I never knew you were a welcher. How about paying that bet you had on One Round.'

"I did, he says. 'Here was the odd two dollars!'

TEX AND HIS PALS (Actual Photographs)

Copyright, 1935, by Harper Publishing Bureau, Tenaya, N.Y. All rights reserved

By Leslie A. Hill

Little Benny's Note Book

We was starting to eat supper, being liver and onions in pop's honor, being the 2nd time this week and ma said, Now Willyum, go ahead and enjoy yourself in the 7th heaven while you may, because it's time to call a serious halt. I ween this is the last liver and onions for quite a while, so you'd better eat used to the idear and regulate your life accordingly, she said.

That's bad news, I must say, yes pop, pop said.

And he started to look at his liver and onions and instead of keeping on eating it, he ma said, Well dont let it get cold, there's no use adding insult to injury, and for land sakes dont look so forlorn. A person mite think your best friend had deserted you and then come back and robbed you in the nite, she said.

I do feel something on that order, as a matter of fact, pop said. When I think that I'm one of the last liver and onions that will pass my fastidious lips for an indefinite period of time after a shipwrecked sailer with his last precious ounce of water. I honestly dont touch it because I feel that when it fades before my eyes and crumbles before my teeth the last ray of hope is gone, he said, and ma said, There's plenty more here in the platter, so dont be silly. Eat it, Willyum, you know you'll hate to see other people's food getting cold, she said.

But each mouthful will remind me of the shortness of life and the inexorable passing of all its blessings, how can I? pop said, and ma said, O my goodness all rite, the ewrid hasn't quite come to an end, we'll have it again pritty soon.

That's too indefinite, do you mean tomorrow? pop said, and ma said. Dont be absurd. I promise it to you within a week.

A period of life appears in the heavens, the angry seas subside, all is hot hot, pop said.

And he ate 3 more helpings with a happy expression.

FOURTH THURLOW WEEKLY NOTES

Fourth Thurlow, June 7.—The Bethany branch of the W.C.T.U. held their regular meeting at the church Sunday evening with a fair attendance.

Mr. J. W. Yaleman and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Yateman attended the funeral on Sunday of the late Mrs. Ella Yateman at the late home, the second of Tyentinaga.

Mr. Frank Yateman spent the holiday in Picton.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Purdy of Detroit were dinner guests on Monday of the latter's brother, Mr. J. W. Yateman.

Friends and neighbors extend sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Martin and Duane in the loss of Mr. Martin's father.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Webb and boys, of Fernwood, N.Y., spent several days last week with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bradshaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Yateman and Ronald Yretton took tea Sunday evening with the former's father, Mr. J. W. Yateman.

Miss Beatie Wye spent a week recently in Belleville, preparing for examination in music.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cole and Mr. and Mrs. Grant Cole and baby visited Mr. and Mrs. Perry Badgely of Deseronto, on Wednesday last.

A number from the neighborhood attended the funeral services on Saturday of the late Mr. Albert Martin at St. Andrew's United church.

Several children on this line are unable to attend school, some having whooping cough, while others have measles.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bradshaw and Stella and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Webb and boys took dinner on Friday last with Mr. and Mrs. Carman Gibson, 7th line.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McPherson, 3rd line spent Friday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Grant Cole.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Haight were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sparrow.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Badgely and Bertha spent Thursday last with Mr. and Mrs. Perry Badgely and girls, Deseronto.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Paul and Clayton, 2nd line, and Mrs. Carl Paul, Toronto, also Rev. Merrick, were dinner hour guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cole.

The refreshing rains of the past week have been very beneficial to the farmers.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Cole, Thede and Harris also Mr. Clifford Murphy of Belleville spent Sunday evening at Robert Miller's.

Messrs. Charles and Grant Cole attended Orange Lodge at Shannonville, Monday evening.

A social was held Friday evening with Miss Edith Walker in charge of the Fellowship program.

BRINGING UP FATHER —

By George McManus

TILLIE THE TOILER—

By Russ Westover

DANGER TRAILS—

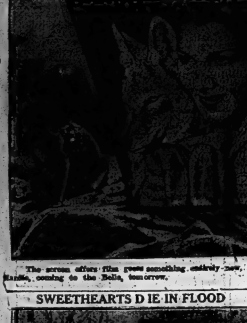
DESPERATE TACTICS

By The Famous Explorer Martin Johnson

MR. AND MRS—

By Briggs

TARZAN THE UNTAMED—

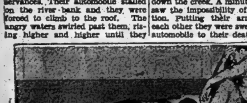


(Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service)

After Olga, one by one, came the nine apes. Searching quickly she discovered a spear and with this to lead the attack, she again approached the entrance . . . Tarzan of the Apes and Lieutenant Jerry Cecil were securely bound to the stakes. Neither had spoken for some time. Now the Englishman turned his head to see his companion in misery. Tarzan stood straight against his stake. Only indifference showed on his countenance, though both man knew of the torture to come.

"Good-bye, old top," whispered the young lieutenant. Tarzan, turned his eyes in the direction of the other and smiled. "Good-bye," he said. "If you want to get it over in a hurry, inhale the smoke and flames immediately."

"Thanks," replied the aviator, and though he made a wry face, he drew himself up very straight and squared his shoulders. The hideously painted warriors were forming slowly now to commence the dance of death!



The screen offers fun every something entirely new, in "Sequoia" with Jean Parker and Russell Hardie, coming to the Bella, tomorrow.

SWEETHEARTS D IE IN FLOOD

These remarkable photos by a were completely marooned. Their fiancee of the newsreel cameraman record plight was noticed by hundreds one of the most tragic incidents of along the shore. Firemen and police- the Fountain Creek flood in Colorado, which was witnessed by hundreds. Helen Carver and her fiance, Orville Nell, residents of Pueblo, Colo., had motored to Colorado Springs for Memorial Day observances. Their automobile stalled on the river bank and they were forced to climb to the roof. The angry waters swirled past them, rising higher and higher until they men launched a boat. This proved futile. A fireman clutched (TOP PICTURE) and tried to swing hand-over-hand along a power line, but the line fell short. Extension ladders collapsed. The bottom picture shows them being swept farther down the creek. A minute later they, on the river bank and they were saw the impossibility of their position. Putting their arms around each other they were swept from the automobile to their death.

DOUBLE KAYO—Gino Garibaldi is out flat, and George Zaharias, right, also is kayoed in Albany bout.

200 JEWELERS WILL MEET HERE

Ontario Association Will Convene at Country Club

Members of the Ontario Jewelers' Association to the number of approximately two hundred, will gather in Belleville, Wednesday, June 12, in annual convention. A program of business sessions supplemented with entertainment has been arranged by the energetic Vice-President of the Association, Mr. J. E. Logan of the Angus McPee jewelry store. The sessions will be held at the Bay of Quinte Country Club which will be convention headquarters, and in addition to the business session there will be entertainment provided for the wives of delegates including golf and bridge, while the men will relax between business sessions with golf, horseshoe pitching, swimming and fishing. The convention will conclude with a grand ball at the Country Club with dancing from ten till two. This is the first time the convention has been held outside of Toronto and Mr. Logan is anxious to demonstrate that Belleville offers outstanding advantages as a place for conventions.

QUINTET SOUGHT IN BOY KIDNAP

Suspects Are Named By Portland, Oregon, Bureau

Portland, Ore., June 6 (AP)—Captain John Keegan of the Portland Detective Bureau announced a city-wide search for five men who local police declared are wanted for questioning in the Charles Weyerhaeuser kidnapping at Tacoma.

The police named the men as follows:

Richard Franzen and Elliott Michener, under indictment for the Denver Rio Grande railroad robbery February 2, 1935; Jack Bailey of Portland, last seen here May 15; Clarence Martin and Herbert Lester Johnston, alias "Shadow" who police suspect of being implicated in an attempted extortion of $10,000 from the mayor of Olympit, Wash., several years ago.

Franzen and Michener last were seen in Salt Lake City several weeks ago.

TABLE BILL TO REGULATE TRADE

No Powers For Enforcement Industrial Codes Conferred

Ottawa, June 7—(CP)—Parliament today studied the plans of the Bennett government to regulate trade and industry under a commission, as recommended by the Royal Commission on price spreads. Hon. R. B. Hanson, Minister of Trade and Commerce, yesterday introduced the bill to establish a Dominion trade and industry commission in addition to its present tasks.

No powers for compulsory establishment or enforcement of industrial codes are conferred, but the commission will have permissive powers of recognizing agreements for the regulation or elimination of competition and the fixing of prices in industry. Where such agreements are arrived at and approved by the commission unanimously, the parties involved will not be subject to prosecution under the Combines Investigation Act. The commission will also administer the Combines Act which has so far been under the jurisdiction of the Minister of Labor.

Agreements of this character may only be approved where it is established they will not be detrimental to the public interest. Wide powers of investigation are conferred on the commission for the determination of this and other questions. To assist the commission a public prosecutor will be appointed. The commission may settle the aid of the National Research Council in establishing a system of commodity standards and will also have power to investigate any proposed issue of securities before offering to the public.

GRANARY DISCOVERED AFIRE

Brantford, Ont., June 7 (CP)—When James Thompson of Onondaga Road below Cainsville, went out to his barn he found hay above the granary on fire. Before they could be checked the flames destroyed the large bank barn, 4x8 market pigs, 100 bushels of grain, a ton of chop and harness and implements. Firemen from the city saved nearby buildings.

REPAIRS MADE TO SCHUSTER DOCK

Considerable repairs are being made to the Schuster Company dock on the waterfront at the present time. Old decayed timbers are being removed and replaced and the bulging sides of the dock are being strengthened and straightened.

COUNTIES SEEK HERD T. B. TESTS

Toronto Milk Market Insists on Tested Milk

Cobourg, Ont., June 7—(CP)—With farmers facing the alternative of being their cattle excluded from the Toronto milk market because of insistence their herds be "T.B." tested or being forced to forego compensation of cattle banned from grade herds, Northumberland and Durham Counties council discussed the proposal of asking the Minister of Agriculture to include these counties into the general restricted area plan.

Under the supervised plan, herds may be tested by the government but no compensation is allowed for those cattle ordered removed. Under the accredited plan, compensation is allowed positive reacting beasts.

However in a restricted area, both purebred and grade herds are tested all over the area and the infected ones culled out and compensation allowed for their removal. In the latter plan, the farmer with the grade herd is not only afforded compensation but is allowed to ship his milk. This was considered advisable as Northumberland and Durham ships a great quantity of milk to Toronto.

GERMAN GENERAL DIES

Hanover, Germany, June 7—(AP)—General Alexander Von Linsingen, Commander of Germany's southern army during thes Great War and of the Berlin Garrisons when the Imperialist regime was overthrown in 1918, died yesterday of bronchitis. He was 86 years old.

C.D.S. Saturday... Store News

Remarkable Value! Women's White Shoes

Smart shoes that you'll agree are modestly priced at only 1.98 a pair! Of fine white leathers, several styles, all with leather soles and heels. In selection are one, three, four and six Eyelet Ties, Sandals, One Straps, Oxfam, medium and high heels and spike heels. Sizes 4 to 7½ in the group. Be bright and early for your size and style. Pair 1.98

—Men's Store, rear

First Quality Silk Crepe Slips

Marvellous value particularly when the material is a fine silk crepe—adjustable strap shoulders, with dainty lace hem, and in sizes 32 to 44. First quality, too, in white or tearose only. Special, each 1.00

— Second floor

Look! Fine Rayon Panties, each

Step-ins with wide legs, and dainty lace trimmings, or tailored styles, with band at knee, both in the assortment in white, tearose, yellow, blue and pink. Sizes in the lot small, medium and large. Very special, each 39c

— Second floor

Special! 36 inch English Cotton Broadcloth

An outstanding value at 19c a yard! A fine imported cotton broadcloth, smoothly finished and well textured, denoting good wear, good laundering qualities and priced to save for you. In various printed designs, small in size, on soft shades of blue, pink, green, yellow and rose. No phone orders please for this special. Special, yard 19c

Large Size Women's Printed Crepe Celanese Frocks

If you are a large sized woman and have difficulty in finding anything to suit you in a smart summery frock, visit the C.D.S. Saturday and inspect these smart, new arrivals. Of smooth, celanese crepe, printed in attractive floral, dot and other smart designs, in medium and small sizes. Some have cape sleeves, some with short sleeves, and all arresting those slenderizing effects, which women taking sizes 38 to 52 have trouble in getting. Youthful, modish and above all good value at each 4.95

Cool and Crisp, These Linen Suits for Misses

And so smart looking, too, for summer days, they are in two piece styles, very smartly tailored, in a choice of either single or double breasted effects. Pleats in skirt, coats with the popular tie-swing back, and button trims add smartness to them. In a soft oyster linen color. Sizes 14 to 20. Modestly priced, each at 3.95

— Second floor

Braemore Silk Hosiery

Comes in Both Service Weight and Ringless Chiffon Weights and Priced at only 85c pr.

Yes and more than that, they come in the favored shades for summer wear: Greyglade (a soft dusky grey), Illusion (light brown), gunmetal (dark grey), Sahnoia (beige), Taupemist (taupy grey), streetbeige (sunny beige color.) Of fine quality silk, firm and clear, offering you smooth, trim fitting full fashioned hosiery at a price which everyone can afford. For street wear, or walking, for everyday service, or for evening wear—weights to care all occasions. Try a pair, we think you'll buy them again and again 85c

— Main floor, left

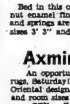
Candy Treats for Saturday Shoppers

Jumbo Salted Peanuts Fresh Roasted lb. 10c

Toasted Marshmallows Fresh and tasty, lb. ... 15c

Cut Jellies A selection of fruit flavors 15c

Nougat Rolls Delicious centres with cocoanut coating, lb. ... 19c



MENT A SMART NEW "Crisp-Cool" Summer Suit For You at 16.50

You'll want one of these for summer wear at this price—in good looking grey and fawn shades, of fine quality, light weight wool fabrics which hold their press well and give excellent service. Half lined for extra coolness, with three patch pockets and some with the new "bi-swing" back which allows extra freedom. For sport, for the car, for street wear, there's nothing smarter and how comfortable they are too. Sizes for men and young men, 36 to 44. Suit of coat with notch lapel and trousers. At

16.50

Nothing Smarter for Summer Men Than Grey Flannels

Shed those hot, heavy trousers for a pair of these cool, nattily tailored trousers of fine cotton and wool and all wool flannel. They're cool, smart appearing and in several shades of grey, finished with five pockets, turned cuffs for belt and cuff bottoms. Sizes 32 to 44. Pair 1.95 2.95 and 4.50

36" Printed Superle

A new mercerized English Cotton of smooth, lustrous finish, printed in wee, dainty floral patterns on light and dark grounds. If you're looking for a good quality cotton fabric for kiddies' summer frocks, etc., your search is ended for here is the ideal material. It's sturdy, tubs up well and is priced modestly. Yard 29c

— Main floor, rear

3 Piece Bed Outfit

Bed in this outfit is of metal, in panel style, in a rich walnut enamel finish, mattress is cotton filled, with rolled edge, and springs are the cable type. Three standard sizes 3' 3" and 4' 0" and 4' 6". Complete 13.95

—Main floor, rear

Axminster Floor Rugs

An opportunity to save on soft, well piled axminster floor rugs, Saturday. In several effective designs, interpreting fine Oriental designs in rich well blended colorings. Scatter mats and room sizes as follows:

27" x 54", each	3.25
4' 6" x 7' 6", each	10.50
6' x 9', each	15.75
9' x 10' 6", each	24.75
9' x 12', each	28.75

Auto Accessories At Advantageous Prices

Tire Pumps, .. each 65c and	1.25
Pump Hose .... each	10c
Socket Sets .... 25c and	1.39
Car Jacks..... .. .. each	1.67
Four-Way Rim Wrench ea.	75c
Brake Rod Anti-Rattler Set..... .. 25c and	35c
Steering Stabilizer .... each	65c
Holding Roof Patch ..... each	25c
Wire Tow Cables ..... each	25c
Tube Patching Outfits .. ea.	25c
Simonds .... each	25c
Car Enamel, black ..... pint	35c
Auto Top Dressing ..... pint	35c
"Kemalt" Polish ..... pint	50c
Bumper Bars ..... pair	1.25
Battery Cables ..... each	65c
Ground Straps .. each 18c,	25c

Time to Put On Window Screens!

With the first burning of flies and insects, window screens should be put on to give you plenty of fresh air and ventilation and to keep these pests out. Our stock is wonderfully complete in this line, taking care of almost any sized window. Note the widths and extensions of those listed below. Everyone equipped with galvanized fly screening, making them impervious to wet and weather.

Height	Width	Extension	Price	Height	Width	Extension	Price
14"	22"	36"	45c	18"	22"	36"	55c
14"	26"	44"½	52c	22"	22"	36"	65c

CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

Penny Wise and Pound Foolish

The BETTER Your Car Runs, The CHEAPER It Is To Operate

A properly tuned engine and correctly adjusted Electrical and Carburetor equipment mean Easier Starting, Quicker Pick-Up, Greater Power and More Gasoline Mileage.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED "NO CURE—NO PAY"

LOCATING THE TROUBLE

The first thing we do when you bring your car to us is to give the electrical and carburetor equipment a careful examination—without charge. If the report shows that any of these units need servicing or repairs, we quote a price and leave the decision with you. Should you wish us to go ahead with the work we will gladly do so. If not, you are under no obligation. We offer this friendly service, not merely as a means of soliciting your business, but with the more important object of earning your confidence and goodwill.

FRONTENAC AUTO ELECTRIC SERVICE

118 Front St. Phone 150

BATTERIES IGNITION CARBURETORS

THE UTMOST IN TRAVEL VALUE TO EUROPE

Cozy public rooms and cabins . . excellent food and plenty of it . . good entertainment . . happy days of sport and fun . . fine, steady ships.

Sailing Fri. days from Montreal, Quebec, Saguenay, Halifax, Saint John, N.B. Sailing Wednesdays from New York. Tourist Class $144.50 RETURN FARE 3rd CLASS

CUNARD WHITE STAR LIMITED ANCHOR-DONALDSON

Apply to your local agent or to 257 Bay Street TORONTO

WEATHER

Lower Lake region—Light to moderate winds; fine today and Sunday, becoming somewhat warmer.

The Ontario Intelligencer

TEMPERATURES

	Max.	Min.
Today	67	40
One year ago	75	44

Rainfall—.03 inches.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, JUNE 8, 1935

THREATS MADE TO SETTLE ETHIOPIAN ACCOUNTS

NEWS BRIEFS AND ODDITIES

Hollywood, June 8, (CP)—Members of the cast of a dramatic third version of the New York tabloid strike and slice of another play which has been jobbed around in the Hollywood playhouses were an inch in themselves today, charging the theatre management with refusing to hire union stage crews.

Los Angeles, June 8 (CP) — Safeway Stores, Inc., this week end again will buy from the public for cash—at prices higher than customers pay for such items at other stores where they are offered as "loss leaders," Ralph Wyllys, Vice-President and Director Manager, said today.

Safeway became a buyer last week when other stores, shortly after the Supreme Court NRA decision began cutting prices on some goods below the fixed wholesale prices.

Safeway this week and invited parents to send their children on "shopping tours of the slashed price stores and bring their purchases to Safeway stores.

Some persons are reported to have cleared $12 in $15 in two days.

Los Angeles, June 8 (CP) — It required the whole page of the register for one male to get a room at a Los Angeles hotel. The guest was Col. Joseph Adolphus American Vanguisher, Leonidas Napoleon Archimedes Leslie Lee Quantines Cincinnatus Watson, and he doesn't use initials. He is on his way to the International Rotary convention at Mexico, D.F.

Rochester, N.H., June 8 (CP)—A deer poked its way into a tavi-cab office today and soon afterward was taken home in the bills — in a cab. The animal, a buck weighing 125 pounds, pushed through swinging doors in a building housing the taxi office, 20 feet down the hall in the corridor, and made for the stairs to a cellar where it was found and subsequently fed in a cab and released in the country.

Guelph, Ont., June 8 (CP) — One chain-letter writer in Guelph has received 10 cents from a blind man and a letter written in braille.

Erin, Ont., June 8 (CP)—Workmen have completed planting 18,-000 red pine trees at here. The project is to be known as Erin's Jubilee Grove, from seed secured through the Ontario Forestry Department.

Guelph, Ont., June 8 (CP) — A bumper strawberry crop is looked for this year, according to local boosters and when the season gets underway, it is expected prices will be considerably cheaper than last year.

Prince Albert, Sask., June 8 — (CP)—The city council here, in defiance of a provincial board edict on the city, is campaigning to make its streets "safe for strangers," in an effort to induce the payment of arrears taxes and re "bring down the bargain counter" through rebates.

MYSTERY MONEY COMES TO CITIZEN

Paul Lalonde Puzzles Over Letter With Dollar Bill

Mr. Paul Lalonde, 30 Duncan Street east, this city, is still attempting to unravel the mystery of an unknown money donor who refuses to be identified.

A dollar bill, envelope, bearing only the cancellation stamp of Prescott (Ont.) Postal station, and enclosing a blank piece of paper with a typed address, still was received by him yesterday. A previous letter received June 1, in verse typewritten sentences informed him that he would receive four of the letters, each containing one dollar or more, at regular intervals. No name or address of the donor was given.

"There is no catch to this, put the money in your pocket when you get it," advised the unknown writer.

After considerable study of a map, Paul said: "I have decided I never heard of the place before," admitted Mr. Lalonde. "I haven't the faintest idea of who might be sending these."

HELEN MOODY WINS

Wyebridge, England, June 8 (AP) — Helen Wills Moody captured the St. George's Hill lawn tennis tournament today, trouncing Mrs. Hale Goldsack Pittman of England in the final round, 6-0, 6-4.

ALBERT COLLEGE STUDENTS TOLD OUTLOOK BRIGHT

Rev. Bert Howard, Principal Praises Work of Past Year

HIGH HONOURS

Rev. R. Hall Addresses Students on Problems of Coming Era

"While the numbers of students have been few, I feel on looking over the records of the year, they have been records of which Albert College can still be proud," said Principal Rev. Bert Howard at the first annual convocation last evening since his acceptance of the principalship. He referred particularly to the higher studies being carried on in association with Queen's University and affiliation after the critical weighing of results Dean Matheson had informed him that the faculty of Queen's was delighted with the success of the undertaking. In the record of collegiate work and of the other departments, he declared, he was not afraid to place it alongside the record of any school.

College Spirit Prie

In spite of the fewness of the students, which would ordinarily prevent a full sense of fellowship, a fine spirit has been marked among the boys, Mr. Howard explained. "Our aim here is not an institution, but a family for the purpose of training boys to become Christian citizens of character. And I can conceive of no finer investment than that of service.

"Education and Christian culture must be judged on the way it brings to the individual and the happiness these individuals can bring to others." The principal told of a bedridden woman of 85 years who can neither read nor write and whom he had known in the West, who could appreciate the beauties of Browning, Tennyson and Shakespeare. "How wonderful," she remarked, "to think that we have been able to let our children into this world of minds." She and her husband at self-sacrifice had seen their five sons graduate from U.C. and said there were not a few but many instances in Canada who feel as this woman felt.

Ancient Ceremonial

Convocation is an ancient ceremony at Albert, dating back to the back seventy-eight years to the year 1857. Through all these years its revival has been a time of significance to the classes and to the

(Continued on Page 12)

WEATHER

Toronto, June 8—(CP)—Synopsis —The weather has been unsettled in Ontario during the past week in most districts, while it has been the most fair in the Maritime Provinces. Thunderstorms have occurred in southern Manitoba and northern Alberta but it has been fair elsewhere in the west with lower temperatures this morning in Alberta.

Lake Superior—Light to moderate winds; partly cloudy and cool; a little scattered showers.

Kenora and Rainy River—Partly cloudy, with showers or a little higher temperature.

Manitoba—Mostly fair and somewhat warmer.

Saskatchewan and Alberta—Mostly fair and warmer, with a few scattered showers or local thunderstorms.

STIRRING SCENES AS FRANCE SEEKS FRANC STABILIZATION

Newsreel cameras and photographers were busy recording the scenes as Premier Flandin of France, left, and Finance Minister Germain Martin, right, arrived at the Chamber of Deputies in Paris to present the government's financial program. Flandin is shown shaking hands with Martin.

Paris, June 8 (AP)—Premier Flandin's government was faced with a budget deficit of 10 billion francs ($856,300,000) caused an outflow of gold from the government's vaults, seriously menacing the French franc, keystone of Europe's gold bloc. These pictures were made as Marianne trembled on the brink of devaluation. Paper currency was converted into gold. Long lines formed at the bank and many walked away (LEFT) with the shiny metal, carried in an ordinary shopping bag. All day long the frantic rush continued. Premier Flandin examined (RIGHT) for the latest quotations on the franc. Then $26 gold pieces rallied and the franc held. The Boulanon Government fell in three days and Premier Laval has just been given full dictatorial power to handle the financial situation.

TYRRELL TILFORD MURDER VICTIM VERDICT OF JURY

"Open" Verdict Rendered in Death of Woodstock Teamster

WILL PRESS PROBE

Evidence Showed Man Asked to Have Stomach Analyzed

Woodstock, Ont., June 8 (CP)—Less than 72 hours before he died, Tyrrell Tilford, teamster, told his aged parents and his sister to have his stomach analyzed after his death.

"You will find the poison there that killed me," he was quoted as having said by his sister, Annie Tilford.

It was more than six weeks after his death, April 1, that Ontario Government experts examined Tilford's exhumed body—and found arsenic in the stomach. Last night a coroner's jury here decided the 35 year old teamster died of arsenic poisoning "administered by some person or persons unknown." The final chapter of the long-delayed investigation into Tilford's death unfolded before a crowded courtroom. Forty witnesses had given evidence. His aged parents had said their son told them his wife, or Mrs. Gertrude Ann, had given him arsenic.

When the "open" verdict was returned, Chief Coroner M. Crawford said he will confer with Crown Attorney Ingersoll Brown and Provincial Police authorities today in Toronto with Attorney-General Arthur W. Roebuck. Provincial Police announced that the investigation would be pressed forward. It was also said that more than five weeks after Tilford died, the "real motive" of whether or not there will be any arrest is being considered. Crown Counsel, said G. B. Snyder of Toronto, who was special crown counsel in the inquest proceedings.

The hearing developed conflicting views as to why an autopsy and investigation were not ordered immediately following the death of Tilford. Dr. Hugh R. Lindsay who signed the death certificate showing cause of death as ruptured ulcer with influenza and catarrhal jaundice contributing factors, testified he had asked Crown Attorney Ingersoll for an autopsy.

Frank Tilford, Tyrrell's brother, who lives in Toronto, said he could "get no satisfaction" from the Crown Attorney "so I went to the coroner." Tilford, a 21-year-old boy and hung around there for two days.

The Crown Attorney, denying he had been asked for an autopsy or investigation, declared it was the Tilford family who brought there was no use having an inquest.

Evidence of Tyrrell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tilford, was that the dying teamster told them his wife had given him arsenic and given added importance when Coroner Crawford addressed the jury. He said:

"Any statement made by a man who believes he is going to die is in the presence of four witnesses, is accepted by the courts of England and Canada, to a statement made under oath. A man is not likely to die with a false statement under circumstances like that. He is likely to tell the truth than some who take an witness box under oath seem to hide behind it and tell lies."

The widow refused to give evidence when she was called on the first day of Thursday. She was excluded from the hearing, and Mrs. Gertrude Tilford last night when the coroner said she be brought into court. He then invited every person who has knowledge or information" regarding the death to give it. There was no reply.

Frank Tilford, brother of Mrs. Tilford, asked she be allowed to sit with him.

"She is not accused in body, but she is in spirit." The widow left the witness chair.

Professor Jocelyn Rogers of University of Toronto said he found in the organs examined sufficient quantity of arsenic to cause natural death. The cause of death was also revealed in the body after internal organs had been removed by Dr. E. R. Frankish, medico-legal expert of the Provincial police department. But he added that the conditions in the decomposed body a rash were "compatible with arsenical poisoning."

ALBERTA SYNOD LEADS DOMINION IN BUDGET SHARE

Synod of British Columbia in Second Place

EXPENDITURES

S. Lawrence Blames Large Congregation in Budgeting

Montreal, June 8—The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church resumed consideration of the budget and stewardship committee's report, submitted yesterday by Rev. William Barclay of Hamilton.

In 1933 the church actually squared its books, said Mr. Barclay, and that was the one year since 1926 or 1927 the church did not add to the accumulated deficit.

Alberta Synod Leads

A budget summary attached to the report showed the Alberta Synod raised a greater proportion of its allocation than any other in the Dominion. Assigned to raise $11,-700, the Synod sent to the treasury $8,436, 72.43 per cent. of the allocated figure. In 1933 it sent $8,-716.

British Columbia was second, raising $8,911, 77.21 per cent. of its allocation of $12,800. In 1933 it raised $10,274.

Third Budget

Third greatest budget contribution came from the Montreal and Ottawa Synod, which sent $60,892, 78.43 per cent. of its allocation of $79,806. The contribution from this Synod in 1933 was $61,966.

Saskatchewan's contribution was $8,006, the allocation $6,799 and in 1933 contribution $8,665. Manitoba raised $8,539 in 1934, $11,994 allocated $8,600 and its 1933 contribution $10,274.

The Toronto and Kingston Synod made contributions of $108,614 raised 70.27 per cent. of its allocation of $80, 1933 the Synod contributed $123,026.

Last year's contribution from the Hamilton and London Synod was $77,319 compared with an allocated figure of $114,340 and a 1933 contribution of $81,822. The Maritime 1934 contribution totalled $93,306. The allocation was $121,920 and in 1933 it raised $94,571.

Comment From Rothesay

Samuel Lawrence of Rothesay, New Brunswick, Guelph, was puzzled why the church could not raise "the little sum of $600" to balance its congregation always raised its allocation or came within a dollar of doing so.

"When we find a minister so much in love with his work and his stipend telling the people never mind the budget, look after things at home what are you going to do?" he asked.

Rev. Lawrence accused the larger congregations of "not doing their fair share" in this respect.

Extravagance Charged

"When you find them paying their minister $6,000 or $10,000 a year and paying $600 to the budget, what can you expect?" he asked.

"It's downright selfishness," Mr. Lawrence added and suggested ministers with large salaries contribute $600 to the budget deficit.

Condemning extravagance in the administration, he said he was in advertisement and they should not look upon the church as one to pay for their advertising.

Coming Events

DEDORATION DAY AT RIVERVIEW Cemetery, Shannonville, Wednesday afternoon, June 12th. Cars for decorations will gladly be accepted. 78-2t

DANCE AT PINNACLE CLUB — Under the auspices of the Young Conservatives of Prince Edward. Good music. Modern dancing. Admission 25c plus tax. 77-3t

BRIDGE STREET CHURCH: TENTH Anniversary of Church Union Sunday School, Sunday, June 9th. Preacher: Rev. Robert Hall, Toronto. Services 10 a.m. and 7 o'clock. Everyone welcome. 77-2t

RESERVE FRIDAY JUNE 28 FOR GARden party of the rural district of Sidney's Presbyterian Church. 76-3t

STRAIGHT AND NARROW LITERARY club rooms, Front street. Voucher dance and card party, Friday evening, June 11. Admission 35c per person. 78-2t

DANCE, MONDAY JUNE 10, CLUB Rooms, Front street. Sponsored by Cement Tennis Club. Commodores dance orchestra. Admission 40c. Dancing couple said be 1st. 78-2t

CHURCH UNION PRESENTING MARTHA Mills and her all-Canadian girls' orchestra in Belleville Arena, Monday, June 10. A special entertainment. Tickets 50c. 78-2t

COUNTRY CLUB TEAS ARE CHANGED to Wednesday afternoons, beginning seventeenth, on account of conversion at club on those two Wednesdays. 78-1t

AMATEUR FLYERS CIRCLE CONTINENT

Expect to Spend Eleven Days in Travelling 11,000 Miles

Salt Lake City, June 8—(AP)—Two amateur fliers, Marion S. Kenmerer, graduate student in geology at the University of Utah, and Alfred P. Reck, Salt Lake City newspaper man, were ready to take off today for an 11,000 mile jaunt around the North American continent.

The pair, who plan to spend 11 flying days in the air, are making the trip during the vacation season of the year that a sportsman pilot can make a complete circle of North America.

Tonight Kemmerer said he hopes to be in Vancouver, B.C., tomorrow night the flight will be continued across Canada with Quebec as the goal. From there the trio is scheduled to take them to Halifax, N.S., and thence down the Atlantic seaboard to Miami and Havana.

On their flight across Canada the amateur pilots plan to travel by way of Edmonton, Regina, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., with possibly another halt in Eastern Ontario before reaching Quebec Province.

From Havana the flying vacationists will cross the Gulf of Mexico to Merida, Yucatan and then fly north via Vera Cruz, Mexico, D.F., and San Francisco.

DEATHS YESTERDAY

(By the Canadian Press)

Montreal—John J. Allen, 69; retired and former mayor of Outremont.

Toronto—Rev. James Lotice, 1st Church minister.

Sydney Mines, N.S.—John M. McDonald, 71, retired mechanical superintendent of Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company.

New York—Charlie Brown Rubi, author, dramatic critic and war correspondent.

Mitsburinsk, Russia— Ivan Mitsburin, 78, plant wizard of Russia.

Il Duce Dares Britain; Says Italy Will Imitate In Building Up Empire

'Whole People Ready to Sprung Up as One Man'

SUPREME NECESSITY

Mussolini Says Accounts Will be Settled With Ethiopia

Cagliari, Sardinia, June 8 (AP)—Premier Mussolini told soldiers departing for East Africa today "we have an old and a new account to settle" with Ethiopa "and we will settle them".

Apparently referring to Great Britain's expressed opposition to Italy's policy in Africa, Il Duce said the accounts would be settled without taking "any account of what is said beyond the frontier."

Speaking to 20,000 soldiers of the Sabaudia division and a huge crowd of Blackshirts the Fascist dictator made a sharp and pointed reference to Britain.

Imitation is Letter.

"We will imitate to the letter those who wish to teach us a lesson," he said. "They demonstrated that when they were creating an empire by defending it they never took into consideration world opinion. If the Ethiopian regime calls the youth of Italy to arms it does so because it is its bounden duty, because it finds itself faced with a supreme necessity. All Italian people feel this fact and the whole people are ready to spring up as one man when there is question of the power and glory of their country."

Court Interprets Will of James A. Roy On Church Bequest.

In Cagoode Hall weekly notes it was announced that judgment in the matter of the late James Roy's will has been handed down in favour of the beneficiaries, to wit, St. Michael's and St. Andrew's churches of this city included in Mr. Roy's will were bequeathed to the amount of $5,000.00 to each of these religious bodies, with a codicil stating that the principal be invested only the interest thereof to be used. The court found that the gifts were intended as immediate and that St. Michael's and St. Andrew's Churches would be able to claim the capital sum or principal of $5,000.00, mentioned in Mr. Roy's will. R. C. Donnelly, K.C., represented the Roy estate in the hearing in Toronto.

Friends Announce Release of Miguel By Kidnappers

HAVANA, June 8—(AP)—Friends of Antonio San Miguel, 78-year-old railroad magnate, announced today he had been released by his kidnappers.

He was seized Wednesday and held for $200,000 ransom, one of his associates declared. The ransom demand has been liberated. "I do not know whether the ransom was paid but I do not believe it was."

DEBTOR NATIONS WILL DEFAULT

Washington, June 8 (AP)—The United States expects all debtor nations but Finland to follow Great Britain's lead and again refuse to meet war debt payments due June 15th.

In answer to a polite "reminder" that the British Government would owe the United States $85,670,000 on June 15th in addition to arrears of interest, Secretary Hull and Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador, gave notice of the new default.

Rome, June 8 (AP)—Italy will follow the example of England by defaulting a war debt payment due the United States June 15th, it was disclosed here today.

Opera Under Stars in Park Follows Ball Played by Day In 12-Week Rotation Plan

Detroit, June 8 (CP)—"Opera Under the Stars" will be the label for the first time tonight in Navin Field baseball park, the largest portable stage ever assembled in the world. Batteries of lights have replaced the customary baseball batteries and the street car tracks around the infield have been silenced.

The stage, which will face 8,000 seats in the upper and lower tiers of Navin Field, was put together, jig-saw fashion, two nights ago. Some 700 pieces, cross numbered, were assembled in less than two hours by the stage crew.

The crew had to learn to work fast for, after baseball games during the next 12 weeks of operettas and musical comedies, the vast stage will have to be assembled each night in approximately two hours.

None of the scenery for the performances will swing from flies. Instead, there are five pyramids of neutral color, the stage and the scenery will be swung between them. A system of lights will prevent the audiences seeing the handling activities.

When the enterprise opens tonight it will represent months of work, an expenditure of $50,000 and the realization of an ambition that Jo Ann Boylan, impresario, had for years.

More than 500 persons are employed, two companies, rehearsing each having 250 members. Jack McGregor, today was baptized into the Roman Catholic faith by Rev. Father O'Rourke, his spiritual adviser during his illness.

Tonight's performance, the premiere, will be attended by the governor and other state officials. During the season, two New York stars supplemented by the best local talent, will appear.

The performances are scheduled nightly, rain or shine, since the audience is protected from the rain and even the scenery is water-proof.

FINGERPRINTS TO REVEAL IDENTITY

House Believed Used by Kidnap Gang is Located

(Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press)

Tacoma, Wash., June 8 (AP)—The "two gabled" hideout house of the gang which kidnapped George Weyerhaeuser, authorities disclosed today, holds the key to their identities through fingerprints, it was believed.

The house was believed abandoned because of the ransom which they received $200,000 ransom and released the nine-year-old boy a week ago.

An authoritative source disclosed the kidnap victim had told specially what parts of the home he saw his captors touch with ungloved hands. The child said the house was gray, with two gables and "near water and a railroad curve."

Seattle, June 8 (AP)—The Post-Intelligencer said today 20 Federal Reserve notes from the $200,000 George Weyerhaeuser kidnap ransom found yesterday in bank receipts at Salt Lake City.

"Federal Agents immediately agreed a bet over the four States of Utah, Montana, Wyoming and Colorado," the dispatch says, "as delivery persons who passed the money were still in that area."

DRAG FOR BODY

Toronto, June 8 (CP)—Dragging operations were under way again today for the body of a woman believed by police to have been drowned with the unidentified 24½-year-old baby found in Lake Ontario Wednesday morning. The child was found in the lake channel in front of the C.N.E. after passersby had noticed a woman standing near the water with a baby in her arms. There have been no inquiries concerning the child.

Frank Temple Baptized Confirmed Next Week

St. Thomas, Ont., June 8 (CP)—Frank Temple, sentenced to die on June 27 with his son, Fred Temple, for the slaying of Constable Neil McGregor, today was baptized into the Roman Catholic faith by Rev. Father O'Rourke, his spiritual adviser during his illness.

Tonight's performance, the premiere, will be attended by the governor and other state officials. During the season, two New York stars supplemented by the best local talent, will appear.

The performances are scheduled nightly, rain or shine, since the audience is protected from the rain and even the scenery is water-proof.

City and District News

MONTH OF MAY BELOW NORMAL

The month of May far below normal in regards to warmth for the greater duration of the month, but warm summer weather during the latter part of the month brought the rating the mean average of warmth closer to the normal figure. The mean temperature for the month was 55 or 9.4 below normal. The highest point 78.2 was recorded on the 26th, day of the month and the lowest 31.1 on the 3rd.

It was a sunny month with 276 hours of sunlight 11 percent more than the average. Rainfall for the month was only 1.70 inches as against 3.67.

Gypsies in Gay Attire Pass Through Belleville

Colorful in gay attire, and with cars laden with heavy baggage, a small caravan of gypsies passed through the city yesterday afternoon en route to the west. A brief stop was made at a downtown restaurant while the adults of the party dined, after which they continued their journey in the expensive machines of new and modern make.

REGATTA TO BE HELD IN PICTON

The regatta in Picton this year, on July 1st, promises to be an outstanding affair, judging from the enthusiasm shown and the number of entries made. The Belleville Club is sending a large number of

CAPITOL
MONDAY - TUESDAY
ONE HOWLING NIGHT
SEVEN GIGGLE STARS in a TALE OF MURDER IN THE THIRST DRONES!
WED. Don't Tell Your Sister Lovers Knock Crowd Thrills Collegiate Love Stories Walter Catlett
LIGHTNING STRIKES TWICE
Directed by Allan Holmes

It Pays to Shop at the Rexall Store.
SPECIAL VALUES in Toiletries and Patents
BALANCE OF THE WEEK SEE BELLE AT YOUR DOOR
McKeown's Drug Store

DR. H. J. FAHEY
desires to announce the location of his office now in the East Robertson Block, 215 Front St., Belleville.
M1-1m

I. D. A. KIDNEY PILLS
An efficient diuretic and kidney stimulant
42 Pills to the bot 29c
I.D.A. DRUG STORES

waterways.

A great increase in sailing in the Bay of Quinte waters has been established in the past few years. Sailing races are held every Wednesday and Saturday at the Belleville Yacht Club, with great enthusiasm is shown. Maybe before the summer is over a monster regatta will be held in local waters.

REV. ROY RICKARD MOVES TO COLBORNE

Rev. Roy Rickard, of Oakwood United Church, who at one time was organist at the Albert College and who married Miss Meien Clark, a former teacher at the Belleville Collegiate Institute, has taken over the pastorate of the Colborne United Church.

Peterboro-Marmore Road is Oiled

No. 7 Highway has now been oiled from Peterborough to Marmora and is reported in fine condition. East of Marmora the surface of the road is being scraped, grader and rolled before the oil is put on. It is expected, the Highway No. 14 will also undergo the same treatment.

WEED CUTTING IS NOW IN PROGRESS

The first of the summer's work for the present week, weed cutting on city property and roadsides throughout the city is expected to be started by the department of public works next week. Two men will be engaged on the work to start, with the expectation of putting more men on the job as the season advances. It was stated by City Engineer Chas. A. Mott, today.

BLANKET OF FOG ENVELOPES CITY

A thick blanket of fog covered Belleville and district early this morning, causing city cars and the warm sunshine came out. The fog was due to the heavy rain that have fallen of late, saturating the earth with moisture. A noticeable feature which attracted several pedestrians, who were on their way to work was the curve of the fog, like dense clouds of smoke, that followed down the river, skirting the limes until it came within a few feet of the surface.

JUDGMENT GIVEN FOR THE PLAINTIFF

Judge McLean, Picton, in County Court yesterday afternoon gave Charles Walker, Faraday Township, judgment for specific performance of an agreement entered into between Walker, and Albert Danford, also of Faraday Township, and also was judgment in Walker's favor for all timber cut on the property of Danford since December 6, 1932. In lieu of damages. Mr. C. O. Payne, K.C., appeared for the plaintiff, and Ormonds Butler for the defendant.

Conservative Rally Held at Tamworth

Ex-Mayor Reid and Alderman N. D. Arnott of this city attended the large rally of Young Canada Conservatives held at Tamworth last evening in the interests of the Conservative candidate for Hastings-Addington, J. A. Pringle of Arden. Chief speaker of the evening was Mr. J. Louckes, M.P., of Saskatchewan, assisted by the Hon. W. D. Black, M.P.P., for Addington and J. C. Soward of Kingston. E. J. Harris, Newburg, ex-Mayor Reid and Alderman Arnott also addressed the gathering which was declared to have been one of the largest yet held in that district.

"DU BARRY" DINNERWARE
TONIGHT
"GO INTO YOUR DANCE"

JEWS CELEBRATE SHEVOUTH FEAST

Commencing Thursday night and continuing on until sunset Saturday evening the Hebrews of Belleville and surrounding vicinity will celebrate the Festival of Shevouth, it was stated today by Mr. J. Berger, secretary of the local Jewish synagogue leader.

Thirty-eight hundred years ago, in the desert near the Mosque, on Mount Sinai, Moses brought to the Jews the earliest codification of laws in recorded history. The Decalogue, was the agent which united the diverse elements in a tribal community, and welded it into a homogeneous force, Still more than this it provided mankind with an ethical basis of conduct a system which has directed its progress to greater or less degree since man's journey began" across the wide continents of the years.

"Shevouth carries with it a timely reminder for the troubled human race today. The traditional interpretation of law, stressed to the breaking point the catastrophic disasters has lost its force, lost its dignity, lost the vigor which has been one of its chief characteristics. Law, man's servant and preparation is in every way to a misconception of liberty which is disintegrating into license.

"Yet laws are not, as they have often been misinterpreted, weights to freedom. Our entire universe is no more than a vast empire knit together by laws. They govern every phase of natural activity and provide the only significant security in every phenomenon without which progress would be impossible and life a meaningless existence. The very regularity of the seasons, the rotations of day and night, the natural gratification of hope and growth are examples in nature of the inevitability of law.

"Laws are not fetters of restraint they are on the contrary doors of escape from uncertainty. They lend orderliness to existence and provide ability to progress. Morse mastered the laws of electricity, and brought into being the telegraph. Cicero mastered the laws of speech and became the first of the orators. Wright mastered the laws of gravitation and invented the aeroplane. And the mastering the laws which generations have passed down to us to govern the personal, social and political relations may progress to that state of perfection of which Tennyson wrote, and which thus have been in Moses' mind as he plunged down from the cloud and gave the decalogue to an unlettered, undisciplined people. For in every aspect of human life, the true measure of greatness is the measure of mastery over law.

60th Anniversary Of Presbyterianism Will be Celebrated

Tomorrow June the 9th the Presbyterian Churches in Canada will commemorate the 60th anniversary of the Union of Confederation. The General Assembly is at present meeting at Montreal and will conclude until Wednesday.

Rev. Mr. Walker, minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church of this city informed the press that services will be held in all Presbyterian Church tomorrow to commemorate the occasion.

BOOKS LOANED AT LIBRARY DECREASES

There was a considerable falling off in the number of books loaned at the Corby Public Library for the month of May, than the month of April, according to Miss H. M. Adams, chief librarian. This decrease is due to the fact, that now the long summer evenings have arrived, people are no longer content like to get out and enjoy the outdoor activities. The students at the Collegiate are busy studying for their final exams and therefore have no time for reading as in the three months. This is a deciding factor in the decrease.

EXAMINATIONS

Departmental exams for second-ary school students begin a week earlier this year. They start on June 17th and end on June 28th. The junior matriculation exams will be written on June the 22, 24, and 26th.

The exams this year are changed in the Middle and Upper School departments. Greek and Spanish used to be written at the end of the Junior matriculation but this year Greek the first paper on June 13 and Spanish comes on June 14.

A change in the regulations will be carried out this year. High school teachers will supervise the study periods of their own respective schools but as can be arranged they will not preside over pupils trying their own particular subjects.

United Churches Will Observe Anniversary Of Church Union

United Churches will on Sunday June 9th, celebrate union which was consummated ten years ago. In Belleville the four congregations will partake of the Holy Communion in their own churches in the morning and in the evening all will unite in Bridge Street United Church for union celebration service. The Rev. Dr. James Endicott will preach. Dr. Endicott being a former moderator of the United Church. All services will be on daylight saving time.

W. E. Tummon, M.P., Recalls Visit With Former Governor General

Among all the stories that having been told regarding the late Viscount Byng, first Commander of the Canadian Corps in the Great War and later Governor-General of Canada, none has more appeal or shows more clearly the insight of the gifted man than one incident in which Mr. W. E. Tummon, present M.P. for South Hastings was concerned.

It was during the time Lord Byng served as Governor-General of Canada. Mr. Tummon had just been elected member of the House of Commons, and, as was the custom for members to go down to the East Block where the Governor-General was located, to visit with him for a short period.

Mr. Tummon later admitted to close friends of his that as the time for his departure arrived he became a bit nervous. It was his first visit to meet any Governor-General. Endeavoring to find out who was to accompany him—it was the custom for two members to arrive at the same time—he learned the disturbing news that he was to be all alone. His nervousness increased.

But Mr. Tummon's fears were groundless. Immediately upon being introduced by the secretary he was at ease. The Governor-General was graciousness personified. "Mr. Tummon", remarked Lord Byng, when introductions were over, "your name seems very familiar to me. Would you be any relation to Mathew Tummon, William Tummon or Samuel Tummon in the Old Country?"

When Mr. Tummon replied that the names, William, Samuel and Mathew Tummon were the names of Tummons in Canada, and that they were all born originally to Canada from Cornwall, England, many years ago, both he and Governor-General Byng found that they were all of the same family. Then for over an hour, Mr. Tummon and Lord Byng discussed the relationship, during which time Mr. Tummon learned enough of the Tummon family in England to enable him to carry on a correspondence which he has been standing engaged in since.

"That was something which gave me a very warm feeling for the late Lord Byng and one which I shall always have for him," commented Mr. Tummon in referring to his untimely death.

City Almost Loses Mayor's Gavel Cherub Caught Carrying It Off

The city almost lost the Mayor's official gavel yesterday, and but for the prompt action of the sharp sighted city hall employee the presiding head of the city council would have been forced to carry on Monday evening's regular meeting with an impromptu carpenters' mallet or hammer.

He was only ate or so and the shiny wooden mallet which lay on the official desk in the council chamber attracted his attention. Tiptoeing to the desk he seized the gavel and then hurried down the steps, leaving the rest of the little boys and girls at the Belleville Trade Group Sponsor of Movement Praised Collegiate entrance engrossed from a lower executive office saw the culprit and gave chase. "Police hammer," protested the chubby little fellow as ownership was disputed. A shiny nickel, however, worked wonders and the gavel was returned. This time to be placed in safe keeping in a drawer.

City Officials Chuckle Over Hastings "Alligator"

'Leg-Pulling,' 'Publicity' or is it a Gar Pike?

'GATOR' HUNTER

"And alligators croon
"In the silvered blue lagoon,
"Under Madawak's moon;
"In North Hastings."

Toronto Globe.

Alligators may be rearing
Scaly snouts above the clearing
North of Madoc Township's middle line.
But as yet they've not been seen,
So it's probably just a dream
Softly chuckled county officials
Here today.

"Alligators in Hastings County? Somebody's pulling someone else's leg," briefly commented County Clerk Eric Denyes in referring to an account in a Toronto morning paper of alligators being sighted in Hastings County. "They've got their wires crossed up there."

"Maybe it's just a little bit more publicity for the county," added Warden J. Haggerty, county treasurer "I've been in this county for a long time, but I've never seen any alligators yet."

According to accounts the Ontario Department of Game and Fisheries is in receipt of a request, for a firearm permit to be used "to hunt alligators in the waters of North Hastings."

Some request, from some unknown native of the county left the officials of the Department "flabbergasted."

Someone mentioned something about gar pike seen now and then in the waters of the Ottawa River, "but alligators? No ——a thousand times no!

LOCAL YOUTHS PLEAD GUILTY

Admits Numerous Charges of Breaking, Entering Anth Theft

Seven local lads all between the ages of 13 and 16 years, appeared before Magistrate E. J. Butler, K.C., in a special session of Juvenile Court held yesterday. The lads individually faced innumerable charges of breaking, entering and theft of many local business houses, each charge being admitted, when the boys were personally questioned into the court, which was held in camera by their parents or guardians. No definite sentences were meted out yesterday but His Worship in the custody of Inspector T. D. Ruston of the Children's Aid Society for subsequent mental examination. The fourth instructions to report to the Inspector every Saturday for the remainder of the termination of which the boy will again be brought before the court to determine his progress. The remaining three were handed over to the custody of their parents, sentences in their cases being enlarged for one month.

The disposition of these cases clears up the mystery surrounding so many recent robberies in Belleville. It was only a few months of concerted efforts on the part of the police, that these seven lads, along with a few others to have participated in regular police court held yesterday morning, were apprehended and convicted.

RAIN ALL TO GOOD NOT ENOUGH YET
William Michael, Seed Inspector Says Rain Needed
"Not a bit," replies Mr. Wm. Michael, Dominion seed inspector for this district. "The rain is all to the good. We can't get too much of it just at the present time."
Crop conditions throughout this section are good, reports Mr. Michael. It will probably be one of the best years farmers have had for some time, if favorable weather conditions continue. The hay crop already gives promise of being better than average, while grain crops will be a good start already will probably be abundant and heavy. Corney, one of the chief crops, is already well above ground and growing fast, it was reported.
This year, according to grain and seed dealers, corn has been planted and hoed earlier than in any year, with a heavier root crop for feed during the coming winter.
Market gardeners of the district report excellent crops, some of which are almost ready to harvest and sell.

DR. R. E. McKECHNIE IS CREATED C.B.E.
Native of Brockville is Chancellor of B. C. University
Dr. Robert Edward McKechnie, of Vancouver, B.C., medical specialist, has been created a commander of the Order of the British Empire (civil division), Dr. McKechnie was born in Brockville and is the son of Major William McKechnie, was the first general agent of the Grand Trunk Railway, afterward being superintendent, and of the Canadian Pacific Railway which ran north from Port Hope; and later superintendent of the Government Railways. His brother, Edward Leland, Dr. McKechnie was a gold medalist in Medicine at McGill University and practised for a time in Montreal before going to British Columbia. He has also practised first in Nanaimo, afterward being appointed medical specialist. For a time he was a member of the British Columbia Government and is now Chancellor of the University of British Columbia and active in other activities for community benefit.

Police News

G. E. Watson and his brother Robert Watson, both giving their home addresses as Toronto, were five dollars fine in Magistrate E. J. Butler's police court yesterday after pleading guilty to vagabonding in Belleville, without first procuring a license to do so. Police apprehended the Watsons endeavouring to sell Oriental rugs on Bridge St. The accused men were arrested, arraigned in court, pleaded guilty, paid their fines and were proceeded westward out of the city within the short space of 20 minutes.

Chief Constable Dracoit of Scarboro Township, arrived in Belleville last evening and returned home with George Semar, of this city, in his custody. Chief Dracoit had a warrant for Semar, 's arrest in his possession, charging him with the alleged breaking, entering and robbery of a canteen in Scarboro Township.

W. H. Gerry, 318 Coleman St., complained to the police this morning, that unknown persons were stripping his garden of vegetables. "I don't mind losing my vegetables to those who need them, but I object to having my garden trampled all over and vegetables stolen," Gerry declared. The Belleville promised immediate attention.

Harry Taylor, 96 Lingham St., reported the loss of some fishing tackle from his boat-house, situated along the bay shore. The burglars broke and entered the building, stealing two valuable reels, two fishing lines, a pump and other fishing equipment. The matter was turned over to the provincial police, as the boat house is situated just outside of the city limits.

WELSH PAPER REVIEWS TRADE
Belleville Trade Group Sponsor of Movement Praised
The Western Mail and South Wales News on May 24th carried the following article in reference to the reciprocal trade between Canada and South Wales in the Exchange of anthracite for cheese and canned goods as inaugurated by the Belleville Trade Group, by the William M. Schnarr of this city. The Western Mail says:—
"Reciprocal trade was started last year between South Wales and Canada through the Swansea and Cardiff firm of T. T. Pascoe, Ltd.
"The business originated with an enterprising community at Belleville and Canadian products from the Belleville group, the first for this district, are already on voyage to the South Wales ports.
"This reciprocal trading is based on the shipment to Canada of anthracite coal in large quantities, on which there is the Canadian Government preference. A duty is charged on American and German coals, and an embargo placed by the Government on Russian anthracite.
"In return this country is to foster the sale of Canadian canned goods, canned in Welsh timplate, and Canadian cheese, etc.
"The principle of the scheme is that if Britain wishes to maintain this excellent market, free of duty and restrictions, in Welsh anthracite, it must demonstrate to the Canadians its willingness to implement their desire to increase their trade with Wales.
"This two-way reciprocal trade is being run on the usual business lines, without deviating from the present channels or banking arrangements. It is not a barter arrangement.
"Shipments of Canadian produce were begun last year and two or three consignments arrived in the British Isles. Arrangements have just been completed with the Belleville group to ship further quantities of goods during the present season, and a consignment of that Belleville group Wales and Belleville canned tomatoes has been arranged.
"These shipments are due in the Bristol Channel shortly and will be followed by a similar consignment of the same produce.
Mr. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada, and Mr. Mackenzie King, leader of the Opposition in the Canadian House of Representatives, a scheme embracing the movement of these goods on a large scale. The proposal is understood also to have been laid before the British Government."

RUPTURE EXPERT COMING
TUESDAY, JUNE 11th
New Queen's Hotel, BELLEVILLE
1 p.m. to 9 p.m.
To demonstrate the most remarkable scientific method known for the control and cure of rupture. No leg straps, no elastic, no plasters. Free advice. You cannot afford to miss this opportunity.
SMITH'S TRUSS MANUFACTURING COMPANY,
Preston, Ontario.

Good Companions For Your Week-end
SMILES 'N CHUCKLES
50c LB.
LATTIMER'S
DRUG STORE
WE'RE OPEN SUNDAY

IT WILL MAKE SCREEN HISTORY!
Malibu and Gato — a deer and a mountain lion, lead the cast in the most amazing adventure ever screened — YOUR GREATEST EXPERIENCE IN A MOTION PICTURE THEATRE.
Pronounced "SEE-QUO-YAH"
SEQUOIA
JEAN Parker
BELLE TODAY & MONDAY
2nd. Feature
ROYAL CAVALCADE
The great events of the past 76 years re-enacted by England's finest stage and screen stars!
Daily ..... 2.30; 7.10. Last Complete Show 8.30 p.m.
"Sequoia" Starts 7.20; 9.50. "Royal Cavalcade" 8.30 p.m.

Perfect sight can be had with very imperfect eyes, and in two ways—
The safe and sane way by the simple means of wearing glasses, or
The old and foolish way by straining the eyes, suffering fatigue, headaches and nervousness.
Casual observation reveals that the ranks of the former ones are steadily gaining at the expense of the latter.
When your eyes require attention you might better employ the most experienced examiner.
J. A. McFee
Professional Optometrist

FIRE SICKNESS AUTOMOBILE Service
Haig Bros. Limited
168 FRONT STREET
Insurance
BURGLARY ACCIDENT BONDS

HORTICULTURAL LECTURER VISITS TWEED SOCIETY

Mr. John F. Clark Delivers Helpful Address to Flower Lovers

Tweed, June 8.—The members of Tweed Horticultural Society who gathered in the basement of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Wednesday evening were favored with a splendid illustrated address by Mr. John F. Clark, official lecturer in horticulture for the province of Ontario. The attendance was very small, a fact which is to be regretted when a lecturer of Mr. Clark's ability speaks on a subject which must appeal to all lovers of nature particularly of flowers.

Mr. Clark spoke on four features of the plant world, trees, wild flowers, annuals, and roses, illustrating his address with some very fine colored slides.

The speaker referred to the Ontario Horticultural Society which is the largest of its kind in the world. He spoke of the interest which is taken by residents of Northern Ontario in the work. In speaking of forestry he pointed out the rapid disappearance of the trees in the province, especially in the southern section with comparatively little concentrated effort at the replacement. In some centres steps are taken to reforest certain areas. In 1934 Owen Sound planted 30,000 trees and Oshawa 40,000. Some schools accept groups and individual acorns for planting trees. The waste of our evergreens, particularly at Christmas, is appalling to say the least. Over 2,000,000 spruce and other evergreens are destroyed annually at Christmas for one day's decoration and thrown aside. In fact many of them were dead before Xmas.

In the Canadian West great numbers of trees are being planted with amazing results. The tree is the strongest and noblest form of plant life. In the autumn the beautifully colored leaves turn the forest glades into a veritable fairyland.

Trees and wild flowers are closely associated, as many of the latter would disappear completely were it not for the woods which furnish them with protection from the strong sun, drought and winter's cold.

The speaker cautioned his hearers about the danger of picking wild flowers too freely and causing their complete disappearance. Children should be educated in the matter, as most wild flowers look their best in their native habitat. Wild flowers may be transplanted to cultivated quarters if conditions under which they grow naturally are duplicated.

Annuals are useful in filling in open places in the herbaceous border, as they may be obtained in a great variety of bright colors. They bloom over a long period until cut down by the frost. To reach their best development annuals should not be crowded. As a rule they prefer a sandy loam soil, which should be stirred frequently to conserve moisture. Flowers of annuals should be picked to maintain continuous bloom. Some diseases of annuals were referred to and methods of combatting them suggested.

There are various types of roses grown in southern Ontario, hybrid perpetuals, hybrid teas, baby ramblers, pillar roses, standard or tree roses and climbing roses. Most roses, climbers excepted, benefit by vigorous pruning. Large blooms may be obtained by disbudding. Best protection for winter is obtained by hilling up well with earth just before the freeze-up and wrapping around with sacks. The best time to plant roses is in the spring, which is also the best time for pruning. When the plants are uncovered in the spring they should be sprayed with Bordeaux mixture or lime sulphur to prevent disease.

Two types of insects attack roses, sucking and chewing. The former are combatted with a contact poison such as nicotine sulphate, the latter with a stomach poison. Two serious diseases attacking roses are mildew which may be controlled by dusting while damp with a preparation composed of nine parts of sulphur, to one part arsenate of lead; and black spot which may destroy whole rose gardens. It may be treated with Bordeaux mixture and sulphur. All dead leaves should be burned. Roses are heavy feeders and require plenty of fertilizer, good drainage and plenty of moisture.

In conclusion, the speaker said if we plants nature will give us a harvest—but we must plant. Man cannot make a rose but the Creator can.

Mr. Clark's lecture cleared up many difficulties experienced by the members. He also answered a number of questions asked by the members.

LeSage Motor Sales sponsored a motion picture on Monday evening in the opera house showing the various operations in making an automobile at General Motors plant in Oshawa. The feature film was a baseball game showing the American League stars in action. In the drawing Paul H. Conneyea held the lucky ticket which entitled him to a cash prize of $2.50 presented by Le Sage Bros. The second prize, a grease job, went to Raymond Rashotte, and the third prize, five gallons of gasoline, to George Shewring. The tickets were drawn by little Miss Betty Shewring.

Wednesday, June 5, ushered in the half-holidays for the summer season. The fine weather appealed to many who took advantage of it to go motoring or do some necessary work in the garden. A number turned out at the bowling green for the first game of the season.

The annual Hastings and Prince Edward Deanery A.Y.P.A. picnic was held on June 3 at Tweed Memorial Park. Members of the branches at Stirling, Tweed, Marmora, Madoc, Roslin, Picton, Wellington, Belleville and Trenton. A program of sports was held including swimming races and a game of softball. In the evening the visitors were entertained at a dance in the pavilion with the high school orchestra supplying the music.

The June meeting of the W.M.S. of Tweed United Church was held in the church parlors on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Claude Barnett, the president, was in the chair. She referred to the number of losses from the organization by death since the May meeting three members having passed away. The meeting was in charge of Mrs. Tom Beatty who read the Scripture lesson. Mrs. F. B. Wesley gave a fine reading on the subject of prayer. Mrs. C. Kleinsteuber, peace secretary, gave an excellent paper on the League of Nations. A beautiful solo, "Open My Eyes" was sung by Mrs. S. H. Connor. Mrs. W. S. Gordon discussed the work which women can do in combatting the evil of intemperance. Two new members were received, Mrs. John Sager and Mrs. W. E. Dark.

Mr. John Quinn narrowly escaped serious injury when his car skidded in the loose gravel at the sharp turn near Chisholm's hills and turned over. The car was badly damaged but Mr. Quinn fortunately escaped injury.

Miss Ana Thompson sustained a compound fracture of a finger of her right hand while playing softball at the park on Monday afternoon.

The salaries of the teachers of Tweed Consolidated School staff were reduced at the May meeting of the school board. The lady teachers were given a cut of $50.00 each per annum, and the principal a cut of $85.00. This is the third reduction in four years. The salaries of the teachers of the high school staff remain the same as formerly.

Very Rev. J. P. O'Riordan attended the silver Jubilee celebration of Rev. Dr. Casey, Pastor of Kingston Mills and editor of "The Canadian Freeman", in St. Mary's Cathedral on Monday, June 2. Very Rev. Dean O'Riordan was sub-deacon at the Jubilee Mass. His Excellency Archbishop O'Brien, D.D., D.C.L., LL.D., of Kingston, was present at the ceremony. A banquet was held in the LaSalle Hotel in Dr. Casey's honor.

The officers of the Eastern Star, Tweed Chapter, for 1935, newly installed are:

W.M., Miss Marion Newton; W.P., Mr. J. P. Houston; A.M., Mrs. Ann Colton; A.P., Mr. H. Cordy; secretary, Mrs. Mary Blakely; treasurer, Mrs. Blanche Vance; Con., Mrs. Elizabeth Leslie; Assoc. Con., Mrs. Ann Way; Chap., Mrs. Ida Emerson; Marshall, Mrs. Maude Beatty; Organist, Miss Casey Mehlenbin; Ada, Mrs. Irene Coulter; Ruth, Mrs. Emma McCrea; Esther, Miss Gertrude Brown; Martha, Mrs. Marguerite Corbett; Electa, Mrs. Irene Credicott; Warder, Mrs. Florence Cordy; Sentinel, Mr. Gilbert Colton.

Mrs. J. L. Newton has returned home from Belleville General Hospital where she had been a patient for some time. Her health is much improved.

Mrs. Walter Smith was taken to Belleville General Hospital on Monday evening where she underwent a serious operation. Her condition is as good as can be expected.

Mrs. Harold Clark of Picton visited friends in Tweed on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Corbet of Montreal have rented Mr. S. B. Rollins' cottage for July and August.

"DON'T LET MY SONS DIE!"

An anxiety so deep it takes the form of a wild hysteria, is shown by Mrs. Joseph Millen as she is taken away after seeing her son, Murton and Irving Millen for the last time before they were electrocuted.

The boys were sentenced to death for the Dedham, Mass., bank robbery in which one of the guards was killed. She Faber is another who will die with them. Norma Millen, Murton's wife, is now serving time as an accessory.

NETTING OF CARP LIKELY IN BAY

Coarse Carp Nets Will Not Trap Game Fish

Following representation made this week by District Game Inspector J. S. Weymark of this city, permission is expected to be granted by the Ontario Department of Game and Fisheries for the netting of carp in the Bay of Quinte. This will signalize the first efforts of fishermen to attempt control of the prolific fish in local waters. Several applications of local fishermen to net the fish have been forwarded to Toronto, but as yet no answer has been received, it was stated by Mr. Weymark today. For the netting has been set at $10.00.

Although no rules governing the netting have been given out, it is expected that fishermen will be limited to the use of the nets between the hours of sunrise and sunset. Nets will be of the coarse mesh type, with not less than 7-inch mesh used. They will not be allowed in the water overnight, and will be used more as a "fence" with which to capture the fish in shallow water. It will be almost impossible to trap game fish in the coarse net, it was pointed out.

Owing to their rapid increase during the past year or so, carp have become a decided nuisance in the bay and surrounding waters. Not particularly as regards to diet, they have long been known as the arch foe of game fish, and particularly black bass on whose spawn they often feed. Voracious eaters, they tend to strip the marshes of their protective growth and are constantly muddying the water wherein game fish are found. Determined efforts have been made in the past by the Ontario Department of Game and Fisheries to control their numbers.

Unemployed fishermen of the district expect to realize a fair price for their catches of carp which are in some demand in New York and other fish markets.

IN WHEAT POOL

Secretary and general-manager of the Canadian Wheat Pool, E. B. Ramsay is reported likely to succeed John McFarland as president at least during the latter's illness.

BOARDING-HOME SYSTEM IS BEST

Reeve J. L. Hewson at Halton Urges Homes For Wards

Oakville, June 8.—Endorsement of tentative plans may known to the county councils by the Ontario Department of welfare for the rearing in private homes of children now inmates of shelters and other institutions has been given by Reeve James L. Hewson. As outlined to Halton county council recently, it is the intention of the department to "place" wards of the county in private homes sharing with the county the child's upkeep, Mr. Hewson explained.

"Children raised in institutions just don't seem to have a chance, they get the schooling, discipline, clothes and so on but there is that vital something found only in home atmosphere missing. They are immeasurably better off if they are given the advantage of home companionship, there is more outlook, and make better citizens on the whole.

"The longer children are left in shelters the harder it is to get them placed," he said. "I am very much in favor of getting them into good homes as soon as possible with an accent on the good."

The loveliest cleaning money can buy for light summer clothes

RETEX CLEANING

Restores liveliness, clearness and freshness to the fabric . . . .

Retex Cleaning restores the original loop and sparkle, clearness of color, and freshness of appearance—never dulls the fibre or kills the sheen. Summer dresses from $1 up. Flannel Coats cleaned without shrinkage, the original color preserved, $1.25; Cream or White Flannel Trousers 75c. Telephone 366.

Langley's RETEX CLEANERS

QUALITY places it OUT IN FRONT

CHEVROLET

ENGINEERING facts prove it. Sales records are confirming it. Your own comparisons will convince you of it. The new Master Chevrolet is away out in front—in features—in quality—in value for the money!

Look at the Turret Top roof. There's not another car in Chevrolet's low-priced class that offers you this vital, over-your-head protection of solid, seamless steel!

Look at Knee-Action—now in its second successful year—combined with balanced weight in these new models for the ultimate in the "gliding ride" . . . the ultimate in safety!

Look at the Fisher Ventilation—the Cable-Controlled Brakes—and the Blue Flame Engine. They're all exclusive to Chevrolet's. They all stamp Chevrolet as a truly modern car.

We invite you—come for a ride in the Master Chevrolet. Why not do so today? Because all that we could ever tell you isn't one-two-three with what you learn by driving the car yourself! Easy GMAC terms.

Master CHEVROLET

EXCLUSIVE THESE 5 FAMOUS FEATURES

SOLID STEEL TURRET TOP BODIES BY FISHER

BLUE FLAME ENGINE

KNEE-ACTION RIDE

WEATHERPROOF CABLE-CONTROLLED BRAKES

FISHER NO-DRAFT VENTILATION

PRICED FROM $901 (For the Master 2-Pass. Coupe) DELIVERED IN BELLEVILLE FULLY EQUIPPED. Government Registration Fee only Extra

See the new Standard Series models priced as low as $728 Delivered in Belleville

CHEVROLET MODELS READY FOR IMMEDIATE DELIVERY

J. B. BOYCE

Chevrolet - Oldsmobile - Buick - Pontiac

Sales and Service

348-350 Front St. Phone 704

FOR ECONOMICAL TRANSPORTATION

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER
THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at the Ontario Building, 107 and 109 Front Street, Belleville.

SOLDIER ADMINISTRATOR PASSES

Lord Byng of Vimy, the soldier who was in command of the Canadians at Vimy Ridge, one of the greatest feats and accomplishments of the World War, is dead. He entered the war with a brilliant record as a cavalry leader and his early days at the front more than lived up to the name he had won. "Leader of men" he was called. So he remained to the end of his life.

Canadians will never forget this great soldier, who first became well-known to them as Sir Julian Byng, who had that peculiar fitness for the office of commanding the Canadians, who as everyone at the front knew had as well their own peculiar spirit. The bond of union between Byng and his Canadian Corps was of that close kind which permits the finest of results. Vimy was one.

If Canadians remember him as a soldier leader of their sons on the struggled-over fields of France, they can not but remember the man who left the Old Country to become Governor-General of Canada, largely because of his association with Canadians overseas. His record as viceroy will live.

Lord Byng later took command of the Metropolitan Police of London and his appointment led to improvements.

Lord Byng, the seventh son of the second Earl of Strafford, was a soldier from youth, joining the 10th Royal Hussars at the age of twenty. He served in the Soudan a year later, and commanded the South African Light Horse. He became commandant of a cavalry school in England and then of a brigade. He went to Egypt in 1912 as commander-in-chief. During the Great War he became a full general in 1917 after the Battle of Cambrai. He was a great general, a noted administrator, devoted to duty. He held decorations from many countries.

Like the great soldier, but unobtrusive man he was, it was his wish that he be laid to rest in his adopted country.

Canada was fortunate in being brought into touch so closely with so noble a figure, not only during the war as the commander of her army abroad, on its first venture into an international struggle but also as Governor-General. Men like Lord Byng leave an indelible impress upon the people, children and others whom he served and the people to whom he represented the King.

ORDER OF MERIT

The Order of Merit which the late King Edward established in 1902 remains the most coveted honour as it is designed as a special distinction without a title for the most eminent men and women of the Empire. There can only be twenty-four members of the Order, with six foreign honorary members. The membership is of two classes, civil and military. Naturally this year most interest features upon the honour bestowed upon Sir Edward John Masefield, Dr. Vaughan Williams, musician, and Sir Frederick Gowland Hopkins, who has made a world name in bio-chemistry. Of the three military men in the Order, while others of renown include Sir James Barrie, Sir James Fraser, Lord Rutherford, scientist, George Macaulay Trevelyan, historian.

Masefield as poet laureate has made a worthy contribution to poetry of the reign of King George, particularly in connection with the jubilee of His Majesty, and he also carries the long train of poetic honour which has been his for many years. The Order of Merit is of the kind which a man like Masefield can accept without the burden of a title or a knighthood.

IS CHURCH ATTENDANCE WANING?

With the coming of warm weather and the "Let's go" spirit on Sundays, the problem of church attendance is one that is giving Protestant churches genuine cause for alarm. The Alliston Herald, for instance, states that in its town on a recent Sunday night there were 75 people in one church, 37 in another, about 20 in a third and not more than 15 in a fourth. The same thing is happening in nearly every town. Times are changing, and so is the matter of church attendance.—Petrolia Advertiser-Topic.

BORROWED BOOKS

The other day the encyclopaedic Ripley astonished his readers with an account of a borrowed book returned after fifty years. We all remember our school days when we used to write on the fly-leaf of even detested volumes: "Steal not this book for fear of shame, for here you see the owner's name"—an impressive admonition not always effective. Book-lovers who read the Ripley item would be glad to get back books, even after fifty years. For they know that experience how hard it is to lay hands on books loaned in weak or generous moments to certain individuals. —Hamilton Spectator.

Welcome evermore to gods and men is the self-helping man.—Emerson.

Who will adhere to him that abandons himself?—Sir Philip Sidney.

SIDELIGHTS

THE HOME FORUM

Discussing the events of the day, home gossip and general news topics as revealed by the hidden personality of the "Man behind the Mask." Conducted by Dan Gay. — Supervised by The Lamplighter.

RIDDLE

It is not easy to guess where
You are today, and yet I stare
At every corner of the street
On every tall, slim lad I meet.

It has been years ago you said
"Goodby" and bent your shining head
To kiss me. Then you strode away
And took the brightness from the day.
The fragrance from the fields where we
Had learned all April's litany.

You cannot still be young, erect;
Eyes must grow dim, silver-flecked.
Why do I guess, then, turning back
To glimpse a boy, lithe-limbed, hair black,
Head lifted, eager eyes and brow?
What you were once, you are not now!

Why, after many a lonely year,
Are you today so strangely near?
Why did my lips, an hour ago,
Lift for your kiss I used to know?

x x x

NEW FRENCH LINER NORMANDIE is said to be a fifth of a mile in length, the largest ship to date. And we used to think the North King was a sizeable craft.

x x x

"I TANK I GO HOME," said Greta Garbo in effect, as she started for Sweden—and that's all the bright newspaper boys of Uncle Sam got out of her in the way of a farewell interview. Greta gets more publicity by dodging it than she ever could get by courting it.

x x x

THOUSANDS KILLED BY EARTHQUAKE, hundreds dead from flood, while drought kills cattle and the hopes of southwestern farmers—and when we call this the garden of the gods who can dispute it.

x x x

GERMAN LINER BREMEN holds the record for the fastest crossing from New York to Havre, but the new French liner expects to beat this record by seven hours. Gosh, all hemlock, Gandpap would say: "Cross the ocean in less than five days, when it used to take months? Seems like the world is getting on a too swift a pace for comfort. Why all the hurry, anyway?"

PROFESSIONAL ENTERTAINER in New York, out of work and broke, was offered $500 for four weeks' work. He refused, saying it would hurt him professionally to accept such a low salary. His pride, however, does not prevent him borrowing money from his friends who happen to have any left, according to Walter Winchell, who knows his Broadway as we do Front Street, and as he was once a "hoofer" knows the idiosyncracies of the stage folk.

x x x

AMOS AND ANDY have introduced a girl into their act, and are very anxious to learn if their fans approve the change. Who could be so ungracious as to write to Amos and Andy suggesting that the girl be thrown overboard, in this age of unemployment? Shiny, with all the opportunities to introduce Madam Queen and Brother Crawford's wife to radio listeners, Amos and Andy resolutely kept the voices of women from their act. As for us, the only woman's voice we crave to hear in the act is that of Brother Crawford's wife in her most unhappy mood. "My wife is very unhappy." Seems as if Amos and Andy were slipping, running out of new material and the injecting of a colored girl's voice just a device to create new interest. The boys have done remarkably well in keeping this sketch going so long, but with so many themes exhausted, breach of promise trials, murder, beauty shop, Chicago World's Fair, etc., there would seem to be nothing left unless they emulate "Emperor Jones" and fly to some cannibal island where Andy can be a barefooted Emperor waited on by a bevy of beautiful colored damsels, while Amos is conductor on the open-air rickshaw with coconuts as legal tender.

x x x

? ? ? ? ? ? ? ?

HAVE YOU HEARD THIS

"Nearly a generation and a half ago my head was grazed by a bullet at the Battle of Chickamauga."

The little fellow looked at the old man's head thoughtfully and said:

"There isn't much grazing there now, is there, grandpa?"

REVOLT IN THE DESERT

by

T. E. LAWRENCE

I called at once at his house and he told me the history. The Turks had come on with three battalions and a number of mule-mounted infantry and cannelry. They got across Wadi Yenbo to the groves in their first onset, and thus threatened the Arab communications with Yenbo. They were also able to shell Nakhl Mubarak freely with their seven guns. Feisal was not a whit dismayed, but threw out the Juhaina on his left to work down the great valley. His centre and right he kept in Nakhl Mubarak, and he sent the Egyptian artillery to deny the Yenbo road to the Turks. Then he opened fire with his own two fifteen pounders.

Nasim, a Syrian officer, formerly a battery commander in the Turkish Army, was fighting these two guns; and he made a great demonstration with them. They had been sent down as a gift from Enver, anyhow, old rubbish thought serviceable for the wild Arabs. So Nasim had no sights, and used cinder, no range tables, no high explosive.

His distance might have been six thousand yards; but the fuses of his Krupps were Boer time fuses, often full of green mould, and if they burst, it was sometimes back in the gun, and sometimes grazing. However, he had no means of getting his ammunition away if the shoot went wrong, so he blazed off at speed, cheering with laughter at his fashion of making war; and the tribesmen seeing the commandant so merry took heart, or else pretended to, selves. "By God", said one, "those are the real guns; the Imperials out of their holes!" Nasim swore that the Turks were dying in heaps; and the Arabs charged down with terrific yell, at his word.

Things were going well; and Feisal had the hope of a decisive success when suddenly they left, ring in the valley wavered, halted; finally it turned its back on the enemy and retired tumultuously to the camping ground. Feisal, in the centre, galloped to Nasim and cried that the Juhaina had broken and he was to save the guns. Nasim rolled up the teams and trundled away. After him streamed the levies. Feisal and his household composed the rear, and in deliberate procession they moved down towards Yenbo, leaving the Juhaina under their leader, Sherif Abd el Kerim, my old guide, with the Turks on the battlefield.

As I was still hearing of this sad end and cursing with him the traitor Beidawi brothers, there was a stir about the door, and Abd el Kerim broke through the slaves, swung up to the dais, kissed Feisal's head-rope in salutation, and sat down beside us. Feisal with a gasping stare at him said, "How?" and Abd el Kerim explained their dismay at the sudden flight of Feisal, and how he with his brother and their gallant men had fought the Turks for the whole night, alone, without artillery, till the palm-groves became untenable and they too had been driven back. His brother, with half the manhood of the tribe, was just entering the gate. The enemy had vanished up Wadi Yenbo for water.

Yesterday did you retire to the camp-ground behind us during the battle?" asked Feisal. "Only to make ourselves a cup of coffee," said Abd el Kerim. "We had fought from dawn, and it was dusk when we very tired and thirsty." Feisal and I lay back and laughed; then we asked how what could be done to save the town.

Below us, the top of its flat reef of coral rose perhaps twenty feet above the sea, and was commanded by water on two sides. The other two sides looked over flat stretches of sand, with no hills or houses to cover for miles, and with no fresh water supply nearer than the new light, if defended by artillery and machine-gun fire, the place should be impregnable.

The artillery was arriving every minute; for Boyle, as Feisal heard, had sent the destroyer M.31, whose shallow draught fitted her for the job, to the port on the south-eastern creek of the harbor, whence she could, on the prearranged direction of a Turkish advance with her six-inch guns. Crocker, her captain, was very anxious to get off those itching guns. The larger ships were moved to fire over the town at longer range, or to take the other flank from the northern harbor-mouth. Details of Feisal's plan to send M. 31 crossed on the plain before the town.

The Arabs, delighted to count up the quantity of vessels in the harbor, were prepared to contribute their part to the night's entertainment. They gave good hope that we would be no further panic; but to reassure them fully they ordered a general sort of rampart to defend, mediaeval fashion. So we took the crumbling, salt-riddled wall of the place, doubled it with a second, piled earth between the two, and raised them till our sixteenth-century bastions were rifle-proof at least, and proof against the fire of the Turkish mountain guns. Outside the bastions we put barbed wire festooned between cisterns on the rain catchments beyond the walls. Along the seaface we put our nests in the best angles, and manned them with Feisal's regular gunners. The Egyptians, like every one else given a choice in the scheme, were prettyingly happy. Garland, an ordnance officer lent us by the Sirdar, was engineer-in-chief and chief adviser.

After gun-down the town quivered with suppressed excitement. So long as the day lasted there had been shouts and toy-shots and wild bursts of frenzy among the workmen but when dark came they went back to feed and a hush fell. Nearly every one sat up that night. There was one alarm about eleven o'clock, but our outposts met the enemy REVOLT GAL TWO only three miles outside the town. Garland, with a crier, went through the few streets and called the garrison. They tumbled straight out and went to their places in dead silence without a shot or a shout. The seamen on the minaret sent warning to the ships, whose combined searchlights began slowly to traverse the plain in complete inquisitiveness. Gravely and politely a wheeling light across the flats which the shocking battle-noise had been. However, no sign was made and no cause given us to open fire.

Afterwards, we heard the Turks' hearts had failed them at the silence and the lighted searchlights from and to end of the harbour, with the red beams of the fixed white lights revealing the bleakness of the places they would have to cross. So they crept back and spent a night, I believe, they lost their war. Personally, I was on the Suva, to be undisturbed, and sleeping splendidly at last; so I was grateful to the prudence of the enemy, as, though we might perhaps have won a glorious victory, I was ready to give much more for just that eight hours' unbroken rest.

(To Be Continued)

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

June 5, 1913.

The closing meeting of the Canadian Club will be held at the Y.M.C.A. on the evening of June 18. The guest speaker will be the Hon. Arthur Meighen, Solicitor General for Canada.

Mr. W. Allison, who for the past year has been in charge of the boys' department at the Y.M.C.A. will leave at the end of this month. Mr. Allison has received an appointment at Chatham, Ont., where he will be in charge of the institutional work in connection with a large Methodist Church. He will be greatly missed by the boys in whose welfare he has been an enthusiastic and cheerful worker. The sympathetic interest he takes in boys makes him well fitted for such a position.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Beamish of Birmingham, Alabama, are in the city on a visit to Mrs. Beamish's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Vandervoort.

30 Years Ago

June 5, 1903.

The Belleville Portland Cement Company now has its plant in operation at Point Anne and yesterday the first two car loads of cement were shipped, one car to Mr. J. W. Walker of this city and one to Mr. E. A. Peck of Colborne. Prospects are bright for some more of the excellent sailing races we enjoyed last summer. At least two new dinghys have been secured by local sailors. Harry Rollins has received from Toronto a handy 16-footer and P. C. Jones has also a new boat. There are now four speedy boats of this type owned here and the fleet should make a fine race. The freak boat "Wonder" which was sailed last season by Fred Burrows is now owned by Percy Pitney. Sandy Burgess will sail the "Flyer" again this summer and promises to make a bid for the sailing skiff championship. Altogether there are at least twenty-five sailing craft owned by local people and while wings promise to be plentiful on the bay this summer.

Col. Fenton went to Toronto today to attend the convocation at Toronto University.

40 Years Ago

JUNE 5th, 1893

Mr. Charles Wallace, Jr., has returned to Belleville from Buffalo and will be employed over the ploy of Alford and Lear.

The steamer Alexandria arrived here on time today and left for Gananoque.

Messrs. L. C. Pascoe and R. B. Cooper were in Peterboro yesterday arranging for an I. O. F. excursion to that town.

The city football team was defeated yesterday by the D. & D. I. team in the final game for the county trophy. The score was 3 to 0. The following composed the City team: Wolver, Jamieson, Nash, Sandy, Doyle, Burrell Hunter, Kelso, McPee, Bogart and Ross. The referee was H. P. Thomas.

Dr. Day, Registrar, was in Brockville yesterday on business.

Mr. James E. Wallbridge has passed his second year examinations in Medicine in Toronto and has arrived home to spend the vacation.

50 Years Ago

JUNE 5th, 1883

Mr. A. L. Geen of this city received the order of the Diaconate in the Church of England at Kingston yesterday, June 7th. Messrs. R. T. Burns, Kingston, and J. Schrader, Renfrew, were also ordained.

The tail end of the Rathbun drive of logs has passed Trenton. Crops in the country are coming along nicely and farmers are feeling confident of an abundant harvest.

A camp of river drivers in the Dickson Company's employ arrived in the city this morning and they took up quarters in the Bonnie Doone horse near the Harbor Master's office. A camp in the employ of the Gilmour Company is located on the Island and will do the same neighborhood.

The steamer Alexandria brought to the city today a fine dog cart for Mr. W. H. Northrup. It will make a handsome turnout.

Britain Makes a Major Change in National Government Cabinet

STANLEY BALDWIN (at various times)

British Official Photographs

"Honest" Stanley Baldwin has once again become Prime Minister of Britain. Baldwin was born August 3, 1867, his father was a wealthy man; his mother was one of the three famous Miss MacDonald sisters respectively produced Rudyard Kipling, Sir Philip Burne and Stanley Baldwin. Baldwin took over the helm there's ironworks at Bewdley, Worcestershire, and developed them to a great industry. In 1908 he entered political life as a Conservative, and by steady plugging, a fair of figures, a gift of oratory, and a personality pleasing to all classes, he became Prime Minister in 1921, only to lose it after splitting his party on protection scheme. Labor won its first victory in 1923, but lasted only a year and Baldwin was put back into power in 1924 with a tremendous majority. He retained the position without disturbance until 1929, when the present coalition was formed with Ramsay MacDonald at the head.

CHINA TORN BY INTERNAL STRIFE

China is again rent with trouble of Soviet China in Szechwan, China this time from two quarters. With Japan threatening another invasion from the north, the provincial war lords in the provinces opposing Chiang Kai-shek's attempt to extend the influence of his National government, and the concentration of Soviet China in Szechwan, China is caught between the devil and the sea. The Communists' red army controls a very rich province, and nearly one-sixth of the population of China are graduates of Russian Communist schools. Japan is attempting to force China to her knees by threat of invasion.

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK

by R. J. SCOTT

HOLIDAY PLANS ARE ANNOUNCED

Toronto, June 8.—At an enthusiastic meeting of about 1,000 employees including staffs from stores in Toronto and many towns and cities, warehouse and office employees, Mr. W. F. Stewart, Vice-President in charge of operations, last night announced that Dominion Stores Limited would be closed each Store Manager, who had been in charge of a store for a period of one year or more, one week's holiday with full pay.

"It is extremely gratifying," said Mr. Stewart, "to see that practically all managers are delighted for holidays with pay," and he expressed the hope that next year a still greater number would be included in the list.

"It is the company's intention," he continued, "to widen the plan immediately possible; conditions become more favorable, as it is the earnest desire of the company to provide the opportunity for rest and recreation to as many employees as possible, without penalizing their earning power."

As far as possible, senior clerks will be placed in charge of stores, while managers are on vacation," Mr. Stewart said in conclusion, "and a plan has been worked out that will result in quite substantial increased remuneration for them while in charge of stores."

Mr. Hector Dallaire, President of Dominion Stores Limited, in presenting long service buttons to employees emphasized the fact that the company was extremely proud to know that such a large number of employees were entitled to such recognition.

"In these days of unrest it is indeed a source of great satisfaction to the company, he continued, "to know that out of a total of approximately 1300 employees in the Toronto Division, almost 400 have been with the company for a period exceeding five years. Twenty-six have served for 15 years or more, 16 for ten years or more, and 221 for five years or more."

This record, concluded Morley Smith, "reflected in an unmistakable manner the happy and satisfied relationship that has existed between Dominion Stores and its employees since the company's incorporation in 1919."

Obituary

MRS. ROSE ELLA YATEMAN
(Contributed)

At her home on the Second Concession of Tyendinaga on Friday, May 31st, after a brief illness, there departed this life, Mrs. Rose Ella Yateman, widow of George Yateman at the age of 75 years.

The funeral, which was very largely attended took place on the following Sunday, services being conducted by her pastor, Rev. L. E. Clarke of Shannonville. The remains were laid in the Shannonville cemetery for interment.

Mrs. Yateman, whose maiden name was Rose Ella Potter, is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Peter Holmes also a resident of Stella in Trenton, also a family of ten children, Mrs. Wm. Bonter of Madoc, Colborne, Mrs. Wm. Rattle, Belleville; Will, Roy and Percy of Trent Road; Albert of Brighton; Melville, Arthur and Stanley at home, also Mrs. Wm. Hall of Buffalo, N.Y.

The deceased was a member of the Shannonville United Church and will be greatly missed in the neighborhood, as she was one who was her as a neighbor or more particularly as a devoted mother, knew the loss of such a one called away. The bearers were: Messrs. Wm. Bonter, Thos. Blackstock, Noble Clarke, Sam Elliott, Frank Doxtator and Robert Mitchell.

The floral tributes were beautiful and numerous.

The alluring Thelma Todd, prominent comedienne in the all-star melodramatic farce, "Alcatraz Strike Today," shows two striking styles when designs reflect striking models in the world of fashion at the Capitol Monday and Tuesday.

Electric Rate Reduction

Makes Electricity By Far The CHEAPEST

Method of

COOKING

ASK US FOR INFORMATION About Our SPECIAL OFFER

Belleville Hydro System

HYDRO IS YOURS — Use it!

Trenton and District

Harry Moore First President Newly Formed Association

Weekly Newspaper Publishers in District Meet at Trenton

Trenton, June 8.—(Special)—Publishers of weekly newspapers of the district met in the Town Hall yesterday afternoon and formed the Central Ontario Publishers' Association. Harry M. Moore, publisher of the Trenton Courier-Advocate, who was instrumental in bringing about the gathering, was elected 'as its first president. Other officers elected were: 1st Vice-President, J. F. McLean of the Picton Times; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. R. M. Sapp, of the Brighton Ensign; Secretary-Treasurer, H. R. Tompkins, of the Stirling News-Argus. Executive Committee: Chairman, S. R. Curry, of the Tweed News; H. M. Price, of the Bancroft Times; T. P. Lancaster, M.P.P. of the Havelock Standard; M. L. Detlor of the Deseronto Post, James Wasson, Madoc Review.

The new organization was formed to bring a more friendly relationship between the neighboring publishers and to discuss their problems in a friendly manner. Some time was devoted on the question of whether or not subscription campaigns were profitable in collecting subscription arrears. The majority seemed to think that this procedure was the best if the campaigns were carried on by the publishers themselves or carried out in an honest method. The new organization decided, that an annual fee of one dollar would be paid for membership and that they would affiliate with the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association, Mr. Lancaster told his colleagues, that they should attend the annual meeting to be held in Toronto in the near future, where many of the difficulties of the weekly publishers would be discussed.

The next body hope to bring about a friendly spirit and a picnic was planned for a Saturday afternoon at Oak Lake.

Several of the publishers with their families were attended a complimentary banquet at the Hotel Quinte Intelligencer, during briefly new president, Mr. A. O. Davis, advertising manager of the Belleville Intelligencer, addresses spoke briefly on the advertising methods of a daily newspaper and also told a few of his experiences during his many years in the newspaper field, both weekly and daily. Dr. Gerald Mortson also gave a brief talk on the workings of a daily sheet. Mr. Morson was asked to be present at a later date to give an outline of cooking schools, for which he has become famous in the district.

Harry M. Moore responded to a toast to the new president to which Mr. Moore ably responded. Mr. Sam H. Curry, a bachelor publisher, proposed a toast to the ladies in a most fitting manner. Those present at the banquet were the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Moore of Trenton, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Lancaster of Havelock; Dr. Morton and Mr. A. O. Davis of Belleville; S. H. Curry, Tweed; D. H. Morrison, Campbellford; Mr. and Mrs. Price of Picton; Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Tompkins, Stirling; Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McLean, Picton; Mrs. and Miss Lapp of Brighton; Judd, Marmora representing the Trenton Quinte Sun and James P. Day, Everyone present voted Mr. Moore a most genial host.

Trenton Youth Loses Leg

Peter Pomery, aged 21, had his leg amputated in the Sudbury hospital after being caught between the freight cars at Capreol last Friday. His companions, Kenneth (Mutt) Hamilton, rushed home and phoned and related the story. It seems that the pair were boarding a standing freight when Pomery crawled under the coupling, catching his pack, just as the train shunted and his ankle was crushed. He was removed to the Sudbury hospital where the doctors found that the leg had to be amputated below the knee as gangrene had set in the injured limb. His condition is reported as serious although he is resting well.

Two Children Receive Injuries

Bernard Kelliher, aged nine, fell over a rope at the carnival grbking his neck on a peg, inflicting a nasty gash in his neck that required eight stitches to close. He was taken to Dr. R. A. McQuade for treatment.

A carnival is at present playing at Strathcona Park and the unfortunate accident occurred, while the lad was attending with his mother, Mrs. Charles Kelliher, Front St.

Harry Ayres, aged 4, Bay St., fell ten feet out of a tree in front of his home yesterday morning receiving a gash in the head that necessitated three stitches to close. He was also attended by Dr. McQuade.

Douglas Bird Defeat Carrying Place

Doc Burrows and his Canada Bud softball team have not tasted defeat this season and last night they continued by downing the Carrying Place nine, by 5-4. Both hurlers pitched good ball but the Buds were a little better on the willow in the pinches, Harold Long, first sacker for the winners hammered out the only homer of the game in the third stanza. The losers notched two runs in the opener and two more in the last inning.

Canada Buds—L. Johnson ss; Long 1b; G. Johnson cf; Kennedy 3b; Miller 2b; Rossiter rf; Chambers p; Waldron cf; Weese lf.

Carrying Place—Willie ss; Graham 2b; Steenberg c; Coughlin 1b; Chase cf; Hicks rf; Wallace 3b; Bratt lf; Ellis 3b.

Score by innings:

Carrying Place ..... 300 000 2—4
Canada Bud ..... 113 300 x—5

Umpires—Jess Baker, Blake, O. Ward, home.

APPROVE VOTE FOR MARKET ACT

Hon. Robert Weir Pilots Measure Through House

Ottawa, June 8—(CP)—With the conclusions marketing board vote out of the way the House of Commons today has its order paper in shape for rapid progress next week. Late last night the committee of supply approved the vote of $545,000 for administration of the Natural Products Marketing Act after nearly a week of objections.

Hour after hour Hon. Robert Weir listened to a barrage of criticism of the Act during the session to facilitate producer control of the marketing machinery of farm and other natural products. The Minister answered hundreds of questions and last night heard two New Scotia Liberals charge, that the Act was being used to fix prices in an illegal manner.

Mr. Weir said the Act conferred no power to fix prices on local marketing boards but there was nothing to prevent producers agreeing on a price through their representatives at bargaining and selling a price with the purchasers. The potato marketing scheme was singled out for attack because of price-fixing by Hon. J. L. Ralston (Lib. Yarmouth-Shelburne) and J. L. Ilsley (Lib. Hants-Kings).

Col. Ralston Heard

Fixing of prices by agencies under the Eastern Canadian potato marketing scheme was illegal, Col. Ralston contended. Mr. Weir said the Potato Marketing Board did not fix prices; but named a selling agency to sell the product. The agency's price was then fixed by the Act, what is considered a suitable price.

Mr. Ilsley claimed practically all marketing schemes in operation involved fixing of prices by the boards. Mr. Weir denied this Mr. Ilsley said the Ontario Tobacco Growers had fixed prices, Mr. Weir said this was not the case. The producers bargained with the buyers and agreed on prices.

The Nova Scotia member objected to all attempts to fix prices and saw serious danger in the operation of marketing schemes. The potato growers had been driven into bankruptcy, and if the government persisted with the Marketing Act it would drive all natural producers into bankruptcy and make the whole business a farce.

MODERATOR OF THE UNITED CHURCH

A new studio portrait of Rev. Richard Roberts, Moderator of the United Church of Canada, who will arrive back from England in time to participate in the tenth anniversary celebrations, opened at which is being held in Toronto, United Church celebrates tenth anniversary, commencing Sunday, June 9th. Dr. Roberts reached Montreal this morning and will reach Toronto today.

With the Boy Scouts

A WORD TO PARENTS ON CUBBING

The Junior Branch of the Boy Scouts Association

In Cubbing, all the extra energy of the boy is used up in fun, in games, in listening to and acting exciting tales, and so on. He learns all sorts of interesting things which he hadn't dreamed about before. It is all one great exciting game. He learns how to be useful, to do various jobs; so that when he gets home he will be able to do heaps of "good turns" to help mother. A real change comes over him; anybody else can see it. Many times we are told the same thing, that after a boy has been a Cub he really doesn't seem so naughty as his parents first thought him to be. You see more school work does not really help the boy's character to grow, it only develops one side of him. Cubbing has to do the rest.

But training the Cubs to be useful and sturdy is not the only aim of our system. There is an even more important part; and that is that the Cub is taught to realize that the one big sin is selfishness. He promises to do "good turns" daily, and to help others wherever possible. He then has to think he is the successor of the olden Knights who went about doing good.

You see even when we teach your Cub to be really good, we still aim see that it is a delightful adventure and a real game. This is something very practical, to try to make things better and more cheery not only for the Cub but for all those he meets.

From the point of view of their own advantage, if pays parents to let their boy be a Cub. Not only will it make him happier; and you will it bring him into contact with lots of other little boys, all trying to be good, and longing for the same healthy fun; but it will make him a better boy in the home, and the parents won't worry so much about him. The young scamp is up to no now—they will know he is Cubbing. Lastly, I think parents will agree with me, that all the big talk about making the "World a better place" and "Reign of nations" and "reconstructions," and so on, will begin to mean a little more about when we start to make things better and more cheery for the children. Even during their drab childhood into a chapter of romance. The heart of the child is the key to reconstruction for "A little Child shall lead them."

French-Speaking Quebec Officially

Adopts Scouting

What is regarded in Scouting circles as an historic event, and one promising much growth of the movement in Quebec, was the confirmation at the annual meeting of the Boy Scouts Association of the agreement by which the Federation des Scouites Catholiques de la Province de Quebec became associated with the Boy Scouts Association as a parallel, autonomous body, under the Chief Scout for Canada and the Canadian Council of the governing body of the Scout Association.

Most appropriately, Lord Baden-Powell himself was present at the meeting at which this important development was consummated.

The Scout Hobby Idea

I like children to have a hobby —a hobby for them when they are grown up and when old age draws near. One of the saddest things in life is to find people who have learned their business, who have got through life in a useful way, but at the end when work stops, do not know what to do with their leisure hours. It is the greatest consolation in life to have something that you can fall back on, something that has brought you no bread, but has always been a source of pleasure.—General Smuts, to Johannesburg schoolboys.

GENUINE SCOTCH ANTHRACITE COAL

Seven Years ago we introduced into Belleville for the first time THIS COAL of the many well-known SUPERIOR QUALITIES. We have delivered it to the homes of a large percentage of our customers during these seven years—more and more each year!

IF YOU ARE NOT ALREADY A SATISFIED USER OF SCOTCH ANTHRACITE WE URGE YOU TO JOIN THE HAPPY THRONG.

Get Our New Lower Summer Prices on All Coals!

The Schuster Co., Limited

Phones 93 and 616 W. N. Belair, President.

Library Corner

RUSSIA PRO AND CON

"The Traveller's Russia" by Burton Holmes and "Exposé" by Carveth Wells are a study in contrasts. Both writers are American lecturers. Wells, the former, emphatically he condemns everything Russian and Communistic. Russia to him spells graft, bribery, starvation and degeneration. He is a reporter in search of the bizarre to regale a certain type of newspaper reader.

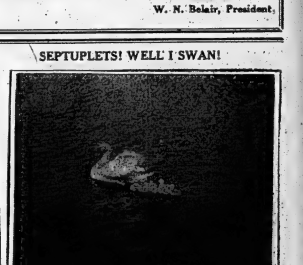
He paid a short visit to the country during the famine of 1932, which was the worst period of the Bolshevist regime, and seems to go out of his way to paint as black a picture of the country as possible. Holmes, who followed him two years later, is chiefly interested in gathering material for a lecture for travellers and he finds clean and comfortable hotels and food, the populace in a healthy condition, no lice and much to commend in the new system, although he is not in sympathy with the Communist's creed. He had visited Russia thirty-five years previously and his comparison of the country as it is and as it was at its present state is most interesting. Both men took the regulation trip down the Volga and Holmes was content to follow the routine of entertainment by which the Federation des Soujuzs Cabalchiuns de la Province de Quebec became associated with the Boy Scouts Association as a parallel, autonomous body, under the Chief Scout for Canada and the Canadian Council of the governing body of the Scout Association.

Most appropriately, Lord Baden-Powell himself was present at the meeting at which this important development was consummated.

The Scout Hobby Idea

I like children to have a hobby —a hobby for them when they are grown up and when old age

NAPOLEON'S WATERLOO



"The Hundred Days" by Philip Guedalla, Mr. Guedalla has given the home a brief picture of the hundred days from Napoleon's return from exile to his abdication after the defeat at Waterloo. It is a thrilling story, the reckless dash from Elba to Paris with a handful of soldiers, the reluctance of the people to support the revolution, the overthrow of the monarchy and the taking of Paris without a shot being fired; Napoleon's hold on the people was uncertain. They were exhausted from twenty years of war and followers, was rampant. The Allies were closing in upon him from all sides. He had not the strength to meet the combined forces and his hope that he might make a decisive blow upon one sector. A victory would rehearsals a new lease of power with the French people and induce them to give him a greater army and more supplies. He had had his heart set on Belgium which had been taken from France after the treaty and placed under British protection. Austria had regained this territory as their own. And so his road to victory proved to have his superior and larger army completely routed in the battle which took place, there. Finally he retreated to Paris where the Council refused him further aid and in the interests of peace he abdicated the throne. It is a rather melancholy story, interesting and well told.

THE BRITISH NAVY

"Prince Louis of Battenberg" by Admiral Mark Kerr is the biography of the man who later became the Marquess of Milford Haven. He was born in 1854 the son of a Prince of Hesse and became a British subject in 1868 when he joined the navy as a midshipman, working his way up from the ranks to become the First Sea Lord of the Admiralty just before the World War. His jealous associates started a malicious rumor about him at the outbreak of hostilities, reflecting upon his loyalty and accusing him of pro-German sympathies because of his birth. Consequently he was forced to resign his position in the navy and lived in retirement for the duration of the war. He was a most able commander and contributed greatly during his term of office to the strengthening of the fleet and it was generally felt that the British reverses on the high seas would have been averted had he been in charge. He lived long enough however to take his seat in the House of Lords and to be honoured by the King before his death in 1921.

J. A. D.

SEPTUPLETS! WELL I SWAN!

Mrs. White Swan, who makes her home on a chain of lakes at Lorain, O., is proud of achievement recently when she presented Pete Swan with seven babies. A few minutes after they had hatched out the septuplets waddled awkwardly to the water's edge and then swam away gracefully (without a lesson) close to mother's "apron strings".

Senatorial Critics Study Stopgap Plan

Washington, June 8 (AP)—Senatorial critics of Roosevelt began a minute study today of the Roosevelt administration's stopgap plan which sped through the United States House of Representatives late yesterday by a vote of 264 to 121. These Senators feared the resolution extending a subject NRA agency for 9 1-2 months entailed more authority to relax the anti-trust laws than they understood at firs.

On the other hand critics were somewhat softened in their opposition to the recovery administration by the announcement Chairman Donald Richberg has resigned effective June 18 and the President had accepted the resignation.

GET TOMORROW'S REFRIGERATOR

To-day

The HOSTESS is the only refrigerator that gives you fully automatic self-defrosting — no clocks or manual devices.

The HOSTESS has Controlled Humidity, Automatic Freshness and a new type Servador gives more shelf space on the door.

All moving parts of the HOSTESS are hermetically sealed, HOSTESS never needs oiling. Come in and let us demonstrate the HOSTESS. Ask for descriptive folder.

Four models to choose from, prices and terms to suit you:

- IT DEFROSTS ITSELF
- CONTROLLED HUMIDITY
- HERMETICALLY SEALED
- SERVADOR
- AUTOMATIC ICE-TRAY RELEASE
- LIBERAL GUARANTEE

FROSTILUX

BOWRA ELECTRIC & HARDWARE
210 FRONT ST. PHONE 132

Personals

Mrs. Arthur Anderson

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Scott, Metro, wish to announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Gertrude Eleanore, to Archie Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bailey, Stirling. The wedding to take place the middle of June.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Lewis, Inkerman, Manitoba, are in the city visiting at the home of the latter's sister, Mrs. Arthur Stewart, Turnbull Street.

Miss Velma Chapman, nurse-in-training at St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, is holidaying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chapman, Dalhousie Street.

Miss Margaret Clarke was hostess at an enjoyable party at her home, 41 Chatham Street, last evening.

Mrs. Arthur Stewart, Turnbull Street, entertained on Friday evening in honor of her sister-in-law, John G. Lewis, Roland, Manitoba.

Mrs. J. E. Calder has returned home after spending six weeks in Los Angeles, Cal.

Mrs. W. C. Walker and Mrs. K. B. Hill were hostesses at the Bellesmith Tea Room this afternoon.

Mr. A. H. Kerr is confined to his bed through illness.

A very happy time was spent at the home of Mrs. K. Taylor on Friday, June 7th, it being the birthday of her son Billy and Master Billy. The birthday cake was very pretty in the form of a boat with three candles, and the table was decorated with flowers. Games and contests were also used in the closing room. A very enjoyable time was spent by all present and Master Billy received some useful presents.

Mrs. Peter Minifer of Carterville, underwent an operation for appendicitis at the General Hospital, Belleville, this week.

Brownies of Company One are entertaining Company Three Brownies in a party at Bayside Cottage, the home of Mrs. W. F. Gordon, Brown Owl of Company One. Mrs. Gordon will be assisted by Miss Charlotte Stock, Tawny Owl, and Mrs. Cyril Greene, Tawny Owl, visiting company will be in charge of Mrs. Ross Mowat, Brown Owl, Miss Mary Mouit, Tawny Owl, and Miss Joan Blakeman.

Miss Beasie Symons, Clyde St. S., celebrated her eighty-third birthday yesterday at her home yesterday. Her many friends will be glad to learn that she is enjoying splendid health.

Twenty-five women, Public School teachers of Belleville, motored to Sherbrooke Park, Trenton, today for a picnic, arranged by the teachers of the district. Dinner was enjoyed at twelve o'clock (Standard Time) and a delightful afternoon's program was arranged.

Weddings

ARMSTRONG—ROSS

On Saturday afternoon at six-thirty, Sylvia May Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh A. Ross was united in marriage to Mr. Harold E. Armstrong, son of Mr. M. F. Armstrong and the late Mrs. Armstrong, Toronto. Rev. Robert Hall Mosher, Bloor Street United Church of Canada, officiated. The bride and Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong will reside in Oshawa.

COMMUNITIES FETE POPULAR COUPLE

Miss Lily Kirby and Mr. Jack Hall, whose home wedding took place this month were feted last evening by friends of three communities and were the recipients of many handsome and valuable gifts. The party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Reid, Trent Rd., about one hundred guests being present.

Arrangements for the event were in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Reid and Mrs. George S. Sharpe of Avondale community; Mrs. Ed. Hall of Belleville, and Miss Doris Reid of Trent Rd. Mrs. Sharpe presented on behalf of these groups were read expressing the best of wishes to the bride. Besides individual shower gifts the young couple received a table and rug from Bellville group, and from Avondale community a bedroom suite, living room suite and kitchen chairs. Mr. and Mrs. Reid presented the guests of honor with a kitchen stove and from Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reid and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reid they received a pair of occasional chairs.

During the evening music by an orchestra in charge of Mr. Carter was much enjoyed. Miss Hollins contributed vocal solos. A dainty lunch closed the enjoyable evening.

U.C. Moderator Speaks To General Assembly

(By Harold J. Fehr)

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal, June 8 (CP)—The 61st Presbyterian General Assembly today decided to hear Rt. Rev. Richard Roberts of Toronto, Moderator of the United Church, at the assembly next Tuesday morning.

Earlier in the week the assembly agreed to Mr. Roberts' request to appear unofficially and address the meeting. It was expected he would be here today but the boat bringing him back from Europe was delayed by fog in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Mr. Roberts has proved to be prompt and return here to speak Tuesday.

"Segonia," now at the Belle Theatre offers your greatest experience in a motion picture theatre, Lovely Jean Parker and Russell Hardie are the romantic interest.

TANGLED LIVES

By ANN FORESTER

THE STRANGER

CHAPTER FIFTY-THREE

"I can't remember askin' you for your opinion!" said Kitty tartly.

But the bread rise of the stranger grew troubled. "No offense intended, I assure you! I mean—I really admired the—the way you laid her out, you know. Malley a cruel man. I hate it . . . Sort of an 'Unhand me, varlet!' sort of an old lady. Had an aunt like her once."

Kitty's face softened. "I'm sorry I lost my temper. I'm not used to having people mind my business."

"No business to mind, eh?" asked the other. "My word! I was swamped out there, and not a line could I get out of him as to when he'd be back. Kept putting me off in letters. Then some bounces came in—and I'm off on the next train."

"I rang the bell, but no one came. And this door was open upon the ground and I hiked voices so I came over here. My name is Bemis. Cunningsby Bemis. I'm here to see Mr. Keith."

"He's not here," said Kitty shortly. "He's gone."

The man's face fell. "Really . . . that—er—that leaves me up a tree. You see, Jim Keith is my partner, and he's been away from the ranch so long——"

"The ranch! Your partner . . . Then the poor lad was talkin' the truth! He really has a horse ranch somewhere in the west!"

"Certainly. We started it together . . . There was an odor of citrus in the inflection of the stranger's voice, which quick witted Kitty recognized.

"You stick to make amends. I suppose this does seem funny to you. But there's been so much mix-up—Wait a minute—I'll come out on the porch an' we'll talk—"

Kitty led the way out and into a chair and Mr. Bemis hag sat down in another, she went on in her most winning voice. "Now we can be more winning than Kitty when she was angry.

"I suppose it sounded funny t'm way I sort of doubted the truth an' all that — but, you see, we haven't had very queer things—an' the way he hung around here, it seemed to have no business to attract attention.

"No business to attend to!" touched the other. "My word! I was swamped out there, and not a line could I get out of him as to when he'd be back. Kept putting me off in letters. Then some bounces came in—and I'm off on the next train."

"He left here two days ago. He was visiting the couple here. He said he got a wire calling him back to the ranch."

Bemis's red face registered astonishment. "Why—I sent none . . . that—er—that leaves me up a tree. You see, Jim Keith is my partner, and he's been away from the ranch so long——"

"The ranch! Your partner . . . Then the poor lad was talkin' the truth! He really has a horse ranch somewhere in the west!"

"Certainly. We started it together . . . There was an odor of citrus in the inflection of the stranger's voice, which quick witted Kitty recognized.

"Since childhood—his childhood, that is, for the lad's younger by far than I am. I knew his family in England."

"Oh", said Kitty. Her round blue eyes were fastened on the man's broad nose. "We—that is, I, can't tell him when he was on the Neptune. He—he seemed unhappy."

Cunningsby Bemis shot her a shrewd glance from his light eyes. "I suppose," he said cheerfully, "you are thinking of that old story about Jim cheating at cards when he was in the British Army at Upper Volta?"

"I knew it! That is, I felt it was just some nasty gossip!" Kitty's voice was ringing with triumph.

"Gossip! Of course, that's what it was. He—he was responsible for it. He shielded a young fellow, a son't mention names—it's dead and done for—so head it in my memories. But this chap was the brother of a girl—Jim he was only a kid then himself!—Jim was in love with her or thought he was. Silly old thing. She idolized her brother. Jim took the blame at the time—the other fellow was a rotter good his losses and confess. But both he and the girl sold Jim cold—left him holding the bag', as you say over here. And the girl married Jim's favorite cousin. See—that tied Jim's tongue — couldn't tell the truth without implicating the girl and hurting the cousin he idolized. There was more to it—the girl was in deeper than I care to say . . . there was a shocking scrape . . . Anyway, it ruined Jim. . . . He was hot headed, and instead of putting himself right in the eyes of everyone, he went away. It all came out later, but the harm was done then. The lad stayed away fifteen hours. Bitter hours. Beautiful travels far. People love to harbor ill."

"Here for you!" agreed Kitty, remembering the zealous ship's doctor. "But I knew he'd be all right! I knew it! I knew it!"

Warm approval in the broad red face of Cosningsby Bemis. It was easy to read the process of his mind. Here was a chance for rare judgment, he was thinking. He liked her for her spirit. Liked her, too, for the flare of temper which he had witnessed.

Kitty found herself blushing. He told her of meeting Jim on a visit to San Francisco.

"I've been something of a drifter since the war—he went out to ranch on a shabby shoe over a shabby foot. Jim was dissatisfied with the work he was doing. We were both keen about horses, and we finally decided to throw in together and breed thoroughbreds. We have a place out west—it's not much to live, but we're going to make a go of it by——"

"I'll bet you will." Kitty's eyes were fastened on the pugnacious jaw.

"A hard working lad, Jim is. And then he suddenly comes back here—for a visit, he says. I say nothing, for the boy needs a vacation. But week after week goes by, and I can get no news out of him as to when he's coming home. So I ran down here—and you say he's gone."

"Two days ago."

"Well—" said Cosningsby Bemis stolidly, "he knows his own business, but for—all that I was a bit worried."

After the visitor had left, Kitty ran upstairs to Joyce's apartment. Her face was beaming, her eyes sparkling with triumph.

Joyce kept a great deal to her own apartment now, to avoid friction with Mrs. Cameron and Natalie.

Popular With Prince

COUNTESS OF CARRICK

An excellent close-up of the Countess of Carrick, lovely dancing partner of the Prince of Wales, is pictured above. She is known to Marion Donaghue of Philadelphia, and succeeds Mrs. Wally Simpson in Fashion and Lady Thelma Furness, sister of Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, as their favorite. Now a countess, whose home is in Ireland, has four children.

tatie. She was lying back on the day bed; reading. She was wrapped in Oriental colors of peacock blue and brocade. Her red hair caught at the base of her neck, then flowing down in the style of Waller's maidens of ladies. Eyes like deep purple lakes under the fine lines of pain, made lively painting come to life.

Joyce, who had waited in expectant silence as Kitty entered, so evident was it that Kitty bore startling news.

"I knew it! All along I knew it! It was a matter of time. Jim Riverton, little ship's doctor and rub his jaw and say, 'I told you so!' Kitty began incoherently enough. She went on, words tumbling out in a torrent, left and right of the new writer and old scandal.

"Don't I tell you the lad was sound!"—Slander loves a shining mark—"Don't I tell you he was a fine an' true, an' saying nothin' when people around you talked of murder as an injustice. What—eh? I tell you, Joy, what did I tell you?"

Kitty checked herself in deepest consternation.

Joyce sat suddenly rolled over and thrust her face into the cushions, while her body shook with sobs.

SIEGE

CHAPTER FIFTY-FOUR

The big house on the Crest was like a besieged castle of war. Both sides appeared to have settled down to wage a battle of nerves. But one rose a steadily growing wall of antagonism.

Something deadly about the monotony of these days, thought Joyce to herself, and something akin to terror seized her. She saw them stretched before her—a dreary road, five years long. It took a distinct effort to maintain that icy pose.

For the most part she could dodge Mrs. Cameron and Natalie. She rose earlier than they did, so breakfast was a simple matter. Just Kitty and herself at the table in the glass-faced breakfast room. She took many early morning rides. Lonely rides, for horseback riding was something Kitty firmly had rejected.

"Don't speak of it, Joy!" she said decidedly. "Not even for you will I get on that creature's back. When they grow horses with upholstered back seats, I'll listen to reason, until then I do my horseback ridin' in automobiles."

There was a lonely delight in those rides up the river road, or climbing the bluff into Hemlock Woods. Joyce found that they brought her a measure of serenity, and made it possible for her to bear the situation to go on. Happiness is merely relative to the point of the woods. She would sweep off her hat and lift her face, feeling the sun warm on her face and her closed eyes; good . . . to sit like this . . . not thinking . . . merely feeling . . . only resting, feeling her tired spirit expand to the warm balm of the healing quiet.

She she would sit for long moments, until the horse moved restlessly or pricked up his ears at the sound of a rabbit.

Then, with a little sigh, she would pick up the reins and start slowly back to the house again.

Mrs. Cameron and Natalie found their relief in the life of the town. A couple of times a week there would be "porch parties" on the verandas of the big house. Feminine voices ascending shrilly over the bridge tables—the noise would drift up to Joyce's quiet suite on the second floor—or move revealing-ly pregnant hushes, followed by smothered laughter and sharp exclamations. As she knew that the Riverton ladies had hit upon another form of mental relief.

Hard to imagine that the world held wild stretches of blue water swept by sea wind . . . far careers like Singapore or Shanghai—where one could hide away from clacking tongues. She had to beat down the last rebellion in her heart—to bend her spirit to submission again.

Once her heart was stirred to pity. She had come downstairs one day to find Natalie standing by the table in the front hall. This was where the mail was placed as soon as it was delivered. Without a doubt, Natalie had been quickly running through the mail looking for a letter—a letter which was not there, judging from her drooping face.

As though she had been told, Joyce knew that Natalie was hoping for a letter from Jim Keith. He had written once a polite and nonconmittal little note, thanking them for his visit. That much Joyce had gathered from a conversation between mother and daughter.

There was something in the droop of Natalie's slight figure now, something wistful in the head that hung. And that sent a little thrill of sympathy to Joyce's heart.

She moved impulsively to her. "Natalie—" her voice shook—"can't we be friendly? I have no wish to go on as—as an enemy. I don't like it—to hurt you——"

Joyce stopped at the pale blue hatred which darted from the older girl's eyes. "There's only one thing you can do that would please me," Natalie's voice was shrill with passion. "And that is, to get away—away from us—right off. I don't want you here! It's horrible—that nasty old man humiliating us like this——"

A tense moment when the two stared at each other. Then Joyce rose chalk white. Her outstretched hand remained for a moment as though frozen in the gesture. While her fury had leaped for a moment at Natalie's words, it had burned out in a sense of sickening helplessness.

The next instant the spell was broken. Natalie had burst into noisy tears. Joyce dropped her hand to her side, and went out the front door.

She was trembling, but she made no effort to control it. Instinctively she had discovered at the far end of Natalie's nature a hidden, unsuspected, a small, tellished affair, which Mrs. Cameron and Mrs. Cameron's childhood. It was almost in ruins now. Part of its trellis work had fallen away, and the delight of the honeysuckle vines, the bench and table stained now with rain, but the cliff fell away from before it, and it looked out over the river valley. Moreover, it was forgotten and deserted, and Joyce had found comfort in its solitude.

Sick at heart, she made her way to the arbor. She sank wearily down on the bench, resting her face on the crossed arms of the table. It was here that Kitty found her an hour and a half later when she came to search for her in alarm.

Kitty's face was red and anxious and she was in a state of excitement, even, downbow I was anxious . . ." "I've been here," said Joyce dully "Hiding——"

Thinking—such dreary, bitter thoughts. Kitty's indignation—— aching with loneliness——"

"Kitty—darling—" she broke down and hid her face on Kitty's shoulder. "I'm beaten . . . I can't go on with it. I can't!"

There was a wildness to that outburst that frightened Kitty. "Hush . . . hush darling—" she smoothed Joyce's dark red hair, patted the girl's shaking shoulder.

(TO BE CONTINUED)

Lowe Brothers PAINTS AND VARNISHES
Make The Utmost and Not Make It.

"Costs Less per Square Foot!"

By reason of the careful tests of the raw materials to ensure they are chemically suitable; thorough mixing and grinding by powerful machinery and proper proportioning of the liquids, we know that "High Standard" Paint is the most economical sold on the market to-day.

To Keep your paint costs as low as possible, use Lowe Brothers "High Standard" Paint products.

Figure your paint costs on a "square foot" basis.

FOR THE HOUSE OUTSIDE

And other exterior surfaces where a durable and protective coating is desired, use Lowe Brothers House Paint. It is easy to apply; leaves no brushmarks and covers 680 to 950 square feet per gallon, one coat. Comes in a host of modern serviceable colors that will give years of satisfaction.

FOR WOODWORK—FLOORS—FURNITURE, etc.

Nepto-Lac Heat and Moisture resisting four hour enamel can be used on 101 odd surfaces inside and outside the home. It's so easy to use that a child can apply it with excellent results. Spreads far; covers well; leaves no brushmarks and comes in 24 modern, decorative colors.

Interior and Exterior Varnish

When you have any varnishing of interior or exterior surfaces to do, use Lowe Brothers Neptunite Varnish. It is pale in color; weather-proof; scratch proof; tough and durable. Easy to apply and leaves no brushmarks.

For Porches and Steps

If you want a really tough porch finish, ask for Lowe Brothers Porch Paint. Will withstand scuffing of feet and furniture; snow; ice and weather. Made in six durable and serviceable colors.

See us before Painting and Save Money!

W. H. OLIPHANT

31 BRIDGE ST. EAST PHONE 1200

STANLEY W. WILBUR
EXCLUSIVE WALLPAPERS
DOMESTIC AND IMPORTED
FINE PICTURE FRAMING
312 Front St. Telephone 1345
BELLEVILLE ONTARIO
Canada

ANNOUNCEMENT

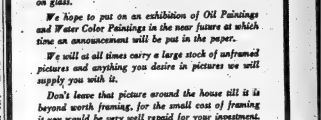
Due to the increase in our picture framing business during the last four months we have had to enlarge our picture framing department. We have redecorated and remodelled this department and installed new machinery, also increasing our staff to take care of the framing business.

We now offer the public a new service and ask you to take advantage of this service. Our representative will call on you at your request at no charge to you whatever and display our mouldings if you have pictures to frame.

Some of the very finest mouldings are in the stock and also display books showing you just how your pictures should be framed.

Frames are not expensive today and there is no reason why so many lovely pictures are destroyed each year because they are put aside to have framed and then forgotten until it is too late to save them.

Photo Portraits should never be left standing in the home if you can afford to have them framed as this preserves the picture for years. For portraits we have the latest Chrome frames that are smart in their appearance and will not tarnish and very reasonable in price. Fine etchings in black and white are on sale at all times, also some very pretty oil paintings on glass.



We hope to put on an exhibition of Oil Paintings and Water Color Paintings in the near future at which time an announcement will be put in the paper.

We will at all times carry a large stock of unframed pictures and anything you desire in pictures we will supply you with it.

Don't leave that picture around the house till it is beyond worth framing, for the small cost of framing it you would be very well repaid for your investment.

Hoping to be visited by you in the near future,

STANLEY W. WILBUR

INTO THE STRETCH—Field is closely bunched as the horses round the far turn into the homest retch at Belmont park.

RUSSIAN SADDIST KILLS 20 IN YEAR

Executed For Multiple Crimes After His Conviction

(Kharkoff, U.S.S.R., June 8 (AP)—Nikolai Dzhurma, 30, has been executed earlier today in the knowledge that he had murdered 20 persons in 1934 and the number in a single year had been exceeded.

The mysteriously sadistic Malakhoff, graduate engineer, was executed within what he was calmly tidying his clothing, blood-stained by his most recent crime.

In admitting his multiple crimes, Malakhoff insisted that before the result of a peculiar mental twist. His defense, however, at his perversion did not come under the classification of insanity which would have saved his life. He was executed yesterday.

Nikolai Malakhoff of Malashoff during the 12 months' period between his 29th and 30th years increasing in intensity with the finding of each victim, usually in the country around Kharkoff, but suspected until a hotel porter and a man were found murdered in the building with blood... on his shoes.

CHINA SITUATION IS MORE TENSE

Japanese Army on Move Receiving Authorization

Tokyo, June 8.—A crisis in the tense North China situation appeared to be developing today as Japanese troops were on the move and it was reported the government had authorization to apply pressure to the region controlled by the Local Wall.

Army transports were sailing from Japanese ports. It was officially denied, however, these military activities were directly connected with the Japanese military authorities and civilians in Chinese territory.

A foreign office spokesman denied the reports that Japanese military authorities have propelled to the Chinese government an ultimatum.

"There is no time limit in the usual sense of an ultimatum," he said, "but the Japanese government hopes China will accede to the demands and settle the matter as soon as possible.

"In the unfortunate event that the Chinese fail to comply," he added, "the Japanese government the situation now. It is impossible to say then what steps will be taken."

Phone 1584

SILCO SERVICE SATISFIES

285-287 Coleman St. Belleville

. Re-Roof . Re-Side Re-Pair

Make your home or buildings positively weather-proof—invest in greater interior comfort and weather protection. NOW is the time—postponement only means added expense.

Brantford Sealdip 200 Pound Slates

An advanced roofing of greater beauty. By a process all exposed edges and both sides are sealed and covered with Slate—assuring added life. The most popular shingle for re-roofing.

COLORFUL DURABLE FIRE-RESISTING

A wide range of rich Solid Colors and attractive Color Blends to choose from.

Liquid Fibre Coatings

makes old roofs new and proof against Sun, Rain, Sleet and Snow.

PLASTIC CEMENT

for all general roof repairs—also useful in many other ways

Arthur A. Sills Company

CONTRACTORS and DISTRIBUTORS

287 Coleman St. Belleville

CLASSIFIED ADS POINT THE WAY TO PROFITS

Business Directory

AUTO LOANS

AND REFINANCING
Direct with Customer—No Dealers Involved
S. J. FISHER & SON
28 Bridge St. East Telephone 109

Campbell Auto Finance Co. Ltd.
Toronto - Ottawa - London - Windsor

CHIROPRACTOR

B. A. WYATT, PH.C., CHIROPRACTOR and Drugless Therapist. Radiochrome Color Ray Treatments for nervous exhaustion and run down conditions. Blood, Urine and Stool Analysis. Metabolism Tests. Electric Treatments every Many Operations. 99 Coleman street, Belleville. Phone 388

TERA B. PITCHER, CHIROPRACTOR, and Sr. B. Drugless Therapist. Radiochrome Color Ray Treatment, Ultra-Violet and Infra-Red Radiation and Electrical Treatments. 210 Bridge St. E., Belleville, Ont. Phone 1274.

DENTIST

DR. ROST. H. KEMPSON
DENTIST
X-Ray
Office 422 Phone 1614 Front St. 17-26

RADIO SERVICE

JOHN A. DEWAR
RADIO TECHNICIAN
Registered Phone 811
249 John St. 41-42

SURVEYORS

FRASER AYLESWORTH
Ontario Land Surveyor and Registered Professional Civil Engineer. Land Surveys, Plans and Subdivisions. Prompt, careful service.
Belleville — P. O. BOX 69
MADOC, ONT.

INSURANCE

Protect yourself against accidents with our Automobile Insurance
SANDY BURROWS
HOWARD FROST
Phone 1200
201 Front St.

HALL & EARLE
General Insurance, Fire, Automobile, Accident and Plate Glass
276 Front St. - Phone 1256-W

STOCKS & BONDS

HOGAN AND CRAWFORD, MEMBERS of Toronto Stock Exchange, branch manager, R. O. Hogan. 22-23

LEGAL

WALLBRIDGE, CAMERON AND CO., Successors to the late F. B. Wallbridge, Barrister, Solicitor, Notary, etc. Money to loan. Dominion Bank Block, Front street, Belleville. Bridge street, Bancroft. Phone 67.

MALCOLM MACKAY, BARRISTER, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. Office: Campbell St., Madoc. Phone 28.

T. Y. WELLS, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Notary Public, Etc. 13 Campbell St., Belleville. Telephone 1.

FOSTER, PAYNE AND ARNOTT, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Etc. Clarke A. Payne, K.C., R. D. Arnott, Clifford A. Foster, K.C. Belleville, Ont.

FOSTON AND GRAHAM, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Conveyancers. Trenton, Ont. Solicitors for Bank of Montreal. Money to loan. Hon. W. H. Foston, K.C., M.P.P. Counsel. Clifton Foston, B. B. J. R. Graham.

DONNAN AND BUTLER, B. C. Donnan, M.C., K.C., Counsel. Barrister, Solicitor, Notaries Public and Commissioners, etc. Office: Corner Bridge and Bleecker Sts. Belleville. Ont. Phone 226.

27
Everett Street
Very Desirable Home
For Sale
AT LOW PRICE AND REASONABLE TERMS
Brick House — Living Room — Dining Room — Kitchen — 3 Bed Rooms —Serving Room — 4 Piece Bath — Gas Garage. Inspection Investigating.
Belleville Locators
GEO. N. GORMAN Prop.
166 Front St.
Phone 99 House Phone 667

BUY NOW AND MAKE WORK

PHONE 99
Classified Ad. Rates

SOCIAL NOTICES—Births, 50c; Marriages and Engagements, $1.00; Deaths and Funerals, 50c; In Memoriam, $1.00; Cards of Thanks, $1.00; Automobiles for Hire, $1.00 per month; Coming Events, $1.00 for 20 lines, over 20 lines, 5c per line; Ladies' Resorting Announcements, maximum charge, $2.00.

CLASSIFIED — (Per Insertion) — 1c per word—1st for 3 consecutive insertions; 2c per word—1st for 1 week; minimum 25 cents.

COMING EVENTS—15c per insertion for 25 words or under, over 25 words 1c per word.

PROFESSIONAL, LEGAL AND BUSINESS CARDS (Yearly rate)—$10.00 per inch; Readers, per inch, $15.00; Contract Rates for Permanent Notices (Readers)—Same condensed type used in Editorial—Six per agate line (14 lines to inch) for first insertion; 50% per agate line for subsequent insertions.

CAUTION—In the use of any word, head-ing to count as 10 words, 25c per insertion; 3 consecutive insertions, 50c per week.

All initial or figure combin ns one word.

Terms—Cash in advance except where an account is opened. Phone 99 and a Want Ad. Taker will call on you. Ontario Intelligencer will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement. Phone 99 or 12 if in doubt.

Advertisements may have their replies addressed to Box 27 Intelligencer, care of the Ontario Intelligencer.

WANTED

WOMEN WANTED

WOMEN WANTED TO START PRIVATE Kindergarten School in their own home this coming Fall. Free training. Write at once, giving phone number, to Miss Ethel Hutchinson, Kindergarten Specialist, 1837, Toronto. 19-21-23-25-27-29

MALE HELP WANTED

A LESSON FROM THE DEPRESSION—Be a Civil Service Employee. Common Examinations. Clerk, Stenographer, etc. Splendid opportunity to Get a "permanent Job". M.C.T. Civil Service School, Toronto (182).

MEN WANTED

MEN WANTED IMMEDIATELY to call on every farmer in Hastings county, to take charge of our already established business. Splendid opportunity for man who can make $35 weekly to start and increase rapidly. Write Family Products Co., 378 St. Catherine street, Montreal. MM 31 5 8 15

SUMMER BOARDERS IN PRIVATE home, Foxboro, Ont., June 15th, good bathing, rates reasonable. Phone 24 Syngue Line, Montclair, Ont. 22-24

WE PAY CASH FOR HOGS AND LIVE poultry. Apply Canada Packers Limited, Montreal. 22-23-2-tp

LOAN OF $2000 ON 50000 ASSESSMENT (farm property). Write Box "O" Ontario Intelligencer. 27-31

COMPETENT MIDDLE AGED HOUSEkeeper in home of one. Apply Box 28 Intelligencer. 27-29

CASH FOR FARMERS, MERCHANTS and Tradesmen, pleasant work selling Red Comb Poultry Concentrate. Quick returns and gardens being reserved, new combination of ingredients that is a real tonic. Generous cash commission weekly. Be the first to provide this service for your personal barge. Start now. Write at once. Red Comb Poultry Concentrate, Montreal. 29-31-33-35

EMPLOYMENT BY YOUNG MAN, twenty, with farm experience and Intelligencer. 29-31

Bryden Lowry, Moscow, Ont. 29-31

YOUNG LADY OR GIRL WANTED, Advertising, collecting, good locality, commission, permanent. Apply Box 30 Intelligencer. 29-31

A MAN TO WORK ON FARM AT $40 per month, one who has no horse and will buy one. Apply Box 31 Intelligencer. 29-31

HUNDRED TO FIVE HUNDRED CORDS hard maple wood. Give delivered price. Apply Howard Canop, Box 15, Moscow, Ont. 29-31

SECOND HAND CANOE—PHONE 1718 or write W. Legge, 14 Queen street. 29-31

FOR SALE

CHAMP ELECTRIC WASHER, FORTY-five dollars. Horse electric refrigerator, ice box size, fifty dollars. Open evenings. Gibson, 384 Front. 24-31

MODEL T FORD COUPE, GOOD CONDITION. Also Model T Ford Truck. Current wagon. Each cheap for cash. Apply Box 1, Ontario Intelligencer. 27-29

CHEAP FOR CASH — 9 ROOM HOUSE, Division street, Trenton, central location. Full size lot. Apply Trenton Realty Write Box 122, Trenton. 29-tf

RECONDITIONED 1931 SOREN SACRIfice in price. Space needed for new stock. Frigidaire dealership. Apply Invicta, 223 Front street. 31-33

DESIRABLE BRICK HOUSE, 41 KING-ston street, Belleville. Lot 50 x 132 feet, room or evenings for interview. 24-31

1931 DODGE SEDAN, LICENSED, LOADED, trunk, six wire wheels. Exact actual mileage 20,000. Owner, Time allowed and reasonable down payment. Apply Box 1, Ontario Intelligencer. 27-29

'30 CHEVROLET COACH, FIRST CLASS condition, new tires, motor A1. Price $175. Privately owned. Write Box "D" Ontario Intelligencer. 31-33

TAPESTRY COVERED DIVANETTE, like new, $15.00. Phone 1718 or write W. Legge, 14 Queen street. 29-31

TO LET

FURNISHED BELLEVUE APARTMENT for rent, three rooms and bath. Apply Box 1, Ontario Intelligencer. 29-tf

NEW HOUSE, 11 BRIDGE STREET, for rent. Immediate Possession July 1. Apply 240 Pinnacle street. 29-tf

FURNISHED APARTMENT, CENTRAL, July and August. Electric refrigerator, hot and cold water, bath and shower. Phone 1811-J. 29-31

FURNISHED ROOM WITH SITTING ROOM with or without kitchenette, 373 Front street. 29-tf

SIX ROOMED HOUSE WITH IMPROVEments. Apply Geo. Davey, 182 Dundas street. 29-31

HOUSE ON HERCHIMER AVENUE — Six rooms and bath, hot water heating. Possession immediately, $6 per month. Apply Ontario Realties Ltd. 29-31

5 HOLLOWAY STREET — ALL MODern conveniences, hot water heating, 1 Garage. Apply W. R. Panter, 61 Coleman street. 29-tf

SECOND FLAT OVER SPENCE'S BAKE shop, Bent street, with water, bath and electric light. 29-tf

OAK LANE CAMPS—A FEW RESERVAtions still available by week, month or season. Apply at the Lane, Box 1, Mr. Barnes, 604, Belleville.

MODERN 7 STREET AND 36 CHATHAM street. Apply 363 Front street. 21-31

SIX ROOM HOUSE, ALL CONVENiences, 1 Garage. Apply 238 Pinnacle street, phone 1287-W. 29-tf

MODERN SEMI-DETACHED BRICK HOUSE No. 81 West Bridge. Apply 73 West Bridge. 29-tf

HOUSE, PINNACLE STREET, FIRST door north Baptist Church. Apply 19 Victoria street or phone 726-F. 29-tf

133 WEST MOIRA, ALL MODERN IMprovements, possession July 1. Apply July 1, Reliable parties only need apply. Phone 1287-W. 29-tf

SEVERAL UNFURNISHED HEATED apartments, 257 Bridge street, 257 Dundas street, 29-tf

APARTMENT HEATED AND FURNISHED or partly furnished, Bridge street, Apply Ontario Intelligencer. 29-tf

MEDIUM SIZED APARTMENT, HEATed, hardwood floors, electric refrigerator and stove, bathroom, private entrance. Apply Ontario Intelligencer. 29-tf

LOST

ONE PAIR OF TAN GOLF SHOES ON Canadian National Railway, on June 2. Reward if left at Ontario Intelligencer office. 31-33

DATE IS FIXED

Tokyo, June 3 (AP)—Vernacular newspapers this morning said it was reported today Japan had fixed Tuesday, June 11, as the day the Silver Jubilee Cancer Fund, presenting the cheque for the moneys received to Sir Lyman P. Duff, chairman; Captain A. F. Lascelles, secretary to His Excellency; the Right Honorable the Prime Minister; Her Excellency Lady Bessborough; Dr. T. Parlneau; His Excellency; Dr. A. Primrose; the Honorable Dr. D. M. Sutherland; the Right Honorable W. L. Mackenzie King.

DIED

CALNAN—At Victoria, Assiniboine Reserve, on Friday, June 2, 1933, Sarah Emily Calnan, in her 81st year. The funeral will take place from the late residence to Victoria United Church on Sunday, June 4, Service at 2 p.m. (Standard Time). Interment without flowers. 29-31

DIED

CARNIFF—At Edmonton, Alta., on Saturday, June 3rd, 1933, Phillip Carniff, formerly of Belleville, Ont., aged 70 years.

The body of the late Mr. Carniff will arrive at C.P.R. station, Belleville, Monday noon, June 5th, and will be conveyed to Mahoney Funeral Chapel, where the funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. Interment Belleville Cemetery. 29-31

DIED

PEPPE—In Belleville, on Friday, June 2, 1933, Mrs. Isabella Penn, widow of Joseph Penn, in her 97th year.

The funeral will take place from the residence of her son, Mr. Henry Penn, 18 Dundas street east, on Monday, June 5th, at 2.30 p.m. (D.S.T.). Interment Belleville Cemetery. 29-31

IN MEMORIAM

HALL—In loving memory of my dear husband and father, James Hall, who died the 8th of June, 1927.
Sweet memories will linger forever,
This world can never take away,
The years that may come change never
The loving remembrance of you, Jim —Ever remembered by Mrs. Jessy Hall and family. 29-31

LATTIMER'S
DRUG STORE
Open Sunday

SELDON'S
DRUG STORE
Open Sunday

REMINDERS
Short and Snappy Business Messages of Interest to
All Readers

Farmers! Attention!
Spring will soon be here, get your harness repaired and oiled.
New Harness and Parts at Reasonable Prices.
T. G. WELLS
22 Campbell St. Phone 1317J

TICKELL & BROWNE
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
We Serve for Less
FUNERAL HOME
Corner Church St. and Victoria Ave. Phone 2232

Reliable Firm Are We For Watch, Clock and Jewelry Repairing
Moderate Prices
Guaranteed Work
A. E. Wonnacott
282 FRONT STREET
Next to Loblaw's
Phone 1339

BELLEVILLE BURIAL COMPANY
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
87 Campbell St.
Phone 749-W Day and Night
A. W. IMLAH
Proprietor
Modern Crypts For Sale

Thomas G. Thompson
Funeral Director
Funeral Home
32 Everett St. Phone 61
Office
282 Front St. Phone 61

ROOFING
All Kinds of Repairs; Roofs Painted, Coated or Gravelled
NEW ROOF SUPPLIED
Advice and Estimates on Application
P. J. Fortin
217 Albert St. Phone 1318w

F. LaPalm
Local and Long Distance Hauling
Cloud Furniture Vans
Open Trucks
All Goods Insured During Transit
Office—126 Pinnacle Street
Phone 1686
Stores Phone 1066

Nanking government should agree to the Imperial Government's terms, China demands.

Spokesman for the foreign office declined to comment except to say the demands still either stand and a "final note" handed to Chinese authorities at Peiping by Japanese army representative could not be considered an ultimatum.

Little Damage Done To Either Vessel

Montreal, June 3 (CP)—Little damage was done to either vessel when the Canadian Pacific freighter Beaverhill and the British freighter Nubian collided last night in Cabot Strait, off Cape Breton Island, according to word received at Canadian Pacific Steamships headquarters here. The Beaverhill is proceeding to Montreal and the Nubian is steaming towards Sydney, the company officials have been advised. Both vessels were reported slightly damaged above the waterline.

Deported To Canada

HERBERT WILSON

After serving 12 years in San Quentin prison, Herbert Wilson who was convicted of murder and several postal robberies is pictured in San Francisco, a free man as long as he remains outside the United States. Wilson, former minister and author, who aided authorities in smashing a mail robbery ring, set out for London, Ont., and planned to write his way to London, England, to make his home. Social circles in San Francisco were active in teaching that crime does not pay is to be his life's work.

CANCER FUND CHEQUE FOR $425,000 TURNED OVER TO TRUSTEES

At Government House, Ottawa, Her Excellency Lady Bessborough, in the presence of His Excellency, the Governor-General and the several trustees of the King George V.

Current Attractions at Local Theatres

What Local Theatre Managers Have to Say About Current Offerings

AT THE CAPITOL

"I'll Love You Always"
The Story of Romance too Beautiful to Last

Dealing chiefly with the problem of making a go of marriage in these days of financial uncertainty, "I'll Love You Always," which opens at the Capitol Theatre Sunday for a absorbing, entertaining study of modern day life will prove.

Nancy Carroll and George Murphy are featured, and once again Miss Carroll proves herself a dramatic actress of real talent, while Murphy, a comparative newcomer, further establishes his ability drawing sympathy from a role that gives him more than usual scope.

Murphy is cast as an egotistical youth who considers his marriage from an engineering course. Rushing Nancy Carroll into the marriage with promises of placing the world at her feet, he sets out to conquer New York. Too proud to accept menial labor in the enticing field, he confidently waits for something really good to turn up. Nothing does.

The family resources sob rapidly, and Nancy Carroll tries tactfully to speak a means of supporting her husband and herself. When Murphy discovers the source of income, there is a quarrel, but he goes back to accept one of the jobs he has turned down and finds that the opportunity has passed. Disheartened, when he finds his wife is planning to leave him, he plans some money to show her one last good fling. Ostensibly he's off to Canada for an important engineering job, and while he serves his term in prison, his wife patiently waits in the apartment for his return.

The theme attains a powerful climax, and the surprise ending is cleverly done.

The dramatic scenes are superbly played by Miss Carroll, who gives all the fire and depth of emotion necessary to the role. Her "Nancy Clegg," the wife who sacrifices everything for love, is a convincing portrayal.

Jean Dixon, Raymond Walburn, Arthur Hohl, Robert Allen, Claudia Coleman and Harry Bernard contribute fine performances in supporting roles.

"Lightning Strikes Twice"

"Lightning Strikes Twice," the comedy picture at the Regent Sunday and filled with laughs. It enjoys the rare farce ingredient of thrilling suspense, and also boasts of laughs, romance, mystery and other elements which lead to an unusual climax.

Martin Dix, ace writer, and Ben Holmes, film fun specialist, with a series of hits to their credit as the authors of comedies, conceived and perfected the story. Story in hand, Holmes took the production with his all-star comedy cast, which includes such players as Ben Lyon, Thelma Todd, Pert Kelton, Walter Catlett, Chick Chandler and "Skeets" Gallagher.

The story of "Lightning Strikes Twice," is a well selected combination of swift-moving incidents which result in a fresh thought in film comedy. Briefly, the policemen Grey through a mistake in the screws while ——— a wild-eyed man

AT THE BELLE

"Sequoia"
Tops Anything Ever Seen for Thrills and Realism

Taking its place among the most unusual films ever attempted in the history of motion pictures is the nature story, "Sequoia" (pronounced Sea-quoy-a), recently completed by the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, and announced as the feature attraction at the Belle Today and Monday, matinee and evening.

Started nearly two years ago in the wilder parts of the Sequoia Mountains included in the confines of Sequoia National Park, the picture presented almost insurmountable difficulties.

Herds of Deer Stalked

Herds of deer were stalked by cameramen for hundreds of miles through underbrush, over windbreaks, across mountain streams to the country's wildest retreat by hunters. Pack trains of mules carried equipment to the world's highest lakes at an elevation of 11,000 feet, where beauties never seen except by forest ranger patrols were photographed for the first time.

A friendship between a mountain lion and deer, never believed possible by most naturalists, provides a basis for the "animal drama" that is the star of the picture. Months of effort and literally thousands of feet of film were required before they made love two weeks of safe until full grown and were taken from the bush, with perhaps one minute of usable footage a day.

Besides the two animals reached full growth they were turned into the forest with a "convoy" of a dozen cameramen stationed in a large circle on runway tracks, and in high trees, to continue their record of amazing animal life.

In addition to the mountain lion and deer, many other specimens of wild life were followed to their natural haunts, including coyotes, bears, raccoons, eagles, rattlesnakes baby fawns and small lion cubs.

His Starting Scenes

The film has such startling scenes as that in which a herd of two hundred deer leap over a windbreak nearly twenty feet high on a migration into the mountains; a mountain lion and a deer, two of nature's deadliest enemies, actually "dining"; more than a dozen specimens of wild life hoaxhedge-jeting bottle-fed like babies; a death struggle between dead five-point bucks fighting for supremacy of their herd and other elemental scenes of animal life rarely seen by human eyes.

The Love Interest

Into this animal drama is woven a wholesome love story between Jean Parker, as a naturalist's daughter, and Russell Hardie, a National Park forest ranger. Their interest in each other and the denizens of the wild around them provides a human continuity to the picture.

Royal Cavalcade, Timely

The second feature attraction on the same program is "Royal Cavalcade", the screen's tribute to the Silver Jubilee, and a richly glowing tapestry of real life, packed with mighty drama and depicting every stirring British event from the coronation to today, all re-enacted by England's finest stage and screen stars. It is well to know that this is not a newsreel but a full-length feature consuming seventy-five minutes in presentation, and made for this great occasion. The Belle Lazier Trees Fashion will be exhibited on the same program.

RADIO PROGRAMS
— Daylight Saving Time —

SATURDAY

5.00—Eddie Duchin's Orchestra —WEAF.
5.30—Lyn Murray Trio—CFRB
7.15—The Jamboree—WEAF
7.30—Jack Denny Orchestra—WEAF
7.45—Carl Freed's Harmonica Band —WGN
7.45—Grace Hayes, songs—WJZ
8.00—Modern Minstrels—WABC
8.00—Phil Cook Variety Show. —WJZ
8.30—Parade, Lennie Hayton's Orch.—WEAF
8.30—Dorsey Brothers—WJZ
8.45—Big Moments in Sports—CFRB
9.00—Radio City Party—WJZ
9.00—Navy Band—WABC
9.00—Vincent Lopez—WTIC
9.30—Chateau; Al Jolson—WEAF
9.30—Freddie Rich Entertains —WABC
10.30— California Melodies—WABC
10.30—To be announced—WEAF
10.30—Carefree Carnival—WJZ.
11.00—News—GHOY
11.30—Paul Whiteman's Orch. —WJZ
11.30—Clande Hopkins' Orch. —WABC
11.30—Wayne King's Orch.—WGN
11.30—Ray Noble's Orch.—WJZ

SUNDAY

9.00—Sunday Morning at Aunt Susan's—WGR
11.00—Children's Hour—WABC
11.30—Mal. Bowes Capitol Family Hour—WEAF
12.00—Salt Lake City Tabernacle—WABC
12.00—Community Mailbag—WJZ.
12.30—Radio City Concert—NBC; WJZ; WLW.
12.45—Trans-oceanic Broadcast — WABC
1.30—Ha, Ha and They—WABC
2.30—Radio Theatre—WJZ
2.30—Int'l. Broadcast from Switzerland—WEAF
3.00—Symphonic Hour—WABC
3.00—Penthouse Serenade—WEAF
3.30—Nagel's Vespers—WJZ
4.30—Int'l. Broadcast from Berlin —WEAF
5.00—Country Church of Hollywood—WABC
5.00—Roses and Drums—WJZ.
5.00—Rhythm Symphony—WEAF
5.30—The Hour by the Side of the Road—WEAF
5.30—Frank Crummit and Julia Sanderson — CBS; WABC; WOR
6.00—Political Amateur Night—WABC
6.30—Smilin' Ed McConnell—WJZ
6.30—Continental Varieties—WEAF
7.00—Coaches of Romance —WABC
7.00—Jack Benny; Don Bestor's Orch.—WJZ
7.30—Joe Penner, comedian, Cesare Sodero's Orch., Harold Hilliard—WJZ
7.30—Fireside Recitals — WEAF
8.00—"Rhythm at Eight"—WABC
8.00—Symphony Concert—WJZ
8.00—Major Bowes' Amateur Hour —WEAF
8.30—Wasteners; Will Rogers—WABC
9.00—Dance Programs—WJZ
9.00—Manhattan Merry-go-Round —WJZ
9.00—Sunday Evening Hour — WABC
9.30—Camels, Otis Skinner—WJZ
10.00—Ted Florito's Orch.—WABC
10.00—The Gibson Family—WEAF
12.00—Rev. Chas. E. Coughlin — WJZ

MONDAY

WOR, WJR.

9.00—Breakfast Club—WJZ.
10.45—Lone White, lawman—WEAF
2.30—Arrival of U. S. Fleet at San Diego—WABC
4.00—Betty and Bob—WJZ.
5.00—Myrt and Marge—WJZ.
6.00—U. S. Army Band—WJZ
6.30—News; Jim Hunter—CFRB.
6.30—Lum and Abner—WEAF
7.00—Alice 'n' Andy—WJZ
7.15—Tom and Ona—WJZ.
7.30—To be announced—WJZ
7.45—Boake Carter—WABC
8.00—Richard Himber, Orchestra —WEAF
8.00—Tony and Braggiotti—WABC
8.30—Mixed Chorus—WEAF
9.00—Lullaby Lady—WJZ.
9.00—Princess Pat Players—WJZ.
10.00—Ted Florito's Orch.—WABC
10.00—Dorsey Bros. Orch.—WOR
10.00—The Cuckoo Hour—WJZ
10.30—Max Baer in "Lucky Smith" sketch—WEAF
11.30—Dorsey Bros. Orch.—WGN

Baseball
Current Sport

IN THE REALM OF SPORTING EVENTS

Bowling
Golf

Straight Fall Victory by the Masked Marvel Over Petroff Strenuously Objected by Fans

Claim Loser Outside The Ropes, When Referee Pats Back SLIGHT FLARE-UP
Gyroffy And McKay Are Winners In Other Two Bouts

A new threat loomed on the horizon of local wrestling circles last night when the Masked Marvel, a burly gent, astonishingly like the local favorite, Dan Petroff, the Russian Lion, in two straight falls, both decisions being strenuously objected to by some 800 local fans who attended. The most fair minded fan was firmly convinced that Petroff was outside the ropes when Referee Wells patted the Marvel on the back an award was due. Then when the Petroff feet were looped over the ropes as the hooded grappler took the final fall on the mat behind in the Rivanna Club's weekly show at the Belleville arena last night. Two mediocre bouts were staged prior to the main bout as Johnnie Gyroffy, local hair-pull artist, battled Jack Pavlos of Greece quite handily while in the opener Jack McKay of Ireland gladdened the hearts of all Irishmen by taking Ted Monahorn into camp in jig order.

So biased did the main bout become as Gyroffy, a spectator in the feature attraction, raced to the ring to seriously object to the manner in which the Masked Marvel obtained the first fall of the main bout. Gyroffy claimed that Petroff was outside the ring. The Marvel became hostile when it appeared that Gyroffy and the hooded gent tangled, but cooler heads separated them. Gyroffy continued to remain in the defeated Petroff's corner and second him during the remainder of the bout, however.

Quick First Fall.

The Marvel opened the main bout in a rather pugnacious manner, as he punched Petroff continually with his fists. Subsequently, however, Petroff floored the hooded one following a series of flying tackles. Instead of trying for a quick fall, Petroff encavored to remove the "old sock" that was draped over the Marvel's head with the result that the hooded gent went on the defensive and squirmed out freely. After 18 minutes of grappling the Masked Marvel fell on the prostrate Petroff to get the fall with a body press, both wrestlers allegedly being outside the ropes and the fans objected strenuously. Despite the fact that the second round opened with Petroff pursuing on the offensive and trying to unmask the Masked Marvel, nothing serious happened until the Marvel suddenly launched an offensive attack that won him the belt in straight falls. The hooded grappler pinned Petroff for the second time in succession with a hard reverse body to body slam, both falls being objected to by the audience, as Petroff was outside the ropes when the fall was secured. Although the Masked Marvel was not above the use of rough tactics demonstrated by previous wrestlers to be seen in a local ring, he was in perfect command of the situation and that always relieved the pressure applied by his opponent. The Marvel wrestled bare footed, the first bare hooded grappler to appear in a local ring since the days of Red LaRonde and Nazarina Fogel.

Despite the fact that Jack Pavlos, the Greek Adonis, centred his attack on Johnnie Gyroffy's left shoulder, the methodical Hungarian proved much too good for the Greek and won with a crack hold after some fourteen minutes of wrestling in the semi-final bout. The crotch hold does not punish the loser, as the winner lays his opponent down carefully and applies the pressure. Gyroffy looked much the better throughout, carrying too much experience and general wrestling ability. Gyroffy continually tied Pavlos up in the proverbial knot before he finally took the fall and the bout.

The Summary.

Main bout—The Masked Marvel, 220, won over Dan Petroff, Russia, 210. The Marvel winning the first fall in 18.30 and the second in 14.40.

Semi-final—Johnnie Gyroffy, 208, Hungary, won over Jack Pavlos, 205, Greece, in 15.06.

Opening bout—John McKay, Ireland, 170, won over Ted Monahorn, Syria, 179, in 13.34.

Referee—Ben Wells, Belleville.

Announcer—Frank Domenico of the Belleville Rivana Club.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Al Lopez, Dodgers—Knocked in five runs against Philadelphia with three hits.

Big Redcliff, White Sox—Led attack on Tiger pitchers with four singles.

Roy Parmelee, Giants—Outlasted Ben Cantwell in pitching duel and scored tenth-inning run that beat Braves 3-2.

Cecil Travis, Senators—Rapped Adelaide pitching for three hits.

Sam Byrd, Reds—Clouted single and homer, driving in three runs in triumph over Pirates.

Standings

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Buffalo	27	17	.614
Baltimore	27	22	.551
Toronto	26	22	.542
Montreal	26	23	.531
Newark	25	24	.510
Syracuse	24	24	.500
Rochester	18	28	.391
Albany	17	31	.354

Friday's Scores.

Baltimore 10, Montreal 1.
Albany 7, Buffalo 5.
Toronto at Newark to be played on July 31.
Rochester at Syracuse postponed, rain.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
New York	28	11	.718
St. Louis	26	16	.619
Pittsburg	24	20	.545
Chicago	21	17	.553
Brooklyn	21	20	.512
Cincinnati	17	23	.425
Philadelphia	11	27	.289
Boston	10	29	.275

Friday's Scores.

Brooklyn 11, Philadelphia 9.
New York 2, Boston 3 (10 innings).
Cincinnati 13, Pittsburg 4 (called in seventh, rain).
Chicago at St. Louis postponed, wet grounds.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
New York	27	17	.614
Detroit	27	17	.614
Cleveland	22	16	.561
Detroit	23	19	.548
Boston	22	21	.512
Washington	20	23	.465
Philadelphia	21	24	.400
St. Louis	12	27	.308

Friday's Scores.

Washington 11, Philadelphia 6.
Boston 2, New York 1.
Chicago 9, Detroit 8.
St. Louis at Cleveland postponed, rain.

Batting Leaders

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Batting—Vaughan, Pirates, .400; Martin, Cardinals, .377.

Runs—Vaughan, Pirates, 43; Martin, Cardinals, 37.

Runs batted in—Medwick, Cardinals, 39; Vaughan, Pirates, and Ott, Giants, 36.

Hits—Vaughan, Pirates, 68; L. Waner, Pirates, 65.

Doubles—Medwick, Cardinals, 16; Martin, Cardinals, 14.

Triples—Goodman, Reds, and L. Waner, Pirates, 5.

Home runs—Ott, Giants, 10; Joe Moore, Giants, and John Moore, Phillies, 9.

Stolen bases—Myers, Reds, and Bartell, Dodgers, 6.

Pitching—Parmelee, Giants, 7-1; Walker, Cardinals, and Castleman, .

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Batting—Johnson, Athletics, .406; Moses, Athletics, .397.

Runs—Johnson, Athletics, 41; Gehringer, Tigers, 33.

Runs batted in—Greenberg, Tigers, 49; Johnson, Athletics, 42.

Hits—Johnson, Athletics, and Gehringer, Tigers, 64.

Doubles—Vosmik, Indians, 14; Greenberg, Tigers, 13.

Triples—Vosmik, Indians and Cronin, Red Sox, 5.

Home runs—Johnson, Athletics, and Greenberg, Tigers, 11.

Stolen bases—Almada, Red Sox, 12; Werber, Red Sox, 10.

Pitching—Whitehead, White Sox, 5-1; Wilshire, Athletics, 6-1.

GOLF

Hamilton, Ont., June 3 (CP)—Rain or no rain, young Mike Stanley-Ilsworth of the Glendale Club of Hamilton won't play any more important golf while wearing a raincoat. She tried it yesterday and the excitement of trying to beat the elements in golf probably cost her the Ontario women's championship.

While Mrs. Shuttleworth sallied forth to Ancaster's first tee, bundled in a raincoat, her experienced opponent in the 18-hole final, Mrs. R. W. Whittington of the Toronto Golf and Country Club, prepared to set the pace without a raincoat. Mrs. Whittington got soaked playing the first three holes, but she won them all.

It rained steadily until the fifteenth and by this time Mrs. Shuttleworth was soaked, too. She abandoned her raincoat after the third hole and got down to business—too late as it happened. Working on that early lead, the Toronto star, a former champion, never looked back. She closed out the match on the seventeenth, 2 and 1.

WITH THE LAWN BOWLERS

by
McElheran & Watkins

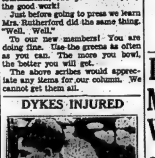
The officers of the bowling club wish to thank the Ontario Intelligencer for this space.

Bowlers! This column will appear every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. Keep in touch with it and know what your club is doing.

A matched game of doubles was played on Wednesday night between Bob Wray and Bob Dewar vs. Waller Blair and Alf Hayward. We do not intend to publish the scores—space will not permit. Ask Bob W..

We are certainly having hard luck for our club games were rained off Monday and again last night. However, we all got a point and that helps.

The winning rink of the ladies' club on Thursday afternoon were: Mrs. Richards, Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. Rutherford, Mrs. Holgate (skip). The tea hostesses were Mrs. McBride, Mrs. Shaw and Mrs. Scott.



Mrs. Holgate is going strong, two tournaments, two prizes. Keep up the good work!

Just before going to press we learn Mrs. Rutherford did the same thing. Well, Well!

To our new members! You are doing fine. Use the greens as often as you can. Remember, the more you play the better you will get.

The short game would appreciate any items for our column. We cannot get them all.

DYKES INJURED

JIMMY DYKES

Hard-driving Jimmy Dykes, who whipped the Chicago White Sox from a doormat team to the American League pennant this year, was carried from the field with a badly sprained ankle yesterday. The Hose could ill spare him, for they've been slipping a bit of late and Jimmy was a steadying influence at third base. He was playing second in place of Minor Heving, regular second sacker, when he was hurt. Here is rough and ready Jimmy in a typical combative posture.

HAS A CHANCE

Denny Shute

Conceded a chance to beat such leading celebrities as Gene Sarazen and Olin Dutra for the United States national open title, As time for the tourney approaches, those who like to lay their money on the dotted line are going more and more for the "long shots."

Defeat of Pittsburg Pirates Moves Cards to Second Place Without Necessity of Playing

Cincinnati Reds Continue to Win Despite Chick Hafey

CHICAGO MOVES UP

Creep Closer to Yankees By 9-8 Win Over Detroit

Cincinnati Reds undoubtedly have missed the clouting of Chick Hafey as well as his inspiring influence since the veteran outfielder was taken sick a month ago, yet it may have been more than a coincidence that his abrupt departure from the scene of their activities coincided with the end of their seven-game losing streak.

Whether or not they were peeved about Chick's unannounced decision to return to California in search of better health, the Reds pounded the ball like an inspired aggregation as they blasted out a 13-4 seven-inning victory over Pittsburg Pirates and returned the Bucs to third place in the National League standings.

Every member of the team except Pitcher Paul Derringer took part in the assault which netted 15 hits, including three homers, before rain halted the activities. Ott did his share by scattering 11 Buccaneer blows for his seventh victory of the season. Sam Byrd, Alex Kampouris and Ival Goodman contributed the homers.

Hafey, meanwhile, was threatened with a fine and suspension by the general manager Larry MacPhail, who said he had no notice of the outfielder's departure and that Chick had been ordered to report for a physical examination yesterday. After building up a .339 batting average in the first fifteen games, Hafey was laid up with a cold and a recurrence of the sinus trouble that resulted in his sale by the Cardinals several years ago.

Cards Back In Second Hole.

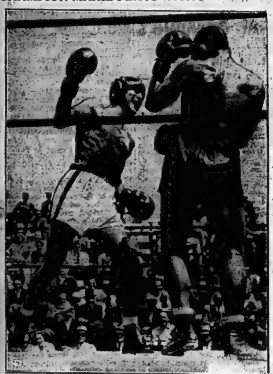
With Pittsburg's defeat, the Cardinals moved back into second place although their doubleheader with Chicago was rained off. All that worked to the benefit of the league-leading Giants, who pulled out a hard won 3-2 decision over the Boston Braves in ten innings after Mel Ott's tenth home run of the season had knotted the count in the ninth.

The other National League contest was a free-swinging affair in which Dodgers put on two big rallies to defeat the Phillies 11-9 as the teams poled out 14 doubles, 12 singles, and 3 home runs, including Johnny Moore's ninth of the season.

Belatedly, White Sox crept closer to the League leading Yankees and protected second place from the Cleveland and Detroit Indians as they edged out the Tigers 9-8, while the Yanks continued their 1-1 weekend battle to the Red Sox and the Indian-Senator games were washed out.

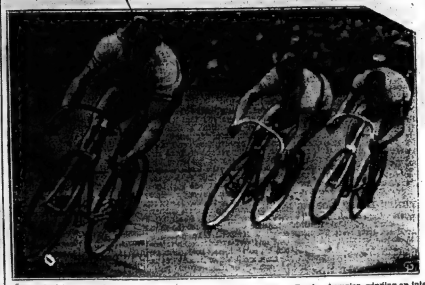
After blowing a 5-1 lead the Sox belted out General Alvin Crowder as Al Simmons belted a 2-run drive

WON CANADIAN FOILS CHAMPIONSHIP



Ernie Dalton of Toronto won the foils championship of Canada at Winnipeg when he proved himself an adept wielder of the buttoned blade against the best swordsmen of the Dominion. His is considering making a bid for Olympic honors and is regarded as the best foils expert developed in Canada for a long time.

"Perfect Drive" is Demonstrated by the "Perfect Woman Golfer"

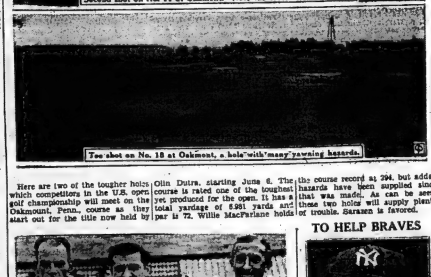


This strip of action pictures portrays the "perfect drive" as shown by seldom's most perfect woman golfer, Joyce Wethered of England. For that reason it should be carefully studied by those who seek to perfect their form, for much of the golfing wizardry of Miss Wethered is contained in her drive. She is an effortless hitter, yet gets fine distance. Her actions in the swing, the downstroke and follow-through are perfectly synchronized, as the pictures show, each movement drawing naturally is a style envied by a world of golfers. Miss Wethered, who gave up her amateur status to play as a professional, will appear in Canada during her present American tour. These photos were taken during her opening match against Gene Sarazen and Glenna Collett Vare with Johnny Dawson as her partner. The match was even.

CHAMPION MAXIE PLAYS WITH DYNAMITE

Max Baer, training at Ashbury Park, N.J., for his bout with Jimmy Braddock, when he will be called upon to defend his heavyweight crown, is seen here working out with "Dynamite" Jackson a hefty colored sparring partner. "Dynamite" can both take and hand it out. Max is going into the business in earnest believing Braddock will give him a real test. His sparring mates find Maxie quite a handful.

ONE, TWO, THREE, IN INTERNATIONAL BIKE SPRINT



Popularity of bicycle racing for thrills and spills is not confined to Canada nor to the pro. riders who do their pedalling for wealth. England the sport is keenly contested and just as keenly welcomed. Here is the finish of a race at Herne Hill, with E. W. Higgins, British Empire champion, winding an international sprint match from Tony Merkens, champion of Germany. Dennis Horn, British star, is pedalling into third place.

TWO OF THE WORST GIANT-KILLERS" AT OAKMONT

Second shot on No. 11 at Oakmont. Note the cross-ditch and traps.

Too shot on No. 18 at Oakmont, a hole with many yawning hazards.

Here are two of the toughest holes which competitors in the U.S. open golf championship will meet on the Oakmount, Penn., course as they start out for the title now held by Olin Dutra. starting June 6. The course is rated one of the toughest yet produced for the open. It has a total yardage of 6,261 yards and par is 72. Willie MacFarlane holds the course record at 294, but added hazards have been supplied since that was made. As can be seen these two holes will supply plenty of trouble. Saranen is favored.

TO HELP BRAVES

DANNY MACFAYDEN

Seeking strength for the club now that Babe Ruth is gone, Boston Braves have secured spectacular Danny MacFayden from New York Yankees for mound duty. MacFayden cost the Yanks $50,000 and two pitchers in 1932, but Braves got him for his league waiver price. Cincinnati Reds tried him out, but returned him to Gotham.

VISITORS—Plas and Hamilton of France seek pro net title at Orange, N.J. Left to right, C hapin, Plas and Hamilton.

PROS—Left to right, Tilden, Lott and Barnes, in pro championship tournament at Orange, N.J.

CROSSED THEIR S WORDS IN CANADIAN FENCING MEET

Canadian fencing championships, fought this year at Winnipeg, drew a large number of entries, from across Canada and supplied enthusiastic spectators with some keen battling. Smart displays of swordmanship were flashed by competitors before the title-holders were decided. Here are some of the winners with other contestants in their sword duels. Top (Left to right) Barry Proud, who defeated Irene Gibson (centre) to become women's foils champion, with Mrs. R. Clarke, lone home town entry in this event. Bottom (left to right) J. C. Ouis, Montrealer, beaten by F. Glitterman (next) in the Canadian sabre championship bouts; George Tully, new duelling sword champion, stands beside Ernie Dalton (extreme right) new 1935 foils king. Centre is an action view of sword-wielders crossed blades in one of the bouts. At the bottom

Romaine Is Best Late Lettuce

Its Long, Narrow Leaves Blanche Themselves

There is only one lettuce on which it pays to take a chance during the hot summer months. This is the cos type usually known as romaine lettuce, a tall slender lettuce of quite different character and shape of leaf from the usual leaf or head lettuce, but their equal or superior in flavor.

The leaves are long, narrow and of upright growth, enclosing the heart leaves and automatically blanching them although not forming a head. It is also most resistant of all the lettuces and the one lettuce to put in for late planting. It is useless to try to grow head lettuce when the warm days set in as it will spin up to seed without pausing to develop anything worth while in the way of edible foliage.

Cos lettuce is considered the finest and most delicate flavored of all the lettuce by many connoisseurs. Its ease of growth is one of its most commendable features. The blanching of the leaves may be aided and hastened by tying the tips with raffia so that they may not be forced apart by winds or rains. Naturally they are closed.

It is the secret of successful quality lettuce growing for those who have tried to grow head lettuce and failed to obtain good heads.

It may be planted any time up to June 1. Thin vigorously in the rows so that each plant may have at least 4 inches of room in which to expand. They grow more closely than the head lettuce but this distance will have them touching in the rows. Give them extra rich soil and plenty of water as the hot weather sets in and they will spurt into the highest quality of lettuce in short order.

Those who have grown the cos lettuce have given up the ordinary leaf types for late season crops.

Copyright, 1935, by Central Press Ass'n.

FOR RELIABLE INFORMATION ON INSURANCE
and INVESTMENTS
CONSULT
JAMIESON BONE & CO.
INSURANCE INVESTMENTS

FINANCIAL MARKETS
NEW YORK TORONTO WINNIPEG

NEW YORK CLOSE

New York, June 8—Metal issues were principal performers in today's brief stock market session, although numerous small gains were scattered throughout the list. While the majority of the leaders refused to give ground, they were not too enthusiastic. The close was rather firm. Transfers approximated 330,000 shares.

TORONTO MINING CLOSE

Toronto, June 8.—(CP)—Silver share prices were lifted in today's session of Toronto mining markets as a result that the action in the Washington Congress was about to renew the campaign to force the price of metal higher. Hocombo jumped 36 cents to 40 cents before the close from unchanged to 2.10 up 30 cents net. Castle advanced 9 cents to 1.10 and Beaver added 3 cents.

Normetals sold up 26 cents to 39.85 and higher prices ruled for Big Missouri, Base Metals Corporation and mining companies.

The decline in Hedcrow was halted by heavy covering which put the price up about 15 cents. Pioneer added 70 cents and Wright Hargreaves added about 25 cents.

TORONTO STOCKS
(Close)

Toronto, June 8 (CP)—Trade on the International Nickel of Toronto Exchange centred in the metals and oils today from up to 100 shares of Consolidated Smelters were boarded with the price rising about 2 points to around 174.

Smelters was boosted by the rush for the silver quotations on the news from Washington the truce over the silver campaign had been broken and that an immediate drive would be made to put silver to $1.29 an ounce. Nickel was also up but showed no price advance.

Dividend Reserves sold up a half point to 16 1-4. Industrial Alcohol A. also had a gain and Walkers Canadian and Dominion a point.

Utilities of push higher included Bell Telephone, Brazilian and some of the power issues. Northern Ontario Power points net to close around 30.

Mason Corporation at 22 was at a new high for the year. In the oils British American held firm at 18 1-4 and International Petroleum added 1-8. Superior ordinary was unchanged at 57.

UNLISTED MINES

Unlisted Mines furnished by A. H. Ketcheson and Co. today at 11.30 a.m.

Acme	26-28
Arjon	4-5
Bankfield	30-32
Belmont	13-14
Boscupet	15-16
Can. Fund	3-5
Casey	2-3
Cons. Chib	80-90
Dunlop	1-3
El Sonora	16-18
Goldcrest	29-30
Glenora	8-10
Gold Eagle	30-32
Great Base	46-47
Hard Rock	67-80
Hollinger	15-16
Johnson Nip	3-5
Lafayette	3-4
Lamaque	180-190
Legnon	6-7
Mcleod	4-5
McPartlane	8-7
Magnet	2-3
Matach	16-12
Mosher	34-35
North Shores	3-4
Okland	2-3
Rice Lake	2-3
Springer	194
Sheffera	1-2
Shawkey	40-42
Surprise	3-5
Wells	7-9
Winsdal	12-14
Young Davidson	17-19
Chromium	55-60

$0.000 TONS OF RAILS ORDERED

Will Be Divided Between Two of Largest Companies in Canada

Ottawa, June 8 (CP)—An 80,000-ton steel rail order to be divided equally between the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation of Sydney, N.S. and the Algoma Steel Corporation of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., has been arranged by the Dominion Government as a re-employment measure it was announced today.

The rails will be delivered to the Canadian National Railways by between now and next April and will be for on delivery. It was said. The government will pay the carrying charges on financing involved in placing completion of the transaction.

Produce Markets

(By United Farmers Co-Operative Company)

Toronto, June 8.—Wholesale prices on produce delivered at Toronto as supplied by the United Farmers Co-operative Co. here to-day were:

Dairy Produce

Eggs—
Grade A, large, doz.	.17
Grade A, medium, doz.	.15
Grade C, cartons, doz.	.13
Butter—
Ontario No. 1 Creamery, lb.	.20½
Ontario No. 2 Creamery, lb.	.19½
Cheese—
No. 1, lb.	.20
No. 2, lb.	.19

(F.O.B shipping point)
Poultry

	Dressed
	Live Dressed Milkfed
Heavy—	"A" "A"
Over 5 lbs.	.11 .16
4 to 5 lb.	.10 .13
3 to 4 lbs.	.11 .14
Old roosters	.07 .09
Broilers 2 1-2	....	.16
Broilers 2 1-2 lb.	....	.18
Broilers 1 1-4 to 1 1-2	....	.22

Selling Prices

United Farmers Co-Operative Co-operative Company, Limited, to retail dealers as the following prices:

Eggs—
Grade A, large, loose, doz.	.22
Grade A, medium, doz.	.20
Grade A, pullets, medium	.18
Grade C, dbh.	.18
Butter—
No. 1 Creamery, prints	.23½
No. 2 Creamery, prints	.23

Hay and Straw

Cars, timothy hay, baled ton, $13.50 to $14.00; mixed timothy ton, $11.50 to $12.50; straw, wheat, ton $10.00; oats straw, $7.50 to $8.50.

Graded Egg Prices

Toronto dealers today were paying the following (combs) prices for graded eggs, cash:

Grade A, medium, doz.	.19
Grade A, large, doz.	.19
"A" pullets, doz.	.16

FEW CHANGES IN PRICES ARE NOTED

Broilers Sell From 60 Cents to 75 Cents a Pair

There were but few changes to note in prices on Saturday's market when it was well attended by both vendors and purchasers. A feature was the display of garden produce in abundance, especially of flower plants in boxes, also cabbage and tomatoes.

Grain dealers report business as fair with prices as quoted below prevailing.

White eggs were offered for sale in considerable quantity, but in excess of 10 to 2c. per dozen was noticeable. Quotations of 18c and 19c per dozen, while pullet eggs sold at 14c and 15c dozen. The selling for the week was 25c per lb.

Dressed poultry, chiefly chickens and broilers, showed a slight increase for the former, retailing from 60c to $1.10, according to size. The ruling price for broilers was 60c per pair with a few offerings at 75c a pair.

Fish vendors were busy disposing of various species on the floor. Price for same were reasonable.

Quotations were as follows:

Alfalfa	$15.00
Fall wheat, bus.	.8 1.06
Spring wheat, bus.	....
Barley, bus.	....
Oats, bus.	....
Rye, bus.	....
Timothy, bus.	.... 10.00
Buckwheat, bus.	....
Red Clover, bus.	.... 14.00
Alsike, bus.	.... $14.00 to 15.00
Dressed hogs, cwt.	.... 11.50
Live hogs, cwt.	.... 8.75
Butter lb.	.23 to .25
Eggs, No. 1, dozen	.15 to .17
Pullet eggs, dozen	....
Chickens	.60 to 1.10
Broilers, pair	.50 to .60
Potatoes per bag	....
Apples peck	.35 to .50
Onions, bunch	....
Carrots, peck	....
Turnips, peck	....
Beets, peck	....
Green Onions, bunch	....
Rhubarb, bunch	....
Lettuce, bunch	....
Radishes, bunch	....
Cabbage, each	.05 to .10
Horse Hides	....
Lake Herrings, lb.	....
Pike, lb.	.... .8 to .9
Mudcats, lb.	....
White Fish, lb.	....

Plants.

Pansies, box	.20
Zennias, box	.15
Sylvias, box	....
Double Petunias, box	....
Mixed plants, box	....
Tomato plants, box	....
Asters, box	....
Cabbage plants, box	....

Grain Markets

Quotations on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange as furnished by A. H. Ketcheson and Co. today at 11.30 a.m.

Wheat—	High	Low	Last
July	83¾	81½	83¾
Oats—
July	....	40¾	40
October	....	35¾	35¾
Barley—
July	....	41¾	41¾
October	....	40¾	39¾
Rye—
July	....	43½	43½
October	....	45¾	43¼

"Some Day I Find Her, Gold!" Says Prospector Trudging North

Cattle Sold Down During Past Week

CATTLE SOLD

Toronto, June 8—A decline of 50 cents per cwt. on weighty steers and bulls featured lethargic trading on the local live stock market during the past week. Other grades of cattle managed to hold steady. Despite a decrease of 1,000 head in the supply during the week some 50 head of this cattle remained unsold at the close. Speculators purchased about 400 head of light to medium quality cattle for export to the United States. No American buyers were on the market. Good and choice veal calves recovered the previous week's loss. Spring lambs and sheep closed 50 cents per cwt. lower.

Good and choice calves recovered last week's decline while common to medium calves again held unchanged. Tops were generally $7 per cwt., with a few up to $7.50. Good calves sold at $6 to $6.50, with plain quality mostly $4.50 to $5.50. A few rough grassers sold at $3.50 to $4 cwt. One load of good calves were taken for export.

There were no feed-lot lambs of any account included in the lamb receipts. Spring lambs were down 50 cents at $9.50 for the majority of sales, with a few exceptional lots making $10. Culls sold at $6 to $7 and a few particularly poor at $5 per 9 cwt. Sheep were down 50 cents to $1 cwt for best light-weight ewes and

	Hogs	Lambs
This week	2,542	2,382
Last week	2,742	2,356
To date	70,026	68,099
1934 to date	11,197	58,835
1933 to date	4,390	3,236
This week, 1934

Country Dairy Boards

Iroquois, Ont., June 7—At today's meeting of the Canadian Cheese Board there were 438 boxes colored cheese offered; 91% cents offered; no sales.

GIRL SAYS HOLD-UP POLICE SAYS THEFT

Treasurer of Company Will Clare Hard Of Stealing Money

Brantford, Ont., June 8 (CP)—Chief of Police Harry Stanley and detective George Carter early today concluded a 24-hour investigation into the theft of money and cheques from the F. A. Shultis Company office here and charged Agnes Clark, bookkeeper, and Clair Haley, Hamilton, with theft.

Chief Stanley and Detective Kerr said the William Haley girl was arrested at her home brought Haley back with them.

Miss Clark, secretary-treasurer of the company, was arrested last night. She had been under investigation by Chief of Police Stanley and Detective Kerr. Miss Clark told police Haley was picked up at Hamilton by Detective Kerr and Chief Stanley and chief Stanley who had been in Hamilton looking for him.

Miss Clark was said to have told police yesterday the Haley accompanied when she was in the office about 9 a.m. According to the police her statement was that Haley had left and someone called to her from a back door. Thinking it was a representative of the Brant Hotel, operated by F. A. Shultis, she said she went to the rear of the office and was grasped by two men who beat her and hit her on the head before stated. After she had been beaten she was said to have told police, chief clerk also was told them.

When she was able, Miss Clark notified Mr. Shultis of the robbery and Mr. Shultis called police.

Miss Clark also appeared before Acting Magistrate R. Gillen this morning. Both were charged with the same offence, that they "did steal 14 record books, a sum of money, cheques valued at $800 and a cheque appropriately valued at $200, the property of the F. A. Shultis Company of this city."

Neither defendants were represented by counsel and were remanded until Monday. Bail was set at $5,000 each or two sureties of $1,500 in each case.

GROWING FEAR FOR CHILD DROWNED

New York, June 8 (AP)—Baffled by the absence of a single, tangible clue, police searchers intensified today break the wall of mystery surrounding the disappearance of five-year-old Jackie Kaul.

Although there was a growing fear that the child had met death by drowning in the East River close to his home, the body had not been found where was last seen Thursday night authorities had not rejected the possibility he had been kidnapped.

The boy's saddened parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Kaul, clung to the belief their child had been kidnapped either by persons who mistook him for one of the wealthy boys of the fashionable Sutton Place district or by a woman bereft a twisted maternal instinct.

Joseph LeBarr Once Found Nugget at Stream's Edge

ON GOLD HUNT

Joseph Le Barr whose prospector's pick and sturdy hob-nailed boots have carried him far into the remote fastness of the gold bearing lands of Kirkland Lake, is on his way back to the northern hinterlands bound in his search for the glittering gold.

Carrying his pack weighed down with his provisions on which he depends for months at a time in the woods, Le Barr who hails from his native town Windsor, Quebec, barbered for a time in the city yesterday before continuing his long and weary trip to the west. While he surveyed the dripping skies and dreamed of the days from the door of No. 7 Pire Hall, he speculated idly on the futility of life and the plain toothlessness in general of those who are content to earn their living in a manner such as he.

Will Make a Strike

But, he thinks, this time Shena day, maybe this year, maybe next year I'll make a strike. Who knows. Never can you tell what's around the other corner. Me, I like the life, but by gar, it's a hard one sometimes."

Le Barr pauses is still strong on the tongue of the grizzled but still youthful and active appearing seeker after the yellow metal. Sometimes Le Barr has devoted most of his life to the hunt for gold, first commencing gold through Quebec and Northern Ontario. His yet, after nearly thirty years of this, seems to have made the strike that may some day make him rich.

Gold! Fouff! She's Gone

Gold! Fouff! She's gone! I'll initiated Le Barr with a flash of strong white teeth, "Sometimes you find it like that. It's there, pouff, she's gone. You dig, yes you dig hard and sleep without. Then, by chance, you it run into the solid seam. Once I almost thought I had it. I spend two years digging in a hole on the little vein she ran out. Gold Fouff! She's gone. I had to remine the quarts and make money. Maybe some time I'll go back."

Le Barr's first strike was in the early season to Kirkland Lake. A comparative newcomer to Northern Ontario, his services may be in demand for some mining company "go on his own". If he discovers gold bearing traces, and the mine is set up and operated profitably he will be rich anyhow, owing to the percentage that will be returned to him by the company. Although some prospectors are hired on salary, the majority work on a percentage or a free lancers who go where they please and do what they like.

Found Gold Nugget

Once he found a nugget, it lay in plain sight at the edge of a tiny stream far in the bush country. He picked it up, pocketed it and then pursued the stream for rock each way, but found nothing. There were no other nuggets. With his little pick he toiled and chipped but not a trace appeared. Not so much as a streak rewarded his efforts. Finally, running short of provisions, he returned to the near est settlement, sold the nugget and with the proceeds purchased what he attempted to return to the location. But he could never find it again. It could not be located. An abandoned clinke and a tantalizing promise of gold and more gold to be had is the memory he has of the spot.

Some Day I Find Her

"But some day I find her. She's there. Somehow I know it. There will be day I'll go back," he soliloquizes. "Maybe, by gar, that is the place I'll make a strike. Maybe I'll take dynamite the next time I find it. Maybe I'll blow it to——"

Before gold fever struck the country Le Barr was a lumberman. Born and bred in the youngest child he was generally given the job of chasing the cows. He remembers many a tale, of the white water rivers and log dams rearing to the sky could be tell, it was intimated by him.

He confesses to an age of "very fifty". He chews raw leaf tobacco and smokes a pipe. He abstains from which an odiferous pale cloud issues like a chimney. Since he can't afford to eat in restaurants and smoked and when his pack is made up for the bush, "nothing but one of the chief items on the menu, the man may go hungry, yes, but without tobacco, he is very much more so," he sums up.

Life Interests

If occasion warrants, Le Barr can be a conversationalist. As an experienced woodsman, a 32 special rifle and a hand axe means food and shelter and life in the bush. Without these he's lost. At the present time his life interests are gold. Hell pick these up where he packed them last fall when he came out of the bush. He'll dig where he has filtted down through the frozen overburden where he's hitch hiking back. Part, of the way he walks. Part of the way a friend drives. Some times an easy freight train tempts. But slow stages he'll finally arrive there and commence operations that can be picked up under the tree.

"And if I do strike it rich by gar," he promises "I'll be back and see you, some day, maybe it will happen."

390,000 GALLONS OF GASOLINE UNLOADED

The Windsorite, Imperial Oil tanker discharged a cargo of gasoline at the local docks yesterday and sailed before daybreak this morning. 390,00 gallons of gas was unloaded.

FUGITIVES ARE WANTED HERE

In one of the most sensational jail breaks in Ontario, Alex Cross (top) and Reed Shaw (bottom) made their escape from a new type sheet steel cell at Cobourg, Ontario, as Provincial Officers were being rushed from Montreal to Toronto. Along with two girl companions, the men were arrested in Montreal and charged with having robbed the county of $80,000 in cash and cheques. By bracing their feet against the bars the pair forced out the prisoners 'were able to spring lock on the door. They, it is charged, stole a car and were reported heading for Toronto.

Girl in Possession of Suit Claimed Stolen at Sprague's

More Clothes Stolen From Cleaning Plant Are Recovered

A second large consignment of the clothes stolen from the Sprague Cleaners on Good Friday last, was recovered by Toronto police yesterday and turned over to Mr. Sprague in Toronto last night. The recovered goods included ladies' and gentlemen's suits and overcoats and will be subsequently returned to Belleville and their respective owners.

The loot was discovered cached in a two-room apartment in North Toronto, where it had been stored by a man and two girls, who are the robbers who escaped from the Cobourg jail recently. It is believed by Toronto police and another visitor in possession of one of the girls apprehended in Monterey along with Shaw and Cross, was a ladies' suit taken from the Sprague Cleaners as identified by Mr. Sprague. The suit was found in a suitcase in the possession of one of the girls, both of whom are in custody in Toronto today.

Last week Toronto police found a large consignment, of Mr. Sprague's clothing in a house in Toronto while yesterday's search by Detective Silverthorne and Storms. Toronto police reemed quite optimistic in regard to the recovery of the remainder of the articles stolen from Mr. Sprague's premises. Everything was then last night. It is believed by authorities that none of the wearing apparel stolen locally has been disposed of, but cached in different hide-outs in and around Toronto. To date over fifty percent of the articles stolen from Mr. Sprague's premises on Good Friday, have been recovered.

Byng "Prepared to Sacrifice Himself Even to Death"

Tribute by Col. H. M. Urquhart

Victoria, June 8—(CP)—Sterling tributes to Viscount Byng of Vimy, by Col. H. M. Urquhart of Victoria to the great warrior who led Canadian Corps during the latter years of the world war.

A close personal friend of the staunch fighter, who died yesterday at his little Sussex home in England, Col. Urquhart declared:

"He thought so deeply; he saw so clearly, he was so understanding and he was such a true friend. He was always thinking and caring about his place in national life as Commander of the Canadian Corps, the welfare of his men and also of his subsequent responsibility as Governor-General of Scotland Yard, and justice will be done to his achievements in all of these spheres.

"But it is possible that Canadians will best remember Lord Byng for these pools of national responsibility. For there you will see deep down as the man and the great statesman.

"He, to advance the interests of the country, was prepared to sacrifice himself even unto death. He said, so, and one of the magnificent attributes of the leader, who has passed into history was that what he said, he would do, he, without faltering, performed. This, what might be called the abandon of his character which were brought upon him by his King and Country have endeared him more deeply than the affection of his Canadians."

Obituary

LATE MURRIEL PIGDEN

Eldorado—The funeral of Muriel Pigden, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Pigden of Eldorado, was held from her home on Thursday afternoon at two o'clock to Eldorado United Church where the service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. W. A. Hunter, B.A., of the Presbyterian Church, assisted by Rev. W. G. Fletcher of the United Church, Eldorado. The large concourse of friends showed the esteem in which little Muriel was held.

The Rev. Mr. Hunter chose as his text Second Samuel, 12:23 and spoke comforting words to the bereaved. The two hymns "When He Cometh" and "God Sees the Little Sparrow Fall," were sung and the choir very tenderly rendered an anthem "Gathering Buds."

Left to mourn are the father and mother, three sisters, Helen, Hilda and Thelma and one brother, Everne.

The little white casket was banked with flowers. The flower bearers were seven little school chums, Geraldine Jenuis Turtis; Madeline Bird; Artie Bird; Beaulah Gerow; Jessie Gerow and Hazel Burris. The teacher Miss Ethel Craig and the other pupils of the school, Miss Lillian Gerow, were present, also a former teacher, Miss Freda Sager.

The bearers were Kenneth Martin, Frederick Stevens, Murray Empey, Beryl Bateman, Kilborn Empey and Ivan Bird.

Interment took place in Eldorado Cemetery, Martin & Son of Belleville, funeral directors in charge.

LATE MRS. ANNIE WOOD

The funeral of Mrs. Annie Wood, formerly of Belleville, who passed away on June 5, in the 91st year of her daughter, Mrs. Sherry Mucklewee, Black River, took place from the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street, Friday afternoon and many old friends were present at the funeral service which took place Friday afternoon from his late residence, 24 Bleecker Street. The impressive service was conducted in the home by the Rev. R. E. Newman, pastor of Holloway Street United Church, assisted by the Rev. J. Ryckman of the Methodist ministry conducted the service at the graveside in Belleville cemetery.

The bearers were Messrs. John Wood, Charles Post, John McCarthy, James Dunlop, A. Frederick and Gordon Peterson.

MRS. SARAH E. CALNAN

After a lengthy illness, Mrs. Sarah Emily Calnan, widow of David Calnan, passed away Friday evening at her home in the township of Ameliasburgh, Prince Edward County.

The late Mrs. Calnan was born in Ameliasburg Township 80 years ago, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Burley. All her life was spent in the township where she was born and she was widely known and very highly respected by her friends and acquaintances.

She was a member of the Victoria United Church and when age and health permitted she took an active part in its activities.

Surviving her are one son, Horace Calnan, Ameliasburgh Mississauga township; four daughters, Mrs. Lorne Hagerman, Mrs. Harlow Corrigan Bay district, Mrs. Grant Osborn, Rochester, N.Y.; Mrs. Fred Marsenbacker, Rochester, N.Y.; Mrs. Edward Calnan, Belleville.

JOHN J. HOBSON (Burlington)

Burlington, June 8.—John J. Hobson, 70, town clerk and treasurer, died here. A native of Ireland, he had resided in Canada for 50 years. He was for the many business in Brampton, Whitby and Oshawa and had resided in Burlington for 22 years. Mayor of Brampton in 1921 and 1922, Mr. Hobson had also served as a member of the town council. His widow, three sons, Jack, Burlington; Harold, Mitchell; Burlington; a daughter, Mrs. J. R. Millard, Belleville; a brother and sister, Mrs. Richard Strickland, Mrs. Richard Taisham, Clinton, survive.

MRS. ISABELLA FENN

After an illness of several months' duration Mrs. Isabella Fenn passed away at her residence on Front Road, Mr. Harry Fenn, 136 Dundas street east, and many friends will regret to hear of her death.

The late Mrs. Fenn was the widow of Mr. Fenn, who for many years was a prominent and highly respected resident of Prince Edward. She was in her 77th year and was a daughter of the late parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. James Kerr. All her life was passed in the county and she was loved by many friends she was most highly esteemed for her many splendid qualities of character which she possessed. She was a member of John Street United Church.

Surviving her are two sons, Harry Fenn of this city, and Lee Fenn of North Tonawanda, N.Y., two daughters, Mrs. Edith Fenn passed away nine years ago. One daughter, Mrs. Lee Fenn, Belleville, and one brother, Mr. William Kerr of Seattle, Wash., also survive.

Letter Collections On Standard Time

"Street letter boxes are cleared to standard time," Postmaster J. V. C. Truesdell explained today, "and all letters must be posted before that time.

This will explain why now the midnight mail closes at 12.45 a.m. daylight saving time (11.45 p.m. standard time) and allows an extra hour for sorting in Belleville which is to deposit mail at midnight.

The postal staff observes both times, daylight time to accommodate the citizens, and standard time to accommodate the mails. Mail carriers come to work on daylight saving time, but the afternoon and mail arrives at about 12.30 p.m. standard time, the post office closing which means 1.30 fast time and so the carriers are later in leaving the office. This means that the carriers work on daylight time in the morning and return to standard time in the afternoon, this arrangement giving the people the advantage of early delivery in the morning and return of the mail from the afternoon train. The post office lobby follows standard time.

Gt. Britain Exports Butter to Canada

Ottawa, June 8.—Trade authorities here said they believed Australian or Danish butter was being exported from the United Kingdom to Canada, swelling Canada's imports of that commodity from Britain.

This, they said, was the only explanation they could offer for the record imports of more than 2,000,000 pounds in butter imports from the United Kingdom. The total butter imports from Britain totalled 2,236,648 pounds as compared with 176,464 the year before and 12,000 in 1932.

Kodak
Kodak Finishing
Kodak Service
Kodak Supplies
Kodak Films
Kodak Cameras
Kodak Developing
Kodak Printing
Kodak Enlarging
Kodak Everything
Kodak Belleville

Daily Short Story

Errant Husband

(Copyright 1935 King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

When Jeanne Malloy discovered that her husband was taking more-than-necessary interest in Gertrude Schiller, she looked reflectively in her dresser mirror, absently powdered her nose—and yawned.

The yawn didn't mean that Jeanne didn't care. It merely meant that here was a routine job that would have to be taken up in the course. Every Spring, it seemed, Jim Malloy would suddenly find himself interested in someone outside of Jeanne, and she would—eventually—be right back when the time came for action.

The Spring before it had been a school-teacher. The year before that, it had been a maid. The school-teacher was still around and the maid still worked for Jeanne. But as for permanent attachments, there was none—now.

Jeanne had solved the school-teacher problem easily. She had invited the very attractive young woman to tea, had discovered that the teacher's weakness was a crusading fondness for her work. That learned, Jeanne had thrown the teacher and Jim together as much as possible—and Jim, who couldn't talk about the moon, found himself listening to the teacher's talk about the sons of his neighbors. After a few hours of that, Jim was so bored he would flee from her every time she came within ear-shot.

The maid was more easy to handle. Jeanne merely talked to her about this and that—no mention of Jim at all. Quickly, Jeanne discovered how shallow was the girl's intelligence, and how very depressing was her knowledge of grammar. "Ain't" and "between you and me" dotted her conversation along with "Yours" and a general Greenpaint prosperity.

'Greenpeers'

Saturday afternoon—that was two years before—found Jim at home and reading in the living room.

"Don't disturb Mr. Malloy," Jeanne told the maid, "but give the room a careful dusting."

That done, Jeanne went to the nursery to see how Jim Jr. was getting along—and stayed there an hour and a half. At the end of that time Jim came in.

"Funny about that maid," he said. "She's just about as dumb as they come. And when I tried to tell her to say Greenpoint, she flared up and said everybody knows it's Greenpeert."

And that was that.

Now Gertrude Schiller.

Casually Jeanne weighed her husband. Gert was more of a problem. A widow, young, attractive—pleasingly plump—and a business woman. Jeanne rather feared the type called "men's women." They knew so much about how to please men. However, even though dressmakers paid their art and guiles, Jeanne knew that Gert was bulky—in places.

She looked down at her own trim self. With a half-smile, she nodded. Casually, she went to the telephone and called up a dear friend—with the conversation veering to a beach party for the next afternoon, and an evening of bridge.

She spent an hour telephoning and emerged with four acceptances out of six calls. Then she called Gertrude Schiller, who quickly accepted and the necessary other-man—Jack Fulton—a bachelor. He, used to last-minute invitations, also accepted. Then Jeanne went shopping.

Arriving home early, she waited for Jim, who was a little late. He explained this by saying Gertrude Schiller had been in the neighborhood of his office at closing time and he had driven her home.

"Gert is sweet," said Jeanne.

Jim agreed—too enthusiastically. He realized this in a moment, and added the words "But she's too fat." He said that unbelievingly.

That afternoon the beach party was a social success, but Jeanne quickly saw that her ace was a joker. Gertrude was garbed in a most becoming bathing suit—not too revealing by any means. Not revealing enough — for Jeanne's purpose. Gert had achieved a bathing suit that had allure—and still kept hidden the rolls of flesh that it might have been awkward to show.

Attentions

Jim danced attention upon her, and so did Jack Fulton, the bachelor. Jack, knowing that; he was just "the extra" man, showed attention to Jeanne, too. His attentions appeared mechanical.

When the party returned to the house, Jeanne pondered her forehead. There was no ray of sunshine in her heart.

Came buffet supper and cards.

Jeanne saw that Gertrude and Jim were paired. She had no hope that the day would bring success.

THOU SHALT NOT KILL!

Drive Carefully!

TEX AND HIS PALS (ActualPhotographs)

Copyright, 1935, by Herman Fastman, Dallas, Texas, U.S.A. All Rights Reserved.

By Leslie A. Hill

BRINGING UP FATHER —

By George McManus

TILLIE THE TOILER—

By Russ Westover

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was trying to make his new cigar lighter work and ma said there's one thing as certain as up-and-down spanks, and that is, it's impossible to do anything successfully without cooperation.

"Shall what?" I was just thinking, pop said. If this lighter isn't going to cooperate, I'm just a sucker for exerting my thumb, he said, and then he said, I was referring to my household budget sistem. Dont you think the nayborhood tradesmen should cooperate with me when they know I'm trying to make my accounts ballensis at the end of each week? she said.

Well, ah, in what way for Feet sake? pop said, and ma said, Well, now take the Cash and Carry Market for instance. Their meat is just as good as Mr. Smith's, but they dont run any charge accounts so they can sell their meats considerably cheaper, so last week I took my trade away from Mr. Smith and gave it to the Cash and Carry Markit, sure for my own sake I have to, I admit, she said.

Alas it's a sensible way to go on, pop said, and ma said, Well, this week's budget has happened to be short the exact amount of what I had payed out for meat, so I went around to the Cash and Carry Markit and explained my peculiar predicament to the manager. I explained that nothing was further from my mind than to ask for a charge account. All I wanted him to do, was to cooperate to the extent of returning the money I have payed him this week and adding it on to the price of next week's meat. I told him it would be something for the future of an investment loan on his part, but he said he was sorry to say it sounded to him just like a charge account and nothing else. In other words, he politely but flatly refused to cooperate and it's very discouraging and I believe I'll give up the budget sistem intirely, ma said.

Dont do that, why dont you go side to Wall Street? pop said. I mean I'll write you out a check for the difference on a 99 year non intrist bearing lease, he said, and ma said, William, you're saved the day, my budget, is back on!

Drop in again some time, pop said and got behind his sporting page and stayed there.

URGENT CALL TO ASSIST STEAMER

Message Says Boat Has Broken Tail Shaft

Seattle, June 7 — (AP) — The steamship Cordova last night sent out an urgent call for help from Seymour Narrows in British Columbia waters on the inland route to Alaska, Coast Guard headquarters here said today.

The Guard headquarters said the ship had a broken tail shaft and was leaking but how badly could not be immediately ascertained.

The Coast Guard cutter Redwing wirelessed it was dashing to the aid of the stricken ship.

A few minutes later a message was picked up by the Seattle harbor radio in which the captain reported the pumps were handling the intake of water successfully.

The Salvage King, powerful seagoing tug, was dispatched to the ship's aid from Victoria, B. C., while the U. S. coast guard cutter was rushing to her aid from Port Angeles, Wash.

The Cordova left Seattle Friday with 96 passengers aboard, mostly hearing sailing crews for southeastern Alaska canneries. Many of the passengers were women. The Cordova carried a crew of about 50 officers and men.

DANGER TRAILS—

THE ALARM

By The Famous Explorer Martin Johnson

By Briggs

MR. AND MRS—

TARZAN THE UNTAMED—

(Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service)

C.D.S. 2.30 MONDAY SPECIALS!

Special! Boys' Sweat Shirts

Those the popular side fastening front sweat shirts; well made and of sturdy blue, green or white cotton, with soft napped inside. Sizes 26 to 34. Special, at 2.30 p.m. Each 75c

— Men's Store

Children's and Women's Rayon Panties

Of fine, plain knit rayon with band at knee or for women, wide leg style of fancy knit rayon. Children's in white and pink only, women's in white, pink and tearose. Sizes small, medium and large, and 4, 6, 8 years. Each 19c

— Second floor

Odd Lines Children's Cotton Frocks

Some of voile, many of cotton prints, or plain cotton broadcloths, a big variety in a host of pretty styles and color combinations, for girls 7 to 14 years old in the lot. A few basket-ed sizes or colorses. Clearing each 1.00

— Second floor

Women's Black Canvas

House Shoes

Strap and oxford shoes, with sturdy canvas uppers, leather sole and rubber heels. Ideal for house wear or for camp or cottage. Trimmed with leather in a smart way. Sizes 3 to 8; no half sizes in this lot. Special, pair 89c

— Men's Store, rear

Limited

Kettles

Ivory and green enamelware, with cover. Good serviceable kettles, in a popular style. Diameter of top 9¾". Capacity 5¼ Imperial quarts. Each 89c

— Basement

Ruffled Scrim

Curtains

Ivory or white grounds with colored stitching in blue, green, rose or yellow. Complete with tie backs to match. Width 17-18" by 2 yards long. 2.30 Monday, pair 29c

— Main floor, rear

Lace

Chair Sets

HALF PRICE!

Dainty cotton lace chair sets, of three pieces, for back and arms of chairs and chesterfields, in ecru shade, in a smart design. Half price Monday, at 2.30 p.m., set 5c

— Main floor, right

A limited quantity, probably enough for just one hour's selling! Now printed real silks of fine quality, in polka dots, flowered effects and checked designs, both light and dark foundations from which to choose. It's big value and invites prompt shopping. 2.30 special Monday, yard 69c

38-Inch Printed

Real Silk Dress Crepes

ALBERT COLLEGE STUDENTS TOLD OUTLOOK BRIGHT

(Continued From Page 1)

community and church and Friday evening it was again significant. From the floor of the remarks of the principal and of the Rev. Robert Hall who delivered the convocation address it was clear that both that signs were improving and that the coming year should well for the success of the college in numbers and studies. Proceedings opened with music by Prof. Sam Anglin, the processional and invocation by Principal Atherton and Rev. Edward N. Baker, M.A., D.D. Students entered into the ordination of the proceedings.

Principal Howard read the results of the year's work:—

Certificates of Standing ph Calhalda Course:—

Junior School

Matriculation to Form I.—Kenneth Campbell.

Lower School

(Numbers represent papers passed)

M. Atkinson (5); R. Bone (7); Ruth Gill (5); Jos. Clarke (5); J. Grier (1); T. Hall (5); J. Hodder (5); D. Lewis (4); A. Macdonald (3); Mary Mallory (5); A. Mowbray (5); J. Sylvester (5); C. Taylor (7).

Albert College Conservatory of Music

Diplomas and Certificates awarded by the Toronto Conservatory of Music, Examinations held July, 1934, and February, 1935.

Piano

Associateship (A.T.C.M.) (Solo Performer's)—Laurene Scott (Honours).

Teacher's Diploma—Mabel Hill.

Intermediate—Aura V. Weaver (Honours); Cecil Clarke.

Intermediate School—Fay Buzzard (Honours).

Junior—Adelaide Powers (Honours); Katherine Hogle.

Preparatory—Beth Galley (Honours).

Elementary — Anita Cavanagh (Honours); Doris Horton (Honours); Jean Sharpe (Honours).

Introductory—Betty Belcher.

Singing

Associateship (Solo Performer's) Laurene Arkill (Honours).

Intermediate—Edna M. Ketcheson.

Associateship Piano (Written)—Mabel Hill (Honours).

Grade V. Counterpoint and History—Laurene Scott (First Class Honours); Margaret Bulley.

Grade V. Counterpoint—Alice I. Mutley.

Grade III. History—Reta Clarke.

Grade I. Rudiments—Beth Galley (First Class Honours); Doris Horton (First Class Honours); Katherine Hogle (Honours).

Diplomas and Certificates in Expression awarded by the Canadian College of Music:—

L.L.C.M.—Gold Medal — Nellie J. Maraska (First Class Honours).

A.C.O.M.—Laurene M. Smith (First Class Honours).

Advanced Intermediate — Mary Lockhart (First Class Honours).

Intermediate—Helen J. Gunn (First Class Honours); Heather Dodds (First Class Honours); Isabel Sharpe (First Class Honours).

Elementary—Reana Hall (First Class Honours).

Prizes, Medals and Scholarships

1. In Collegiate Course—

Rev. M.C.D. Kerr, Prize in Public Speaking: 1st, Harry Atkinson, 2nd, Joe Clarke.

Improvement Prizes—(Miss Tuble). Senior—Laurene M. Smith, A.C.O.M.; Gordon Cook, School —Hellson Bone.

2. In Academic—

Senior Standing in Theory of Teaching, Piano—Mabel Hill, A.T.C.M. (Prize given by Prof. Hunt).

Grade I. Theory Prize—Doris Horton, Beth Galley.

Junior Piano Prize — Adelaide Powers.

3. In Athletics:

Track and Field Day—Gerald Mutton; Athletic Bars (a)—Basket Ball—J. Hodder, A. MacDonald, Gerald Mutton. (b) Tennis—F. Lake, A. Morris. (c) Soft-Ball—L. Clarke, R. McGee, F. Lake. (d) Track—G. Mutton, H. McNeish.

Religious Knowledge

Diplomas in religious knowledge—F. Lake, Reana Hall, John MacDonald, Aubrey MacDonald, Leonard Sylvester, Gerald Huff, James Grier, Jean Clarke, William Lane, Harry Atkinson, Jos. Clarke, Clifford Mutton, Elmer Mutton, Gerald Mutton.

The presentations were made by Taylor Franklin, G. F. Ego, Sam Anglin, Principal Howard, Dr. T. J. McQuilkin, H. W. Alford, R. J. Simpson, Miss Jessie B. Tuite, H. W. Ackerman and Miss Handley.

Rev. Robert Hall in the address to the alumni, referred to the growing support of Albert College in Belleville and to the work of the women's guild. "A new confidence and optimism pervades the halls, a dynamic sense," he remarked. "The barometer is rising. We hope the improvement of affairs of the college means we are on the verge of better times. But we of the Board do agree that in the coming of Rev. Bert Howard a new era has begun for Albert College, a man of insight and experience".

New Era

Mr. Hall launched into his subject which dealt with the part of the church and collegiate in building for the new era wherein there will be considerable leisure, which God intended, he said, that the all-round development might result.

"We first thought that the stress years would pass and leave things largely as they were but now we see that whatever emerges must be a reorientation of society. The term of the burden of bringing in that day must necessarily rest largely upon the young.

"The road that beckons you from these doors is a hard stoney road and you must be well shod if you will go to the end. Today the tragedy of education is that a high school certificate or even a college education carries no guarantee of gainful employment.

"We learn that one sixth of the population is being carried along on aid. And there is every likelihood that this deplorable situation of unemployment will continue for some time."

Shorter Week

The thirty hour week is not outside the bounds of possibility said the speaker. This would create new problems, among them the question, "What will youth do with the new leisure. Sport with an occasional show or party will do, but it cannot be said to contemplate nothing but an endless round of pleasures, instead of an attempt to solve the problem of leisure, Mr. Hall remarked. He pointed out, however, that mankind always had leisure, in the Middle Ages, there were many days for the saints, and today there are growing numbers of holy days and longer week-ends. But in the Middle Ages the Church supervised and guided leisure and that is a matter to which the people should give serious thought, Mr. Hall believed.

"Teaching people how to live and grow in spare time is the duty of the church," he said. No man should be satisfied to earn a living merely, but he should desire to live out his life as the good Lord planned.

Whole New Development

"The business of earning a living must be subordinated to something of the place of the kitchen in the modern home," Mr. Hall said. "There is such a thing as redemption of man from toil. God has given man science to relieve him from certain toil and to provide him with the freedom for which he was intended. The aim of education is to develop the whole man. That is what a college stands for.

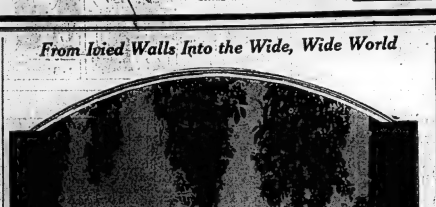
"Do not regard dramatics, glee club, debating society as mere frills," Mr. Hall advised.

Saving The Old

"The business of education is not to teach you to become a mechanical cog, not only to earn money but to open the windows of your mind and heart, to become the beautiful and helpful creature God intended."

He urged the students not to think that all was being swept away by the depression. "The really great things in life do not change. I want you to keep in mind some of the old things which must be retained and woven into the new fabric. The things for which your principal and your teachers stand are the fruit."

Ringing Tree



Rev. Mr. Hall closed by reciting the Parable of the man who built his house upon a rock and pointed to him as the only type which will endure. He lauds the students God-speed. "I want to wish you every success. If you keep a firm hold on the principles which are a part of Albert College tradition, you will ring true."

Principal Howard in his closing words of convocation declared his wholehearted appreciation of the work of the faculty-to every member of which he would give medals if he could, for their devotion to duty, which was unparalleled and for the work carried out this year. He said that they not only were "the second mile" in teaching but a good many more miles in consecration and service. "Boys, as the years come and go," he said to the students, you will feel many a hard struggle, and yet some phases of the personality of the members of the faculty will reqir and again and again to you to inspire you". Mr. Howard praised the loyalty which the members of the board had shown to the school. The ladies of the guild he declared had done an outstanding piece of work, giving a new hope and inspiration. Others had loyally given indirect contribution to college life.

Principal's Last Words

"To the students his last words were:—"I would just beg of you to play the game of life as hard and in as Christlike a way as you can until the whistle blows and success will be yours. We do know that that is ahead, but as we go through life, we will find it very fine gift. May God in His Spirit guide and inspire you as you go to meet the adventure of life".

Benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Dr. Baker, the principal emeritus.

Sidney Twp. Council

The June session of Sidney Council was held at Wallbridge on the 4th inst.

The minutes of the May meeting also of a special one held May 23rd were read and adopted. Mr. S. Ketcheson and the road superintendent were appointed a committee to investigate a grievance over a ditch between the 4th and 5th concessions between Mr. Ellis and Mr. Cole.

The oiling of the road around the Lake Shore Golf Links was given the sanction of the Council. The Clerk was instructed to write Messrs. Ferguson and Simmons regarding the registration of the deed to the Township gravel pit at Glen Ross recently purchased by the township.

Ketcheson and Bush—That the action of the Reeve in making settlement with the C.N.R. re gravel pit be approved. Carried.

Nicolson and Danford—That the Reeve be authorized to ascertain the conditions under which accounts will power to make settlement of the Township's accounts.

Danford and Nicolson—That the tender of W. Geo. Ratton $1.00 per hour for supplying power to run the crusher be accepted.—Carried.

Ketcheson and Bush—That the following accounts be paid:—

Ontario Intelligencer $6.84; James Train Sec. M. B. Mason $11.00; Ford and Turley $6.89, J. B. Harkar $4.00; Dominion Stores $22.44; Mrs. E. Hawkins $3.00; Mrs. Paro $30.00; W. Orr $5.00; E. A. Hall $10.00; Revenue Tax $1.40; C. W. Scott $22.65; B. C. Hinchliffe $7.50; Harry Allen $2.42, R. Hall $1.30; D. L. Moore $30.30; Provincial Treasurer $3.00; F. J. Woods $40.73, D. A. Thrasher $28.00.—Carried.

At the afternoon session the Court of Revision was opened.

The first appeal was that of Miss Cummings re property at Glen Ross. This appeal was held in abeyance for further information and legal advice. The appeal of the C.P.R. on Ile Ice house in Sidney was granted the same being non-assessable according to statutes.

The Court instructed the clerk to make transfer of property assessed to Thos. Cranston to Mr. Geo. McMullen.

In the appeals of L. Taylor, R. Hogle, Mrs. Mott, Miss Hannah and N. Wannamaker the Court ordered that no action be taken but in the two latter appeals adjustment of assessment on dogs was ordered.

Exemption on woodland was granted to K. Bush, M. Sine and C. Finnegan.

The following had their appeals sustained in whole or in part, C. Brohm, W. Calvert, R. Whittemore, J. J. Knight, Janet Chard, L. Boulden, R. Hannah and the Lee Malory.

Mr. F. J. Wood and the clerk were appointed a committee to adjust the C.N.R. appeal but no action was taken on the assessment of the Company's telegraph lines.

The Court was adjourned to meet Friday, July 5th, at 7.30 o'clock p.m. standard time.

W. S. Nobes, clerk.

Gang of Killers Electrocuted in Boston Prison

(By A. Leo Taffe)

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Boston, June 7 (AP).—New England's most ruthless gang of killers, Public Enemy Number One gun trio, paid for their various killings early today in the electric chair at State prison.

Murton Millen, 25, his brother, Edward, 23, and their college graduate pal, Abraham Faber died without a word in the prison death house here at 12:09 a.m. after midnight for their brief but bloody career or crime. They were sentenced to die in a hurried trial in which Policeman Forbes McLeod, former resident of Belleville, Ont., N.S. during a $14,500 robbery and holdup of the Fall River Savings Company February 2, 1934.

While they died, Murton's 20-year-old bride, Norma, remained alone in her cell in Dedham Jail, where she awaits the birth of their child in September as an accessory. Now a widow, the pretty daughter of a former minister, may be freed immediately. She was ordered confined by Judge Nelson Brown "until such time as her husband's testimony no longer was a matter of public interest".

Only hours before he died, Murton made a will, leaving his all to Norma. Then he and his country home and her country friends to whom he left a light gesture of one hand, he addressed the prison guard.

"I salute my brother, Murton".

All three were unshaven for the final chapter of a career that changed them from powerfully built men of the underworld to pale, stooped beings who crept to the chair.

Murton and Faber went to their gloom without a word, living, whose unexpected request during his trial and during his confinement evoked considerable comment, stopped before the chair to speak.

Rabbi Nosker in a slight gesture of one hand, he addressed the prison guard.

"I salute my brother, Murton".

All three were unshaven for the final chapter of a career that changed them from powerfully built men of the underworld to pale, stooped beings who crept to the chair.

Murton and Faber went to their gloom without a word, living, whose unexpected request during his trial and during his confinement evoked considerable comment, stopped before the chair to speak.

Rabbi Moses L. Sedar, who gave spiritual comfort to the three men since they were placed in death cells, preceded them to the chair. As he walked he intoned the 23rd Psalm.

Faber, in keeping with Jewish custom, sat to the chair with the prison hat on his head. The hat was removed as the electrodes were applied, and, as he died, it hung on its back of the chair. The others were bareheaded.

Rabbi Sedar said the three men parted with a final handshake. Stiffs before their trial, the Millens shunned Faber, believing it was largely through him that they were apprehended.

GO TO CHURCH

BRIDGE STREET UNITED CHURCH

Rev. J. Semple, B.A., S.T.B., Ph.D., Minister
V. F. Hunt, A.A.G.O., Organist and Choir Leader

11.00 a.m.—HOLY COMMUNION.
7.00 p.m.—Tenth Anniversary Church Union. Special Preacher:
Very Rev'd. James Endicott, D.D., L.L.D. (Former Moderator)
Augmented Choir of 60 Voices will lead Singing
All United Churches of City will participate in this unique Service
Public Cordially Invited

TABERNACLE UNITED CHURCH

Rev. L. B. Naylor, Minister

Sunday School at 10 a.m.
11.00 a.m.—HOLY COMMUNION.
7.00 p.m.—United Service in Bridge St. United Church.
Mrs. J. F. Bradley, choir leader. Mrs. M. F. Duff, organist

HOLLOWAY STREET UNITED CHURCH

Minister: Rev. R. E. Newman - Music: Clifford Templar A.T.C.M.
11.00 a.m.—Tenth Anniversary of the United Church in Canada will be Hungry observed. School will hold their annual promotion exercises.
7.00 p.m.—Worshipping unitedly in Bridge St. Church.

JOHN STREET UNITED CHURCH

Minister: Music: Miss Lenza Riggs
Robert Hall, B.A., B.D. Mrs. Alex Gordon
11.00 a.m.—THE SACRAMENT OF THE LORD'S SUPPER
7.00 p.m.—10th. Anniversary Service in Bridge St. Church.
Preacher: Very Rev'd. James Endicott, D.D., LL.D.

ST. ANDREW'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Rev. W. J. Walker, B.A., B.D., Minister
67TH. ANNIVERSARY OF PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN CANADA
11.00 a.m.—HOLY COMMUNION.
12.00 p.m.—Church School and Bible Class.
7.00 p.m.—PRESBYTERIAN UNITY SUNDAY. JUNE 10TH—JUNE 17TH
Organist and Choir Leader
Ernest Wheatley, Mus. Bac., F. Gld. C. M.

VICTORIA AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. ALEXANDER GRANT SINCLAIR, Minister
10.00 a.m.—Sunday School.
11.00 a.m.—MORNING WORSHIP.
7 p.m.—Subject: "DANIEL IN DIFFICULTY."
Monday, 8 p.m. B.Y.P.U. Prayer Service

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY

E.L.O.D.F. Temple, 37115 Front Street
Service will be held at 11.00 a.m.; Sunday School 11.00 a.m.
Subject—"GOD THE ONLY CAUSE AND CREATOR."
Wednesday evening second Wednesday of each month at 8 p.m. which includes testimonies of healing through Christian Science
You are cordially invited to attend these services.

REGULAR BAPTIST CHURCH

(Masonic Building)
Pastor: J. Scott
7.30 p.m.
'PROCRASTINATION'
Everybody Welcome

ALLIANCE

The White Sisters Church
Moira St. West.
11 a.m. and 7 p.m.
Sunday School 9.45 a.m.
This church stands for Live Christianity, full Gospel Teaching and Happy Congregational Fellowship

CHURCH OF ENGLAND

WHITSUNDAY

CHURCH OF ST. THOMAS — CHRIST CHURCH

Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne, Vicar Rev. G. G. Wright, L. Th., Rector.
8 a.m. Holy Communion; 10 a.m. 8.00 a.m. Holy Communion; 9.45, Sunday School; 11 a.m. Sunday School; 11 a.m. Matins; mumion (choral); 7 p.m. Evensong. 7 p.m. Evensong.

EVANGEL TEMPLE

REVIVAL SERVICES—3 Great MEETINGS SUNDAY
3.00 to 3.00 a.m.—PRAYER SERVICE.
11.00 a.m.—"If You Not Disobedient to the Heavenly Vision."
7.30 p.m.—"God's Boundary Lines. Does a God of Love Send Men to Hell?"
Evangelist A. Cawston, Speaker.

ATHLETE'S FOOT

Clothes, socks and bath mat should be kept clean to prevent Athlete's Foot. All else will soon be useless. Kill the germs, healing of the feet and toes will follow. Applied after each bath Dr. Chase's Ointment softens in the feet and relieves the itching almost at once. Use freely.

Dr. Chase's OINTMENT

FREE for RHEUMATISM

CROFTON'S RHEUMATIC CAPSULES (C.R.C.) for free from the pain and sickness of Rheumatism, Neuritis, Lumbago, Sciatica and Gout, and, generally, relief and cure in 48 hours. Send for free sample to-day. Price 75 C.R.C. in pure water, 75 cents. Sold by druggists everywhere. Or from The C.R.C. Co. (Dept. 1), 1 Fleet Street, London, E.C.4. In Belleville at Dr. Chase's Drug Store.

WEATHER
Fair and warmer. Thunderstorms in west portion tonight. Tuesday—Moderate to fresh winds; partly cloudy and somewhat cooler with scattered thunderstorms.

The Ontario Intelligencer

TEMPERATURES
Today 71 48
Year ago 77 57

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, MONDAY, JUNE 10, 1935

PASSING RANSOM MONEY LEADS TO TWO ARRESTS

NEWS BRIEFS AND ODDITIES

Ottawa, N.Y., June 10 (CP)—There may be a big black bear full of gymnastic bending around in the Pennsylvania woods, but over the New York State line, today, The bear, plus flea workers believe, gorged itself on 15 gallons of fishheads stored in a wooden box for construction work before surging for "home."

Kingston, South Africa, June 10 (CP)—"Old Penguin," 107, oldest man in the Cape Providence, has been run over by a car and is in the Fraser Hospital.

"I refuse to die and now they attempt to kill me by running me over with a car," he said.

New York, June 10 (CP)—At a cost of 65 cents postage charges, the Jeubber diamond arrived Sunday on the floor President Rosevelt's desk. The 726-carat gem, largest uncut diamond in the world, is insured for $1,000,000 and it was transported from England in an ordinary registered mail sack. All the shippers could get in postal insurance was $9.00. The stone was purchased by Harry Winston.

New York, June 10 (CP)—By living through the hazards of their first year, the Dionne quintuplets overcame risks equivalent in these early years to those in 41 years of life, Metropolitan Life Insurance Company statisticians have computed. They estimated any one of the quintuplets had a life expectancy now of 63 years. As a group, however, the expectancy was only 60 years.

London, June 10 (CP)—Black and red make —white! A jet-black cheese, owned by Mrs. Jos. Ferguson of Haverdock Hill, London, was mated with a reddish-brown bull of the Devon breed.

The result: a litter of six cheese puppies, all mouse white.

Ottawa, June 10 (CP)—Ice-breaking operations have been delayed since they set out more than 48 hours ago, Freeman Thompson, 29, and A. Ferguson, 30, employed Halifax shipbuilders, were rescued last night on Bird Rock Point aboard a 34-foot motor boat.

Winnipeg, June 10 (CP)—Suggestion that the Canadian Royal be taken from its resting place in the basement at Thrupp, England, and placed under the monument Canada is erecting on Vimy Ridge was made by Rev. Canon C. Carruthers when conducting a memorial service in Viscount Byng.

Winnipeg, June 10 (CP)—A toothbrush removed from the stomach, 12-year-old Olga Schenkers is in hospital today recovering without ill effects.

Olga swallowed the toothbrush a week ago while she was cleaning her teeth but she didn't mention it. When she showed signs of being ill, her mother took her and after much questioning Olga told how she swallowed the tooth brush.

Calgary, June 1 (CP)—British Columbia's rodeo marchers have been offered a chance to show their "on-to-Ottawa" march. The Calgary Exhibition board offered them $300 to stay away from there. Despite the offer, a spokesman said a stop would be called at Medicine hat. "We want to publicize ourselves," he said.

LUMBER SHIP AT MERCY OF SURF

Grounded on Reef From Which Few Boast Escape

San Francisco, June 10 (AP)—Grounded on a reef off Point Arena, from which no ship has ever escaped, the little lumber schooner Hoyo and her crew of 20 were at the mercy of a pounding surf today.

While two coast guard cutters raced to the Hoyo's aid and a surf boat load of guardsmen searched through the fog for her, the radio operator on the Hoyo sent out a second ship was in distress nearby. Radioed position was found to exactly locate or identify her.

The Hoyo was in a serious condition, leaking in several places and her cargo shifted under the steady beating of the surf which many men were sure would eventually beat her to pieces.

The crew was ready to abandon ship wherever the command came.

The coast guard cutter Cahokia was expected alongside about 7 a.m. (1 a.m. E.D.T.) while the cutter Shawnee was expected to reach the rocky point an hour or so later.

RUNS BERSERK ATTACKS WIFE AND DAUGHTER

Girl Has Skull Cleaved With a Meat Cleaver

MOTHER COLLAPSES

Husband Wounds Self and Arrested For Attempted Murder

East Windsor, Ont., June 10 (CP) —Three members of an East Windsor Polish family were in Metropolitan General Hospital today, the daughter hovering between life and death with a serious skull fracture among other injuries, the mother suffering major head wounds and the father recovering from a self-inflicted leg injury and under arrest for attempted murder.

The girl, buxom 20-year-old Josephone Peculia, had her skull almost cleaved in two, suffered the loss of four fingers, received face lacerations and a stab wound over the heart, during the course of a domestic quarrel which took out in the basement of their two-story frame home here yesterday. She is not expected to recover.

Mrs. Annie Peculia, her mother, has five scalp wounds but her condition is not considered serious.

The husband and father, Joe Peculia, middle-aged factory worker, was arrested in a vacant field a few short blocks from his home several hours after the carnage occurred. In a confession, so police say, he is said to have admitted attacking his wife and daughter with a huge meat-cleaver.

Man Overpowered

When the officers closed in on the 200-pound Peculia, he is said to have opened a vein in his leg with an ice-pick and to have jabbed a pocket-knife into his chest. It took three officers to overpower him before he was taken to the hospital suffering from the loss of blood.

According to the story given to police, the daughter was three apart from her parents was driven to a week-end visit. Peculia, said to have been drinking, is alleged to have started quarreling with his wife and daughter upon his return home.

Later the three descended to a basement in the office of the home and it was there Peculia is said to have gone berserk, after rendering his daughter unconscious with a couple of blows of the knife he threw from the factory-hacked body into a small coal-bin, where police found it. The daughter he had also attacked his wife, chased her into the yard and when warned off by neighbors, fled into the house where Mrs. Peculia staggered across the kitchen floor, bleeding badly, and turned to the cellar, locked the door, built a cupboard and then left the scene.

The girl is believed to have lost a finger when she put up her hands across her face to ward off the blows of her father. Four others of them $300 to stay away from there. Despite the offer, a spokesman said a stop would be called at Medicine hat. "We want to publicize ourselves," he said.

WEATHER

Toronto, June 10.—Showers and thunderstorms have occurred in Northwestern Ontario and it has become unsettled in the St. Lawrence Valleys, though in other districts the weather has been fair. It has been moderately warm in Alberta eastward to the Maritimes.

Lake Superior—Moderate to fresh shifting winds; unsettled with occasional showers and probably local thunderstorms.

Kenora and Rainy River—North, west to west winds; clearing with stationary or a little lower temperature.

Western Provinces—Mostly fair with much the same temperature.

"Punch and Judy Show Ridiculous" Cries Il Duce

Sauzari, Sardinia, June 10 (AP)—Premier Mussolini today described the opinions of the rest of the world regarding Italy's position as "a ridiculous Punch and Judy show which will be burned by Fascist ardor."

He spoke from the balcony of the Prefecture to a square thronged to overcome any obstacles."

Expressing his pleasure at "the military appearance of Sassari on his first visit in twelve years, Il Duce warned: "We still have many things to do. These things will be accomplished, however, because the Fascist will is a will of iron,—ready

Kidnap Suspects Taken $15,000 Ransom Money Found in Abandoned Car

Man And Wife Held as Woman Tries to Pass Bill

HUNT FOR CHIEF

Wide Spread Search For William Mahan, Ex-Convict

By JOHN L. WHEELER

Copyright 1935,
By The Associated Press

Salt Lake City, June 10.—(AP)—Agents of the United States Government were hot on the trail of one suspect in the George Weyerhaeuser kidnapping case today, while two others were in custody of agents here.

The West's greatest manhunt broke wide open last night, when J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Department of Justice, announced at Washington, D.C., that Harmon W. Waley, 34-year old ex-convict, and his 18-year old wife had been arrested here and had confessed participation in the $200,000 kidnapping of the young Tacoma Wash., lumber fortune heir.

A wide-spread search for William Mahan, alias an ex-convict was centered at Butte, Mont., where he fled yesterday deserting a motor car in which $15,135 of the ransom money, Mahan was recognized Monday by Weyerhaeuser's chief bodyguard, Hugh Emerson, a city detective, but the suspect escaped in the mountains.

Mahan was captured by a posse headed by his pursuit by a bulldog.

Son of Foreman

Members of Mrs. Waley's family disclosed today that Waley was the son of a foreman in one of the Weyerhaeuser lumber mills in the Pacific northwest.

Mrs. Waley, who was taken into custody, when she allegedly attempted to pass a five-dollar bill, which was identified as part of the ransom money, in the daughter of George Thulin, member of an old Salt Lake City family.

Relatives said she "had never been in trouble before" and that she married Waley about a year ago against the wishes of her family. They left for Tacoma shortly after the wedding.

Two Salt Lake City policemen were arrested with the suspects in the kidnapper hunt since the release of the 32-year-old lumber heir near Tacoma a week ago Saturday morning. They were Lt. Ed Rogers, secretary and Patrolman L. B. Gifford.

Following the discovery here Friday night of 30 ransom bills of various denominations in the records of the Walker Bank and Trust Company, detectives were placed in the institution's vaults. The police, Federal officers and the bank officials were then told what system was passing the bills would attempt to change them in low-priced stores.

Tried to Pass Bill

At 11 o'clock Saturday morning a blond woman who "had on a house dress such as any housewife might wear," offered a $5 bill in payment for a small purchase to a clerk who called the cash girl, who took the currency to the cashier, where it was hurriedly checked and found to agree with a ransom number.

Waley was then arrested by Rogers and Gifford and taken to the Federal building, where after questioning, she was reported to have confessed, telling officers where they might find Waley.

Waley was picked up at a house, where the couple had been living. He also was reported by the Department of Justice to have confessed implicating Mahan.

Hoover described the 32-year-old suspect as "one of the greatest of the case."

He was described as five feet, 10 3-8 inches tall; 156 1-2 pounds in weight, regular build, black hair, brown eyes and medium light complexion.

He was reported to have at least four aliases—William Mann, William Mahan, Delward, William Morton Hawk and William Disard.

Both Waley and Mahan were recorded by Ira J. Taylor, Warden of the Idaho State Penitentiary, as former inmates of that institution.

"Their records show they were already hardened criminals when they came to this institution," he said.

Fine Piece of Work

"A damned fine piece of work," was the way J. P. Weyerhaeuser, Jr., father of the kidnap victim, described the arrests here. He refused to permit a statement from the boy when he was interviewed at his home in Tacoma last night.

"I'm just a part of the big American public in this case," Weyerhaeuser said. "Apparently, by the papers, it was a damned fine piece of work. And that's about the conclusions of "fine" great!"

The announcement as to when the Waleys would be taken to Washington was made Joseph Chen, Utah Attorney General, said the two could not be prosecuted in Utah on any charges, but added extradition papers would have to be filed before their removal. Utah has no statute of limitations in a 20-cent cigarette case which led to the arrest of Mrs. Waley, Sophie Morley, 24, and Harold Samuel, 19, attractive clerks in the Utah Power and Light Co. Waley was picked up, disclosed the dime store clicks.

The woman, hatless, and in a housedress, calmly passed the $5 bill to Miss Morley in payment for the case. With hardly a glance at the bill, Miss Morley passed the money to Miss Samuel who took it to the cashier where it was identified. A few minutes later the customer was in the hands of officers.

Demand Death Penalty

Tacoma, Wash., June 10 (AP) — "The law says death and it is death we will demand."

That was the statement and promise of Prosecuting Attorney Harry H. Johnston of Pierce County today after he received word two of the alleged kidnappers of 32-year-old George Weyerhaeuser had been apprehended in Salt Lake City.

He declared the "snatchers" probably would be brought to trial in Tacoma because the death penalty would be demanded of all the principals regardless of sex.

Falls Off Truck, Wheels Break Thigh

Bancroft, June. — Mr. Harold Solmes, a truck driver for Mr. Fraser White of Hazelton's Mills, had the misfortune to fall off his truck while recently and broke his thigh in two places, the wheels of the truck passing over his body. He was rushed by the Red Cross Hospital where his fractures were reduced by Dr. Lamb.

Mr. Solmes had a narrow escape from being crushed to death beneath the truck which he was operating. Considering the nature of his injuries he is making satisfactory progress towards recovery.

MDIVANI INTEREST

Maharanee of Cooch-Behar (ABOVE), widow of the late maharajah and mother of the heir to the throne, is the newest object of attentions of Alex Mdivani, "ex" of Princess Barbara. Inset: Mdivani with, it is reported from Paris, As might be expected, she's the richest woman in India.

ASSEMBLY TOLD CHURCH SUFFERS UNDER INDIGNITY

Names Accompanied by Asterisk in The Presbyterian Church

MATTER HELD OVER

Church Votes Aid For Struggling Churches in Europe

Montreal, June 10 (CP)—Committee was made before the sixty-first Presbyterian general assembly today the church suffered "indignity" at meetings of the western section of the Pan-Presbyterian Alliance because an asterisk alongside the church's name in record books not complied with a footnote indicating the list was in dispute.

Referred to by Rev. Dr. A. J. MacGillivray of Guelph in a report to the congress, the matter was gone into by Rev. Frank Baird of Picton, N.S., who urged the assembly to take action to remove the "indignity" it had suffered since church union.

Title Question

He believed a recent supreme court decision cleared up the title question but James Dutton of Peterborough urged caution and the matter was held over for consideration.

Dr. MacGillivray complained an asterisk appeared alongside the name Presbyterian Church in Canada in the Alliance records, indicating the name was in dispute.

"We ought to take some steps to remove indignity from the name we have suffered for eight years in the Pan-Presbyterian Alliance," said Rev. Frank Baird of Picton, N.S.

Dr. MacGillivray pointed out that the United Church representative in the alliance move the asterisk alongside the name of the Presbyterian Church in Canada is the reason.

"We go down there under a cloud," he said.

A representative of the United Church at Boston in 1929 said "these men are rebels against the law of their own church." Dr. Baird declared.

Name in Dispute?

Those statements influenced the committee to agree and Presbyterians protested in vain. They got the matter referred to the assembly and put in the name of the Presbyterian Church.

In 1926 they were told they would not be seated as they came with the name in dispute, but when the church protested, Dr. Baird recalled.

The matter was given official publication which, carried a list of Presbyterian Churches in the world, with the name of the one in Canada is in dispute.

A decision handed by Supreme Court of Canada he believed the assembly should have recognized that the United Church in Canada and ask removal of the "indignity" because of the decision of the supreme court.

Renewal in 1937.

If this were done, the last possible cause of friction would be removed when the alliance meets in Montreal in 1937, the committee said.

Dr. Nelson suggested the matter be referred to the committee on correspondence with other churches.

Urging the motion, James Dutton of Peterborough, while not wanting to minimize the supreme court decision felt it had not settled the name.

"That judgment has not altered the United Church of Canada at all," he said, and urged if any approach was made it be not done through the United Church of Canada.

The assembly failed to decide upon a place for next meeting and it had written invitations from Toronto, Hamilton and Knox Church, Hamilton, but some commissioners said Mosab Church was too small.

European Aid

In the report of the committee on correspondence with other churches Rev. Dr. A. S. Nelson of Hamilton recommended the usual annual contribution of $260 to European relief.

Explaining the recommendation he said there was a whole area in Europe where Presbyterian churches have been ruined and also the war through changing of International boundaries and efforts to force the people under one faith.

"I move the recommendation very earnestly," said Dr. Nelson and it was carried. "They are much like the conversations changing to the faith of their fathers and being persecuted for it," he said.

Reference to Italy had been increased through conversion to Protestantism of 1,000 Waldensians and 7,000 Roman Catholics, Rev. Dr. A. J. MacGillivray said in the report of the western section of the Pan-Presbyterian Alliance.

WHERE FERRIES REPLACE TAXIS

This striking picture, looking east on Poynis Ave., shows how main thoroughfare, at Manhattan, Kansas, appeared after the surge of the Kaw river's floodwaters had inundated it with sections of the Manhattan, site of Kansas State College, in the topographical centre of the United States.

DUNGANNON MAN FATALLY HURT

Percy Claude Bowers, 29, of Detlor Crushed by Wheel.

Bancroft, June 10.—Percy Claude Bowers, aged 29, a resident of Dungannon township, employed as a teamster at Conlin's Mill near Detlor, met with a fatal accident shortly after commencing work one morning last week. Driving a team which apparently became frightened, the driver was thrown off a load of slabs on the wagon, the wheels of which passed over his body, fracturing his spine which punctured a lung causing an internal hemorrage. Fellow workmen left with the victim immediately following the accident for medical attention in this village, but he died on the road before arriving here.

An inquest was opened by Dr. Lumb and a jury empanelled who viewed the body. Dr. Anderson was called to conduct an autopsy. The inquest was adjourned to the call of the coroner.

The funeral took place from the home of the young man's parents, near Detlor to Sand Creek Cemetery.

BOY KILLED BY RUNAWAY HORSE

Dragged Half a Mile Over Gravel Road Near Home

PORT HOPE, June 10.—(Special) —Dragged half a mile over a gravelled sideroad with the reins of a runaway horse entangled about his body, Stewart Gordon, aged 8, sustained severe injuries near his father's farm at Bewdley, ten miles north of here, Saturday morning which resulted in death a few minutes later.

Dr. F. W. Diamond, Port Hope Coroner, was called, and no inquest will be held. The remains were taken to MacArthur's funeral parlors at Cobourg.

The young lad, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Gordon, was playing with his younger brother, Ross, aged 6, behind the barn. The latter placed the reins around the boy's waist when suddenly the horse bolted. The father saw the youngster being dragged out the driveway, but was unable to catch the fleeing animal.

Sentry Killed by Lightning As Storms Sweep Britain

London, June 10 (CP Cable)—Britain's Whitsuntide public holidays were ushered in today by storms that swept the southern half of the country.

Reginald Mason, 18, Royal Marine sentry on duty at the Jubilee Gate of the Marine Barracks at Deal, had been at his post only a few minutes before lightning struck the sentry box, splinterized it into matchwood and killed Mason outright.

The sentry box, which was shattered by flooded out. Folkestone and Ramsgate suffered almost as severely. Holiday camps were submerged in less than 20 minutes.

LEADER OF U.F.A. TO GIVE EVIDENCE IN MACPHAIL CASE

Statement Made by Inspector Dawson at Probe

WOMAN INTERMEDIARY

Gardiner to Tell What Woman Said Over Telephone

Ottawa, June 10—(CP)— Robert Gardiner, leader of the United Farmers of Alberta in the House of Commons, will be called to give evidence today in the enquiry conducted by Judge E. J. Daly into complaints by Miss Agnes Macphail, member for South East Grey, that Inspector Dawson employed abusive language about her in conversation with ex-convict A. G. Hall in Kingston Penitentiary. The alleged abusive leader's summons has resulted from a statement made by Dawson in the witness box today.

Just before the luncheon adjournment, the Inspector again went into the box to make a statement. This was refused and he had said a mutual acquaintance, a woman who never took Miss Macphail's side in the parliament buildings scrap, had told him that Hall

City and District News

MRS. E. KETCHESON IS POST MASTER

Mrs. Earl Ketcheson has been appointed Post Master at Prinkford, the position formerly held by her husband, the late Earl Ketcheson.

MR. HARRY PONTON IS INSPECTOR

Mr. H. W. Ponton, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. Ponton, K.C., has been appointed fruit and vegetable inspector for Western Ontario by the Ontario Department of Agriculture, succeeding F. L. Gates.

QUICK THINKING AVERTS BLAZE

The quick thinking and action of James Truesich of this city averted what might have developed into a severe case of fire, when he extinguish a Front street blaze with his bare hands late last night. Jim Truesich was proceeding along Front street when he observed smoke issuing from the canvas awning in front of 302 Cook's cigar store. Upon further investigation by the young man it was discovered that the awning was afire. Truesich tore down one of the building and clutching an iron railing with one hand tackled the fire with the other, striking severe burns on his bare hand and wrists in so doing. Police were notified of the incident and are led to believe that some careless smoker had tossed a lighted cigarette in the closed awning while passing. Doubtlessly young Truesich prompt actions averted what might have been a serious fire. Jim is nursing his hand today, the results of his fire-fighting career.

It Pays to Shop at the Rexall Store.

SPECIAL VALUES in Toiletries and Patents

BALANCE OF THE WEEK SEE BILLS AT YOUR DOOR

McKeown's Drug Store

Increase Your Ice Cream Sales by Serving "Neilson's Ice Cream" "The Trade Supplied Us" CITIZEN'S DAIRY Phone 336

AR-E-V-S-I

INSURANCE Before placing your insurance, SEE BATEMAN and DOCTER 15 Victoria Ave. Fire Automobile Casualty

INFANTRY SCHOOL TO OPERATE HERE

The annual camp of the infantry school will be held from July the 8th to August 3rd at Barrisfield, this year Intelligencer has been informed this morning. This school gives a special training to officers of the militia of the infantry. The officers who wish to raise their rank have to undergo a period of training under the jurisdiction of chosen senior officers, who will act as teachers.

FITTING "ORIOLE" AT GOVT. DOCK

The Oriole the trim sailing schooner that has been resting snugly up at the dockyard for years of the government dock during the winter months is being overhauled and fitted out for her summer sailing. The Oriole is owned by Mr. Goodeham of Toronto, who does a great deal of cruising around the Bay and Great Lakes during the summer.

COUNTY COUNCIL MEETS TUESDAY

The June session of Hastings county council will convene in the Belleville Hall in this city tomorrow afternoon at the usual hour, standard time. All sessions will be conducted on standard time. This is the most important session to be held since the passing of the estimates and the equalization of assessment for the minor municipalities. Warden James Bronson, Reeve of Hoye Township, will be the presiding officer.

PRESENTED WITH VETERAN'S JEWEL

At the last meeting of The Belleville Lodge No. 125, V. W. Bro Arthur Mollard, the retiring Master, Past Grand Master with the Veteran's Jewel for long and faithful service. Bro. P. C. MacLaurin delivered a fine address on the honourable subject of "Light"—light, brilliancy and light subjective,— which delighted his hearers.

"Treasure Hunt" Provides Enjoyment

The annual Y.M.C.A. "Treasure Hunt", for the teen age members of the association, was held on Saturday morning with a large turn-out in both the junior and Prep groups. Dick Burns was the honour in the "Prep" class and was awarded a fine flashlight while Albert Hitchen won the junior hunt and was given a new ball and bat. Following the hunt the boys enjoyed a hour's fun and frivolity in the "Y" pool. Chocolate bars were distributed among those not fortunate enough to be winners. The course taken by the junior group for their "treasure hunt" was to the four out-lying corners of the city, while the "Preps" were sent to the four local public schools, Cannifton, R. E. Short and Instructor Ralph Morden were in charge of the morning's activities, all of which were thoroughly enjoyed.

EDUCATIONIST DIES

LONDON, June 10.—(CP Cable)—Sir Robert Blair, famous educationist, died today at the age of seventy-six.

Sir Robert for twenty years was education officer of the London County Council.

FOUR SENTENCED IN POLICE COURT

Police Expect Innumerable Thefts Will Cease by Action

Five local youths were sentenced to jail terms in today's local police court by Magistrate R. J. Butler, K.C., after pleading guilty to innumerable charges of breaking, entering and theft at local public school court. Sentences ranging anywhere from one month in the common gaol to three months determinate sentence in the Ontario Reformatory were passed out by His Worship. Six youths appeared before the court, one being found not guilty.

Samuel Way, 16, was given three months definite and a further indeterminate sentence of not more than six months on all of four different charges, the sentences to run concurrently.

Previous to the passing of the sentence Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K.Q.C., remarked to the Magistrate: "I think you should take the time for suspended sentences in those cases of breaking and entering in this city has passed", in reply His Worship commented: "I am not intruding by adding that you are perfectly right, these cases have become a menace and we must stop this sort of thing, even if the court has to revert to the most drastic measures."

Thomas Graves, 17, was given three months definite and a further one six months indeterminate after pleading guilty to two charges of breaking, entering and theft. Merrett Woods received the same sentence, he facing two charges, while Clifford Dool, who pleaded guilty to charges against him, received the same dose. Due to the youth of Harold Smith, had no previous record he was given one month in the county jail, Child Kidd pointing out to the court that Smith he thought was not connected with the "big" charge of theft against Bertram Mountney was cautioned by His Worship was of the opinion, that Mountney did not have any knowledge of the robbery until after he had been successfully engineered by others.

Four of the cases were investigated by Provincial Constables Caulfield during a previous court proceedings when all except Mountney pleaded guilty. Constables Caulfield and Arnott apprehended Way and Graves as they were eating pop and Irwin's bolting works recently, and arrested them.

FASHION SHOW HELD AT PICTON

Armouries Scene of Large Gathering For Event

Picton, June 10—At the armouries on Thursday afternoon, June 6th, a very large gathering assembled for Summer Fashion Show brought to Picton by the Canadian Department Store and displayed under the direction of Miss C. D.

Mrs. Gerald Allison, Regent, I.O.D.E. and several members, received the tickets for the door prizes as the ladies entered. On the stage was a bed, bassinette, cot and window frames hung with curtains, decorative curtains, drapes, Mr. J. Carrad, of the C.D.S. gave several well received piano numbers before the opening of the show.

The models for the afternoon were Mrs. George Hepburn, Misses Eleanor Van Dusen, Beulah Hicks, Muriel Jackson, Gertrude Bowerman, Margaret and Mary Wright and Master Jimmy Clapp.

The lucky door tickets were then drawn by Master James Clapp. The winners were 1 Mrs. Arnold Adams, Picton, a Wabasso bed set.

2 Mrs. Ernie Thrip, Picton, R.R. No. 6 a Wabasso bed set.

3 Lamp donated by the Hydro—Mrs. Fred Ward, Picton.

4 Lamp donated by Adams and Van Dusen—Mrs. J. B. Rose, Picton.

Rev. Fr. J. A. Meehan who sailed on June 14th on a visit to Ireland was presented with a steamer rug at the closing meeting of the C. W. L. League on Wednesday evening, at the home of Mrs. Rod Rundle, Main Street. Over forty members were present, and a very pleasant social time was spent. The hostess served delicious refreshments at the close of the programme, which consisted of educational papers given by Misses Bernice Slavin, Grace Goodwin and A. B. Peder.

Yeast's Drug Store has added an up-to-date tea room, and evening, that adds much to the attractiveness of the store.

On Thursday evening June 13th, the Teachers' Institute and the executive of the Home and School Club are honoring Miss Mary Dowling with a banquet at the Globe hotel. Miss Dunkley is retiring after many years of successful teaching.

Mr. George Hamilton of Brantford, was the guest for several days early in the week of his sister Mrs. Chocolate Kidd and Mr. Kidd, Bridge Street.

The Picton Public Utilities sponsored a two-day cooking school on Thursday and Friday afternoon in the Parish House. Mrs. R. McLean of Moffat's Limited conducted most interesting electric cooking demonstrations.

YOUNG DUKE TO WED

London, June 10.—(CP Cable)—The engagement was announced today of the Duke of Roxburghe, 21, to Lady Cynthia Mildred, daughter of the Marquess of Crewe.

FOLLOW CHRIST IS ADMONITION

60th Anniversary United Presbyterians is Celebrated

Willing to follow Christ the first mile but every man to his own house and Christ to the Mount of Olives as the second mile was the theme of sermon delivered by the Rev. W. J. Walker in St. Andrews Presbyterian Church on Sunday in commemoration of the 60th Anniversary of the United Presbyterian Church in Canada. On Sunday evening the minister traced the history of Presbyterianism in Canada and showed the reasons for the coming of the four branches of the church in 1875. At the morning service the Communion was administered, of the Minister, assisted by the elders of the church, officiating. The choir under the direction of Professor Wheatley rendered most appropriate music at each service. There were large congregations present especially at the Communion service.

Taking his text from the last verse of the seventh Chapter of St. John and the first verse of the eighth chapter, which Rev. Mr. Walker explained should have been joined, stated that the words "And every man went unto his own house. Jesus went unto the Mount of Olives" was completely out of one day. He told the story of Christ failing his enemies yet they expected Him and cited the story of Napoleon, who won over the guards that were sent to capture him by her his escape from St. Hba. "We cannot," the speaker explained, "ask Jesus as a human or divinity but there is a comparison in personality," said the Minister. "Every man is admired because he is the Son of God and his teachings are read and discussed and we have adopted the principles in them but we are not yet ready to accept in a practical way for each to travelling on his own path."

Many Excuses Offered

Rev. Mr. Walker stated there were lots of excuses offered, for up to this generation it was established the "King can do no wrong" and cited Henry VIII and George III as examples but in this generation examples of how democratic one and Parliament makes the law yet the world is hovering on the edge of war, espionage is rampant and armaments are increasing at an alarming rate. In this age we still have an admiration for Christ yet all are failing Him to travel to the Mount of Olives and we are travelling every man to his own way," stated the Minister.

The speaker spoke against expensive funerals, raffling, gambling to raise money for charitable purposes and Service Clubs holding lotteries on cars for suffering humanity, while a direct appeal would not go over with the populace, he believing there was something wrong with the conscience. Rev. Mr. Walker also claimed that individuals were taking advantage of the relief stating they had not followed Jesus very far.

It was also claimed that religious conceptions had materially changed from the days of Christ that time the church was a meeting place for all and the people enjoyed and read yet today the churches are nearly empty and although the Bible is the best seller of the books, it is not read. The tie between Christ and this world has been broken although we know Christ exists but where are we to find Him" asked the speaker. He asked the congregation to not only follow Christ in their private but to go the whole journey if they wished for everlasting life.

On Our First Anniversary JUNE 11th. We are Serving a Special Full Course CHICKEN DINNER for 50c and wish at this time to express our appreciation of your patronage during the past year.

New Service Lunch 164 Front St. Phone 1334

NOTICE To The Public

Re Sprague Cleaners

The sale on Thursday at our plant is for only part of our equipment, and will not interfere with the operation of our business, or its continuance. Also note, such sale does not interfere with your orders going through our plant whatever.

The return of stolen goods in part sale is assuring, and we hope soon to make complete settlement. A night watchman is at our plant now, employed for your protection.

We solicit your co-operation and we thank the many standing by us in our recent difficulty.

JOHN PRIDMORE, Manager Pro Tem.

Congregations Mark Union, Hear More Unions to Come

Very Rev. Dr. James Endicott Tells of World Problem

TIME'S VERDICT

"It is my profound conviction that nothing that has happened in Canadian ecclesiastical history is more sure of ample vindication than the movement which established and the union of our three churches," stated Very Rev. Dr. James Endicott, former moderator of the United Church, preaching at the tenth anniversary union service in Bridge Street United Church on Sunday evening, four Belleville congregations, those of the Tabernacle, John Street, Bridge Street and the former Methodist Church, joining for the ceremonies. Sixty singers from the massed choirs, all of the four churches, and sang "The Heavens Declare" by Beethoven, Miss L. Riggs and Messrs. James D. Sanzier and Fred W. Sprague taking the bris and parts. With the ex-moderator who was the guest preacher was Rev. Robert Hall, who opened the service, the Rev. T. R. Taylor, Rev. E. J. Bowman, and Rev. Dr. James Semple, taking part in the service.

Communion Held

The service was the second of the services of this day to celebrate the advent of union. In the morning in the former Methodist congregation communion was consecrated, large numbers of communicants taking part in the sacrament. At Bridge Street Church for the first time a memorial service was held during which the sacramental bread was used in the feeding of the faith in the memory of the late Mrs. Samuel Sanley, a former member of the congregation, from four grandchildren Gertrude, Allan, Fred and Lorne Sanley.

At the union service on Sunday evening Rev. Dr. Endicott, recalled the prayers of approach, Mr. Hall and Rev. Mr. Bowman responding alternately the lines of the canticle "Arise, shine for thy light is come". Rev. R. E. Newman of Holloway Street Church read the Scripture Lesson, Rev. T. R. Taylor the second and recited the litany of the Church. Dr. Semple welcomed Dr. Endicott.

Obituary

LATE BENJAMIN R. QUINCEY (Contributed)

There passed away at 81 Munroe street on Wednesday, June 5, 1935, one of Belleville's most highly respected citizens, one of the most devoted members of Bridge Street United Church who was one of God's noblemen indeed.

Mr. Benjamin Quincey was born at 55 Dundas street, Nov. 22, 1853, and spent all of his 86 years in the city of his birth.

It is hardly was that of the baker, but of late years he was unable, because of failing health, to pursue a work so arduous.

His wife, who before marriage was Miss Belvia Ann Merriam, presided over their very happy home until called to her eternal reward about four years ago. Of this union Mrs. Rowsly and Mrs. Gibson reside in Belleville, Mrs. Brown and Harry Quincey in Los Angeles, California. Mrs. Elliott died many years ago.

Early in life Mr. Quincey was converted to God in the old Methodist street Methodist church and continued until his life's close to adorn the doctrines of Christ his Saviour by a well ordered Christian life.

Being a man of strong friend to his pastor, fully believing that God had called him to minister to mankind in holy things. He served as class leader in the church for forty years and those who were favored with membership in this class have precious memories of his faithful attendance, Bible truth, and his zeal for their spiritual upbuilding.

The funeral of this good man was held from his late home on Friday at 2 p.m.

The service was conducted by his devoted pastor, Rev. R. E. Newman who had been untiring in his efforts to bring comfort to the dying saint.

Mrs. Gordon Hall rendered two very appropriate solos and Rev. J. D. Pickard spoke briefly from the words, "I Have Kept the Faith", Timothy 2:7-8.

It was indeed a solemn procession that moved toward Belleville's very beautiful cemetery where all that was mortal of this good man was laid to rest "mid the flowers and the flowers until the resurrection morning.

The many friends who had accompanied the remains to their last resting place turned homeward again fully convinced that Mr. Quincey is not dead.

That his words and deeds survive, That the holy life that for years he led,

Shall his memory keep alive.

CHARLES ALBERT HULLEY

After a lengthy illness Charles Albert Hulley passed away in the Belleville General Hospital Sunday afternoon and to many citizens his death has brought deep feelings of sorrow.

The late Mr. Hulley was born in Cobourg 69 years ago, his parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. John Hulley. At an early age he came to Belleville and had resided here for over fifty years, being at all times held in the highest esteem by a large circle of friends and many acquaintances. He was a man of fine character and friendly disposition, and in the performance of his duties for twenty seven years in charge of the Masonic Building, he was efficient and popular with all officials and members of the Masonic Order. Fraternally the late Mr. Hulley was a life member of the following: Hastings Lodge No. 11, A. F. & A. M., The Belleville Lodge No. 125, A. F. & A. M.; Ontario Lodge No. 283, A. F. & A. M.; Moira Chapter, R. A. M., No. 7; Quinte Chapter, R. A. M., No. 227; King Baldwin Preceptory, No. 6, Knights templer. He was a member of Oxford Lodge No. 17, Sons of England. In religion he was a member of Bridge Street United Church.

Left to mourn his passing are his wife, formerly Miss Cecil Young, and one brother, Mr. Frederick Hulley of Belleville.

LATE MRS. JANE A. FRENCH

The funeral of Mrs. Jane Ann French, widow of William French, took place Sunday afternoon from her late residence, 120 Bunbaan street. Priends assembled in the house at 2 p.m. for the service which was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Semple, pastor of Bridge Street United Church. At the close of the service the funeral procession proceeded to the Belleville Cemetery where interment was made, the service at the graveside being conducted by the Rev. E. W. Rowland of the United Church at Stirling.

The bearers were Charles Pitchett, William J. Pitchett, Carmen Pitchett, Mark Embery, Stanley Shaw and John Foote. The first five mentioned were nephews of the late Mrs. French.

MRS. CHARLOTTE HILL

(Deseronto)

Mrs. Charlotte Hill of Deseronto passed away in the Belleville General Hospital on Thursday morning. She had been a patient in the institution since June 1st.

LATE MRS. BRIDGET FLEMING (Sioco)

The funeral of Mrs. Bridget Fleming, widow of Peter Fleming, took place from the family residence in Sioco on Saturday morning to St. Edmund's Church where Requiem Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father Walter Healey of Napanee, a nephew of the late Mrs. Fleming. The address was made by the Rev. Father D. A. Chisholm, the parish priest of St. Edmund's who conducted also the committal service at the graveside in St. Edmund's cemetery.

The bearers were Messrs. Patrick Fleming, Thomas Fleming, Leo Fleming, Peter Fleming, John Fleming, all nephews of the late Mrs. Fleming, as grandson Bernard Fleming.

The funeral was very largely attended.

LATE MRS. EMMA ROSE

The funeral of Mrs. Emma Rose, widow of Charles Rose, took place Saturday afternoon, from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Ida Bleecker, West Donald Street (Thurlow Township). The service in the home and at the graveside in Belleville Cemetery was conducted by the Rev. F. C. Reid of Stirling.

The bearers were Cpl. W. G. Ketcheson, Daniel Ketcheson, Daniel Ketcheson, Benjamin Mayhew, David Boyce and Harry Boyce.

LATE MRS. SARAH E. CALNAN

Sunday afternoon the funeral of Mrs. Sarah Emily Calnan, widow of David Calnan, took place from her late residence in the 2nd concession of Ameliasburg to the Victoria United Church and many friends were present to pay their last tribute of respect. An impressive service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Hilliard, who conducted also the service at the graveside in Albury Cemetery.

The bearers were L. Drummond, O. Gibson, F. Maisenbacher, F. Hickerson, A. Calnan and G. Reid.

Eaton Groceteria

Specials for Tuesday, Wednesday Morning and Thursday

EATON'S Family Blend Tea lb. 37c

WONDERFUL Laundry Soap 10 bars 29c

SUNGLO Creamery Butter 2 lbs. 45c

Eaton's Green Seal Brand Mayonnaise Salad Dressing 8½ oz. jar 17c

BLUE BRAND BEEF Choice Sirloin Steak lb. 23c

Sliced or in the Piece FRESHKILLED Back Bacon lb. 29c

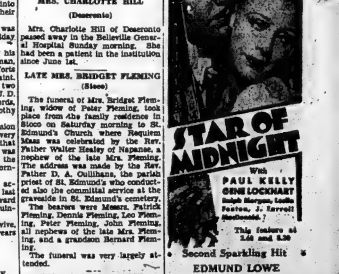
PINEAPPLES Good Size 2 for 29c

FIRM RIPE BANANAS 3 lbs. 21c

PHONE 900—Orders of $1.00 or more Selected and Delivered Without Extra Charge

WEDNESDAY HALF HOLIDAY Store Closed at 13 noon Wednesday—Please Shop Early!

Bird's Free Beach OAK HILL LAKE



NOW OPEN

Churches, Clubs, Family Picnics, etc., will find ample accommodation—Electric Lighted and Covered Tables Free. NO COVER CHARGE. Everybody welcome—Up-to-date tea room.

CABINS TO RENT BY DAY OR WEEK.

"SEQUOIA" "Royal Cavalcade"

Starts TOMORROW

STAR OF MIDNIGHT

With PAUL KELLY ONE LOCKHART Ward Bond Helen Vinson Forbes, J. Farrell Macdonald

This feature at 2.56 and 8.36

Second Sparkling Hit

EDMUND LOWE CLARIE TREVOR in the laugh-packed comedy drama 'Black Sheep'

This feature at 1.56; 7.01; 9.50

Plus: LATEST NEWS FLASHES

BELLE

LIGHTNING STRIKES TWICE

Ruth Chatterton Ian Hunter Lyon Thelma Todd Pert Kelton Laurel Hardy Crews "Skeets" Gallagher Chick Chandler Walter Catlett

"DU BARRY" FEA TURETTES

Bermuda As It Is

Article No. 2.

By G. M. JAMES
Travelling Representative of
THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

Bermuda is in the same latitude as the Mediterranean and Northern Africa, and farther south than Los Angeles, California. The Bermudas now is around eighty degrees with cool breezes and frequent showers.

VEGETATION AND SOIL.

The vegetation and soil here is very similar to that of Southern Florida, only a small fraction of the soil is suitable for cultivation and then only in scattered, irregular patches of from one-half to five acres. Ten acres of cultivated soil here by one person is considered an unusually large farm. The soil is a dark, dark red clay and is said to be extremely fertile. Three crops a year are grown consisting chiefly of two crops of potatoes, one crop of corn, melons, tomatoes, cucumbers, beans or other well known vegetables. At present we find some farmers preparing the ground for melons which will be ready for the market in September. Lots of ripe corn, tomatoes and strawberries are seen everywhere we go besides other common vegetables.

In a small building on the water front capable of accommodating about a half a dozen trucks, the farmers' produce is sold. Each kind of vegetables are sold as well as eggs, tomatoes, strawberries and bananas. The bananas are more than half the size of those grown here but otherwise satisfactory. Groves of twenty to thirty banana trees are cultivated all over the Islands; they never reach a height of ten feet much to our surprise and the fruit is not grown in bunches as in other conditions.

Strawberries are twenty-five cents a box, which is about the same rate as ours. The Bermuda can not compare as a fruit favorably with our own Ontario berries nor with those imported from the Southern States. Small says of new grown thirty-five cents a dozen, and potatoes twenty-five cents for six pounds. The above gives a good idea of current prices here for home grown products. So much facts bear out our previous contention that the cost of living here even for the poorest is considerably more very high? Eggs are never less than fifty cents a dozen and go at times over a dollar a dozen.

Nearly a hundred years ago England abolished the obnoxious Corn Laws, which imposed taxes on imported food. England after much trial and tribulation discovered that it was a mistake to tax imported food and thus make even home grown food dearer when it was impossible to produce nearly enough food at home. Bermuda is to-day in a similar position as England was nearly a century ago but its government has learned nothing from history, and taxes the unfortunate consumer from fifteen to the same of ten per cent. of invoice values with the result that home grown produce is correspondingly dear.

The best known trade in the cultivated soil here are met by generous applications of horse manure, which is too abundant for comfort, and the free use of commercial fertilizers.

But most of the land here is rocky, hilly and covered with native cedars which remind us of those of Northern Ontario. Interspersed among the cedars are many oleanders, (low covered with pink or white flowers) and some other large trees whose leaves resemble those of the rubber plant. The Bay Islands are literally everywhere; they are also called such a setting, afford a never ending panorama which defies description. Then the open white coral roads run everywhere but never straight nor on the level. Every home garden is surrounded by stone (coral) walls or hedges of flowering shrubs so common in England and each abode has a neatly painted name on the front gate such as "Dingle Bungalow" or "Mount Claire Hall" according to grandeur or lordly proportions. This delightful custom is also decidedly English. The hedges usually consist of the Hybiscus shrub so common in Florida and now in full bloom here with huge red flowers. Very often our own well known morning glory with bright blue flowers twine up and through the hedges and the hedges and neighboring trees with a very beautiful effect. Then the gardens are filled of all kinds of flowers, both native, such as our phlox, snapdragon, nasturtium, sweet-pea and many others well known in Belleville as well as some that we do not know, of poisonous, a blaze of gorgeous colours. These are sights well worth coming to Bermuda to see. Tables in all homes are constantly loaded with huge bouquets of fragrant blooms.

BIRDS.

Bird life in Bermuda is not plentiful apart from the bold bad English sparrows which are introduced a century ago and which have prospered greatly. There are no sea-gulls and no pelicans so common everywhere in the south. We have seen only two beautiful birds like our cat-bird and called by that name here. But the best singer is a small bird closely resembling our yellow warbler; its song rivals that of our best songsters. There are many birds which are not found here but are common to the mocking birds of Florida but as we have not heard them sing we are not sure of its quality.

Bermuda was created a paradise but man has imported pests of which the chief is the rat, to say old white residents. To combat the locust, fly and mosquito, which are not found here, man imported reptile toads, lizards half a foot long and poisonous frogs. Every night at sundown until midnight the air is filled with the sound of these frogs every tree, and rock so loud and so continuous that at first you cannot sleep. The chorus reminds us of the bull frogs and crickets all trying to be heard at once only the calls are much shorter and louder but disinfishing in intensity with distance. This is one phenomenon that is impressed on every visitor. Then there is the mosquito and the fly and the usual itchy swelling, but no one has affirmed that they were imported like the sparrows, rats, frogs and lizards. We have been told by old people fear that some fool will sooner or later introduced them. Monkeys were introduced some time ago but they proved such a nuisance to the garden growers that they were soon exterminated. Now the people say foreboding, "What next?"

SOURCES OF WEALTH.

Every country has a few sources of wealth but none that can write down such as long list as Bermuda with such limited area. The chief products of the soil, mines, forests and fresh waters. Compare the resources and possibilities of Canada and those that follow and then make up your mind whether you were lucky to be born a Canadian.

The chief sources of wealth in Bermuda are as follows:

1. The production of onions and potatoes, the first of which go to Canada and the United States.

2. The growing of flowers especially Easter lilies.

3. The money derived from tea per cent. of all imports according to their value.

4. A real estate tax of seven and a half shillings on every hundred pounds of assessment, which amounts to less than four cents on the dollar a tax that would bring great joy to property owners in Belleville. Next to the tourist trade, real estate is the most important here. Every industrious man is put forth to encourage the buying and building of homes just as it is in Florida with this difference that in the chief centres in Florida especially in Miami the laws are very severe. We have seen many beautiful homes here built by English and American people.

5. A five per person on leaving Bermuda for any reason or for any length of time pays a fee of three dollars.

7. Scenery and climate are the greatest assets of Bermuda and beyond the shadow of a doubt the most valuable to the land. The writer believes that these features are so overdone that few visitors will ever return and that in time Bermuda will become very poor and helpless.

THE OCEAN WAVES.

We enjoy going by rail or cab to various points of interest and then eating our lunch in picnic fashion by the beautiful blue ocean. Nothing is so delightful in all our experiences. It is restful and the scenery is always inspiring. Those who come to Bermuda are advised to follow this practice.

ANCIENT COUNTRY CONDITIONS.

Everything in Bermuda is old fashioned and ancient. The stores are all of the type you will find in a small country village with the dignity and pomposity that is ludicrous. They let you know that they are the salt of the earth and that nothing better is possible. Their goods and prices are a joke.

LIQUOR.

One sees in every four in Hamilton, Bermuda, sells all kinds of liquor including all kinds made in Canada but the price is simply atrocious. The straight whiskey of a few thimblefuls is thirty-five cents. As far as liquor is concerned there is no limit here and a reasonable amount should be quenched in Belleville, Toronto or Montreal to avoid financial complications. Everything in Bermuda is dear but liquor is the limit.

Much to our surprise there are very few stately palms growing here. We think the massed cedars in the open spaces give a much more picturesque effect.

Hamilton has two daily papers which serve the whole island. Single papers cost six cents each and the advertising rates are about four times those charged in Belleville. The news is both local and general but much condensed.

Canned goods bearing well known Ontario labels may be seen in almost every grocery store window. We believe there is a good market here for Ontario beans, cheese and butter, all of which must be imported. The Colonial Secretary, Hamilton, Bermuda, would give the necessary information.

"Honey catches more flies than vinegar." This is the sentiment in Bermuda judging from our daily contact with its people of all ages and classes. They speak to you as you pass and wave a general recognition across the street as if you had been born among them. It helps business because you forget to be lonesome and stay longer.

The stores close at five except on Saturday when they close at eight. All goods are priced in English currency but are sold also for the other money values in American or Canadian money. Only a few of the stores here can compare at all favorably with those of Belleville; the rest are just poor. The country stores with plenty of flies, conceit and inquisitiveness. There are excellent possibilities for studying human nature all over Bermuda, in stores and homes and on the street.

"Now, Harriet, you like to go home with us to Canada and live with us, Harriet?" we inquired one day of the darkie maid who waits on us here. "I have never thought of it; I must ask my mother," was the original in simple darkie style.

"It is cold up there some times; would you mind having your cans and nose frozen?"

"O Lordie, Mr. James! I needs my nose and ears; I just could not do without them."

Harriet's eyes opened wide and rolled up and down showing their full size and colour and the same time expressive of the fact that she could never be happy in Canada. She seemed to think that freezing was the same thing as amputation.

The leaders of Bermuda are at present planning the establishment of an air base here in order to have frequent and regular connections with New York especially for mail. As most of the tourist trade here is from the United States, it is believed that air liners would prove highly beneficial, and convenient.

We are told that there is no unemployment in Bermuda and that all who want work can get it. Of course there are always a few who do not like to work and this is made necessary by each their daily bread. Such people are to be found in every country.

The following are the chief occupations here:

1. Fishing by both white and colored people. Many make a good living in this way.

2. Servants in hotels and homes, chiefly darkies.

3. Growing vegetables, both white and colored people.

4. Building.

5. Driving cabs, carts and wagons, nearly all colored people.

6. Store clerks, nearly all white people.

Several of the largest hotels here are closed until next December when the regular tourist season opens again.

The police are a fine looking staff of men, dressed in dark grey uniforms with large white hats so common in India. They can give you information about almost everything like a London Bobby.

We have met two people here well known in Belleville:

1. Dr. Boland, chief book steward of The Ryerson Press, Toronto, Ont. Mr. Boland is touring the West Indies.

2. Mrs. Randolph Tucker, formerly Miss Ethel Clark of Moira street. Mrs. Tucker is spending the winter in Bermuda here for health.

It is a great pleasure to meet such kind friends so far away from home as we have met in Belleville, Hamilton and other points of Belleville. We spent a very happy afternoon and evening at their home of colonial style, one of the finest residences we have beautiful in Bermuda. Cedars are large and fine in keeping with such a lovely home. Mr. and Mrs. Gritis reside just outside Hamilton city limits amid great open spaces where the air is pure and the view unsurpassed. Belleville is very proud of its delightful suburbs! We have seen few such adorable homes here or anywhere.

We feel that the people of Belleville and district should be ashamed that Mr. and Mrs. Gritis are very popular here and that Mr. Gritis is a highly successful real estate agent here. Belleville is always pleased to hear its boys and girls who have gone away and proved to be such a splendid success.

TRADE BERMUDA.

In a former letter we mentioned the fact that the negro was increasing in Bermuda at the rate of five hundred per year and that it was the problem of the near future. We would add that the white population that it could not subsist. Only one-tenth of the island can ever be brought under cultivation, the remainder is rock, hill and swamp. Surplus Bermuda darkies cannot be dumped into any other part of the British Empire and other countries do not want them.

Many plans are being discussed here as a remedy for existing conditions. One of these suggests that England trade these island to the United States for naval bases as it did Newfoundland to Canada. As we already fourteen million darkies on his hands, he has a big country close at hand capable of taking care of millions more.

FASHION NOTES.

Everyone wears linen and white clothing here. The stranger sometimes wears something that is fashionable at home but otherwise unknown here.

Best wishes to all.

Weekly Crop Report

Winnipeg, June 8—Weather has been cloudy and cool during latter part of last week with some heavy rains. All grains are doing well. Plants are healthy and well rooted, but warmer weather is necessary to force growth. Some frost is reported in various districts damaging garden stuff but no damage reported to grain crops. Cutworms are commencing to hatch out in some districts of Manitoba and Saskatchewan. No crop moving. Farmers are preparing for the season's poisoning campaign, according to the weekly crop report of the agricultural department, Canadian National Railways.

In Manitoba heavy rains have fallen during the week and crops and grain are "growing rapidly. The Portage-Brandon division reports conditions the best in years, with heavy rains and warm temperatures in the Dauphin district and early sown wheat has a stand of three to four inches. Some fields are ready for hoe inches. No damage reported from any cause.

Prospects in the Regina division of Saskatchewan are as present very promising. Some heavy winds have caused soil drifting on light land but rains have settled it and is in excellent condition and with warm weather growth will be very rapid. Pastures are good.

Weather has continued cool in the Saskatoon division, practically all grain is now up but is fairly short even in growth. Where grasshoppers are reported control measures are well in hand. Conditions generally are much better than for some years. No damage reported from drifting or other causes.

Grains are progressing favorably over the Prince Albert division. Weather continued cool and unsettled with frequent heavy rains prevailing. Growth has been slow but all grains are doing well. Wheat averages about 10 to eight inches high and coarse grains are beginning to show above ground. Moisture is plentiful. Scattered points report frost doing light damage but no damage to grain has been reported anywhere.

Growth Slow in Places

The Calgary division of Alberta shows a generally satisfactory crop outlook. Moisture is believed to be the best interests of the Board to hold the meeting at Belleville next week.

Whether the Board will fill the dates for the Belleville Agricultural Society for a grant of $25.00 to be paid from the 1935 fall fair, and a grant of $10.00 for the same purpose for the Stirling Fall Fair both year will be decided at the next meeting on Saturday, June 15th, when both societies requesting the grant were read by secretary of the Board, W. J. Stothers.

In support of the grant, Mr. C. M. Sine, Stirling, in a personal letter to the Board stated that the necessity for it "We need it, and we believe this district if it were used as prize money," stated Mr. Sine.

Both were immediately moved by R. McCreary, that both grants be given and seconded by W. Gibson. "These country fairs are a credit to our country and we should do everything possible to encourage them. I believe it is in the best interests of the Board to make these small grants and I for one am heartily in favor of going with the motion. I was visiting for one of the societies recently and was pleased with the location, but I shall be glad to do so," commented Mr. Catrom.

Opposition Voiced

Opposition to the grant was voiced by Mr. W. McLaren, Shannonville, "We have fairs at Shannonville and elsewhere through that district, too, but we don't get any grants to carry them on. I oppose this grant and will move an amendment to the motion that no action be taken on them," he added.

Mr. McCreary: "I don't think there can be any comparison between the Shannonville and Belleville fairs. That of Belleville and Stirling, and I'm not saying this in a disparaging manner. People have the idea, that cheese is falling into the discard around here. We should continue as we have done in the past. The cheese industry we all know is demoralized. This is no time to back water, it would be just an admission on our part. The cheese industry was through, and was falling into decay. We don't want to give the idea or impression, that the industry is through. I am heartily in favor of these grants."

It was pointed out by Secretary Mallory, that grant or not, cheese exhibits at the local fairs would be just as good as ever.

"I took special notice of the cheese exhibits at the Stirling Fair last year, and I can say, that the exhibits were just as good as the years before. The exhibits at the Belleville Fair were even better. These are indisputable facts. Yet we are going to cut out the grant."

An amendment to the amendment was moved by Jas. S. Cook, that a grant of $10 each be given the Belleville and Stirling fairs. The amendment was seconded by Mr. Morton, who favored the idea of the grant being put up as prizes, which is the best cheese exhibit.

"Perhaps we're not just ready for this matter. Suppose we lay it on the table for a week in order to give the members time to think it over," suggested Mr. McCreary.

Mr. Cook's amendment to the amendment to the motion," reminded Secretary Mallory.

"No, just table it," suggested Mr. McCreary.

On the motion of Mr. McCreary and seconded by Mr. Montgomery the matter was tabled for a week.

A reminder, that sellers of cheese should inform Inspector Robt. Goody at the government dock warehouse, when cheese comes in for inspection by James Irwin, grader at that place was given by secretary Mallory.

Grants to Fairs By Cheese Board Laid Over Week

Members of the Belleville Cheese Board will meet promptly at 11.00 o'clock Daylight Saving Time (in the city) and will consider the matter of grants to fairs, about the customary delay and awaiting for members to arrive in the boat in the early forenoon of members at the Saturday meeting. Although it was the general opinion that the meeting should be advanced to 11.00 o'clock Daylight Saving Time, it is believed in

Whether the Board will fill the dates for the Belleville Agricultural Society for a grant of $25.00 to be paid from the 1935 fall fair, and a grant of $10.00 for the same purpose for the Stirling Fall Fair both year will be decided at the next meeting on Saturday, June 15th, when both societies requesting the grant were read by secretary of the Board, W. J. Stothers.

In support of the grant, Mr. C. M. Sine, Stirling, in a personal letter to the Board stated that the necessity for it "We need it, and we believe this district if it were used as prize money," stated Mr. Sine.

Both were immediately moved by R. McCreary, that both grants be given and seconded by W. Gibson. "These country fairs are a credit to our country and we should do everything possible to encourage them. I believe it is in the best interests of the Board to make these small grants and I for one am heartily in favor of going with the motion. I was visiting for one of the societies recently and was pleased with the location, but I shall be glad to do so," commented Mr. Catrom.

Opposition Voiced

Opposition to the grant was voiced by Mr. W. McLaren, Shannonville, "We have fairs at Shannonville and elsewhere through that district, too, but we don't get any grants to carry them on. I oppose this grant and will move an amendment to the motion that no action be taken on them," he added.

Mr. McCreary: "I don't think there can be any comparison between the Shannonville and Belleville fairs. That of Belleville and Stirling, and I'm not saying this in a disparaging manner. People have the idea, that cheese is falling into the discard around here. We should continue as we have done in the past. The cheese industry we all know is demoralized. This is no time to back water, it would be just an admission on our part. The cheese industry was through, and was falling into decay. We don't want to give the idea or impression, that the industry is through. I am heartily in favor of these grants."

It was pointed out by Secretary Mallory, that grant or not, cheese exhibits at the local fairs would be just as good as ever.

"I took special notice of the cheese exhibits at the Stirling Fair last year, and I can say, that the exhibits were just as good as the years before. The exhibits at the Belleville Fair were even better. These are indisputable facts. Yet we are going to cut out the grant."

An amendment to the amendment was moved by Jas. S. Cook, that a grant of $10 each be given the Belleville and Stirling fairs. The amendment was seconded by Mr. Morton, who favored the idea of the grant being put up as prizes, which is the best cheese exhibit.

"Perhaps we're not just ready for this matter. Suppose we lay it on the table for a week in order to give the members time to think it over," suggested Mr. McCreary.

Mr. Cook's amendment to the amendment to the motion," reminded Secretary Mallory.

"No, just table it," suggested Mr. McCreary.

On the motion of Mr. McCreary and seconded by Mr. Montgomery the matter was tabled for a week.

A reminder, that sellers of cheese should inform Inspector Robt. Goody at the government dock warehouse, when cheese comes in for inspection by James Irwin, grader at that place was given by secretary Mallory.

New Cabinet Is Announced

London, June 8—(AP)—The new British cabinet announced today is as follows:

Prime Minister and First Lord of the Treasury, Stanley Baldwin.

Lord President of the Council, Ramsay MacDonald.

Home Secretary, Sir John Simon.

Lord Chancellor, Lord Hailsham.

Chancellor of the Exchequer, Neville Chamberlain.

Foreign Secretary, Sir Samuel Hoare.

Lord Privy Seal, and leader of the House of Lords, the Marquess of Londonderry.

Minister of War, Lord Halifax.

Secretary for Dominions, J. H. Thomas.

Minister for Air, Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister.

Secretary of State for India, the Marquess of Zetland.

Secretary for Scotland, Sir Godfrey Collins.

Secretary of Colonies, Malcolm MacDonald.

President of the Board of Trade, Walter Runciman.

First Lord of the Admiralty, Sir Bolton Eyres-Monsell.

Minister of Health, Sir Kingsley Wood.

President of the Board of Education, Oliver Stanley.

Minister of Agriculture, Walter E. Elliott.

First Commissioner of Works, William Ormsby-Gore.

Minister without portfolio, for the League of Nations Affairs, Anthony Eden;

MOTHER ALWAYS INSISTED GOOD COFFEE MUST HAVE QUALITY IN THE BLEND.

MADAM, WITH MAXWELL HOUSE YOU START WITH A SUPERB BLEND OF CHOICEST COFFEE PREFERRED BY DIXIE IN BYGONE DAYS.

I'M NEVER SURE WHETHER COFFEE SHOULD BE MADE A SPECIAL WAY OR NOT.

NO SIR, NOT ANY MORE. TODAY, NO MATTER HOW YOU MAKE IT, THE MAXWELL HOUSE PERFECT NEW GRIND GIVES MORE FLAVOUR.

AND MY EXCLUSIVE VITA-FRESH PACKING PROCESS ALONE KEEPS MAXWELL HOUSE ROASTER-FRESH BY REMOVING MORE FLAVOUR-ROBBING AIR FROM THE TIN THAN ANY OTHER PROCESS.

MH13-35

MAXWELL HOUSE COFFEE

"Good to the Last Drop"

Roasted and Packed in Canada

I. D. A. KIDNEY PILLS

An efficient diuretic and kidney stimulant

48 Pills to the bot . . . .

29c

I.D.A. DRUG STORES

DERAILMENT COST C.P.R. $100,000

Nineteen Freight Cars Piled Up by Broken Rail

Belle River, June 10—(CP)—The last remnants were being cleaned up today of the spectacular train derailment, which occurred in the Canadian National Railway line between Windsor and St. Thomas, here yesterday and caused damage estimated at $100,000.

Nineteen freight cars, containing butter, eggs, cheese, meat, automobiles, coal and telegraph poles, were piled one on another and debris strewn along the right-of-way as a result of the derailment which was caused by a broken rail. No one was hurt although for a time it was feared there might be seven persons buried beneath the wreckage.

HUNTINGDON TWP. COUNCIL

Huntingdon Township Council met on June 4th, all members present.

Minutes of last meeting read and on motion of Wickens and Elliott were adopted.

Accounts totalling $1,000 were passed.

Correspondence included letter about boundary line road between Madoc and Huntingdon.

Hagerman-Jones—There being no one present to appeal, the by-law was read and kept closed until such time Council may see fit to open same.—Carried.

Nathan Reid interviewed Council regarding condition of sewage.

Jones-Hoffman—Nathan Reid to put 50 yds. gravel on said road at 40c per yd.—Carried.

Wickens-Elliott—That Council go into committee of the whole on by-laws with the reeve in the chair.—Carried.

By-laws for Colonization Roads Grant and their third reading signed, sealed and numbered respectively.

Council then adjourned for Court of Revision.

Court closed at 5 o'clock p.m. and Council resumed to general business.

Hagerman-Elliott—That Tax Collector's Roll be closed on this date, June 4th, 1935, and Collector to proceed to collect all outstanding taxes at once.—Carried.

Elliott-Wickens—That the following bills be paid: J. Danford, 1 sheep killed, $5.00; Ambrose Emerson, $8.95; Bridge covering, $17.90; W. Clements, $6.64; Councillors' pay, $19.75.

Hagerman-Elliott—That Council adjourn until Monday, August 5th, at 1 o'clock p.m.—Carried.

S. J. KILPATRICK,
Twp. Clerk.

DEATHS OVER THE WEEK END

By The Canadian Press

Winnipeg—Rt. Rev. Monsignor Alexander A. Chartier, Vicar-General for the Diocese of Winnipeg.

Toronto—Mrs. Jessie Hamilton Hope, 57, chartered accountant.

Winnipeg—William Colsett, 80, dry goods merchant.

Montreal—Wesley McConnell, 60, manager of the Canadian Realty Company.

Montreal interviewed Council about boundary line road between Madoc and Huntingdon.

Hagerman-Jones—There being no one present to appeal, the by-law was read and kept closed until such time Council may see fit to open same.—Carried.

Nathan Reid interviewed Council regarding condition of sewage.

Jones-Hoffman—Nathan Reid to put 50 yds. gravel on said road at 40c per yd.—Carried.

Philadelphia—Rev. Percival H. Hunt, 69, Episcopalian clergyman.

Neuilly-Sur-Marne, France—Senator Louis Amiard, president of the general council of Seine-et-Oise.

Fredericksburg, Va.—Oscar Solive, 81, former member of the staff of the Standard Oil Company of Calif., and native of Victoria, B.C.

RADIO PROGRAMS

— Daylight Saving Time —

MONDAY

4.00—Betty and Bob—WJZ.
4.30—Radio Guide—WJZ.
5.00—S. Army Band—WJZ.
5.30—"The Mascot"—WJZ.
6.00—Melodic Bar—WABC
7.00—At.-os 'n' Andy—WJZ
7.15—Tony and Gus—WJZ
7.30—Easy Aces—WJZ
7.45—Uncle Ezra—WEAF
8.00—Richard Himber Orchestra—WEAF
8.00—Fred and Braggiotti—WJZ
8.30—Mixed Chorus—WEAF
8.30—Henry Hunter's Gypsies—WJZ
8.30—Otto Harbach Musicale—WEAF
9.00—Minstrel Show—WJZ, WLW.
9.30—Otto Harbach Musicale—WEAF
9.30—The Big Show—WABC
9.30—Wrigley Dance Orch.—CFRB
10.00—Fray and Braggiotti—WJZ
10.00—Ted Florito's Orch.—WABC
10.00—Jack Denny Orch.—WEAF
10.00—The Cuckoo Hour—WJZ
10.30—Ethel Shutta in "Lucky Smith"—skrich—WEAF
11.30—Dorsey Bros. Orch.—WGN

TUESDAY

9.00—Breakfast Club.
11.30—Calmzy of Music—NBC
11.45—Al and Lee Reiser, piano duo—WEAF.
12.45—Radio Spelling Bee.—WABC.
1.15—Radio Gossip Club—WGN

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME

Clocks will be moved on this date, June 4th, 1935, and Collector is directed to collect all outstanding taxes at once.—Carried.

Elliott-Wickens—That the following bills be paid: J. Danford, 1 sheep killed, $5.00; Ambrose Emerson, $8.95; Bridge covering, $17.90; W. Clements, $6.64; Councillors' pay, $19.75.

Hagerman-Elliott—That Council adjourn until Monday, August 5th, at 1 o'clock p.m.—Carried.

S. J. KILPATRICK,
Twp. Clerk.

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER
THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at The Ontario Building, Bridge Street, Belleville.

MR. MORDEN HONORED

The election of Mr. Wilson S. Morden, as president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association is pleasing news to many friends of the former Belleville barrister and native of Prince Edward County. Mr. Morden, who left Belleville about twenty-four years ago, had already made a reputation for himself in the law and as a public-spirited citizen in this city and his entry into the life of Toronto carried on the tradition which he had begun here. The honor bestowed on him in his appointment as head of the C. M. A., Belleville citizens know, has been worthily won.

APPEAL OF WATERS

The season is at hand when the appeal of the lakes and streams is luring many to the haunts of peaceful vacations.

But the pleasure of the holiday is dependent upon the safety of the holidayers.

A word of caution is necessary to those who take to the water for bathing and swimming. "Be careful. Never go in the water unless accompanied by some one."

For the person who cannot swim and yet enters the water, only one advice can be given. "You should not do so unless some one is near who can swim if you should step into a deep hole or get into difficulty." Best of all advice is, "get someone to instruct you to swim."

A CURE FOR WAR TALK

Men like Mussolini of Italy and Hitler of Germany are doing most of the talking and acting. We are moved toward the belief that if these men had something else to do the war talk would cease. If Mussolini had 100 acres to farm, and if he had to make a living from what he could earn on it he would be too busy to bother about sending another army thousand miles to fight on the frontiers of Abyssinia. If Hitler had a string of cows to milk night and morning and if he had to clean house for them in between times and to attend to the feeding he would be ready for bed at night and would be in no mood to talk of re-arming Germany. Which is just another way of saying we think these fellows would shut up.—Brussels Post.

WELCOMING THE TOURIST

At the same time, a duty is owed the tourist in the matter of extending to him or her a friendly greeting and help in every possible way. This makes for better relations between cities and provinces and between countries, and anything that is calculated to promote friendship is worth practising. It may be taken for granted that the tourist is treated fairly wherever he goes. Hotels and restaurants have standard prices and charges are the same to all. It is the same with the shops and gas stations, while the tourist bureaus are always available for information and advice. At them, also, complaints may be made, and these are investigated and acted upon when necessary. This is proper procedure and is dissimilar to the tourist has been imposed upon may do considerable harm to a community by telling of his experiences when he returns home. The value of fair treatment is evident.

Italy is setting a good example in the treatment of tourists. There the Government tourist organization has been securing many concessions for visitors to the country. A 50 percent. reduction in the cost of gasoline and oil for foreign motorists is the latest concession, and that should prove a decided attraction. In addition, there is a reduction of 70 per cent. in fares on the state railways. Count Galeazzo Ciano, Signor Mussolini's son-in-law, is head of the tourist organization, and he is credited with having secured refunds for tourists who have been victimized by petty dealers and other dishonest persons. The fame of Italy as a holiday ground for travellers may be expected to rise because of this official attitude, and Switzerland and other tourist meccas may feel Italian competition.

In North America, tourists do not look for any preferential treatment such as Italy is extending to foreigners, but they do expect to receive their money's worth when they travel. To this they are entitled. Here in Quebec there is a wealth of scenic beauties and there is good accommodation along the main routes, and on many of the secondary roads as well. It remains for the people everywhere to deal fairly with all visitors and to render them every courtesy as they are travelling through the country. Such honesty and friendliness will surely be a good return in the near present and in years to come.—Montreal Gazette.

The best lightning rod for your protection is your own spine.—Emerson.

God gives every bird its food, but he does not throw it into the nest.—Holland.

They can conquer who believe they can.—Virgil.

SIDELIGHTS

THE HOME FORUM

Discussing the events of the day, home gossip and general news topics as revealed by the home newspaper. Conducted by Mrs. Sarp—and everybody's invited to join in. — Supervised by The Lamplighter.

THE FIRST DAY

The world was finished; on their ceaseless flight
God shed the jewels which adorned the night;
Darkness rolled back before the light of day;
And night shrank blushing from the morning ray.
The skies were brilliant with a crimson hue,
Which softly blended with the azure blue;
Each morn new beauties would the earth unfold,
Draping the heaven with the tints of gold;
While through the garden came the perfumed breeze,
Sweet with the fragrance of the budding trees,
Transparent limped streams flowed gently by,
Pure as the fount which crystals in the sky;
While flowers bloomed with nature's fairest dyes,
Beneath the purple of the sunny skies.
—Byron.

x x x

COURAGE, CONSCIENCE, CO-OPERATION, is the prescription for national and personal recovery prescribed by a western clergyman in an address to a Rotary Club which had its twenty-first birthday. Said he: "Twenty-one years—it is hard to believe it, time has exceeded the speed limit; as it is apt to do as we get older; and what amazing years, in which the whole world has been shaken, shattered and turned upside down. Today we hardly know whether we are standing on our heads or our heels, or whether we are going or coming—or if coming what we are coming to. In new directions, toward new objectives we are moving at a terrific rate; and we can only know what the goal is when we get there. Anyway, I hope the club will cast its first vote—now that it has reached its majority—in behalf of courage, conscience and co-operation, the three things needed to pull us out of the bog, and put our feet on the path of a moral, spiritual and social recovery. In the meantime let us hope much, fear not at all, love all we can, and have a lot of fun, lending a hand to our fellows in need, trusting the good will of God to lead us."

x x x

QUINTE NEWSPAPERMEN AND WOMEN are getting together again—reorganized together in an association for mutual benefit and protection against rapacious pirates who would have newspaper folks work for nothing and mortgage their future to be good fellows and barter advertising space and job printing for less than the cost of production. Union is strength and Quinte newspaper folks are going to try again and form a solid phalanx (swell word that) against the insidious influences which have made a meal of their profits in a disunited state. It has been tried before with more or less success, principally less, but Harry Moore that go-getter of the Trenton Courier-Advocate is going after the principle in a big way, and is responsible for the reorganization of weekly newspaper proprietors and job printing specialists which took place at Trenton Friday. The meeting was a great success, all present confessing their shortcomings of the past and determination for the future to stand fast for the highest principles of the craft, and decent living prices. Country weekly newspapers are more important than most folks in the larger centres imagine. From the country weekly springs the big majority of the newspaper world, for rarely does a newspaper man, born and bred in the shadow of the skyscrapers gain eminence in the craft. Look at the head guys of Toronto newspapers and you will find the lads who learned their type-boxes in the country weeklies back home. Big city dailies keep thundering at the doors of the small town citizens with many pages and grand features but the home-town paper, half ready-print maybe, has the intimate local news and home atmosphere which the big metropolitan sheet can never acquire and will always be an important part of the small town home-life. A country town without a newspaper would be a mighty poor thing, lacking in sociability and most of the elements of good Christian citizenship. A nation without churches and newspapers would soon lapse into a state of chaos, or worse, if there is any worse.

REVOLT IN THE DESERT

by

T. E. LAWRENCE

CHAPTER V

Feisal Strikes North

Colonel Wilson came up to Yenbo to persuade us of the necessity of an immediate attack against Wejh, the next port after Yenbo, going northward, and a point from which the Turks were threatening Feisal's rear. If we swung round at it suddenly, the initiative would pass to us.

Feisal was a fine, hot woman, whole-hearted; and in a thing which he had agreed to it. He pledged his word that he would go; so now, he said I sat down together on New Year's Day for consideration of what this move meant to us and to the Turks.

Feisal suggested taking nearly all the Juheina to Wejh with him and adding to them enough of the Billi and Billi, Atetha and Agyl to give the mass a many-tribed character. We wanted this march, which would be in its way a closing act of the war in Northern Hejaz, to send a rumour through the length and breadth of Western Arabia.

Feisal was nervous over abandoning Yenbo, hitherto his indispensable base, and the successful seaport of Hejaz: and when casting about for further expedients to distract the Turks' gaze, Colonel Wilson suddenly remembered Sidi Abdulla. He had sworn five thousand irregulars, and a few guns and machine-guns. He suggested that Feisal move to Wadi Ais, a desolate valley of springs which lay just one hundred kilometres south of Medina, a direct threat on Fakhri's railway communications with Damascus.

The proposal was obviously an inspiration and we sent off Raja el Khuiwi at once to Sidi Abdulla's wells. So sure were we of his adoption that we urged Feisal to hurry away from Wadi Yenbo northward on the first stage to Wejh, without waiting for reply.

He agreed, and on January 3, 1917 we took the wider upper road through Wadi Mosharfa, for Owais, a group of wells about fifteen miles up to the north of Yenbo. The hills were beautiful to-day. The rains of December had been abundant, and the warm sun after them had described the hills with the blessing it was spring. So a thin grass had come up in all the hollows and flat places. The blade (single, straight and very slender) also up between the stones. By a mile or two past even his saddle and looked downward he could see no new colour in the ground: but by looking forward and getting a distant slope at a flat angle with the eye, there was a lively mist of pale green here and there over the surface of slate-blue and brown-red dock. In places the growth was strong, and our pains-taking camels had become prosperous and greedy.

The starting signal went, but only for us and the Agyl. The other units of the army, standing each man with his couched camel, lined up beside our road, and as Feisal came near, saluted him in silence. Then they broke silence, and "Allah upon you," and each head shakily returned the phrase. When we had passed they reunited, taking the time from their chiefs, and so the forces behind us swelled till there was a line of men and camels winding about the open pass toward the watershed for as far back as the eye reached.

This greetings had been the only sounds before we reached the crest of the rise where the valley opened out and became a gentle forward slope of soft shingle and flint bedded in sand: but there Ibn Dakhil, the keen sheikh of Rus, who had died this campaign of Agyl two years before to aid Turkey, was brought to cover with him intent to the Sherif when the recoil came, dropped back a pace or two, assembled our following into a broad column of ordered ranks, and made the drums strike up. Every one bust out singing a full-throated song in honour of Allah, Feisal and his family.

The march became rather splendid and barbaric. First rode Feisal in white, then Sharraf as his right in red head-cloth and henna-ed beard, and close, myself on his left in white and scarlet, behind us Nasir, Feisal's cousin, a magnificent with gilt spikes, behind them the standard-bearer, and behind him again the wild mass of twelve hundred bounding camels of the Juheina, each ridden as closely as they could move, the men in every case of the same tribe as their camels nearly as brilliant in their trappings. We filled the valley to the hills on either side with our singing.

The risk of the fall of Yenbo while we were away was great, and it would be wise to empty it of stores, Boyle told me an anchorage by signalling that Hardinge would be made available by transport. The Egyptian Coaling Company and her lowest troop-deck had great quantities of coal along the water level. Captain Linberry opened these for us, and we stuffed straight in eight thousand rifles, three million rounds of ammunition, thousands of shells, quantities of rifle and gun-oil, a chest full of uniforms, two tons of high explosive, and all our petrol, pellmell. It was the packing letters in a box. In no time she had taken a thousand tons of stuff.

Boyle came in eager for news. He promised the Hardinge as depot ship throughout, to land food and water whichever needed, and this solved the main difficulty. The Navy were already collecting. Half the Red Sea Fleet would be present. The admiral was expected and landing parties were being drilled on every ship. Every one, was dyeing white duck khaki-coloured, or sharpening bayonets, or practising with rifles.

I hoped silently, in their despite, that there would be no fighting. Feisal had men in thousands, enough to fill the whole Billi country with armed parties and carry off everything not too heavy or too hot. It was sure that we would take Wejh: the fear was lest numbers of Feisal's host die of hunger or thirst on the way. However, the country to Um Leji, half way, was friendly: nothing large could happen so far as that: therefore, Feisal started on the very day that Abdulla replied welcoming the dhow. The same day came news of my relief, Newcombe, the regular officer being sent to Hejaz as chief of our military mission, had arrived in Egypt, and his two staff officers, Cox and Vickery, were actually on their way down the Red Sea, to join this expedition.

(To Be Continued)

SCHOLARS RECEIVE CONTEST AWARDS

ZION HILL—The prizes won by the scholars in the Zion School for the County competition on Scientific temperance were awarded last Sunday by the Thurlow Township Superintendent of the Temperance Department. Those who won prizes were June Hall, Gerald Lindsay, Irene Ketcheson, Edith King, Maurice Sine, Donald Sills, Douglas Hall. The School in past four years has won many county and district prizes also one provincial prize and a shield. A silver cup won by Miss Olive Petzal in his family. A contest on Temperance for the Belleville, two years ago.

Many friends of the late Rev. W.M.S. took dinner at Mrs. Theodore Bedford's, Bedmondville on Wednesday and held their regular monthly meeting. Mrs. Roblin formerly Miss Hazel Hayes, as a member of Zion W.M.S. before her marriage.

The school will appreciate a new well on the ground as there has never been a well there since the school was erected. Also organized, probably ninety years ago. The boys have thought too difficult to undertake. Mr. Arthur Bedford is on the hill and stony ground. Trustees report forty-three feet of water.

Miss Helen Caskey, teacher here for the past three years, has been so successful, has accepted a position at Bloomfield School.

Mr. Wm. Bedford has made a shipment of cattle to Peterboro, this week.

Rev. Mr. Everson attended Conference at Peterboro and Mr. Charles Elliots of Mt. Pleasant took the services on the Plainfield circuit during his absence.

A teacher-training class of religious education was conducted by Rev. J. F. Everson. Three wrote on examinations and passed successfully: Miss Helen Caskey, Miss Olive Seaniss and Mrs. Denyes. Miss Caskey received a certificate.

Mr. Bezzer spent several days last week in Toronto, visiting relatives and friends.

Mrs. Brown who has been a patient in Belleville Hospital, since her return from Florida, is now at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. Welsh.

Mrs. F. Grey received a bad cut on her hand on Tuesday last.

The meat of the Anglican Church have been busily engaged closing in the shed which is being remodelled for a ball.

The June meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Thursday evening at Mrs. Wm. Weir's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Clare who have been spending several weeks with Mr. and Miss Emerson, have returned to their home in Guelph.

ROSLIN ITEMS OF INTEREST

ROSLIN, — Rev. P. C. Beazer spent several days in Kingston during the past week where he attended the meeting of the Ontario Diocesan Synod.

Mrs. Willis Wilson is a patient in Bethesda General Hospital.

Mrs. H. Sills, Mrs. N. Sills, Mrs. W. Clapsaddle, Mrs. W. White and Mrs. J. Chisholm attended

Doctor? Lawyer? Engineer?
Make those rosy dreams come true. A North American Life policy will guarantee his education and start in life. Join the 70,000 other policyholders who have made provision of the future by ASSURING MUTUALLY in this Company—all profits go to policyholders.
NORTH AMERICAN LIFE
Sold on the Continent.
R. B. COOPER
District Manager
235 Front Street Belleville
A MUTUAL COMPANY

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

JUNE 10th., 1915.

The colors to be presented to the 59th Battalion, D. S. O., are on view in the south window of the Ritchie Company.

Chief Bonney of the city fire department has received a cheque from Mr. H. Hall, general manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, in recognition of the services rendered by the firemen during the recent fire in the Metropolitan Bank, which left the offices of the bank are located.

Delightful weather favored the garden party which was held last evening on the St. Thomas' Rectory lawn in aid of the Red Cross fund of the 39th. Battalion. There was a large attendance and the affair was most enjoyable.

The following city churches have subscribed to the Red Cross fund: St. Andrew's Church $151. St. Bridge Street Church $134.07; John Street Church $71.55; St. Thomas' Church $42.54; Trinity Church $46.47; St. Michael's Church $71.28; Baptist Church $36.95; Bridge Street Church $21.71; Tabernacle Church $28.39; Bethel Hall $9.00; Methodist Church $9.40; Salvation Army $9.13. Total $613.70.

30 Years Ago

JUNE 10th., 1905.

Mr. David Gibson, of Winnipeg, formerly with Haines & Lockett in this city, is being welcomed in town by many friends.

Mr. George H. Robinson of the tailoring firm of Robinson & Thompson of this city, is in Madoc today on business.

Miss Alma Chaddick of Caledonia Springs is in the city visiting her sister, Mrs. Henry Ketcheson.

The steamer Varuna will run an excursion to Picton on Wednesday for the Convocation of Toronto University steamship. A nation without churches and newspapers would soon lapse into a state of chaos, or worse, if there is any worse.

The village of Foxboro now boasts of two automobiles.

Mr. Wm. Wadham is having a cement walk laid to his residence on Bridge street, and he is proud that it is to be made of cement manufactured by a Belleville firm.

40 Years Ago

JUNE 10th. 1895.

Strawberries were sold in Belleville on Saturday at 15c per box. Reports received from the mining district in the north, but Belleville are not to be had: those interested are keeping quiet.

The head of the saw log drive reached Belleville on Saturday night and logs are arriving in large numbers. The water in the river is low.

There are several broken planks in the walks of the city. They should be replaced at once.

A number of small boys will be summoned to appear in police court this morning for exposed places without bathing suits.

Mrs. Harry Boyle of Kingston is visiting relatives here.

Dr. Clinton left today for Montreal.

Mr. Ed. Dolan of Toronto is spending a few days in town.

50 Years Ago

JUNE 10th., 1885.

The D. & D. L. will close on Friday of this week.

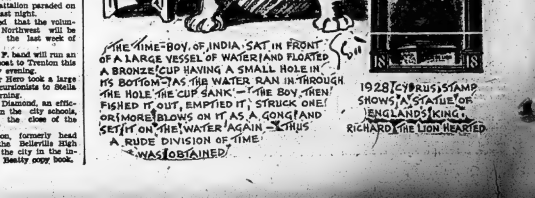
The 15th. Battalion paraded on Tuesday 9 Hill last night.

It is expected that the volunteers in the Northwest will be ordered home the last week of June.

The I. O. O. F. band will run an excursion by boat to Trenton this afternoon and evening.

The steamer Hero took a large number of excursionists to Stella Point this morning.

Miss Annie Redmond, an efficient teacher in the city schools, will retire at the close of the present year.



Prof. Dawson, formerly head master of the Belleville High School, is in the city in the interests of the Bently copy book.

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK

by R. J. SCOTT

A REPLICA OF THE TEMPLE OF MINERVA IN GUATEMALA, CITY IS USED FOR SCHOOL GRADUATION SERVICES.

THE TIME-BOY, OF INDIA, SAT IN FRONT OF A LARGE VESSEL OF WATER AND FLOATED A BRONZE CUP HAVING A SMALL HOLE IN ITS BOTTOM—AS THE WATER RAN IN THROUGH THE HOLE THE CUP SANK — THE BOY THEN FISHED IT OUT, EMPTIED IT, STRUCK ONE OR MORE BELLS AND PUT IT AS A GONG AND SET IT ON THE WATER AGAIN — THUS A RUDE DIVISION OF TIME WAS OBTAINED

1928 CZECHOSLOVAKIA STAMP SHOWS A STATUE OF ENGLAND'S KING, RICHARD THE LION HEARTED

FOR RELIABLE INFORMATION ON INSURANCE
and INVESTMENTS
CONSULT
JAMIESON BONE & CO.
INSURANCE

FINANCIAL MARKETS

NEW YORK - TORONTO - WINNIPEG

TORONTO METMES CLOSE

Toronto, June 7 (CP)—For the fifth successive week the Toronto Industrial Market staged a lengthening performance in the first session of the week and closed with issues showing a narrow margin over previous days. The turnover was small and appeared mainly in the Oils, Metals and Miscellaneous groups. Bell Telephone and Tip Top Tailors. The latter issue spurted in the first hour to register a sale at a point but the entire advance was lost before the close.

Trading was spotty on the industrial list with the weight of price changes narrowly lower. The only feature was Tip Top Tailors as a tentative advance of heavy turnover. A majority of the interlisted issues were off slightly. Steel and base metals were also easier. Golds, Nickel 1-8, Coppers 1-8 lower. Pend Oreille 1-4 and Walkers Common 1-8 higher. Seagrams held steady to strong in good turnover.

UTIMY, Food and Bank stocks established a firm front and gains of about a point were boarded for Consumers Gas and Bell Telephone.

Oils issues displayed mild weakness. International Petroleum eased 1-2 to 36 and Imperial and British American 1-8 to 14 1-2.

TORONTO MINES CLOSE

Toronto, June 10 (VP)—Showing considerable action in the morning session, chiefly in the silver group, the mining section of the Toronto Exchange slowed down around noon and was in a draggy condition by closing time. Early price gains were not entirely held as moderate profit-taking tended to limit many stock prices showing no important changes for the day.

In anticipation of a new drive at Washington for a jacking up of the her silver price, white metal stocks were traded in heavy volume today with higher prices forming part of the time. An early advance was almost entirely lost but Eldorado was selling at a net gain of about a mid-afternoon. Golds were slow and base metals eased but firm.

Reserve and Dome traded slowly at slightly higher prices and Yukon Eagles drifted down in the secondary gold group. San Antonio, Siscoe, and Golf Links were firm in strong and Macassa, Central Patricia and McWatters lower.

WALL STREET FINANCIAL

New York, June 10—(AP)—Speculative trading continued to absorb little attention as traders gave today's stock market, Gains and losses, generally, were held to restricted limits, with definite trends failing to appear.

Among shares of Canadian companies, slight recessions appeared in Mclntyre, International Nickel and Canadian Pacific. On the curb, Hiram Walker was a fraction firmer. Dominion Government bonds were inactive. Canadian funds held unchanged at 99.31 1-4 and 99.32 1-4.

Shares of American Crystal Sugar Preferred got into point gains on the Common advanced 1. Others, fractionally to a point higher, included U.S. Gypsum, Radio Preferred "B" and Inland Steel. On the other hand, United Gas Improvement, U. S. Smelting, General Motors, and Chrysler were down a point or more. The oils, rails and tobaccos were a shade up and down.

NEW YORK CLOSE

New York, June 7—(AP)—While a number of specialties were in demand in the stock market today, the majority of the leaders were inclined to give prominence entirely under profit taking. The activity, however, was again restricted.

Mullins Mfg. moved up a full point, spurted to points. American Crystal Sugar preferred rose 2 to 3 and others, about a point higher, included McKeesport Tin Plate, American Can, American Crystal Sugar common and Mullins common.

Allied Chemical lost about 2. U. S. Smelting 1 and fractional declines were recorded in U. S. Steel, Chrysler, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas and Du Pont. The turnover was fairly large. Transfers approximated 850,000 shares.

UNLISTED MINES

Unlisted mines furnished by A. H. Ketcheson and Co., today.

Ascot 3-4
Ardeen 6-8
Bankfield 20-22
Base 1-8 1-3 2 1-3
Bonn 12½
Can Malartic 4-6
Casey 13-15
Cons Chib 60-90
Dunlop 1-3
El Sol 18-19
Forty Four 400-600
Glencore 9-10
Gold Eagle 20-3
Gt. Bear 64-7
Hardrock 45-50
Unith 47008
Johnson Nip 3-5
Kenilworth
Lamaque 180-190
Lingore 4-6
McLeod 4-5
McMarine 5-7
Magnet 5-7
Malach 18-20
Mosher 2 1-3 2 1-3
North Shores 3-4
Okland 30-32
Rice Lake 2 1-4 3 1-4
Springer 165
Sinclaire 6-7
Shawkey 45-50
Sturgeon R 845
Wells 7-9
Wingold 12-15
Young Dey. 17-20

Stock Markets

Quotations furnished by Biggar and Crawford, H. Wills, branch manager. Quotations at 2.15 p.m.:

MINES

Ashley 11½
Alex 73½.
Acme 32 1-2B.
Brsh. Tryth. 2.
Barry Hollinger 3 3-4B.
Base Metals 10.
Bobjo 30 1-2.
Big Missouri 74.
Bradian 1.85B.
Bagamac 4 7-8.
Bralorne 470.
Castle Trethn. 1.19.
Consturum 1903.
Central Pat. 1.52B.
Coast Copper 215B.
Dome 4250B.
Dominion Explor. 6B.
Eldorado 21½.
Falconbridge 373.
Gob's Lake 152.
Goldale 11 1-2B.
Granada 12.50.
Greene Stak. 27 1-2.
Hollinger 14783.
Hairvor 2.
Home Oil 533.
Hudson's Bay 15.10B.
Howey 80 1-4B.
Inter. Nickel 28 3-8.
Kirkland Lake 465.
Kirk. Townsite 10 1-2.
Lake Shore 22.50.
Little Longlac 5263.
Macassa 160.
Malartic 382.
Maple Leaf 4 1-2B.
McIntyre 47.02B.
Mining Corporation 136.
McKenzie 130B.
McWaters 128.
Mt. Oxford 14.
Mosher 2 1-4.
Nipissing 2503.

Toronto.

Bell Telephone 126½B.
British American Oil 16¾.
Brewing Corporation 3¼B.
Brazilian Traction 8¾.
Canada Bud 83.
Canada Cement 61½.
Canada Dredge 23½B.
Can. Industrial Alcohol 8¼B.
C.P.R. 10¼B.
Canada Malting 82B.
Canada Vinegar 38B.
Canada Car 7½B.
Cons. Bakeries 16B.
Cons. Smelters 17.75.
Dominion Stores 7¼B.
Distillers Seagrams 16½B.
Ford "A" 24½B.
Gypsum 5¼B.
Goodyear 15.02.
Imperial Oil 20¼.
Inter. Petroleum 36B.
Imperial Tobacco 12.
Loblaw 18¼.
Massey Harris 4¼B.
Mont. Power 18¾B.
Mclnt. Montreal 134½B.
Power Corporation 9B.
Steel of Canada 46¼.
Supertest 7B.
Sawbridges 16¼B.
Walkers 23½B.
Walkers Pref. 115B.
Walkers 51¼.

NEW YORK

American Can 128 1-4
American T. and T. 127 1-2
Amer. Pow. Power 3 7-8
Anaconda 15 5-8
Auburn 19 1-2
Case 84
Chrysler 44 3-8
General Motors 30 3-4
Gen Auto Lite 19 7-8
Liter Telephone 8 1-8
North American 13 1-8
Montgomery Ward 26 1-8
Phillips Petr 9 1-8
Radio 5 1-4
Standard Oil of N. J. 48 3-4
Standard Brands 14 7-8
Stewart Warner 9 1-4
U. S. Smelting 110
U. S. Steel 53 1-4
United Aircraft 13 1-4
Westinghouse 47 7-8
General Elec. 30 1-4
American Rad. 13 1-2

PROVINCIAL BONDS

Gatineau, 5 percent 32 1-2B; 6 percents, 99 1-2B; 6 percents 57 1-2B; Hamilton 5 1-2 percents 103B; 5 percent 52 1-2B; MacLaren Que. 6B; Ontario Valley 96B; Duke Price 96 3-4B; Canadian Northern Power 99 1-4B.

HOGS

Toronto, June 10.—(CP)—Brantford Bacon hogs sold 10 cents higher and Peterborough supplies were up five cents today while a 15-cent loss was registered at Barrie. All other reporting market points showed unchanged levels, today's prices:

Barrie, $8.75; Chatham $8.75; Hamilton $8.50; Peterborough $8.50; Kitchener $9.00; Stratford $9.00; Brantford, $9.10; Hull $9.25.

Produce Markets

(By United Farmers Co-Operative Company)

Toronto, — Wholesale prices on product delivered at Toronto as supplied by the United Farmers Co-operative Co. here to-day were:

Buying Prices

Eggs—
Grade A, large doz.... .... .. .18
Grade A, medium doz .... .16
Grade C, doz. .... .15
Butter—
Cntard No. 1 Creamery, lb. 30¼
Ontario No. 2 Creamery, lb. .. .29½
Cheese—
No. 1, lb. .... .20
No. 2, lb. .... .19

(F.O.B. shipping point)
Poultry

Live Dressed Milled
Hens— "A" "A"
Over 5 lbs. .. .20 .24
4 to 5 lb. .. .19 .23
3 to 4 lbs. .. .00 .21
Old roosters .. .00 .18
Broilers 3 to 3 1-2 .... .24
Broilers 2 1-2 to 3 .... .22
Broilers 1 1-4 to 2 1-2 .... .17

Selling Prices

United Farmers Co-Operative Co. today were offering products to retail dealers at the following prices:

Eggs—
Grade A, large, loose, doz. .... .. .21
Grade A, medium, doz. .... .21
Grade B, medium, doz. .... .18
Grade C, doz. .... .15
Butter—
No. 1 Creamery, prints .... .23½
No. 2 Creamery, prints .... .23

Hay and Straw

No. 2 timothy hay, baled ton, $13.50 to $14.00; No. 3 timothy hay ton, $11.50 to $12.00; straw, wheat baled, ton $10.00; oats straw, $7.50 to $8.00.

Graded Egg Prices

Toronto, (wholesale buying) were paying the following nominal prices for graded eggs, cases free:

Grade A, medium, doz. .... .. .19
Grade A, large, doz. .... .18
"A" pullets, doz. .... .17

Livestock Quotations

(Toronto)

Steers, up to 1050 lbs., good
Good and choice	10.00	6.50
do medium	8.50	6.00
do common	6.25	5.25
Steers, over 1050 lbs., good and choice	6.50	7.00
do, medium	6.00	6.50
do common	5.25	5.75
Heifers, good and choice	8.00	6.50
do, medium	5.25	5.75
do common	4.50	5.25
Red calves, good and choice	8.50	7.00
do, common	6.50	6.50
Cows, good	5.00	4.50
do, medium	4.00	4.50
do common	3.00	3.75
Canners and cutters	1.50	2.75
Bulls, good, ...	3.50	4.50
do common	2.00	3.25
Milkers and Springer ...	36.00	50.00
Stocker and feeder steers, good	5.00	5.75
do common	3.50	4.25
Calves, good and choice	9.00	8.50
vealers	6.50	7.00
do common to medium	3.50	5.75
do, grassers	2.00	2.50
Hogs, select, f.o.b.	9.00
do, off cars	9.65
do, fats, off cars	9.25
Good sows and wether lambs	9.00	9.50
do medium	8.00	8.50
do, bucks	6.00	7.00
do culls	4.00	5.00
Sheep, good weight	3.50	2.00
do, heavies	1.00	1.50
do, heavies	3.00	2.50

LIVESTOCK

Toronto, June 10 (CP)—Calf, sheep and lamb divisions of the Toronto livestock market opened in steady trading today while cattle and hogs were at a standstill. Only sales on the cattle side were to a local butcher cows, about steady, at $3.00 to $5.00 down.

Receipts as reported by the Dominion livestock branch were 1,510; cattle 680, hogs 660, sheep and lambs 360.

Grain Markets

Closing quotations on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange supplied to C. H. Ketcheson and Co. today:

Wheat—
July	83½	82½ 83¼
Oats—
July	40¼	39¾ 40
October	35½	34¾ 35¼
Barley—
July	41¼	40½ 41
October	40¾	39¾ 40
Rye—
July	44¼	43¼ 44¼
October	45¾	45¼ 45¾

Produce Receipts Increase in Week

Montreal, June 10.—Receipts of dairy products continued to track with comparisons, were posted at the Board of Trade Exchange today as follows:

	Eggs, Butter, Cheese cases	boxes boxes
Last week	14,238	24,237 13,014
Week ago	9,440	19,228 10,066
Year ago	12,264	24,540 12,269

Exports for the week totalled 3,179 boxes of cheese, 700 boxes of butter, and 500 cases of eggs.

For the week as a whole butter and cheese prices were lower; egg prices were higher; potatoes were steady to easier, and poultry held unchanged.

The butter market ended the week with prices 1¼ to 2¼c per pound for cartots of l.c.l. of current receipts, No. 1 Creamery, solids and No. 1 pasteurized were quoted by jobbers at 21¼c to 22c for solids and 21¼c to 22c for prints.

The cheese market was 9¾c to 10c for No. 1 Ontarios, current arrivals, all of which are good, solid to public-spirited citizens.

Ladies' Silks

Crepe Dresses

In many smart figured patterns with flattering touches of contrasty. A bargain you dare not miss. On sale at 1.49

Ladies'

House Frocks

Fast color prints, some with puff sleeves, many pretty styles to choose from. All sizes. On sale at

49c

Ladies'

Blouses

Angel Skin or organdy, pleated front, peach shade. Only a few in stock so come early. On sale

49c

Corselettes

Medium weight, in pink corset fabric with inserts of strong elastic. Sizes 30 to 44 bust. On sale at

49c

TUESDAY & WEDNESDAY BIG VALUES 49c DAYS at LIPSON'S

Come Along You Thrifty Shoppers

White Purses

Fitted with mirror and change purse, in numerous styles. Lipson's value

49c

Ladies' Gloves 98c

Panties & Bloomers

Pastel shades, with neat applique and lace trim. On sale, each

49c

Ladies'

Nightgowns

Made of fine cotton, V neck style, embroidered yokes. Good sizes on sale at

49c

Ladies' Linen

SHIRTS

White and navy, pearl button trim. Sizes 14, 15, 15, 20. Lipson's value

49c

Ladies'

Panties & Bloomers

In good quality rayon, daintily trimmed, all sizes. Buy several while on sale at 2 prs. 49c

Outsize

Silk Bloomers

Reinforced seams, double gusset. In pastel shades. Lipson's value

49c

Girls'

Print Dresses

Guaranteed fast colors, puff sleeves, organdy and pique trim. All bright and attractive styles. Sizes 7 to 14 yrs.

49c

Panty Dresses

Voile and Prints. Puff and pleated sleeves, organdy collar. Dainty styles. Panties to match. On sale

49c

Little Boys'

Wash Suits

Two tone broadcloth, sizes 3 to 6. Remarkable value.

49c

2 suits 49c

Boys'

POLO SHIRTS

and the popular crew neck, fine mesh. In white, khaki and yellow. Sizes 6 to 14 years. Lipson's value

49c

Boys'

Whoopee Pants

In blue and khaki denim, wide waist band, elastic insert at back. Broad seat. Sizes 8 to 14 years. On sale

49c

Yd. Goods Dept.

WHITE COTTON PIQUE
36 inches wide, good weight and quality. On sale at

3 yds. 49c

TABLE OILCLOTH
54 inches wide. Fine quality in many attractive patterns, including checks and fruit and flower designs. On sale, yd.

49c

Satin Slips

Fitted body, lace trimmed, adjustable shoulder straps. White and colors. Sizes 32 to 44. Lipson's value

1.49

Boys' Fancy

KNEE PANTS

In light and dark greys, belt and buckle, ambleton. Sizes 3 to 10 years, at a price that has never been equalled. Lipson's Value

49c

Boys' Summer

WASH SUITS

Linen and broadcloth, interesting trims. Short sleeves, sailor collar. Sizes 3 to 6.* Sale price

49c

Men's Chambray

Work Shirts

In navy, blue and khaki reinforced seams, roomy shoulders, coat style, neck bands 14½ to 17½ inches. On sale at

49c

Men's Sleeveless

SWEATERS

All wool, cotton and wool, in white, wine, sand, green and blue. Reg. $1.00. On sale at

49c

Men's

FINE SHIRTS

Plain and assorted patterns, coat front tweat, pocket button, band cuff. Sizes 14 to 17. Sale price

49c

Men's Combs.

Balbrigan, Dimity, Broadcloth, both button and crossover styles. Fitted and cut full, roomy lines. Sizes 34 to 44. On sale at

49c

Men's

TWEED CAPS

In grey and brown tweed, finished with rayon lining. On sale at

49c

Broadcloth

SLIPS

Built up shoulders, good length Bust sizes 34 to 44 ins. On sale

49c

Full Fashioned

Chiffon HOSE

Every pair pure thread silk, all new shades in sheer and good priced low. Lipson's value

49c

Men's Silk Reversi

SHORTS

Heavy rib silk, wide elastic top and well reinforced. Reg. 75c. On sale at

49c

Children's Shoes

Patent strap, leather soled, rubber heels. Patent, Brook, silk tops, crepe soles, canvas strap shoe, in white, tan and brown. Lipson's value, pair

49c

Men's Sleeveless

SWEATERS

AND SHORTS

Fine broadcloth shorts and the new popular brevet style. All sizes. On sale, suit

49c

Men's Silk Reversi

SHORTS

Heavy rib silk, wide elastic top and well reinforced. Reg. 75c. On sale at

49c

Full Fashioned

Chiffon HOSE

Every pair pure thread silk, all new shades in sheer and good priced low. Lipson's value

49c

Broadcloth

SLIPS

Built up shoulders, good length Bust sizes 34 to 44 ins. On sale

49c

TUESDAY & WEDNESDAY BIG VALUES 49c DAYS at LIPSON'S

Children's Shoes

Patent strap, leather soled, rubber heels. Patent, Brook, silk tops, crepe soles, canvas strap shoe, in white, tan and brown. Lipson's value, pair

49c

Men's Sleeveless

SWEATERS

AND SHORTS

Fine broadcloth shorts and the new popular brevet style. All sizes. On sale, suit

49c

Men's Silk Brevet

SHORTS

Heavy rib silk, wide elastic top and well reinforced. Reg. 75c. On sale at

49c

Full Fashioned

Chiffon HOSE

Every pair pure thread silk, all new shades in sheer and good priced low. Lipson's value

49c

Broadcloth

SLIPS

Built up shoulders, good length Bust sizes 34 to 44 ins. On sale

49c

LT. FRED JOBSON WILL LEAD BAND

Succeeds Lieut. E. R. Hinchey as Bandmaster of Municipal Band

Lieut. E. R. Hinchey has resigned as bandmaster of the Belleville Municipal Band after having been leader for a period of over twenty years, broken only by his overseas service of some four years with the 155th, 254th, and 21st Battalions. He gained an enviable reputation as an outstanding leader. Citizens will regret to learn of his resignation.

As his successor, the band have chosen very fortunate in securing the services of Lieut. Fred Jobson, formerly of Hamilton, Ont., who came to Belleville, a few months ago, to take charge of a department in the American Hardware Co.

Mr. Jobson is a native of England and came to Canada when a boy, starting his musical career in Western Ontario. He is very well known in musical circles of Hamilton and district as a fine cornet soloist and has done considerable broadcasting over the radio.

Service Overseas

He served four years overseas with the 3rd Toronto Regiment and the 123rd, 19th and 4th Battalions, was wounded in France, invalided to England and later returned the British Isles with a Convalescent Hospital Detail. After he had been posted the United States for three years as a cornet soloist and song leader and on a later occasion spent one season there as a guest conductor. He organized and was Livingston Silver Band of Hamilton and has also served as Bandmaster of the Burlington Silver Band and of the 3rd Machine Gunner's Band for a period of six years.

Belleville is fortunate in securing Lieut. Jobson as a citizen and the Belleville Band look forward to his active season under his direction. The first concert to the public is now being arranged and the reputation of Belleville as the home of good bands, will undoubtedly be maintained by Mr. Jobson and his musicians all of whom are good, solid

90TH BIRTHDAY IS CELEBRATED

Mrs. William Ballinger, Chatham St., Honored Guests

Amidst a setting of spring flowers of brilliant yellow, filling the air with their sweet fragrance and under the cool and pleasant shade of several large trees at the home of Mrs. George Sears, 118 Chatham street, honoring her mother, Mrs. William Ballinger, who has attained the grand old age of ninety years.

The guests included over fifty of her sons and daughters and their families and intimate friends coming from as far as Sarnia for the occasion. All of Mrs. Ballinger's family were present except William who resides in England, where Mrs. Ballinger herself lived up to twenty-two years ago when she came out to Canada. The guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Ballinger and family of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Ballinger and family of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. J. Anderson and daughter Marilyn of Toronto; Mr. Hallinger of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. J. Ballinger and daughter Marilyn of Toronto; Mr. G. Fuller of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Underhay and family of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. R. Gaunt and family of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Fuller of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Cochrane and daughter Marion of Toronto; Mrs. Dickerson and Miss Dickerson of Toronto; Mrs. Thos. Ford of Sarnia.

Outstanding placed on the long birthday tables was the huge birthday cake with ninety candles on it. Mrs. Ballinger is enjoying good health and who is quite active for her birthday anniversary took upon herself the task of blowing out the candles. Three grandsons-in-law of Mrs. Ballinger served the guests, namely, Mrs. T. J. Ford of Sarnia, Mrs. C. H. Ballinger of Belleville and Mrs. G. L. Underhay of Toronto.

Mrs. Ballinger was the proud recipient of numerous birthday gifts and flowers and was as greatly enhanced since she is in the vicinity of her 100th birthday. Mr. Ballinger enjoys the same good health and lives in the century mark. Immediate reunion and birthday party will be held for her.

Police News

Local police were called upon to act promptly yesterday afternoon when a report regarding a broken leg to a tandem wire, was received at the station house. The wire was found to be down in the vicinity of the old Carthage Machine Company building and also near the C. P. R. Right-of-way. The wire was picked up and allowed no person near the live wire. The matter was duly reported by the local Hydro employees.

Wires were of high voltage and had been plaken loose by a trio of young boys, who were swinging a nearby part of the wire, causing the high tension wires on a pole to drop loose and endanger lives and public property as they laid on the ground. The matter was soon righted and the police ascertained the names of the boys to cause the trouble. They will be summoned to appear before the Chief Constable today.

Women Teachers Hold Picnic

A successful picnic was held by the women Teachers Federation, District 2, at Napanee on Saturday, June 8th. Teachers were present from all, including representatives from Kingston, Napanee, Deseronto Belleville and rural vicinities. Owing to recent rains, Trinity Church kindly offered the use of their Sunday School rooms for dinner. Miss Myrtle Peck, councillor of this district introduced the guest speaker, Miss Daisy Walker of Peterborough, who gave an interesting address on Federation. Miss Nesbitt, Director of Music in the Kingston School led in a song. About 3.30 all adjourned to Springside Park where they took part heartily in a variety of games and expressed the hope that it will be an annual affair.

HIGHEST AWARDS TO CADET POWELL

Hon. Grote Stirling, Presents Prizes at R.M.C. Closing

Kingston, Ont., June 10 (CP)—Highest awards of the Royal Military College today were presented to Battalion Sergeant Major R. M. Powell of Ottawa by Hon. Grote Stirling, Minister of National Defence, at the closing exercises.

Battalion Sergeant Major Powell was the record of honor for conduct and discipline and the Governor-Generall's Gold Medal for cadet obtaining highest aggregate of marking during the entire four years' course. In addition he carried off the Engineering Institute of Canada prize, the Toronto Branch trophy, which is awarded to the graduating classman who has the highest combined marks in conduct, drills and exercises; the Province of Quebec Department of Public Instruction award for the greatest progress in French in the last year; a special prize for highest standing in mathematics and all branches of engineering in the last year course and was one of the three to whom were awarded the large Bexhill Cup for the highest marks in the several branches of training.

18 Canadian Women Attend Royal Court

LONDON, June 8—(CP Cable)—Eighteen Canadian women have been presented at the King and Queen's Court at Buckingham Palace on June 26. They included—Mrs. Robert Casais, Toronto, Miss Elaine Ainsworth, Toronto, Mrs. Walter Otten, Toronto and Miss Alethea Green; Miss Peggy Mackintosh and Miss Gwendolyn Dunmer, Toronto; Miss Peggy Waldie, Toronto, Mrs. Charles Bowser Smith, Niagara-on-Lake; Miss Virginia Topping, Toronto and Miss Barry German, Ottawa.

BORDEN DENIES TITLES PRICED

Ottawa, June 10 (CP)—Sir Robert Borden, war-time Prime Minister, today made a statement dealing with a recently published statement which "charged that under my administration, men were getting titular distinction at a price," Sir Robert said.

"In many cases reckless and absurd defamation is best answered by silence of contempt. As this statement not only defames me but reflects upon the honour and dignity of every man who obtained such recognition in Canada while I was Prime Minister, it seems desirable that I should give it an answer which it hardly deserves.

"The charge is utterly false—an absolute fabrication.

"In many cases, probably the majority, the selection originated with the Governor-General. In other cases the recommendation was made by me, by other member of my Government had the right or ever attempted to make a recommendation to the Governor-General in such a matter."

'Polarizing'
With the Wonders for your
FUR COAT
This safe, Furrier's Cleaning Method will add new life and beauty to your Fur.
REPAIRS
REMODELLING STORAGE
Woodley's
Furriers

Personals

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. Matthew R. Morrison announces the engagement of his only sister, Ada, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morrison, to Mr. Clinton H. MacDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. MacDonald, of Point Anne, the wedding to take place the latter part of June.

Magistrate James E. Jones of Toronto, spent the week-end with Colonel and Mrs. Ponton at Bridge Cottage.

Miss Helen Ackerman left for Kingston last evening to spend a few days. She will attend the June Ball at the Royal Military College.

Mrs. George Graham, Mrs. Marjorie O'Flynn, Mrs. A. Gillen and Mrs. F. B. Smith were hostesses at the Country Club tea today.

Mr. and Mrs. Alphonsus Black have returned to the city after their wedding trip to Wesley, Ontario.

Miss Ruth Howard of this city will graduate today from Alma College, St. Thomas, Ontario.

Mrs. R. A. Bull was in Toronto on Saturday attending the Brewin-Wagar wedding.

Mr. Leo Fenn, Tonawanda, N.Y., is in the city to attend the funeral of his mother.

Mrs. T. R. Serra, with son Percy, of Chapleau, is visiting her sisters, the Misses Barrett, John Street.

Miss Helen Hurley will be a guest at the week-end dances at the Military College, Kingston, this evening.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Adams have returned home from Rochester, Minn., where Dr. Adams has been specializing for the month at the Mayo Clinic. Dr. Adams will resume the practice with Dr. J. J. Robertson.

Mr. Fred Cunliff of Toronto, was in the city today to attend the funeral of Mrs. Philip Cunliff, who passed away recently in Edmonton. Mrs. Cunliff was from Belleville boy and left here many years ago. As a girl she was a well-known pianist and played on the Daily Ontario and he is now on the mechanical staff of the Toronto Star.

Rev. Dr. James Semple, of Bridge Street United Church, the newly appointed president of the Bay of Quinte Conference, will attend the United Church Union Anniversary Meeting in Massey Hall Gardens, Toronto (Monday) tonight.

Mr. H. F. McLean was the week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hall, Mrs. Hall, Dundas Street East. Mr. McLean arrived in the city by hydroplane.

Mrs. A. Ross of Carmel, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. Fahey, Cedar Street, has returned home.

Mrs. Jas. MacDonald, Cedar St., returned last evening from spending several weeks in Toronto. She was accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher.

Mr. L. E. Brownell, editor of the "National Magazine" and Mrs. Brownell, Chicago, Illinois, have been the guests of Mrs. W. H. Merry and Miss Merry, Bridge St., today for Toronto. They will spend some time in Western Ontario before returning to Winnipeg at the end of the month.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Emerson, Montreal, are spending their holidays with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Emerson, William Street.

Mr. H. T. Hurley has returned to God's Lake, Manitoba, to resume his duties as Hudson's Bay Company factor, after spending three weeks' holidays with his wife, Mrs. H. J. Hurley, 80 Queen Street.

A successful euchre was held at their new club house Friday evening under the auspices of the South End Athletic Yacht Club. The winners were: Ladies' first, Mrs. Fred Bell; second, Mrs. Donovan; third, Miss Griffin; fourth, Mrs. Gibson; men's first, Mr. Bell; second, Mr. Lancombe; third, Mr. Seamer; fourth, Mr. Hammond. Lunch was in charge of Mrs. Branion; men's, Mr. Rogers. Prizes for the progressive euchre were won by Mrs. Cote and Mr. Lucas.

The home of Mrs. R. B. Simpson, Albert College, was the scene of a very charming event on Friday night when Mrs. Simpson and Mrs. Kenneth Crews of Trenton and Miss Vera Simpson entertained at a bridge and shower in honor of Miss Mae Totton, bride-to-be. The rooms were beautifully decorated with roses and spireas. Bridge was played during the evening after which the guests were entertained by Mrs. J. A. Summers of Montevideo, Uruguay, South America, who told of the customs and people of Uruguay and accompanied her song on the guitar sang very charmingly in Spanish. The bride was presented with a buffet lunch was served in the dining room which was decorated in pink and white. The tea table was lovely with white spiraea and pink candles, bridal bells and streamers. Tea was poured by Miss Ethel Nurse. After lunch Miss Totton followed an intricately woven ribbon at the end of which were found the gifts of white. "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow" then concluded a delightful evening.

Weddings

LEONARD-OTTER

The marriage took place at 70 Millwood Road, Toronto, on Wednesday, June 5th of Dorothy Bernice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Otter, Toronto, and Allan Frederick Leonard, son of Mrs. Leonard of Tweed, and the late Mr. Frederick Leonard. Rev. T. W. Maxwell officiated.

JUBY-LEITCH

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized in the presence of immediate relatives and friends of the families by the Rev. W. J. Walker at seven o'clock on Monday morning, June 3rd at the home of the groom's parents, 3 Emily Street, when Martha Morrow, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Leitch, Shannonville, became the bride of Floyd Irvin, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Juby of this city.

During the strains of the wedding march played by Mr. Clifford Bennett the bride wearing a gown of white satin and carrying a bouquet of cottage tulips and maiden hair fern, was given in marriage by her father. Miss Jessie Leitch was her sister's bridesmaid, while the groom's brother, Mr. Douglas Juby of Toronto, was groomsman.

During the signing of the register Mr. Clifford Bennett rendered piano solo "Love's Gift of Roses."

After the ceremony the guests entered the dining room to partake of a dainty buffet luncheon, a large wedding cake centred the table. The bride was gowned in white satin with bouquets of lovely Spring blooms. The bride and groom left by motor for a short trip to a short honeymoon, the bride travelling in Marine blue, with white accessories. On their return they will reside in Belleville.

MORDEN—SELLTOU

At St. Thomas' Church on Saturday, June 8th, a very pretty wedding was solemnized when Ruth, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Selltou, of Lakelsbang became the bride of Mr. Cecil Lloyd Morden, Wellington. Rev. H. F. Byers, B.A., officiated.

The bride, who was unattended by her sister, was given away by her father. She wore a charming frock of lilac bloue with white hat and accessories, and carried a bouquet of Sugerice roses.

After the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served at the bride's home. Mr. and Mrs. Morden left on the wedding trip to Montreal via Lake up residence in Prince Edward County.

McLEAN—CUMBERLAND

A quiet but pretty wedding took place Wednesday afternoon at St. Thomas' Church, Toronto, when Betty Cumberland, daughter of Mrs. and the late Mr. Cumberland and Mr. Cumberland, became the bride of Mr. Donald Mclean, son of Judge E. H. McLean, of Picton. Lilac and bridal wreath decorated the church for the ceremony, which was performed by the groom's brother, Rev. H. H. McLean of Lakefield.

The bridal party was proceeded down the aisle by the choir boys of the church, who sang. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Russell C. A. Cumberland, wore a bridal model of white satin, the drapage of the same color, and carried a bouquet of Premier Poulsen Rogers, bridesmaid, was in blue crepe and her bouquet was of crimson Talisman roses. She was also unattended.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Ronald Bowerman, 70 Millwood Road, where received, wearing figured silk crepe with black hat and corsage of lilies of the valley. Mrs. Cecil Lloyd assisted in receiving was in blue figured crepe with

CLASSIFIED ADS POINT THE WAY TO SURE PROFITS

Business Directory

AUTO LOANS

AND REFINANCING
Direct with Owner Car Financing
No AD Fees
S. J. FISHER & SON
39 Bridge St. East Telephone 160
Representing
Campbell Auto Finance Co., Ltd.
Toronto - Ottawa - London - Windsor

CHIROPRACTOR

S. A. WYATT, PH.C., CHIROPRACTOR and Drugless Therapist. Radiotherapy and Electrotherapy. Electro coagulation of tonsils and hemorrhoids. Spinal and foot adjustments. Manipulative surgery with instruments. Cystoscopy. Diathermy. Office 282 Clarence street, Belleville. Phone 1077.

VERA B. PITCHER, CHIROPRACTOR, and R. E. Pitcher, Chiropractic Physician, Graduates Modern Chiropractic and Physiotherapy. Office hours: 9-12 a.m., 2-5 p.m. Phone 4214. 474½ Bridge St. E., Belleville, Ont., Phone 1214.

DENTIST

DR. ROSS H. EMPSON
DENTIST
X-Ray Phone 460
Phone 460 Front St. 17-26

RADIO SERVICE

JOHN A. DEWAR
RADIO TECHNICIAN
Registered Graduate
249 John Street Phone 237
41-47

SURVEYORS

FRASER AYLESWORTH
Ontario Land Surveyor and Registered Professional Civil Engineer. Land Surveying, Town Planning, Lands and Buildings promptly attended to.
PHONE 2-J-3, BOX 69 MADOC, ONT.

INSURANCE

Protect yourself against accidents with our Automobile Insurance
SANDY BURROWS
and
HOWARD FROST
Life and Fire Insurance
261 Front St. Phone 120

HALL & EARLE

General Insurance, Fire, Automobile, Accident and Sickness
209 Front St. Phone 1216-W

STOCKS & BONDS

HOGAR AND CRAWFORD, MEMBERS of Toronto Stock Exchange, Phone 1788, E. K. Hogar, Belleville. 52-1y

LEGAL

WALLBRIDGE, GAMMON AND CO., Barristers, Solicitors, etc. F. K. Wallbridge, K.C., Money to loan. Dominion Bldg., Belleville corner Front and Bridge streets, Belleville, Ontario.

MALCOLM WRIGHT, K.C., SOLICITOR, Belleville, Notary Public, Etc. Office: Campbell St., Belleville.

T. W. WELLS, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Notary Public, Etc. 13 Campbell St., Belleville. Phone 1-W.

PORTER, PAYNE AND ARNOTT, Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public. Chas. H. Porter, K.C., Belleville. Office: 219 Front St., Belleville.

PONTON AND MILLIKEN, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Conveyancers, etc. H. L. Ponton, K.C., Solicitors, Bank of Montreal Building, Montreal. Cable address, "Ponton." Code, A. B. C. 6th Edition. Office: Belleville.

DONNAN AND BUTLER, B. C. Donnan, K.C., B. C. Butler, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Office: Donnan Building, Belleville, Ont. Phone 228

PHONE 99
Classified Ad. Rates

SOCIAL NOTICES—Births, 50c; Marriages and Engagement Notices, $1.00; Deaths, $1.00; Cards of Thanks, $1.00; Brief Notices of Entertainments, $1.00; Memorial Verse, $1.00; Resolutions of Sympathy, $1.00 to $2.00; over 150 per count line. Obituaries, $1.00 per insertion; memorial insertions charge, 75c.

CLASSIFIED RATES—Minimum charge, 25c—1½c per word each for first insertion; 1c per word for each subsequent insertion. Minimum charge for each subsequent insertion, 25c per week, minimum 3 words.

COMING EVENTS—25c per insertion for 25 words or under; over 25 words, 1c per word.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS—Yearly.

BUSINESS CARDS (Yearly Contract)—Minimum charge, $1.00 per line.

OFFICIAL, MUNICIPAL AND GOVERNMENT NOTICES (including those concerning Legal Sales)—15c per agate line (14 lines to the inch) for first insertion; 10c per line for each subsequent insertion.

CARD OF THANKS—Not over 50 words, including to count as 12 words minimum 25c. Memorial Verse, manuscript, insertions, 3c per word.

An initial or figure counts as one word.

In estimating allow five words to the line.

Telephone your Want Ads when it is convenient for you. PHONE 99.

The Ontario Intelligencer will not be responsible for more than one insertion of any Want Ad unless it is in writing.

Advertisers may have their replies addressed to Box Number care of the Ontario Intelligencer.

WANTED

RELIABLE MAN FOR HUNDRED acre rock, fruit and poultry farm; distribute, collect. Experience unnecessary. Pay $25 weekly, $5 extra weekly. Apply Shamas Mfg. Quincy, Mass. 310-11

MEN WANTED

MEN WANTED IMMEDIATELY IN every city, town, country in Hastings, county, to distribute Rawleigh Household, toilet, household products, patterns, Spices, Extracts, Perfumes, etc. Hustlers can make $35. weekly to start. Write today, rapidly. The Rawleigh Products Co., Ltd., Dept. MPN-1-J, Montreal, Quebec. MM 313 2 310

SUMMER BOARDERS IN PRIVATE home, by country lady, near good fishing, river, bathing. Phone 316 Springer Line, Madoc. 309-10

LOAN OF $2000 ON $4000 ASSESSMENT (farm property). Write Box "C" care Intelligencer. 307-tf

FOR SALE

NUMBER OF SLIGHTLY USED KITchen chairs cheap. Also Simmons steel bed, spring and mattress. Apply 277 Albert street. 310-11

1927 BUICK COACH, FIRST CLASS condition, color green. Apply 227 Albert street. 310-11

WINDOW AND DOOR SILLS, VENEtian blinds, screen doors. Apply Chas. Cutler, Point Anne. Phone 3-R11, Bell. 310-tf

GILSON ELECTRIC WASHER, PORTsite cabinet, Nurse electric vacuum cleaner, Apply 19 Victoria street. 310-11

CHEAP FOR CASH — 8 ROOM HOUSE, Division street, Trenton, central location. Apply 36 Dundas street, Belleville or Box 122, Trenton. 310-tf

FOR SALE—ONE DELIVERY, LICENSED truck, six wire wheels. Exact shape, good tires, motor and body A1. Will be towed and reasonable down payments. Apply Intelligencer. 310-tf

TAPESTRY COVERED DIVANETTE, in good condition. Apply Intelligencer. Mrs. Mark Tucker, first house on left outside city limits, Dundas Road. 307-tf

FOR SALE OR RENT

TWO SUMMER COTTAGES ON MOIRA Lake and Baptiste Lake. Apply Frank Hamlin, Marlbro. 304-tf

TO LET

NEW HOUSE IN BRAMEY STREET—all conveniences. Possession July 1. Apply 45 Bleecker avenue. 310-tf

SIX ROOMED HOUSE WITH IMPROVements. Apply Geo. Daws, 192 James street. 310-tf

4 HOLLOWAY STREET — ALL MODern conveniences, newly decorated. Apply Garage. Apply W. H. Foster, 61 Ontario street. 310-tf

2R BRICK STREET AND 36 CHATHAM street. Apply 202 Albert street. 17-3t

HOUSE, PINNACLE STREET, FIRST door north Dundas Church. Apply 12 Victoria avenue. Phone 1-W. 310-tf

133 WEST MOIRA, ALL MODERN IMproved conveniences, will be vacant early July 1. Reliable parties only need apply. Phone 42 Green Ridge. 310-tf

SEVERAL UNFURNISHED, HEATED apartments. All conveniences. Possession desired anytime. Apply 305 Front St. 309-tf

APARTMENT HEATED AND FURNISHed or partly furnished for light housekeeping. Apply 176 Front St. 309-tf

MEDIUM SIZED APARTMENT, HEATed, hardwood floors, electric refrigerator and stove. Immediate possession. Apply Ontario Intelligencer, Phone 99. 309-tf

AUCTION SALE

On and by virtue of chattel mortgages I will offer for sale by public auction, on Thursday, June 13th, 1935, at lot 12, con. 2, Tyendinaga, the following live stock and chattels, previously mortgaged for sale and unencumbered, the property of Sprague Cleaners, at their plant, Corbyville, Front and Collier streets:—Certain machinery, chattels, steam boiler, truck, delivery equipment, office furniture, etc., also certain machinery which will be sold in bulk. Terms of sale cash. Goods to be sold in bulk.

Geo. O. Thor, Auctioneer.
Louis Sousa, Bailiff. 310-12

MASONIC FUNERAL

The Masonic fraternity will be extended an invitation at the Methodist Church for the purpose of attending the funeral of the late Brother Charles Albert Bailey on Tuesday, June the 11th at 2.30 p.m. D.S.T. Masonic clothing. By order of the W.M.

GEO. DULMAGE,
Secretary No. 11.
310-11

IN MEMORIAM

BROWN—In loving memory of our dear father, George Brown, who passed away June 10, 1930.

Fifteen years have passed, dear father,
Since you were called away.
And oh we remember
The sad and dreary day.
Home lonely now and the parting
Is what the farewell cost.
But memory keeps you with us
Here in our hearts you are lost.
—Lovingly remembered by wife, son George, Clive and family. 310-11

DIED

HULLEY—At Belleville General Hospital on Sunday, June 9, 1935, Charles Albert Hulley, in his 68th year.

The funeral will take place from his late residence, 12 Sarah street, on Tuesday, June 11, at 2.30 p.m. Interment Belleville Cemetery. 310-11

TICKELL & BROWNE

FUNERAL DIRECTORS
Wm. Tickell, Jr.
FUNERAL HOME
Corner Church St. and
Victoria Ave. Phone 2255

BELLEVILLE BURIAL COMPANY

FUNERAL DIRECTORS
41 Chapel St. Phone 124-W
Day and Night
J. W. IMLAH
Proprietor
Management Crypts For Sale

Thomas C. Thompson
Funeral Director
and
Funeral Home
25 Everett St. Phone 42
Office
222 Front St. Phone 42

UP TO $30. EACH PAID FOR U. S. INDIAN HEAD CENTS

We buy all kinds of coins and paper money. Up to $1.00 each paid for U. S. Liberty Head cents, 1793 to 1857, and $100. each for Canadian coins. We buy Gold Paper Money, Large Cents, Silver Dollars, Encased Postage Stamps, Confederate bills and fractional currency. Send 10c for price list and further particulars. Coins not returned unless or are refunded.

HUB COIN SHOP

118-120 FRONT ST.
SARNIA — ONTARIO

CUTTING WEEDS 1935

Notice is hereby given to all persons that noxious weeds must be cut within the limits of the City of Belleville on or before the 15th day of June, 1935, under the authority of the by-law passed by the Council during the month of the week and the cost of same will be charged against the properties proper ties.

CHAS. A. MOTT,
City Engineer and Weed Inspector.
310-17-3d

BUSINESS LINERS

BABY CHICK FEEDS
The Best Sorts in Large Or Small Orders
at
BISHOP'S SEED STORE
Phone 283
We Deliver

LOST

SUNDAY—BUNCH OF KEYS IN LEATher case between Victoria Park and McAnany's store. Finder kindly leave at this office. 310-tf

LOST

ONE PAIR OF TAN GOLF SHOES ON Saturday, Bexley golf course or Dundas street. If left at 44 Dundas, Intelligencer office. 310-tf

THOU SHALT NOT KILL!
Drive Carefully!

Belleville Locators

Gen. W. Gorman, Prop.
Phone 16 House Phone 667

Current Attractions at Local Theatres

What Local Theatre Managers Have to Say About Current Offerings

AT THE REGENT

"Star of Midnight"

Mystery, Suspense, Romance And Comedy Blended In Double Bill

Presenting William Powell and Ginger Rogers, two of the screen's outstanding favorites, and telling a story replete with mystery, suspense, romance and comedy, "Star of Midnight", coming to the Bells tomorrow and Tuesday, matinee and evening, is a delightfully entertaining and completely absorbing picture.

Powell and Miss Rogers teamed for the first time in this RKO Radio production, are absolutely at home in roles made to order for them. Miss Rogers, as Anthony Sherlock Holmes and Dr. Watson combination, does very well in the mystery line. Their detective teamwork is unique in its way but, with the delectable Miss Rogers providing more laughs and more heart throbs than clues, Powell is kept unadvertisedly manage to provide Powell with the key to the whole mystery.

The well-conceived, closely knit plot moves quickly at times and at other times with slack tensity toward a nail-biting climax. Dramatic tempo is subtly woven into the whole picture.

Supporting performances by Ralph Morgan, Gene Lockhart, Paul Harvey, Leonard Mudie, Russell Hopton, J. Farrell MacDonald and a large array of other capable performers are excellent, Morgan and Lockhart are particularly entertaining.

Stephen Roberts, the director, has imparted just the right touches of lightness and dramatic intensity.

The screen play is based on the story of the same name by that master of mystery fiction, the late Arthur Somers Roche.

"Star of Midnight", presents Powell at his best. Miss Rogers is also in a really outstanding story, and as anyone knows, that means brilliant performances.

"Black Sheep", Funny

Clever direction of a cleverly studied "Black Sheep" is announced as the new screen treat opening on the same program. This sparkling comedy-drama boasts a cast of Hollywood favorites including Edmund Lowe, Claire Trevor, Tom Brown, Florence Fairbanks, Thurston Hall, Herbert Mundin, Fred Sterling, Jed Prouty, Billy Bevan and David Torrence. The Bells and News Pictorial as introduced by the rambling reporter, Roddy G. Hill, will be exhibited on the same program.

"Sequoia" Tomorrow

The most amazing revelation of nature's intimate secrets ever attempted for the screen is to be seen in "Sequoia" (pronounced "Sea-Quo-Yah") a jungle romance featuring Jean Parker, and announced for presentation at the Bells tonight for the last time. Miss Parker and Russell Hardie provide a human theme for the story of the young people who find love among the breath-taking beauties of primeval National Park, World's Largest forest of giant trees, "Royal Cavalcade" a novel feature film presentation with all important British events of the past 25 years, and a comedy attraction on the same program.

QUINTS' CHARTS TO BE EXHIBITED

Will Feature Display at Joint Assembly of Medical Associations

Atlantic City, N.J., June 10 (CP) —Physicians from all over Canada and the United States are expected here in the first joint assembly of the American and Canadian Medical Associations, sessions opening Monday and continuing until June 14.

Three major activities will engage the medical men during what will probably be the largest convention of its kind ever held in the United States. Scientific exhibits will be displayed. Sessions of the Canadian Medical Association and the House of Delegates, the legislative body of the American association, will also be held.

A high point in the scientific exhibit will be the "Chart Life of the Dionne Quintuplets," presided over by Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe of Callander, Ont., physician to the famous babies and his brother, Dr. William Dafoe of Toronto. The exhibit consists of more than 200 displays illustrating advancement of the profession and medicine since the last meeting.

The American Medical Association, through the Board of Trustees, has provided four large special exhibits. One dealing with diabetes is to be presented in a committee that includes Sir Frederick Banting and Dr. Charles H. Best of Toronto, who shared the Nobel Prize for their work on insulin, and Dr. Frank D. Wells, Boston.

Advances in new fields that are constantly being explored by investigators in laboratories and hospitals everywhere will be summarized in hundreds of papers. Some of the leading students of the glands of internal secretion are to present recent revelations of the laboratory and results of practical application of their findings. Among these are: Drs. J. B. Collip, Montreal; E. C. Kendall, Rochester, Minn.; Frederick H. Falls, Chicago; Hector Charles Cameron, London, and Kenneth D. Rowntree, Philadelphia.

Besides these new developments, the old problems of tuberculosis, cancer, heart disease and many other ailments will be attacked for fresh angles.

A WANT-AD will FIND IT!

GRAND OFFICER VISITS L. O. L. AT ELDORADO

Grand Organizer Tells of Recent Travels Abroad

Eldorado—On Tuesday evening, June 4th, the members of L. O. L. No. 517, Eldorado, held an open meeting in the Orange Hall. Quite a number from the surrounding communities were present. Rev. Cochrane, Anglican Church minister from Marmora, acted in the capacity of chairman, Mr. Graham, of Kingston, Grand Organizer, was the guest speaker of the evening. He, having recently visited England, Ireland, Scotland, gave a very interesting discourse. Rev. W. O. Fletcher also gave a short address. Mr. Welsh, Master of Picton Lodge, was present and spoke a few words.

Y. P. S.

On Sunday, June 1st, the Eldorado and Union Young People's Society had charge of the service in the absence of the pastor, Mr. Vernon Steele, president, presided and opened the service with a singsong of old familiar hymns and gospel music, with Miss A. Harvey acting as organist. The 19th Psalm was read alternately. Miss Annie Fleming offered prayer. A solo, "Dear Lord Forgive" was very feelingly rendered by Mr. Ross McCarey. A story, "Her Roadway" was given by Mrs. Perth Hawley, and was much enjoyed. Mrs. Alb'rt Harvey gave a very enjoyable solo, and great expectations. The guest speaker was Mr. John Bristol of Madoc, subject of the hour, Patriotism, who was present and gave a very helpful and interesting address. Solo by Mr. Alex Gordon's son, Russell Whyte.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gordon spent the week-end with Mr. Bancroft visiting at her sister's, Mrs. Magee.

Miss Marion Bronson is the guest of Mrs. Russell Whyte for this week.

Mrs. Bancroft, daughter of Rev. Mr. Bancroft of Bancroft, visited at Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gordon's for a few days this week and were also callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Whyte.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gordon spent the week-end with Mr. Bancroft visiting at her sister's, Mrs. Magee.

Miss Marion Bronson is the guest of Mrs. Russell Whyte for this week.

Mrs. Bancroft, daughter of Rev. Mr. Bancroft of Bancroft, visited at Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gordon's for a few days this week and were also callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Whyte.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gordon spent the week-end with Mr. Bancroft visiting at her sister's, Mrs. Magee.

Miss Marion Bronson is the guest of Mrs. Russell Whyte for this week.

Mrs. Bancroft, daughter of Rev. Mr. Bancroft of Bancroft, visited at Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gordon's for a few days this week and were also callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Whyte.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gordon spent the week-end with Mr. Bancroft visiting at her sister's, Mrs. Magee.

Miss Marion Bronson is the guest of Mrs. Russell Whyte for this week.

Mrs. Bancroft, daughter of Rev. Mr. Bancroft of Bancroft, visited at Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gordon's for a few days this week and were also callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Whyte.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gordon spent the week-end with Mr. Bancroft visiting at her sister's, Mrs. Magee.

Miss Marion Bronson is the guest of Mrs. Russell Whyte for this week.

Mrs. Bancroft, daughter of Rev. Mr. Bancroft of Bancroft, visited at Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gordon's for a few days this week and were also callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Whyte.

"Lightning Strikes Twice"

For the purposes of merry entertainment "Lightning Strikes Twice", Friday and Saturday at a continuous full farce comedy. It is filled with laughs and heart-throbs and is a happy blend of good story, deft direction and excellent acting by an all-star cast.

Its story is a three-way "smash" between a rich young heiress, nearly wrecked by diverting complications, a fiancee scorned in her affections, is paralleled to its climax by a dynamic young newspaperman, and by a murder mystery growing out of a butler's attempt to pull off a obnoxious black face act.

The hero is Stephen Brewster, wealthy youth who has a thing with his father, by his sunt, who is to meet the girl and her parent to his home. Stephen is caught with the dancer in his arms, and the dancer is ordered out. She is taken by the aunt for the other part of a visiting stranger.

Meanwhile the butler has met a cop dropping into a manhole, and the cop is knocked for a cast another police officers is trapped in the manhole. Soon the whole place underground are screamingly funny. Then Stephen's fiancee is killed the con. ...ocesses also.

Stephen is in a big murder mystery, with three men killed, presumably by a maniac.

Then comes all the complications rush to a stirring and satisfying climax.

The excellent supporting cast includes Ginger Rogers, Verna Hillie, Todd, Pert Kelton and Chick Chandler.

"Harry" Tra Plates today and Tuesday. Shows at 2.30; 7.15; 9.15.

FOREIGN: SECRETARY

SIR SAMUEL HOARE
Succeeding Sir John Simon, Sir Samuel Hoare, becomes foreign secretary in reformed British cabinet.

signates the New England area for consideration by the War Department in setting up a chain of frontier air defense bases.

County Cheese Boards

Cornwall, June 10—At Saturday's meeting of the cheese board there were 264 boxes colored and 64 boxes white cheese boarded; all sold at 9 7-16 cents.

Perth, June 10 — At Saturday's meeting of the Perth cheese board there were 262 boxes white and 195 boxes colored cheese boarded; all sold at 1-2 cents.

Belleville, June 10—At Saturday's meeting of the Belleville cheese board there were 185 boxes colored and 977 boxes white cheese boarded; all sold at 9 13-16 cents.

Vankleek Hill, June 10—At Saturday's meeting of the Vankleek Hill cheese board there were 154 boxes colored and 1,277 boxes colored cheese boarded; white sold at 9 5-8 cents and colored sold at 9 1-2 cents.

Napanee, June 10—At Saturday's meeting of the Napanee cheese board there were 509 boxes colored and 364 boxes white cheese boarded; 329 boxes sold at 9 5-8 cents, balance refused.

Delta, June 10.—At Saturday's meeting of the Delta cheese board there were 792 boxes colored, 176 boxes white total 900 boxes cheese boarded, all sold at 9 9-16 cents.

Chaselman, June 10.—At Saturday's meeting of the Casselman cheese board there were 445 boxes colored and 30 boxes white, total 475 boxes cheese boarded; 20 boxes sold at 9 9-16 cents and 440 boxes sold at 9 1-2 cents.

Picton, June 10.—At Saturday's meeting of the Picton cheese board there were 118 boxes colored and 97 boxes white cheese boarded; all sold at 9 3-4 cents.

ARMY AIR BASE NEAR BORDER

Lake Champlain Chosen as Site by U. S.; Survey Made

Ottawa, June 10—Official Ottawa has learned that the United States proposal to establish an air base on Lake Champlain, Canada's base on Lake Champlain, Canada has agreed, but near the international boundary, including one Canadian township, has been the subject of his address was "Mountain Climbing With a Camera." He started by telling how he left Washington, June 1 with the United States on a huge defensive air base on an island in Lake Champlain. This is closed by a member of the House Military Committee has been under consideration by some national defence advocates.

Surveyed From Air

This committeeman, who prefers not to be identified at present at this time, said he and an army officer recently made an aerial reconnaissance of the Champlain area, and covered Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, as well.

He spoke especially of one risk involved. Island 2 1-4 miles long and 14 miles long. A base could be located there, he said, under the Rideau air base bill, passed last Wednesday by the House. It de-

CHEESE BOARD

A total of 997 white and 185 colored cheese sold on the Belleville Cheese Board on Saturday at a price of 9 13-16 cents each.

The following factories were represented:

	W.	C.
Shannonville	26
Bronk	37
Hirold	33
Foxboro Springs	40
Union	40
Wilton	26
Holloway	20
Quinte	49	36
Wooler	36
Sidney T. H.	38
Sidney Lea	56
Cloverdale	110
W. Huntingdon	18
Melrose	64
Roslin	50
East Hastings	34
Springbrook	23
Mountain	36
Morven	33
Moira Valley	33
Roslin	19
Quinte	38
Evergreen	81
Frankford	46
Tweed	54
Stirling	46
Victoria	27
Erskin	47
Glen	35
Buyers were Catron, 487; Hunter, 382; Hart, 287. Buyers present were: Messrs. Taylor, Hart, Hunter, McCrary, Cooke, Morton, Hill, Murphy and Catron.

George Murphy and Nancy Carroll in "I'll Love You Always" now on the screen at the Capitol.

Baseball
Current Sport

IN THE REALM OF SPORTING EVENTS

Bowling
Golf

Lemons Tossed at "Dizzy" But Hurler Smacks Three To Help Cardinals Win 13-2

Jeers of Fans Turn to Cheers as Team Shows Power

SHAKES LINE-UP

Brilliant Hurling Marks Games in The American

The great Cardinal battle between Dizzy Dean and Joe Medwick. Instead of leading to fisticuffs last night in the St. Louis club, apparently has been having a good effect.

Judging by results since the flare-up at Pittsburg last week, Dizzy and Joe are out to "show" each other on the ball field. Their work, plus a straight shake-up registered by Manager Frank Frisch, has brought the Cards three straight victories over the challenging Cubs and has enabled them to hold second place safe from Pittsburg threat.

Since the "scrap" Medwick, who was already in the midst of a hitting spurt, has drawn out seven hits in seventeen times up while Dizzy, after doing most of work Wednesday, came back to pitch a neat six-hit game yesterday while the Cubs hammered out a 13-3 decision over Chicago.

Some of the added punch which enabled the Cardinals to score in every inning and collect 21 hits came from the Saturday shake-up which shifted Pepper Martin to centre-field, put Burgess Whitehead at third and Frisch at second and returned Charley Gelbert to the regular shortstop berth for the first time in two years.

A few fans teased lemons at Dean when he came to bat the first time yesterday, but that bothered him not at all as he banged out three hits, running second in the day's clouting only to Gelbert and Jack Rothrock.

The Cards made the victory to hold their place in the pennant struggle as the third-place Pirates hammered out a 7-4 triumph behind Cy Blanton, who pitched five-hit ball for his ninth victory and was troubled only by Ernie Lombardi's pair of homers for Cincinnati's hits.

The league leading Giants took a close one from Boston's last stickers 5-4 as Joe Moore's tenth circuit swat of the season provided the winning margin as well as giving the Giants a tie with Mel Ott for the league home run lead. Brooklyn, raised out at Philadelphia, moved into fourth place ahead of Chicago.

Brilliant pitching and four-base hitting marred most of the American League contests.

Bridges of Detroit, winning his eighth league triumph, got the better of Chicago's rookie, Silent John Whitehead, 4-1, with the aid of Hank Greenberg's thirteenth circuit swat and but a shutout through Lloyd Hopkins' relief job.

In a similar way Fay Thomas of the Browns bested Lefty Hildebrand of the Indians 4-1 with five-hit hurling. All the scoring came in the fourth inning with homers by Bob Coleman and Hal Trosky.

Although three Washington flingers allowed only seven hits, the Senators had to go ten innings to beat the Athletics 3-4 after the lead had changed hands three times. Ossie Bluege's single brought in the winning run.

The Yankee-Red Sox clash is postponed because of wet grounds.

Batting Leaders

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Batting—Vaughan, Pirates, 393; Medwick, Cardinals, 360.

Runs—Vaughan, Pirates, 47; L. Waner, Pirates, 41.

Runs batted in—Medwick, Cardinals, 43; Vaughan, Pirates, 38.

Hits—Waner, Pirates, 70; Vaughan, Pirates, 69.

Doubles—Medwick, Cardinals, 19; Martin, Cardinals, 14.

Triples—Goodman, Reds and Lavagetto, Pirates, 5.

Home runs—Ott and Moore, Giants, 10.

Stolen bases—Bordagary, Dodgers, and Myers, Reds, 8.

Pitching—Parmelee, Giants, 7-1; Walker, Cardinals, and Castleman, Giants, 5-1.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Batting—Johnson, Athletics, 393; Moses, Athletics, 382.

Runs—Johnson, Athletics, 42; Dahlgren, Tigers, 36.

Runs batted in—Greenberg, Tigers, 52; Johnson, Athletics, 48.

Hits—Johnson, Athletics, 82; Gehringer, Tigers, 63.

Doubles—Averill, Indians, 14; Greenberg, Tigers, 12; Werber, Red Sox, 12.

Triples—Cronin, Red Sox, 7; Vosmik, Indians, and Bolton, Senators, 6.

Home runs—Johnson, Athletics, 14; Greenberg, Tigers, 13.

Stolen bases—Almada, Red Sox, 13; Werber, Red Sox, 10.

Pitching—Whitehead, Athletics, 6-1; Tamulis and Allen, Yankees, 5-1.

Standings

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Buffalo	29	18	.617
Toronto	29	23	.558
Baltimore	27	22	.540
Montreal	27	23	.540
Newark	25	25	.500
Syracuse	26	29	.500
Rochester	20	30	.400
Albany	18	33	.353

Yesterday's Scores.
Toronto 10-1, Newark 5-1.
Albany 3-8, Buffalo 2-5 (second game 11 innings).
Rochester 10-2, Syracuse 3-2.
Montreal 9-2, Baltimore 5-2 (second game called end of ninth, darkness).

Saturday's Scores.
Rochester 8-1, Syracuse 3-2.
Buffalo 5, Albany 4.
Toronto at Newark postponed, rain.
Montreal at Baltimore postponed, rain.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
New York	29	11	.725
St. Louis	27	18	.600
Pittsburg	28	20	.583
Brooklyn	23	20	.535
Chicago	21	20	.512
Cincinnati	17	25	.405
Philadelphia	14	26	.350
Boston	12	30	.286

Yesterday's Scores.
Pittsburg 7, Cincinnati 4.
New York 5, Boston 4.
St. Louis 13, Chicago 3.
Brooklyn at Philadelphia, postponed, rain.

Saturday's Scores.
Brooklyn 3, Philadelphia 2 (called at end of fifth, rain; second game postponed).
Pittsburg 14, Cincinnati 8 (second game called end of third, darkness).
St. Louis 5-6, Chicago 4-5 (second game 11 innings).
Boston at New York postponed, rain.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
New York	36	16	.809
Chicago	34	18	.654
Cleveland	34	19	.558
Detroit	34	20	.541
Boston	23	34	.404
Washington	21	34	.382
Philadelphia	17	35	.327
St. Louis	13	38	.313

Yesterday's Scores.
Washington 5, Philadelphia 4 (10 innings).
Detroit 4, Chicago 1.
St. Louis 2, Cleveland 1.
New York at Boston postponed, rain.

Saturday's Scores.
New York 13-3, Boston 6-4.
Philadelphia 4, Washington 3 (second game postponed, rain).
Chicago 3, Detroit 2.
Cleveland 3, St. Louis 2.

KINGSTON WINS FROM OSHAWA 4-0

Errors in Field Contribute To Downfall of The Brewers

Oshawa, June 10.—The Kingston Frontenacs came here Saturday for the first time this season to defeat the Genuine Breweries, Oshawa, 4 to 0 in a senior Central Ontario League game.

Masterly pitching by Clancy, with errorless fielding and timely hitting enabled the Ponies to obtain a shutout victory, although the game was keenly contested.

Imlah, in the box for Oshawa, pitched fine ball; but the team clashed up five errors in the field. Two walks, two hits and an error gave the Ponies three runs in the second inning. McQuaid's home run in the eighth completed the scoring.

Clancy allowed only eight hits and struck out seven batters. In six of the nine innings only three Oshawa batters faced him. Innis allowed four hits and struck out eight of the Ponies. Elliott, at short, was responsible for three of his team's five errors.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Tommy Bridges, Tigers—Outpitched John Whitehead, giving White Sox five hits and fanning five.

Paul Waner, Pirates—Hit homer and two singles in three times up against Reds, driving in four runs.

Ossie Bluege, Senators—Hit tenth inning single drove in run that beat Athletics 5-4.

Joe Moore, Giants—Batted in the winning runs against Braves with homer and single.

Ki Coleman, Browns—Hit homer with one on, double and single to beat Indians 3-1.

Charley Gelbert, Cardinals—Pounded Chicago pitching for homer, double and two singles, knocking in three runs.

MAPLE LEAFS WIN 2 FROM THE SENATORS

Places Toronto Team Firmly in Second Place

ALL TEAMS PLAY

Montreal And Baltimore Finally Tied For Fourth

While they'll have to work hard to beat the rest of the International League clubs so far as the keenness of the battle for first-division place is concerned, the Baltimore Orioles and Montreal Royals have been putting on the hottest kind of two-club scrap for the past week or so.

In the past seven days they've been tied no fewer than four times, they've spent much of the remaining time shoving each other down and up from second place to fourth and when they finally met to fight it out between themselves over the week-end they wound up in a stalemate.

The Orioles won the first game of their series Friday. The Royals squared accounts yesterday with a 9 to 5 triumph in the first game of a double-header and darkness finally halted the final encounter with the score tied at 2-2 after nine tough innings instead of the usual seven.

Leafs Win Two.

The lowly Albany club managed to break even in a double-header with first place Buffalo at Albany yesterday as Toronto's Leafs won the first game by 11 innings, Jack Salveson pitching a three-hitter, delivered the winning blow, a single, that scored Mulleavy from second.

At Newark, Toronto took both ends of a double bill, 8-5 and 2-1. Lee Handley, with a triple and a homer, led the Leafs' attack in the first game. Cliff Melton was driven from the mound after a five run rally in the third.

Ray Starr outpointed Tom Klein in a close second duel to give the Leafs the decision in the second game. Starr allowed only four hits.

At Syracuse, Nick Dallesandro's single with the bases loaded and two out in the last of the seventh gave the Chiefs a 3-2 win in the second game after they had dropped the opener to the Rochester Red Wings 10-3.

Johnny Mize of Rochester had a wood day at it, his homer in the first game breaking up a 2-2 deadlock and his four bagger in the fourth inning in the second putting Rochester into a lead that failed to hold.

AMATEUR BALL

The close-knit Intercounty League senior baseball standings had only a few kinks ironed out during the week-end and virtually none of the problems solved, judging from the biggest amateur circuit haven't decided definitely who are the best ivory

Stratford Nationals, the defending champions, slipped into a tie for leadership of the western group with a 9-0 shutout over Aylmer, but the Aylmer team still is even with the Nats. Ken Biddle hurled two-hit ball and struck out 12 in his most impressive performance of the season.

Galt Terriers advanced to first place in the eastern group with a 10-inning 6-5 victory over Kitchener-Waterloo. Another brilliant pitching job was done by Al Krakauska of Brantford who allowed Preston only four hits and won 1-0 in the ninth.

Strikes Out Fifteen.

Smythe was almost as effective as the Brant roundsman until the final inning. Krakauska struck out fifteen batters and allowed four hits while Smythe fanned nine and was touched for seven safeties. London hit Lefty Weeks hard in the early innings to set back St. Thomas Tom Cats 6-4.

While Guelph Maple Leafs were clubbing out an 11-4 decision over Dundas, the Hamilton group leadership was being shared by Vics and Moodie Tigers. Vics pulled up to within one game of the Tigers after doubling in the thirteenth inning. Ghent came in on a squeeze play, knocking the Falls catcher off his feet.

In the other Falls District game, St. Catharines pounded out a 15-3 decision over Niagara Falls Merchants.

Clancy pitched three-hit ball for Kingston Ponies and the Central Ontario Leaguers registered a 4-0 win over Oshawa. The lighting Ponies didn't need to accomplish much damage with their bats to win behind Clancy's great hurling.

HELEN BACK IN "NATURAL" HAUNTS

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, once acknowledged queen of the world's tennis courts, has started a comeback in an effort to regain her throne. After practising in California, Mrs. Moody is now in England, where she is competing in tournaments, preparing to enter the Wimbledon championship matches. She shows promise of regaining her old form. Here she is on the Wimbledon course, (taking across the nets to Trinity Hazlett, Wightleton professional.

CURRENT SPORT

DAY BY DAY

The Kingston Ponies, who have tasted defeat via the shut-out route twice this season at the hands of Oshawa, apparently learned the art of keeping their opponents from the score sheet from the locals, as they stepped into Oshawa and blanked the "beer barons" 4 to 0 on Saturday. Thanks to the Ponies, the Radios are now one full game out in front of the second place Oshawa squad while the Kingston nine advanced into a tie with the Petes for the cellar berth of the old C.O.B.L. In passing it might be worth noting that there has been some tidy close scoring games hung up in Max Swanston's collection of clubs thus far this season.

Today we find the Radios leading the parade with five victories in four starts, not counting their 9e game in Kingston, next comes the Oshawa gang, four in five starts having .550 ball, with two wins and an equal number of losses while Pelyerbors and Kingston wind up behind with two victories and three losses on their sides of the ledger. On Wednesday the Ponies entertain the Petes, when the loser will be dropped into sole possession of the cellar berth, but on Thursday the most important tilt of the week takes place right here in Belleville when the Oshawa "Brewers" make their initial appearance of the season. Now the Radios are entertaining the only club to beat them thus far this season and a duplication of that feat will move the Oshawa team into a tie for first place with the Radios, but a home town victory for the Radios will elevate their stocks considerably. With the Stewart-Warners hitting it off on all sizes, eights or maybe they're sixteens now, the fans will be out en-masse to witness them versus the "Brewers", especially as the league leadership is at stake on Thursday.

We are glad to announce that Jack Barclay left the hospital yesterday. Naturally Jim was slightly shaky, but Dr. Flynn the club physician announced he would be ready for action by Thursday. "Jim got a nasty blow and will have to take things easy for a day or two more, but he should be around and ready for duty at the next game," stated Dr. Flynn today.

Local wrestling fans were anything but pleased with Friday night's grappling exhibition at the arena when all the matches presented were anything but satisfactory. As pointed out by Chairman George Lee today, the Kingston promoters brought in Masked Marvel, Pavlos and Bonaboom all the way from Buffalo, N.Y., with the understanding they were top-notchers. "You can tell the fans that we acted in good faith and feel just as bad over the entire matter as do the wrestling fans," stated Mr. Lee today. "However, we intend making amends and are now negotiating with Jack Cercoran, Canada's premier wrestling promoter, in relationship to the bringing of a better class of wrestlers to Belleville for next Friday's show. Failing to do this we have an offer from Frankie Genevese, the Canadian featherweight champion, who has consented to appear in a mix-bout, that is guaranteed will be a good opponent in a preliminary bout, while we will bring Al Dunlop in to beat the Masked Marvel, if he can," said Mr. Lee, as he guaranteed a six-rounds show for next week in the Kiwanis runs a wrestling show at 8:30 on Wednesday. Mr. Lee added: "We intend putting on our own show next or closing up shop until next winter. If we cannot be assured of high class talent, we will call off activities until after the summer vacation, when better material will be available," concluded Mr. Lee.

In fairness to the Kiwanis wrestling committee it must be said that they are desirous of procuring the best performers in the business if possible. Not long ago we were in communication with Jack Corcoran in his office. We endeavored to persuade Mr. Corcoran to return to Belleville and put on a few wrestling bouts, but his answer was quite emphatic: "I lost considerable money playing in your town, as the fans cannot or will not pay for their wrestling. In other words the fans in Belleville will pay $1.75 at two-bit prices, my wrestlers will sag—notchers and mat-men be-fifty and seventy-five cents, but then a better class of wrestlers will be available, as perhaps I'll be able to pay higher prices after all. There is an old saying something about "we get just what we pay for in this world," and that applies to sports as well as any other line.

Following last Friday night's fracas at the arena we visited the dressing room of the wrestlers. Now we have known Johnnie Gyroffy for a number of years and always admired him for his genial attitude, especially prior to the bouts when he gathers the kiddies together and takes the arena and personally pays the government tax so they can enjoy the matches. Incidentally Johnnie is a real kiddies' favorite with the youngsters. But, that's not what we started out to relate—while talking to Dan Petroff over his questionable decision, we picked up one of the wrestlers' shoes and believe it or not it was the largest shoe we ever saw. "Who wears this ballaship?" asked we in astonishment. "Johnnie does," said Dan as he pointed to Gyroffy's giant hoofs, which are exactly size 16, or one size smaller than those worn by Prince Carnera.

Plenty of softball will be afforded local fans this week as no less than seven games are scheduled in the senior league with the Mercantile loop each team has at least one tilt during the week. The senior boys have a double-header on for this evening with the major attraction being at Centennial Park between Tweed and the Alemites, while the Young Canada Club tackle the fast moving St. Paul's nine. Both games should be well worth patronizing.

Today's baseball question and answer:

A runner on third starts home and batter steps back to allow him to come on home, but he goes back when he sees the pitcher make a quick throw to the plate. When the batter sees that runner is not coming home, he steps up to the plate, but not in front of it and is hit by ball. Is he out? asks M. B.

If the umpire failed to call time and batter was struck by a pitched ball, he would not be allowed to take first base as he stepped into the pitch. A batter is always supposed to try to avoid a pitched ball. He is not out, however.

LOCAL LEAGUE STANDINGS . . SENIOR C.O.B.L.

	W.	L.
Belleville	3	1
Oshawa	2	2
Peterboro	2	2
Kingston	2	3

Games This Week.

Thursday—Oshawa at Belleville; Wednesday, Peterboro at Kingston; Saturday, Kingston at Peterboro.

BAY OF QUINTE LEAGUE.

(Intermediate)

	W.	L.
Picton	3	0
Napanee	2	1
Belleville	1	2
Gananoque	0	3

Games This Week.

Wednesday—Napanee at Picton; Gananoque at Belleville.

BELLEVILLE DISTRICT.

(Softball)

	W.	L.
Aajmas	4	2
Tweed	3	2
Young Canada	2	2
Alemite	2	2
St. Paul's	2	3
Rednerswille	1	4

Games This Week.

Monday—Young Canada vs. St. Paul; Tweed vs. Alemite. Wednesday—Rednerville at Aajmas; St. Paul at Tweed. Thursday—Aajmas at Young Canada; Alemite at Rednerville; Tweed at St. Paul.

MERCANTILE LEAGUE.

(Softball)

	W.	L.
London Lunch	0	0
Simpson's	1	0
C.D.S.	0	0
Corporation	0	0
Loblaw's	0	1
Eaton's	0	1
American Hardware	0	1
Intelligencer	0	1

Game tonight—Ontario Intelligencer vs. American Hardware.

COMES TO RACE

In fairness to the Kiwanis wrestling committee it must be said that they are desirous of procuring the best performers in the business if possible. Not long ago we were in communication with Jack Corcoran in his office. We endeavored to persuade Mr. Corcoran to return to Belleville and put on a few wrestling bouts, but his answer was quite emphatic: "I lost considerable money playing in your town, as the fans cannot or will not pay for their wrestling. In other words the fans in Belleville will pay $1.75 at two-bit prices, my wrestlers will sag—notchers and mat-men be-fifty and seventy-five cents, but then a better class of wrestlers will be available, perhaps I'll be able to pay higher prices after all. There is an old saying something about "we get just what we pay for in this world," and that applies to sports as well as any other line.

Following last Friday night's fracas at the arena we visited the dressing room of the wrestlers. Now we have known Johnnie Gyroffy for a number of years and always admired him for his genial attitude, especially prior to the bouts when he gathers the kiddies together and takes the arena and personally pays the government tax so they can enjoy the matches. Incidentally Johnnie is a real kiddies' favorite with the youngsters. But, that's not what we started out to relate—while talking to Dan Petroff over his questionable decision, we picked up one of the wrestlers' shoes and believe it or not it was the largest shoe we ever saw. "Who wears this ballaship?" asked we in astonishment. "Johnnie does," said Dan as he pointed to Gyroffy's giant hoofs, which are exactly size 16, or one size smaller than those worn by Prince Carnera.

Plenty of softball will be afforded local fans this week as no less than seven games are scheduled in the senior league with the Mercantile loop each team has at least one tilt during the week. The senior boys have a double-header on for this evening with the major attraction being at Centennial Park between Tweed and the Alemites, while the Young Canada Club tackle the fast moving St. Paul's nine. Both games should be well worth patronizing.

Today's baseball question and answer:

A runner on third starts home and batter steps back to allow him to come on home, but he goes back when he sees the pitcher make a quick throw to the plate. When the batter sees that runner is not coming home, he steps up to the plate, but not in front of it and is hit by ball. Is he out? asks M. B.

If the umpire failed to call time and batter was struck by a pitched ball, he would not be allowed to take first base as he stepped into the pitch. A batter is always supposed to try to avoid a pitched ball. He is not out, however.

Get Ready
For Sunny Days Ahead

with a complete outfit selected from our smart stock of summer needs for the man about town.

Shirts and Ties
Flannels
Bathing Suits
Sweaters, Etc.

Quick & Robertson
Clothiers of Quality

BASEBALL

C.O.B.L. F.

EXHIBITION PARK

Thursday, June 13 at 6.15 p. m.

Daylight Saving Time

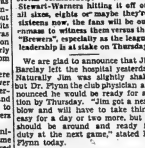
OSHAWA (Dominion Brewers)
—vs—
BELLEVILLE (Stewart-Warners)

With the League Leadership at Stake both Clubs will be battling to put out a Win

ADMISSION 35c CHILDREN 15c (including tax)
GRANDSTAND FREE

J15-12

CHANGE COURSE FOR PUNT RACES



Held in Front of Country Club on Wednesday Afternoon

At the request of Mr. Logan, convener for the jewellers' convention to be held at the Country Club next Wednesday, the regular sailing races scheduled for Victoria Park will be run in front of the Country Club that day.

Six trophies have been donated to the Yacht Club for these races and a good turn-out of boats is expected. The trophies will be awarded the following classes: A, B, 16 ft., C, D, and Snipes. Besides the trophies the regular season's points will be awarded.

Boats will assemble at the Bay Bridge at 2 p.m. This will allow for the races to start at about 2.45 p.m. D.S.T.

TOO CLISE FOR JOCKEY'S COMFORT

Here's where a jockey had a bad few minutes and nearly a headache. Proxy, the horse, became a bit fractious in the starting stalls at Belmont Park, L.I., and started in to show how she could rear. Bobby Jones (the jockey, not the golfer) found his head uncomfortably close to the steel bars when his mount went up. When Proxy finally got under way, with Jones still astride, she couldn't muster enough speed to finish show how she could rear. Bobby third in the dash.

JACK LOVELOCK

Arriving from England to race against Bill Bonthron and Glenn Cunningham, June 15, in a "mile of the century" race at Princeton university, Jack Lovelock, famous Oxford runner is pictured disembarking in New York. Lovelock set a new world record when he beat Bonthron two years ago, which since has been surpassed by Cunningham.

Daily Short Story

Leading Lady

(Copyright 1935 King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

When Summer colonies have tired of swimming, golfing, boating and just resting themselves they turn to amateur dramatics. Some local charity is selected as the recipient of the proceeds, which seldom exceed the expenses, and for two or three weeks nerves are on edge until "the" night arrives.

Occasionally some hidden talent is developed.

Oldport was no different from other Summer colonies except, so to speak, more so. For several actors, managers and directors spent their Summers there. Which by some obscure reasoning, made it absolutely necessary to have a Summer show.

The professionals usually tried to dash out of it but Allen Corbin, stage director for several moderate successes, was finally induced to direct the show, choose a cast, plan the scenery, pacify the disgruntled, praise the fairly-good and hope that he would survive until it was over.

That was until he met Eleanor. After meeting her he didn't care how long the thankless task went on.

Success Dreams

Eleanor, like the others, had had little or no previous dramatic experience. But also like the others, she dreamed of a sudden overwhelming success, instant recognition by outstanding producers—Broadway. And once more like the others, she considered herself the logical choice for the role of leading lady.

And Allen, after several tests, assigned it to her. There was some grumbling, of course, some whispering and some resentment but they would not have gotten it if Allen hadn't been "sold." And, because Allen had he heard the remarks would have admitted was true. He devoted almost half of his time to Eleanor during rehearsals and when they weren't in he make-shift theatre he devoted all of it to her.

As the play began to take shape and the professionals at the Summer colony realized they could safely begin to exhibit an interest in it without being drafted to aid, many of them started to attend the rehearsals. And the men, at least, complimented Eleanor on her acting, her charm and her beauty.

She enjoyed it. She enjoyed it thoroughly. She even believed some of it. Such things had happened.

And then Allen replaced her as the leading lady.

She couldn't believe it at first, when he told her that a Miss Stanley was to play the part.

"I think she's more suited for it," Allen tried to explain. "And you can take her part. It really doesn't matter much anyway, does it?"

Pride and Envy

Pride kept her from telling him but how well it did matter. And pride kept her from abruptly refusing the other role. But she was very near to crying, and during the rest of the rehearsals she could only envy the girl who had taken the leading role from her.

Her envy, a human, natural thing, was even worse on the night the show was presented. It was neither better nor worse than thousands of such shows, but that mattered little to the players. What did matter was that they had appeared behind footlights before real actors, and that sweet, graceful compliments were being paid to them.

Most of them went to Miss Stanley, and Eleanor hearing them, could not help but feel that had she remained in the role, they would have been paid to her. She turned and walked away.

She didn't notice that Allen was following until he called her. "You did very well," he said. "In fact some of them were very good. But I'm certainly glad it's over."

"Don't you think Miss Stanley was wonderful?" asked Eleanor. "All the others seem to think so."

Allen didn't reply immediately. Then he said, "Yes, but that isn't part about it is that she thinks so, too. Some fool who ought to know better will tell her she belongs on Broadway. And she'll waste her life trying to get there. She hasn't any talent, any real talent. Not even as much as you."

"Then why—began Eleanor. But Allen interrupted.

"Why did I take you out of the role?" he said. "Because I didn't want you to run that danger. I didn't want you believing you were meant to be big stars. Because you're not. I didn't want you giving up everything for a hopeless dream. I've seen other girls do it. And I didn't want you to do it. Do you want to know why?"

But Eleanor suddenly knew why.

LEG ULCERS

Respond Promptly To This Treatment

Many a days you have sold you would give everything you possess to be rid of the torture, discomfort, Varicose Ulcers cause in life or getting about. We say Mother's method will not heal it or it won't cost you a cent. Positively years of struggle with Leg Ulcers, Varicose Veins, Open Sores, Eczema, etc., and scientific proof that it is the cause of which will prove to her that you can be free from the misery and physical handicap you have endured. Write today and learn of Mother's Method. All free of charge and no obligation. If by the above the sores on your leg are not healed, the money will be cheerfully refunded. Never made in Canada. Price, 50c.

GOES FIVE TIMES AS FAR AS OTHER PREPARATIONS

Little Benny's Note Book

Weather, Grate.

EXTER!

Explorers Return

Saltiday morning Sid Hunt and Glasses Magee the famous explorers followed 3 unknown fellers that was calling each other names, and threatening to punch each other in the snoots, ony after about 5 blocks they hadn't, acually started to fite, so the 3 scrapers got disgusted and cawt a hitch home on the back step of a ice wagon.

BIZZNESES AND FINANCIAL

Sid Hunt's big brother Fred, who is not working again at present, is busy drawing plans for his latest, a combination battleship, submareen and airoplane that will either go under water, on top of the water or up in the air depending on what button you push. Fred claiming he'll libel to make a million dollers selling it to some government ainty claiming he'll give his own povernment the first chance if it acts quick.

POME BY SKINNY MARTIN

Especially Them

There's a animal called the Ibex
And a animal called the gnu,
And if you want all your life without seeing them,
It wouldn't matter to them or to you.

TRUE ADVENTURE STORY

Once I stared a lion rite in the face like a hipnotist and it turned around and wanted the chief to see ony I'm not sure if it would of did the same thing if I had of had me in the jungles instead of me having him in the Zoo behind a lot of bars.

Sent in by Puds Simkins.

INTERESTING PLAY PRESENTED BY MOIRA CAST

Rawdon, June 10—The color of Bethel United Church sponsored a play entitled "The Red-Headed Step-Child", by Moira talent on Wednesday evening June 5th and considering the busy season a fair number were in attendance.

The characters of the play were: Mrs. Richard Russell, Miss Verna Foster; Mrs. Woodruff, Miss Hilda Elliott; Mrs. Scott, Miss Elsie Hanna; Mrs. Grigge, Iva Butler; Mr. Edward Emerson; Lucia Russell, Miss Norma Ketcheson; Dudley Russell, Mr. Barnard Herlity; Richard Russell, Mr. Milton Vanderwater; Elizabth Russell, commonly called Bess, Miss Ruth Emerson; George Carrison, Mr. Harold Mott; Ethel Ashley, Miss Leona Morton; Lucille Christie, Miss Gladys Bateman; Flora Farnum, Miss Lillian Vanderwater.

The three acts were all staged in the Russell House.

The play was well presented and was keenly enjoyed by those in attendance.

Between acts Misses Blanche and Laurelea McMullen sang a ummperance duet "Little Blossom," Master Bobby Elliott was heard in a solo "Alice in Wonderland."

Mrs. M. Hayton rendered two fine readings entitled "Mrs. McDuffy attends a Baseball game", and little Bobby recites "Little Jack Horner."

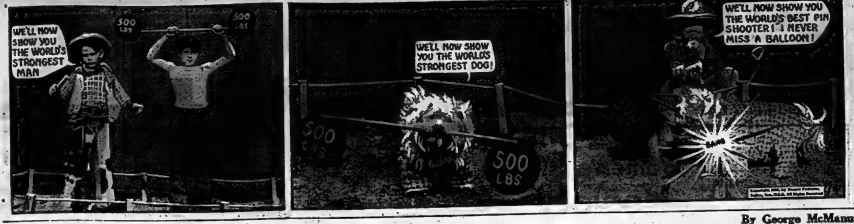
Mr. S. C. Tucker made a capable chairman and filled in the spaces with humorous stories. The proceeds amounted to nearly thirteen dollars and Bethel plan to use their share to purchase new choir Lcoks.

The Bethel choir served a tasty lunch at the close and all joined in the National Anthem.

Words of appreciation were extended to the cast for their very fine presentation of the entertaining play.

Six Months of Suffering Stops

Finds Dodd's Best for Backache



"I am thirty-seven years of age and suffered from kidney troubles and sore back for the past six months," writes W. B. Tyrell, Wasyna, Ont. "I tried nearly everything but got no results until I discovered Dodd's Kidney Pills. I have only used three boxes and can now do any kind of work. I can recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all sufferers as there is no better remedy." Take Mr. Tyrell's advice. Try the first sign of backache turn to the time-proven remedy.

Dodd's Kidney Pills

TEX AND HIS PALS (Actual Photographs)

Copyright, 1935, by Herbert Pinkerton, Dallas, Texas, U.S.A. All Rights Reserved.

By Leslie A. Hill

BRINGING UP FATHER—

By George McManus

TILLIE THE TOILER—

By Russ Westover

DANGER TRAILS—

By The Famous Explorer Martin Johnson

MR. AND MRS—

By Briggs

TARZAN THE UNTAMED—

(Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service)

The victims at the stake could not see the cause of the sudden bedlam, but Tarzan did not have to see. At once he knew the voices of the apes, wondering what had brought them for he could not believe they had come to rescue him.

Numisho and his warriors broke quickly from the circle of their dance to see, pushing toward them through the ranks of their screaming and terrified people, the very white girl who had escaped them a few nights before.

Behind her came what appeared to be a horde of the huge, hairy forest men whom they so greatly feared and held in awe. Striking right and left with heavy fists and tearing with his great fangs, came Zu-tag, the young bull. At his heels surged his hideous apes.

Straight toward Numisho the girl fought. When Tarzan beheld them he was amazed to see who led the rescuing anthropoids. "To Zu-tag he said: "Oh for the big bulls while the she unbinds me." He called to the girl sgy.

DOLLAR DAY

TUESDAY!

Come Early and Share in These Big Feature Values!

Seconds in Women's Silk Hosiery

Light service weight in fine, full fashioned silk hose—silk to the top, too. Choose from Acorn (light brown); teadance (sand); Tropics (beige sand); Stringbeige (light beige) and Smokescreen (medium grey.) A big saving in prize Dollar Day. Lay in a good supply. Sizes 8½ to 10½ in the lot.

2 prs. 1.00

— Main floor, left

Two-way Stretch Girdles

In peach only, a two-way stretch elastic girdle, in French style with garters. A big value, for misses and women taking sizes small, medium or large. Each .....

1.00

— Second floor

Smart House Frocks

Of crisp cottons, in block and floral effects, with short sleeves and pleated skirts. Practical for hourse or garden wear. A choice of color combinations. Sizes 34 to 44 in the group.

Each 1.00

—Second floor

Mattress Covers

Of strong factory cotton, cut in single and double-bed sizes, with ties for attaching.

Special, each 1.00

— Main floor, centre

Work Hose

6 Pairs 1.00

A nice weight for summer, of strong, sturdy cotton yarns in white with black or brown designs. Good full sizes.

— Men's Store

Men's Linen
Handkerchiefs

12 for 1.00

A good quality handkerchief of fine white linen, with neat hemstitched hem. Stock up at this low pricing Tuesday.

— Men's Store

All Wool One-Piece
Swim Suits

For misses and women, one piece all wool swim suits, in tweed mixtures. Sizes small, medium and large in the group. A choice of colors include black, blue, red, green, etc.

1.00

Each 1.00

— Second floor

Hand Sewn
Fabric Gloves

2 pairs 1.00

Popular cuffseen style, of smooth fabric, in pull-on style. The color choice includes brown, grey, sand, black and white. Sizes 6 to 7½ in the lot.

— Main floor left

Save on Stamped Goods

Pillow Cases (of cotton)
42" size.... .... 6 for 1.00
Linen Cloth Covers
19" x 36".... .... 5 for 1.00
Cotton Bath Towels,
21" x 42".... .... 5 for 1.00
Cotton Aprons .... 6 for 1.00
Linen Guest Towels,
17" x 32".... .... 5 for 1.00

— Main floor, centre, right

Men's Sleeveless All Wool
Pullovers

All white, or white with stripe trim, in fancy knit, ideal for summer wear. For golf, tennis, etc. There'll be big demand for these—come early.

1.00

Sizes 34 to 42. Each 1.00

— Men's Store

Men's Fine Cotton and Rayon
Hose

5 Pairs 1.00

Fine check designs in black, red and grey—of cotton and rayon mixture, a weight suitable for all summer wear. Sizes 10½ to 11½.

— Men's Store

Men's Swim Trunks

Of wool, in black only, cut in popular, snug fitting style which men prefer. Special value in sizes 34 to 42.

Each 1.00

— Men's Store

Boys' Speed Style
Swim Suits

All wool in black only, well made for snug fit. One piece, speed style, or separate trunks with wide belt. Sizes 26 to 34. Each 1.00

— Men's Store

Seconds in Men's Work Shirts

2 for 1.00

Exceptional value in a good sturdy work shirt for men. Blue and khaki cotton materials, cut roomy and well finished. Sizes in the lot 14½ to 18.

— Men's Store

Men's Two-Piece Underwear

Two piece of, cotton broadcloth shorts, in a number of colored stripe effects, and cotton jerseys. Shorts 22 to 40. Shirts, small, medium and large.

4 for 1.00

— Men's Store

Boys' Sport
Oxfords

In beige and brown leather, with leather sole and rubber heels. Sizes 2, 3, 4 only.

Special, pair 1.00

Children's Smart
Shoes

Oxford and tie styles, or straps if you like, with McKay sewn sole of leather and rubber heels. Comfortable for growing feet, and yet with good heavy soles for long wear. At this price you save and make a good investment. Sizes 6 to 10 and 11 to 2.

Pair 1.00

— Men's Store, rear

Boys' Black and White
Running Boots

Boot style, with thick, heavy rubber soles. Smooth and white, canvas uppers, in sizes 11 to 13 and 1 to 5.

Pair 1.00

Bread Boxes

1.00 Each

Roll top style, of heavy tin with glass knob. Ivory with contrasting trim. Sizes 10½" x 15½" x 13½"

Each 1.00

— Basement

Grass Shears

Blades of highly tempered steel, 5-inch cut, securely fastened to varnished wood handles. Length overall 21 inches.

Each 1.00

— Basement

18-Piece
Tea Sets

Ideal for summer cottages, in blue windmill design on a spit cream ground, or scrubie-effect in blue on cream. 18 pieces, including 6 each of cups, saucers and plates.

Set 1.00

— Basement

4-String
Corn Brooms

3 for 1.00

2 Gallon Tin
Motor Oil

1.00

Light, medium and heavy grades too, in this motor oil, in two gallon tins. A big special purchase brings this oil to you—a well known make at a big saving in price.

— Basement

Garbage Cans

Heavy galvanized metal cans, with bale type handle, and dog-proof lid.

Large size. Each 1.00

— Basement

Ironing Boards

Strongly made, from clean new pine, size 11" x 4 feet long. Folding style.

Each 1.00

— Basement

Imitation Filet
Net Curtains

In ivory color, a pretty design, the size about 36" x 2½ yards long. Buy several pairs at this pricing.

Pair 1.00

— Main floor, rear

All Feather Filled
Pillows

Covering is a sturdy striped ticking, size 16" x 26" A special purchase priced to save for you.

Pair 1.00

— Main floor, rear

Silverplated Ware

A fine assortment of pieces, including Bon Bons, Trays, Comports, Butter Dishes with knife, Flower Bowls, Relish Dishes, Sandwich Trays, Candlesticks. Be early for these. Each or Pair ....

WEATHER
Light to moderate winds; partly cloudy and moderately warm, with a few scattered showers or local thunderstorms.

The Ontario Intelligencer

TEMPERATURES
Today 71 48
Year ago 77 57

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, JUNE 11, 1935

WIDOW OF TYRRELL TILFORD TAKEN IN CUSTODY

NEWS BRIEFS AND ODDITIES

Kamloops, B.C., June 11 (CP)—A sudden end of blues was found today in the pocketbook of a boy, aged eleven. Id, bombed himself when a freight car door bumped shut and crushed his head as he apparently tried to "beat" his way aboard a westbound Canadian Pacific Railway freight train. The text of child's bloody inscribed: "from Billie Tucker to R. D."

* * *

Chicago, June 11 (CP)—In the near-Great Depression the birds feather their nest with $5 bills and Charley F. Calhoun, farm editor of the Minneapolis Tribune, brought evidence to the advertising federation convention to prove it. He exhibit was the nest of a brown thrasher. A five-dollar bill, neatly folded to conform to the shape of the nest was still crisp.

* * *

New York, June 11 (CP)— His own 99 years and a hockey team's club did not prevent Louis King, 81 from carving a $3,000 payroll. The snowy-haired veteran at the France-Prussian war was alone in his canteen's cage in a getting-ready mood when the thug knocked him down with a club and grabbed for the cash box. Kingsaid sprang back on, floored the intruder with his fists and grappled with him on the floor. The knockout away, however.

* * *

Johannesburg, June 11 (CP)— Able Pienaman couldn't take years of jail. This morning he was to have been released he was found hanging from a window in his cell.

The explanation was he had been in close contact with the stock market, had sold short and lost and couldn't face the prospect of leaving jail without a shilling.

* * *

Guelph, Ont., June 11 (CP)— When local source switched ministers of the household, William McMullen called police who found Gordon Ramsell, 21, missing, asleep on a chesterfield in the living room. He was arrested on a charge of breaking and entering.

* * *

Victoria, June 11 (CP)—Officials of British Columbia's Department of Agriculture found a poser when they tried to advance suggestions for an Alta Lake district farmer to feed his chicken bug. "Could you prescribe for me some drug that it could be put to feed to put it to sleep for five or 15 minutes?" The request was conveyed in part. Decisions of department members wavered from show of number or a dose of poison or rum in mash. The province it was considered, could not prescribe drugs—even for a bug.

* * *

Edmonton, June 11 (CP)—Alberta's provincial election will be held in July provided the government is not afraid of trust it people, W. R. Howson, K.C., Liberal leader predicted last night in an address.

* * *

New York, June 11 (CP)—A special dispatch to the New York Times from Berlin reports that Dr. Allen Werner, emeritus professor of Swahil and Bantu languages in the University of London, died yesterday. She was 75.

3 ARMED MEN ASSAULT GIRL

Was Sitting With Friend When Ordered Out of Car

Toronto, June 11—(CP) — Police in suburban Leaside are hunting for three armed men who beat and criminally assaulted a young woman late last night after ordering her from a car in which she sat with a man friend.

At the same time city police hunted three bandits, who may have been the same trio, for the holdup of William Bassette, of Hamilton in High Park in the suburban section of Toronto. Bassette, sitting with a girl companion, was robbed of $12.

Two milkmen on their rounds at Leaside found the blacked girl as she told police the bandits jammed a gun into her back when she refused to get out of the car.

She was taken away and one of the men assaulted her. She was found, disheveled and dazed, at four o'clock but was able to give police the license number of the car of her attackers.

Bassette was parked on South Road in High Park when three gunmen drove up. They jumped out and ordered him at gun-point to hand over his cash.

MRS. E. TILFORD APPREHENDED ON MURDER CHARGE

Police Claim Widow Murdered Husband by Poisoning

INQUEST SEQUEL

Crowds Follow Car Carrying Woman to Jail

Woodstock, Ont., June 11—(CP)—Mrs. Elizabeth A. Tilford, Woodstock, was formally charged with the murder of her husband, Tyrrell Tilford before A.E. Roth, J. P., at the courthouse today. At the request of R. N. Ball, K. C., the Crown Attorney, she was remanded in custody until Monday next.

Mr. Ball stated he would probably need a further remand on that day.

The accused was represented by Frank Regan of Toronto but he did not take any part in the brief proceedings.

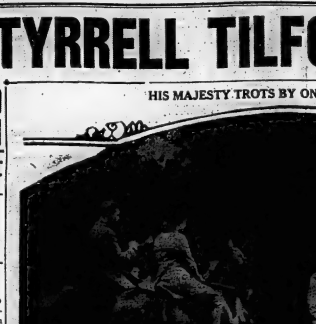
Arrest

Woodstock, Ont., June 11 (CP)—Ontario held Mrs. Elizabeth Tilford, 48-year-old widow of Tyrrell Tilford who died of arsenic poisoning, in Oxford County Jail today on the charges of murdering her husband. She has steadfastly denied the alleged death-bed statement that she fed him poison.

"I'm not guilty and have nothing to worry about," she told her daughter and two sons last night as she left the Tilford home on the outskirts of Woodstock in the care of Inspector R.D.L. Hammond to a jail cell. "I shall be back in a few days when this thing is over."

Ten weeks to the day after Tyrrell Tilford died, Hammond and Provincial Constable Jack Clarke took the widow into custody. The step was taken following a conference in Toronto with Attorney-General Arthur W. Roebuck and Chief V. A. S. Williams of the Ontario Provincial Police.

The 35-year-old teamster had been buried six weeks before an official investigation into his death was started. The body was exhumed and examined by experts of the Attorney-General's Department. An inquest was ordered. A coroner's jury decided last Friday night that Tilford died from arsenic poisoning.



Followed By Crowds

Sensational evidence at the inquest, including testimony by the farmer's aged parents and his sister, Mrs. Isabella Ireland, who died here before his death, April 1, he had been given arsenic by his wife.

Professor Jocelyn Rogers of University of Toronto, who examined the stomach and viscera of the exhumed body, testified he found sufficient arsenic to indicate enough had been taken to cause death.

Woodstock, knowing Attorney-General's Department officials were preparing to take a decisive step in the case, was ready. Mrs. Tilford's arrest. Many citizens cruised in their motor car about the neighborhood last night until Inspector Hammond and Constable Clarke appeared at the house.

When they came out with, their prisoner and headed for the jail in a police car, a procession formed behind. The curious kept up with events until the widow disappeared behind the front door of the jail.

HIS MAJESTY TROTS BY ON ROTTEN ROW

Notice the awe and reverential respect with which the groom doffs his hat in salute as His Majesty King George of England, rides by on his horse. When the King rides by it is customary for other riders to take their mounts to the side of the road. It is customary for other riders to the aristocratic name of Rotten Row) to let His Majesty pass.

REV. ROBT. J. CRAIG TO RECEIVE D. D.

Demorestville Cleric Honored by College of Montreal

Montreal, June 11—Veteran minister of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, Rev. Robert J. Craig of Demorestville, Ont., Clerk of Kingston Presbytery, will be honored by the Presbyterian college of Montreal with a degree of Doctor of Divinity in a special convocation at the college today.

Decision to offer Mr. Craig the degree was made at a special meeting of the college Senate, Principal F. Scott Mackenzie announced last night at a special service honoring the diamond jubilee of Presbyterianism in Canada. Principal Mackenzie said Mr. Craig was the only member of the present Assembly to attend the first meeting in 1875 when the present church came into being.

65 Cents Postage For $1,000,000 Gem

New York, June 11—(CP)— At a cost of 65 cents' postage, the Junk gem diamond arrived yesterday on the liner President Roosevelt.

The 726-carat gem, largest uncut diamond in the world, is insured for $1,000,000, was transported from England in an ordinary registered mail sack. All the shippers could yet in special instructions was "Handle."

The stone purchased abroad by Harry Winston, was taken from the liner at quarantine in a mail boat for delivery to the customs appraiser's stores, where it will go through the formalities of examination. Being an uncut stone, there is no duty.

Time to Make Common Cause, 'United' Head Tells Assembly, 'Forget What is Behind'

Estrangement of Churches Would Mean Faithlessness, He Says

BRINGS GOODWILL

Heads of Presbyterian and United Churches Exchange Goodwill

Montreal, June 11—(CP)— First Moderator of the United Church of Canada to visit a general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, St. Rev. Richard Roberts of Toronto appeared here in an unofficial capacity today and urged Presbyterians to forget the things that are behind.

A plan fell over the church in this year of 1935, 10 years after Church Union, as the silver-haired United Church moderator mounted the platform. He was accompanied by Dr. James Paulds of Cornwall, President of Montreal and Ottawa United Church Conference, William Birks of Montreal and Rev. William Munn, Secretary of the conference.

The Presbyterian Moderator, Rev. Dr. D. T. L. McKerroll of Toronto, welcomed Dr. Roberts to departed he was presented with a copy of the general assembly votes and proceedings.

Assembly Welcomes

"In terms of personal communication I take great pleasure in welcoming you to this platform and extend to you the right hand of fellowship and brotherhood," said Dr. McKerroll.

Dr. Roberts said he was grateful for the courtesy extended in welcoming him.

This year he had the pleasure of seeing three men he called friends elevated to moderatorships. One was Dr. McKerroll.

"I have come, fathers and brethren, here today as my own invitation and am grateful that you have taken me at my word," he said.

While he came unofficially, he came with good will.

Common Task of Churches

He said he has had a growing concern for the kingdom of Christ in Canada and "this church and my church" had a common task in promotion of it.

If the two churches, continued in any measure of estrangement they would be faithless.

"I believe the time has come for us and for you to have more direct frankly accept the situation that has been created, step by step, without injunction to forget the things that are behind and make common cause in bringing the whole of Canada to the feet of Jesus Christ."

While there were matters of difference between them, these could be settled.

Wishes For Church

"I pledge myself to you that on my side I am going to labor to promote this," he declared. "This church cannot prosper beyond my desire for it. As you prosper so will my church."

"Like yourself, speaking unofficially, I want to thank you for your good wishes and your good will," said Dr. McKerroll.

He could express also the desire to draw closer to Jesus Christ, said Dr. McKerroll.

In the great task to which the country called them, he felt the churches could go forward with good will.

FIND 4 BODIES IN NUBIAN DESERT

Signs Showed Frenchmen Died in Agony of Thirst

Khartum, June 11 (CP.-Havas)— The bodies of four French Colonial Office employees were reported to have been found in an isolated spot on the Nubian Desert in the Northern Sudan.

The men, belonging to the colonial administration at Dakar, Senegal, had evidently died in indescribable agonies from thirst, hunger and exhaustion.

Reports reached here stated that the bodies had been found by desert officials. Officials here received that they had passed through Khartum in a specially equipped automobile on May 30, having arrived from Dakar after crossing the Sahara and nearly the entire breadth of Africa.

The four, whose names were Autrec, Endler, Martin and George Ault, arrived here in relatively good health and spirits. After obtaining supplies and making repairs, they continued southward, with Wadi Halfa their next destination. Somewhere en route tragedy overtook the quartet.

Sensational Evidence In Hauptmann Case Promised by Bruno

Hollywood, Calif., June 11 (AP)— Sensational new evidence which the defence hopes will clear Bruno Hauptmann of the Lindbergh murder, is expected before the case reaches the New Jersey Supreme Court, Attorney-General A. Mazro, Hall-Mills Attorney, said today.

Mazro said he was retained as counsel by the condemned man's wife.

"We think it will better show proof of the original theory of the kidnapping as advanced by Hauptmann's counsel," he said.

In Hauptmann's defence. It was intimated the kidnapping of the young son of Charles A. Lindbergh was an "inside job."

WHERE SERVANTS MAKE NO EXCUSE

Canadian Tells Her Experience With Servants in India

Toronto, June 11 (CP)—Wife of a captain in the R. A. M. C. at Cawnpore, India, Mrs. Ethel Rogers Mulvany, the only Canadian woman in that city, said in an interview: "I am here to direct the Agra and Oudh exhibit at the Canadian National Exhibition." Then she launched into interesting details of housekeeping problems.

She started out two years ago with the theory that Indian servants could be treated like servants elsewhere. She soon got rid of that. "You can't treat them as you would treat servants here," she said. "They wouldn't understand it. I couldn't do any dusting about the house, for instance. If one of the servants saw me working, he would tell the others and they would be ashamed to be seen in such a position. Then I'd find the whole lot of them loiling around doing nothing.

She has some 22 servants in her household. Over them is a head man, or bearer, who gives orders to the coolies. For her to order the coolies herself would be to destroy the whole system of discipline.

The servants never make excuses, or give a reason if they are in the wrong. "They just say, 'I'm an Indian of course, 'Sorry, Sahib,' it shall not happen again'. It is unnecessary to be absolutely strict with them; if you once let them get out of hand, you are lost.

"Suppose I want roses for a dinner party and there are only three left in the garden. I simply tell the servant that I shall need roses for the occasion. He goes off and in the evening the vases are filled with roses. No one shows any surprise or asks any questions, but we know that one of the neighbors has had roses, and that when he needs anything badly we shall lose that in our turn."

MAYOR LEAVES FOR KITCHENER

Mayor Tice left today to attend the Conference of Ontario mayors scheduled to meet in Kitchener on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. It is estimated that between fifty and fifty of Ontario's chief magistrates will be present.

Murder Charged at Bethany Farmer Shows No Emotion

Cobourg, Ont., June 11—(CP)— Ralph Portsmith of Bethany, held here since the shooting of Neil Blake, was charged with murder today. He appeared before Justice of the Peace Leslie Wilson and was remanded for one week. He showed no emotion when the charge was read.

Portsmith was charged with murder after a coroner's jury in Bethany last night found Blake "came to his death June 5 from a gunshot wound fired by a .22 calibre rifle in the hands of Ralph Portsmith." Portsmith previously was held on a vagrancy charge.

Police evidence at the inquest was to the effect Portsmith told officers he had trouble with Blake over Portsmith's wife and had ordered the former here on several occasions several times. Constable Walter Hall testified Portsmith told him he shot Blake but "I never intended to shoot him; I just wanted to scare him."

NATIONAL CHURCH IDEAL HELD UP BY CHURCH HEAD

Commemoration of Union Observed at Maple Leaf Gardens

WORLD OUTLOOK

Union Called Greatest Step Towards Holy Catholic Church

Toronto, June 11 (CP)—A solidarity deeper and firmer than its leaders 10 years ago would have dared to anticipate was the realization of the United Church of Canada, said Rev. Dr. Richard Roberts, Moderator, declared in a sermon to 12,000 adherents gathered in celebration of the 10th anniversary, in Maple Leaf Gardens last night.

But realization alone did not mark the sum total of prayers and sermons last night. Responsibility for progress, a challenge to go on in further great strides to a church "supra-national in its sympathies and outlook," was thrown out to the gathering.

Although the service here was of a national character, similar Churches elsewhere in the Dominion held their own celebrations of the union 10 years ago at Methodist, Congregational and part of the Presbyterian Churches in Canada.

Possibilities in National Church

"The overwhelming conviction which I have brought back," said Dr. Roberts, who had just returned from England, "is that of the immeasurable possibilities for the good of a nation that lie in a National Church.

"We should welcome the opportunity of conferring with any of our sister communions in this Dominion on the subject of a National Church, if come back wholly dedicated to the idea of a National Church of the mind—a National Church which is moreover supra-national in its sympathies and outlook," he declared.

"A future historian may find himself saying that this union was the longest step taken since the reformation toward restoring the Holy Catholic Church to its primitive comprehension, that is to say, apostolic foundations," the Moderator told the vast throng.

Fidelity is Asked

"The present generation must "hammer and hew at the foundations, engineering in the teeth of the storm," continued Dr. Roberts. "We are well and truly laid," he said to the church members. "Stand by the Christian unity, the principle for which the United Church stood, be-ware in no uncertain terms.

On the platform with him were Rev. Dr. T. Eakin Duncan, Moderator, and Rev. Dr. James Robertson, Rev. Dr. Thomas Moore, former Moderators.

A choir of 500 voices under Dr. H. S. Pricker, accompanied by the band of the Toronto Regiment, under W. M. Mackenzie, took part in the service.

From India, China, Trinidad and other mission fields, as well as from all parts of Canada, 1,000 delegates were in the west, were read to the gathering.

Celebrations in connection with the 10th anniversary will continue throughout the Dominion in the fall.

Motorcyclist Suffers Fracture of Leg

Carman Ray of Madoc, is a patient at Belleville General Hospital suffering from a compound fracture of the leg which may necessitate amputation, the result of an accident when the motorcycle he was riding in a collision with a car about eight o'clock last evening. The young man, who is about twenty years of age, was driving east, and came directly behind a truck that was going. The injured man was brought to Belleville General Hospital by the car driven by Dr. J. J. Robertson.

$116,000 RANSOM FOUND BY POLICE $90,700 BURIED

Weyerhaeuser Money Is Found Hidden in Utah Canyon

WALEY 'CONFESSES'

Fugitive Deserts Car And $16,000, Hoover States

Washington, June 11 (AP)—Recovery of $116,000 of the $200,000 ransom paid for the return of the kidnapped George Weyerhaeuser was announced today by J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the Justice Department's Bureau of Investigation.

This included $90,700 found buried in a canyon today near Salt Lake City.

This amount was buried in the historic Immigration Pass, 12 miles south of Salt Lake City, Hoover said. He added it was recovered after the confession of Harmon M. Waley, under arrest at Salt Lake City Saturday.

Hoover said the fugitive, William Mahan who deserted his car and "between $15,000 and $16,000" probably has the balance of the ransom money with him or buried.

Money Burned

Waley burned $4,000 of the ransom money because "things became too hot," he added. The $3-men said the Waleys had spent "about $300."

The remainder was not immediately accounted for.

The possibility the fugitive Mahan "had short-changed his partner in crime, Waley," was announced by Hoover. He said approximately Waley received only $60,000 of the $200,000 ransom.

Salt Lake City, June 11 (AP)— Federal agents pushed toward a swift clean-up of the George Weyerhaeuser kidnapping case today on the heels of Utah and Colorado developments in the west's greatest manhunt.

One of their major objectives was the capture of William Mahan, missing ex-convict and bank robber, flushed Sunday at Bridgeport, where his abandoned motor car was found to contain $15,155 of the $200,000 ransom paid for the release of the nine-year-old Tacoma, Wash., timber fortune heir.

* * *

Clerical Changes Made in Kingston Archdiocese

Kingston, June 11—(CP)— Three clerical changes in the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Kingston are announced by Archbishop M. J. O'Brien.

Rev. J. F. Feeney, rector of St. Mary's Cathedral, has been appointed to the parish of Wolfe Island, succeeding Rev. D. A. Carey, Father Carey goes to Reed, a charge left vacant by the death of Rev. Father Thomas McCarthy, parish priest there for 56 years.

Rev. M. J. Brady, member of the staff of Regiopolis College, Kingston, succeeds Father Feeney at St. Mary's Cathedral.

WEATHER

Toronto, June 11 (CP)—Rain has been general from the lower Ottawa Valley eastward and to the Maritimes showers have occurred in Northern Ontario and Saskatchewan, though in other districts the weather has been fair. It has been warm in the West with above normal temperature in Ontario.

Lake Superior: Light to moderate winds; mostly fair; becoming a little unsettled later Tuesday.

Kenora and Rainy River: Fair and moderately warm.

Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta: Mostly fair, with much the same temperature; probably light showers in a few sections.

F. Shorey Burned About Head Trying to Save Machinery

Neighbors Raid Wells and Save Sidney Farmhouse

LIVESTOCK SAVED

Fire of an unknown origin completely destroyed the frame barn on the farm of Frank Shorey, fourth concession of Sidney, near Wallbridge this morning. Mr. Shorey was painfully burned about the head in attempting to save some of the machinery in the barn.

The fire broke out about nine-thirty and was over in a short time. All the neighbors of the surrounding district were called to give assistance and through their efforts part of the machinery and the stock were saved. A quantity of hay and straw was lost, however.

The barn belonging to Mr. Shorey lies on the top of a large hill overlooking the surrounding district and any wind present could be given a clear sweep as no other building shelters the barn. But by the time the fire was discovered much headway had been made and it had taken an almost unsurmountable start. Sidney Township Firefighters were also handicapped by the lack of necessary equipment and water supply and were faged with a heavy task. Radios were made on the nearby wells and a bucket brigade was formed.

Belleville fire fighters concentrated their efforts on keeping the flames from spreading to the frame farmhouse and were successful in this. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Coming Events

SUCHRE IN LIBERAL COMMITTEE Rooms over Dominion Bank, Thursday, June 13th, at 8 p.m. 211-11

GIRL GUIDES' COUNCIL SPONSOR Country Club Monday, June 17. Cards at 8.30. Prizes and good orchestra. Refreshments. Admission 50c. 211-11

AFTERNOON TEA AT MOHAWK, Church Street, Thursday, June 13th from 4 to 7 under auspices Ladies' Aid. 211-11

RESERVE JUNE 26 THURLOW CONservative Garden Party and Dance. Good Prize Programme. Popular Jazz Band. Free Bus. 211-11

MOOSE SUCHRE WEDNESDAY, JUNE 12. Cards 8.30. Regular prizes. Refreshments. Admission 25c. 211-11

QUINTE INN PRESENTING BRANTFORD Ells and her all-Canadian girls' orchestra on Tuesday, Wednesday night, June 12. A special entertainment. Theatre opens 8.30. 26-26

City and District News

COL. JOHN W. HAY WILL VISIT CITY

Colonel J. W. Hay of the Salvation Army, better known as Major John Hay, a former Divisional Officer of army work in these parts about twenty-five or thirty years ago, is visiting old ground and renewing old acquaintances. The Colonel is announced to be at the local Citadel Sunday evening (Wednesday), and conduct a special service at 8 p.m., long local Salvationists and friends, "Old timers" who recall this prominent officer will be pleased to see and hear him again.

PROF. WHEATLEY LEAVES THURSDAY

Prof. Wheatley is leaving for England on Thursday aboard the Empress of Britain. Mrs. Wheatley having cabled that her mother is not expected to recover. He hopes during his stay to do some post graduate work at Oxford University and to attend the combined Convention of the Royal College and Canadian College of Organists, of both of which he is a graduate. A

It Pays to Shop at the Rexall Store.

ELKAY'S
WHITE SHOE CLEANER and POLISH
For KID, Calf, Canvas and Buck Shoes
25c
McKeown's Drug Store

report circulated in the city that Prof. Wheatley is not returning to Belleville is entirely erroneous. Mrs. Wheatley will be joined late in the fall.

THROWING GARBAGE IN MOIRA RIVER

Many citizens who daily walk over the iron bridge have been remarked about the garbage that is being thrown into the river by the edge of the west end, that follows the river bank. One prominent citizen in particular, who has noticed this un-called for habit for some time said that not only does it raise a disagreeable odor and petrifies the water but it also looks as if the citizens of Belleville are taking no pride in maintaining the beauty of the city.

MEASLES EPIDEMIC OF MILD TYPE

An epidemic of measles is prevalent in the city. Many students are absent in the schools especially in the public schools. In one setting than one third of the students are absent in the room. Several boys have the measles placed tacked in convenient places on their person. In one instance eight houses in a row have the measles sign posted in noticeable locations.

STRAWBERRY CROP TO BE HEAVY ONE

The prospects are bright this year for an excellent crop of strawberries. The heavy rains of the past few weeks have proven of great benefit to the strawberry plants.

WILL IMPROVE ROAD IN NORTH COUNTRY

Reconstruction on the Maynooth-Combermere road is being carried out. Formerly this road was very narrow and in fair shape, but this road is now to be widened and put in better condition. It will attract many tourists who enjoy the scenic beauty that is found in that section of the country.

CAPITOL
Tonight Only
WITH ALL MY HEART ... all my soul ... all that I possess ...
I'll LOVE YOU ALWAYS
NANCY CARROLL
GEORGE MURPHY
With Excellent Cast of Players.
AND
Never Open a Door to a Stranger or Answer a Call of MURDER IN THE THIRST DEBREE!
RACHING STRIKES TWICE
Bob Fosters Shown Motorcycle and Yellow Mighty 8! 2.50: 7.50 8.15 with Sue Lyon Thelma Todd Pert Kelton Laura Hope Crews Lucien Littlefield Chick Chandler Walter Catlett
"DU BARRY" ITA PLATES
Wednesday
SPECIAL REQUEST FEATURE WILL ROGERS
in
"JUDGE PRIEST"
A Human Appealing Drama

Trenton and District

Teachers Cut Five Percent Salaries Not Although

Must Reduce Estimates Reason Given For Cuts

Trenton, June 11— (Special) — The members of the Trenton High School Board met last Thursday night to wind up their business for the present year. Mr. A. Fraser, the chairman presided at the meeting. Teaching contracts were let for the next term but all the public could learn was that a five per cent cut will be in force. The teachers salaries would not be given out to the press. The cut in the third of take place at the High School and the reason given is that the estimates have been again reduced.

Originally four resignations were received but after reconsidering one, that brought much protest in the form of petitioners, the matter was settled and that teacher will remain on the staff. Three additional teachers will be added at the beginning of the next term, Miss A. Kaylor, of Athens, Miss A. McIntyre also of Athens and Miss Hamilton of Paris High School. They will fill the place of the three, who are leaving. As for the other business, the other was asked to resign and a new teacher will get the staff temporarily. The reductions were mutually agreed upon by the Board and those affected.

A motion was passed asking the Department of Education for permission to establish an Agriculture option in a first form. Book-keeping will also be introduced in the lower forms.

It was also decided to re-tube the boiler at the school during the summer vacation. The next meeting will be held in September.

Two Minor Accidents

Two minor accidents concerning bicycles were reported to the local police. Robert Burr, aged 15, son of Corp. and Mrs. Burr, fell from his bicycle on Dundas street, opposite the Jordan's service station, in front of a Bell Telephone truck, driven by Fred Croft. The boy was not injured by the truck passing over the rear wheel of the bicycle.

Gordon Noon, received slight injuries to his knee when he drove his bicycle into the rear of a car, driven by Noemi Candette, Dufferin Apts., as the car turned off Dundas street, on to Dufferin Street. He was attended by Dr. J. W. Farley.

Field Day

Ideal weather prevailed for the annual outside sport and field day for the scholars of Dufferin Avenue public school which was held yesterday at the Mazda Park. The program was successfully carried out under the supervision of Miss Hazel Wright, Mr. Sherbert and the teachers of the school. A full list of sporting events was carried out the children many with their parents looking on in large circles and enjoyed lunch and lemonade. The following were the winners: boys 6-7, Murray Shephard, Donald Tait, Glenn Brown; girls, 6-7, Helen Hall, Norma Dempsey; boys 8-9, Billie Thompson, Gordon Mills; Evelyn Sweet; girls 8-9 Doreen Steobuy, Margaret Lick, Mary Hamilton; boys 10-11, Elmer Weaver, (Gerald McMurray, Norman Armstrong), (Gerald Gilleman, Fred Bonter); girls 10-11, Ethel Tait, Freda Bonter, Becky Gilleman; boys 12-13, Murray Brown, (Gerald Anderson, Bert Brown), (Albert Lavery, Jack Gilleman); girls 12-13, (Thelma Seale, Ruth Bonter), Eleanor Mac, (Freda Bonter, Muriel Farr), (Helen Seale, Ruth Bonter, Vera Bailey); bicycle race, Phyllis Little; 3-legged race, boys, Norman Armstrong, Murray Brown, (Bobby Orser, Elvan Sweet), (Bert Brown, Grant Burrows); 3-legged race, girls, (Thelma Seale Ruth Bonter), (Vivian Mann, Margaret Smith), (Becky Gilleman, Eleanor Smith); boys wagon race, Elvan Sweet, Billie Gilleman, Murray Brown; girls wagon race, Vivian Mann, Vera Bailey, Helen Seale; boys bicycle race, Robert Burr, Leslie Speer, Gerald Anderson; mixed 3-legged race, (Ruth Bonter and Don Burr), (Elvan Tait and Gerald Anderson), (Vivian Mann and Gerald Anderson).

Keeper King's Secrets Dies at Age of 82

Windsor, England, June 11—(AP) —Rev. Albert Lee, known as "the keeper of the King's secrets," died today at the age of 82 years.

The Rev. Mr. Lee, who returned in 1920 after 40 years' service as chaplain of the King's archives in Windsor Castle, was a close friend of His Majesty. During the war he had charge of many important documents, including telegrams from the former Kaiser of Germany and the former Czar of Russia.

READ Before You BUY!

SHOP AT ZELLERS
WEDNESDAY MORNING SPECIAL
Camp Stools
Sturdy hardwood frame with khaki canvas seat. Very useful for your camp or cottage at this very low price
17c

GANANOQUE TO DISPLAY WARES

Will Play Local Intermediates Here on Half Holiday

Officially opening the season with their first home game, the Belleville Amateur Baseball association entry in the Bay of Quinte loop meet the Gananoque nine at the local Exhibition Park on Wednesday afternoon. To date R. A. Fanning's charges have only won one game of their three played, but expect to elevate themselves standing into the .500 class with a home town victory. A victory on the home ice for the local intermediates will move them into a potential play-off position in the Bay of Quinte standing.

The Gananoque club, lead by Leo Amo, an ex-Belleville ball player, have been running in rather drastic straights of late, but with the addition of "Lefty" Dorey, a brother of Reg Dorey, the Island Town nine are coming to town in expectation of winning their initial game of the year, Manager Fanning has five pitchers ready to face the firing line in Bud Wilkins, Phil Loft, Bill Hammell, Rafe Largman and an elongated lad named Juby from Shannonville. Incidentally Juby fared more than well versus the packed Picton team last week during his short sojourn on the Belleville hilltop and may get the pitching assignment of the day on Wednesday.

SHERWIN WILLIAMS
ENAMELOID
The Enamel for every purpose—inside or outside. Dries in 4 hours.
PAULEY
(Ostrem's Drug Store)
DRUGGIST

PUBLIC NO. 1 FRIEND OUR
AIR COOLED FUR STORAGE VAULTS
World Wide-Year Round-All Risk Insurance with every Fur Garment
HUDSON SEAL Our Own Make ONE ONLY Special $265
DELANEY EXCLUSIVE FURRIERS
Phone 797 17 Campbell St. Established 22 Years
J. Gordon Delaney, Mgr.

'ANTACID
STOMACH POWDER
An effective digestant
QUICKLY RELIEVES IRRITABLE STOMACHS
1's ea. 49c
I.D.A. DRUG STORES

A WANT-AD Will FIND IT!

STIRLING W. I. PLANS PROGRAM

Regular Meeting is Held in The Community Hall

Stirling—The regular meeting of St. John's Women's Association was held on Tuesday June 4th, in the church parlors. The meeting was opened by the President Mrs. Arthur Gardiner with the singing of several hymns. The program was under the direction of Mrs. McKee and Mrs. Short. The Scripture lesson for the day was read by Mrs. Fred Jackman followed by prayer in unison. Miss Lola Currie then offered a very pleasing vocal solo accompanied at the piano by Mrs. (Dr.) Pedley, Murieta McKee, an instrumental number in a splendid manner which was followed by an interesting reading by Mrs. A. Shore the meeting was closed with all repeating the Benediction.

Women's Institute Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Stirling Women's Institute took place in the Community Hall on Friday afternoon. The meeting was opened by the President Mrs. Louis Rodgers with the singing of the Institute Ode followed by prayer, Mrs. R. H. Williams, Secretary then read the minutes of the last meeting. Miss Gena Spry gave a very instructive talk on Girl's work, and at this time the program committee gave their report having drafted out the program for the coming year. Each meeting will be in charge of one of the different Committees and the conveners of each Committee are named as follows:

December, Miss L. Donnan; October Mrs. Lawlor; November, Mrs. J. Wilson; January Mrs. R. Manch; March Mrs. Bronson and Gena Spry; April, Mrs. O'Donnell; May, Mrs. Jackman. Mrs. Manch not mentioned to be left open for special speakers, etc.

Mrs. J. M. McGee was appointed delegate to the District Annual meeting to be held in Picton with Mrs. at Sidney Baptist Church. Miss K. Kaylor, Secretary-Treasurer of the district was present at this meeting and reported. Three articles in which she brought greetings to the Stirling branch from the central branch.

Mrs. E. Munro then took over the meeting for a few minutes and was a recitation by Mrs. Lawlor. Mrs. Lawlor then read several recipes for salads. Mrs. M. Rodgers, Mrs. Jackman and Mrs. Wright Gena Spry and Mrs. W. West.

At this time Misses Joan and Olive Manch favored the ladies with a Little Honne for the Old Folks", Miss Manch playing the piano and Rowland Mrs. J. Wilson gave an interesting talk on the Queen's Jubilata in the flower show being sponsored by the Horticultural Society and summer. Mrs. Jackman directed a flower contest and the meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Stirling Civic Activities Commence

The official opening of Stirling Civic Activities will take place on Wednesday afternoon, June 5th, when a large number of the members were invited to take part in the tournament. Before the play began Mayor Ashley Wannamaker and were delivered by Mrs. J. McCool, Reeve Wilson, Mr. Leslie Wilson and Mr. C. N. Baker, President of the Men's Club. Mrs. Wilson chosen as two games played before tea and two in the evening and mainly ladies took part in the close of the afternoon activities.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rodgers were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rodgers.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hough and Douglas spent Sunday at the homes of their daughters, Mrs. Ross Hall and Mrs. A. L. Hough and Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Linn.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Cranston, Aurelia, spent the week-end with friends in Ottawa and Ogoodo Station.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bellville, was a week-end guest at the home of Mrs. Ross Bellville's brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Dracup of Trenton visited friends in Stirling on Sunday.

Mrs. Alex. Rodgers entertained a group of friends at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Gardiner, as a shower for Mrs. Hall, Tuesday evening in honor of Mr. Hall's birthday. Mrs. Gardiner was taken on that day among those present on the highway were Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Oreo. Rosebush, Miss Margaret Rosebush of Stirling and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rodgers of Tolvin of Foxboro.

Bon—Mumby—In Stirling on Thursday, June 6th to Mr. and Mrs. Eric Mumby, a daughter, (Carrol Joy).

Mr. Roy Tomlinson of Coe Hill spent the week end at his home here.

Mr. Thos. Cranston and his son James motored to Toronto on Thursday, June 6th, on business.

GIRLS' HOSTEL NEEDED

Toronto, June 11.—(CP)—Hostels for girls arrested for vagrancy were badly needed in this province, Mrs. Gunson, Provincial President for Nova Scotia, today told the annual meeting of the National Council of Women.

A new and modern act be formed for the Province in regard to the matter, Mrs. Gunson said. The majority of a child born out of wedlock" was the report presented to the Nova Scotia Government, Mrs. Ferguson, stated, in discussing the 15th annual meeting of the Province's Council.

SAID THE IMMORTAL JOHN RUSKIN:
"There is hardly anything in the world that some men cannot make a little worse and sell a little cheaper, and the people who consider price only are this man's lawful prey."
The ranks of the manufacturers of Optical materials—particularly in the case of lenses—are no more immune against the "chiseler" than others. Our protection is due to the nationally known best-to-be-had is to ask for ORTHOGON, TILLYER or CORECTAL. You can rely confidently on the careful sight analysis by an appointment with
J. A. McFee
Experienced Optometrist

DAY'S MANHUNT ROUNDS UP FIVE

Sixth Member of Suspect Gang May Carry 2 Revolvers

Thedford, Ont., June 11.—(CP)—Police, after a 36-hour manhunt, early today had arrested five of six men believed responsible for holding up a store at Parkhill yesterday. Fifteen shots were fired after four of them, two of the men arrested were said to have escaped from Guelph Reformatory a week ago.

Provincial Police Headquarters said the gang which broke into the Hassett store at 3.15 o'clock Monday morning and carried off a quantity of merchandise, largely men's clothing. She had no telephone and was badly frightened to leave her apartment to go to the store to call for help until after they had gone.

Police said the leader of the gang, believed armed with two revolvers, fled through the town of Thedford into the wilds of the piney.

Those arrested last night included Allen Edmund, Amherstburg and Charles Marshall, Brockville, sought by police, escaping in the main hurt arrested Vernon Saure and Robert Haskett, both of Sarnia. They have been placed in Middlesex County Jail.

TWO BOYS DROWN THIRD IN DANGER

Arnprior, Ont., June 11 (CP)—Alcide Bisson, 13, Arnprior, and Xavier Ladouceur, 16, Mansfield, Que., were drowned at Chat's Lake here early today.

Bisson and Ladouceur with several other boys were playing on the Arnprior side when Bisson slipped and rolled down the slanting breakwater into a depth of about twelve feet. He could not swim and Ladouceur dived in to his rescue. A neither of the youths immediately reappeared Chief Lawlor, companion, also went into the water in a further rescue attempt.

In this water, Lawlor said, Bisson and Ladouceur were locked together and he could not bring them to the surface. Two men dived down and got them and was practically exhausted when he reached the shore himself.

The body of Bisson was later recovered grappling was still going on for Ladouceur.

Shoot Doge At Sight Constable Gets Orders

Brantford, Ont., June 11—(CP)—Township Constable Hiram Slipper yesterday had been authorized by township officials to shoot on sight, all dogs running at large in the area of action followed numerous complaints of sheep worrying, fowl, chasing and worrying cattle and other domestic animals and other damage to gardens. Estimated number of sheep killed during the past month is 50.

STRIKERS LEAVE FOR MEDICINE HAT

Calgary, June 11.—(CP)—Fifteen hundred striking relief camp workers from British Columbia and Alberta were riding freight trains to Medicine Hat, Medicine Hat, Alta., 178 miles east of here, where they will make their next stop en route to Ottawa to ask abolition of camps and substitution of a "work and wages" program.

While in Calgary they were given donations of food and clothing by the citizens and $1,300 was obtained in a Saturday Tag Day as well as from supplies by the Alberta Government for their week-end meals.

Archbishop Marries Maid from His Palace To Shoe-Repairer

London, June 11 (CP Cable) — His Grace and Archbishop of York himself performed the ceremony when pretty Dorothy Shaw, for three years a kitchen-maid at the Archbishop's palace, was married today to George Wilson, a shoe-repairer of the neighboring village of Bishopthorpe.

Bird's Free Beach
OAK HILL LAKE,
NOW OPEN
Churches, Clubs, Family Picnics, etc., will find ample accommodation. Electric Lighted Covered Tables Free. NO COVER CHARGE. Everybody welcome—Up-to-date tea room.
CABINS TO RENT BY DAY OR WEEK.

Obituary

MRS. HENRY BURTT

Trenton, June 11—(Special)—Mrs. Henry Burtt, a resident of Trenton for over a half century, passed away Saturday afternoon in the Belleville General Hospital after a few days illness. The late Mrs. Burtt had been suffering for a short time but was about her home last week and her death came as a great shock to her many friends. Mrs. Burtt was before her marriage Miss Elizabeth Dudley and was born in Madoc seventy years ago, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Dudley. Mrs. Burtt took an interest in the affairs of the community and was a member of the Women's Institute and a member of the Sacred Heart Society.

During the Great War Mrs. Burtt's three sons answered the call to service and one son fell paid the supreme sacrifice. Ross of Trenton, Edward of Timmons and one daughter, Mrs. Harry Davis of Trenton are left to mourn her passing. A sister, Miss Nellie Dendey of Toronto and five brothers, James, Joseph, Patrick, Daniel and Thomas of Toronto and Daniel of Millbridge also survive.

MRS. MATTHEW CASEY

The death occurred at her home in Englehart, Ont., on Tuesday, June 4th, of Mrs. Matthew Casey, formerly Miss Mary Cleary of Millbridge, at the age of 76 years. Mrs. Casey was very active in church work, being a devout member of the Church of the Holy Trinity at Englehart.

She is survived by her husband, a daughter, Mrs. Dodge, Englehart and a son Mr. Thos. Casey of Cochrane, Ont.

The funeral took place in Toronto on Thursday, June 6th by motor from Belleville with interment in the Sacred Heart cemetery.

MRS. J. S. HORRELL (Midland)

One of the few remaining links connecting the Midland of to-day with the pioneer town of the past was broken with the death of Mrs. J. S. Horrell which occurred in Toronto on May 30th. The funeral took place at Midland on Monday, May 27th, the service being conducted at St. Paul's United Church, the officiating ministers being the pastor of the church, the Rev. W. R. Auld, and a former pastor, the Rev. Dr. Scott, Watch of Toronto, formerly of Holloway Street Church, Belleville. The service was very largely attended.

The late Mrs. Horrell was born near Belleville 89 years ago, her maiden name being Miss Isabella Hunter, a sister of the late Capt. Thomas Hunter. She went to Midland with her husband in the year 1876 when Midland was a thriving lumber village. Her husband conducted a large general store in Midland and he was the first Mayor of the town he died in the year 1909.

LATE PHILIP F. CANNIFF

Many old friends and acquaintances of the late Philip Frederick Canniff, who passed away in Edmonton, Alberta, on June 8th, assembled in Holloway Street United Church on Monday afternoon to attend the funeral services.

Philip Canniff during the many years he resided in Belleville was most highly regarded and was a valued worshipper at Holloway Street Church, being especially interested in the Sunday School of which he was superintendent. The Rev. R. E. Newman, the pastor of the church, referred to the many fine qualities of character possessed by Mr. Canniff, to the excellent work he did so willingly performed in connection with the church and Sunday School and he drew attention to the beautiful window which he and his family had placed in Holloway Street Church just prior to his departure from Belleville for Edmonton in the year 1913.

Prior to the commencement of the service the organist, Mr. Chilcott, played Dvorak's "Celtic Song". During the service, which was very impressive, Mrs. Jean Bell sang "Crossing the Bar." The hymns sung were "O God Our Help in Ages Past," and "Abide With Me."

Interment was made in Belleville cemetery. Rev. R. E. Newman conducted the service at the graveside.

The bearers were Messrs. F. S. Deacon, James Hudgins, B. McKee, Edward Wilkinson and one Thompson and Dr. G. O. Dupras.

LATE MRS ISABELLA FENN

Monday afternoon many friends were in attendance at the funeral of Mrs. Isabella Fenn, widow of John Fenn, which took place from the residence of her son, Mr. Harry Fenn, 136 Dundas Street. An impressive service was conducted in the home by the Rev. Robert Hall, pastor of John Street United Church, who conducted also the service at the graveside in Belleville cemetery. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful.

The bearers were Messrs. Harry Hill, Isaac Sills, Herbert Morton, R. McKenzie, Percy Keith and Mayor Geo. O. Tice.

Today & Wednesday

The suave society sketch with the sophisticated title "Ink Man"... and the girl who took possession of your heart in "Roberta."

THOU SHALT NOT KILL!
Drive Carefully!

WILLIAM POWELL and GINGER ROGERS
They'll amuse and thrill you in
STAR OF MIDNIGHT
From the novel by Arthur Somers Roche
With PAUL KELLY GENE LOCKHART Hedda Hopper, Leslie Fenton, J. Farrell MacDonald, Starts at 2.45 5.30 8.15
Second Sparkling Hit
EDMUND LOWE CLAIRE TREVOR
in the laugh-packed comedy drama
'Black Sheep'
This feature at 2.45: 7.30: 9.30
Plus: LATEST NEWS FLASHES
BELLE
Daily 2.30: 7.15. Last Com. Show 9.30

LOYALISTS MEET IN OLD CHURCH

151st Anniversary of Coming of Loyalists Marked at Salmon River

One hundred and fifty-one years ago next Sunday the Loyalists of the American Revolution came to this country and settled upon the bay shore in Adolphustown, formerly the first settlement in Ontario or Upper Canada.

In 1792 they built a church at Hay Bay in the Township of Adolphustown, the only one standing and standing. On Saturday next, the 15th instant, the Loyalists, from the Bay of Quinte District, and their friends will gather to commemorate this important event in Canadian history.

Right Rev. Dr. John Lyons, Bishop of the diocese of Ontario of the Anglican church, and Dr. James Smith, principal of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church, will address the gathering, and the ladies of the congregation will serve luncheon and refreshments at noon on Saturday, on the church grounds.

Police News

Thomas Hutchinson, 35 Boswell street, reported the loss of a camera to the local police today. According to Mr. Hutchinson he left his valise camera on the front street while it was parked on Front Street last night. When he returned the camera was missing. Police promised prompt attention.

Authorities have received complaints from citizens of theft of vegetables from their gardens and gardens. Not only are valuable flowers being taken, another plants are trampling down. If these marauders are apprehended a severe example may be made of them in open police court, police officials announced today.

Frank Smith, Burnham Street, reported the loss of a pony. It was not a case of "the old grey mare ain't what she used to be", but the little pony ain't where it should be, in the pasture field. Apparently the ban of the field in which the pony was grazing were lowered allowing the animal to wander away.

Eleven transients were provided night's lodging at the police station.

18 APPEAR FOR NATURALIZATION

General Sessions Open Today Before Judge McLean

Eighteen applications for naturalization, two jury cases and three non jury hearings were listed for trial at the opening of Jury Sittings of the County Court of the County of Hastings opened at 10 a.m. before His Honor Judge McLean in Belleville today.

Both jury cases are damage actions, as are the non-jury cases. The Taylor vs. the City of Belleville non-jury case is an action for damages amounting to $600.00 for alleged injuries sustained when Mrs. Annie Taylor, Belleville, slipped on the icy pavement on West Bridge St. and fell. Mrs. Taylor is being represented by the firm of Donnan and Butler, while city solicitor A. B. Calnan, K.C. represent the corporation of the City of Belleville.

The list of cases and the solicitors concerned when court opened were:

Jury Cases

Trenton, Cold Storage vs. Beech, K. J. Smith for plaintiff; Kenneth Langdon, K.C. for defendant.

Moore vs. Simpson, Donnan and Butler for plaintiff; Porter, Payne and Starrak for defendant.

Non Jury Cases

Smith vs. Barton, Frank Baalim for plaintiff; Geo. S. White for defendant.

Taylor vs. City of Belleville, Donnan and Butler for plaintiff; A. B. Calnan, K.C. for defendant.

Sealth vs. New Queen's Hotel et al, Porter, Payne and Starrak for plaintiff; Donnan and Butler for defendant.

List of Applications

The list of those to have placed applications for naturalization into the hands of B. O. Donnan, K. C., local clerk of the court, is the following:

Peter Prince, Sully Rapids, Ont., occupation laborer, born in Poland in 1863, came to Canada in 1889, widower.

Sam Scaletta, Trenton, occupation fruit merchant, born in Italy in 1881, coming to Canada in 1908, married.

Frank Nieman, Maynooth, occupation, laborer, born in Germany in 1883, coming to Canada in 1889 married.

Stefan Glembicki, Deloro, occupation, laborer, born in Poland in 1902, coming to Canada in 1928, married.

Samuel Radack, Belleville, occupation, laborer, born Jugo Slavia in 1883, coming to Canada in 1912, married.

Charles Bonk, Madoc, occupation restaurant proprietor, born in Chicago in 1901, coming to Canada in 1912, single.

Abraham Sonberg, Belleville, occupation, second-hand dealer, born in Poland in 1899, came to Canada in 1927, married.

Nick Yaverick, Belleville, occupation, laborer, born in Jugo Slavia in 1908, coming to Canada in 1929, single.

Nick Krsevrich, Belleville, occupation, laborer, born in Jugo Slavia in 1898, coming to Canada in 1929, single.

Paul Stanoski Point Anne, occupation laborer, born in Poland in 1896, came to Canada in 1928, single.

Stipan Lukenda, Malador, occupation, laborer, born in Jugo Slavia in 1903, came to Canada in 1928, married.

Tony Lukenda, Madoc, occupation, laborer, born in Jugo-Slavia in 1901, came to Canada in 1928, married.

Karlo Stajdohar, Trenton, occupation, chef, born in Jugo Slavia in 1909, coming to Canada in 1928, married.

Thomas Ruddy, Trenton, occupation, merchant, born in Russia in 1887 came to Canada in 1911, married.

Carl Gruber, Belleville, occupation tinsmith, born in Germany in 1907, came to Canada in 1929, single.

William Francis Twining, occupation, metal spinner, born in Australia in 1899, came to Canada in 1929, married.

James Trakas, Belleville, occupation, soda dispenser, born in Greece in 1913, came to Canada in 1928, single.

Rob Yelinich, Trenton, occupation, laborer, born in Jugo Slavia in 1899, came to Canada in 1926, married.

See . . . . .

WITH YOUR OWN EYES . . . DON'T HAVE YOUR FRIENDS TELLING YOU ABOUT IT . . . .

THE STRIKING

Demonstration

IN OUR NORTH WINDOW of the

Rolex Oyster Watch

The Wonder Watch of the Age!

• Waterproof • Dustproof
• Shockproof • Non-Magnetic

•AIRTIGHT UNBREAKABLE GLASS, •UNAFFECTED BY ANY TEMPERATURE.

Angus McFee
JEWELLERS
SINCE 1860

HOME ACCIDENTS VERY NUMEROUS

Travelers' Mutual Secretary Makes Statement

While the number of automobile accident deaths in Ontario in the first four months of 1935 is the highest for any corresponding period in the history of the Province, motor vehicle accidents still are estimated to cause few if any fatalities than the prosaic "in or around the home" type of mishap, according to H. E. Travers, secretary of the Commercial Travelers Mutual Accident Association of America, leading underwriters of personal accident insurance.

Ontario's registered motor vehicles, J. P. Bickell, has reported that 2,252 automobile accidents resulted in 136 deaths in the four months through April, as compared with 2,209 accidents and 78 deaths in the first four months last year.

The Commercial Travelers estimate that the total number of accidents, including non-fatal automobile accidents, if non-fatal cases are included. Public accidents (not motor vehicle) are said to be second in importance, with occupational accidents third and automobile accidents fourth. However, the proportion of total auto mishaps which result fatally is far greater than that of any other leading type of accident.

Similar figures show that the accident death rate in Canada (48.1 per 100,000 population) is larger than in any other country for which figures are available, excepting only France, Switzerland, United States and Chile. Nether-lands recently had the lowest rate—20.5.

George A. Welch, Canadian representative for Commercial Travellers, with offices at 130 Wellington St., Ottawa, reports that the organization's membership in the Dominion has shown a net gain of 324 percent during the last twelve months, and given this fact as basis for his belief that public consciousness of the accident hazard is growing. This, he says, points to eventual reversal of the now sharply rising accident trend.

Obituary

ERNEST C. SHAW

Queensboro, June 11—A large number of people assembled at Greenwood cemetery on Wednesday morning when the remains of Ernest Clark Shaw were brought from Toronto for burial.

The youngest son of the late Dr. Geo. Shaw the first twenty years of his life were passed in Queensboro. He was a frequent visitor to his home town since moving to Toronto eighteen years ago and kept in touch with former friends.

He went overseas with Kingston R.C.H.A. and was in Germany with the army of occupation. On his return he joined the Custom's Staff at the C.P.R. freight department, Toronto.

Active in sport he played with the junior city soccer teams, the Sunnyside football club, Carlton Park baseball club and Toronto hockey league.

In religion an Anglican, he was a member of the Garrett Bible Class of St. Stephen's Church and also an active member of the West End Y.M.C.A. He also was a member of Rose of Derry L.O.L. and St. Clair Lodge A.F. and A.M.

His death after only a week's illness was caused by cold and 'flu, which developed in pneumonia.

Surviving are two brothers, Basil and Harry, and two sisters, Frances and Lillian of Toronto, as well as his wife to whom he was married last autumn.

Rev. C. H. Swayne read the burial service.

CHARLES MORAN

Sunday night Charles Moran, age 86 years, passed away at the Hastings County House of Refuge. He had been an inmate of the home for four years. The body was returned to Maynooth for interment.

MRS. ANNIE HODKINSON

After a lengthy illness Mrs. Annie Hodkinson, widow of Sam Hodkinson, passed away early this Tuesday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. A. Sharp, Alexander Street.

The late Mrs. Hodkinson was born in Manchester, England, 70 years ago. For some years she resided at St. Catharines, and for the past twenty years she had made her home in Belleville. She was a member of John Street United Church and was highly esteemed by all who knew her.

Surviving her is one daughter, Mrs. H. A. Sharp, Belleville. Her husband passed away 2 years ago.

ICE CREAM SOCIAL WELL ATTENDED

CARRYING PLACE, June 11.—

Mr. H. Hennessy was visiting in Bloomfield, last week visiting his father, who has been ill.

The large crowd in attendance at the play "In The Good Old Summer Time" at the Parish Hall on Wednesday were pleased indeed with the splendid performance given by the talented Picton amateurs. One of the largest crowds, attracted by the promise of another fine play cleverly done as was "Broken English" some months ago, attended the hall, and all went home praising the skill of the cast.

Sunday afternoon saw a large crowd picnicking at Twelve O'Clock Grounds and at 6 o'clock the Sunbeam boys tried the water and pronounced it fine.

Mr. H. Le Tour spent the week-end in his home, Consecon, after his work at Havelock.

Mr. Wm. Hennessy is able once more to be about, although for most of the winter and spring he was ill in bed.

A well-attended ice cream social was presented on Victoria Square on Friday last in the United Church Hall by members of the Women's Association. The evening was pleasant although far from hot, and both audience and cast enjoyed the balmy dishes of cream and cake were first served by the young people, under the W.A. and following Mr. J. M. Hanhorn as chairman, introduced the various numbers of an interesting program. Included were recitation by Velma Barker, song with piano accompaniment by Jean Waller, recitation by Madeline Barker, piano solo "Humoresque" by Mrs. Orrel Black, vocal solo by Mrs. S. Church, reading by Miss Hale Pritchett and vocal solo by Mr. Alex. Creig with encore. Miss Lela Black contributed a humorous reading as the concluding number and brought laughter by references to persons in the audience.

A team from the local school played softball at the Mount Zion Public School on Wednesday evening and came home with a victory.

Local softballers added two to their total of games played last week, when they won a game each against Benedict-Proctors by an 8-6 score on Tuesday evening and defeated their Thursday game at Bayside Park in Trenton to the league-leading Canada Buds with a 7-4 tally against them. Both games were good to see, however, a larger crowd turning out at the Carrying Place diamond on Saturday evening than attended in Trenton two nights later. The locals had little trouble in disposing of the Benedicts, although the visiting team from

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at The Ontario Intelligencer Building, Front Street, Belleville.

JUNE

The month of June, blossom time in this part of the world, is in the minds of most persons dedicated to beauty and to the happiness of brides and the success of graduates.

June is the month when the days are the longest and the time of year which is the happy medium between the warmth of July and the traces of chill in May. It is the growing month.

June always comes and June is always the same in the great, yearly ceremonial and moving pageantry of nature. Once a child has known June, he can look forward to it for the rest of his life yearly, so the loveliness of this month which is really a season in itself grows upon him. Never is he too old to enjoy the choicest of the seasons, in the four weeks before more strenuous summer sets in.

No matter how hard hit were the roses in the past two winters, roses are still the favorite of the June flowers.

June is the loveliest of all the months. Had man never chosen June, he might be satisfied without it in the course of the year, yet even then there is a probability that somehow he would discover that something was missing in the yearly round of months and some day he would find what he was missing. And he would spend his time in regret for the month which was not. But man is more blessed than that—he puts a June in every year, June that the children can love, June that the young desire and that the middle-aged and elders look upon as the best of all the twelve monthly gifts of Mother Nature.

FINDS TOO MUCH LEGISLATION

President Clinton of the Montreal Board of Trade, speaking at Victoriaville, Quebec to the Eastern Townships Associated Boards of Trade said: "If the Government would assure the people of Canada that there would be no more laws passed for the next four years, it would be the greatest impetus to business that has occurred in the past twenty-five years." Whether one agrees or not, most would do believe there are too many restrictions on every phase of human activity today which are causing discontent.

Mr. Clinton's explanation is that business fears restrictive legislation. He believes that a great share of the laws which were passed and are in less than fifteen hundred pages of them in the Statutes of Canada, taking up twice as much space as the legislation of the previous year, will not be utilized for any length of time and points to the turn against the NRA in the United States.

He brought a message of a visible upswing in business and gives as the chief factor in the rise, the slow but steady rise in the price of farm products and the increase in the farmers' purchasing power. Word from Ottawa also turned upward, he remarked. Canada, despite staggering debts, federal, provincial and municipal, is witnessing a gratifying recovery. He points out that one of the essential factors in improvement is the keeping down of expenditures, which should never be allowed to become excessive.

The President saw hope of immediate betterment could nations share with others the common advantages. Back of all progress is sound government, supplemented with the removal of shackles. He looks forward to the irresistible quality of the economic law which cannot be diverted from its natural course. Interference or manipulation can only result in damage to the social structure in his view.

SAFER DRIVING

With understanding of the psychology of the motorist, Hon. T. B. McQuesten now purposes to enforce safer driving by a more general cancellation of licenses. He believes that a driver would sooner pay a fine than lose to right to a convenience that to him has become indispensable. Mr. McQuesten would make the punishment fit the crime. He has not acted yet, but, if reckless motorists do not learn a little caution, he will.

The new cars drive so smoothly they can deceive a careless driver as to his speed, yet they respond so quickly to the touch there is no excuse for recklessness. If a man is not in a psychological or physiological condition for safe driving he should not be at the wheel. And it is notorious that liquor affects a man's intelligence and responses. In this scientific experiment we have confirmed general opinion. Individuals who wish to retain the privilege of driving would do well to drive only when they are fit. Mr. McQuesten evidently means business.—Hamilton Spectator.

I have ever held it a maxim never to do through another what it was possible for me to do for myself.—Montesquieu.

Look well into thyself; there is a source of strength which will always spring up if thou will always look there.—Marcus Aurelius Antoninus.

SIDELIGHTS

Discussing the events of the day, some gossip and general news topics as revealed by the home newspaper—under the evening lamp—and comments Grave and Gay. — Supervised by The Lamplighter.

THE HOME FORUM

LOVE IS A SIMPLE WORD

Love is a simple word,
Often upon my lips;
Love has been likened to a bird,
Likened to white-winged ships.

Love has a tender note,
One that I joy to hear
Coming out of a dear one's throat
Softly, just for my ear.

Love has a stirring sound
Linked to some tale of old;
Merlin, imprisoned on magic ground,
Helen's bright locks of gold.

Love is a simple word,
Used in most varied scenes;
Yet do I know, though it leave me stirred,
Half of the things it means?

x x x

APROPOS OF THE TIME OF GRADUATION and the stepping out into the business world of many boys and girls who hitherto have been concerned mainly with books and other aids to modern education the following paragraph, writer unknown, may prove interesting, and perhaps instructive:

Bah!

In promulgating your esoteric cogitations or articulating superficial sentimentalities and philosophical or psychological observations, beware of platitudinous ponderosity. Let your conversation possess clarified conciseness, compacted comprehensibleness, coalescent consistency and concatenated cogency. Eschew all conglomerations, flatulent garrulity, Jejeune babblement and asinine affectations. Let your extemporaneous deceanings and unpremeditated expatiations have intelligibility without rhodomontade or thrasonical bombast. Sedulously avoid all polysyllabical profundity, pompous prolixity and ventriloquial verbosity. Shun double entendre and prurient jocosity whether obscure or apparent.

In other words, speak plainly, clearly and avoid the use of big words.

x x x

UNCLE SAM'S G MEN did not take long to round up the kidnappers of the Weyerhaeuser boy, for whose release $200,000 was paid. Passing the ransom money led to the arrest of a man and woman, the man had a penitentiary record. The arrests were made in Salt Lake City where the woman was passing ransom bills. The serial numbers of the bills had been taken and given wide publicity. One New York City newspaper offered five thousand dollars reward for the first ransom bill passed, and everywhere the newspapers gave publicity to the serial numbers on the bills paid as ransom. Like all other rackets started in the United States, gangsters who had adopted kidnapping are finding that crime does not pay. Since Uncle Sam has turned over major crime detection to Federal forces which know no state lines and are not interested in or effected by local politics, public enemies have been landing in prison and the morgue with great regularity.

x x x

"HUNGER MARCHERS", so-called, on the way east from British Columbia, 1,000 strong, indulged in a week-end rest at Calgary before resuming the march toward Ottawa. The "hunger marchers" were on relief work in British Columbia and went on strike for longer hours and less money, or something like that, and as the provincial authorities were not inclined to grant their demands, decided to go en masse to Ottawa, there to lay their case before the Government. Why they are called "hunger marchers" is hard to understand. They are well fed, provisions being provided at the various stops en route. As to marching, thus far the marching has consisted in taking possession of freight trains for free rides. Passing through the tunnels of the mountains was a trying experience for most of the army, as the smoke and live cinders of two locomotives passing back over the train tops where the men were riding certainly was a painful experience.

x x x

? ? ? ? ? ? ? ?

HAVE YOU HEARD THIS

Judge: "How long is it since you were in court before?"

Prisoner: "Twenty years, Your Worship."

Judge: "And what have you been doing all this time?"

Prisoner: "Twenty years."

REVOLT IN THE DESERT

by

T. E. LAWRENCE

Boyle took me to Um Lejl in the Turks' minds, and a seaplane ship to direct the guns. We would be at Abu Zereibat on the twentieth of the month: at Haifaa for the Bar-dinge's water on the twenty second: and the landing party should go ashore, at dawn on the twenty-third, by which time our mounted men would have closed all roads of escape from the town.

The news from Rabegh was good: and the Turks had made no attempt to profit by the nakedness of Yenbo. These were our hazards, and when Boyle's wireless set them at sea they were mightily encouraged. Abdulla was almost in Ais: we were half-way to Welh: the initiative had passed to the Arabs. It was so strong that for a moment I forgot my self-control, and said smilingly that in a year we would be tapping on the gates of Damascus. A chill came on the feeling in the tent, and my hopefulness died: but it was not an impossible dream for five months later I was in Damascus, and a year after that I was its de facto Governor.

The army at Bir el Wehdeia amounted to five thousand one hundred camel-riders, and five thousand and three hundred men on foot. There were Krupp mountain guns, and ten machine-guns: and for transport we had three hundred and eighty baggage camels. Our start was early on the hazards, and just after noon, and punctually by hamal time Feisal's work was finished, and the Arab army was struck. We went to our camels, swept like locusts into the night unsaddled and loaded, each held short by the slave standing on its doubled legs: the kettle-drummer, Ali ibn Hussein ibn Dakhil, who combined with his instrument the office of groom, was beating a last drum-call, and everything was ready. We waited for Feisal. He got up from his rug, on which he had been saying a last word to Nasir, and walked over to saddle-pommels in his hands, put his left foot in the stirrup, swung his right over the high camel-saddle, and rode off. They took their first abrupt steps, and we riders had quickly to hook our legs round the high pommels to keep us up the headstalls to check the pace. We then shook our reins Feisal was and tapped our mounts' heads gently round, and pressed them on the neck together: here the old liars they were in line beside him. Ibn Dakhil came up, and after a glance at the country and the direction of march he rode off to Nasir for the Agreed to arrange themselves in wings, out to right and left of us.

(To Be Continued)

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

JUNE 11th, 1915.

Major D. Barrager of this city left yesterday for Kingston to take part in the instruction of the soldiers in camp there. Lieut. C. E. Thrasher of Queen Alexandra School is taking the place of Queen Mary School and Lieut. H. Vernon Clarke is supplying at Queen Alexandra School.

A number of recruits from the 15th, Battalion left today for Brantford in charge of Lieut. McCargar.

At the annual meeting of the Women's Institute which was held in the Queen Alexandra School the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. R. J. Graham; vice President, Mrs. O. A. Marshall; secretary, Mrs. A. M. Chapman; treasurer, Miss Manning; directors, Mrs. E. C. Curtis, Mrs. J. W. Johnston, Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. J. G. Moffatt.

30 Years Ago

JUNE 11th, 1905.

It looks as though the street car rails on Pinnacle street will be taken up soon. The sooner the better.

His Lordship Bishop Mills of the Diocese of Ontario was in the city today in connection with confirmation rite of Confirmation in St. Thomas' Church in the morning, St. John's Church in the afternoon and in Christ Church in the evening.

A few more hot days and the horses will don their summer nets.

The Hastings County Council has made a grant of $50.00 to the Belleville General Hospital.

The matter of building a House of Refuge has been referred to a special committee by the county council.

The county buildings will be decorated during the Old Boys' Reunion. The council has set aside the sum of $50.00 for the purpose.

40 Years Ago

JUNE 11th, 1895.

Another gang of river drivers arrived in the city yesterday.

Mr. E. A. E. Halliwell, who located in Texas some years ago, left the city today enroute to Stirling to visit his family.

Mr. D. O. Hobbs will leave shortly on a business trip to the Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland.

The city council should build bathing houses for the use of the convenient places along the water front.

Dr. Murphy of Brockville, formerly of Belleville, was in the city today.

Messrs. Alex McDonald and Jas. Bell, of Sandes were in the city today.

Mr. Jas. Biggar, M. P. P., left today for Cleveland, Ohio, on business.

Many persons are greatly interested in watching the logs being tallied through the gap.

50 Years Ago

JUNE 11th, 1885.

The harbor is now clear of all sailing craft today except the yachts.

Mr. George Spangenberg of Boston, brother of Mr. H. A. Spangenberg of this city, is a resident at the Dafoe House.

The western channel of the river now presents a lively appearance, the river drivers being busily engaged in booming logs for the different companies.

Mr. Robert Tuttle caught a bass weighing 4 1-2 pounds off the Grand Junction Dock last evening. He saw caught several smaller ones.

Mr. J. L. Davis, a former well known resident of Belleville, and lately of Jersey City, is renewing acquaintances in the city.

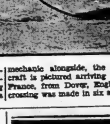
Mr. J. R. Ferguson of Winnipeg is spending a few days in the city.

LET'S GO FOR AN AUTO RIDE ACROSS THE ENGLISH CHANNEL

Newest variety of English channel-crossing novelties is the amphibian automobile. With Jakob Mandig of Germany at the wheel, and a mechanic alongside, the strange craft is pictured arriving at Calais, France, from Dover, England. The crossing was made in six and a half hours. The rear wheels are fitted with paddles and the motor is inclosed in an airtight compartment.

PEDALLING WAY BACK TO HEALTH

Assiniboine Teacher Has Travelled Over 11,600 Miles



Completing over 11,600 miles on a bicycle since leaving his Saskatchewan home last July, Harold E. Peterson the 28 year old Assiniboine school teacher pedalled into Belleville late yesterday afternoon.

After taking a short breathing spell Mr. Peterson continued his journey westward and expects to arrive in Toronto early Wednesday after having pedalled his bicycle through most of the United States and most of the provinces in Canada.

Mr. Peterson, who had taught school in Assiniboine, Sask., for eight years found his health failing last spring and upon advice from home town doctors, started to "pedal his way back to health." During his eleven months astride a bicycle saddle Mr. Peterson has also visited Mexico as well as Ontario and the United States, oftentimes working his passage as ferries and boats across open stretches of water. "Yes, my health has improved wonderfully, but I lost eight pounds while pushing my bicycle through the red sand roads on Prince Edward Island. It was highly disgusting and I nearly gave up the idea of pedalling back home, so did the press reports" stated Mr. Peterson as he visited the roads and highways of Ontario were as good as any place he had encountered.

Mr. Peterson expects to arrive back home in July 1935, after having been gone for exactly one year. "My greatest desire is to work my passage on a lake boat from Sarnia to Duluth, you see I've heard much of this trip," stated Mr. Peterson during his interview with the press. Mr. Peterson expects to travel 16,000 miles in the 12 months of his absence, some 14,000 of which he will have ridden over, as "Old Dobbin" his bicycle the remainder being on rail.

In seeking health Mr. Peterson carries a sleeping bag and other utensils and equipment which might be needed for camp life. As stated by the cyclist at left: "I carry everything in this sleeping bag except the kitchen stove, and a horse," and he pedalled easily away.

William Powell and Ginger Rogers in the new picture, "Star of Midnight," now at the Belle. Double bill.

Quintuplet Day At Rotary is Voted Success

"Quintuplets" was the password which admitted Rotarians and guests to the regular weekly gathering in the Hotel Quinte Monday noon. Quintuplets in the flesh were on view in costume, slightly enlarged as to size, compared to the original Dionne-Dafoe quints, but every one a handsome child and full of pep and perspicacity, whatever it takes. Past Presidents Charles T. Dolan, impersonated Dr. Allan Dafoe, and introduced the famous quints, who, underneath their bibs, tuckers and baby bonnets were discovered to be in private life the following well known citizens:

Marie—Fred Deacon.
Emilie—Robert Dewar.
Cecile—Harry Moorman.
Annette—R. J. Graham.
Yvonne—Ross Neal.

The head nurse in appropriate uniform was ably represented by Jamieson Bone, and Captain Tom Ruston, of the Children's Aid Society, in view of the "Adopt a Baby Week" campaign, got busy and had each of the quintuplets adopt a father from those present, those adopted being Mackenzie Robertson, Fred Smith, Gene Fairfield, Archie Cameron, Dr. John Guthridge, each of whom had a bouncing baby on his hands, and felt, no doubt like the man, who had an elephant on his hands.

"Baby Food for the Quints" was the subject of a humorous talk by J. R. Boyce based on the proposition that the birth of the Dionne quintuplets was one of most important events in the history, surpassed only by "The Birth of a Nation," which won many laughs, and a glimpse at the serious side of adopting a baby was given by Rev. A. Beauchamp Pratt.

The entire burlesque was well presented and afforded much laughter. The costumes were correct in every particular reflecting much credit upon the ingenuity and patience of Fred Deacon, who designed them. All in all the program proved a refreshing change, and was voted a complete success.

Old Advertising Agency Makes Change in Name

Announcement is made in the Ontario Gazette that the change of name of The Press Agency Bureau Limited to The Press Advertising Agency Limited has been sanctioned by the Lieutenant-Governor.

This is one of the world's oldest advertising agencies, having been organized in 1890. Throughout the years it has kept consistently in advance in the development of agency services to national advertising, market research and business counsel.

During the past five years Mr. Lorne Ardiel has been the President of the agency, utilizing his wide knowledge of Canadian markets, distribution and business conditions to enhance the type of service given by the Company's clients.

DEATHS YESTERDAY

By The Canadian Press

London—Sir Robert Blair, 76, educationist.

Portland, Me.—Dr. John F. Fahey, 61, veterinary surgeon with British army during war and later with United States Bureau of Animal Industry.

New York—Dr. Alice Werner, 72, emeritus professor of Swahili and Bantu languages in University of London.

Bordeaux, France—Sister Marie Mesmin, founder of the Order of Mesmingue Sisters.

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK

by R. J. SCOTT

COUNCIL RECOMMEND PURCHASE OF FIRE PUMPER

Pumper Also Fire Siren Recommended to Council By Special Committee

Every Phase of Question Fully Considered By Members

FACTS STATED

"Algae" Period of Last Year Fully Explained in Report.

A special committee composed of Aldermen W. R. McCreary, J. W. Barlow, Harry Hill, and T. Y. Wills, who were appointed to look over the fire fighting equipment of the city and to submit a report, presented same to the council last night and also a recommendation that a report of special committee to investigate fire protection be adopted, and that the same committee with addition of Manager Ted Austin of the waterworks department and Fire Chief Lynch be empowered to secure tenders on a fire pumper. The report and recommendation was received and adopted without discussion. The following is the report of the committee:

Report of Special Committee

Your Special Committee appointed to report on the Fire Fighting Equipment of Belleville and to submit their findings herewith together with recommendation that additional protection be provided to safeguard the lives and property of our citizens:

We have, in our consideration of this important responsibility:

1. Inspected both Fire Halls and their various equipment.

2. Inspected the Waterworks' Pumping Station and its equipment and records.

3. Considered the report of Engineer G. W. Graham of the Canadian Fire Underwriter's Association under date of July 20th, 1932, which embodies considerable detailed information and other information (copy of which is attached).

4. Prepared an up-to-date plan indicating locations of hydrants throughout the city together with size of mains serving each (copy of which is attached).

We draw attention to the following facts of importance:

1. The standpipe capacity of 300,000 gallons provides a reserve of less than one hour's supply of filtered water for the needs of the community during lawn service hours.

2. The maximum normal capacity of pumping station filter beds is 4,000,000 gallons per twenty-four hours.

3. In the "Algae" period of 1934 the automatic record charts at the pumping station indicate that during the afternoon lawn service hours a main pressure of approximately forty pounds only was possible over lengthy periods. On August 11th, 1934, owing to the clogging of filter beds through such condition it was necessary to backwash thirty-nine times during the twenty-four hours, which involved a six hour loss of production. In the event of the fire department requiring additional pressure and supply of water under such conditions, it would necessitate the pumping of unfiltered water into the mains with the risk of spreading an epidemic of sickness and disease.

4. No facilities have been provided for the storage during hours of light consumption of an adequate supply of filtered water to be held in reserve for emergency use and such condition is a particularly serious one during the lawn service period in July and August while the "Algae" condition prevails.

Recommendation

At some future time we recommend the erection of a 750,000 gallon capacity elevated reservoir in the vicinity of Dundas Street West and Highland Avenue. Meanwhile, we feel the most economical aid in solution of the problem would be the acquiring of a six hundred gallon per minute motor, combination pumper, booster and hose truck for the needs of the Fire Department.

We also recommend the installation of an electric fire alarm siren on the City Hall tower, that the same may be sounded to warn water consumers of a fire alarm and intimating that their co-operation is requested in conserving the water supply for fire fighting purposes.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. R. McCreary
J. W. Barlow
Harry Hill
T. Y. Wills.

Dated June 10th, 1935.

BACTERIAL COUNT MUST BE GIVEN IN MILK REPORT

Council Requests Board of Health to Supply This Information

TIME EXTENDED

Tenders Will be Called For Repairing of City Hall Tower

Considering business was transacted by the City Council at their regular session on Monday evening with the result, that the time was extended for one hour and a half and did not adjourn until eleven-thirty, the committee meeting lasting until nearly ten o'clock. All members of the council were present.

The new Bacteriologist Fred Jobson was introduced to the members of the council by His Worship, Mayor Tice and he assured the council, that the band would be worthy representatives of this city. Mr. Jobson understood, that by the depression, it was impossible for the council to supply funds but they would give their best. Mayor Tice informed the new bandmaster, that he would be welcomed at all times to support the civic band and he hoped for his success in the new field.

The Board of Health will be requested to supply the Bacteriologist of Belleville Ontario Intelligencer, the milk reports, which will contain the bacterial count as well as the butter fat content.

The City Engineer was requested to prepare plans and specifications and call for tenders for repairs on the City Hall. This recommendation followed a letter from the City Engineer explaining the condition of the tower and also letters from prominent contractors in the city, who had inspected the tower as a result of same. Part of the concrete has fallen away and the mortar in the brick work is crumbling. The estimated cost for this work is somewhere in the neighborhood of $2,000.

Refunds Given

A letter was received from the Hydro Electric Power Commission of this city stating the refunds that were due the city and the cost of power for the coming year. The letter stated a refund of $34,56 on waterworks and $2,562.56 on street lighting was due and a cheque would be forwarded at an early date. It was also noted that the cost for the ensuing year, which will be retroactive to January 1st 1935 and is as follows.

$47 per annum per 1,000 candle power for this year and last year it was $52.00.

$42 per annum per 400 candle power for this year and last year it was $38.00.

$30 per annum per 200 candle power for this year.

$8 per annum per 100 candle power for this year and last year it was $9.

"All able bodied men, who are at present obtaining city relief are officially notified, that they must report for city work at one of the civic departments on Monday to compensate in part for the assistance they are now receiving and if any of these recipients refuse to work they shall be immediately marked off the city relief list," was a recommendation passed by the council and speaks for itself.

No sale of property to Rev. J. Kleinsteiber on behalf of the Pentecostal assembly, which is adjacent to the Christian and Missionary Alliance, will be made by the Council.

Truckmen Motor Sales requested permission to build a paint shop on their property on the Dundas Street extension of the City Engineer and Fire Chief Lynch for a report.

Can Connect Sewers

Permission was granted to James F. Hill, M.P.P., to connect his home to be built on McDonald Avenue, outside the city with the city sewer but the owner must agree to pay his share should at any time a sewage disposal plant be erected in this city. It was also recommended that city engineer supply to the council a list of all those residing outside the city, whose homes are connected to the city sewer.

Under the head of inquiries Alderman Arnott asked what time the merchants were to close under Early Closing Bylaw and he was informed they would use their own discretion. "I think they have a by-law covering closing hours," said the Mayor.

An agreement between the city and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cable was also ratified. There being no further business the council adjourned, to close which will be brought down in the near future.

Streets to be Oiled

After receiving the following report by the committee appointed to inspect the streets of this city, the council recommended, that the streets herein named should be repaired and oiled. There was no discussion on the report after its presentation to council.

June 8th, 1935

His Worship Mayor Tice and Aldermen of the City Council.
Gentlemen:—

Re 1935 Street Oiling

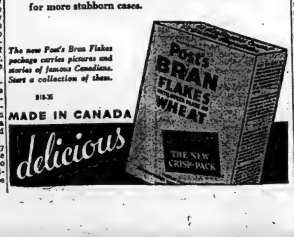
Your Special street oiling Committee appointed to inspect the streets in the City regarding surface treatment beg to report as follows:—

Having travelled over all the oiled streets and roadways within the City, we would recommend that the following streets be surface-treated and certain streets, where needed, be repaired and resurfaced before surface treating with bituminous material:—

Coleman Street— Bridge St. to Water Street.
Water Street—Coleman St. to King Street.
W. Dundas St.—King St. to Mary St.
W. Dundas St.—Bay Bridge Road to Highland Ave.
Coleman St.—W. Moira St. to Harriett St.
Ridley St.—Coleman St. to St. Charles St.
Earl St.—N. Front St. to Coleman St.
Gordon St.—Ridley St. to Harriett St.
Howard St.—Green St. to Holloway Ave.
Frank St.—W. Moira St. to O.N.R. Tracks.
Elmer St.—Frank St. to Yeomans St.
Furby St.—W. Moira St. to Frank St.
Lewis St.—Yeomans St. to Sidney St.
Herchimer St.—Yeomans St. to Sidney St.
W. Bridge St.—Yeoman St. to Sidney St.
Burton St.—Highland Ave. to Wellington St.
Moodie St.—W. Bridge to Burton St.
Parker St.—Highland Ave. to Wellington St.
Sidney St.—W. Dundas St. to Pinnacle St.
Pinnacle St.—St. Paul St. to W. Dundas St.
St. Paul St.—Houston Cr. to S. Front St.
S. Church St.—Railway Tracks to south end of Street.
South John St.—Railway Tracks to south end of Street.
South George St.—W. Dundas St. to south end of Street.
Better Street—O.N.R. tracks to Myers Street.
Lingham St.—Meyers St. to Pine Street.
Foundry Street—Church St. to St. James St. (track crossing)
Baldwin Street—College St. to Stone St.
Stone St.—Baldwin St. to St Charles St.
Baldwin St.—Charles St. to Elm St.
Elm St.—Baldwin St. to East Moira St.
College St.—North Front St. to Charlotte St.
Emily St.—O.N.R. tracks to Bleecker Ave.

Ben Dafe, Chairman Public Works
W. R. McCreary, Chairman of Waterworks; J. W. Barlow, Chairman of Gas; F. B. Foley, Chairman of Power; Chas. A. Mott, City Engineer.

"The property owners who are to be assessed for street oiling purposes within the city limits are asked to consider the cost which the Public Works Dept. are called upon to bear in constructing a first class macadam road bed on the city street, and when making an assessment of 10c per foot frontage annually for street oiling per se, simply refer to the property owner to co-operate with the Public Works Dept. in maintaining our residential streets in first class condition."



BEWARE of constipation which sets up poisons in the body. These poisons rob you of that spring in your step—of the old fire in your eye. Be yourself. Make Post's Bran Flakes with Other Parts of Wheat a part of your daily diet. Mildly, laxative. Many call Post's Bran Flakes their favourite breakfast cereal. We think you, too, will say it's delicious. Constipation due to insufficient roughage in the diet should yield to Post's Bran Flakes eaten regularly. A competent physician should be consulted for more stubborn cases.

The new Post's Bran Flakes package carries pictures and stories of famous Canadians. Start a collection of them.

B18-35

MADE IN CANADA

Agreement Between City and Ontario Shore Gas Company Ratified by City Council

By-law Subjected to Stormy Discussion Before Passing

CHAIR IS LEFT

Alderman McCreary Opposes Measure From Seat in Council

Ratification of an agreement between the City of Belleville and the Ontario Shore Gas Company of Oshawa in which the Gas Company will remain in possession of the plant was made by the City Council at their regular session on Monday evening but not before considerable discussion had ensued and the yeas and nays taken as to whether the by-law to ratify the terms of the whole on by-laws would be accepted. Alderman W. R. McCreary created a commotion, when as chairman of the committee, he left his chair to take his seat in the council to protest against the passing of the agreement. When the report was moved adopted, Alderman McCreary moved an amendment, "that it be not adopted" and referred back and calling for the vote on the second amendment to the amendment, it was defeated ten voting against the amendment and two for, these being Aldermen Creary and Safe.

When the yeas and nays were then requested, when the Mayor declared, that the amendment to adopt the report was carried and these having taken the result was as follows: Against the motion, Aldermen Arnott, Barlow, Chalmbg, Domenico, Hill, Thompson, Wills, Young and Goldridge and yeas Aldermen McCreary and Safe. After Alderman McCreary had refused the return to the chair, the Mayor asked Aldermen Safe and Thompson to take over the duties but both refused but Alderman Guthridge went to the chair, Mayor Tice said "I can't get an alderman to take the chair I will myself as this agreement is perfectly plain and has been discussed repeatedly in open and now before the council for ratification and the majority vote of the members will rule."

Speaks From Council Seat

Alderman McCreary in taking his seat at the council board, stated, that he did not feel the members were fully conversant with the agreement to pass judgment on the question. Representations had not been fully considered before any snap judgment is made on the seal of the city is affixed", said Alderman McCreary, "I think they had legal talent that can be obtained and should study this agreement, I am dumbfounded, that this should come to the council without first being considered in council or committee."

Alderman Barlow "You were present when this agreement was considered and the council was agreed on all clauses excepting six, which the Ontario Shore Gas did not agree to in their counter proposals which was firm, that is should be included."

Alderman McCreary: "This agreement has never been considered by the council."

Mayor Tice: "Certainly it has not but it is here before the council for ratification after being fully considered for some time by the committee appointed and also the council in committee. As for the legal talent, there were four cities present, when the agreement was signed, Alderman Arnott, Wills, the City Solicitor and Gordon Conant of Oshawa and they should know how binding this agreement is."

Alderman McCreary: "I think it should be referred back for consideration of the committee or until such time as the council is satisfied."

Mayor Tice: "Do you want the gas plant? I am sure if you do the Ontario Shore Gas Company is willing to turn it over. They have an equity in it amounting to the plant and have paid to the city nearly $10,000 in taxes, which we would not have received if the city were in possession. The company wants an answer and the agreement is on the table and I think nearly all the members know its contents."

Alderman Barlow: "The agreement has been discussed many times and every clause was read and ratified with the result as above recorded. The following is the context of the agreement to be signed.

Now this agreement witnesseth that the parties hereto covenant and agree as follows:—

1.—The Company shall continue to operate the Belleville gas plant and distribution system as heretofore and dating from April 1, 1935, will pay over to the City the entire operating surplus therefrom semi-annually. Such surplus shall be determined for the semi-annual periods April 1 to September 30 and October 1 to March 31 and the payments of such surplus shall be made on the 20th days of October and April next following the conclusion of each respective semi-annually period. PROVIDED, however, that in making such semi-annual payments the Company shall have the right to retain an amount sufficient for working capital but not exceeding one and one-half times one average monthly operating expense, averaged over the preceding six months. AND PROVIDED also that working capital shall include materials and supplies used directly in the production and distribution of gas at the cost thereof to the Company as well as cash on hand.

2.—The operating surplus shall be determined in the manner and on the basis of the items set out in the Schedule annexed to and forming part hereof being an estimate of operating revenue and expenses showing an estimated surplus for the year April 1, 1935 to March 31, 1936 of $4,663.

3.—In operating the gas plant and distribution system the Company will effect every possible economy and will reduce operating expenses including both ordinary and extraordinary maintenance properly applicable to the Belleville property substantially as set out in the schedule hereinbefore annexed. Items of expense such as administration and general, assessed against the entire operations of the Company will be allocated to each operating district in proportion to the gross revenues of each district.

4.—On the 20th day of each month the Company will furnish to the City or to its duly appointed representative, a statement of the operations of the Belleville gas plant and distribution system in the preceding month. The City's representative may confer with the General Manager of the Company as to any additions to or deductions from the operating expenses and maintenance and shall have the right to examine the books of the Company to verify the statement presented at all reasonable times.

5.—All moneys paid to the City by the Company pursuant to this agreement will be applied first on account of interest and any surplus or remaining amounts will be applied on account of principal due or accrued under the mortgage from the Gas Company to the City against the said gas plant and gas distribution system.

6.—This agreement shall be effective as of and from and after April 1, 1935, and shall continue in force and effect until terminated by either party thirty (30) days written notice of its desire or intention to terminate this agreement.

7.—So long as this agreement shall be in force and effect and the Company duly pays to the City all moneys from operation as hereinbefore set out, no proceedings by the Mortgagee, exercising power of sale, distress or otherwise howsoever shall be taken by the City against the Company or by reason or on account of any interest, principal or taxes now due or which shall hereafter be due and owing by the Company to the City.

8.—This agreement shall be without prejudice to the rights of either party the Company and the City are hereby qualified or suspended, but shall enure to the benefit of the parties hereto and their successors and assigns.

9.—Notwithstanding such termination the Company shall have the right to remain in possession for years of taxes, interest and instalments of principal then due or past due under the said mortgage from the Company to the City and upon payment of the same together with all penalties on such taxes and interest on instalments of principal and interest in arrears, the Company shall be regarded as not in default under the said mortgage or otherwise.

Lovely Claire Trevor co-starred with Edmund Lowe in the comedy-drama "Black Sheep", now at the Belle. Double bill.

What Council Did

Requested Health Board to give bacterial count as well as butter fat content in monthly report.

Plans ordered and tenders to be called for repair of City Hall tower.

Recommended pumper be purchased.

Request for sewer granted.

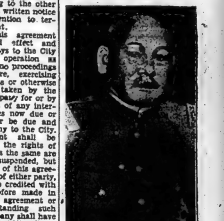
Ratified agreement between city and Ontario Shore Gas Company.

Ratified Agreement between Firemen Clarke and city.

Report of Fire Committee received.

Refunds from Hydro Commission received.

Relief recommendations passed.



Property sale refused.

Application for building referred back.

ADDRESS SHOULD BE 115 LINGHAM ST.

Through a typographical error in yesterday's paper in reference to the story of the 90th birthday anniversary of Mrs. William Ballinger, the street address of Mrs. George Thrasher daughter was given as 115 Chatham St. where it should have read 115 Lingham St.

STRING PULLER -

New Photo of Gen. Kiro Minami, Japanese commander in Manchukuo, who pulls the strings of the puppet state. He's reported to be preparing to have another rich province from China, including the old capital of Peiping, and acting to oust Chiang Kai-shek as generalissimo of the Chinese.

BANKING IDEALS THAT LIVE ON

"The value of, that 'enterprise' (the 'Bank' of Montreal) ought not to be measured by its success as a joint-stock undertaking, by the amount of its capital or the size of its dividends, but by the security it has given to those who have trusted it, the facilities it has furnished for the exchange and the increase of commodities, and the assistance it has contributed to the development of the country."

The Bank now well on in the second century of its life, still wishes to be measured by the considerations mentioned in the foregoing "quotation from "The Centenary of the Bank of Montreal," published in 1917.

Security, facilities, assistance—those have been the objectives of the Bank since its foundation in 1817. They are the objectives today, and will be in the tomorrows of Canadian life.

BANK OF MONTREAL
ESTABLISHED 1817
HEAD OFFICE — MONTREAL
MODERN, EFFICIENT BANKING SERVICE... the Confidence of 117 Years' Successful Operation

Belleville Branch: G. A. C. WEIR, Manager
Frankford Branch: O. BAKER, Manager

White Hats
• FELTS
• CREPES
• STRAWS, Etc.
Moderately Priced
Woodley's
321 Front Street
"THE SMARTEST HATS IN TOWN"

You cannot foresee—but you CAN be protected
THE COMMERCIAL TRAVELLERS MUTUAL ACCIDENT ASSOCIATION OF AMERICA
H. E. THEVOTT, Secretary
160 Wellington Street, OTTAWA, ONTARIO

A Cordial Welcome to Belleville

Is Extended The Delegates to The Ontario Jeweller's Association Convention By The Following:

—— Jewellers of Belleville ——

ANGUS McFEE'S
T. M. PALMER
GEO. L. FINCH
W. Wonnacott
J. O. R. McCURDY
A. E. Wonnacott

BRIDAL COUPLE HONORED BY FRIENDS

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mrs. R. A. Adams, Pinnacle Street, where a shower was given to Mr. and Mrs. D. Trumble, of Front Street, Belleville who were recently married.

The friends and acquaintances of Herchimer Avenue, the home of the bride, met to congratulate and extend best wishes to the happy couple. After a short programme of music and addresses the bride and groom were called to the centre of the room, beside a huge basket overlooking with useful gifts in which best wishes were expressed in poetry. These were read to the delight of the crowd.

Dainty refreshments were then served and the singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" brought to a close the pleasant evening.

The following address was read by Miss Annie Logan, and the gifts presented by Miss Freda Donaldson and Mr. Gordon Brown.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Trumble:

We, your friends and acquaintances, have met this evening to extend our congratulations and best wishes to you, as you are launching out in the new experiences of the married life. We would say with the poet:

"Oh fortunate! oh happy day,
When a new household finds its place
Among the myriad homes of earth
Like a new star just sprung to birth."

And rolled on its harmonious way
Into the boundless realms of space."

You are starting out together with a very bright outlook, and we trust every blessing may attend your way. It has been said, "Life is what you make it," and we know we can do so much to make life happy by living in the sunshine, even when there may be shadows. The old motto: "Bear and forbear" will stand well in married life.

Will you accept these gifts from us with all the good wishes possible to give, and may your voyage through life be bright and happy, full of sunshine and joy and favor of God.

—Your Friends of the Kingston Road United Church.

SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

A very happy event was celebrated on Saturday afternoon at Old Sidney Township when on the evening of Friday, June 7th, a number of intimate friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Jones on the occasion of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary, at which the happy couple were the recipients of many useful and beautiful presents.

All enjoyed a very delightful time after which Rev. A. S. McConnell of Stirling, proposed the toast.

Among those present were: Rev. and Mrs. A. S. McConnell of Stirling; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bush, Sr. Mr. and Mrs. John Hathaway and family, Mr. Dave Mayers, Miss Josephine Samson, Reg. N., all of Belleville; also Mr. Tom Jury, Miss Molly Jury, Reg. N., Miss Peggy Jury, Reg. N., and Mr. Albert Jury, all of Sydenham, Ont.

The many friends and neighbors of this district and other parts all join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Jury many more years of happily married life.

Fashion Flashes

(Copyright 1935

King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Be feminine and pretty in soft lace for evening. Chanel offers a lovely dinner frock in sheer black lace with an all-over design. This is posed over a sheath of black satin. The top of the bodice and the big, bloused sleeves are of pink tulle.

A record is scored by the long evening wrap which is seen everywhere this Spring and is due for popularity until the hot weather arrives. A perfect beauty is a long, fitted wrap in bright apple green taffeta with a lovely neckline and bands of gray fox marking the off-shoulder line.

A smart picture is presented by a daytime frock of small checked blue and white taffeta. The wide plastron and center part of the long, loose sleeve is of white faille. The belt is held by plaques of mother-of-pearl. There are three narrow flounces at the hem.

It is difficult to choose a smart simple hat when the shops are so filled with novelties. A hat suitable for any age is a trimmed model in navy crystal straw, trimmed with cluster of natural pink roses in back. The crown band and facing of the wide brim is of navy bellina ribbon.

A favorite amongst the myriad blouses now on display is a model in quilted plaid taffeta in blue, yellow, red and white. There is a slight peplum and bells at either side. A row of navy taffeta buttons marks the front closing.

QUAKER MUFFETS
Sterilized for Health
MUFFETS
THE TOASTED BISCUIT CEREAL
WOVEN WHEAT READY TO EAT
FOR SALE AT YOUR GROCERS
VALUABLE COUPON IN EVERY PACKAGE

Personals

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

The engagement is announced of Mabel Eileen Fleming to Donald Archer Gilbert, the marriage to take place July 6th, at Bridge Street United Church.

Mrs. Ray Habbitt of Boston, who has been visiting her brother, Fred. Sager, for the past two weeks, is returning to her home today.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Irvine of London were the week-end guests of Capt. and Mrs. C. W. Browne, Victoria Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Fanning of Manchester are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Fanning, 71 Church Street.

Mrs. F. V. Green of Plainfield is visiting her sister, Mrs. T. Ketchenson, Queen Street.

Ex-Alderman George Spracklett was able to return to his home after spending some time in Belleville General Hospital with a severe attack of pneumonia.

Mrs. Gladys Hall of Toronto, is visiting Mrs. T. Ketchenson, Queen Street, during the latter part of the week at Crown Lake with Mrs. Marion Ketchenson.

Last evening the monthly meeting of the Crown Women's League was held in St. Michael's Auditorium with the President, Mrs. A. R. Callinn in the chair. Reports of the month were read. Rev. C. E. Bunt addressed the meeting. Mrs. Callinn was appointed delegate to the Backward Convention in Ottawa with Miss K. Dolan as alternate. Mrs. Dunlop won the lucky winner of the tea, drawn for, at the meeting.

Mrs. Ray Habbitt of Boston, who has been visiting her brother, Fred. Sager, for the past two weeks, is returning to her home today.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Irvine of London were the week-end guests of Capt. and Mrs. C. W. Browne, Victoria Avenue.

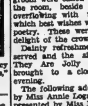
Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Fanning of Manchester are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Fanning, 71 Church Street.

Mrs. F. V. Green of Plainfield is visiting her sister, Mrs. T. Ketchenson, Queen Street.

Ex-Alderman George Spracklett was able to return to his home after spending some time in Belleville General Hospital with a severe attack of pneumonia.

Mrs. Gladys Hall of Toronto, is visiting Mrs. T. Ketchenson, Queen Street, during the latter part of the week at Crown Lake with Mrs. Marion Ketchenson.

Last evening the monthly meeting of the Crown Women's League was held in St. Michael's Auditorium with the President, Mrs. A. R. Callinn in the chair. Reports of the month were read. Rev. C. E. Bunt addressed the meeting. Mrs. Callinn was appointed delegate to the Backward Convention in Ottawa with Miss K. Dolan as alternate. Mrs. Dunlop won the lucky winner of the tea, drawn for, at the meeting.



Ontario Jewellers to Convene in This City

Members of the Ontario Jewellers Association will hold their annual convention in Belleville for the first time, when they meet on Wednesday at the Bay of Quinte Country Club. This is the first of a number of conventions to come to Belleville which might well be called "convention city", this season. Mayor George O. Tice and H. Bertly, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, in welcoming the visitors to the city heartily endorse the action of the City Council in inviting the organization, to make Belleville the scene of their annual meeting this year.

A very interesting program has been arranged by the executive of the Ontario Jewellers' Association. The meeting will open at ten o'clock tomorrow with a business session which will continue until noon The chief speaker will be Mr. Leech, editor of the Jewellers' magazine. A luncheon will then be served at the Club. On Wednesday afternoon there will be a bridge party for the ladies and a motor tour for those who do not play bridge. For the men, golf, bowling and horse shoe pitching has been arranged. A dinner party will be held in the evening, when the prizes won during the afternoon will be presented. The program will close with the annual dance at the Country Club for which invitations have been issued to the public.

An exceptionally fine assortment of prizes for the golfing events, donated by the manufacturing jewellers of Canada.

G. K. Johnson of Toronto, is President of the Ontario Jeweller's Association; J. E. Logan, Belleville, Vice-President; and G. M. Rose, Toronto, Secretary-Treasurer.

Ben Lyon and Thelma Todd lend the comedy touch to the comedy of "Lightning Strikes Twice" ending tonight at the Capitol.

Weddings

DONALDSON—ALMEY

The marriage took place at Stirling on Saturday of Winnifred, daughter of Sergt.-Major and Mrs. Almey, York Road, Trenton, and Mr. Lorne Donaldson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Donaldson, Foster Avenue, Rev. T. G. Joblin officiated.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

(Copyright 1935,
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Please tell me the correct clothes for a young girl to wear to a marriage reception?

The reception is being given by a friend of the bridal couple, which seems to be quite unusual in the first place. The dress will be at her ola o'clock.

2. Should we send a gift several days before the reception? We have not been invited to the evening at which the bridal takes place earlier in the day. I presume it is to be a social affair for the immediate families.

3. Should we decline the invitation

4. When should a lady wear her gloves and when should she just carry them?

M.

1. It is always difficult to know what to tell guests to wear at a six o'clock reception, for one's dress is the one thing between hours, when one wonders if one is expected to wear day clothes or evening clothes. Strickly speaking, one doesn't wear evening clothes before seven o'clock, but under the circumstances which you name (when the wedding has been performed earlier in the day), I imagine that this reception is supposed to be a semi-formal affair.

However, the safest thing to do, if you possibly can, is to find out from, say, the bride's mother or from the bride or some member of her family, whether they regard this as a day or evening reception.

2. Yes, your wedding gift should be sent about two weeks or ten days before the wedding date.

3. Whether you accept or "regret" the invitation depends on your own choice.

4. A woman wears her gloves on the street, in church, and at formal parties, such as receptions. But when at a reception, dinner or formal dance, a woman removes her gloves.

When is a Girl a "Miss"?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Is it proper to address an envelope being mailed to a baby of one year as "Miss", or is it better form to omit this title? Would you suggest that the envelope be addressed to the mother, and enclose another envelope addressed to the child. There is a street address, and the name is uncommon in this particular instance. I know that it is not customary to address young girls in person as "Miss" until they are sixteen years of age, but I do not know if this applies to writing.

2. What is the baby boy be to change from addressing them as "Master" to "Mr." when sending gifts or greetings by mail?

V.

1. You may either enclose in an envelope addressed to the mother an envelope addressed to the baby's first name, or, if you address an outer envelope to the baby, use the title of Miss before her name. An envelope addressed to a Miss of any age, should carry the title before the name.

2. When a boy is fifteen or sixteen we should address packages or letters to him as Mr. John Young.

Birthday and Engagement

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. My birthday is very soon and I am going to be engaged. I want to have an engagement party, is it all right to have this?

2. Please tell me what to put on the cake.

3. Should I give my invitations by word of mouth, or should I send cards

Thank you

V.

1. I think it would be charming to combine your birthday party with the party celebrating your engagement.

2. Your cake would be a birthday cake having on it the customary "Happy Birthday" and the glowing candles.

3. You may correctly invite your guests by word of mouth, by telephoning, by cards or by notes.

Current Attractions at Local Theatres

What Local Theatre Managers Have to Say About Current Offerings

AT THE CAPITOL

"I'll Love You Always"

The Story of Two Young Lovers Against the World

The timely and pertinent theme of young marriage breasting the tidal waves of financial difficulties is a large city is interestingly told in "I'll Love You Always," which opened yesterday at the Capitol Theatre.

George Murphy as Carl Brent, young, egotistical, ambitious, is turned out of college with a high record in engineering. He marries Nancy Carroll, an actress, on the enthusiastic promise that he will whip the world in six months. He and his bride come to New York, where Brent's proudly presented letters of introduction from college offers of sending him, while he will not accept.

Their finances dwindling rapidly the furniture repossessed, and themselves forced into a cheap hall room, the young couple turn to whatever occupations are at hand. Miss Carroll becomes a taxi dancer. Murphy drives a moving van. Love seems to have died-a-horrid with the furniture, and Murphy, finding that his wife is more to him, steals some money to give her one last good time. While he is serving a jail term, she fondly believes he is handling a big engineering job in Africa.

Others in the cast are Raymond Walburn, and Arthur Hohl.

"Lightning Strikes Twice"

As the flaming, inerried flame in many a moon, with laugh galore, "Lightning Strikes Twice" proves to be just the right comedy of the year. Given stellar treatment by RKO-Radio, this picture met the test by keeping the audience at last night's premiere royally entertained from start to finish.

The story is an unusual combination of the sentimental and the melodramatic. It deals with the day's experiences of a mighty chap, having one last fling with a pal before his fiancee and his aunt arrive on the scene, and the latter causes a horror of cats. To this last point is added the complication entitled "murder mystery" interwoven with the main theme.

Ben Lyon, butler, unnerved by the meowing of a cat — black at that! — seeks relief in the darkness, thinks he has happened. Police arrive, and another bullet accidentally knocks the cap from an officer, who drops through a manhole cover.

The resulting chase and its consequences, plus the fact that the butler disappears during the excitement that he, too, has been slain, and the complications when aunt and fiancee arrive—excitedly —"Lightning Strikes Twice" developes an exciting twist of plot and sub-plot. A fan dancer and her male accomplice get tangled in the skein of happenings and are mistaken by the aunt for the fiancee and her lover. Ben Lyon and Thelma Todd Crews, turns in splendid characterization. Frank Albertson fills the sweetheart, with "Skeets" Gallagher scoring as the hero's pal, and Ben Lyon adding as the best himself. Walter Catlett and Pert Kelton, with their "mistaken identities," furnish some grand fun.

Other good contributions are from Child Chandler, as a reporter turned detective; Margaret Armstrong, as the maid, and John Davidson as the butler. Lesser roles, in the hands of screen veterans, are fine played.

Du Barry Tea Plaisir Today.

Complete shows 1:30; 7:15; 9:15.

Wednesday Only

The special request feature for Wednesday is "Judge Priest" featuring Will Rogers.

The popular series of stories by Irvin Cobb has been used as the basis for this screen history of the shrewd and wise Kentucky judge who holds court in Paducah, Kentucky, in the late years of the past century.

Rich human interest, it is said blends with laughter and tears in this tale of a sleepy southern town, which still is not too sleepy to cradle stirring drama. Millions of readers know this grand old purist of fiction. Now millions more will know and love him.

Will Rogers, from all accounts contributes to the film a memorable portrait of this ex-Confederate soldier who dilutes justice with the milk of human kindness and who saves from disaster a helpless girl and the father whom she has never known.

Included in the supporting cast are Tom Brown, Rochelle Hudson, Henry Landau and Stepin Fetchit.

AT THE BELLE

"Black Sheep"

Crammed with Laugh, Love and Mystery In "Star of Midnight"

William Powell and Ginger Rogers in RKO Radio's "Star of Midnight," now at the Belle Theatre bring to the screen, perhaps the best of the modern mystery dramas.

Strong in story value, brilliantly enacted, excitly directed and handsomely mounted, the picture fairly exudes clean, Sparkling dialogue adds greatly to its thoroughly rounded entertainment.

Powell, as Clay Dalzell, a brilliant attorney who is drawn into the solution of a perplexing mystery; and Miss Rogers, as Donna Martin, a wilful young society beauty who knows the man she wants to marry and how to get him, are seen at their best.

Outstanding support is accorded by a versatile cast which includes Ralph Morgan, Gene Lockhart, Leslie Fenton, Paul Kelly, J. Farrell MacDonald, Russell Hopton and Vivian Oakland. Under Stephen Roberts's skillful direction, characterization and action unfolds with brilliance.

The story centres about the disappearance of Alice Markham, and the sinister complications which ensue. The missing Alice is discovered to be Mary Smith, masked star of a New York revue, but just as her identity is learned, she vanishes again.

Tommy Tennant, a newspaper reporter who is hot on the trail of the story, is killed in Dalzell's apartment and what was just a confounding mystery becomes a murder case, with lives and liberties at stake.

Dalzell is now forced to solve the mystery or face the possible charge of having murdered Tennant. Donna appoints herself as his "Dr. Watson" and is drawn into the exciting events which follow. Complications mount swiftly, and the action moves to a suspenseful-charged climax.

"Star of Midnight" is based on the serial story of the same name by the late Arthur Somers Roche, famous author of mystery fiction.

"Black Sheep" Closes

The second feature attraction on the same program is "Black Sheep", a sparkling comedy-drama, crammed with laughs and brilliant witty dialogue, and boasting one of the largest casts of Hollywood favorites seen on a local screen in some time, including Edmund Lowe, Claire Trevor, Tom Brown, Alison Pallette, Adrienne Ames, Herbert Mundin, Ford Sterling, Jed Prouty, Billy Bevan, and David Torrence. The action in "Black Sheep" takes place on the briny deep and its theme represents the best "Ship" story yet to reach the screen, and of the mouths grows and fists went by Miss Trevor and Ames, will be a delight to the feminine portion of this audience.

The Latest News Flashes as introduced by Edwin C. Hill, the Rambling Reporter, completes a bill of exceptional screen entertainment.

The Belle cooling system, which changes the air of the theatre every two minutes, is ready for the advent of warm days. The management of the Belle at an even temperature of 65 on the warmest day.

KILLS MOSQUITOES—MOTHS ANTS—FLIES—ALL INSECTS
FLY-TOX

SENTRY IS SLAIN DISPUTE ARISES

Moscow And Tokyo Each Claim Other on Property

By GLENN BABB

Copyright, 1935
By The Associated Press

Tokyo, June 11.—(AP)—Slaying of a Soviet sentry on the disputed Manchukuo-Siberian frontier was disclosed today as having precipitated a diplomatic controversy between Moscow and Tokyo.

Japan and Russia exchanged notes over the incident, each charging the armed forces of the other with invasion of her territory.

The skirmish occurred June 3, southwest of Minhsa. The Soviet charged two Red army cavalrymen patrolling the frontier were fired upon by Japanese troops. One of the sentries fell, according to the Russian version, while the other ran for help.

Moscow asserted, when reinforcements arrived at the spot, described as being 1,7000 metres on the Soviet side of the border, they found only bloodstains and empty cartridges on the ground.

The Japanese made the first diplomatic move, protesting June 8 to the Soviet consul at Harbin against what they termed a Soviet invasion of Manchoukuan territory.

POOR BETH! BOB SIMPLY CAN'T KEEP A JOB. FRED, HE WORKED IN YOUR OFFICE ONCE. WHAT WAS THE TROUBLE THEN?
BOB'S CLEVER. THE BOSS LIKED HIS WORK, BUT ONE BAD FAULING GOT HIM IN WRONG WITH EVERYBODY— YES, I MEAN "BO"——
A HINT FOR BETH
YES, BETH, FOR FACE AND HANDS! FRED DOES, TOO. HE WON'T TAKE CHANCES WITH "B.O." HE'S SEEN MEN LOSE JOBS BECAUSE.....
YOUR SKIN IS LOVELY, SO SMOOTH AND CLEAR. AND YOU SAY ALL YOU DO IS USE LIFEBUOY?
"B.O." GONE — Bob keeps jobs now!
WELL, BOB'S BEEN IN HIS NEW JOB SIX MONTHS. A RECORD FOR HIM! HAD A RAISE, TOO
BETH TOOK MY HINT. I'VE SEEN HER IN THE STORE BUYING LIFEBUOY. THAT EXPLAINS EVERYTHING YOUR COMPLEXION GETS PRETTIER EVERY DAY, BETH
I FOUND A NEW BEAUTY AID, TOO, AND IT'S SO SIMPLE
YES, it's simple, inexpensive and it works! Lifebuoy's rich, deep-cleansing lather makes your complexion fairly bloom with new healthy radiance. Yet scientific tests on the skins of thousands of women show Lifebuoy is more than 20 per cent milder than many so-called "beauty soaps." Use Lifebuoy for your complexion and see the wonder millions envy, say, "Lifebuoy agrees with my skin"!
To success-seekers
Don't let a hint of "B.O." (body odour) spoil your chances. Bathe regularly with Lifebuoy. Its creamy, searching lather purifies and deodorizes pores, stops "B.O." No matter how hard the water, you always get abundant lather. Lifebuoy is even mildly different from the ordinary toilet soaps, a clean, pleasant scent that vanishes as you rinse.
LIFEBUOY HEALTH SOAP
Approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau

CLASSIFIED POINTERS TO SUCCESS AND PROFITS

Business Directory

AUTO LOANS

AND REFINANCING
Direct with Borrower. Financial Service Corp. of Canada Limited.

S. J. FISHER & SON
Phone 196 Telephone 196
Automobile and Automobile Accident Insurance
Campbell Auto Finance Co. Ltd.
Toronto - Ontario - London - Windsor

CHIROPRACTOR

R. A. WYATT, D.C.
Chiropractic Therapist. Radionics and Electrotherapy. Electric concussion of tonsils and hemorrhoids. Hot and cold Vacuum Manipulative surgery with electric instrument. Everett Building, Belleville. 306 Coleman street, Belleville, phone 1000.

VERA B. PITCHER, CHIROPRACTOR, and R. A. Pitcher, Chiropractor and Drugless Therapist. Graduates of Canadian Chiropractic College, Toronto. Office hours 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. 6276 Bridge St. E., Wellington. Phone Hillcrest 1000.

DENTIST

DR. ROSS T. H. EMPSON
DENTIST
X-Ray
Phone 68 3064 Front St. Trenton
17-26

RADIO SERVICE

JOHN A. DEWAR
Radio Service
Phone 817
255 John St.

SURVEYORS

FRASER AYLESWORTH
Ontario Land Surveyor and Registered Professional Civil Engineer. Land Surveying, Estate and Mining Surveys promptly attended to. P.O. & BOX 60 MADOC, ONT.

INSURANCE

Protect yourself against accidents with our Automobile Insurance
SANDY BURROWS
HOWARD FROST
Real Estate and Fire Insurance
Phone 139
282 Front St

HALL & EARLE
General Insurance, Automobile, Accident and Plate Glass
Phone 1116-W
228 Front St.

STOCKS & BONDS

HUGHES AND CRAWFORD, MEMBERS of Toronto Stock Exchange. Belleville branch manager, H. E. Ly

LEGAL

WALLBRIDGE, CAMERON AND CO. (Successors to the late P. S. Wallbridge), Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Commercial Union Building, Belleville. Ontario. Bridge streets, Bedlerick, Ontario.

MALCOLM WAY Notary Public, Etc. Office: Campbell Block, Belleville.

J. WELLS, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Notary Public, Etc. 13 Campbell St., Belleville. Telephone 1000.

FORSTER, PAYNE AND ARNOTT, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Solicitors for Bank of Montreal. Office hours 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays 9 a.m. to 12 noon. Belleville, Ontario.

PORTER AND GRAHAM, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Conveyancers, etc. Solicitors for Bank of Montreal. Belleville, Ontario. Solicitors for Bank of Montreal. Belleville, Ontario. W. N. Porter, K.C., B. Z. K. Graham. Office hours 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

DONNAN AND BUTLER, B. C. Donnan, K.C., B.A., LL.B., Barrister, Solicitor, Notaries Public and Conveyancers. Corner Front and Victoria Streets, Belleville. Phone 228

No. 10 Highland Avenue FOR SALE
At Low Price To Close An Estate
Brick bungalow, large living room, fire place, den, dining room, kitchen, 3 bedrooms, hot water heated, three piece bath, built in stool, tiled vestibule, hardwood floors, tile range, gas, also lawn, double garage, one and three quarter acres of land, fruit trees, small fruits, three piece brass pipe, four pair hydro, two pump privileges, two large grape vines, hydro and true, strawberry bed, raspberry, rhubarb, asparagus. Property near Dundas Street. WE LET US SHOW YOU THIS HOUSE.

Belleville Locators
Geo. N. Gorman, Prop.
188 Front Street
Phone 99 Home Phone 627

PHONE 99
Classified Ad. Rates

SOCIAL NOTICES—Births, 50c; Marriages, $1.00; Deaths, 50c; Memorials, $1.00; Cards of Thanks, $1.00; Resolutions of Condolence, $1.00; Notices of Meetings, 25c per insertion; Lodge Notices, 25c per insertion; Obituaries, $1.00; Funeral Notices, $1.00; In Memoriams, $1.00; Coming Events, Dances, Euchres, $1.00 for 15 lines, over that 10c per count line per insertion. Count 5 words to the line.

CARD OF THANKS—Three lines or less, 50c; four lines or more, 10c per line. Count 5 words to the line.

LOST, STRAYS—25c per insertion for 15 words or less; over that 1c per word. Count 5 words to the line.

PERSONALS, LEGAL AND BUSINESS CARDS (Yearly Contract)—$3.00 per line per year. OFFICIAL, MUNICIPAL AND GOVERNMENT NOTICES—Rates according to these conditions: Count 5 words to the line. Minimum 15 lines to (one) first insertion; 10c per line for each subsequent insertion.

AUCTION SALES—Per word, heading to count as 10 words minimum charge. Count 5 words to the line. Cash in advance, 2c per word.

WANTED—An initial or figure counts as one word.

In estimating allow five words to the line.

Count the address and name when remittance is sent.

Count abbreviations, PHONE NO. The Intelligencer will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement or for omission of same unless if it is wrong.

Advertisers may have their replies addressed to the Intelligencer care of No. Cobalt intelligencer.

WANTED

BOARDERS (you can secure them) advertise in your first-class home at 15 cents per week. Your ad. for one week only will be given boarders in this home. Rates reasonable. 211-13

BOARDERS IN PRIVATE HOME with young couple, location Victoria Road. Phone 211-W. 211-11

STENOGRAPHER, PREFERABLY MALE under 25 years with matriculation and knowledge of shorthand. Apply in own handwriting, Box "S" Ontario Intelligencer. 211-13

SUMMER BOARDERS "IN PRIVATE home, modern conveniences, good fishing, rates reasonable, Phone 214 Bungalow Lane, Trenton. 7-26-21

FOR SALE

FORD TUDOR '29; DIVAMETER; T S B limousine, 1929 Chevrolet coach, 1929 Ford sedan. 152 Bridge West. 211-11

COAL OR WOOD RANGE. PHONE 288. 211-13

1927 NISSEN COACH, FIRST CLASS condition, color green. Apply 327 Albert street. 10-26

WINDOW AND DOOR SILLS, STEPS, Lintels, Chimney Caps, Fireplace Stone, Cellar Posts. Phone 38811, Belleville. 10-26

GILSON ELECTRIC WASHER, PORTA-ble clothes. Norge electric refrigerator. Apply 10 Victoria Crescent, evenings. Gilson. 211-13

CHESTERFIELD SUITE — 3 ROOM HOUSE. Division street, Trenton, central location. Apply 10 Victoria Crescent, Belleville. 211-13

WOOD FOR SALE—Dry hardwood, stump, six cu. yds. Wheels. Exact sealed, $10 cord on car. Also dry slabs, $5 cord delivered. Phone 1000. 211-13

TAPESTRY COVERED DIVANETTE, in fine condition. Apply Mrs. Mark Tucker, first house to left outside city limits, Trenton Road. 211-13

FOR SALE OR RENT

TWO SUMMER COTTAGES ON MOIRA Lake and Baptiste Lake. Apply Fred Sealtin, Madoc. 211-13

TO LET

FURNISHED BELLEVUE APARTMENT No. 8 for July and August. Apply on premises. 211-13

NEW HOUSE 18 BRASSEY STREET— Apply 20 Brasley street. 211-13

SIX ROOMED HOUSE WITH IMPROVE-ments. Rent reasonable. 152 Pinnacle street. 10-26

6 HOLLOWAY STREET — ALL MOD-ern conveniences. Possession July 1. Apply W. F. Fraser, 41 Holloway street. 211-13

HOUSE, PINNACLE STREET, FIRST door from Bridge West. Possession Victoria erection. Phone 766-W. 10-26

139 WEST BRIDGE — MODERN IM-provements, garage and garden. Ready July 1. Enquire 141 Bridge West. Phone 1000. 211-13

APARTMENT HEATED AND FURNISH-ed or unfurnished. Immediate possession. Apply 176 Foster Ave. 209-tf

MEDIUM SIZED APARTMENT, HEAT-ed, hardwood floors, electric refrigerator and stove. Immediate possession. Apply Ontario Intelligencer. 211-13

FOR SALE OR RENT

TWO COTTAGES ON OAK LAKE, O. K. Lorry and Sea, Stirling, Ont. 211-13

STRAYED

SATURDAY — YOUNG PURE BRED Scotch Female Collie, "Bonnie"—light sable with white markings. Reward for her return. Finder please notify Corp. Cpl. Anglebourne R. 2 or Telephone Corpse 97-71. 211-11

NOTICES

The 34th District Annual Convention of West Hastings District, Sidney Baptist Church, Monday, June 17, 1935. Auspices of Ladies' Missionary Society. Interesting reports and addresses will be featured by well known speakers. Meal at noon, 25 cents. Visitors welcome. 211-11

IN MEMORIAM

MOTTAR—In loving memory of our darling Dorothy who crossed the Great Divide, June 11, 1930. In her 15th year. Sweetest flower of the flock, Death took that girl of ours. Where we looked for life and love, Found the shadow of divine. But sometimes in the night, We can feel and hear her call. Dorothy from out life's dark. Sadly missed by Mother, Daddy, Dorothy and Bernice. 211-11

DIED

HOSKINSON—In Belleville, Ont., on Tuesday, June 11, 1935, Sarah Leigh, widow of Sam Hoskinson, in her 91st year.

The funeral will take place from the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. Jos. Gay, June 13th at 2.30 p.m. Interment Belleville Cemetery. 211-11

TICKELL & BROWNE
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
We Serve for Less
Phone 1095 HOME
Corner Church St. and Victoria Ave. Phone 2255

BELLEVILLE
BURIAL COMPANY
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
57 Campbell St.
Phone 596 Office Phone 596
Night
J. W. IMLAH
Proprietor
Manager Crypts For Sale

Thomas G. Thompson
Funeral Director
Funeral Home
28 Everett St. Phone 62
Office
855 Front St. Phone 62

UP TO SIX INCH PAID FOR U. S. INDIAN HEAD CENTS

We buy all dates regardless of condition. Also Canadian Large Cents, E. Lincoln Head cents. Up to $150. each for Canadian coins. We buy Stamp Collections, Medals, Books, Coins, Paper Money, Etc. Send 3c stamp for large Illustrated price list and Buying Catalogue. Satisfaction guaranteed or we refunded.

HUB COIN SHOP
138-142 FRONT ST.
BARRIE - ONTARIO

BUSINESS LINERS
MILLINERY

Mrs. Harman invites you to inspect her new Summer Hats. 42½ Bridge West (upstairs). 211-13

BEE KEEPERS' SUPPLIES AT BISHOP'S SEED STORE

PERSONAL

SIMPLY RUB IT IN — THAT'S ALL when you use Cives Corn or Bunion Salve. At Dolan the Druggist. 211-11

NOTICE TO CREDITORS AND OTHERS

IN THE MATTER OF PETER MURPHY late of the City of Oshawa in the State of New York, gentleman.

Notice is hereby given pursuant to Statutes in that behalf that all creditors and persons having claims or demands against the estate of the said Peter Murphy, died on or about the 30th day of July, 1933, are required to send by post prepaid on or before the 6th day of July, 1935, to the undersigned Solicitors for Graham, Bridges street, Belleville, Ontario, their names and addresses and full particulars of their claims and statement of their accounts and the nature of the security if any held by them, duly verified.

And further take notice that after the 6th day of July, 1935, the said Executor will proceed to distribute the assets of the said deceased among the parties entitled thereto having regard only to such claims of which he shall then have had notice, and that the said Executor will not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof to any person or persons of whose claim he shall not have had notice at the time of such distribution.

Dated at Belleville this 10th day of June, 1935.

Foster & Graham
Solicitors for the Executor.
Dominion Building
211 13 22 29

Bet Sure Thing Horse Ran Out

Hamilton, June 11 (CP)—The story of a horse race that meant either happiness or ruin for a young bride was told today in the Magistrate's Court today when Ralph Hamilton, 22, was charged with a Union Bank, pleaded guilty to having $200 of the bank's funds in his possession.

The only witness was Norman Evans, manager, who told of finding the teller's cash short and spelling a statement from him. The statement told of a series of domestic and financial difficulties. On May 20 after having a few drinks with two other responsible positions, the young man confessed he took $600 to Toronto to bet on a "sure thing" in the King's Plate. The horse ran out.

On the following Saturday, he made an effort to recoup himself but he did not pick a winner and his cash shortages could no longer be concealed.

Stevens was remanded till Monday for sentence.

UNLISTED MINES

Unlisted mines furnished by A. H. Ketcheson and Co., today.

Ascot	36-38
Ardeen	8-9
Blankfield M.-M.	3-4
Bathurst	1 1-2-3
Beaucage	12-14
Can Bandora	2-3
Chesy	12-13
Cons Chib	29-30
Dunlop	1-2
Hi Bonanza	16-18
Forty Four	400-500
Glenora	5-11
Gold Eagle	32-35
Gt. Bear Lake	82-86
Hardrock	48-50
Unis. Gold	29-30
Keshonon Nip	3-5
Lafayette	3-4
Lamaque	180-185
Lagoon	4-6
Magnet	5-7
Matach	10-12
Moneyr	2 1-2-3
North Rhone	3-4
Okland	30-32
Rice Lake	2 1-4-2
Springer	1095
Realtors	5-7
Shawkey	42-43
Sturgeon R.	80-86
Wilrich	4
Wingold	13-15
Young Dev.	17-19

CONVERT GABLE MINISTER'S AIM

Rev. Sam Williams Sees Hope For Clarke, None For Many

Gallywood, June 12 (AP)—Inspired by a woman's vision, the Rev. Samuel Williams, 70-year-old evangelist, prepared to sail 27 miles (of ocean today on a mission to convert Clark Gable from the movies into evangelism.

The ocean trip will carry him to Catalina Island where the handsome actor will be for the next three years.

The Rev. Mr. Williams, who recently retired publicly for Gable, said women of his congregation induced him to come here and seek the actor's redemption.

"Of course," the minister said, "there is no hope for lots of them but we feel there is hope for Clark because of his Christian training."

He told perturbed studio officials he hoped to win Gable, a native of Cadiz, Ohio, to an evangelistic career and end his "sinful influence" in the films.

The pastor said a vision of Mrs. Betty Harmon of his flock inspired the movement to win Gable to evangelism.

"Mrs. Harmon," he said, "saw our church on a hill—and a lot of clean white stones around it down in the valley were a lot of lions and a few young lions. The lions represented the movie people. All of a sudden the gentle lions came out of the church and threw stones down at the lions. The stones represented their prayers and each one bounced off a lion's head and then he was killed."

The trade-mark of the studio employing Clark includes a lion's head.

Speech Limited To 5 Minutes

Montreal, June 11—(CP)— With limit of five minutes of speech and nine discussion, the 81st Presbyterian Assembly today carried a resolution of Rev. Dr. T. Wardlaw Taylor of Goderich, Ont., limiting speeches to five minutes except those moving committee reports which will be 10 minutes.

Clarence Pitts of Ottawa, recalling that many of the assembly congregations rose on a question of privilege and said he could not return home to tell his people "Chinese Gordon" had started unchallenged.

Since 1925 St. Andrew's Church had given $125,000 to the church budget and $100,000 to aid of other churches.

"We don't want the church to be known to be said it was subject to criticism.

Rev. Dr. Malcolm Campbell of First Church, Montreal, said the assembly could not have been held but for the strong church.

Rev. Dr. Stuart Parker of Toronto read a report on a proposal to merge forces of synods. The proposition was made last year by Rev. Dr. Allan S. Reid of Montreal and the committee was appointed to investigate.

Car Plunges Down Sixty Foot Gully

Cornwall, Ont., June 11—(CP)—Pitch Ransom, Williamsburg, had a narrow escape from death today when his automobile plunged down a 60 foot gully at Moulinette, eight miles west of here.

According to police, Ransom informed them, he fell asleep at the wheel, and lost control of his car, which swung to the shoulder of the road, plunged into the ravine, and rolled over once at the bottom. Ransom suffered only minor scratches.

BIRTH CONTROL FAVORED

Detroit, June 11—(AP)— The General Federation of Women's Clubs gave endorsement today to federal legislation for dissemination of scientifically regulated birth control information. The vote was 483 for the resolution and 17 against.

FOR RELIABLE INFORMATION ON INSURANCE and INVESTMENTS
CONSULT
JAMIESON BONE & CO.
INSURANCE INVESTMENTS

FINANCIAL MARKETS
NEW YORK - TORONTO - WINNIPEG

TORONTO STOCKS CLOSE

Toronto, June 11 (CP)—The Toronto industrial share market improved as the session advanced today and it closed strong at the best price level with gains outnumbering losses. Buying expanded in the leaders and these along with the oils, Steel of Canada, Brazilian, Lobaw A, Nickel and Bell Telephone accounted for the bulk of the trade. Steel of Canada boarded a 500-share sale at 64 3/4, a new high price for the year.

Distillery and oil stocks displayed firmness along with the steels and utilities on the industrial section and the golds and trades held a steady grable volume. Food, construction, bank and brewery stocks lagged with light recessions predominating.

Brokers Common and Distillers Seagram rubbed ¼ to ½ points. Shares showing the best advance and gains of ¼ to ¾ appeared Imperial Oil, British American and International Petroleum, Nickel, C.P.R. and Bell Telephone were among the gainers.

TORONTO MINES CLOSE

Toronto, June 11.—(CP)— All metal mining shares showed a certain amount of strength this afternoon on the closing session of the Toronto Exchange following a sluggish morning trading and inactive session in the Silvers. The turnover was heavy in Central Patricia, Siscoe, God's Lake, Sylvanite and Premier in the medium-priced issues and these were also all in the list. The whole board had a preponderance of gains over losses.

A sluggish early mining section developed into a strong market during this afternoon with trading expanding in all metal groups. Central Patricia, Siscoe and Sylvanite kicked by climbing to 1.76 on heavy trading. God's Lake, Sylvanite, Premier and God's Lake were all active and higher.

The meeting of copper producers with the price fixing committee failed to drop in the copper price, stimulated interest in Noranda and a mid-day rise of 2 points followed. Hollinger, Dome, McIntyre and International Nickel ruled steady to fractionally higher. Gold Eagle, Bralorne, Pioneer advanced a point, while Lake Shore gained nearly a point. Dominion Government Bonds were narrow. Canadian funds eased 1-32 of a cent to 99 29-32.

American Crystal Sugar Preferred and Hercules Powder got up nearly 2 points each and gainers of fractional to 1 point included Air Reduction, Standard Oils of California and New Jersey, Pacific Gas, Consolidated Gas, Chrysler, U.S. Steel, Du Pont, Coca-Cola, Goodyear, U.S. Rubber Preferred and Coral Western Sugar.

PROBE RESUMES AT KINGSTON

Kingston, Ont., June 11 (CP)—The investigation into the charges by Mr. Daly of Ottawa into charges by Miss Agnes Macphail, Commons member for South East Grey, that Conservative J. D. Dawson of the penitentiary branch had used improper language concerning her in conversation with Dr. J. T. Rowe, then a doctor in Kingston penitentiary, was scheduled to resume in the court house here this morning at 10 o'clock.

PEARL BUCK SEEKS DIVORCE

Reno, Nev., June 11—(AP)—Pearl Comfort Buck, internationally known author of "The Good Earth" and other works, tyled suit here today for divorce from John L. Buck. Her complaint charged extreme cruelty which she "pointedly had neither forgiven nor condoned."

Stock Markets

Quotations furnished by Biggar and Crawford, P. H. Wills, branch manager, Quotations at 2.32 p.m.

Ashley	12b
Ajax	71b
Acme	22b
Brick, Treth	2 1-4b
Barry Hollinger	3 3-4b
Base Metals	87
Bobjo	7
Big Missouri	7b
Bridian	13b
Bagamac	4 3-4
Bralorne	6.75
Castle Treth	1.10
Coniaurum	1.90b
Central Pat	1.76
Coast Copper	315b
Dome	41.00b
Dominion Explor.	55
Eldorado	21b
Falconbridge	37f
God's Lake	154
Gillies	2.22b
Granada	28b
Gunn Pers	36b
Hollinger	14.65b
Hargrave	3 1-4b
Home Oil	53b
Hudson's Bay	15.00b
Howey	10
Inter'l Nickel	28 1-2b
Kirkland Lake	2.60
Kirk/Townsite	19.25
Lake Shore	183
Little Long Lac	53.5b
Macassa	1.97b
Malartic	64
Maple Leaf	5
McIntyre	1.260b
Mining Corporation	136
McKenzie	125
McWaters	12f
McWillie	14 1-2b
Nipissing	250
Noranda	39.5b
Newbec	20
Parkhill	30b
Preston	18
Rouyn Adth.	06B
Reno	150b
St. Anthony	17
Sherritt	64b
Sisco	27b
San Antonio	218
Stadacona	12
Sudbury Basin	141b
Sylvanite	223b
Teck-Hughes	407b
Ventures	83b
Wayside	15
Wells Amulet	53b
Wright Hargreaves	860b
Parmaster	26b
Pitchf. Dome	2.46

New York.

American Can 119¼.
American T. and T. 129¼.
American Por. Power 3¾.
Anaconda 34¾.
Auburn 21.
Case 53.
Chrysler 46¾.
General Motors 31.
Electric Auto Lite 20¾.
Inter. Telephone 8¼.
North American 15½.
Montgomery Ward 26¾.
Phillips Petroleum 22¾.
Radio 5½.
Standard Oil of N. J. 49¼.
Standard Oil of Ind. 29.
Stewart-Warner 9¼.
U. S. Smelters 112¾.
U. S. Steel 33¼.
United Aircraft 11¾.
Vanadium 22.
Westinghouse 49¼.
Worthington Pfd. 14¼.
General Electric 25¾.
Power Bonds.
Gatineau 5.

6 per cent., 84½.
6 per cent., 89½.
6 per cent. B. 64B.
Bralharnes 7.

5½ per cent., 83B.
Gen. Steel Wares, 20B.
Abitibi 28½.
Duke Price 99½B.
Dominion Bridge 71.
Can. Northern Power 99¼B.
Montreal Power, 40B.

TORONTO

Bell Telephone 130
B. A. Oil 23¾.
Brewing Corp 3 3-4
Bras Treo 2 1-2
Can. Bud Brewery 8
Can Cement 1-2
Can Dredge 23 1-2B
Can Ind. Alcohol 8 1-2B
C.P.R. 14¾.
Can Malting 32 3-4B
Can Steamships 2B
Canada Car 7B
Consol. Beverages 11 3-4B
Con Smelting 170 1-2B
Dominion Stores 7 1-4B
Dist Seagrams 71 1-2B
Ford "A" 23 7-8B
Gypsum 19B
Imp. Oil 20 7-8B
Int. Pet. 36 1-4B
Imp. Tobacco 13B
Loblaw 18
Massey Harris 4 1-8
Mont Power 26 1-2B
McColl Frontenac 13 7-8B
Power Corp 7 1-8B
Steel of Canada 49 1-2B
Supertest 27 1-4B
Shawinigan 16 1-2B
Walkers 39 1-2B
Walkers Pfd. 17 1-4B
Walkerville Brewery 3 1-2.

Domestic Strawberries On Toronto Market

Toronto, June 11.—New crop domestic strawberries appeared on the Toronto fruit market yesterday in fair quantities to establish the new fruit definitely in season prices. Quotations to the retail trade were 15 to 18 cents per box. Strawberries were reported fair, and heavier shipments are reported today.

Hog Output Lower Price Moves Higher

While January, 1934, was the seasonal month of heaviest hog marketings of last year, May and the first week in June half of June appear to be the heaviest according to the forecasts for this year. During the corresponding month of 1934, hog arrivals on Canadian wide markets surprised farmers and producers with unusual gains. Prices show up over 31 per cwt. during the month to send live stock officials scurrying to records to locate the last time hogs sold at $9.25 per cwt. Hog prices have been steadily declining and dropped from a new 20-year high of $9.85.

Yesterday on the local live stock exchange hog prices again reached $9.25 weight of cars and farmers are even more hopeful of crashing through to the $10 mark before the end of the month. Hog prices are stiffer.

Another drastic reductions in Canadian hog marketings is expected to bring the level of the present time. During the first five months of the year 1,430,183 hogs have passed through Canadian live stock centres, compared to 722,043 head during the same period in 1934. This is a decrease of 707,140 head in five months. Coupled with improvement in the economic structure of the country and with prediction of weather that will assure abundant shipments of grains to the United Kingdom, probabilities are that the $10 price per cwt. is likely to be reached. Exports of bacon for the month of May were 19,479,700 pounds, compared with 19,479,700 pounds for the whole month of May, 1934. Favorable conditions on the British bacon market also had a bullish effect on hog prices values. On May 1, 1935, bacon hogs weighed off cars sold at $9.25 on the market at $9, compared with $9.25 on May 1, 1934, and $8.50 in 1933.

Since the start of the year prices which appears to be favorable for the Canadian live stock producer, hog price have advanced $1.25.

Edmonton is the only Canadian market to report an advance in hog receipts during May, the increase being 50 per cent. over 1934. Winnipeg reported a decrease of 50 per cent., while in Saskatoon receipts were reduced by 30,000 head.

All other grades of live stock have managed to cover last year's output. Slight difference is shown in receipts of calves, while sheep and lambs are considerably heavier than the corresponding year ago.

Cattle, calf, lamb and sheep prices are higher on the hoof, but not by much. The majority of cattle grades show an advance of approximately 25 per cwt., while calf values are slightly higher and sheep and lambs about the same as the prevailing prices of 1934.

Ontario Fruit Yield Will be Heavier

Indications are that there will be a larger crop of practically all classes of fruit in Ontario this season than in 1934, Western Ontario conditions are also forecasted by the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Monitorial reports are also ample for the present.

Strawberries are coming through the winter in Eastern Ontario in good condition. In Niagara district, however, the cold weather has retarded blossom development and the prospects of a crop of fruit are not as favorable as last year. In Western Ontario strawberry prospects are good, although some fields have been injured by frost, the damages not being as severe as anticipated in early reports.

Raspberry canes suffered only slight winter injury and are developing well for a considerably heavier crop than last year.

Setting out of tomato plants is general throughout the province. The considerable cut-worm injury is reported. Cabbage plants are developing well and the acreage is about normal.

It is reported that cherries and plums are going to be somewhat lighter crops this year in Eastern Ontario. Pears, however, look promising and there is a much better yield than last year. Apples in the early varieties appear to be fairly good. Fall varieties have a fair bloom and the prospects are for a good crop. Peaches are also in good condition in most districts, and are growing well.

Bacon Hogs Higher

Hog prices advanced moderately on major Canadian livestock markets yesterday. Toronto increased prices 10 cents per cwt., while Montreal values moved up 15 cents per cwt. Winnipeg finished 5 cents up. Two notable points stood high-lighted in the Canadian hog trade, the remainder were unchanged. Obvious were light.

Hogs advanced 20 cents per cwt. locally. Bacons sold at $9.10 f.o.b., $9.40 off trucks and $9.45 weighted basis. Thick smoothes sold at $8.45. Butchers, lights and heavies, $8.75. Sows realized $7.75 and stags $6.50. Canada Packers paid the usual $1 premium. The market was unsettled and trading fairly active. Receipts totalled 1,180 head.

HOGS

Toronto, June 11 (CP)—Following the action of major Canadian markets, prices of hogs at Toronto market points were generally higher. Bacons sold at $9.10 f.o.b., $9.40 off trucks and $9.45 weighted basis. Thick smoothes sold at $8.45. Butchers, lights and heavies, $8.75. Sows realized $7.75 and stags $6.50. Canada Packers paid the usual $1 premium. The market was unsettled and trading fairly active. Receipts totalled 1,180 head.

HOGS

Toronto, June 11 (CP)—Following the action of major Canadian markets, prices of hogs at Toronto market points were generally higher. Bacons sold at $9.10 f.o.b., $9.40 off trucks and $9.45 weighted basis. Thick smoothes sold at $8.45. Butchers, lights and heavies, $8.75. Sows realized $7.75 and stags $6.50. Canada Packers paid the usual $1 premium. The market was unsettled and trading fairly active. Receipts totalled 1,180 head.

Grain Markets

Closing quotations on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange furnished by A. E. Ketcheson and Co. today.

Wheat—
July	65¾	65¾	65⅞
Oats—
July	40¼	39¾	40¼
Sept.	37¾	37¼	37¾
Barley—
July	51	49¾	49¾
October	47	46¾	46¾
Rye—
July	44¾	43¾	43¾
October	44¾	43¾	43¾

FRANCE TAKES ACTION

Paris, June 11 (CP)—Premier Pierre Laval and Foreign Minister Flandin, the Bank of France has decided to suspend the system of basing the paper value of the franc on a fixed weight of gold bars as collateral, it was indicated today following a conference between Finance Minister Marcel Regnier and Jean Tannery, the bank's Governor.

Hepburn Leaves for Toronto

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., June 11— (CP)—Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn, accompanied by John P. Bickell, President of McIntyre mines and Ben Smith of New York, left Shebeet today in Mr. Bickell's plane for Toronto. Starting at 10 miles north of here, Duke Schiller is piloting the plane.

Produce Markets

(By United Farmers Co-Operative Company)

Toronto, June 11.—Wholesale prices on product delivered at Toronto Terminals as supplied by the United Farmers Co-operative Co. here to-day were:

Buying Prices

Eggs—
Grade A, large doz.	.17
Grade A, medium doz.	.12
Grade B, doz.	.16c
Grade C, doz.	.10
Butter—
Creamery No. 1 Creamery, lb.	.20½
Ontario No. 3 Creamery, lb.	.19½
Churning cream—
No. 1, lb.	.20
No. 2, lb.	.19

(F.O.B. shipping point)
Poultry

	Live	Dressed	Milkfed
Hens—	"A"	"A"	"A"
Over 5 lbs.	.11	.14
4 to 5 lbs.	.10	.13
3 to 4 lbs.	.09	.12
Old roosters	.07	.09
Broilers 1-2 lb.	1-3		.16
Broilers 2 1-2 lb.			.13
Broilers 1 1-4 to 2 1-2			.19

Fruit

United Farmers Co-Operative Co. to-day offered prices to shippers to all dealers at the following prices:

Eggs—

Grade A, large, loose, doz.	.22
Grade A, medium, doz.	.21
Grade A, pullets, doz.	.19
Grade C, doh.	.18
Butter—
No. 1 Creamery, prints	.23½
No. 2 Creamery, prints	.23

Hay and Straw

No. 2 timothy bay, "baled ton, $13.50 to $14.00; No. 3 timothy per ton, $11.50 to $12.50; mixed per ton, $11.00; clover mixed per ton $10.00; oats straw, $7.50 to $8.50.

Graded Egg Prices

Toronto dealers today were paying the following nominal prices for eggs, delivered, extra:

Grade A, medium, doz.	.19
Grade A, pullets, doz.	.18
"A" pullets, doz.	.16

Livestock Quotations

(Toronto)

Steers, up to 1,100 lbs.,

Good and choice	$6.00 6.75
Medium	5.50 6.25
Common	4.75 5.50
Heifers, good, under 1,050 lbs. good and choice	6.50 7.10
do, medium	6.00 6.50
do, common	5.00 6.00
Heifers, good and choice 5.35 6.75
do, medium	5.00 5.75
do, common	4.75 5.50
Cows, good	4.50 5.25
do, choice	7.00 7.75
do, common	4.50 6.50
Bulls, good, choice	5.50 6.25
do, medium	4.50 5.50
do, common	3.50 4.25
Canners and cutters	1.50 1.75
Bulls, good	5.00 5.75
do, medium	3.00 3.50
Milkers and Springer	35.00 50.00
Stock and feeder steers, good	4.00 4.50
do, medium	3.50 4.00
Calves, good and choice	7.00 7.50
do, medium	6.00 7.00
do, grassers	3.50 3.50
do, common	2.50 3.50
do, off cars	9.85
do, choice	9.60
Good ewes and wether lambs	9.00 9.50
do, medium	8.00 9.00
do, bucks	6.00 7.00
do, culls	5.00 6.00
Sheep, good weight	2.50 3.00
do, heavies	1.00 1.50
do, heavies	3.00 3.50

LIVESTOCK

Toronto, June 11—(CP)— Cattle trading was active at the opening of the Toronto livestock market today, and prices were generally steady. Only 150 holdovers were on the market. Calves, sheep and lambs were in moderate supply. Hogs showed a slight advance.

Receipts as reported by the Dominion Live Stock Branch were: Cattle 550; Calves 280; Hogs 410; Sheep and lambs 400.

Choice handyweight butchers brought $6.50 to $6.75 while one load of 1,210 pounders went as high as $6.85. Weighty steers of good quality sold at $6.50 to $6.75. Good butcher cows were steady at $4.50 to $5.00 while plain brought $3.00. Fed calves ranged from $7.00 to $7.75 for choice with a few light stockers at $4.00 to $5.00.

Calves were steady with choice vealers at $7.00 to $7.50 and common grades at $6.00 to $6.50. Lambs sold at $9.50 for choice and at $8.00 to $8.50 for other grades. Good, light sheep brought $2.50 to $3.00.

Quotations:

Cattle, calf, sheep and lamb quotes were unchanged. Hogs—No quotations.

Montreal, June 11—(CP)—Offerings on the Montreal livestock markets today totalled 1,050 head, composed of 41 cattle, 564 calves, 249 hogs and 196 sheep and lambs.

Good steers $6.75-$7.10; medium $6.25-$6.50; common $5.50-$6.00; heifers $5.50 to $6.25; good cows $5.25; medium kinds, $4.50-$5.00; light cows $4.00.

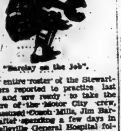
Good lambs brought $9 per hundredweight with outstanding light lambs down to $8. Sheep ranged from $1.50-$2.50.

Hogs were steady. Bacons brought $9.75-$9.90 fed and watered, with $1 per hog premium on selects. Butchers, heavies and lights were from $9.25-$9.40 and extra heavies $8.75-$8.90. Sows were from $6.50-$7.

BUY NOW AND MAKE WORK

Baseball
Current Sport

IN THE REALM OF SPORTING EVENTS



Bowling
Golf

RADIOS READY FOR BALL GAME

Expect to Down Oshawa, Only Team to Beat Them This Year

Sum smarting under their only defeat of the season, at the hands of the Oshawa "Brewers" some days ago, the Stewart-Warners meet the Oshawa nine in return C.O.B.U. fixture at the Exhibition Park in a twilight match on Thursday of this week. Dozy Ogden silenced the Radios' bats during the game in Oshawa at which time the homesters eked out a 1-to 0 victory, the only loss sustained by the Mills-coached outfit thus far this season.

So closely are the clubs in the C.O.B.U. bunched these days that one single loss or win may disrupt the entire league standing. Doubtlessly Freddie Saunders will use Dozy Ogden, his fireball hurler who stopped the Radios so successfully in Oshawa on June 1st., but judging from the manner in which the locals met Spooz Switzer's deliveries, the "Brewers" will have to summon more than one run if they expect to sally out of town, after the game, with a victory under their belts. The Oshawa squad boast of some pow'rful hitters in Moose Matthews, Peg Hurst, Theo Elliott, Wallace, Kitchen and Osborne, the newly acquired shortstop from Bowmanville. Other hurlers to be used in case Ogden might weaken are Lefty Wilis, Maggie Frink, Innis and Walter Knox.

"Barney on the Job".

The entire roster of the Stewart-Warners reported in practice last night and are ready to take the measure of the "Brewer" crew. Also they assured Coach Mills, Jim Barclay, killed during a few days in the Belleville General Hospital following being hit with one of Spooz Switzer's wild throws last week, was on hand and declared ready for action. All three good southpaw hurlers warmed up at length with Williams, Calhoun and Smith all taking their turn on the hilltop during batting practice. Coach Mills would not intimate, as to the starting pitcher, would be for Thursday night's all important game versus the Oshawa nine, but it looks that either Jack Williams, the local curve ball artist or Ernie Smith, who hurled so well for the locals in Oshawa, would be the pitchers to receive consideration for mound duty, Calhoun being saved for relief purposes.

TWEED WINNER OVER ALEMITES

Bill Gowsell Hurls Smart Ball in 6 to 3 Win

Snatching an early game lead the Tweed entry in the Belleville Senior Baseball loop walloped home to her Central Park last evening. The victory makes little difference in the league standings as the Tweed entry retains its second place standing. Behind the superb pitching of Bill Gowsell, the Quinn-led mudsluggers from Tweed bit well in the pinches and gave their hurler a four run lead in the first two frames, while the "Intermediate" held scoreless. Gowsell was in rare form, although Harry Rider, on the hilltop for the Alemites, deserved a better verdict, he pitching a fine brand of softball throughout.

The Alemite loss pushes them down a notch in the league ladder race, a tie with the sixth placed St. Paul's team, incidentally an Intermural league fixture will be played at Central Park tonight, when the Alemites can better their standing by taking a fall out of the fast moving Young Canada Club, who are right in stride these days and a hard nut to crack, having won two of their last three games.

The Boxscore:

Alemites: Little 3b., McCabe 2b., Lupenski: H. Ebbler 1b., Henn c., Dickey rf, R. Ebbler lf., Meens ss., White, Flagler and H. Morgan.

Tweed: Simpson c., Merow 3b., Tummon cf., Orr ss., Gowsell p., McCutcheon 1., Rollins 2b., Marcher 1b., Sinclair rf.

Score by innings:

Tweed . . . . . 220 000 101—6 runs
Alemite . . . . . 000 003 010—3 runs

Umpires: Wilson, Tweed, plate; Somers, Belleville, bases.

TRAINS AZUCAR

Lex Wilson, former St. Mary's, Ontario, horseman, and now trainer for the well-known racing stable of F. M. Alger of Detroit, Wilson's charges include Azucar, the seven-year-old former steeplechaser, which swept to victory in the $100,000 Santa Anita (California) Handicap last February. Azucar was recently beaten by two lengths by Edward P. Seagram's Stand Fat at Detroit Fair Grounds. It was Azucar's first race since his California victory.

"PRINTERS" ON THE BIG END

Take American Hardware in Mercantile Game 16 to 13

In a slugfest, that saw twenty-nine runs scored, the Ontario Intelligencer nine scored their initial win of the season in a regular Mercantile League softball fixture on the Yeoman's St. grounds last evening, when they turned the American Hardware, back to the tune of 16 to 13 in a free hitting contest.

Although the "Printers" failed to score in the initial frame they notched at least one counter in each of the succeeding innings while the "lock masters" were kept from the score sheet in two of the nine innings played. "Gene" Doyle ascended the mound for the victors and pitched steady ball, although the support afforded him was slightly "wobbly" while the same held good for both Rodgers and Dinnie, who shared the pitching honors for the American Hardware. Actual hits and errors committed and collected during the nine full innings played, were far too numerous to count.

The line-ups.

American Hardware—F. McGuire, J. McGuire; Reid; Graham; Noakes; Graham; Bell; Rodgers; Smith; Dinnie and B. Smith.

Ontario Intelligencer — Kemp, Phelps, Oliphant; Robinson; Brown; Ling; Lunberg; Gilmour; Goyer and Doyle.

Score by innings.

American Hardware 21 220 101—13
Ontario Intelligencer 222 231 22x—16

Umpires—Lloyd, plate; Semark, bases.

DISTRICT MANAGER WANTED

As established Life Insurance Company requires the immediate services of a manager for Belleville. Salary contract awaits a good, reliable man. If qualified to produce results, write BOX "21", BELLEVILLE INTELLIGENCER, outlining qualifications. All communications treated in strictest confidence.

CURRENT SPORT

DAY BY DAY

As Thursday is the 12th of the month it is going to be a big lucky day for either the Stewart-Warners or the Oshawa "Brewers" unless the weatherman steps in and dampens the aspirations of both, which in itself would cast the old "thirteen" omen over the executive of the Radios as the largest crowd of the current season is expected to see the locals stack up against the fast moving "brewers" at the local ball yard on Thursday.

Just why it is we cannot explain, but it seems as though the other three clubs in the C.O.B.U. always play their best class of ball versus Coach Mills' charges. For instance the Oshawa gant playof heap up ball against the Radios to hand the locals their only defeat of the season, Oshawa on June 1st. A week later, behind four hit pitching by Lefty Innis, the Motor City aggregation blank the ball around for six costly errors, all of which materially assisted the Frinks in downing the "Brewers" 4 to 0 on Saturday. The Peries, Peris and Oshawa all play heads-up ball against the Radios, while they occasionally kick the gong around when facing each other. "Are we never going to get a break and win in a canter?"

After the Ponies played the Radios 4 to 4 tie to open the season in Kingston, we came back and through the medium of our humble column, predicted a bright future for Bud Clancy, hurler deluxe for the Ponies. Clancy is no better than our own three moundsmen, but we will wager all the tea in China, he will win more games this season than he will lose, that is providing Coach Daly does not work him too frequently, as was the case with Jake Solomon when he had Al Heckman in his hey-dey.

The Radios were out to a stiff workout last eve, all hands being on deck. The locals have had a rest since last Thursday and were rarin' to go. Incidentally Jim Barclay was a spectator at the practice and announced he would be ready to return to the wars versus the "beer barons" on Thursday, he who will ascend the mound for the Radios on Thursday has not yet been announced by Coach Mills, but doubtlessly it will be either Ernie Smith, elongated local right-hander who fared so well in Oshawa, or Jack "Chief" Williams, who has not pitched on the home diamond since opening day.

In the hurry and scurry of C.O.B.U. ball we nearly forgot one local ineligible ball team, or who play their first game before the home fans on Wednesday afternoon owhat a break for the barbers). The B.A.B.A. intermediates are entertaining the lowly Gananoque nine at the local ball yard on the half holiday. Perhaps the average run of fan will not quite realize the significance of this game. In the Bay of Quinte League the clubs finishing first and second, irrespective of how and where the Napanee Gibbards get off, are to meet in the league finals, which, really means, that all the B.A.B.A. aggregation has to do is to case out the Gananoque gang and they will coast into the loop final. Incidentally all the Picton press was high in its praise of the work of Wil Cretsey, around the infital sack last week. The Picton scribes say, that Cretsey was in a class by himself and also helped himself to a nice bit. Cretsey played good ball around the initial sack for the old Nationals, but failure to hit in more recent years dropped him back into the minors. Maybe he's headed for better times once again. Who knows? Of course Cretsey will be under observation during tomorrow afternoon's game versus the Gananoque Intermediate nine.

A slight change in the S.E.A.C. weekly punt races was announced yesterday. It seems the Toronto jewellers are holding their provincial convention in Belleville and have donated six special trophies to the punt races if they would stage their weekly races off the Bay of Quinte Country Club premises, where the annual affair is to be held on Wednesday. Naturally the golf punt racers or sailors were more than interested in the proposition and agreed. The contesting cracks will meet the bay bridge at 2.00 p.m. by the town clock. Weather permitting Max Baer and James J. Braddock will meet for the heavyweight boxing championship of the world. There is a terrible lot of difference of opinion regarding the relative ability of both men and, who will win. Some think Baer has gone stale and will clown himself out of a title, while others say—who did Braddock defeat?" Maybe both are right, but we have to stirring along with the present champ, that is as long as the present crop of brawlers continues to remain idle. There will be a Dempsey or Johnson in the whole shebang, no, nor even a Carpentier or Firpo.

"Oh-oh—; here's a new wrinkle in the wrestling racket. The promoter of the weekly Kiwanis wrestling brawl at the Arena inform us they have contacted a second Tarzan, the apeman' er sunapinn' At any rate the local promoters can procure the services of one Elmo Sinkey, who tips the beam at 220 pounds and who says he will wrestle Jack Pearl and one Wallace Ballyhoo in the 45 minute semi-final on Friday night. It has not been made quite clear yet whether this "man mountain" has to toss Pearl and Ballyhoo simultaneously, or in 45 minute limit, or whether the two of them crawl into the ring with this lone Sinkers, and tie into him at one time. Although we have no authentic information on the matter we believe that Sinkers agrees to take on both Ballyhoo and Pearl at one time, in other words it will be two against one, which should create considerable excitement let alone the fun that will ensue. The promoters are thinking of bringing Walter Parnell back to town to take the Masked Marvel and knowing Parnell as we do the does not like tea, the fur will surely fly in the main affair.

Judging from the brand of softball being played by Jerry Quinn's Gordon Steel team of Tweed, the softballers from Sam Curry's adopted town are to be seriously considered in the local Senior Softball loop, that "sweetheart" outfit in an inconspicuous manner, but of late have been a power in the loop. The hurling of Bill Gowsell, the recently acquired hurler from Kingston, has been a steadying light in the loop. Incidentally their win over the Alemites last evening was very much due to the work of Gowsell, although a few changes have been made in this league, he is the master of games this week. For instance Thursday night's game between the Aajmaas and the Alemites will be played on Saturday, while tonight the "lubricants" and South Young Canada Club clash at Central Park...Doubtlessly the fur will fly, as per usual. Up at their Tweeman's grounds Gowsell, Canada Intelligencer softball team surprised even themselves by taking a fall out of the American Hardware nine by the score of 16 to 13, looks like a basketball score, er sumpin.' At any rate the "Printers" daubed the ink all over the "lock-makers" bats and spoiled the willow for a few days relief victory in the Mercantile League. Another game will be played in this loop tonight.

WITH THE LAWN BOWLERS

by
McElheran & Watkins

On Saturday night a game was played between the following players: Jack Shapter, W. Harvey and J. O. McNicoll, skip, vs. W. Brooks, F. Harper and C. Doran, skip. Result—McIntosh 24; Doran 17. Charlie says another day is coming.

o o o

Walley Walsh, our treasurer, says he would like to get some dues. We think he is fooling but you members know, help him out.

o o o

By the way our President and Treasurer were in a matched game last week. Result—C. A. Peck, 14; W. Walsh, 28. Wally says he is easy.

o o o

The ladies are having a mixed tournament tomorrow. If you are not playing, go up and see a real game.

o o o

We are going to start a new players' game in the near future. This is going to be interesting; from what your scribes have seen we have some real bowlers coming along.

o o o

Just a word about our club games. There are just two more weeks to finish up, and to get out and to us finish right. Rain has mitigated play considerably to date.

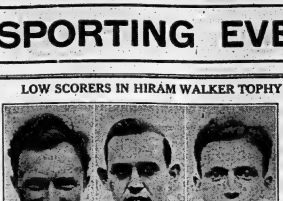
o o o

To the new members and old you can pay your dues to Geo. Watkin when the treasurer is not there.

o o o

Joe Black says he has at last found the correct way to deliver a bowl. Boys, watch him, he is going places.

o o o



Well we had ideal weather last night for our club game and a good crowd.

o o o

The rinks have been entered from our club for Wednesday tournament here.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS
BACKACHE RHEUMATISM
KIDNEY DISEASES
DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

LOW SCORERS IN HIRAM WALKER TOPHY

Out of a field of more than 300, the largest ever to start in any Canadian golf contest, the trio shown above emerged as leaders in the third and final round of the Hiram Walker Annual Invitation Tournament played Thursday at Lakeview Golf Club, near Toronto, Centre is Joe Thompson of Burlington, who took the special award for low aggregate gross with a total of 76 for the 54 holes. Left, R. H. "Dick" Roche, and right, J. P. "Mickey" McCloskey, both of Lakeview youngsters, who were tied for first place with aggregate net scores of 210. They were expected to play off on Sunday.

BABE IS A PRO—Barred as an amateur, Babe Didrikson, right, signs Chicago promotional contract. Left, K. B. Goldsmith

TEMPERAMENTAL PLAYERS GIVE FRISCH HEADACHE

Temperamental tendencies of Dizzy Dean which have stirred ructions in the St. Louis Cardinals camp are this, have again broken out and Manager Frankie Frisch has taken stern action to keep goodfeeling among his hired help. Dizzy was being pounded pretty hard in a league game and went to the dugout grouching badly about his mates and, the umpires. Joe Medwick, slugging outfielder himself no retiring lily allegedly cast aspersions on Dizzy's work and the hurler flew into a rage. The pair squared off and almost came to blows. Frisch went into action, threatened Dean with a $5,000 fine and suspension for any further displays of temper. Dizzy later declared he should be traded to get best results from his ability.

"Ducky-Wucky" Medwick, slugging outfielder himself, was fined $200 by Frisch, backed by the club owners in his stand. COL. CENTRE shows Medwick sliding into base in a recent world series game in which caused a near riot whereupon he decided Medwick was deliberately carrying his spikes high. He was removed from the game before order was restored.

LEFT, is Medwick, batting star in 1934 world series. RIGHT, Dizzy Dean who's also had his share of trouble with himself in action. CENTRE, Manager Frisch, backed by the club owners in his stand. COL. CENTRE shows Medwick sliding into base in a recent world series game in which caused a near riot whereupon he decided Medwick was deliberately carrying his spikes high. He was removed from the game before order was restored.

Get Ready
For Sunny Days Ahead

with a complete outfit selected from our smart stock of summer needs for the man about town.

Shirts and Ties
Flannels
Bathing Suits
Sweaters, Etc.

Quick & Robertson
Clothiers of Quality

BASEBALL
(Bay of Quinte League)
EXHIBITION PARK
Wednesday, June 12 at 3.30 p.m.
Daylight Saving Time
Gananoque
vs.
Belleville (Intermediates)
This is the initial home game of the local intermediate entry, who are bidding for a play-off berth in their league. Good game assured.
Admission 20c plus tax; Children 13c, plus tax
Grandstand Free

Daily Short Story

The Winning System

(Copyright 1935 King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Two kinds of people get on the flivver train every time the race track opens—the smart guys who never bet the last race and the saps who bet it and lose.

The smart guys know that the last races are for those cheap horses that have no form, and don't run to it if they have. The smart guys know that last races at any track are just those things where some horse has to be first across the line, unless they all fall down, and that the only way to beat the last one is to be lucky and pick 'em by jabbing a hat-pin in the program.

The smart guys are on that first train away, usually with their noses stuck in the late editions of the paper, checking tomorrow's entries against their workout table. The smart guys always get seats.

The saps come trailing aboard just as soon as the judges have O.K.'ed the red board that tells the world and sundry that the day's scores as the numbers hang. Most of the saps have to stand up on the ride to town.

That's how Joe Mallen happened to notice Mary Brady the first time. He had a seat, and maybe mumbled to himself a little trying to figure out whether Oyclone's bloodlines and a four-pound pull in the weights would bring him home ahead of Sargoyne in the next day's fifth, particularly with an apprentice jockey on Sargoyne.

Then he heard Mary sigh.

It was one of those tired little sighs, and discouraged, and sad.

Of course, he knew she'd bet the last race and lost. All the standees always in that class; they haven't had to stand in line to cash a bet—and miss the first train. But this particular sigh had something more.

Joe Looks Up

Joe looked up, sort of following an eye-rail along a trim blue skirt, a frilly spot of jacket over a white silk blouse—right up to the biggest blue eyes Joe had ever seen.

And he offered her his seat.

It had to be a shock to her that one, of his sex. Girls are pretty as Mary Brady usually don't go to the race tracks. Or if they do they seldom are the kind of girls that Joe Mallen would notice. Not Mary Brady was different.

In addition to giving her his seat he moved over to make room for her, so he could watch her, over some other guy's newspaper.

That just started it.

Maybe on those times during the Jamaica meeting she happened to get on the same car Joe was in, always after the last race, sometimes she was smiling, sometimes she seemed like she'd been put through the wringer and hung out to dry.

He got to watching for her, and once managed to hold two seats until she got on, so she and Joe rode riding in. But somehow he didn't get anything more than just a smile a little when he made way for her to get in next to the window.

It was half way through the Belmont meeting before he spoke to her the first time—the way regulars at the track get to do when they meet other regulars day after day. He asked her how she was clicking.

Talking Regularly

By the time Aqueduct opened up he was talking to her right regularly—and bit by bit the story came out. Mary Brady was old King Brad's girl. Of course everybody knew "Old King"—swell guy when all that, fortune one day, broke the next, and the guy who before he died, invented more systems for "beating the races" than there are fleas.

Got Full Relief From Constipation

Calt Woman Testifies Before Lawyer. Tells How Fruit-a-tives Stopped Constipation

After suffering for years from constipation, Mrs. J. Scott, 54 Massey Rd., Calt, at last got real relief. She tells her experiences in a statement made before a lawyer so that others may see its truth. Mrs. Scott's statement reads: "I suffered for years from constipation. I tried several remedies and nothing they were said to do ever helped. I was advised to take Fruit-a-tives. They brought me real relief and their action has added to my comfort. Fruit-a-tives are wonderful and are especially recommended by anything else I have ever tried."

Mrs. Scott is only one of thousands to whom Fruit-a-tives have given lasting relief from constipation, indigestion, biliousness and kidney disorders. But then, Fruit-a-tives are truly different. They are the discovery of a prominent Canadian physician and contain extracts of certain oranges, figs and prunes, scientifically combined with certain herbs and medicinal ingredients. That Fruit-a-tives are safe and effective is proven by the fact that it is the largest selling remedy of its kind in Canada. Fruit-a-tives positively do not form a habit.

Cure of Mrs. Scott's complete last statement may be verified by Mr. Ernest Cowbell, Barrister, Calt. Ontario. Canada.

FRUIT-A-TIVES—Do not fail EVERYWHERE

TEX AND HIS PALS (Actual Photographs)

Copyright, 1935, by Harper Features, Dallas, Texas, U.S.A. All Rights Reserved.

By Leslie A. Hill

BRINGING UP FATHER—

By George McManus

By Russ Westover

TILLIE THE TOILER—

DANGER TRAILS—

By The Famous Explorer Martin Johnson

THE DEATH SENTENCE

MR. AND MRS—

By Briggs

Little Benny's Note Book

Me and Skinny Martin and Glass-es Magee was wawking along just wawking along and Sam Cross was sitting on his front steps looking mad, like he generally does, and us fellows stopped going pessed, saying, Hello Sam, what's a matter, Sam?

It's the last chance for a long while you'll have a chance to say hello to me, and maybe forever, Sam said, and us fellows said, Why, Sam, What's a matter, Sam?

I'm going to run away from home, Sam said, and I said, Aw, you've always saying that, and Skinny Martin said, Gosh, if you ran away from home every time you claimed you was going to, you'd have more preeties running than anybody that ever lived.

Well, it's true this time just a same, Sam said. I'm going to run away and join the circus. The last time the circus was here I had a little tawk with the manager and told him what I could do and he said any time I wanted to run away he'd be glad to hire me, Sam said.

So on, what could you do in a circus, you cant hardly stand on your hands, I said, and Skinny Martin said, Sure, what could you do in a circus? You've got the littest muscles of any fellow around, and you got to have muscles in a circus, O'wanderers, and Diana Magee said, What could you do in a circus, you couldn't even be a clown because you aint funny looking enough, imagine you in a circus, like fun.

That's all you guys know, because I tawked it all over with the manager and we've got it all fixed up for me to keep pretending to sneek in under the tent and get kicked out all the time as a example for the kids not to try it, he said all you know, Sam said.

And he went in the house saying he was going to pack his suitcase.

(Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service)

TARZAN THE UNTAMED—

Drink the Best Tea

"SALADA" TEA

TANGLED LIVES

By ANN FORESTER

"Lawns and houses and money—there's only Things! Once I thought Things counted. Now I know; they're unimportant beside just plain living!" There was a sweet tranquility in that sigh with which the man had never seen before.

Joy had transfigured her. The cool serenity—the utter indifference was gone. She was warm and tremulous, thrilling to his least look, wearing her heart on her face a shining banner.

She stood for a moment in his arms as he helped her from the car, said his eyes were black with feeling as he spoke. "Lovely lady of you to regret it? It's infernally selfish of me—but I want you so, girl! All my own. . . Oh, sweetheart!"

And Joyce answered, looking at him with her head on her arm as if I want you—" her voice was low and fierce, "I want you until I'm just one ache for your love! I have no pride—I'm positively abject! Jim, hold me. Hold me tight. . . Take me away with you. Don't let me be swallowed up again in this stuffy greyness. I want to live and love and work . . . I want to be a live woman in a live world . . ."

Kitty's astonished figure appearing on the porch as they turned home, Kitty's face flashing with indignant color, Kitty's astonishment as she saw their locked figures, Joyce's pride pretended scorn—all as she called down to them.

"Well, but I'm very lovely blind, but I never knew it was simple minded before! An' simple minded I call it, to be standing out there huggin' in the pourin' rain when there's a whole house an' a warm fire in here. Come in, you two blessed idiots!"

GETTING READY

CHAPTER FIFTY-SEVEN

Rain dashing against the window panes . . . flooding the room with morning light which stirred cold shivers through the slimy black ooze underfoot, the scarlet lacquer bookcase. A moment when Joyce woke to the old, gray depression; then memory flooded her mind like bright white light. Memory bringing Joy so sharp it was like pain.

Jim was here . . . here under this same roof! Jim loved her.

A moment of warm sweet rapture when she felt her heart go out in a glad little rush of thankfulness. She was going away from this grey stagnation—going to escape into life with Jim. Jim's wife. Mrs. James Keith . . . she said it over to herself, moving her lips like a child, and with a sudden rapturous movement flung her slim body over and pressed her vivid face into the pillow.

Drum . . . drum . . . drum . . . Wind and dripping trees. How many rainy winters had passed over this old brick house? How often in the past had Roger wakened to hear that monotonous drumming on the window pane—a grey wall shutting him into the narrow confines of Riverton!

He had wanted to shut her behind that grey wall, too. Joyce had opened a way of escape! There would be rain out there on the ranch. Pierce rain— Jim spoke of it. It came down through the heavens opened; a great sheet of water, sometimes bringing fear and danger with its downpour.

Joyce was tense as a wire thinking of it. Well, let fall Danger—she welcomed it!

Anything but this dreadful monotony. Rain and wind about a frame farm house . . . endless days . . . hard work and then . . .

Kitty found her lying with hands clasped under her head and a happy little smile stamped on her lips, when she entered.

Something of Kitty's natural buoyancy had been eclipsed by these trying months at Riverton; but this morning her face was beaming.

"And this is a grand way to be treating your guest! Jim's up an' chewing his nails for the sight of you."

Joyce gave her a smile which made Kitty blink. Don't be grudging Joy the rest of my life I'll be rising at daybreak to get the clothes to soak or curry the horses or whatever one does on a ranch. Don't begrudge me these last moments of aloneness, Kitty —come here! Here —where I can hug you. Oh, Kitty —Kitty darling! Can you feel how happy I am? I'll throw out arms like the sun. I think I'm like a black and white thing that spreads arms and could I'd give out electric sparks. Oh Kitty——"

The last was a sob, and for a moment Joyce clung to the older woman, weeping as a child would, head on shoulder.

"You won't regret it, honey?" Kitty whispered it a little timidly. "You won't regret giving up the ease and the money and the high living? Four years more, darling, and then the world would be yours."

"What good would a world be without Jim?" Joyce was almost eternities! In four years, Kitty, Jim will be forty-five, a married couple. With children—children, Kitty, Jim and me! I have no false pride or modesty—I'll take what I want. I want to live my life—fiercely! I want to make up for lost time. And live! Live! I feel as though I'd been dead!"

Kitty said nothing, only stroked that head and head pressed against her shoulder. In the moment that silence seeped through Joyce's happy absorption. She lifted her head and her earnest eyes plunged deep into Kitty's blue ones.

"Kitty—you'll come with us? You won't leave me now? It isn't much to offer, just a place to work and ugly, Jim says, but we'll all be together. Kitty, we've been through too much together for us to leave each other now . . ."

Kitty's head turning toward the window. Kitty's eyes refusing to meet her own, and Joyce realized that Kitty had been fighting her own battle of loneliness and small jealousies.

"You won't need me now—" a little rough edge on that.

"Need you!" Joyce woke broke. She forced Kitty's face around to meet her tremulous laughing gaze. "You darling old idiot, you need you more than ever! Oh, Kitty—my one true friend what would I have done without you all these years, and now—when I'm happy at last—you can't leave me like this! We both want you—Jim and I."

That day Jim took a flying trip to the city to attend to some business. He would return early the next morning and they would be married in time to catch the noon train west.

Joyce was blissfully agreeable. "I'm glad to be rid of you, Kitty and I have a perfect orgy of packing on. A man is in the way—and don't forget to return or you'll throw my marriage plans out fearfully. I must have a bridegroom . . . all well regulated marriages provide one—" Then, with a bewildering change of manner, she flung herself into Jim's arms and pressed him close in a way which recalled a long-ago moonlight night to the man's mind.

"Tomorrow—oh darling, I'm jealous of the time! For afraid, Jim—hold me tight—tell me nothing can come between us now!"

A busy day of selecting, packing, roping trunks! There was surprisingly little more saved to take into her new life. The trailing, medieval evening gowns, the filmy chiffons she tossed aside.

At Kitty's protests she shrugged. "What earthly good will they be on a western horse-ranch?"

She packed her riding habit. Her smart, warm sport suits. Winter coats. Silk wash dresses—"I'll be doing them in the tub myself!" she told Kitty happily.

Only in the matter of underwear and negligees had she been self-indulgent. These rich, embroidered Oriental silks—th marlboro trimmed French robes—they brought a memory of that other time—languid days on the Riviera or in the Orient —days when her heart was fighting the thought of Jim.

The modernistic furniture she stoutly refuses to have sent on.

"Now, wouldn't all this lacquered rubbish stuff look silly in a western farm house!" she asked. "And it isn't only that, Kitty—" the violet eyes opened wide and soft, and a proud little smile played around her mouth, "I don't want to handicap Jim with a lot of useless and expensive junk. I want to fit into the picture—not impinge on the things I used to have, I'd rather have too little, to start—with, than too much."

And before the light in her eyes before the simple assurdness of her manner, Kitty's protests were silenced.

The short autumn day was made even shorter by the unflagging work, working alone in her dismantled suite, Joyce found twilight creeping in as she locked the last of the trunks.

She had straightened up with a weary sigh and was stretching her cramped body, when a maid came to the door, a wavering white ghost in the grey light.

"Mr. Norman Weaver to see you, Mrs. Cameron. He says it's very important that he see you. He's waiting down in the living room."

Joyce checked a little exclamation of impatience. Across the room she caught a glimpse of herself swathed in a large apron, a towel pinned on her head.

She didn't want to see anyone from Riverton—not Norman. But—one more night—sang her heart. One more night and she would be free.

"Tell him tomorrow night—she send Jim alone as the last while I was bringing her into a new and happy existence.

"All right, Rita," she said the maid, "I will be down in a few minutes. Mr. Weaver I'll be right down."

ad cowgirl repeats uhetic.

A STORM AT RIVERVIEW

CHAPTER FIFTY-EIGHT

The living room in the Cameron house was a long apartment, which Mrs. Cameron had furnished in the French Empire manner, despite the foolish rococo chairs and tables and the ornate mantel-piece. Over this mantel, a young man who strode about the room because he was too wrathful to sit down.

Rookard Weaver, by with a scowl as Joyce entered. She had taken off the enveloping apron, unpinned the towel from her head. She wore a dress of amethyst crepe, a dress whose lines Jim had loved, which had be seen her more beautiful. The flush of excitement had left her face to dark purple. There was a flush on her face, usually untinted cheeks. It was something deeper than this which transfigured her. She was a lovely glowing quality about her, as though a lamp had been lit within, shining through her face—her parted lips, her deep eyes.

Norman found himself remembering a day long ago —when he had hidden behind the woodwork at Commercial House and taken young Joyce Cameron in his arms.

Jealousy shook through his voice. "Joyce, I've got to talk to you. That this fellow Keith has come back. I've heard that you're going to marry Him!"

So, by the astounding wireless of small towns, the news was already spreading over Riverton! Amusement, surprise, then envy. A little did these things matter now. She said simply.

There was no excitement in Norman's tone when he answered this.

(TO BE CONTINUED)

TAKES SERVICE AT PLAINFIELD

PLAINFIELD.— Mr. Charlie Elliott of Mount Pleasant took charge of all the services on this circuit on Sunday preaching in this church on Sunday evening. There was a good attendance and Charlie certainly did well and received much praise from everyone.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hamilton and Elsie attended the service when Dr. Watts delivered the Baccalaureate sermon in Bridge Street, Sunday morning.

The Institute met at Mrs. J. Calder's Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hamilton and Mrs. W. Elliott and Elsie Hamilton attended to the splendid recital programme by the pupils of Albert College Conservatory of Music in the Memorial Hall Tuesday evening. Elsie being one of Professor Anglin's pupils.

Mrs. Wilbert Elliott took Elsie Hamilton, Mrs. C. Marshall, Mrs. O. Beatty, and Mrs. Walter Hall in the Lonsdale Women's Institute's District Convention Wednesday.

Mrs. Campbell took Mrs. H. Dunning, Mrs. M. Thompson and Mrs. W. Simmons and little Miss Dunning to Lonsdale, Wednesday.

Mrs. J. Colden took Phyllis Hall, Mrs. R. Harrison, Miss Goldie and Mrs. Downey to Lyndale on Wednesday so Plainfield was well represented.

Mr. Arthur Hall took Mrs. H. Palmer, Miss Annie Hamilton and Mrs. Hubel to Wellington on Thursday to the A. V. Convention.

Foxboro were to play the Latta team on Friday evening, but the game had to be postponed on account of rain.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lott and Mr. and Mrs. Moon of Sidney spent one day recently with Mr. and Mrs. Harry McCreary and called on Mrs. James McCreary and Mrs. Clarence Hall.

ENO PEPS UP THE WHOLE SYSTEM

People who are half-well, half-sick most of the time only exist. To really live you must be well. And to be well you should take care at once to rid yourself of constipation, which causes most human ailments.

Drastic purgatives and harsh mineral salts aggravate the condition. Eno's "Fruit Salt" regulates gently, effectively and normally. It tastes good and forms no habits.

If you want to feel like a million, take a dash of Eno's "Fruit Salt" in a glass of water, morning and night, for a few days. No griping, no nausea. Eno refreshes, invigorates and tones. It isn't an atom of harshness or harm in a million tons. 90 cents. Household size, 85 cents. 'Phone the druggist now.

C.D.S. HALF-DAY SPECIALS!

On Sale From 9 to 12 o'Clock—Shop Early for Them

Men's Tweed Trousers
In dark grey shade that won't show the dirt easily. Well made and smartly tailored, with belt loops and cuff bottoms. Of wool and cotton tweed in good looking patterns. Sizes 32 to 44. Special, pair
1.79
— Men's Store

Boys' Running Boots
Of sturdy brown canvas, lace-to-toe style, with rod trimmings, and heavy red rubber sole. First quality, in sizes from 1 to 5. Half Day Special, pair
59c
— Men's Store, rear

Children's White Vests
Sleeveless or with short sleeves, of fine white cotton. In a weight you'll want for summer wear. Sizes for 2 to 16-year olds. Half Day Special
2 for 25c
— Second floor

Girls' and Women's Cotton Frocks
In assorted bright colorings, in attractive floral and block patterns in styles which will find favor with both girls and women. 7 to 14 years and 36 to 44 sizes in the lot. A rousing value for the Half Day's selling. Wednesday each
49c
— Second floor

Women's White Open Toe "ARCH RELIEF" Shoes
Here is comfort, plus smart appearance in women's "Arch Relief" Shoes of fine white leather. C, D, E and E widths, white calf uppers, in 5 eyelet tie with neat cut-out work on side. Cuban heels with rubber top lifts. These will clean beautifully too. Sizes from 4 to 7 and outstanding value for Wednesday morning, pair
1.98

Kitchen Grocery Sets
A very attractive set of four tins. Ivory enamelled finish with green cover, neatly decorated. Large tin size 5½ x 7½". Special, the set
87c
—Basement

25-M-Inch Chintz
In pretty floral design in blue and tan or rose and tan on a taupe ground. You'll find this excellent for curtains, cushions, etc. Special, yard
8c
— Main floor, rear

Stamped Linen Lunch Cloths
Irish linen cloths, stamped in attractive designs for you to work. All white, in the choice 50" x 50". Half Day Special, each
39c
— Main floor, centre

27-Inch Pongee Silk
Natural color pongee silk in 27-inch width. Buy it for blouse, slips, and summery frocks, curtains, etc. A splendid weight and special at this price. Yard
29c
— Main floor, rear

36" Eggshell Rose Silk Crepe
A limited yardage of this lovely soft, real silk crepe in eggshell only. It's a leader for summer for Thursday last. For blouses, lingerie, blouses and many other articles. 36 inch wide. No phone orders will be accepted on this special. Come early for your needs! Special, yard
59c
— Main floor, rear

LONSDALE NOTES OF PAST WEEK

LONSDALE — The weather this week in our locality is very favorable and the gardens and pasture also the grain which has been sown so recently can be seen making rapid progress. It is hoped the frequent showers may continue.

Mrs. Leonard Whiteman has returned to her school duties in Perth after spending the week-end and holiday with her father, Mr. Norman Whiteman.

Miss Lucy Sexsmith was in Deseronto on Thursday.

Mr. J. M. McCullough and Mr. Albert McCullough called on their sister Mrs. Frank McCullough on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Diamond Belleville and family, spent Sunday last with their friends in this vicinity.

Mrs. J. McCullough has returned home after spending two weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Leavens, Derbyville.

A few in this community have been sick with the measles.

Mrs. Harvey Calberry called on some friends on Sunday evening.

The W. I. held their annual meeting in the hall in the village on Wednesday with a good attendance and a good afternoon was enjoyed as they always give interesting addresses.

MARMORA NURSES RECEIVE PRIZES

Marmora—Mrs. T. M. Casey and daughter Marie, of Cochrane, were week-end guests of Mrs. A. Graham and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Byrnes.

Mr. Kitchen of Kilchener, was in town on Thursday.

Mr. F. S. Pearce was in Toronto over the week-end.

Miss Annie Knox nurse-in-training at Nicholl's Hospital, Peterboro, is spending two weeks' holiday at her home here.

Mr. Wotten of Peterboro, was in town on Wednesday.

Miss Mabel Blakely of Toronto, is visiting at her home here for a couple of weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Armstrong formerly of Peterboro, have moved into the residence recently vacated by Mr. James McGrath.

Miss Mildred Bedore Reg.N., who has spent the winter months in Bermuda, is holidaying at her home here for a week.

Miss Edith Phillips, graduate nurse of St. Joseph's Hospital, is holidaying, at her home near Deloro.

Mrs. Wm. Flynn, who has been in Peterboro for the past week, returned home on Thursday.

Miss Edith Phillips, daughter of Mrs. H. Phillips and the late Harry Phillips of Deloro, and Miss Margaret Flynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Flynn, of Marmora, were members of this year's graduating class at St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterboro.

The Commencement Exercises were held on Wednesday afternoon, in the auditorium of the Collegiate Institute, at which eight nurses graduated.

It was a most pleasing function attended by numerous relatives and friends of the class members.

Miss Margaret Flynn was valedictorian, delivering one of the poetically-worded and very pleasing farewell addresses which are a notable feature of the annual graduation exercises of the Hospital.

Miss Flynn was awarded a gold medal for general proficiency. Miss Phillips a prize for nondaging. These prizes being presented by the Rev. J. J. O'Brien, who confined his remarks to congratulations to the graduates.

Among those out-of-town guests who attended were—Misses Mary Brady, Dorena Gehan, Madeline Flynn, Dora Lawrence, R.N., Gladys Gehan, Mrs. H. Phillips and Eagene, and Mrs. S. Lawrence of Marmora.

Safety Committee Meeting

The monthly meeting of Deloro Safety Committee was held in the Electric Shop on Monday afternoon with Mr. R. A. Elliott presiding. Only one suggestion was received during the month. The Star again goes to the General Division. Prone method practices were held in the Silver Plant during May by Mr. C. H. Bullard. Mr. F. Paquet will carry out similar practices at the Lab. in June.

Mr. C. H. Bullard brought in minutes of the Inspection Committee. Floating members appointed were, June, N. A. Kilpatrick, July W. R. Reybolds, Mr. C. H. Bullard gave the monthly statement of the Benevolent Relief funds and Mr. W. R. Reynolds reported for the Publicity Committee.

PERSONAL NEWS OF BIG ISLAND

Big Island—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sprague and Mr. Burton of Toronto spent the holiday week end with Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Sprague and family.

Mrs. Olive Bristol of Seattle is visiting at the Sprague and Conley home.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Morden and Phyllis and Mary Weger spent Sunday with Mrs. E. Osborne and Bonnie Wager.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sallans spent the dinner hour on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. Wager and family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. McNiel of Calgary and Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Sprague of Mountain View spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Badgley.

Miss Helen MaHood spent the weekend with her parents in Lindsay.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Sallsbury called on Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Peck on Sunday.

Mrs. Harry Gosling spent Thursday with her mother Mrs. Chas. Peck.

Miss Lillian Wager of H.O.I. spent the week end at her home here.

Miss Beatrice Wallbridge of Massassaga has been engaged as teacher for the coming year, at the Big Island school.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Badgley spent Friday at Mountain View, the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Sprague.

Mrs. Beith Barker and David spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Peck.

Mr. Joe Peck spent the week end, with his cousin Mrs. Harry Gosling, Fish Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Clement spent part of last week in Toronto, visiting Mrs. Lena Clement who is very ill in the Western Hospital there.

Mrs. Jas. Jenkins has returned home from a visit at South Bay.

B. C. RELIEF CAMP STRIKERS PURSUE CROSS-CANADA MARCH

Crossing the Rockies atop a fast coal-burning locomotive hauled the seaboard freight, a battalion of roughriding British Columbia relief camp strikers entered Alberta on their "on-to Ottawa" march, tired and begrimed but still determined to see the long trek through. Three days later, the section of the striker "army" as their freight pulled away from a camping site. RIGHT, the tired but grimy travellers are washing the smoke and soot away in the river at Calgary before bedding down for the night. LEFT, two girls with a male escort boarding the box-cars for the next lap and lower RIGHT, first aid-dressing station attends to minor injuries received during the forcible scattering. Their stop in Calgary was only a pause before continuing the jaunt eastward, the men assert.

Stop at a NEW hotel

Enjoy
• Air-cushion mattresses
• Tiled bath and shower
• Radio in EVERY room
• Water cooled refrigerators
• Circulating ice water
• Garage
• Terrace and Coffee Shop

for $3 per day

ALL

HOTEL GOVERNOR CLINTON NEW YORK

1200 Rooms • 7th Ave. at 31st St.

C. W. RAMSEY, Jr., Manager

WEATHER
Lower Lake region—Fine and warm; Thursday mostly fair and warm; Friday showers.

The Ontario Intelligencer

TEMPERATURES

	Max.	Min.
Today	72	50
Year Ago	74	53

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 12, 1935

J. ED. O'GAN ELECTED PRESIDENT OF JEWELLERS

NEWS BRIEFS AND ODDITIES

Ottawa, June 12 (CP)—Prime Minister Bennett announced at the opening session of the House of Commons today that the Government has decided to accept the offer of Andrew Carnegie to provide $10,000,000 for the establishment of the Carnegie Corporation of Canada for the advancement, diffusion and application of knowledge.

Ottawa, June 12 (CP)—A bulletin issued by the Department of Agriculture at 10 a.m. today said that night frosts were reported in the district of Edmonton, Alberta, and that there was a heavy frost at Dafoe, Saskatchewan.

Toronto, June 12 (CP)—Mrs. Isabella Ferguson, 70, widow of Rev. Dr. John Ferguson, Methodist minister and author, died in Toronto General Hospital today after a long illness. She was born in Scotland, and had lived in Toronto for 50 years. Her husband died in 1917.

Ottawa, June 12 (CP)—A fund of $10,000 to help needy students will be given by the Government this year, it was announced in the House of Commons today by Hon. Thomas Crerar, Minister of Mines and Resources. The fund will be administered by Governor General Bessborough.

London, Ont., June 12 (CP)—Mrs. Judd W. Jones, 70, died suddenly this morning after being invited to attend a luncheon in honor of Mrs. Edward Ireland, 100, oldest resident of London and Middlesex, who had that day celebrated her birthday.

HEPBURN CHARGES A "CONSPIRACY" AGAINST GOV'T.

No Bids Received For 15 Million Bond Issue

Toronto, June 12 (CP)—No bids for the Ontario Government's $15,000,000 bond issue, due at noon today, were received, Attorney-General Hepburn announced today, charging at the same time there was a "conspiracy" against the Government.

Premier Hepburn said he "never had might" that investment dealers had agreed among themselves to refrain from offers for the Province's bonds in order that the Government might be forced to accept Quebec power contracts.

"For twenty days I have been waiting and hoping that bids would be received, but they have not come," he said before the Executive Council meeting. Members of the Cabinet met late today.

The Premier did not disclose how he planned to finance the $15,000,000 deficit, but has previously stated it would be necessary to negotiate in the United States or the New York money market.

A last minute "tender" stood on a table in the ante-room to the Council Chamber for the Province's Treasurer, Hon. Peter Heenan, but was not officially expected by some members of the Government.

"My hope is that the Dominion will change its attitude," he said, before the Premier, adding he would issue a statement after the Cabinet met late today.

The Premier did not disclose how he failed to receive bids for the $15,000,000 issue previously stated it would be forthcoming, but said he would go to the New York money market.

A last minute "tender" stood on a table in the ante-room to the Council Chamber for the Province's Treasurer, Hon. Peter Heenan, but was not officially expected by some members of the Government.

"My hope is that the Dominion will change its attitude," he said, before the Premier, adding he would issue a statement after the Cabinet met late today.

The Premier did not disclose how he failed to receive bids for the $15,000,000 issue previously stated it would be forthcoming, but said he would go to the New York money market.

A last minute "tender" stood on a table in the ante-room to the Council Chamber for the Province's Treasurer, Hon. Peter Heenan, but was not officially expected by some members of the Government.

"My hope is that the Dominion will change its attitude," he said, before the Premier, adding he would issue a statement after the Cabinet met late today.

The Premier did not disclose how he failed to receive bids for the $15,000,000 issue previously stated it would be forthcoming, but said he would go to the New York money market.

COAST GUARDS AID IN SEARCH

Man Reported Missing From Upsidedown Yacht

Erie, Pa., June 12—(CP)—Coast guardsmen from Erie today were assisting in a search for a man reported missing from the overturned yacht in Lake Erie about six miles from here.

Captain Harry Boyt of the tug Liberty, which found the yacht, said he passed the yacht and members of the crew at that time were apparently engaged in attempting to right the craft.

Boyt said he found an oar from Erie harbor after the Captain of the tug Liberty had reported sighting the oar. Dense, a government wireless boat, was also left for the scene.

Boyt said he had happened aboard the yacht or information as to its ownership or passengers. Captain Boyt said the three apparently were set adrift in the search.

A check at the Erie Yacht Club disclosed many of its boats were out on the lake.

TRADE BILL IS DISAPPOINTING SAYS STEVENS

Pleads With Government to Redraft Bill With Wide Powers

WEALTH CONCENTRATED

Mr. Kennedy Asks That Constitution of B.N.A. Act be Amended

Ottawa, June 12 (CP)—Greeted with a chorus of dissatisfaction from Conservative, Liberal and C.C.F. members the Government bill to establish a Dominion trade and industry commission stands over today, while the House of Commons considers the bill to create a grain board.

Debate on the Trade Board bill yesterday developed into a clash of the Royal Commission on price spreads, including the late former chairman, Hon. H. H. Stevens (Cons. Kootenay East) and W. W. Kennedy (Cons. Winnipeg South Centre) into action.

The chief attack on the bill was on the ground it failed to implement fully the recommendations of the price spreads commission, with respect to regulation of business. The commission recommended the Trade Board be clothed with discretionary powers to define unfair practices and issue mandatory orders prohibiting them.

Hon. R. B. Bennett, Minister of Trade and Commerce, in moving the bill for second reading, explained the Government felt to implement the report to the full would be to slap outside the legislative jurisdiction of the Dominion Parliament and to invade the field allotted to the Provinces by the constitution.

Stevens Assails Bill

Mr. Stevens said the bill was disappointing and would not go far towards remedying the abuses revealed in the price spreads investigation. He pleaded with the Government to redraft it and include the wider powers proposed by the commission. Canada, he said, is now ruled by a "plutocratic autocracy" and Parliament was the last fortress of democracy. If Parliament failed to act there was no hope left.

He spoke of the concentration of wealth and economic power in the hands of the few and the need of impeding monopolies by organizing soulless corporations to replace the human economic unit. Canada governed man-to-man transactions when business was conducted by individuals.

Taking issue with the legal profession adopted by Mr. Kennedy, Mr. Stevens declared the only issue was the Premier, calling on the Government to take action after the Cabinet met late today.

The Premier did not disclose how he failed to receive bids for the $15,000,000 issue previously stated it would be forthcoming, but said he would go to the New York money market.

A last minute "tender" stood on a table in the ante-room to the Council Chamber for the Province's Treasurer, Hon. Peter Heenan, but was not officially expected by some members of the Government.

"My hope is that the Dominion will change its attitude," he said, before the Premier, adding he would issue a statement after the Cabinet met late today.

The Premier did not disclose how he failed to receive bids for the $15,000,000 issue previously stated it would be forthcoming, but said he would go to the New York money market.

A last minute "tender" stood on a table in the ante-room to the Council Chamber for the Province's Treasurer, Hon. Peter Heenan, but was not officially expected by some members of the Government.

"My hope is that the Dominion will change its attitude," he said, before the Premier, adding he would issue a statement after the Cabinet met late today.

The Premier did not disclose how he failed to receive bids for the $15,000,000 issue previously stated it would be forthcoming, but said he would go to the New York money market.

NEW BRUNSWICK ELECTION JUNE 27

A. A. DYSART

Not only Alberta, but New Brunswick citizens will go to the polls this summer, On June 27, Hon. L. P. D. Tilley (RIGHT), Conservative and present government leader, and A. Dysart (LEFT), Liberal chieftan, will do battle with ballots. Neither will let an election campaign before.

HON. L. P. D. TILLEY

Ontario Jewellers Assemble, 150 Attend Annual Meeting

Ald. Hill in Welcome Refers to 'Convention City'

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

Belleville is today host to about one hundred and fifty members of the Ontario Jewellers' Association who are holding their annual convention in the Bay of Quinte Country Club. Besides the Ontario group there are representatives here from the Province of Quebec and the United States.

The convention was opened in the morning at ten thirty by an address of welcome by Alderman Harry Hill who acted in the absence of Mayor Tice who is at present in Kitchener, Mr. G. H. Gooderham, president for the past year occupied the chair and called on Mr. Ed Logan of this city to introduce the Alderman.

In his remarks Ald Hill thanked those responsible for bringing the convention to Belleville and said he was sure that the choice had been made in choosing this city for their gathering.

Convention City

"We have felt we think in one of the smaller cities in Ontario and there are many points of interest which you should see before you leave for your homes and to which you will be conducted should you find the time. We extend the heartiest welcome to you and I know you will find it a most enjoyable and profitable time. We want you to have such a good time that you will wish to return many times in the future", concluded Mr. Hill.

Mr. Johnson thanked the speaker for his kindly welcome and said he knew that the visit to Belleville would be a pleasant one.

In connection got under way, the feature of which were addresses given by the President and Mr. Norman J. Leach, editor of the trade magazine "Trader and Canadian Jeweller."

(Continued on page seven)

DEATH THREATENS TO INCREASE TOLL

Shooting Affray in Winnipeg Born Out of Vengeance

Winnipeg, June 12—(CP)—Death threatened today to increase the toll in a shooting affray, described by police to vengeance born in estrangement, which left one man dead.

While preparations for an inquest into the death of Tony Kurcher from shooting were being made, his 21-year-old daughter Marlene and a business man, Steve Dudeck, were in hospital.

Physicians said there was little hope for the life of Miss Kurcher although they expected Dudeck to recover. Miss Kurcher was shot in the head and Dudeck received a bullet in the groin.

Police said Kurcher went to the home where his estranged wife was living and chased her into the street. Miss Kurcher stepped between Kurcher and her mother and was shot by Kurcher, police said. Later Mrs. Kurcher eluded her husband. Dudeck struggled with Kurcher in an attempt to take the revolver, Dudeck fell wounded.

Monthly Income Valued at $350

LONDON, June 12.—(CP Cable)—Mrs. Alma Rattenbury, acquitted of the murder of her husband Francis Mawer Rattenbury, would have enjoyed an income from his estate of $350 a month as well as a number of personal effects, had she not committed suicide a few days after her trial.

The will of the distinguished architect was published today. He died on March 30, from a wound said to have been inflicted by co-defendant with Mrs. Rattenbury in the Old Bailey trial, is to hang on June 18th for murder.

BRIEF SESSION COUNTY COUNCIL

Committee on Equalization Sits For Some Time

Owing to the committee on equalization being in session for some time the Western District meeting session of the County Council was brief. A few communications read and referred to respective committees for consideration also some resolutions passed by the County Council being concurred in constituted the business transacted.

Warden Benson presided. Minutes of Tuesday's afternoon session were read and confirmed.

Petition Concerned

The Council concurred in the two petitions from the County Council of Lincoln County re the meeting of the Provincial Government allows half license fees on fruits after September 1st.

And when September 1st, it not one half year.

And whereas the fruit growers and farmers do not have any of their trucks until they harvest their crops.

Be it resolved that this Council petition the Provincial Government that the date be moved forward by one month to the 15th day of July.

And whereas the banks are charging an excessive rate of interest on loans.

And whereas the banks have lowered the interest rates on saving accounts.

Be it resolved that this Council petition the Provincial Government to give prompt consideration to a substantial reduction on loans required by municipalities generally.

One Killed in Duel over Woman

Tijuana, Mex., June 12 (AP)—A duel, purportedly over a woman, brought death to Faoul Portugal, 31-year-old Chief of Federal Police of the Ensenada District.

His opponent, Col. Enrique Tapia, 50, popular army officer, lay critically wounded under heavy guard. Physicians said he was near death.

The guard was to protect him from possible vengeance by Portugal's friends.

Reported to have agreed to settle their differences over an unnamed Ensenada woman, the pair went unaccompanied to a ranch near the Mexican colony, 25 miles from Ensenada. Using military pistols, they fired at close range.

HONORS ARE PAID AT COLLEGIATE COMMENCEMENT

Graduates of Other Years Laud Progress of Institution

WORK OF YEAR

Long List of Awards, Prizes and Diplomas Presented

Annual commencement exercises were held this morning at Belleville Collegiate Institute with the vocational School when diplomas and awards for the term ending June 1935, were presented for scholastic attainments and prizes for athletics for 1934. The scholarship awarded by the school the Memorial Scholarship, donated by Mrs. Sheila Burrows. This scholarship which is awarded the student with the highest average in twelve subjects of Middle School standing was awarded the winner by Col. W. N. Ponton, K.C.

Principal P. C. MacLaurin, who acted as chairman explained that the morning Commencement program was a departure from the usual custom, the addresses being by the earlier examination scheduled. Rev. Dr. Bowles representing the Board of Education and a High School graduate who had distinguished himself as a scholar and teacher was asked to speak.

Collegiate's Advantages

Rev. Mr. Reid expressed pleasure at being present on this interesting study and recalled the years he had spent in the High School. To those who were graduating and those would continue their studies in universities he pointed out that the training and preparation received in the Collegiate would be of great help in educating them for the battle of life in whatever college life.

He urged those who were not yet at the "Commencement Exercises" stage to make the most of the educational facilities and opportunities at the Collegiate. The winner of the Memorial Scholarship was greatly to be congratulated on her splendid record and her record work which merited for her the award.

The entrance of Col. W. N. Ponton, K.C., member and former chairman of the Board of Education was the signal for an outburst of applause from the audience with whom he is a great favourite.

Special Awards

Special reference was made by Mr. Macdonald to the kindness of Mrs. G. Ely, a former student, who had attended the Commencement exercises today. Her presence was much impressed with the progress of the High School. Mr. Macdonald later enclosing a letter from Mrs. Ely expressing this.

Mr. MacLaurin in commenting on the success of the graduates of the Special Commercial Course, expressed thanks to those who conducted course had considerable academic standing. Special mention was made of graduates before entering the course. Mr. MacLaurin also spoke of commercial work they found positions without difficulty.

Music by the School Orchestra was greatly enjoyed during the evening.

Presentations

In awarding the diplomas and crests for athletics, the announcement of their successful attainment that Dick Logie was adjudged the new all-round athlete of the school.

Presentations by the medals were made by Miss Margaret Bunting, G. A. Hughes, principal of the school, Miss Edith Allison of the teaching staff, George H. Griffin, secretary-treasurer of the Kiwanis Club, Reg. Moncrief, chairman of the Advisory Committee of the Vocational Education, R. C. Sisler, member of the Board of Education, Rose Hunter, director of musical studies at the Collegiate, Miss Anna Hunter, representing the Local Council of Women's League, and the Red Cross Society, Miss Ina Brown, Miss Marion Smith, L. S. Shiels, A. D. Archibald, CSO, H. Laughlin of the teaching staff.

The presentation of the Memorial Scholarship and of graduation diplomas was made by Col. W. N. Ponton, K.C., the diplomas to represent twelve subjects completed by the students, a number of which were obligatory. Lower Middle and Upper School work while others are optional.

Veteran Trustee's Praise

